CONFERS GARTER ON CHAMBERLAIN WIFE IS HONORED

Without Precedent That Both Should Be Given Knighthoods

FOR LOCARNO AFFAIR

Very Signal Mark Of Appreciation By His Majesty the King

London, Dec. 1.—To mark his appreciation of the value of the Locarno treaties to the peace of the world, the King has conferred on Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, the Knighthood of the Garter, and has made Chamberlain's wife a Dame of the Grand Cross, Order of the British Empire.

Such double honors are without precedent. Never before have a man and his wife received knighthood simultaneously for co-partnership in service to the state, and never before has knighthood been conferred on a woman for work in the diplomatic field. But Mrs. Chamberlain played a considerable part in promoting at Locarno an atmosphere that made it possible to bring the diplomats together, and it was a steamboat trip on the lake, given in honor of her birthday which carried the conference over one of the most critical moments in its discussions.

It was there that a high honor was to be granted Chamberlain, but his elevation to the Order of the Garter comes as a surprise. It was recognized that he was most unlikely to accept a peerage, for it has always been his boast that he was "a House of Commons man," and in the ranks of the Unionist party he, with his political control of Birmingham, occupies something of a unique position. But it was not expected he would want a knighthood. Many leading British statesmen, like Gladstone, Lloyd George, Baldwin, and, until quite lately, Asquith, have preferred to have no handle to their names. So it was reckoned he would remain plain Mr. Chamberlain and take his reward in the form of a son-in-law dignity like membership in the Order of Merit.

But in accepting the Garter, while still a commoner, he has only two predecessors in modern times. In the reign of Elizabeth two untitled persons were admitted to the order, but since then there have been only two, Earl Percy of Palladon, who was made Sir Edward Grey, and Lord Balfour, who was made Sir Arthur Balfour, before their promotion to the peerage. Consequently, it may be reckoned the King has shown a much more signal mark of his appreciation of Chamberlain's service than if he had created him a viscount or an earl.

BELLEVILLE WATER PERFECTLY HEALTHY

Belleville water may not taste the very best, but it is perfectly healthy and an assistant engineer of the Provincial Board of Health, Mr. F. P. Downey, who was here yesterday recommended that treatment of chlorine be maintained at the same ratio, so Manager Austin of the Waterworks Dept. announced today.

Mr. Hope McGinnis, Sanitary Inspector, has had reports of "Very Good Water" on his weekly tests of tap water for months. Vegetable matter in the water gives it the taste, but it is perfect by healthy to drink.

Fifty Years Efficient Service To County as Deputy Registrar Mr. Vandervoort Now Honored

Fifty years in office.

This is the record of Mr. Addison Vandervoort, Deputy Registrar of Deeds for the County of Hastings. The County Bar Association celebrated this unusual experience at the Court Bar dinner last night at the Hotel Quinte. His Worship Mayor W. C. Mikel, K. C., the President of the County Bar Association occupied the chair, and on his right were Hon. Mr. Justice Kelly, presiding Judge of the High Court sittings, and His Honor Judge Wills.

On his left was Mr. Vandervoort the Deputy Registrar, Toasts to His Majesty the King, to the Hon. Mr. Justice Kelly, to Mr. Vandervoort, and to the visitors were proposed, and all members who addressed the meeting from the County to spoke in the highest terms of praise for the efficient service and unimpeachable integrity of Mr. Vandervoort in performing the duties of his important office. Among those present were: His Worship the Mayor, Hon. Mr. Justice Kelly, His Honor Judge Wills, Messrs. M'Nivish, E. J. Butler, R. D. Ponton, A. B. Payne, R. D. Ponton, A. B. Collins, C. A. Cameron, R. D. Macaulay, T. Wills, and Messrs. O'Brien and Brown, Toronto, and Mr. Addison Vandervoort.

MEET JAN. 7, AS VOTES DELAYED

Extremely Improbable That All Returns Will Be In by Dec. 10

POSSIBLE ABSENTEES

Four Members Might Not be Able to Take Seats on Earlier Date

Ottawa, Dec. 1.—Parliament will meet on January 7, Premier King announced last night at the conclusion of a meeting of the Cabinet. The Prime Minister stated that it had been the hope of the Government to meet Parliament on December 10, which was the first tentative dates announced, but the report of the chief electoral returning officer, which was placed before the Cabinet, showed that it was clearly impracticable to summon Parliament at the early date.

The Premier issued the following statement:

"The Government has received to-day the following memorandum from the chief electoral officer with respect to the possibility of Parliament meeting on December 10:

"1. It now appears extremely improbable that by December 10th all the members elected on October 29th last will have been returned.

"2. The returns to 215 out of the 241 writs have been gazetted, and since the special issue of the Canada Gazette on November 28th, regular returns have been received from 14 additional electoral districts, making a total of 229, leaving 15 outstanding.

"3. For all but two of these, the writs are in the mails, some having already been returned and having been sent back on account of irregularity. The writ for Yukon, mailed and forwarded by registered mail, cannot reache here until December 11th, and many site possibly not arrive un December 21st.

"4 Moreover, the arrival in time of the two writs not yet mailed (Bruce North and Peace River) is problematical. In the former the final addition of the votes takes place only to-day, and in the latter a recount commences to-morrow at Edmonton. If this recount were prolonged, or if a recount were required in Bruce North, neither of these electoral districts would be represented on December 10th.

"5 Finally, a contest in the by-election in Bagot appears probable, and if there is a contest the returns from that district cannot be regularly made until December 16th at the earliest.

TAKE MORE EVIDENCE

Heated Argument Is Disclosed By Woman Witness—Details

Mr. Justice Kelly reserved judgment until Wednesday morning in the case of Stalyo vs Graham, when it was concluded in Supreme Court. In the meantime the parties will be given final opportunity to arrive at a mutual agreement. Third case on docket, Morton vs Dafoe started immediately.

INSURANCE AGENT

Donald Purdy, insurance agent, testified that on February 12th, 1920, the insurance was transferred over to John G. Graham. There was a fire in the store during 1920 and Graham's got the insurance but did not renew the policy. This policy expired on January, 1921.

NEARLY FOUGHT

Mrs. John Graham took the stand this morning. She told of a heated argument between her husband and Stalyo's daughter, defendant and plaintiff in this action. The local conversation which occurred in Graham's home on his farm, culminated when Stalyo jumped up and threatened to choke his son-in-law and wipe the floor with him.

"I jumped between them," explained witness, "and told them if they were going to let anyone to hit me." I told them they had talked enough and would not get anywhere that way. My husband then went out to his barn. That day it was decided to give the business at Trenton into the hands of Mr. Jones, realtor, for sale, and if the property were not sold by that autumn, father would come and take the property back. On this agreement the note was renewed.

Witness told of a meeting at her home on the farm after her husband had been seriously injured in a runaway. He came to her home with his wife and daughter and asked witness if she could get Graham to do something about the note.

"I told him, John Graham would do what he agreed to do. If he would be reasonable. He flew mad and left the house to see a Brighton lawyer. In Trenton one day father met me in the street and asked if Graham was going to do anything about the note.

VISIT REALTOR

"Finally he and I went to Jones' the realtor, and he asked me to throw off $500 and he would also throw off

SHOULD HAVE LARGE FIELD HERE IN RACE FOR ALDERMANIC HONORS

That three citizens are aspiring for the Mayor's chair one fifty-three offering their services as aldermen is a pleasing evidence of the wonderful civic spirit which is growing in Belleville. The great majority of those men are actuated by the highest motives in allowing their names to be presented to the voters for th selection of a municipal council for 1926.

It is to be hoped that practically all of these men will fill up their qualification papers before 9 o'clock this evening. The only danger of Belleville not having the best council in her history next year is that too many of those nominated may drop out and leave the onerous task of guiding the city's affairs to others. Every one should allow his name to stand and the voters can be trusted to select a splendid aldermanic board for the ensuing year.

LOCARNO TREATY IS DULY SIGNED BY FIVE POWERS

Bound to Maintain Frontiers Fixed at Versailles Even to Extent of War

GERMANS SIGN FIRST

Then Drove to Buckingham Palace to Sign the Register

London, Dec. 1.—The treaty of Locarno, made between the leading powers of Europe and binding their governments to maintain territorial frontiers established by the Treaty of Versailles even to the extent of war, was signed here to-day.

Plenipotentiaries of Great Britain, France, Germany, Belgium and Italy affixed their signatures to the document. Four subsidiary pacts, pledging the use of arbitration in the event of boundary disputes between Germany and each of her neighbors, France, Belgium, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia, were signed at the same time. Several copies of the treaties were signed and sealed for their preservation in the archives of state at Locarno in October, Austin Chamberlain for Great British, M. Briand for France, Dr. Stresemann, and Chancellor Luther for the German Republic, Emile Vandervelde for Belgium, and Count Scialoja for Italy. Ambassadors Hoesch and Sthamer acted on behalf of Poland by M. Skrzynski, Premier; and of Czecho-Slovakia by its prime minister Edward Benes.

Long before eleven o'clock when the doors were opened, the Barrow side entrance of Lancaster House, the public entrance, of the Government Building, and adjacent streets were crowded with onlookers anxious to see the statesmen as they drove up in closed cars. The small space allotted to Government ministers and diplomats in the room itself was filled when the plenipotentiaries took their places flanking Mr. Chamberlain who sat at the centre of the long table.

After a short opening address by Mr. Chamberlain, the signing began. Signatures were in alphabetical order of the names of the countries in French, so that Chancellor Luther and foreign minister Stresemann, representing Germany were the first to sign several copies.

After the signing was completed the German plenipotentiaries proceeded to Buckingham Palace to sign the register. Afterwards they attended an informal private luncheon with Mr. Chamberlain.

LOYD'S STATEMENT

"The peace of the world could not have been effected without some great sacrifice on the part of someone," he said, "but as this ceremony to-day," said M. Briand French Premier after the signing of the Locarno Accord. "This has been done," he added.

"It is the most important step in the field of peace since the world ended the war. Hereafter the world and the future should be one of arbitration and conciliation between nations, where war and armaments have no place".

MR. CHAMBERLAIN

In a brief statement to press correspondents, the Right Hon. Austen Chamberlain said that the conclusion of the Locarno Pact had settled the problem of security while the peace of Europe had been consolidated by the adhesion of Great Britain and Italy.

The treaties were the outcome of sincere desire on the part of the Nations concerned for peace and reconciliation.

GERMAN SENTIMENTS

Chancellor Luther of Germany issued the following statement: "This day of signing of the Locarno Pact is a milestone in the history of the European nations. It shows the will of all parties to the treaty to restore peace. Realpact ment to normal economic and political relations will be the ultimate outcome of our endeavors.

"I consider that this pact is the step that is always one in the direction Pacification of the world, and in it, gaie prosperity of the nations is the fir aim. There are still obstacles to overcome but we are at last so far advanced that I can say with assurance the goa is attainable."

MEIGHEN SPEAKS TO BAGOT VOTERS ON WAR POLICIES

Repeats in French What He Said at Hamilton Much of Contingent

QUERY PEOPLE FIRST

Denies He Favors Merger of National Railway With The C. P. R.

Aston Vale, Que., Dec. 1.—The Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, came to Bagot today. He repeated in French what he had previously said in Hamilton in regard to Canadian participation in war. The Conservative party," he said, "wants nothing but peace and security. The Conservative party has no expectation of another war. I do not think that, after the loss of Locarno, a war in the near future is possible. However if a crisis should arise in this country which any liberal might be summoned I declare that so long as I shall be in power in this country no troops will be sent out of this country without the people being consulted."

WORDS BRING APPLAUSE

There was an outburst of applause at the words Mr. Meighen went on to say that at the outbreak of the last war no party had been in this country. Both parties were unanimous in Parliament that aid should be given without delay. That was the opinion of the Conservative party that, in future, the people should be consulted as well as Parliament. "That," cried Mr. Meighen, "is our position. We have confidence in British Empire. You also have confidence in the British Empire. But we want the British Empire to be a great force for peace and not to spread war."

EORECASTS TARIFFS

He observed that the Conservative party had always been free traders, he declared, "We shall put a tariff against farm products of other countries. We shall put a tariff on farm products to get wheat and we shall assist in the extension of the Canadian market."

Mr. Meighen opened with apologies for what he termed his "halting French." It had been said, Mr. Meighen continued, that he was afraid to come to Quebec during the general elections. Nothing could be more absurd. In no province of Canada had he ever been received with greater courtesy or with greater cordiality.

GENERAL ELECTIONS

In the general elections, Liberal Chiefs in Quebec showed no desire to discuss the questions of the day. They knew too well that the people of Quebec were against them on such questions. They knew too well that the people of Quebec were in favor of protection for Canadian industries. They knew too well that the people of Quebec were alarmed at the drift of their population south. Therefore Liberals raised the old animosities.

FORGIVE AND FORGET

"But I prefer not to follow them," he declared, "I prefer to forgive and forget what they said against me, I prefer to forgive and forget." Mr. Meighen continued with his references to war participation and went on to say that the Conservative party, following the traditions of Macdonald and Cartier stood for recognition of the rights of the two great races in Canada, for civil and religious liberty. Conservatives believed that Canada should remain united. "We want good will between the two great races, good-will in act as in word."

CANADA FIRST

He said the Conservative party stood for the policy of Canada First, and the development of home industries. In a brief speech in English Mr. Meighen thanked the Conservative party, and had any intention of amalgamating the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National Railway, and thus throwing many people out of employment,

It has been done, he added.

"It is the most important step in the field of peace since the world ended the war. Hereafter the world and the future should be one of arbitration and conciliation between nations, where war and armaments have no place".

ASKS HIGH COURT ESTABLISH GIFTS BY DYING WOMAN

Mr. A. L. Dafoe Several Times Orally Told He Was Beneficiary

"HER ONLY FRIEND"

Late Mrs. Jane Brown Had Property Court With Dispose Of

A. L. Dafoe aged 61, of Belleville is seeking to establish a gift said by him to have been made to him by the late Mrs. Jane Brown before her death in General Hospital here last spring. The gift comprises the greater portion of the woman's estate. Edwin Morton, administrator of the estate of the late Mrs. Jane Brown, is plaintiff in the action and is represented by Mr. E. Guss Porter, K.C. Mr. C. A. Cameron is appearing for Dafoe, who until 6 years ago lived in Hungerford Township.

This is case number four, which is being heard in non-jury sittings of Supreme Court before Mr. Justice Kelly.

Dafoe is not a relative of the deceased woman, but was a close friend.

TELLS HIS STORY

Luther Dafoe, 48 Crest St. James Street, employed for City of Belleville, first witness, told of meeting Mrs. Brown about 6 years ago when she had visited with them many times. At that time Mr. Brown was living. Witness lived in part of the house that summer and then moved out and back again next spring after Mr. Brown had died. Mr. Brown was a cripple in a wheel chair, and after he died witness purchased the house, February 10th, 1922. Mrs. Brown continued to live in the same house until late in the fall of 1921, then she bought a little place near Mrs. Brown's son, Mr. Ackerman.

Mrs. Brown fell ill March 8th, 1925 and died March 14th. Witness saw her almost every day. Once when she wanted him to go up. Mrs. Rutan and Mrs. Rutan and Mrs. Dafoe went up first and witness followed after receiving the message to come.

FIND DOCUMENTS

"I reached her house about 7.30 p.m. and saw Mrs. Brown lying on the couch. Five women were in the room. Mrs. Brown took my hand and said the doctor she was very ill from kidney trouble and a rupture. She told me to look in her hand bag and told me that there were 'some things' in the house which she would like me to get. I found the hand bag Mrs. Warner and witness got a chest in the bed room. Taking a black hand bag from the chest, I found several documents she looked the papers over, and winding a string about the bag, said "Here, this is for you."

Mrs. Brown answered at first witness, "when she said 'keep it, it's yours.' I then asked, "if you do not want to keep it, what will I do with the bag to", Mrs. Brown answered, 'Keep it yourself, you are the only friend I have." I took the papers and threw up and Mrs. Brown told me she wanted me to accompany her to the hospital. I put the black bag in my pocket and accompanied her to the hospital. The day she died I took the bag to Mr. Cameron's law office.

PRECIOUS BAG

In the bag were the mortgage, an old insurance policy, the deed from Ackerman to Brown, a new insurance policy, a victory bond for $1,000 and $7.50—most of which was taken from the family bible. Dafoe stated that he had not spent one cent of the money.

Mrs. Brown was ailing in the hospital every day until she died, and when he saw her Monday a few her admittance, he asked her if he should let him communication with her relatives. She answered, "Oh it is no use, they would not come to see me." Finally under pressure she said, "Do as you like about it," and Dafoe telephoned Edwin Morton, her nephew at Thomsburg. Mrs. Edwin and his brother John came to Dafoe's house. They told Dafoe, so he says, that they had talked to their sons and could not "get any business" out of her. All she would say was, "I have given everything to Mr. Dafoe."

FOUND NO WILL

Continuing, Dafoe told of Mrs. Brown's wish for him to see the will he was properly buried, if she died. He

FISHER FAILS TO GAIN $1,000

Mr. Justice Kelly in High Court Dismisses Action.

NO BARGAIN MADE

Raised From Month Old Till He Was 26 By ... Uncle

Mr. Justice Kelly dismissed the action brought by Harry Fisher against his uncle John Fisher, for $1000 when the case was concluded in the non-jury sittings of Supreme Court here Monday afternoon. The case was dismissed without costs.

This was the interesting case in which Harry Fisher, 26, section hand at Tweed, sued his uncle who had raised him since he was a month-old baby, until he left him last spring. His reason for leaving was because his uncle had failed to keep to a bargain which he alleged had been made to pay him $1,000 when he was 21, if he stayed on his uncle's farm two miles west of Tweed.

Mr. Justice Kelly did not hesitate to find that no bargain had been made.

PLAINTIFF TESTIFIES

Continuing his evidence Monday afternoon, Harry Fisher told of cutting about 22 cords of wood and selling it for from $4 to $6 per cord and getting the money.

He had also heard that his uncle had left him an equal share with his own three daughters in his will.

Nelson Eaton, brother-in-law of Mrs. John Fisher, told of a conversation with John Fisher at his gate, when John said he would settle with Harry in the fall. In cross examination, witness told of Mr. and Mrs. Fisher's satisfaction with Harry as expressed to him.

NOT A PREACHER

William Casey, Fisher's neighbor, said Harry was a good worker. Fisher hired a man this year when Harry left him. Witness had lived on his farm 60 years and knew Harry since childhood. He had not heard John Fisher expressing the hope that Harry would be a preacher. Harry was not a bad boy, he believed, no worse than the "general run".

Francis Craig, of Tweed, another neighbor of Fisher's, and lifelong resident there, told of Harry's general ability as a farmer while there, being very good.

Benjamin Fisher, father of plaintiff, told of his brother John and his wife taking Harry with them when his mother died.

When witness married again, they took Harry home but the second wife died 4 years later and Harry went back to John's place again.

FATHER UNCERTAIN

When witness and John his brother, went after Harry when he ran away once John said that he "would do what was right by the boy", if he went back with him. He had not heard of any specific sums of money being named. Harry has two other brothers. Witness did not know his brother had made a will until today.

BOTH VERY FEEBLE

Mrs. Mary Fisher who is suffering from a severe heart attack, had been examined out of court and her evidence was read by defense counsel. She told of Harry's truancy at school where he reached the second book and would not go to school "He was treated just the same as if he were my own son", she said.

John Fisher, defendent, who is very feeble and scarcely able to walk, next took the stand. He was assisted to the chair in the stand. Harry was "none too good" as a farmer witness averred, was not successful at school and ran away once. Witness denied making any promise of $1,000 to Harry when he was 21, but left him an equal share with his own boys as he will make two years ago. There was no arrangement made for wages to be paid him. He denied ever having made any promise of leaving him $1,000 at any time.

OFFERED TO SETTLE

Witness offered to settle for $500 and Harry refused to take it. He could not remember telling Eaton that he would "settle with Harry in the fall." When he left to go away to work, Harry never consulted his uncle in the matter, witness deposed Every Saturday night Harry would get money from his uncle and go to Tweed. Harry never had complained of his treatment, but was brought up just as one of his uncle's own girls, witness said. Witness denied Harry's statement that he had purchased gas and repairs for the car. He also had the car whenever he wished it.

Miss Lela Fisher, daughter of defendant, could not remember Harry telling her that her father had promised him $1,000.

was to make all funeral arrangements. The Morton brothers had also told Dafoe at his house that if she died, Mrs. better go ahead and arrange the funeral, as if the route were bad, they might not get down to Belleville for the funeral. Dafoe told of mentioning to the Morton brothers that he heard Mrs. Brown had made a will. The men then walked down to M. Wright's law office but Mr. Wright could not find any will.

Tuesday, Dafoe and his sister, Mrs. Rutton visited Mrs. Brown in the hospital. Mrs. Rtton asked Mrs. Brown who was the administrator of her will. She answered, "I have no will—I destroyed it. I give everything to Mr. Dafoe. Then she issued instructions for her burial, if she died. Fearing that someone might say the funeral was not good enough if left to Dafoe, he again telephoned Morton at Thomasburg the day she died.

The case is proceeding.

Trammen's Ball Is Huge Success

Outclassing all previous dances or number attending and genuine enjoyment the East Toronto Lodge, No. 108, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen dance on Monday evening in the Johnstone Academy was a complete success and it was with reluctance the two hundred persons present broke up the dance at 2.30 this morning. The committee Messrs. J. Rigby, chairman, C. Warren, secretary, and A. A. Berry, treasurer, had spared no effort in perfecting every detail of the evening's entertainment. A committee of ladies composed of Mrs. J. Rigby, Mrs. B. Wilbaur, Mrs. A. Vandervoort, Mrs. C. Warren, Mrs. K. Green, Mrs. A. E. Berry, Mrs. A. Cole, Mrs. W. Jordan, Mrs. F. Charlton, Mrs. S. Morgan, Mrs. P. Morgan and Mrs. F. Haslip co-operated with the gentlemen's committee in attending to all details.

During the evening a happy variation was a Scottish dance, the Highland Fling, given by seven pupils of the Johnstone Academy of Dancing, the Misses Doris Calcutt, Ruby and Helen Kiser, Kitty Torrance, Jean Given, Christie Muldrew and Kitty Johnstone. This was repeatedly encored.

To-day's News of Trenton

(By a Staff Reporter For The Intelligencer)

GREAT BARGE HITS TRENTON

The "Quebec" 806 Overall
70,000 Bushels

Trenton, Dec. 1.—The largest boat of any description which has ever been seen at Trenton eased into her moorings Sunday night for winter quarters. The "Quebec," a boat of the John Russell Towing and Wrecking Company of Toronto, is a huge barge measuring 256 feet from stem to stern, with a beam of 41 feet and room enough beneath her decks for 70,000 bushels of wheat. lay at the foot of the cold storage docks this morning when the sun came to show Trentonites the great marine construction ever seen here.

She is captained by A. J. Derenzigny, a French-Canadian from Valley Field, Quebec. His friends call him "Duff" for short, a device which rendered easier the visit of The Intelligencer which was paid yesterday morning.

The "Quebec" has been carrying wheat from Buffalo to Montreal explained the Captain; inherently polite and genuinely courteous. The captain takes proper pride in his barge. "It is one of the best fitted tow barges on the Great Lakes", he declared.

During the conversation which took place in the saw fallinged (of which they don't have ceilings on shipboard, and any sea going man would say "overhead" and not "ceiling") compartment, which was the dining room—or mess—it was observed that four members of the crew were listening with a rather strained fashion. The were all French; one understood nothing of what was being said, the other three were getting a good idea of the talk. All were attentive—and polite.

With characteristic self-saving hospitality, the Captain invited the visitor to take dinner, which will be served at that time. Only lack of time prevented acceptance. It was noted that no one of the crew would eat while the reporter was there. There was no help for the awkward situation. The Captain explained that "they are too well bred, to eat if you do not join them"!

During the conversation which concerned ships and shipping, it developed that there was much on the programme by way of activity during the ice-bound months.

Far from entering upon a period of hibernal rest when in winter quarters, the Captain said that he was leaving that afternoon for Charlotte, N. Y., to "give a hand" with the wrecking of an American barge which is beached on the American shore in that vicinity.

While the "Quebec" reigns supreme at Trenton, there are other big boats there.

The "Montreal" of Montreal, is moored near the "Quebec". The former is the property of the Weddell Estate here. Both boats display the high wall of red paint which extends from the water to the normal water line of the boat—indicating that the boat is at standing high in the water, that it is empty.

That Trenton will have a chance to see other large boats soon was seen when the Captain said that the "Geo. T. Davis", another barge of the Russell Company, was to dock there on Saturday.

The big boat passed Belleville on its silent trip to its present berth, coming, as it did, from Sodus, New York, via the Bay of Quinte and not through the Trent Valley Canal.

MR. BONTER TO MOVE

Trenton, Dec. 1.—G. L. Bonter, tailor, is making preparations to move his shop from its present location on Ridgway street to another one on the same street. Shortly after Christmas he will take quarters in one of Mark Tripp's buildings. The new location is one door west of the Ridgway entrance of McClung's Hardware Store.

Trenton Bowling

Trenton, Dec. 1.—That smoking act which is offered at Tripp's Recreation Academy for the highest men's score for three consecutive games bowled between the hours of 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. from November 30th until Dec. 15th, inclusive, will be well won, it was evidenced yesterday.

Yesterday the high score stood at 533, being made by Mr. V. Caswell, Public School instructor. It was erroneously stated yesterday that Mr. Caswell had offered the act. It was offered by Mr. Mark Tripp.

This record of 533 was leveled yesterday by Rob McKinley, who rolled 612. He had not gotten home as yet when H. E. Chase topped this score with 614, at which the record stands today.

Last night's play showed a general trend upward in scores for the alleys, which the reporter was there. There was no help for the awkward situation. The Captain explained that "they are too well bred, to eat if you do not join them"!

TRENTON ROTARY HOST TO LADIES

Very Enjoyable Evening There With Dinner and Dance

MR. HERITY SPEAKS

Entertainers From Other Places Help to Keep Diners Pleased

Rotary held the stage in Trenton last night when Ladies' Night was celebrated by one of the most elaborate and attractive programmes which have ever been attempted by the local club.

President Ed. A. Simmons represented the astuteness of the other members this morning when he characterized the whole evening as "a great success". There were guests from Trenton and many from other towns and cities. The Trenton ladies outshone themselves in the way they entertained the gathering of 85 who made merry till the hours were short.

The speakers were well received, from first to last. The speaker of the evening was J. Owen Herity, Secretary of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Herity gave an address "to the ladies, about ladies" to use the words of a prominent Rotarian.

the high quality of their wares. It the high quality of their wares. It included the Empress Quartette who rendered both vocal and instrumental music. The quartette was made up of Messrs. Fred Stitch, of Petersboro; Glad Tolford, Lindsay; Charles Donnelly, Port Hope; and Al. Stillman, of the Bellevue Rotary Club.

With this stellar double pair of performers were George Urquhart, of Toronto, who made a hit with his comic songs, and banjo solos; Harold Oldham, also of Toronto, whose solos in feminine falsetto were much appreciated, and who lead out last, Trenton's own Russell Haines.

As a variety in the programme a beautiful bottle of St. Dennis Bath Salts were drawn for by tickets which were given to the ladies. The bottle was won by Mrs. Gertrude Carter of Trenton. The drawing all included in the speech of greetings and commendation by the Chairman. The latter hanged complimentary remarks on Rotarians. Mr. Bill Rose proposed a toast "to the Ladies", which was followed by Al. by another toast proposed by Mr. Owen Fortune. The latter toast was "To our Guests". Both Mr. Rouse and Mr. Fortune are Past Presidents of Rotary here.

At the close of the first half of the evening, the Chairman, Mr. Simmons addressed remarks concerning plans for the Christmas Cheer Fund which is being raised by Rotarians.

Mr. Simmons also expressed the appreciation of the Rotarians to the ladies who guaranteed the success of the evening by their presence. The entertainers, Mr. Herity, and the entertainment committee were Mr. Allsop Hamilton, Mr. Lewis and commendation by the Chairman. The latter hanged complimentary remarks on Rotarians. Mr. Simmons also expressed the appreciation of the Rotarians to the ladies who guaranteed the success of the evening by their presence. The entertainers, Mr. Herity, and the entertainment committee were all included in the speech of greetings

ALDERMANIC STARTERS

The city is faced with the biggest entry list for the Aldermanic race on record—fifty-three starters—and though it is likely there will be a number of scratches still the field will be there most heavily filled in many years and should provide no end of interest.

Last year's result when thirty-eight were nominated and at a late minute to the time limit for qualifying only eleven had done so, and they had almost to reach the twelfth man to come in so as to avoid another nomination, is evidently not going to be repeated here for a long time. True, last year it was the night Mr. C. F. Hanna was elected and the public interest was all in that event so much indeed that some prospective aldermanic candidates admitted afterward that they "forgot" to qualify. Never again says Belleville and the fifty-three nominations on Monday was the language employed to say it. It makes for interest in local affairs and quite obviously the final result should be a first class council.

"MADE-IN-CANADA"

One of the most interesting get-togethers of the current commercial season was that of the "Produced-in-Canada" committee at Toronto a few days ago. It was attended by more than 250 representatives of various industrial, commercial and service organizations and was under the auspices of the Toronto branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' association. Enthusiasm, it is reported, ran high. It is regrettable that the result of the recent federal election contest was not more decisive, because it has been the uncertainty of Canada's government during the last four years that, more than anything else, has retarted the "Made-in-Canada" campaign. Declaring the movement cannot be successful if it rests entirely on sentiment and propaganda, Sir Joseph Flavelle is reported to have added that "the good sense of the purchaser will brush these aside and properly so unless supported by products having distinctive merit, at fair prices." Which brings us to the issue of protection again. Products of the United States, as a result of Right Hon. Mackenzie King's vacillating tariff policies, have been and are being dumped into Canada at a price with which Canadian manufacturers of similar articles cannot hope to compete. Canadian manufacturers who have resisted the temptation to lower the standard of their product, to meet a price, have had a trying experience. Manufacturers who did not resist the sacrificial quality to meet the price everything which they will find it difficult to regain. The indications are that there will be another federal election in a few months that will provide Mr. Meighen with a working majority and make it possible for him to bring on a protective tariff. When that day dawns the "Made-in-Canada" campaign for the first time in many years, be given practical encouragement.

FREIGHT RATES ON COAL

Application has been made by the railway companies to the Dominion Railway Board for an advance in the rates on coal between Erieau and points east. As a matter of course, protests against the increase have been made by chambers of commerce, coal dealers and others interested.

If the railway interests involved were those of private railway corporations only, the genera public could perhaps afford to give its moral support wholly to the protesting parties. As it is, the general public is interested in this matter not only as the coal-consumer is, but also as the owner of a great coal-buying railway. It is reasonable and proper, therefore, to consider it from the railway viewpoint as well as from that of the coal shipper and coal consumer.

The Canadian National Railways system costs the country over fifty million dollars annually more than it earns. The difference is a dead loss to the country. One of the causes of the big deficits is that the railway carries some classes of freight at a loss—the cost of hauling is greater than the revenue received for the service. Coal is one of these commodities. Here are some figures which serve to demonstrate the truth of our statement:

The distance from Erieau to Toronto is 195 miles. The freight rate on coal from Erieau to Toronto is $1 per ton. On the 195-mile haul, 19 miles is over the Fore Marquette road from Erieau to Chatham, the remaining 176 miles being over the C.N.R. from Chatham to Toronto. For the short haul the Pere Marquette railway gets 31 cents per ton. For the long haul the C. N. R. gets 69 cents. That is to say, for hauling the coal 176 miles the C.N.R. is paid 3.9 mills per ton mile. When the coal is switched at Toronto the C.N.R. absorbs 20 cents per ton, leaving 49 cents per ton, or 2.78 mills per ton mile.

The mere fraction over one cent per ton mile. That that revenue is not sufficient the financial condition of the C. N. R. would appear to indicate. In his latest financial statement Sir Henry Thornton said that the last year-the ratio of operating expenses to total receipts was 92.68. Only 7.32 per cent. of the total receipts was left to meet the enormous fixed charges after the cost of operation was paid. Hence the deficits.

As the C.N.R. has been carrying coal from Erieau at a loss, the revenue from the section must daily about a third per ton-mile of the average rate received by Canadian railways, the people of Canada are taxed to make-up the difference. Why should not the national railway be allowed to charge for hauling coal something near the cost of haulage?

That is the case from the railway point of view. It seems to us there is some reason in it.

ULSTER BOUNDARY

Professor John MacNeill's action in resigning from the Ulster boundary commission at the last moment is said to have averted the menace of revolution. The commissioner's explanation of his resignation came late in the day, after everything had looked very favorable for unanimous agreement. If he was dissatisfied with the attitude of his confreres he was a long time making his dissatisfaction known. But the situation is surely not so grave as some reports represent it to be. If, out of deference to public feeling, the opinion of the two remaining commissioners is set aside by the judicial committee and a new commission appointed in the place of Mr. MacNeill, it will lead to delay, but it does not mean that the work of the commission will be entirely nullified. The British authorities may be relied upon to act with tact and patience in the crisis. The spirit displayed, however, is not promising for a settlement of the delicate problems involved. Only by concession on both sides can the difficulties be overcome and if neither the Free State nor Ulster is prepared to give way, nothing but a deadock is to be expected. It should have been possible to secure agreement between three commissioners, but the trouble is that the personnel of the commission is subject to influence from outside. Prejudice and antipathy would wreck the efforts of any men of good will seeking to find a solution, whoever they might be.

TRUTH OF THE BIBLE

The ruins of Babel have been discovered; Erech, after considerable delay, has been at last definitely identified and its ruins, now called "Warka" by the Arabs, have been searched; of Accad there was no trace whatever outside the Bible for many years; however, the term Accadian was frequently found in the ancient inscriptions and civilization of Babylonia. In a letter from Nineveh the name of the city of Akkad is found, while the phrase "the old Akkad" was first wound in 1852 in a cuneiform inscription of Nebuchadnezzar the first. (Nimrod and his times, Vol. I., page 441, New Biblical Guide.)

As to Caheh, various guesses were ventured for a while, but Hilprecht has identified this ancient city with Nippur (Niffer), which has now been thoroughly excavated by American explorers and its antiquity has been placed beyond question. Research has thus resulted in a vindication of Scripture statement which is startling in its completeness. The cities founded thousands of years ago in the land of Shinar have in these modern days spoken with a clearness which it is impossible to mistake and Scripture history has been corroborated in a most remarkable manner. Such is also the case with the great Assyrian cities, Ninevah, Calah and Reeem.—R. Boyd-Morrison in The Philosopher.

DECAY OF PREACHING

Clergymen and ministers of religion reading Dean Inge's remarks on the decay of modern preaching may be disposed to echo George Canning's lines:—

Of all plagues, good Heaven, thy wrath can send,

Speaking of the Church of England, the Dean declares that not only is the average sermon uninspiring, but that preaching is unworkmanlike and even slovenly. It is some satisfaction to the Scottish ministers to learn that they put more thought into their discourses than do the Anglicans, as their people demand stronger meat than would be acceptable to most English congregations. But what Dean Inge says of the Anglican preacher is in a measure true here north of the Border. The crumbling of certain parts of the dogmatic structure has undoubtedly increased the difficulty of preaching. There is uncertainty as to what may or should be said from the pulpit. Ministers too, are not so conversant as they might be with the intellectual revolution which is going on in the minds of a generation which is not content to accept the old formula of religious beliefs, with the result that much preaching does not touch the crux of religious uncertainty and is consequently unhelpful.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

SCOTSMEN SHOWN PIONEER DRAMA BY ONE ON SPOT

A TALE OF KILDONAN.

Scotsmen of the city had a hilarious time at the annual St. Andrew's banquet last evening in the I.O.O.F. hall and enjoyed one of the best programmes of the year. The evening was enthusiastically opened by the assembly hill where the pro-cedure was put on hold some years ago and the Scotsmen all savoring of the land of the heather were enjoyed by the some two hundred persons present.

THE SPEAKER

"Scotsmen As I Met Them on the Trail" was the subject of the interesting address given by the speaker of the evening, the Rev. R. D. Stewart, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

"Though", the speaker said in part, "I myself was never in Scotland, I have spent most of my life on the rugged edge of civilization in the far west and the men I have met in the ranches, in mining camps and lumber camps... I found Scotsmen wherever I went. The Scot is a pioneer and a colonist every other nationality but I can truthfully say that in no other man have I found the sterling qualities which, in circumstances, developed to quite so great a degree as I have found in the Scotsmen."

This characteristic was no doubt attributable in many cases to his environment. In the old land where many a battle royal had been fought against an unfavorable climate and an unwilling soil in order to wrest for him a livelihood.

BRAWN AND BRAIN

"It was ever found him to be a man strong in brawn and brain."

The speaker then made a brief biographical sketch of some outstanding characters he had met and also some of the situations he had seen develop in the frontier beginning with the old Kildonan, situation on the bank of the Red river and settled by Scottish pioneers in the earliest days. They had brought with them the name Kildonan, the desire to work hard, and to worship God as was their custom to do. Of work they found an abundance but an opportunity to worship rather scarce. They, appealed again and again in vain to Lord Selkirk's company which had brought them out as settlers, for a minister who might preach to them as in their highland town.

DELAYED PRIVILEGE

This privilege was, however, to be denied them for many a long year. However, now and then they met and in a hearty spirit they worshipped as a congregation for forty years and at the end of that time a minister did visit them. He came, Mr. Sinclair said, from this very city—Rev. John Black, formerly minister of St. Andrew's church.

PERSONAL OBSERVATION

Next the speaker cited several concrete instances which have come under his personal observation, such as Scotia's first and another hardy band of pioneers had struck their roots into the fertile soil of the prairie provinces. They were doomed to struggle again against almost insurmountable odds as year after year their crops were devastated by frost, hail, grasshoppers and rust. Nevertheless Scottish tenacity proved an overcoming force and today that settlement is perhaps the best farming community in the whole province with splendid homes equipped with all modern improvements.

THE PIONEERS

The speaker then undertook to describe some of the pioneers themselves beginning with the greatest in the person of Dr. James Robertson, letter known as the Great Superintendent. Under his personal guidance Mr. Stewart began his missionary career, which led him far afield into the lonely lumber camps and the mining camps of the far north, having afterwards been staffed by the veteran of Presbyterian missions who never failed to give a measure of courage and enthusiasm so necessary to those who struggled against the great odds of a Godless pioneer country.

ROBERT SERVICE

He mentioned also Robert W. Service of Yukon fame, who got a round toy went into the Yukon as a bank clerk in its toughest and wildest days, but Service, even in the Yukon was not at the time so to have crushed even the strongest and most indominatable character, yet Service, true to his Scottish economy, turned the wild and rugged scene of the Yukon into songs of pleasure life which have made him immortal.

Mr. Stewart spoke of many other pioneer missionaries, McKay for example, who on his first appearance in a cowboy meeting house was so embarrassed by the unholy conduct of the sturdy young men who had come not in worship but to prevent others from worshipping that he finally laid down his bible, took off his coat and went down to the door saying "To Gods, I may not be able to preach the gospel but I can most certainly cast out devils" which he thereupon proceeded to do.

THE PROGRAMME

To the very excellent programme, which all joined heartily, Mr. W. Sinclair gave a solo, Miss Grace Brown a very creditable selection, Miss Pipe Band a selection, Miss Doris Roe a solo, Miss Mary Browning a solo, Mr. J. D. Bastine a solo, and pupils of Professor and Mrs. Johnstone, two Scotch dances. The young Scotia lassie part in this were Miss Sally Torrance, Captain Mildrum, Grace Kennedy, Helen Kiser, Kiser and Gibson in the second dance they were joined by George Taylor and Mattie Browning. The programme was concluded by an instrumental selection by Mr. D. Nicholson, organist of John Street United Church. A vote of thanks was moved by Dr. D. P. McKee and seconded by Mr. Don Bleecker.

THE SUPPER

In the entire assembly then gathered in the banquet hall—where a dainty repast was enjoyed. Here Don Bleecker ably assisted by Mr. Don Bleecker was heartily joined in. His Worship Mayor W. C. Mikel gave an interesting address on the evening broke up in the small hours after one of the most successful St. Andrew's banquets yet enjoyed by Scotsmen of this city.

HEAVY STORMS COSTLY IN LIFE

Paris, Dec. 1.—Storms which swept the Mediterranean and Atlantic coasts during the week end penetrated as far south as French Morocco and as far east as Bulgaria, reports show. At Fez Morocco, cyclonic winds caused the death of three foreign Legionaires and injured thirteen. Seventeen airplanes were wrecked. Five mechanicians were also injured. The loss is very heavy. The death toll along the Brittany coast, where a number of fishing boats were caught in the gale was placed at 8 today. Of Biarritz, Tunis, the Storm is keeping the difficult Tangier Corridor from sailing for Marseilles with wounded and sick soldiers homeward bound from Syria.

$500. After Graham had a paralytic stroke and was ill, Staley came from U.S.A., and after asking witness what they were going to do about the note, and decided never to ask about the note again, but ask nothing. In cross-examination, Mrs. Graham admitted to Mr. Payne that she did most of the business transactions. John G. Graham, much older than his wife, and still affected from the paralytic stroke, took the stand and told of various transactions already discussed. He said he made all consession to Staley to help Staley out as Staley had told him that he had always been "kept down."

Thomas Harrison, Murray township carpenter and farmer, who helped to build the Trenton property, told of the 40'x52' building of concrete block, 2 storeys high. He told minute details of its size, windows, features and inside finishings. Harrison set the value of the property at $4,100 today. It would cost as much to build now as when it was built during the war. It would be worth $5,000 when done. The stone it just across the road would be worth $1,000 more for the people walk on the other side of the street.

Francis J. Pierce of Trenton, realtor said (this property could never have been sold for anything as much as $7,000. It would be worth about $4,000 or $4,500, the latter sum in war years, when real estate values were higher in Trenton.

PRINCIPAL HUTTON SPEAKS SO PLAINLY.

His Utterances on Women and Their Current Doings Hit Home.

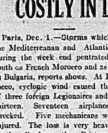

Toronto, Dec. 1 (By Canadian Press)—Principal Hutton in a lecture pleads for "backgrounds" and the Victorian type of woman," restful and possessed, with whom women lived at home, friendly with what makes the eyes shine." He imagined some defender of the modern woman saying: "That's all Victorian nonsense." His is parliament, Hooey and sermons and lipstick and black & tan and beauty parlors!" What, if our present-day women were the dowagers and drab like chorus girls all superficial brevity. Superficial certainly, but the superficial is sometimes the covering and visible sign of the inward and spiritual malady, of the only serious maladies: irreligion and infidelity reckless paganism, and a feverish restlessness. The modern woman is in an unusual number of cases purposeless, rudderless, and where she is purposeful and resourceful, purposeful to no purpose except suction bridge, and resourceful only in killing time."

BEER AND WINE FAVORED

London, Eng. Dec. 1. (Canadian Press Despatch)—People are drinking more beer and less spirits than formerly; wine is more wanted and the consumption of tobacco remains virtually stationary.

These facts are forthcoming in the annual Customs and Excise report. The consumption of wine in England has been rising continuously since 1921. Although it is not officially so stated, it is believed that the increase is at least in part to wine drinking becoming popular with Englishmen who were serving with the Forces on the Continent.

QUEEN'S HAVE NO EXCUSES

Players and Officials Disappointed, But Give Congratulations to Ottawa

A GREAT RECORD

Spirit of Tri-Color Will Always Continue, Said Coach W. H. Hughes

Kingston, Dec. 1.—"We have no regrets and no excuses, but we congratulate whole-heartedly the members of the Ottawa rugby team," said Coach W. P. Hughes, of Queen's Intercollegiate championship.

"Naturally I must admit a sense of keen disappointment," said Coach Hughes, "first of all for the players of the squad who worked so long and so faithfully, and whom I would have liked to see go through the season without a defeat; and next for those who so loyally supported the team for the past four years.

"On the other hand while we admit this disappointment, we know that they all share with us an abiding sense of pride in the glorious record of Queen's senior football team.

"While it is true that practically the last man of that original squad, also defeated, is the Caughlan public the highest type of clean sportsmanship on the Canadian football field, and who can criticized the greatest team that ever played in Canadian rugby, passed out of inter-collegiate rugby on Saturday, that spirit of Queen's did not pass out with them. It will live in Queen's team of the future, and the Canadian public no doubt will again be thrilled by the work of Queen's players on the gridiron.

"While we admit the disappointment, at the same time we have no regrets or excuses. We congratulate whole-heartedly the Ottawa club, players, executive, coach and supporters. We feel that

"ROYAL TEMPLARS OF TEMPERANCE"

(Contributed)

Another successful evening was spent on Friday last when we held our annual rally night. For this special event, we were fortunate to have with us Dominion Grand Councillor Bro. Buchanan. His pure as a bright and encouraging talk on Temperance and its benefits, and we look forward to all our friends, who were present to remember the special request he made to them at the close of his talk. Our Select Councillor, Bro. R. W. Brown, promptly second the speaker's request, and he, also, spoke of the benefits and good work of the order. During the evening supper was served consisting of chicken, cooked meats, salads, pies, cakes and coffee we are deeply indebted to the members for that splendid supper. After supper a delightful programme was put on by the following artists: Contralto, Mrs. W. Roberts, A.L.C.M.; Tenor, Mr. Robinson; Baritone, Mr. W. Colclough; Cornet soloist, Bro. G. Wardle; Duettists, Miss Dawson and Miss Langdon; Accompanist, Miss Smith. Our Recording Secretary, Bro. Frederick, passed a hearty vote of thanks to our worthy guest, Bro. Buchanan, and the wonderful evening came to a close with the singing of the national anthem. Our next regular night will be held on Friday, December 11th at 8 p.m. Another great time is assured. Applications for membership will be accepted at our next meeting.

WINNIPEG TEAM EAST WEDNESDAY

Tammany Tigers Will Make Courageous Effort to Win Dominion Honors

ONLY ONCE DEFEATED

Westerners, Despite Brilliant Season, Acknowledge Difficult Task

Winnipeg, Dec. 1.—Called upon to back a team whose stock has stared steadily by its clean-cut victory over the redoubtable Queen's machine, and upholding the prestige of the entire Canadian West, Tammany Tigers, of Winnipeg, will leave for Ottawa on Wednesday morning in quest of the Dominion rugby championship. The western champions who meet the Ottawa Senators in the gridiron classic on Saturday next, will be accompanied by a group of Winnipeg supporters.

While the sporting fraternity of Ottawa is awaiting Victoria's and the capital city's first eastern champion-ship in many years, Winnipeg fandom is agreed that the Tigers represent the strongest aggregation that has ever ventured afield from Winnipeg for the highest rugby honors.

Throughout the season the western champions have performed brilliantly and on only one occasion have they emerged on the short end of the score. The squad is composed of a bunch of youngsters and a number of veterans who have given the requisite balance to a powerful machine, both offensively and defensively.

TO PRACTISE AT OTTAWA

Winnipeg, Dec. 1.—Daily training has kept the Tammany Tigers of Winnipeg, western rugby champions in fine shape, and "Tiny" Houston, veteran coach, declares they will be in fine physical condition for their match against Ottawa Senators, eastern champions, for the Dominion title at Ottawa next Saturday.

Tigers have five backfield stars who have few superiors anywhere in the Dominion. In Dick Buckingham, who plays flying wing, they have a husky athlete who can run, hit the line and do just about anything that he is called upon to do.

Warren and Grant can punt with the best of them, while Van Vliet, left half, is a real ten-second man. Art Shaw, at quarter, is a dark performer and one of the best spinners in the West.

Added to this, Harold Roth and Eddie McLean, on the line, are both well over 200 pounds and are first-class plungers.

The Tiger line averages 185 pounds.

The past week has been devoted to an intensive training in the east-side style of play. It is planned to get in some practice in Ottawa before the big East and West struggle.

JIGGS-MAGGIE ARE STILL GOOD

Griffin's Theatre Crowded To Doors For Repeat Of Irish Comedy

SONGS, GAGS, DANCES

One Or Two New Faces in Company On Its Eleventh Annual Tour

Irish fun is ever appreciated. Griffin's theatre was crowded to the doors Monday night for the annual appearance there of Jiggs Mahoney and his "funny-face" friends created by the masterful hand of George McManus.

Jiggs and Maggie are still good, and are surrounded by Dinty Moore, daughter Kitty, Oswald the pup, Jimmie, the straight man, Violet Dare, the hoydenish vampire, and eight ordinary-looking chorus girls. Jimmie (Frank Hascom) sings jazzily and steps in accordingly, while Miss Dare takes the prima donna role with well known songs, in fine dresses which she displays to her shapely form. Emma Weston, the portly Maggie, sings and clowns near the end, for the biggest hit of the show. Jimmy, Jiggs, Oswald and Dinty sing comic songs in quartette, and Bob Rice as Oswald in self tops causes roars of laughter in his inimitable character, the affected Englishman. He is nearly seven feet tall and, he stood as a thermometer, completes with drooping moustache, balloon tire goggles 'n everything.

It is a well dressed show with very fair scenery and they all worked hard to please. The show has been greatly changed, but is still a plotless potpourri of song, dance and burlesque nonsense which produces a passing laugh. Broadway is well advertised by this company whose members continually harp on that street which structs many who often find it has been falsely "advertised".

The show is replete with a joke on the Scotsman, in this place, he took his new bride for a ride on the scenic railway at Coney Island. Then the chorus, led by Kitty, echo back with a Scottish dance and medley in uniform.

"Bringing Up Father in Gay New York, though ordinary in many respects, is fairly fast moving and the book has supplied a number of clever "cracks" which "tickle" those when they "percolate."

Manitoba Bees Set out to Make a Record

Who ever heard of a hive of bees that in one day gathered no less than 23 pounds of honey? If anyone doubts that the busy bees can be as busy as all that, just refer to Mr. W. D. Wright who has a large and prosperous apiary near Souris, which is in southern Manitoba on the Canadian Pacific Railway, and anybody doubts the fertility of the Province of Manitoba or wonders if the summer suns there shine down on wide fields of glorious bloom, let him read the following which is gathered from the columns of the "Souris Plaindealer."

It was on July 31st last that the hive of bees beside which Mr. Wright stood in the above picture gathered and stored the twenty-five pounds and established a record for this continent and perhaps for the whole world. There was no doubt about its being true, because the Provincial Department of Agriculture made the test. From July 31 to August 2, the hive stood on a scale and every evening when the bees' work was done and they had gathered around their friends to talk it over, the weight of the hive was taken. The first night was on July 31 when 11¼ pounds was brought in and from that quantity the daily take varied up to 14 and 16 pounds. But on July 31 the bees got together and made a special effort just to show what they could do in the way of establishing records.

Perhaps they had just discovered that their efforts were being recorded. Anyway we can imagine that the night before, the queen called the crowd together, or perhaps only the captains of teams, and said something like this:

"Now, boys, the world's got its eye on you and tomorrow's the day we go over the top. Any lad that comes in here with less than his full load gets into trouble and the chap or team bringing in the biggest bag gets a wax medal with my picture on one side and his own name on the other."

And how they worked that day! They worked all the other days of the season too, because the total honey produced for the season was 4961½ pounds. Of course Mr. Wright's bees were two or three rainy days when they stayed at home and did chores around the hive, and two or three other days when it didn't rain, but they stayed home anyway to look after the local elections or something like that. And so it was all over so darned the quiet and peaceful.

"Well, it's been a pretty good working season, I'll tell the world," and as always it is the case the Queen was right.

Having proved her superiority as an organizer etc., it was natural that wider spheres of endeavour should fall to this queen, so Mr. Wright shipped her to a big flee firm in Alabama who are sending him another queen now, one of her daughters next spring and three two-pound packages of bees with this queen and her daughter in command. The trade was worth $25 to the Florsdale Apiaries. The locating, capturing and caring ready for exportation of the Wright queen was witnessed by J. W. Brenkey, M.L.A., and a representative of the Plaindealer. She was indeed a very fine lady and was head of a enormous population that objected pretty strenuously to her removal, and you cannot really blame them for that.

Mr. Wright's Florsdale Apiaries this year produced almost four tons of honey and he hopes that next year Southern Manitoba and the neighborhood of Souris will again show the world something startling in particular will again show the world something startling in the way of honey production. In the meantime our friend the queen will continue her campaign for a bigger and better honey crop.

SUES SON-IN-LAW FOR $3,225 NOTE

W. A. Staley, Formerly of Trenton, Brings Action in High Court

GOT LOT IN WAR TIME

Defendent Advanced Some Money—Evidence Deals in Figures

High court officials had heard considerable evidence in the second case on the eight case docket before adjournment Monday evening. In this suit, William Allen Staley of Geneseo, N.Y., formerly of Wellington and Trenton, is suing his son-in-law, John G. Graham, of Trenton, for a $3,225 note.

C. A. Payne is appearing for Staley, Herbert T. Smith of Trenton for Graham, the defendant.

William A. Staley, plaintiff, identified a note for $3,354 signed by the defendant, John G. Graham, son-in-law of plaintiff, also renewal note for $3,225. Interest was at 4 per cent.

Plaintiff told of residing in Wellington in 1917 and purchasing a lot in Trenton from Mrs. Post for $1,500. Graham paid the $1,500 for the lot. "I built a concrete store and dwelling on it", continued witness. "Graham advanced $200 on Aug. 27th, 1917. On Sept. 29th, another advance of $600, on Oct. 5th $400. April 6th, both gave bank a note for $950 and he took the note up. Plaintiff paid the interest himself.

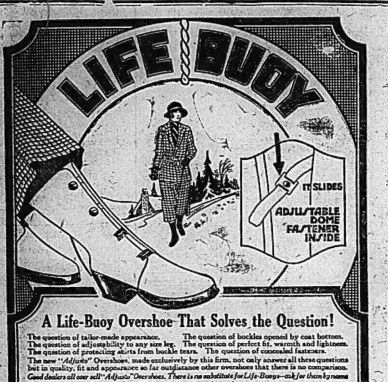

About July 26th, 1918, plaintiff deeded the place to Graham as security. A deed was given rather than a mortgage as it was the intention of the men not to make their business known. The buildings were completed in December 1918. Then the property in Wellington was sold and $1,000 of the money was used in building the Trenton buildings. The store there was a mixed grocery shop. On Feb. 13th, 1920, when Graham gave the note, Graham and his wife accepted an offer of $18 for the store, for $7,000 and stock and fixtures at invoice prices. Graham said they would accept that offer. "At that time I owed $3,775 to Graham," he said at 4 per cent. interest." The balance was paid by Graham to Staley by note. That was the $3,225 note. The land was then assessed in Graham's name. Staley also passed across the insurance policy. This note was for six months and when the note fell due, Staley was in Trenton. After the note was given, Staley sold the stock of groceries and fixtures for $1,600 Graham told Staley that Mr. Montgomery a Brighton realtor would have Graham's farm sold in three months when he would pay him the note. At the end of the six months the note was not paid but Graham gave him a renewal. Graham was unable to pay the note when it was due, and has not yet paid it.

In cross examination, witness told of telling his daughter Mrs. Graham that if she could sell the store at the price listed—$7,200—he would throw $500 off his claim.

Mrs. Jage Staley, wife of plaintiff, corroborated the evidence of her husband, and Mrs. Mary Brown another daughter of Mr. Staley, who worked in the store for her father and later for her sister, Mrs. Graham, was unable to shed much light on the business transactions. At that time she said she was very young and did not pay much attention to them when they were talking business in the store. She said the business at the store was very good. W. T. Waldorf, assessor of Trenton, during the years 1918, 19, 21, 22, 24, 25, told of valuations on this property and other properties in Trenton.

It is a great mystery how our ancestors got along without handkerchiefs. The first historical evidence of their use is in the religious rites of the early Middle Ages. BRITISH TROOPS LEAVE COLOGNE

Take With Them 800 German Girls as Brides—8,000 Men Moved

Cologne, Dec. 1.—In a gesture of goodwill on the eve of the signing of the Locarno pact, British evacuation of the occupied zone began twenty-four hours before the ceremonies in London, which will re-establish Germany on an equal footing and prestige among the nations of the world. Thirty lorries of troops left for Wesel hidden yesterday morning. The remainder of the force of 8,000 will move out of the zone by train today. The troops themselves are doing their share of putting the Locarno spirit into practice, for they are taking with them 800 German girls, whom they have made their wives; and this in spite of the fact that fraternizing between the British Tommies and German civilians was officially discouraged. The Cologne shopkeepers are the chief mourners, as their harvest has been £10,000 weekly from the troops.

HEAVY CANADIAN CONTRIBUTIONS TO NAVY URGED

Jellicoe Outlines Proposal For Aid From Dominions

MOTHERLAND DRAINED

Canada's Share $36,000,000 Annually and Four Cruisers in Four Years

London, Dec. 2.—Viscount Jellicoe suggests that Canada should contribute £7,800,000 ($38,000,000) a year for the next few years towards the cost of the Imperial navy, and should provide a squadron of four cruisers within the next four years at an annual cost of approximately £3,000,000 ($15,000,000) during the four-year period of construction. He also suggests a cruiser squadron for Australia and New Zealand for the maintenance of four cruisers at approximately £853,000 ($4,289,000).

The suggestion is in Oceania's contribution to the navy is made in connection with an appeal, by Viscount Jellicoe to Britain's naval and naval publication in all the British Dominions to "face the situation" and assist the Motherland, each portion of the Empire sharing the naval burden in proportion to its population.

On the assumption that in the next few years £49,000,000 will be needed annually for the Imperial navy Viscount Jellicoe suggests that Australia, New Zealand, Canada and South Africa's white population should contribute in kind at the rate of £1 per head. Kings per head, and Great Britain and the Irish Free State 31 shillings per head. This would work out at the following figures for the Dominions: Australia, £2,400,000; New Zealand, £350,000; Canada, £7,000,000, and South Africa, £350,000. India's contribution is placed at the same figure as that of South Africa, £350,000.

SCHOOL DANCE WAS REVIEWED

Special Committee of Board of Education Met Committee of Boys

CHARGES UNFOUNDED

Evidence From People There Led to Finding On Affair

At a meeting of a special committee of the School Board last night, the students Athletic Executive was met by the board to discuss the matter of alleged irregularities at a recent high school dance. Those who represented the students before the Board were Gerald Hurley, Donald Ketcheson, Gordon Gray, Raymond Arnott, and Miss Ruth Miller. Mr. Cecil Facey represented the ex-students.

The upshot of the whole discussion was that a committee composed of Mr. John Elliott, Colonel Ponton and John S. Cook were appointed for the purpose of framing a resolution with regard to the situation which has been created.

CHARGES UNFOUNDED

After evidence had been heard from people who were concerned at the dance, it was the unanimous opinion of the Board that the charges which were laid by Mr. Harvey were totally unfounded. The Caretaker, Principal, and chaperones were heard from.

Mr. Harvey was not at the meeting.

THE COLLEGIATE

Another piece of business which occupied the attention of the committee during the evening was that which concerned the plans for a new collegiate.

A committee was formed tentatively to select an architect who will prepare plans for a new Collegiate. The plans prepared will not necessarily be finally accepted with the architect so selected by the committee necessarily be the one who will draw up the final plans.

The selection will be made immediately.

TWO FOR MAYOR 31 FOR COUNCIL ON CIVIC SLATE

Ex-Mayor Bennett Decides at Last Minute Not To Run

TWO BY-LAWS ALSO

Voters Will Have To Decide From Among Record Number

The civic contest which closes on Monday evening next at 5 o'clock, will be in many respects the most exciting and interesting that has taken place in years. This is owing to the fact that there will be a contest for the mayoralty, aldermen, school trustees in two Wards, and two important by-laws to be voted upon.

A SURPRISE

It was a surprise to many last evening when at 9 o'clock, the time for qualifying having expired, that only two of the three aspirants for the mayor's chair qualified.

Ex-Mayor Bennett decided he would not qualify. The contest will therefore be between Ald. R.J.E. Graham and Ex-Ald. J. W. Greenleaf.

ALDERMANIC CONTEST

Electors will certainly have a large list of aldermanic candidates to choose from in fact the largest number that have ever offered themselves for seats around the Council Board. Thirty-one of the 32 who nominated, qualified for aldermen qualified from which number only twelve have to be elected.

The list is as follows:

SCHOOL TRUSTEES

In Bleecker and Samson Wards there will be contests for Public School trustees.

Messrs. Ireland Pearce and William Harvey will be the contestants in Bleecker Ward, and in Samson Ward Messrs. Arthur Hill and Dr. S. McCreary will be the contestants.

TWO BYLAWS

In addition to the ballots for mayor, aldermen and school trustees, the electors will be called upon to vote on two bylaws, namely a bylaw to lease the gas works and a bylaw to change the number of aldermen from 12 to 8, three to be elected every year.

MISS CORBETT'S STATEMENT

Miss Corbett explained to the Intelligencer this morning that she did not allow her name to stand in the contest for aldermanic honors.

"I was urged to stand by a great number of people and was sorry I did not do so," she said, "but I am sorry I stand now. So many have said I should have qualified. I think it's time has arrived for women in Municipal Councils and should consider opportunity offer I would stand for election.

"I am very grateful to all my friends both women and men who stood with me. I desire to explain to them that the time was so short, the idea having been brought to me so suddenly, that I had not time properly to decide what I should do."

TURKS ARE ON WAY TO GENEVA MEETING

Constantinople, Dec. 2—Foreign Minister Tewfik Ruschdi Bey, accompanied by a delegation of Turks left for Geneva yesterday. They will attend a meeting of the council of the League of Nations which begins next Monday and at which among other things, a report on the Mosul question will be considered.

Injured Man on Stand Tells of Attempting to Board Hydro Truck When Passenger Car Driven by Dr. With Mrs. Faulkner Aboard, Struck Him, Breaking Both Legs—Hydro Men Testify.

When the Bill vs. Faulkner trial opened before Mr. Justice Kelly in non-jury supreme court Wednesday morning, Mr. E. Guss Porter, K.C., who is acting for the plaintiff, Arthur Hill announced that Dr. Robertson, who had been the chief examiner of Mr. Hill's injuries, was ill in St. Michael's hospital, Toronto and would be unable to testify.

"I have just received a telegram from Toronto, explained Mr. Porter, 'and I will have to proceed without his evidence."

Mr. Hill said he did not look down the road to see whether or not a car was coming. Witness could not remember Dr. Faulkner or Mrs. Faulkner having said anything after the accident. Dr. Faulkner ordered the men how to carry the injured man into the hospital as easily as possible.

"Dr. Wallbridge's bill was $150", Hill asserted. "I received it about one week ago." The leg is weak since it was broke and the left leg pains me, especially at night time and most every night.

STRUCK BY CAR

In the further of damages, is brought by Arthur Hill, employe at the Government Fish Hatchery here, against Dr. J. A. Faulkner for injuries received when he was struck by the doctor's car while he boarded a truck, owned by the Hydro Electric Power Commission to take a ride into the city. The accident occurred on Kingston Road in Thurlow Town ship just outside the city.

City Engineer C. Campbell submitted a blue print of the scene of the accident. Measurements were correct witness told His Lordship.

IS STILL LAME

Arthur Hill, aged 44, still lame, walked to the stand with a cane. He told of being assisted superintendent at the Government Fish Hatchery. He is married and has two daughters and has been at this work for 18 years at the Hatchery 11 years.

On January 2nd, 1925 between 4 and 5 o'clock witness left for proceeding homewards on foot on the highway towards the city.

To Mr. Gordon Bident, Hill said, "I looked around and I saw a truck coming behind. I was walking on the north side of the road. This was the Hydro truck, with Mr. Broughton and Mr. Emmerson in charge of it. I stepped off to the side of the road. The truck stopped opposite me to give me a ride.

ABOUT TO GET ON

The truck was on the north half of the road, about two steps from where I stood when it stopped. The front of the truck protruded after it had stopped, and was in a southerly direction—not parallel to the edge of the road. I walked towards the truck, put my hand on it, and my foot on the iron bolt me to go around and step in behind. I said alright, and walked alongside the truck towards the back door of the truck. I was about to iron step at the back of the truck hanging down from the body of the truck. The back of the truck was open. I had to turn to get in, and after putting my lunch basket in the truck I went to step up on the step, when I was struck from behind, I shunted the truck ahead, but I hung on to the back of the truck dragging on one foot. The truck was moved 10 or 12 feet. Dr. Faulkner drove his McLaughlin car which hit me.

SHOUTED TO HOLD ON

"I shouted to Broughton to hold on, I thought they had started the car. The two Hydro men, then came to the back of the truck. Broughton and Emmerson. Then Dr. Faulkner stepped out of his car. I was still hanging on to the truck and Mr. Broughton was holding me. Both legs were broken, the right leg above, and the left, below the knee. Broughton lifted me up into the back of the truck where I sat up.

Dr. Faulkner was there then, also Mrs. Faulkner. The car was standing 10 or 12 feet east of the truck on the north side of the road, practically where the truck was when I was hit. Dr. Faulkner's car was nearest to the side of the road. I heard someone say, 'We will have to get him to the hospital.' I was taken to the hospital in the back of the truck and Dr. Faulkner was at the hospital when I got there. The hospital is just a few rods west of this point. I was taken back into the public ward. Dr. Faulkner did nothing for me and made no examination. Dr. Crook attended me at the time, I asked for Dr. Robertson, Dr. Wallbridge and/Dr. Sargent of Stavebville. All assisted in reducing the fracture. I was in the hospital 38 days during which Dr. Robertson and Dr. Wallbridge attended me. Dr. Sargent also visited me. After I came home I was in bed and in the house until April 15th." I was visited by the doctors and later drove or walked to see the doctors. I used crutches and cane to walk and use the cane yet.

"The doctors saw me every day in hospital and sometimes twice a day. I suffered greatly from pain and could not have suffered much more with anything. I still suffer, but have been working—doing what I can since June 1st. I have to pick my own jobs and have to rest frequently.

THE DOCTOR'S BILL

"I drew government pay all the time I was off work. My doctor's bill was $116 and Dr. Robertson's bill—was $318." I passed, up that road twice a day every day. The road that day was practically bare, good and hard and had been for a week or more previously. I did not see Dr. Faulkner coming. There was ample space for him to pass on the south. There were no obstructions. I had yet use of the left leg. Only My nervous system has been affected. I lack confidence for work now. I was never injured before. I had never had typhoid fever years ago. Neither car had lights on."

To Mr. Gordon, Bident, Hill said, "I drew government pay all the time I was off work. My doctor's bill was $116 and Dr. Robertson's bill—was $318." I passed, up that road twice a day every day. The road that day was practically bare, good and hard and had been for a week or more previously. I did not see Dr. Faulkner coming. There was ample space for him to pass on the south. There were no obstructions. I had yet use of the left leg. Only My nervous system has been affected. I lack confidence for work now. I was never injured before. I had never had typhoid fever years ago. Neither car had lights on."

To Mr. Clifford Brown in cross-examination, Hill said there were no marks near the centre of the road indicating more travel there than at any other part of the road. This was the Hydro truck, with Mr. Broughton and Mr. Emmerson in charge of it. "I stepped off to the side of the road. The truck stopped opposite me to give me a ride.

RIGHT LEG SHORTER

There is a stiffness in the left leg but it has recovered pretty well. The rays were taken by Dr. Louise Tower and Dr. J. Robertson. The right leg is shorter than the left, witness was told, but nothing was done about it. This was in May. The last measure ment was one inch. Between the knee the right leg was 1 1-2" short. The left leg was practically alright.

"The leg was never measured in the hospital as far as I know."

DRIVER TESTIFIES

Harry Broughton, chauffeur for Hydro Electric for 16 years, who was driving the Hydro truck, said it was a Dodge truck, gross weight 2980 lbs. and 5' 4" wide from the outer edge of the left side of the truck to the driver's seat, is curtained, with a heater board back with a glass in it. The accident happened about twenty minutes to 5 o'clock. Witness stopped at Gibson's crossing, he said to watch for a train and looking back, saw no car coming. There was about 1-2 inch of hard snow on the road. It was a cold day with a north wind. The road was bare, except for snow. It was quite light, there being no need for lights on a car. As witness neared Hill in the car, he coasted the car for 100 yards. No brakes were used to stop.

JUDGE RESERVES FINAL DECISION IN DAFOE ACTION

Effort to Establish Gift By Dying Woman Before Court

RELATIVES TESTIFY

Belleville Man Her "Best" Friend Was Not One Of Family

At ten o'clock Wednesday morning Mr. Justice Kelly announced that he would reserve his decision in the Dafoe case.

To Mr. Porter, Dafoe told of Mrs. Brown living with his family in the house at her request. She boarded herself. He had heard that Mrs. Brown had a $1,000 victory bond. She had told him. Hospital bills and funeral expenses were to be charged to the estate. Mrs. Waugh and witness visited a lawyer after returning from the cemetery from Mrs. Brown's funeral, witness said.

P. C. William Evans told of taking the ambulance to get Mrs. Brown to go to the hospital. Mrs. Brown said to Dafoe, "are you coming to the hospital? You are my best friend." He rode to the hospital.

WIFE TESTIFIES

Mrs. Ida Dafoe, wife of Luther Dafoe, told of a message delivered to her house on March 8th to Mrs. Ruttan who was visiting there. An invitation to tea was sent to Mrs. Brown telling Luther to come up after then when he had finished his chores. There were 3 or 4 women there, none of whom witness knew. The doctor arrived soon and ordered her to hospital. Mrs. Dafoe corroborated the evidence of her husband exactly with regard to the circumstances when she received the note, the black bag containing the valuables.

When Mrs. Brown heard that Mrs. Dafoe and the two other women had hired a car to visit her, she said, "Do not spend your money. Use the money which I gave you."

Concerning the conversation between the Morton brothers and her husband in her house, Mrs. Dafoe told of listening to the conversation from a position in the hall.

Mrs. Mary Waugh, 208 Station street, who lived in the front part of Mrs. Brown's new home, told of boarding Mrs. Brown in Stone Street. She did not care to see any of her relatives. They never came to see her and she believed they did not care about her. Witness told of Mrs. Brown having told Mr. Dafoe that he was the only was friend that he was. Witness told of taking the black bag from the mail in Mrs. Brown's bedroom and handing it to Mrs. Dafoe. Mrs. Brown told Dafoe she wished him to have the bag if she did not come back.

Mrs. Joseph Thompson, 200 Station street, said she knew Mrs. Brown intimately, but first knew the Dafoes the night Dafoe first saw Mrs. Thompson told of Mrs. Brown saying to Dafoe, "They are yours, you take them. If I do not come back you will be the hospital" referring to the documents in the black bag.

DOCTOR ON STAND

Dr. G. H. Stobie told of Mrs. Brown being stupified with pain, by leg on a couch in an unheated room, and a high temperature and bad bowel vomiting.

To Mr. Porter, Dr. Stobie stated his belief that Mrs. Brown was suffering such that any disposition which she made of her property that night would be a speedy one.

ASKS ADJOURNMENT

As a result of the last statement of Dr. Stobie, Mr. Porter asked that the case stand while he, in fairness to his client, procured the ample hitherto not suspected by him, as to the mentality of Mrs. Brown. The request was disallowed by Mr. Justice Kelly.

"The opinion of a doctor is not sufficient. Mentality must be decided by the Court," he said, not on-

SEND MOUNTIES TO EXPLORE MYTH

"Tropical Valley" Will Be Explored or Exploded By Redcoats

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 2. — The "tropical valley" reported to exist in the trackless wilderness of North-ern British Columbia, will be investigated by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, it is stated here, in order to ascertain, in greater detail, the characteristics of this strange land.

Two reports have been received from prospectors who have visited the district, bemoaned by glaciers and snow-capped mountains comparatively close to the Arctic Circle and where vegetation grows rank as it does in the jungle or equatorial regions, where game and plentiful and unfamiliar with foreign species, where lupins and orchids grow in a riot of color and steaming hot springs shoot skyward, boiling water, skyward.

Following these reports people began to be interested and now the mounted police will probably start next summer on an exploring expedition.

The Provincial government already has considered data on the subject, brought back unobtrusively during the early stages of the war by Major R. H. Hart, F.R.G.S., who was commissioned by the late Sir Richard McBride, then premier of the province, to explore and report on that hitherto unknown area lying south of the Liard River.

Major Hart, after a series of misfortunes, got as far as the Toad River Valley, known to the Indians as the "Devil's Chest." After passing along this river through narrow canyons, stagnant marshes and swamps, the party reached an open plain of 200,000 acres where the climate was found to be much milder than that of the surrounding territory because of the presence of hot springs. They found luxuriant plant grasses, pea vine, vetches, lupins and even cactus. Although nothing to suggest what has since been described as a "tropical valley"

He also commented upon the unfortunate circumstances in relation to having involved in litigation

COALMEN REFUSE PINCHOT'S PLAN

Cannot See Any Basis For Settlement of Anthracite Dispute

Philadelphia, Dec. 1.—The anthracite operators in a letter to State Governor Pinchot late today wrote: "It is impossible for us to find in your proposals the basis of a sound and lasting settlement, and for the same reason they cannot be considered as a basis for conference and negotiation."

The letter to the governor revealed that the miners two weeks ago rejected a proposal for an immediate settlement offered by the operators. It provided for an immediate return to work, at wages paid prior to the suspension. It also provided for the resumption of negotiations for a five-year contract, and arbitration of differences not settled within 30 days after resumption of negotiations.

The check-off, the letter said, "which was condemned in principle by the Roosevelt commission in 1903, and refused by the Wilson commission in 1920, you now suggest that we accept by another name. By any name it is repugnant to reason and justice, and a barrier rather than an aid to sound industrial relations."

MR. BENNETT'S STATEMENT LIGHT ON SMALL CASE

Toronto, Dec. 2.—The Herald, Telegram today say small federal and provincial authorities are working on new and sensational evidence which has been given them in connection with the famous Ambrose Small disappearance case. To-day is the sixth anniversary of the disappearance of the theatrical magnate. "In all the six years this Small case has been absent," says The Telegram, "it can now be said that within the past six weeks there has been more actual information put into the hands of the authorities than in any before."

To the Electors of Belleville

After mature deliberation I have decided to withdraw from the contest in the mayoralty for the present year. It is with deep regret that I have arrived at this decision but the coming of a third candidate into the field has brought about conditions and issues that I think it desirable to avoid in the interests of municipal harmony and community progress.

At some future time I hope again to solicit an expression of your confidence and take this opportunity of thanking most sincerely all those who have supported me and with whom I have had such pleasant relations in the past.

Wishing you and the City of which we are all so proud the utmost success, I am,

Respectfully yours,
G. A. BENNETT.

(By a Staff Reporter For The Intelligencer)

PUBLIC SCHOOL FOUND "GOOD"

Trenton Board of Education Also Pleased With Report by School Nurse

Trenton, Dec. 2.—The Public Schools of Trenton have been inspected, and have been found "very good". This was brought out last night at the regular meeting of the Public School Board, when the report of Inspector Harry J. Clarke, of Belleville, was read to the Board.

Mr. Clarke recently completed his period of inspection which consumed about 10 days. There are 12 rooms in the system, to each of which was devoted about half a day. It is the regular semi-annual report of the Inspector. It proved very gratifying to the Trenton Public School Board.

Another feature of the meeting was the report of the recently engaged School Nurse, Mrs. O. W. Martin. The report embodied the outlining of her preliminary activities thus far. Mrs. Martin has completed the card index system which keeps a complete tab of the physical and mental condition of every child in the public schools of Trenton.

The idea of the card system was spoken of by the Board for some time but it was Mrs. Martin who worked the idea through to completion. On one side of each card is a report on the health of the children; on the other an outline of his studies. This card is carried clear through the different rooms with the child and kept up to date at all times.

The report of the Nurse was characterized this morning as being "Very satisfactory to the Board and the parents" by Mr. C. M. Porter, the Chairman of the Board.

As a feature of last night's play Miss Margaret Coyer of Belleville broke the ladies' record for the alleys here when she scored 342. The play was made in an unofficial game as the Belleville girls came up for a practice game to accustom themselves to the alleys.

Wealth of Beautiful Things On Display at Christ Church Bazaar Work of Real Experts

Transformed overnight into a veritable fairyland by scores of enthusiastic workers, Christ Church Sunday School room was a bower of loveliness for the bazaar held there today and which promised to be one of the outstanding successes in the Church's history.

A reception committee of Mrs. G. E. Clarke, Mrs. R—Bateman, and Mrs. Rish saw that everyone was well looked after.

The tea room of which Mrs. Bonnycastle was convenor was lovely with its Yuletide decorations of fir tree boughs, red berries and Christmas bells, the tables centred with white chrysanthymums and ferns. Miss Herbert presided at the tea table and a number of ladies of the congregation assisted.

At the fancy work booth of which Mrs. Thomas was convenor and Mrs. Culling co-convenor, every imaginable article necessary for a daintily laid table or to a daintily clad person was on sale and each article displayed clever workmanship. Mrs. Crozier and Mrs. Lewis were in charge of the children's booth at which all wants and needs of the little ones could be satisfied. Mrs. Meagher and Mrs. Chamberlain had the linen booth at which some superb pieces of work could be purchased and were well worth only examining in order to get inspiration for Christmas gifts.

Handkerchiefs hand made and store made, small and large were at the booth of which Mrs. Geo. Watkins and Miss Jinks were in charge. Mrs. Pailes and Mrs. Shaw, were at the toy booth with its many pretty playthings for all the youngsters.

Mrs. Dotlam and Mrs. H. Bateman were in charge of the pretty candy booth, iafos as it was with pink, white, red and every color candy in boxes, bags and pretty containers.

Mrs. Harold and Mrs. Green had charge of the homecooking table where a wonderful variety of home made cookies, cakes and pies, etc., were offered for sale.

Mrs. Gornett and Mrs. White were in charge of the "touch and take" booth which proved to be an interesting feature while Mrs. Buchanan and Mrs. Gregor looked after the goods pound.

SPECIALTIES

An interesting specialty was the "Leap in the Dark", a playlet of which Miss Ida Mills was convenor and a side show in the agricultic line was in charge of Mrs. R. Hinchey. Pick my Pocket, a Judy from whose capicious pockets numbers were drawn and a corresponding amount spent at the booth, was managed by Mrs. Wm. Yates.

EFFICIENT HELPERS

Each booth was especially equipped with efficient helpers from the organization. The Parish Guild, of which Mrs. R. Bateman is president, have had a busy fall preparing for the bazaar.

SHOULD MEAN BIG VOTE

For once in their careers the voters of Belleville male and female will be compelled to give over a portion of their time to the study of the question: Which twelve shall I vote for?

There are more than two sets of twelves to choose from.

We have had nothing just like it; it's something new.

And with that number of people in the running to say nothing of the two gentlemen who are in the Mayoralty contest there will be, one could almost promise, a record vote out next Monday.

What would a record vote at municipal elections amount to?

Not as large as some people think. Fifty per cent in some elections would have meant hundreds more out. Rarely has there been more than fifty per cent. out to vote for the Mayor and Aldermen.

So that this year there is room for improvement and it should materialize. Get out and help elect your choice for Mayor and your twelve Aldermen.

SPEED LIMIT

No pressing for legislation increasing the speed limit on open public highways to 35 miles an hour, the Ontario Motor League, with which the Belleville Motor Club is affiliated, is not unmindful of the terrific toll taken by automobiles in the province each year. Paradoxical though it may seem, at first blush, that which the sponsors for the new legislation ask for is advocated as a safety measure. There is no denying that the existing legislation is in need of improvement. Strong arguments can be brought forward to show that complete abolition of the speed limit and the drafting of legislation that would prescribe motorist "on his own", would be preferable to the present legal limit to 25 miles an hour. Admittedly, it is a more serious offense to travel at the rate of 20 miles an hour in heavy traffic than it is to speed at the rate of 30 miles an hour on an open highway. Yet the former practice is not punishable by law unless an accident occurs and recklessness is proven, while motorists are being fined every day for the latter infraction. There is reason to believe that the government will give favorable consideration to the recommendation made by the Ontario Motor League, the officers of which, having made a thorough study of traffic conditions in Ontario, are likely to advocate any measure that would increase the hazards of the road.

"RED" GRANGE

The case of Harold "Red" Grange, sensational American football player, who, upon the completion of his last game as captain and member of the University of Illinois' team a week ago, signed a contract to play professional football, has evoked comment wherever the sports pages of newspapers are read. Much of this comment has been critical of young Grange. It is charged that he has brought disredit not only upon himself, but upon his alma mater, but in just what way he has done this is not altogether clear. Grange is not the son of a wealthy household. The expenses of the boy's college education entailed a considerable hardship upon the family. During summer vacations, when the majority of his college associates were enjoying themselves at ease, "Red" Grange was hustling for, from door to door, to help pay for his college tuition. Whether or not this rugged young athlete was a brilliant student we do not know, but we do know that his greatest talents had their outlet upon the gridiron and in selling those talents to the highest bidder he has only done what ninety per cent. of college students propose to do when they graduate. Some will sell those talents to commerce, some to industry, some to science. Grange differs inasmuch as he has sold the thing he can do best of all to the entertainment-loving public of his country. Many college students, who display histronic ability in amateur theatricals, graduate to the stage each year, without drawing criticism from their old associates. The rosters of the major baseball leagues embrace the names of more than a score of university men. Had "Red" Grange been a less expert football player his jump to the professional ranks would have passed almost unnoticed, but because he is the undisputed champion, the best football player of his confreres, he is expected to remain a simon-pure amateur. The other day for his first professional game, Grange received $15,000. It has been unofficially estimated that his football ability will net him more than $100,000 during the next five years. He has explained that, with this money, he proposes to repay his family for the sacrifices they have made for him. For the benefit of those who might criticize him for placing too high a valuation upon his abilities as an entertainer, it should be said that Grange's professional contract calls for him to be paid on a percentage basis. His income will depend entirely upon the number of customers he can attract through the turnstiles of the country's professional football parks. Under the circumstances criticism of this boy would seem to be not only unseilled for but unjust. The newspapers of the United States made "Red" Grange the drawing card that he is today. They created the demand for his services as an entertainer and Grange need offer no apology for capitalizing an opportunity that comes to few young men.

THE DOMESTIC SERVANT

Work, to be interesting, has to be creative; a servant's work is never this, because she is never permitted to have any say in the organization of the house, this task being performed by the mistress, who is not always too well equipped for the office. One person supplies all the headwork and another all the handwork and consequently the latter has no intellectual interest in the task; whereas, if a person is made responsible for a department of the work, he achieves a sense of ownership and ownership means pride. We can never obtain pride in his work from any worker unless we give responsible to add a measure of less free hand.

The status of domestic labour has to be raised before there will be any pride in its performance; and before we can raise its status the domestic servant has, first, to be equipped with a proper training, and secondly, to be presented as a skilled worker and given a reasonable amount of responsibility.—The Psychology of the Servant Problem (Violet M. Firth.)

SPATS DOOMED

Oshawa Reformer:

Can it be that spats must go? The Highland regiments, it is reported, are no longer to receive them as part of their equipment. Those who wore kilts have always worn low shoes and, in early days when marching through rough country, the Highlanders' ankles were lacerated by thorns, stones and, no doubt, Scotch thistles. They bound them up with handkerchiefs, if they had any, or with strips torn from other articles of clothing and so the Government issued white spats to overcome the difficulty. Now, for reasons of economy, and possibly because troops march on better roads than in early days, spats are not to be issued any longer.

But white spats go with top hats in the best social circles. Will the social lion now be obliged to discard his 'mud guards"? Are spats to go out of fashion? If we are soon to wear Oxford bags in lieu of trousers, our ankles will probably be warm enough without spats.

FRENCH IN THE WEST

Edmonton' L'Union:

Our best friends out here are the English-speaking Protestants. At Edmonton particularly, instead of assisting us to interpret the text of the school law, favorable to the French language, in its widest sense, the English-speaking Catholics have interpreted it in the narrowest sense possible, with the result that, knowing English better than French, our Catholic children have stuffed their heads full of Protestant or irreligious books or American magazines which, almost always, undermine the fundamentals of morality, exalting the brute forces of muscle, praising material success, and setting up as models for youth money-makers and movie actresses. For our part, we would rather remain "a hundred years behind the times" and continue our own history.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE ?
ANXIOUS TO SEE THE FELLOW

The gardener of a large house one day approached the butler. "Mortimer," he exclaimed, "you might point this chap, Darwin, out to me the next time he comes to dinner."

"Darwin, Darwin," echoed the butler, looking perplexed.

"Yes, Darwin. I happened to hear his lordship say the other day that every time he looks at me his mind goes back to Darwin."

OR HANDS!

The recruits were being put through their paces by an irritable drill sergeant.

"Mark time!" he roared suddenly.

"Shall I mark time with my feet?" asked one recruit in a meek voice.

"Of course!" roared the sergeant. "Did you ever hear of marking time with your hands!".

"Yes, sir," was the recruit's reply. "Clocks do it!"

ENGAGED AT FOUR

Being engaged to be married at four is Miss Violet Vanbrugh's first recollection.

The Bishop of Singapore and Mrs. Ferguson-Davie were having tea with her when she tried to recall her earliest memory.

"Surely you remember," said the Bishop, "my brother proposing to you when he was five and you were four!"

"I think I must have accepted him," commented Miss Vanbrugh, "for he went home and told his mother he was going to be married." The incident took place at Prebendary Barnes' vicarage, in Devonshire.—London Evening News.

GERMAN AIRMEN TO ASSIST U.S.A.

Akron, Centre of Rubber Trade Aims at Being Zeppelin Centre

NEW SHIP IS PLANNED

Hoping to Outstrip the British in Erecting Huge Dirigibles

Akron, O., Dec. 1—Akron, the rubber manufacturing capital of the world has hopes of being the Friedrichshafen of the New World.

The first step toward this realization has been the bringing of 34 high officials of the original Zeppelin works in the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation.

Months of laboring over blue prints and charts brought forth designs for new development in the realm of lighter-than-air craft. Whenever there is a market for a commercial or military airship, the transplanted Zeppelin works will be ready to build it.

Designs for the ZZ-1, the world's largest airship, have been completed by the Zeppelin and American engineers. Its plans and specifications show it to be a ship of over 6,000,000 cubic feet gas capacity, measuring about 800 feet in length, and capable of developing 5,000 horsepower. Improvements, as yet kept secret have been worked out to add to the safety and strength of the ship.

The passenger-carrying ZZ-1, according to the plans, will have every convenient inside, with compartment seats which can be made into berths at night, a dining room, corridors, bath rooms, including showers, and promenade decks running the length of the ship on both sides.

As designed, the ship will be able to carry 100 passengers and to make the trip between New York and London in 48 to 64 hours, depending on whether it is flying eastward with the prevailing winds or westward against the wind.

Commander Jacob H. Klein, executive officer of the Los Angeles, declared recently on a visit to the scene of the Goodyear - Zeppelin operations that there is room in the navy's hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., for a 6,000,000-cubic ft. airship, though the ship he recommends which has a capacity of 3,000,000 cubic feet.

"I believe not only that a ship the size of the ZZ-1 would be practical, but that shortly we shall see airships built of a capacity of 10,000,000 cubic feet, which will probably be the maximum capacity for many years to come.

The British government at present is building two ships of 5,000,000 cubic feet capacity each, the Goodyear-Zeppelin officials are informed. These British shipbuilt for hydrogen gas of commercial lifting power than helium, will compare in performance almost exactly with the ZZ-1.

So confident are the officials of the new concern, which is connected with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, that commerce via air is at hand that they believe once under way their work will develop beyond the proportions of that enjoyed by Friedrichshafen in its hey- day.

Besides designing the ZZ, the 14 engineers from Friedrichshafen and three or four Americans have been working for several months in planning hangars and operating fields, selecting training bases for them, arranging mooring masts and making a study of operation and climatic conditions in the United States along the lines of various projected routes.

Among the German officials of the Goodyear-Zeppelin company is Captain Ernest A. Lehmann, vice-president and director. Lehmann's most recent achievements of world-wide note was his piloting of the ZR-3, now the Los Angeles, to the United States from Germany in the summer of 1924.

Dr. Karl Arnstein, another vice-president of the corporation, was chief engineer of the German Zeppelin building corporation at Friedrichshafen. He designed the ZR-3 and 100 other airships before and during the period of the World War. Besides Captain Lehmann two other Zeppelin officials are now directors of the new company. They are Dr. Hugo Eckener and Harry Vissering of Chicago.

G. M. Stadelman, president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, and P. W. Litchfield, vice-president and general manager of the same concern, hold executive positions in the Goodyear Zeppelin corporation.

MANY AMENDMENTS IN O.H.A. ANNUAL

Went Meeting Earlier With Better Officials And Less Consolation Role

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 3.—Several important amendments will be brought before the executive at the annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association which will be held here on Saturday. President W. Exson, of Stratford, will occupy the chair.

The amendments to be brought before the meeting include the following:

To change the date of the annual meeting of the O.H.A. from the first Saturday in December to the third Saturday in November.

That any player living in a town which has no O.H.A. club or has used for play may be permitted to play with his nearest O.H.A. club.

In view of the results of last winter it is recommended that the consolation series in both the intermediate and junior be discontinued. Peterboro, of Port Hope, in amendment moves that if the consolation series is continued to be confined entirely to teams finishing second in their respective groups.

A. D. Campbell, of Cobalt, proposes that the present officials rule be reworded, so as to have a clearer distinction.

FAMILY FOUGHT SHERIFF

Hammers, Shovels and Clubs Used In Four-Hour Battle

Saskatoon, Sask., Dec. 2.—After a battle which raged almost without intermission for four hours and in which hammers, shovels and clubs were used, Mitro, John and Harry Popovitch and Harry Ont were arrested on the John Popovitch farm near Melville. Mrs. and other members of the Popovitch family opposed a seizure of grain by the sheriff and before the fight was over Sheriff A. B. Cunningham, a sheriff's officer, a provincial police corporal, R. C.M.P. corporal, the chief of Police of Melville, and a Canadian National Rail ways constable were required to quell the Popovitches.

On fifteen counts the four accused were fined with costs, a total of $266.68 grain fled from the scene, declaring they at Melville.

Leola Dale's Fortune

By Charles Garvice

"He went toward the mill," said Alys Tibbett, anxiously. "You went to stop her, go with you, Miss Leola, dear."

"No—no," said Leola, hastily; "I will get a taxi—they should I not? You go back to the farm. Cyril may come back. You might never to have left it." Poor Miss Tibbett's rifle might come back, and there would be no one to bring him to me. Go back at once—I will go to the mill," and she turned swift ly away."

Meanwhile, quite ignorant of all that had occurred to right him, in the eyes of Leola, Cyril was acting as most men do in such circumstances, very much against his own interests.

After he left Cicely he rode straight toward London, and kept upon the road until he met one of his farm fetters.

To this man he gave the horse, bidding him take it back to the stables; then set off on the road again and on foot.

But toward dusk he cut into a by-road, and made his way back to London, and unseen by anyone, reached the old mill.

The night was cold, and Cyril's heart was heavy, but thoughts of seeing Leola buoyed him up, and wrapping himself up in his rug, he got across rest. After all, he had always known Alarce than this old mill, and had spent so many often as an empty stomach to be cut up and devoured of a supper of biscuits and a draught of water.

When he woke the sun was well over the horizon, and all the Abbey was ablaze in the morning light.

He jumped up and ran to the window, and looked long and ardently at the old house, which, like a great and ancient casket, held his treasure; then he went down the rickety stairs and had a wash in the river. Then he brushed his clothes and some slices of bacon left of his purchase of the preceding evening, and he climbed up to the first floor of the mill, and seating himself at the window, but out of sight, made his breakfast, lit and dreaming that men were hunting the country for him, and that Leola was waiting for him with open arms.

From this window he could see the south and west of the Abbey, and as the morning grew he watched with eager excitement those persons who went and came.

He saw Mrs. Tibbett hurry across the lawn; he saw Mr. Ford pacing the terrace; and Cyril smoking gently.

"He has come to be told of his betrothal to that villain!" he muttered between his teeth.

And a little later he saw "that villain" Philip Pryce pass up the drive and enter the Abbey. But of Leola, for a sight of whom his thirsty heart panted, he saw nothing.

"Why, why, problems I have to solve," he said to himself, continually. "Who wrote those anonymous letters? who ran away with Polly Marsden? and who was Miss Thompson, of Suffolk street, Kingsland?"

Grown weary of waiting he grew also reckless, and climbing down from the first floor, began to examine the wheel, still keeping his eye on the Abbey.

The wheel was in good preservation, and given water or steam would have spun round with the best wheel in the country.

Cyril poked about and amused himself by clinging to the ladders or steps and turning the huge wheel, which creaked dismally in its rusty shaft, as if in complaint of being aroused from its long sleep.

Standing in the dry trutting he was still in ambush, though he could see the Abbey lawn and drive, and it was better than sitting up-stairs with nothing but his thoughts for amusement.

About this time Leola sent Mrs. Tibbett back to the farm, and was on her way to the mill.

A few heavy clouds had come up from the heather and were slowly coming together and a lull in the wind, that had been blowing lustily a little while ago, prepared a storm.

Leola noticed neither the clouds nor the ominous stillness, but hastened on her way in search of the stranger, who, while inquiring for Cyril, might give her some information concerning him.

Meanwhile a third person had approach the mill from an opposite direction. Ever since the morning Sline had been discovered leaning over the dam, the old mill had exercised a peculiar fascination for him. He haunted it at all times, drunk and sober, more especially the former. He would blow his cottage or the alehouse, and slouch along the riverside and over the locks, and lean over the dam, staring vacantly before him, muttering and threatening. This morning the fascination exerted itself with more than its usual power. He had been drinking heavily as the previous night, after his interview with Mr. Ford, and had breakfasted on a dram of his favorite brandy.

Presently he crossed the bridge, and reaching the other bank, made his way to the dam. For a few minutes he leaned over it, chafing his cold hands and shivering in every limb, and pacing steadily at the mill. Suddenly he saw something that sent the blood to his head and made it burn with a fiercer heat than before. He quivered in every limb, the sky seemed to swing above him and the earth to roll from under his feet.

For a moment the wretched creature thought that the stalwart figure was a phantasy, created by his disordered brain; then, as Cyril stepped upon the wheel and began poking about the wood-work, Sline realized that his enemy was indeed there, and with a cry of brutal rage, he crouched down behind the dam and watched with his eyes glaring just above the woodwork.

And as he watched and glared, his heart began to beat fiercely and his fingers to itch. The sky seemed suddenly to turn red, for the devil's thought had that instant entered his head; why not set the dam—he could do it, with a strong effort—and sweep his hated foe into eternity!

The idea almost overwhelmed him, and rendered him powerless with paralysis. He crouched still lower, and tried to control himself sufficiently to work out his fiendish task. "I shall, have strength—strength!" he muttered, tearing at his hands, feverishly. "I'm old, old! I shan't be able to lift the lever. Curse him! Curse him! I'll try." And on his hands and knees he crawled along the ledge at the back of the dam and laid his hand on the lever.

It stuck hard and fast, as if cemented in its place.

With a stifled cry, he threw himself upon it and fought with it; it moved, and the water beneath looked up to the fetained man like a wild beast crouching to spring on its prey. Panting hard with the exertion, he rose to his feet, his knees and pulled at the lever, and with a crash it came closer down to him; in another instant it would have come down in full depth and the mill would have been avenged, but in that instant there was the sound of a step on the narrow plank and a hand was laid on his shoulder.

With a cry of superstition and terror the over-wrought man turned round and up into the white, horrified face of Leola.

With a swift revulsion from terror to rage Sline sprang to his feet and clung to the lever, and Leola, with a cry herself sprang to him.

The clear cry of horror smote upon Cyril's ears; he looked around and saw the two figures on the dam, and for the moment thought he must be dreaming.

Then with a shout he sprang up the bank, and dashed on to the dam. It was not a moment too soon, for he had seen that his victims must escape, and relinquishing the lever, turned with the hand of a wild beast upon Leola, and tried to throw her into the river. With one arm around round one of the dam timbers, she tried to keep him back with the other hand; his distorted face was close to hers; his hot hands tore at her arm, a moment would end it, but in that moment Cyril was upon him, and with an inarticulate cry of rage, Sline was literally hurled into the river.

With a low moan of relief, Leola drop ped upon Cyril's breast. Then, before a word could be said, she recovered herself.

RUGBY TITLE MAY GO WEST?

Winnipeg Team Best Ever To Come East Say The Experts

OTTAWA RUGBY MAD

Hold Initial Practice Since Great Win Over Queens

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 3.—Winnipeg's wonder team, hailed by many critics as "one of the greatest rugby teams ever produced in Western Canada is en route east to engage the Ottawa Senators in the final game for the Canadian rugby championship. The Tammany Hallers, champions of Western Canada left for Ottawa this morning, accompanied by many loyal supporters who have followed their performances throughout the past season, and predict great things for the local boys. The team is composed of many star players who represented many of the youthful rugby rugby lights and also veterans of the game, whose ability has been tried and tested in many crucial battles.

OTTAWA RUGBY MAD

Ottawa, Dec. 3.—From present indications it seems almost certain that the Dominion rugby football championship to be played at Lansdowne Park here next Saturday afternoon will be fought out under wintry conditions, similar to those prevailing when the Ottawa Senators, interprovincial champions, defeated Queen's University, intercollegiate titleholders, last Saturday.

This means that steps will have to be taken to put the gridiron in playing condition by the use of plows and scrapers, as was done last Saturday.

The Senators started practices for their battle with the Winnipeg Tammany Tigers, the Western champions, and scores for Louie Cote, substitute inside wing, the players are all in good shape. Cote suffered slight infuries on Saturday, but is expected to be back in the game by the week-end.

The Ottawa newspapers are "rugby mad!" They exhort the players not to take the Winnipeg crew lightly, and the Citizen in an editorial recalls the admonition of Coach Bid Hughes, of Queen's in this respect: "Don't let up for a minute."

Y. M. C. A. BOWLING

Yesterday afternoon at the Y alleys the Q.M.S. defeated the K.G.S. by 451 pins and made them head of the School league without any defeat so far. In the first game the Q.M.S. gained a lead of 240 pins and kept adding to this in the next two games. D. Barrage was the high man on the teams and for the ladies Miss Sullivan was the one that took the honors with 262 and 558 while for K. G. S. Miss Cook was high with 206. The evening game between the Christ Church and Bridge St., was certainly very exciting and both teams were determined to win but when the final score was added Christ Church were leading by 78 pins. In the first game the Christ Church forged to the head and were leading by 150 pins but Bridger Street not to be out done got this back in the second game and added 19 to their credit. In the last game both teams were going strong but Bridge St. fell down badly in the last three frames thereby losing the game. Miss Monck of Christ Church team was the high lady of the evening with 200 and 443 while for Bridge St. Miss Cartley was high with 433.

Montreal, Dec. 2—Montreal Maroons made their first National Hockey League appearance before a home crowd this season, when they were hosts to the Toronto St. Patricks at the Forum here Tuesday night. About 5,000 spectators saw the game which Montreal won by 4-2 score.

It was an important early season game for both clubs. Both St. Pats and Montreal lost their starts last Saturday in the N.H.L., and a victory was needed to start the winning rutty on the hooks. St. Patricks had the same team as last season, with one addition, Pete Bellefeuille, sub forward, being the extra man. Montreal had "Sweeny" Horne added to the substitute ranks. Horne is a former Grimsby star, who was secured by Montreal this summer. He has been on the sick list for the early season practices, but took the ice in uniform when the Maroons skated from their dressing room before the game.

Dr. O'Leary, of Ottawa, handled the game, assisted by W. O'Hara, of Ottawa, a new member of the N.H.L. referees board.

The Canadiens started with the services of Vezina their regular goal keeper who was left at home due to illness. He was replaced by Lepine, a recruit this season from amateur ranks. La-

The Speediron Element overcomes all the weaknesses common to open elements and combines the advantages of protected elements.

The Protected Element Now Perfected

Trouble-Proof—Spill-Proof—Damage-Proof

—Renewable
—Durable
—Reliable
—Simple
—SPEEDY

Can Be Removed Instantly

McClary's new Element—Speediron—can be removed in a second or two—no bolts, screws or wire connections to loosen. Just lift it up—that's all.

—has a smooth top cooking surface without open grooves or exposed wires that water or grease might harm or "muck up."

You can use the smooth top of a McClary's Electric Range with Speediron Elements just as you would an old-fashioned cook stove—it cannot be damaged by pots or pans or knocks or spills.

Lifetime Service Coils—Easily Renewed

As durable as iron protection can make it, with coils that last much longer than coils in open elements, because they are not exposed to accidents and can be easily and inexpensively replaced should they burn out.

In a moment, by removing one bolt in the unit, the burnt out coil is exposed and may be replaced—almost as easily as a burnt out bulb in a lamp socket.

Come and See It

If you have an Electric Range you will want to see this new, splendid improvement, because you know all about Electric Range troubles now. If you are going to buy an Electric Range you should see the Speediron Element in McClary's Electric Range—the trouble-proof Element. The Speediron Element is now on view at all leading dealers. Come and see it—today.

CROWD GRIFFIN'S TO SEE H. LLOYD

House Was Crowded to the Rafters For Comedian Feature

LAUGHS EACH SECOND

Picture Will be Held Here For Remainder of the Week

It has become such a habit for Harold Lloyd to make comedies of a high grade of excellence that it seems commonplace and savoring of repetition to say that "The Freshman," which had its initial showing here yesterday at the Griffin Theatre, is another link in his unbroken chain of hits. In fact, it is t hebest of them, and that statement is made after careful reflection. The house was crowded to the rafters.

While not as breath-taking as "Safety Last," as filled with hilarious farce as "Why Worry?", or as crammed with gags as "Hot Water," it nevertheless is better entertainment than any of the three for it combines the best laugh-getting points of them all. In type it more near resembles "Girl Shy," for, here, Lloyd has been hung on a farce comedy framework in which there is just enough story to carry them, strong human interest and a plentiful sprinkling of pathos.

As soon as the characters and the atmosphere are well planted, the laughs start in—at first gently, and then working up with increased volume and velocity, until your laughs have become one prolonged roar. We see Lloyd in his home, just prior to leaving for college, planning his campaign to be the most popular boy on the campus. From then on he comes enough scenes on the campus to introduce him to the heroine, Jobyna Hal roy. His arrival and welcome exceed all his fondest dreams, for he doesn't realize, in his simplicity, that his born reputation as a dub and a boob is bidded to by a fare-ye-well. There's excellent humor and human interest in the scene where he makes a speech in the students' rally he has a kitten fidgeting under his sweater.

The laughs become more robust and the action more strenuous when Harold substitutes for a dummy in tackle practice with the football squad. In this setting one or two is used for an extra measure of emotional reaction. This sequence, is followed by the Fall Frolic, of which Harold is a part, and which he is forced to attend in a basted tuxedo that causes a solid quarter of an hour of hilarity.

The great climax comes in the football game, into which Harold, only a lowly water boy, is thrown in as a substitute in a last save by the school from the disgrace of forfeiting the game. That football scrimmage simply can't be described, and we wouldn't do so if it could for it is far too much fun to see it. It makes you want to stand up and cheer for good old Tate and that lucky boob, Harold Lamb. And when "The End" flashes on the screen the marvel is that your eyes are a little misted.

The picture is being held for the rest of this week on account of the demand by the public.

EVIDENCE TAKEN IN HILL ACTION

saw us. Then he gradually walked to the north side of the road. Emmerson asked him to have a ride and he said 'sure'. The idea would be on the north side of the road when it stopped. Some 10 feet from the edge of the road. It might not have been parallel to the road.

Judge—Was your car over the centre line of the road?

Witness—"No sir, it was not."

Continuing witness said:

Mrs. Faulkner said, 'you can see it is not our fault, we tried to stop.' Witness looked and saw skid marks which ended where the doctor's car rear wheel came to rest. There was a worn track in the road where cars had been travelling. It was about the centre of the road and was worn down to the road surface.

To Mr. O'Flynn—The two tracks in the road were not true, but just where the snow was worn down to the road.

BORE ADDED MEN

There is a curve in the road between the C.P.R. crossing and the point where the accident occurred. Broughten did not hear Dr. Faulkner back up his car after the accident, but did hear Dr. Faulkner say, "His leg may be broken, we had better get him to the hospital."

Mrs. Broughton did not remember Mrs. Faulkner having said anything. Dr. Faulkner showed witness how the accident took place that day into the hospital. Witness then notified Mr. Smith, General Superintendent of the H.P.C. and he his promise. Smith notified the police. Two provincial officers interviewed the witness that night.

CORONER'S JURY

Alnal Emmerson, Hydro patrolman, who rode with Broughton in the truck, and also drove the truck to the hospital after the accident, testified that Dr. Faulkner had driven after the accident but he carefully sorry the accident had happened.

"If did not think your truck was stopped, and I thought the man was crossing the road," Witness corroborated the evidence in chief of Broughton.

David Rollins proprietor of the backyard travels this road twice daily he testified. The highway that day was in good condition, with about 1-2 inch of snow, no ruts or holes. There was no fog.

CAR WAS REPAIRED

Norman Mantle, motor mechanic at the McKeough garage, was afterof repairing Dr. Faulkner's four passenger coupe on January 3rd. Right front fender and right rear were broken, the front axle was bent backwards at the right side where the King bolt was.

The radiator was leaking around the top hose connection. Bearings were pushed in the front and right wheel. The total expenditure for repairs was $15.37.

DR. F. G. WALBRIDGE

Dr. F. G. Walbridge told of assisting to put Hill in splints. Later at the behest of Dr. Robertson, witness acted as Hill had a plaster cast. The doctor had seen Hill many times mainly through interest as he passed his office on the hospital. Dr. Sargent also assisted in putting the man up in splints. The left leg had made a good recovery but the right leg was not so satisfactory. It was a very difficult fracture. There would be shortening of the leg, but in 6 or 8 months Hill will lose pain and stiffness. There would be a shorten ing of the right leg about 1 1-2 inches. He never would have the same strength and use of the leg as before.

To Mr. O'Flynn, Dr. Wallbridge said that other charges had been made for work done subsequent to the accident and the $150 bill was too high. I have instructed Mr. Porter to make the reductions.

Witness did not give authority of a medical writer that shortening of a leg may be corrected.

LONDON HUNTS ELEPHANT

Escaped Animal Provides Policemen With Chase

London, Dec. 1.—London had an elephant hunt today, and 16 policemen had to leave their precinct to join in the chase. The elephant escaped while being taken to Whitechapel to be placed on board a ship for Buenos Aires.

The policemen had a good time, but the elephant had a better one, smashing shop windows and shop fronts, tearing down fences and doors of private houses and generally shaking up gardens until he was cornered finally in a big shed. One of the keepers was injured during the chase.

FIND FANCY CANDIES WITH "HARD" CENTRES

Five Factory Girls and Proprietor Arrested in N.Y. By Dry Raiders

New York, Dec. 2.—Five young women, between the ages of 18 and 25 years, were arrested today in a candy factory on the top floor of 70 Washington street, following seizure by prohibition agents of 400 boxes of Christmas candies, all of which were alleged to have been filled with cordials, whiskey and gin, and 1,000 bottles of assorted liquors. The agents later arrested Joseph Cropsom, said to be the owner of the factory, in his office.

At the office of United States Attorney Emery R. Buckner it was said the arrests and seizure represented a continuance of Mr. Buckner's announced policy of going after the bigger offenders against the prohibition law in preference to the little ones, so long as it is possible to obtain a sufficient number of federal judges to try both the important and petty cases.

The agents strolled about the place looking at the candy when Miss Helen Bisaro laughingly asked one of them if he would like a piece of candy. He accepted; he said, and tried to break open the attractive looking bit of chocolate she handed him.

When it came apart suddenly a stream of sour-smelling liquid which had been familiar with struck him in the face.

The agent said he tried another candy and obtained from it almost a fair-sized drink of cordial. The arrests and seizure followed.

BOAT IS HELPLESS AND GETS NO HELP

SEA "SERPENT" JUST BIG SHARK

Thus is Explained Terrifying Phenomena Reported in Resent Times

HOLD A TON OF OIL

Sun Shark is Wellknown to Sailormen—Big Ugly Brutes

Vancouver, B. C., Dec. 2.—The "sea serpent", which has created terror to fishermen along the coast of Northern British Columbia is nothing more than a gigantic shark.

That, at any rate, is the latest theory being advanced to explain the terrifying phenomena reported during recent months by halfbreed fishermen off the banks near Prospect. These fishermen reported that they had seen a sure-enough sea serpent, scouting around the coast like a story in the effect that this gamy monster had been seen by an Indian, who forthwith paddled to shore case that he might not forget the appearance of the serpent, made a startled portrayal of his cobception by carving its image on a spoon. But behind the ship chandler's counter, and other places where seafaring men are accustomed to congregate and swap stories, the report of the sea serpent was received with derision.

"It's a sun shark", these oldtimers say, ignoring the claims of those who insist that they actually have seen a serpent. "These big fellows fat, and filled with oil. They thirty feet long sometimes and when opened up yield 2,000 to 3,000 pounds of oil. Sluggish, lazy brutes they are. They like to bask in the sun, floating along on the surface of the sea and when the waves break against their huge bulks, it looks as though they're wriggling along like a snake. That explains this sea-serpent, talk."

There are ever greater sharks in existence than the sun shark. One species, the rhinoden typicus, a creature seldom seen, but known in its habit tropical seas, principally in the Indian Ocean. These sharks sometimes reach a size of 70 to 80 feet—the length of a good-sized whale. Fish authorities are skeptical of the existence of sea serpents, say that perhaps the rhinoden typicus has relatives living in the North Pacific.

DR. JOHN PRINGLE AMONG MEN HE LOVES

Will Spend Autumn of His Years With Lumberjacks and Miners

Kamloops, B. C., Dec. 2.—Rev. Dr. John Pringle, one of Canada's best known Presbyterian pastors who was once in charge of Old Kildonan Church, near Winnipeg, and latterly serving a parish at Sydney Cape Breton, following his return from overseas, where he as chaplain has arrived here to spend the autumn of his years in the way he loves best—as a missionary in the wilderness.

Dr. Pringle is now established at an obscure mission post north of Kamloops, his field embracing 26 small groups of miners, ranchers in the primitive wilds of Western Canada, however, will be no new experience for Dr. Pringle, for he labored for seventeen years in the Yukon and it was while there that he won for himself the sobriquet, "Priest of the Yukon."

Dr. Pringle, who is 73 years of age, has a rugged constitution and has retained much of his early vigor.

"I have never entered a new field of work with greater enthusiasm", he said. "I believe that out here I will be able to fulfill my greatest mission and in that accomplishment I will be supremely happy."

RISKS A FORTUNE TO GET TREASURE

Dauntless Old Navy Leader Setting Out For The Cocos Island.

THEN OVER TO PAPUA

Palatial Quarters On Board —Radio and Auxiliary Engines

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 2.—The lure of Spanish doubloons, pieces of eight, gold from the temples of the Incas—in short, buried treasure is luring to the tropical seas one of Britains most picturesque adventurers.

Vice-Admiral Sir Guy Gaunt, who played a daring role during the war as British secret service agent, and incidentally exposed one of the most dangerous spy conspiracies in New York, is in Victoria outfitting a 174-foot schooner for what he expects to be his most romantic, exploit of all—the quest for buried treasure on Cocos Island.

This attraction of Cocos Island has been a will o' the wisp in the past to many dauntless searchers and explorers, but Sir Guy Gaunt is ready to invade his friends with that of those who have gone before him. The failures of his predecessors does not convince him that the Spanish doubloons and the Incas' gold are not to be found. Only his own attempt will satisfy him, and so he is going about the outfitting of his craft with the firm resolve of a veteran salleyman answering his master's first call.

But Sir Guy has more than Cocos Island in view. If he fails to find treasure there he will at least have enjoyed the first part of what seems destined to be a long and extremely interesting voyage, for he plans to sail from the treasure island across the Pacific to Papua, the land of the head hunters.

Unlike Joseph Conrad, Jack London and others who sought adventure in the South Pacific, Sir Guy intends to carry with him at least a little bit of civilization. He is sparing no expense to equip the vessel luxuriously and the space formerly used for the accommodation of freight on the craft chosen for the voyage will be laid out in palatial saloons, library and workshop. There will be a radio set and auxiliary engines for use in calm weather.

After a distinguished career in the British Navy, Sir Guy Gaunt was appointed naval attache at Washington, serving there from 1914 to 1918.

Phantom of Opera Is Lon Chaney's Best

"The Phantom of the Opera," Universal's latest super-production, a colorful, fantastic and dramatic mystery story made by Rupert Julian, with Lon Chaney in the starring role, had its Broadway premiere in the Astor Theatre, Forty-fifth Street and Broadway, with the most elaborate opening ever accorded a Universal picture. It is at the Bells Thursday to Saturday.

Universal has had many successful openings on Broadway, but "The Phantom" promises set a new high-water mark for cinema first nights. The big mystery picture, adapted from Gaston Leroux's famous thriller, with all its thrills and a few added flourishes, long was heralded as Carl Laemmle's greatest box office triumph. The glamorous life of the screen, stage and literary world crowded to the Astor to see Universal make good this boast. From applause which greeted the highlights of the picture and the comments heard in all parts of the house and after the showing bore eloquent testimony that Carl Laemmle has made another ten-strike.

Lon Chaney, the star, whose make-up and characterization of Erik, the Phantom, is the apex of his weird screen personalities, was accorded praise seldom received by a screen actor. Mary Philbin, the pretty heroine, and Norman Kerry, the hero, also shared in the general approbation. Of the others in the cast whose work was especially approved, were Arthur Edmund Carewe, John Sainpolis, Snitz Edwards, Virginia Pearson and Gibson Gowland.

ions," he explained, "and a couple of good terms with her." Her relatives visited her, Dafoe, he said, told him that Mrs. Brown had made her will in a room in his house, which he indicated.

To Mr. Cameron, witness said his latest visit, to Mrs. Brown was the fall boors she died.

Edwin Morton, of Thousaburg, testified that he had told Dafoe after visiting his aunt in hospital, that she had told him (Morton) that she had given the bag and documents to Dafoe, a responsible man.

In cross examination, witness said he had not visited his aunt for five years but there had not been any quarrel.

WAS OLD FRIEND

Mrs. Martha Rutlaz, sister of Dafoe, told of being a very close friend of the late Mrs. Jane Brown She said that she told her brother to accompany Mrs. Brown to the hospital as she was not well enough herself to go.

Mrs. Rutlan remembered her brother having asked Mrs. Brown what to do with the documents if she did not come back from the hospital. Mrs. Brown said, "If I do not come back, you keep them." Witness said she saw Mrs. Brown make a will, so at the hospital she asked Mrs. Brown about the will fearing it was the woman's last illness. Mrs. Brown answered, "I have no will. I burn it up." Asked by Dafoe what she had to say about the possibility of heirs coming forward, Mrs. Brown said, "I never had any children." Then Dafoe said, "What will be done with the property if anything happens to you?" Mrs. Brown said "Take all the papers to the Masters boys and take them to a lawyer where they may be sorted over."

To Mr. Cameron, witness told of knowing Mrs. Brown for 45 years and of Mrs. Brown having promised to repay her at the end of her (Mrs. Brown's) life. The destruction of the will would prevent this. Mrs. Brown was very satirical, Mrs. Rutlan explained, the night she was taken to the hospital and at the hospital, when visited.

CASE FINISHED

That done ended the case and both Mr. Camegie and Mr. Porter made long and involved addresses to His Lordship, summing up the case for their respective clients.

EXONERATE B.H.S. PRESENT AND PAST PUPILS IN DANCE PROBE

DR. FAULKNER PAYS HILL $1700 TOTAL DAMAGES

Judgment Was Announced Today By Mr. Justice Kelly

MUCH EVIDENCE TAKEN

Dr. Louise Tower and Other Witnesses Give Views To Court

The judgment in the Faulkner case as handed down this afternoon by Mr. Justice Kelly, was $1700 and costs of the plaintiff.

Dr. Louise Tower submitted films of the X-rays taken of the fractures taken January 2nd also films taken Tuesday last.

Dr. F. Estherington, consulting surgeon since 1911 except while on overseas service where he had much experience with fracture cases, testified that films showed an ordinary fracture of the shaft of the tibia of the left leg, not affecting the joint. The film of the right leg showed a fracture of the femur.

Dr. Estherington thought 60 or 60 pound weight should be used to reduce the fracture for a man of 200 lbs weight. Dr. Wallbridge testified that 25 pound weight had been used to start with. With proper treatment fractures of this kind should keep a man away from work three months, there should be perfect alignment and no bad results.

To Mr. Porter—Witness told of Dr. Wallbridge being in the same hospital in the war as he for a short time, but Dr. Wallbridge did not deal with femur fractures there. He denied suggesting malpractice in this case.

Dr. S. R. McCreary who saw all X-ray plates taken, testified that there was now a healed callous between the fracture which was not there January 2nd. A leg like that should be measured and examined daily, and X-rays should be taken weekly. Insufficient traction was one cause of the unsatisfactory result of the fracture as it was today. There were most excellent chances of bringing the bones together with

Do Not Use Small Envelopes

During the holiday season many will send envelopes of different sizes from the other letters and detailing, envelopes who might be more profitably engaged, to stamp them by hand.

The small size of the envelopes renders the sortation and the making up of bundles more difficult, and hampers the work of the office at time, when it is most desirable to handle and mails as rapidly, obliously as possible. The public can assist the Post Office by refraining from using envelopes smaller than 3 inches by 4 inches.

3 CASES TO WAIT UNTIL FEBRUARY

Donovan vs. Belleville Is Among Those Not Disposed of Now

LAPUM CASE HEARD

Action is Dismissed by Mr. Justice Kelly—Details

At the conclusion of the case of Lapum vs. City of Belleville in non jury sittings of the High Court here during the noon hour, the remaining three cases on the docket of nine, were laid over until February next. The cases which were not heard were Donovan vs Belleville, which would occupy about one full day, in the third sittings; McLaren vs Osterhout and Shaw English China Company vs Morrow.

DISMISSED ACTION

After hearing counsel for plaintiff and defence sum up in the case of Lapum versus City of Belleville, in non jury sittings in Supreme Court here, early this afternoon, Mr. Justice Kelly dismissed the action with costs.

At Supreme Court sittings session on Wednesday the court heard the case of Lapum vs City of Belleville. This action was brought by Mrs. Ellen Lapum against the city for damages for an injury received when she fell on Hollowey street. It is alleged that the city was negligent in the matter.

Mrs. Ellen Lapum, 12 Holloway street, said of the accident which she had in 1926 when she fell in a hole on the side of the road near Centre, Bridge. As a result of treatment from Dr. Horton at Enterprise and Dr. Emma Connor here, the injury was completely cured.

On April 8th, 1925, between 9 and 10 p.m. plaintiff was returning from a visit to home on Octavia street, in front of Holloway Street Church, witnesses caught her toe on a block of cement which had been raised up, fell and was thrown forward on her left knee, injuring it. After daughter Helen assisted her home, where, besides a bad shaking up, witness had a badly injured knee. The front joint of the second toe was broken. The toe and knee were bandaged. Dr. Connor was visited on April 10th. The toe was still sore and the knee painful. Treatment in the knee. Witness was still nervous and sleepless and couldn't work.

To Mr. Agar of Toronto, defense counsel, witness stated she had never noticed the raised block of cement before the night of the accident. Witness said she did not limp on the left leg as a result of the fact accident until the second accident occurred.

Miss Helen Connor, daughter of plaintiff who was with her mother that night of the accident, told of visiting the scene of the accident next day with her mother. She also told of the result of the accident to her mother's health.

Alfred N. Lapum, husband of plaintiff, identified the notice served on the city, the forenoon after the accident.

Mr. Lapum told of his wife not having a well day since the accident. She was unable to do her work as previously. Roots of a nearby maple tree were blamed by witness for heaving the sidewalk. The block of cement settled back about half with rains and coming out of the frost. Dr. Connor's expenses were $125, and laundry bill $35 as a result of Mrs. Lapum's injury.

City Engineer Campbell, City Sgt. man Hendrick, former Chairman Public Works Department, William Donahue, W. Nolan and Dr. Wallbridge were called as witnesses and sought to prove immunity of the city from liability for the accident. Dr. Wallbridge had examined plaintiff's injuries.

At the junction of Wharf and South Front Streets the club premises are situated and nightly many members assemble and matters generally appertaining to the city's welfare are threshed out. Any subject brought up is by no means lightly dealt with but is carefully considered. At the present time the members of the club are deeply concerned in the approaching municipal election, and the qualification of various candidates seeking election is by no means lightly discussed. The club has a good membership and has also a good table house. An event in connection with the organization which is looked forward to with considerable interest is the annual bun-feed as it is termed. This was held last evening and the spacious club premises were filled to the doors. The interior was tastefully decorated for the occasion. During the evening refreshments of a substantial nature were served and were thoroughly enjoyed. Amongst the visitors present were the candidates for the Mayoralty, also the greater number of the thirty-one who are aspirants for Aldermanic seats.

On motion Mr. B. A. Sanford was voted in as chairman of the meeting and he performed same duties in a manner that was most satisfactory to all present. Brief but appropriate addresses were made by Ald. H. J. E. Graham and ex-Ald. H. W. Greenleaf, aspirants for the mayor's chair, the former during his remarks referring to the two bylaws to be voted upon and expressing his preference for them He also referred to the fact that there was an awakening in civic matters as evidenced by the number of candidates offering themselves for election.

Ex-Ald. Greenleaf referred to his accomplishments whilst in the Council making especial reference to the Parks Board Commission and claimed he was responsible for by-law creating the town planner.

Ex-Mayor G. A. Bennett explained that he was not a candidate owing to the fact that he was opposed to a three corner fight.

Mayor Mikel in his remarks referred to the gas bylaw which he considered was worthy of the support of all citizens. His Worship appealed for the co-operation of all in assisting to make Belleville a more prosperous city.

Aldermanic candidates who spoke were Aldermen G. E. Foster, R. Bonisteel, R. Gowdy, S. H. Treverton, W. Parish and P. Harrison. G. E. Thompson, C. Hyde, F. R. Wotten, G. G. Tye, D. G. Harrison, G. Ashley, A. MacConnell, C. F. Wilmot, D. M. Bollize, J. L. R. Gorman, A. B. Collins and F. Rowsome. Others called upon to speak were Messrs. H. McGinnis, R. Wensley, Ralph Bonter, Wm. Ketcheson, Wm. Hendrick and E. George. Messrs. R. Ryckman and J. L. R. Gorman rendered songs which were very acceptable.

Before the gathering broke up the chairman in a few well chosen remarks extended a hearty welcome to all present and gave an invitation to all attend the club meetings. The singing of the National Anthem closed the proceedings.

Ouch! Rub Backache; Stiffness, Lumbago

Rub Pain from back with small trial bottle of old "St. Jacobs Oil."

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp, severe and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, tenderness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back and out comes the pain. It is harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt, or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 50 years.

ONE SCOT IS PLEASED

The Editor The Intelligencer,
Dear Sir,

I was very pleased to see your leader in Monday's paper anent the misuse of the name Scots and Scottish. Scotch is terribly jarring to most of Scottish ears, and the cause of much irritation, and it is therefore most gratifying to find a Canadian journal take up the cudgels on our behalf. Unfortunately my own countrymen are not guiltless.

Repeatedly one sees or hears the word Scotchman where Scot is all that is necessary.

Yours truly,
JNO. A. HYSLOP.

To-day's News of Trenton

(By a Staff Reporter For The Intelligencer)

MORE VESSELS ARE TYING UP

Trenton is Winter Quarters For Several Big Coal-Carriers

Trenton, Dec. 3.—The waterfront of the town of Trenton is rapidly assuming the aspect of a city shipping centre. The boats which generally come into winter quarters are those belonging to the R. G. Weddell Company. They have been augmented by the presence of the barges of the Russell Co. of Toronto.

The Weddell Company boats have been engaged largely in the carrying of coal from across the lake to Point Ann during the summer. Three company boats have come into the waters near the Weddel shipyards in the last few days. They are the Tyrant, Hilda and the Quebec. The latter is operated by the company but has not the customary white decks and superstructure which mark all Weddell built craft.

They are furnished with motive power by the steam barge, "Dickson" which also carries coal or other cargo. Captain Bower, a Trenton man, is in charge of the "Dickson."

A number of the crews of the three Weddell boats left Trenton today for their homes for the winter.

TRENTON TO HEAR SACRED CONCERT

Belleville Rotary Choir To Sing — Proceeds For Christmas Cheer

Trenton, Dec. 3.—The Sacred Concert which will be presented in the King St. United Church on Sunday evening, Dec. 6th, under the auspices of the Trenton Rotary will offer two distinct reasons for a hearty patronage.

The funds from this will be applied by the Rotary for the alleviation of want among the poor of Trenton; for the distributing of Christmas Cheer. Outside of purely philanthropic reasons for attending comes the consideration of the excellence of the programme to be offered. It will be distinctly high calibre.

Among the artists will be the Male Choir of the Belleville Rotary Club. They will sing selections from the best in music, including Kipling's "Recessional", the music for which is De Koven's.

The solo parts of this will be sung by Mr. G. Fred Kinsella.

"The Hymn to the Almighty" by Rachmoff will be a feature. Other selections will be, "I Had the Voice of Jesus Say", and "Now the Day is Over".

There will be solos by Messrs. Thompson and A. L. Sullman.

"Let there be harmony in things essential—liberty in things not essential—Charity in all."

SHOP EARLY AND HERE

Christmas is less than one month away, and the familiar features of Santa Claus are being conspicuously displayed. Everything is in readiness for the busy buying season; it is not a day too early to think about shopping needs. Now is the best time to make out the lists and get the cash out of hand. These purchases have to be made and it is more convenient to make them now, when conditions are comfortable and the supplies complete. Every year comes this helpful suggestion to "do your Christmas shopping early". That a good many people ignore it is obvious from the rush of business immediately preceding the great festival. That congestion could be vastly avoided, to the great advantage of the shoppers and merchants alike. First come, first served. The pick of goods is here for the selection of early buyers; later on it is the "picked-over". In fairness to merchants and to those who serve the convenience of customers, the public should willingly co-operate in this effort to relieve the pressure of the Christmas shopping period.

There is another matter which is of even more importance than early shopping, and that is local shopping. The malls are flooded at this period of the year; with special literature designed to divert patronage to outside centres. Practically everything that is offered in this Belleville public can be got right in the city, without trouble and without incurring the risk of disappointment. To buy through the mail is to purchase a pig in a poke. To go to a local store and inspect the article before purchasing, to "shop around" for the best bargains, is to ensure certain satisfaction. It is, moreover, an act of loyalty to one's city and a distinct contribution to its welfare, as well as to serve the best interests of the community and of the individual buyer.

OFFICIAL DISHONESTY

W. W. Dunlop, provincial inspector of prisons and public charities, has been convicted of stealing public funds and sentenced to four years in imprisonment. The evidence upon which he was convicted showed that $31,000 of public money in his private bank account and used the money for his own purposes; also that, in exchanging $50,000 of old war bonds for new bonds of the same amount, he kept the exchange, amounting to more than $2,000.

Integrity in a public official occupying a position of high responsibility is no more heinous offence than is the dishonesty of a private citizen, for the dishonest official is guilty also of breach of trust. When he has been entrusted with the control of public money, it is because he has been deemed "worthy of public confidence, and his betrayal of his confidence is the greater than that of the ordinary thief. In such a case it would be dangerous to the public interest to take a lenient view of his offence. The sentence pronounced upon Mr. Dunlop is none too severe.

Some think that the fact that there had been no audit of the accounts of his department should be taken into consideration as a mitigating circumstance. But that is a mistaken view. True, the loose accounting system made it easier for him to practice dishonesty; but a public official should not have to be shielded from temptation; he should be inherently honest.

EMPIRE TRADE

The movement which has been inaugurated in Great Britain for the encouragement of Empire trading is making satisfactory headway, and is receiving the active support of all classes. People prominent in business and public life are taking every opportunity to advocate the purchase of Empire goods and many organizations are pledged to further such commerce by every available means. In a recent letter in the London Times Sir Woodman Burbidge, managing director of Harrod's stores, London, suggests it is a "very opportune time for food retailers up and down the kingdom to unite in a real effort to popularize Empire-produced foodstuffs." He declares that the experience of his company is that British shoppers will freely buy Empire goods once they have been properly brought to their attention. The trouble is, he says, that so few people know anything about them, in spite of the Wembley exhibition and all that has been done to educate the British people up to the tremendous resources of the Empire. He appeals to retail shopkeepers to make a "whole-hearted effort," by means of special displays and personal propaganda, to bring the virtues of Empire products "right home to the people".

The object of the British authorities is not entirely altruistic in trying so hard to induce the public to buy more goods of Empire production. The argument is that if consumers in Great Britain buy goods of Empire production or manufacture, the countries of the Empire will purchase more largely in the British market. Trade is reciprocal and it is obviously most desirable that business within the Empire should be increased as much as possible, for the benefit of the Mother Country and the dominions overseas. Lord Clarendon, undersecretary for dominion affairs, recently gave some figures relating to the value of goods exported from Great Britain to the dominions and certain foreign countries, India comes easily first, with 224 millions pounds; Australia second with 60.% millions; the United States, 58 millions; South Africa, 30 millions; Canada, 28 millions; Argentina, 27 millions; Netherlands, 25 millions; New Zealand, 20¼ millions. Commenting on these statistics, Lord Clarendon said that the figures impressive in themselves, became even more impressive when one took into account the populations of the various countries. On this basis New Zealand purchased in 1924 United Kingdom exports to the amount of £11 16s. 3d. per head; Australia, £10 11s. 4d. per head; South Africa, £4 3s. 4d.; Canada £3 2s., and the United States, 9s 6d.

The effort to increase inter-imperial trading must not be left entirely to the Mother Country. Canadians can do very much for themselves in pushing the sale of Dominion-made goods in the United Kingdom. What can be done in this respect is seen in the recent successful marketing of Canada's apple crop in the United Kingdom. The Canadian apple is one of the finest goods and is a most receptive mood. It is for Canadian producers and manufacturers to take full advantage of the opportunities presented.

THEY ENVY CANADA

There are many things which Canada has that the United States envies, but many of the things it want it makes no hullabaloo about. There is, however, one thing that Canada has which the saner people of the United States make no secret of wanting. That is Can Ada's method of enforcing law and order. The following editorial, under the caption, "Another Tip from Windsor", appeared in the Detroit Free Press:

"Several explanations of the fearful increase in the number of traffic accidents in Detroit are advanced. There is one real cause for the condition, the careless ness of the public. Some of this carelessness is only unintentional, some of it is deliberate and criminal, but the result is much the same in either case.

"The great majority of the killings and maiming could be avoided by the use of caution and consideration, and by a decent observance of the traffic and parking regulations when the eye of the police department is turned elsewhere.

"How to bring this about is the difficulty. Something can be done and something has been done by appealing to the decency and humanity of drivers and to the instinct for self-preservation among pedestrians. An where the negligence among motorists is especially reprehensible more can be done through more rigid examination of those applying fr driver's licenses.

"The curbing of callous recklessness and drunken driving is another matter.

"In Windsor not long ago, a driver drove blindly into a building at the rate of sixty miles an hour, knocked down a negress, and caused the death of a woman. The other day he was sentenced to serve 15 months in a prison which is not a place of pleasant retirement.

"There is one answer to the problem of dealing effectively with criminal joy riders in this city. Throw them in prison and keep them there till it hurts a lot. Then running down pedestrians for sport or in a drunken spree will no longer be considered a safe diversion.

THE OTTAWA COMEDY

Halifax Herald:

The country is getting to the tragico-comedy stage with a premier who has no seat in parliament clinging to office and gravely accepting resignations and redistributing portfolios as if the people had given him a mandate to carry on.

UP TO THE PEOPLE

Saskatchewan Star:

Indifference toward politics is a mistake. The cynic who regard politics as merely a game for politicians and themselves responsible if democracy is a failure. It is apathy on the part of electors that permits politician to disregard public opinion.

A BAD RECORD

New York World:

The record of these six years in Syria is a record fits of broken pledges, then of utter heedlessness to wars ings and finally of disaster. No other series of events in our own times has done so much to widen the breach between east and west and to display so much doggy brutality for so little gain.

FILM FLORA

By dreaming pools, by paven paths, they grow,
Those fluttering flowers, slender, pale and still,
Grey flowers whereon a ghostly wind doth blow
That leaves them never still.

VITAMINS A NEW NAME

BUT IT EXPLAINS MANY OF THE STOCK PROBLEMS NOT KNOWN.

It Is Important to Know How the Absence of Certain Elements of Food Will Affect Development of Animals.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Young animals reared in nature's way, where the mother has free to select and pick up the food plants that her instinct lead her to, did not suffer from the nutritional disease common to young animals reared under domestication. All men have not learned the simple lesson from nature, but, taught to them willing to observe the unrestrained young animal, that instinctively leads it to the food that nature gives plants. Man's way of herding animals and poultry together in dark yards and stables, and the use of fried foods that do not carry the vitamins necessary to proper nutrition, have too often resulted disastrously for the young animal. Breeders have sought for something, dry foods frequently fail to supply the necessary something required for proper development.

Calves, pigs and chickens that are born apparently strong, fail to develop properly unless they get in their dairy feed the mysterious food elements that we speak of as vitamins. Diseases due to lumpy jaw, rickets have been recognized for many years, but exact knowledge of the lacking elements have been known but a short time.

Vitamin A, is soluble in fat and is called fat soluble A. It is present in greatest amount in milk, fat, yolk of eggs, green leaves, yellow corn, carrots, alfalfa and clover hay. Young animals eager feeds that are absolutely lacking in Vitamin A, develop a severe condition called Xerophthalmia. Chickens lose weight, the comb becomes pale, the feathers ruffled and show progressive muscular weakness. A white opaque cataracts in the eye. Our best young birds that have developed this nutritional disease have small, dull or yellowish raised nodules in the tissue about the size of a small shot and irregular in outline. These lesions are scattered over the mucous of the oesophagus. In addition to the nodules in the oesophagus, those suffering from Vitamin A deficiency may show characteristic changes in the kidneys. They are enlarged, pale in color, and streaked with a network of white lines. Associated with this is a general distribution of urates throughout the body and the surface of the intestinal organs appear as if sprinkled with flour. The use of green feeds, yellow corn or cod liver oil prevents the condition.

Vitamin B. also known as water soluble B. This vitamin is present in green leaves, fruit, eggs, yeast, and in the covering of most grains. Its presence in the food prevents polyneuritis in pigeons and beriberi in man. In birds, the disease is characterized by weakness and inability to co-ordinate muscular movements. Paralysis of the legs, frequent and sometimes paralysis of the muscles of the neck. The abdominal organs appear shrunken and darker in color than normal. In minutes these is also a loss in weight due to the renal. The free use of foods, such as milk, fruit, tubers, green parts, bran and germ meal, prevents the antineuritis condition.

Vitamin C. The lack of this vitamin in the food of man and animals known as scurvy. It is usually called the anti-scorbutic vitamin. The best sources of Vitamin C are fresh green vegetables, citrus fruits and in limited extent in fresh meat, tubers and fresh milk. The deficiency, the deficiency is shown in a general unthrifty condition of the features. In man, the symptoms are too well known to need recital here.

Vitamin D. The presence of this vitamin in the food prevents the condition known as rickets or leg weakness in young chicks, pigs, and young pigs. This vitamin is present in green grass, milk and cod liver oil. One per cent. of cod liver oil added to the chick's ration will prevent leg weakness. This vitamin can also be prevented by exposing the young animal to the sun's rays. Ultra violet may be absorbed by the skin and help in its utilization by the body metabolism.

The ideal diet for man containing in addition to cereals and green vegetables, also some milk and some meat, is the best safeguard against the possibility of a vitamin deficiency, and, furthermore, insures an adequate supply of inorganic salts and protein of proper biologic. For animals, green feeds in addition to the seed legume hay and roots for the rest of the ration will generally meet the time. For poultry, green feeds, milk, yellow corn and sunshine in winter time will keep nutritional diseases away.—L. Stevenson, of the Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

Ideal Apple Tree.

The ideal apple tree is one that has been so pruned from the beginning that its main limbs are well placed and form strong crotches that will carry the tree to maturity without breakage or injury, and enable the tree to bear annual crops of satisfactory proportions and quality at low cost and without the necessity for the use of props.

Tieing on Loads.

For tieing on loads, rope cannot be beaten. Any person who has had experience in drawing baled hay or rough reads knows how difficult it is to keep the load in place. Once the load gets fast, pull down tight around the top course of bales will bind them in one solid cluster. Each bale then helps to hold the other.

Self Feeder for Pigs.

Do not overlook the advantages of the self feeder in caring for the pigs. By getting their feed from a feeder they eat more, thereby making larger gains, and come to marketable size at an earlier date. Less feed is required to make gains and much labor is eliminated.

Letters To The Editor

RE THE GAS PLANT

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

In the proposed agreement between the City of Belleville and Mr. Yates re the gas plant, one of the paragraphs reads something like this, "and the policy of the first part, meaning Mr. Yates is to proceed to organize a company and sell enough stock to bonus the same and that the people are asked to put up their money to buy their own gas plant, or to finance the management of same, by another party."

Is Mr. Yates or his associates, personally, going to put up any security to relieve the city from the responsibility of the gas plant overdraft at the bank or is the promotion and stock salesman? Does the Tully Gas Plant Manufacturing Co., of England, financially responsible to be bonused?

Is not the management of the gas works or the failure of the city plant responsible for the lack of financial condition of the plant? If the former, then change the management, if the latter, why not have the Tully people paid for the installation of the plant before it was working satisfactorily, and if they are so anxious to have a model plant in Belleville, why don't they fit up this plant as it should be at their own expense.

It was stated at the nominations that it made no difference and it was nobody's business how the money came from to finance this scheme. But I think it means all the difference in the world.

Yours very truly,
Wm. Thompson.

Leola Dale's Fortune

By Charles Garvice

"Look, look! he will drown!" she cried, turning her head toward the wretched creature in the water. "Look, Cyril Cyril!"

Cyril paused for a moment, then, with a quiet, "Cling to the dam, my darling!" he dived into the water.

Slime and half cooking, and of course clung to him with the frenzy of a drowning man; but Cyril held him at arm's length and after battling with him for a moment, swam ashore and dragged him on to the bank.

As he did so, someone came running up and shouting; but Cyril did not wait a moment after he had got Slime safely to shore, but ran to the dam. There was one brief moment of ecstasy as they stood looking at each other with fervent eyes; then Cyril took her in his arms, and without a word carried her up the bank, for now that the peril was past, all strength seemed to have suddenly deserted the brave girl.

Kneeling beside Slime was a gentleman. It was he who had run up shouting; and now, at sight of Cyril, he sprang to his feet with an exclamation of astonishment.

"Why-it is you, Mr.——!"

Cyril stopped him with a gesture.

"Is he dead?" he said, stooping over the limp figure.

"No," said the stranger, "not dead; but it was a narrow squeak. I don't think the ruffian was worth saving. I saw it all," he continued, "from the bridge, and I was so horrified at the lady's peril, that for the moment I couldn't find my voice."

"This lady is Miss Dale," said Cyril.

The gentleman raised his hat with marked respect.

"I congratulate you, madam, on your safety," he said, formally.

Leola turned to Cyril with a mute gesture.

"Yes, Mr.—I mean this gentleman—saved you," said the stranger. "You could not have held on another moment——"

"But she saved me, man!" said Cyril, impatiently. "You don't understand! The miserable wretch was trying to open the sluice. If he had done it I should have been killed, for I was inside the wheel then."

CHAPTER XLI

Quite unconscious of the tragedy which was being enacted near to them, Mr. Ford and Philip Dyce were locked in the library waiting for Leola.

Both had spent a very anxious time since the preceding night. To tell the truth Mr. Ford's conscience was extremely disquieted.

As for Philip Dyce himself, he was half mad with the suspense.

OTTAWA SHIFTED FOR 'PEG GAME

Mulroney To Replace Miller On Backfield—Lynch May Do Catching

Ottawa, December 3.— Winnipeg Tigers are now on their way east to meet the Ottawa Senators, Eastern Canada championship, for the championship title here on Saturday. Eighteen players are groomed for the Canadian senior final, and reports from the West indicate that the Tigers will bring the strongest team east that has yet come to challenge for the highest honors in Canadian rugby.

While the westerners are coming east practically unknown line-locals are taking no chances and will endeavor to give their best at the game and strength for the contest. The loss of Joe Miller and the injuries sustained by Connie Mulroney somewhat weaken the backfield of forts are being made to shift the line-up around so that the defensive side of the squad will remain at top strength.

Edgar Mulroney, stellar young backfielder, is nominated to take Miller's place at left half, a berth he has steadily mapped out a system which is planned to offset the plunging attack of the West erners.

NEW YORK DEFEATS PITTSBURG AT HOME

American Soars First Overtime Victory in N.H.L.—Final Score 2 to 1

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 3.—After butting for three periods without a litter side gaining any advantage, a brilliant dash up the ice by Langlois, the defence man of the New York Americans, brought yie tory for the latter by a two to one score when he succeeded in outfielding the Pirates' defence, and shot the winning goal, after three minutes and ten seconds of overtime play. It brought to an end a stubbornly contested conflict and gave the Metropolis team their first victory and also the first defeat for the local team, after having secured two victories on foreign ice.

GRANGE'S TEAM WON HANDILY

Led Chicago to 26-9 Victory Over St. Louis Team Of Professionals

St. Louis, Dec. 2.—Red Grange performed spectacularly at Sportsman Park here when he led the Chicago Bears, professional football players, to a 26 to 9 victory over the Donnelly Stars of St. Louis before a crowd estimated at 8,000. The former Illinois captain scored four touchdowns. He stayed out of the contest for a greater part of the second and third periods, although the crowd put up several yells for his return.

Grange gained 84 yards in nine plays, while forward passes, which he threw or received, added 73 yards more. He made one run back of a punt for 32 yards, his longest for the day.

Oshawa, Ont., Dec. 3 — President Charles H. Anderson, of Oshawa, has issued a call for the semi-annual meeting of the Central Ontario Amateur Hockey League, to be held in Belleville on Wednesday afternoon, December 9th at 1.30 when the presidents and secretary-treasurer meeting and annual meeting will be attended in. The league circuit, embracing the Eastern championship, which has been held by Belleville for the two previous seasons will be presented to the Kingston Penites as winners in 1925 as per the decision as to the suspension of the officers of the Kingston club at the semi-annual meeting of the Ontario Baseball Association will be discussed. Also the newspaper reports as to the Oshawa club withdrawing to enter a Toronto city league.

The Kingston club, as champions of the C.O.B.L. will also be required by the executive to furnish a financial statement of their season's activities, according to paragraph six of by-law No. IV of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association, which reads: "A financial statement by each affiliated association or league must be secured from the championship club of that association or league to file with the secretary of the Ontario Association not later than March 1st, following year."

The last item on the program for the meeting will be the election of officers

S.P.A. CUP HOLDERS DEFEAT RED RINGERS

Canoe Club Individually Good in Patos, But Lack Team Play

Toronto, Dec. 2.—Peterboro defeated the Toronto Canoe Club, 6 to 1, in the senior S.P.A. game at the Arena last night, team-work and a punch among their opponents' act giving the cup-holders and last season's O.H.A. finalists with Niagara Falls an edge over the newcomers to senior hockey. Individually the Red Ringers held their own with Pete and had a fair share of the play, but passed up a number of spells did chances to score by failing to use their pass and wild shooting. For nearly in the season the players on both teams showed good combination at times throughout was fairly fast, with the hockey was interesting. Canoe Club will do better after they learn to pass the puck and their shooting improves more accurate.

NEVER PLAYED SENIOR

Canoe Club put a comparatively green team on the ice, only one of the players having previous senior experience. Eddie McKay, Reg. McIlwaine and Johnny McPherson were with Aura Lee junior last season; Taylor and Grant starred for T.C.C.; Gibb, Sims and Heyd played outdoor hockey, while Bibby was with U.T.S.; Beresford Cox, former Argonaut and Parkdale senior Harry Foster and Joe Stirk, two of the Red Ringers' best, did not play, both being tied up with rugby with Argonaut juniors. For a new team, T.C.C. made a real good showing, and the score was a true indication of the way theplay went.

HOCKEY RESULTS

Hockey games played last night resulted as follows:

Senior S. P. A.
Peterboro 6	Tor. Canoe Club 1
N. H. L.
New York 2	Pittsburg 1
x—3 minutes overtime.
London City League
Young Britons 3	St. Mary's 0
Orioles 1	Westerville 0
Falcons 2	Hawks 0

EXPECT MAROONS HOLD CANADIENS

Montreal, Dec. 3.—There promises to be a rare gathering of hockey fans of the city at the Mount Royal Arena when the two local teams in the National Hockey League—Canadiens and Montreal—meet in the first game of the six Hill-Borough clashes the two clubs will stage in the Calder loop this winter. Last year these two teams set a record for a hockey attendance in Canada when they met at the Forum and this despite the fact that Canadiens took the first game of those games down the two teams in 1924-25 campaign by a wide margin.

This year even greater interest is being manifest in the clashes between the local professional hockey rivals. The added fillip to tonight's game has been created through the changes made in the twoteams since last year. Canadiens have lost Sprague Cleghorn to ruin defence and has to complete new shutsite list. It is also likely that Lacroix will occupy the nets for Canadiens tonight in place of Joe Ferran Vezina, who is still weak from the recent illness he suffered. Montreal team play over last winter's efforts, and, with a more sound defence and a greater scoring punch, they are anticipated they will give Canadiens a much better argument on the latter's home ice than in the past season or two.

Last season the two teams played six games, Canadiens winning four and two being tied, the goals totaling 18 for Canadiens and three for Montreal.

To Mr. Porter—"Some doctors are more skilful than others dependent upon training and ability. You're not wish to convey the idea that any of the three doctors had not done what they should have in this case."

To Mr. O'Flynn—"An operation could be performed just as successfully by a perfect alignment secured, providing there was no infection.

Mr. Justice Kelly—"They are very clear that medicine is not a positive science, doctor?"

Dr. McCreary—"No."

"You have also had much experience in the courts in malpractice cases."

"No sir."

"Then there is nothing more that I can ask you."

DEFENCE HEARD

Mr. Faulkner told of driving from Point Anne where he had been on a call, the day of the accident. Mrs. Faulkner and his sister Mrs. (Dr.) Potts rode with him. There were cuts in the road—the main ones between Carrying and Marvelled and others where they had turned out to meet.

Speaking of the accident, the doctor told of seeing the truck ahead of him when he was coming around the curve. He was driving between 35 and 25 miles per hour. The truck was travelling in the main travelled rut, same as he did. The left wheel from one side to the other of the road.

"I was about 75 feet behind the truck when it parked. I slowed up and applied my brakes. The car skidded, the rear end swinging to the right, and struck. I heard the car, scaling towards the truck, but by fear of striking the man, I steered to the left. The right fender and right headlight struck him. I then backed my car 10 or 12 feet. The blind effect of the truck occupied one quarter of the south side of the winter, travelled road which was slightly to the north side of the highway at this point. I then got out of my car, lifted Hill around examined his legs through his clothing and ordered him taken to hospital. I followed the man to the hospital, showed the man how to carry him into the hospital, before seeing him least pain, but when he was taken to the public ward at my direction I had no business to follow him in, as there is a doctor for the public ward. I went to the telephone and called Dr. Crouch, but when he also answered the phone said he would be there in 15 minutes. I then reported the accident to the Provincial Police Department, and to Mr. Smith at the Hydro. I heard my wife talking to one of the hydro men and heard her say, "I want you to look and see you are on the wrong side of the road, and heard one man answer, "Yes I am Mrs. Faulkner, I would say it was Broughton who said that. The truck did not move after my car hit it. There has been absolutely no reduction of the fracture in Hill's right leg because there had not been sufficient extension put on it. The truck gave me no warning that it was about to stop. I did everything that any human being could do to prevent that accident."

WIFE TESTIFIES

Mrs. Helen Faulkner, wife of defendent, told of seeing Hill when the Hydro truck turned out the truck when it slowed up.

Speaking of the conversation with one of the Hydro men, witness told of exclaiming, "Boys, before we move, you look exactly where you are. You are on the wrong side of the road. Mrs. Faulkner identified Broughton as the man who answered "Yes I know we are Mrs. Faulkner, and will, the doctor go down with us and fix it up with Mr. Smith at the Hydro?" Mrs. Faulkner told of driving with her husband to the hospital, police department and Hydro, then home where she dressed for a dinner party which they later attended, using the same car except for a new front light which was put on.

BUILDING SHAKEN

At 4.30 o'clock, the Court House building was shaken quite perceptibly by what was believed to be an explosion. Everyone stirred and looked at one another reassuringly. It proved to be the echo of a powerful blast set off at the cement plant quarries near Point Anne.

VERIFIED WORDS

Mrs. Mary Potts, sister of Dr. Faulkner, and passenger in the rear seat of the coupe the day of the accident, when called told of the car "barely touching" the truck, and later backing up after the accident. She got out of the car, stood at the door for a time, then went around to the back of the car. She heard Mrs. Faulkner say, "Take a good look at the truck boys, it is on the wrong side of the road." A man whom she could not now identify had answered, "Yes, Mrs. Faulkner I know we are."

Provincial Constable Simon Elliott, now of Pembroke, formerly stationed here, told of Hill having said to him, "If Dr. Faulkner was driving fast, he would have killed me." After interrogating several witnesses," continued the officer, "we found that it was no case for the criminal courts."

Dr. Wallbridge recalled, maintained steadfastly that the fracture in Hill's right leg—the most serious one—was an oblique break, contrary to the evidence of Dr. Hetherington. A report made by Dr. Louise Tower, as a result of X-ray plates made January second, and observed by her, named the fracture as an oblique one. The document was entered. Armed with an authoritative medical volume on surgery and fractures, both Mr. Porter and Mr. O'Flynn examined and cross-examined the doctor very carefully having him carefully examine the ex hibit films of X-rays taken. He remained unshaken and stated that a doctor might be a reputed physician and yet know practically nothing about X-ray work.

Mr. Broughton recalled, was asked about the statements of Mrs. Faulkner and Mrs. Potts as to a statement said to have been made by him about admitting that the Hydro truck was on the wrong side of the road.

"Mrs. Faulkner said to me, 'Look where your car is,'" explained Broughton, and I simply said, 'I see where it is Mrs. Faulkner".

Standing Room Only For "The Freshman"

Harold Lloyd is certainly entitled to feel proud over his accomplishment of "The Freshman," which went successfully at the Griffin's Theatre last night out onto the street limp with laughing. The audience sort gently at first, and then up so gradually and evenly that you don't realize what is happening to you until you find yourself exhibit "Oh! Oh!" for more breath! Too hearty laughter is a joyous sort of agony no one resents.

The freshman, Harold Lamb, enters college with query notions as to how a students should act, to become the most popular chap on the campus. One of his ideas, gleaned from a movie, in which one should do a fancy jig step every time he is introduced to anyone. This jig, and the fact that he tells every new acquaintance that he's just a regular fellow and they should step right up and call him "Speedy," attracts the immediate attention of the school's chief jokester, and after that poor Harold has no rest.

In the hope of popularity he does every thing he is told to do. He attempts to make the football team and is made water boy. He gives a ball and is forced to attend in a suit that is only basted together. He makes a speech to the entire student body assembled to hear the Dean's address. And he becomes the world's greatest single retail buyer of ice cream cones. Finally, however, he gets into a football game, and this scrimmage brings "The Freshman" to a finish that is so exciting and thrilling as it is funny.

Everyone in the cast is excellent and the pigskin boys and co-eds look like the real things—he best looking bunch of live wire youngsters you ever saw away from a campus. All hail to "The Freshman!" Let no one part his by unseen

Ex-Canadian Just Across Border Sees Disadvantages in New Land

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 3.—(By Canadian Press)—A letter published in a local paper, from a Canadian in Portland Oregon, describes some of the disadvantages of home-keeping in exile. "For everyone, every week, there is always something to put up with and dear Canada has least of these," he maintains. "The cost of existence is very high, and one must pay to have garbage removed, clothing, too, is proportionately expensive as their standard of living is so high you are thought odd if your school child does not dress accordingly. A large number of the high school girls and boys go to school in their own cars. Of course, too, their families are all smaller than ours, and therefore can afford to do more for the one or two they may have. A friend of mine (also a former Winnipegger) told me she felt quite ashamed of her large family, as everyone else on the street had one child and she had four. Soon after coming here we were amused when our little girl arrived home from school saying some of the children had asked her how she had learned the American language so quickly, and to speak her own for them. Still another joke was asked of the Canadian inscription on our coins was the language they spoke in Canada. Please don't think this an exaggeration—as I am trying to be perfectly fair to the U.S.A. too."

Either Kind Stops Coughs

Buckley's Mixture "Strong" or "Modified" will stop your cough or cold. Buckley's Strong is the same efficient remedy you have used before. Buckley's "Modified" differs in taste only. Made for those who find medicines distasteful, particularly the children.

THE BECK MEMORIAL POSTCARD.

Believing that those who benefit directly from Sir Adam Beck's great hydro electric undertakings will be ready to show their appreciation, the Hydro Electric Power Commission has brought forward an ingenious method of testing public gratitude. As a means of "mopping up" in the Beck Memorial Endowment campaign to raise $500,000 in aid of Queen Alexandra Sanatorium and its province-wide war against tuberculosis, a postcard appeal is being sent to every hydro consumer. There are more than 416,000 in all in about 90 Ontario cities, towns and villages now served by this latest creation of the late hydro knight. The postcard message emphasizes that "in founding that great public service—the Hydro Idea—he had endeared his name to every household in Ontario. Through his efforts in bringing hydro into every home, emancipation from the drudgery of the Ontario housewife is a realization; and, too, countless millions are annually saved to the people—Hydro users and—through rates of about one-third of those in force before the great work was begun. This appeal is now made to turn part of these tremendous savings into a Memorial Endowment, immortalizing the name of this great benefactor."

There is a return section, illustrated above, by means of which any hydro consumer may give tangible expression to his appreciation of this service. Simply place an "X" mark in the space opposite the amount you desire to give. If it is only less than $10 fill in the amount in the blank space on the top. If it is less than 50 cents fill in on the line with the number of months desired. The card may then be signed with the usual address of the donor and sealed back to the Hydro. By this authority the sum will then be added to the consumers' hydro bill for the period authorized. Everybody is expected by the Commission to make some contribution, big or little. If everyone responds, Sir Adam's memory will be honored in a precisely that manner he most desired. The fund subscribed will not be expended but will be invested in a dependable and representative commitment, as government bonds. The revenue will be used for all time to come, in the care of Ontario men, women and children under the double affliction of tuberculosis and poverty.

Coal Conciliation Still Possibility

Operators' Head Does Not Believe Door to Negotiation Has Been Closed

Philadelphia—Dec. 3.—Major W. Inglis, chairman of the anthracite operators' wage committee, does not believe the "door to a resumption of negotiations" has been closed by the action of the mine owners in rejecting the peace proposals of Governor Pinchot, which had been accepted by the United Mine Workers. In discussing today the breach by the operators, he pointed to the offer set forth two weeks ago by the mine owners and rejected by President John L. Lewis of the union. Major Inglis thought the operators' proposal might serve as a basis for taking up anew the differences which have kept the mines idle three months.

Close observers of the situation profess to see some progress in the controversy. The contending forces now have before them Mr. Lewis' "clarifying restatement" of the union position issued two weeks ago, the proposals of the governor and the plan recently submitted by the operators to Mr. Lewis. Out of these it is felt in some quarters that a plan satisfactory to both sides might be worked out by means could be found to bring the negotiators around a conference table.

From Pottsville came a report today that miners, disappointed over the refusal of the operators to accept the governor's peace proposals, have called meetings of some local unions to act in the matter of ordering malcontent men from the collieries. No recommendation, it was said, would be submitted to the district and national officers of the union.

LLOYD GEORGE TALKS QUITTING

New Effort is Made to Bind Together Wings of British Liberals

London, Dec. 3.—If I can do obstacle to Liberal unity I am prepared to retire," is the reported definite announcement made by Lloyd George at a private gathering of Liberals here last night when Lord Oxford and Asquith was entertained with a view to the further healing of differences between the two wings of the Liberal party.

Reports of the gathering agree that a specially conciliatory tone was adopted by Mr. Lloyd George, particularly with regard to his lame campaign, which it is understood, fails to meet with the entire approval at both sections of Liberalism.

APPEAL CASE OF TOWNSEND

Toronto, Dec. 3.—On grounds that the sentence was unduly harsh, severe and merciless and disregardful of the prisoner's youth and mitigating circumstances, Frank W. BRIAND RETURNS TO FACE STORM

Inflation of Currency Plan Has Not Met With Unanimous Support

Paris, Dec. 3.—Premier Briand, fresh from the pleasant atmosphere of peace and good will of the Locarno Treaty signing in London, will be confronted with a gathering storm when he returns to Paris which will require all his experience and skill to ride out. News that retirement is to be asked speedily by vote for the inflation of currency has by no means made a favorable impression in the lobbies and while it is not doubted the financial bill of Louis Loucheur will be passed, it is thought it will be by a narrow margin and after hard struggle.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Dec. 4—A fresh influx of refugees from Greece is sweeping over the wintry mountain border into Bulgaria as a result, foreign office author ities say, of severe administrative measures taken by Greek officials at Lerin near Monastir, Dec. The alleged "measures include arrests, trials, internments and executions. Bulgarian officials point out that these exposes anti-died the report of the League of Nations investigating committee, which decided in favor of Bulgaria in the recent frontier incident.

A NARROW SQUEAK

Geneva, Dec.—A bare margin of two and one-half hours stood between war-fare on an extensive scale in the Balkans when the League of Nations intervened in the Greco-Bulgar dispute, according to revelations made in the hundred fo-vestigation Commission report.

When the Broad ultimatum reached the capitals Athens had ordered a general attack upon Petrich by 1,000 men and three batteries of artillery, while Bulgarian had issued orders to a defensive contingent of one battalion of regular troops with twelve guns and hundreds of irregulars to the advance.

The messages from Athens to the commanding officer to halt the advance arrived at 6:30a.; 5.30 had been fixed as zero hour.

Fire At Clapp's Meant $100 Loss

Some Stock Damaged—Blaze Put Out With Extinguishers

One hundred dollars damage was done to the interior of a room in W. C. Clapp's confectionery store by fire which broke out Thursday afternoon about 3.30 o'clock. Confectionery stock was damaged to the extent of $25. The fire was extinguished by firemen, who were armed with chemical extinguishers, and although the hose was ran out, it was not required.

Mr. Clapp who conducts the store at 46-48 Bridge street east, stated that he had been up on the second floor in the rear room, making candy and other confectionery. A quantity of grease was on the stove melting, when he was called downstairs by a gentleman who wished to speak to him. Conversing with the man, he forgot about the grease and when smoke began to fill the downstairs, investigation revealed that the grease had boiled over and ignited, setting fire to it.

Tab. Bazaar Was Charming Place Storm Failed To Defeat Project Devoted Ladies Merited Success

In startling and most acceptable contrast to the gloomy "out of doors", the delightfully bright and charming interior of Tabernacle Sunday School, decorated for the annual bazaar, proved a most invit-ing spot this afternoon and in spite of the fuctuosness of the weather the affair proved a magnificent success.

The centre of the room in which it was held was most charming with its color scheme of mauve and yellow making a bright back ground for the tea rooms and small tea tables. Streamers of the two colors were followed about the square forming a canopy while the central and each little table carried out the color scheme in lovely bouquets of immense mums. Of this Mrs. G. Cosaer and Mrs. G. C. Shorey were conveners.

At the central table Mrs. T. Clare and Mrs. J. E. Walmsley poured tea and were assisted by Mrs. Shorey, Mrs. C. Lent, Mrs. Gulliver, jr., Mrs. G. Saunders, Mrs. M. Clarke, Mrs. MacLean, Mrs. Greenleaf, Miss M. Greenleaf, Miss H. Owens and Miss H. Fenn. At the long table at which the refreshments were served Mrs. Fenn, Mrs. Duff, Mrs. Ashley and Mrs. Giroux were in charge, Mrs. J. Davis and Mrs. Charles Hanna took charge of the cakes and Mrs. W. Kiser and Mrs. R. Emmerson of the bread. Assisting in the arrangements in the dining room and kitchen were Mesdames Bell, Ivy, Ryal, Barlow, Cole, Yeomans, Gausden, Sprackett, Speer, Laughlin and Le Alexander. Mrs. Harry Moorman acted as treasurer.

Of the Gift Shoppe at which charming hand-made gifts for the most discriminating persons could be chosen, Mrs. G. Gulliver, jr., was in charge. The doll booth with its delightful array of dolls, small and big, dolls that do, that were dressed for arctic weather or for Miami and ranging in age from a three year baby to a more sophisticated flapper, was a popular place and kept Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Wardner and their choral club girls, busy tending the many customers. The fish pond was also run by the doll booth attendants.

Mrs. J. S. Wantner had charge of the fancy work table and here a rapid business was done, the conveners and helpers having a busy time replenishing the wonderful pieces of embroidery sold. Mrs. Kerr managed the apron booth with its composite bewitching assortment of aprons for every want.

Mrs. M. W. Mott took charge of the candy table and her delicious offerings were most tempting all in daintiest of containers.

Of the home cooking with its array of most appetising cakes, delishes, cookies and pies Mrs. C. Sharpe was in charge and for the handkerchief and children's booth Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Toms were responsible and were delighted with the appreciation of all the pretty things they offered. Each booth carried out a clever little color scheme of its own and each was in itself a beauty spot worth visiting. Most competent ladies assisted at each booth and every visitor was speedily looked after directly after having been welcomed most cordially by Mrs. Sandford, the hostess for the occasion. Many gentlemen dropped in at the tea and were most impressed by the delightful arrangements in the Sunday school and thoroughly enjoyed "the tempting feast."

THIEVES SOUGHT ONLY A 'SMOKE' IN STIRLING STORE

Thieves entered the grocery store conducted by Mr. Charles B. McGuire, Front street, Stirling, Thursday evening about seven o'clock and made a rich haul away with a quantity of tobocco. The till was not touched and apparently no money were taken.

Provincial police headquarters was rushed here and officers left immediately in the police car for Stirling. A thorough investigation of the premises was made. Officers are still working on the case.

Asked what the value of the tobacco stolen would be, Sergeant E. Hue told the Intelligencer this afternoon that it would be difficult to say. It was not large.

Mr. McGuire is well known here, and throughout the County as Hereford Stirling and a prominent business man. He also conducts a hockey shop next door to his grocery, in a separate building. This shop was not disturbed, police say. The "job" is believed in Stirling to have been the work of young boys.

DAIRYMEN HEAR OF NEW SCHEME TO GRADE CREAM

Provincial Director Barr Was Here to Expound His Ideas

TWO GRADES OF MILK

Experts of District Also Tell Of Conditions As They Exist

Addresses of an interesting and practical nature to those engaged in dairying also to cheese and butter makers, were given on Thursday afternoon at the annual meeting of West Hastings dairy district, held in this city. Mr. H. H. Kinchman, Director of the district, presided.

INSTRUCTOR'S REPORTS

Mr. H. Howe, local dairy instructor, presented a comprehensive report of his work of inspection during the past season. The report was upon the whole of an optimistic nature and showed that every effort had been made to make good cheese in this district.

Mr. Chas. Zinn of Stirling, presented his report as dairy instructor for that district. There were 25 factories in his section and all with one exception, were in fairly good condition with good water and drainage. This one factory will be put in shape. Mr. Presidents Officers at cheese factories take an interest in putting their factories in better shape. Presidents in every case made reports to a cheese factory when requested to do so. Milk at the factories is good to be in good shape. Number of patrons supplying milk to factories in his inspections was 980, number of cows kept 9,007; pounds of milk per cow 4962; amount realized per cow $87.15. Conditions of the milk coming to the factory is improving from year to year.

Seven factories in the inspectorate for which Senter and 28,200 pounds were made the season; pounds of whey cream 41,260; received for cheese 422,915.

Pounds of milk received at the factories 43758,986; pounds of cheese made 4,222,948; cash received for cheese $783,909; pounds of milk to make a pound of cheese 10.36; average test of milk 3.66; cheese 20.50; average of fat in milk 3.27. Samples of milk tested 64.17 new silos built 61; manure spreaders 11; all day vats at factories 23; call vents made 410.

DIRECTOR OF DAIRYING

Mr. Barr, Provincial director of dairying, spoke of dairy work generally in the Province of Ontario. He had endeavored to improve the make of cheese and butter in this province. This year has seen the introduction of grading cream at creameries in order to improve the make of butter. Under the grading system it will make a standard price for his cream. It is up to the cream producer to keep his cream up to standard grade. There will be 1st, 2nd and 3rd grades of cream and the latter grade will receive 4 cents per cent. to the person who sends such a grade of cream to a creamery. There can be two grades of milk, namely milk that should be sent to a factory and the milk that should be kept at home. He asked the support of milk producers to have first class milk; sent to cheese factories the same as first class cream sent to creameries.

Mr. Ray Atkins, of Stirling, Agricultural Representative spoke briefly and called the reports presented were such that, we should be proud of. He advocated a campaign for the growing of alfalfa, a cheap feed for the producing of milk.

Mr. T. H. Ketcheson was unanimously nominated as Director of this district to the Board of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen Association. A meeting closed by the singing of the National Anthem.

The mine is 20 miles west of here. Six rescue crews have left for the scene. Mine officials said they feared the imprisoned men were unconscious from heavy smoke that is pouring from the mouth of the tunnel and that has prevented workers who have not equipped with masks from entering.

CONSIDER CASE OF RHINELANDER

Much Noticed Annulment Plea Now in Hands Of a Jury

HIS WIFE A MULATTO

White Plains, N.Y., Dec. 4.—Supreme Court Justice Morschauser was to charge his charges to the jury in Rhinelander annulment case at 10 o'clock this morning. Justice Morschauser read to the jury the seven questions covering principal points in the case. A special term of the Supreme Court here must decide whether Leonard Kip Rhinelander, the plaintiff, shall be freed from his wife, Alice Beatrice Jones, daughter of a Mulatto.

The Jury's decision on the seventh point upon which it must pass is of the greatest importance to the outcome of the case. This point is:

"Did the plaintiff cohabit with the defendant after he had obtained full knowledge that the defendant was of colored blood?"

If the jury makes decisions favorable to Rhinelander on the first six points but answers "Yes" to the seventh question, the whole case will be upset.

Some of the questions are:

"Did the defendant before marriage by silence conceal from the plaintiff the fact that she was of colored blood?"

"Was the plaintiff by the said concealment or by said representations or by both, induced to marry the defendant?"

"If the plaintiff had known that the defendant was of colored blood would he have married her?"

DIRECTOR ELECTION A BITTER FIGHT

St. Simon, Que., Dec. 4.—Rival candidates in the federal by-election in Bagot county for their right seats for the parish of St. Simon, travelling over roads swimming with water and heavy with clay. Push in relation speakers into some odd meeting places. In one village, for lack of a better hall, Liberals met in a building used for the manufacture of coffins. Today a joint meeting was held in the hall of a large barn in both which there were charges of raising racial prejudices.

Come out and Vote

To the Editor of the Intelligencer:—Last night I sat on the platform in the City Hall I counted the men and women in the audience, and at no time did the number exceed 200. There are about 2000 property owners and about 4000 tenants on the voters list. Where were they? I have seen more than 500 at a dance, a hockey or baseball match in fact weather with paid admissions, at the services of Foster Hall, the hanger Ward, turned out better proportionately at the Ward St. Debating Club meeting the night before. The people do not seem to be as much interested in Church services and city business as might be expected.

The last two years were two of the best years the City has enjoyed. Not only was there a great deal of internal improvement but the City received a lot of useful external publicity, and five new industries were started. We must not, however, stop at that. The citizens should follow the example of Foster Ward and establish clubs to discuss civic affairs and co-operate seriously with the proposal to make a Bigger and Better Belleville.

Educate the spirit of the people of the suburbs. Have them work with the City and Council to make Belleville a real live city. Let us have a City Beautiful and a City Healthful. Let us have a City Prosperous and a City Happy.

Let us have a City Progressive and a City Contented.

Let us have a City Clean and a City Sane.

Let us have a City Moral and a City Law Abiding.

Let us have a City Educational and a City Musical.

Let us have a City Sociable and a City Hospitable.

Let us have a City Democratic and a City Patriotic.

Let us have a City Loyal and a City United.

Let us have a City Thrifty and a City Economical.

Let us have a City Industrious and a City Busy.

Let us have a City Fraternal and a City Brotherly.

Let us have a City Charitable and a City Kind.

Let us have a City Religious and a City Christian.

Let us have a City Forward and a City Upward.

Let us have a City Optimistic and a City Enthusiastic.

Let us have a City Friendly and a City Neighborly.

Let us have a City Honest and a City Square.

Big List of Speakers At City Hall Which Was Half Full

GRAHAM, GREENLEAF, Gas By-Law and That For Nine Aldermen Also Discussed

An audience which half filled City Hall Thursday night, saw and heard members of the city council report on their stewardship, and heard from the majority of the thirty-one recruits who are appealing to the electors Monday next. The audience also heard the two mayoralty candidates and the chairman of the gas committee, elucidate on the gas by-law which electors will also vote upon Monday.

Everyone who spoke was "all for Belleville" and there will be a fine city council selected, as twelve good and keen men may easily be chosen from the field. Progress and economy was the watch word and by word of almost every speaker, many of whom declared that they would be out for new industries. Interest in the new collegiate and the Parks Board was also touched, though with expressions of endeavors to reduce the tax rate and insurance rates. Sounds of applause greeted each speaker and no favorites were evident from this department.

Ald. R. J. H. Graham, mayoralty candidate, was cheered when he walked to the platform after exMayor W. Greenleaf, in other mayoralty candidate, who was given a rousing reception also. The present council members were heard last, as they were unable to get to the opening of the meeting owing to the crowd which they were trimming in committee. They appeared in a body and were given seats on the platform by recruits who gladly gave up their chairs after they had spoken. It was a meeting bristling with good will and good feeling, excellent sportsmanship and happy co-operation, each man with but a single thought—and that for his city.

Mayor Mikel presided in his excellent manner and in opening the meeting, expressed his pleasure at the attendance of men who had offered themselves as candidates. He explained that every man should be there with a platform and on the platform, and others who were not candidates, he criticized. A half-hearted interest should be given second consideration election day. He explained how highest form of citizenship consisted in grappling with the greater questions of civic administration and the advancement of the municipality. Belleville had a heritage handed down from her U. E. L. ancestors, and for that very reason why everyone should be interested in her welfare. He showed how the pioneers brought out axe and had wrested the demoralized Belleville fair board from despair to the high pinnacle of success which glad hearted hearts have long enjoyed. Lack of harmonic interest however, might mark its decendency again.

Then many speakers called by the mayor, and many wise words were heard from the candidates. The Intelligencer endeavored now fair by and concisely to give platform of speakers where one was named, Necessarily it will be as terse as possible.

RECRUITS SPEAK

R. T. Cherry had "no fish to fry". A businessman of 35 years standing here, he wished to see a more common method of procedure in the Public Works department. He was not criticizing the city engineer or anyone else under him, but expressed that in the past Charles, Chatham and Queen streets had been examples of what good roads had been laid, only to be torn up again. Belleville was second to no city but did not progress. He knew not why.

A. B. Collins had given service on the Parks Boards and would be pleased for economy and efficient consistency with steady and progressive

TRENTON CHURCH TEA MADE $300

Trenton, Dec. 4.—The annual tea which was held at the King St. United Church last night was a distinct success, the proceeds totaling more than $300 which will go to the building fund and for missionary work. There was of course a large crowd which patronized the booths liberally. The decorations were red and green in keeping with the oncoming Christmas season.

Mrs. George Frost and Mrs. Hugh Colbourne poured tea.

The musical programme was rendered by Mrs James A. Bellville, Mr. and Mrs. F.C. Adsett, and Mrs. A.E. Cuff. Selections at the piano were rendered during the afternoon.

Trenton, Dec. 2.—Belleville High School tied up with Trenton High School last night at Tripp's Recreation Academy, with the result that the former walked off with the heavy end of the score.

The scores:

Trenton, Dec. 4.—Euchre and dancing at the G.W.V.A. rooms was the programme for the Veterans and their friends last night, when a good crowd patronized the bi-monthly affair which is so familiar to Trenton.

The matter of prizes for card playing was not an easy one to settle, as there were several instances in which ties had to be decided by cutting. For the ladies, Mrs. Quinn and Mrs. W. Luscombe were tied for first place, Mrs. Luscombe won the cut. The men were similarly ball-matched when the scores were counted. Mr. Dexter from Carrying Place cut with Messrs. Westfall and O'Neil for first prize. The latter was fortunate.

The prizes were donated by Mrs. C. M. Richardson.

Music was furnished by the Trenton Night Hawks.

INITIATION MEANT SPLASH FOR ONE

Twenty-eight pupils of the High School (of the fair sex of course) wear their tresses in six pigtails today and wear odd stockings—this in carrying to its full measure the initiation into the H.Y. club which they formally joined on Thursday evening.

The initiation tpatted human existence with its ups and downs and smooth and rocky roads, worked out by a walk about the building of the Y.M.C.A. in which they encountered many obstacles and got some thrills in doing so, especially when, blindfold they heard the girl immediately preceding them drop into the tank and splash away to safety. In the absence of Miss Lila Sprague, the president of the association, Miss Margaret Fairbairn had charge of the proceedings.

C. N. R. GRAIN RATES.

A great deal is being written and said on the question of freight rates, especially in connection with the operation of the Canadian National Railway. It seems to be assumed that, because this system belongs to the nation, the public has a perfect right to demand favorable treatment, of a character which would not be possible in the case of a privately owned line. Handicapped as the system is by the heavy legacy of indebtedness, it is quite impossible to meet all the demands. The argument is heard that much business is lost to the National system by reason of the high cost of transportation as compared with competing lines in the United States. The Manitoba Free Press wants to know why it is that the export traffic in grain is not diverted to the National Transcontinental railway from Lake Superior, north of Fort William, through Cochrane and Quebec to the Maritimes ports. Though an investment of $176,000,000 has been made in this line for the purpose, it is complained; the high rates prevailing have diverted the traffic elsewhere. "Here is a constructive suggestion which the Canadian National railway management might well consider," remarks the Toronto Globe. "Is it possible to give a rate that will bring traffic to this long line of little-used mileage.

"It is possible to attract profitable business in the big transcontinental system, Sir Henry Thornton may be relied upon to lose no time in taking the necessary measures. But no one no time in taking the necessary measures. But no one no time in taking the necessary measures has been effected and a general and progressive improvement realized; but the lines can only be made to pay if operated on sound business principles. The question is, are the present rates unduly high and is it feasible to reduce them without incurring ruinous loss of revenue? It is galling that so large a part of the prospective traffic should pass to foreign companies. There are many factors responsible for the preference of shippers for United States' routes, however, and there is no means of controlling such preference where it exists. Freight rates, at any rate, cannot be held responsible.

As regards the western position, in an instructive comparison of grain traffic statistics, dealing with the Canadian National as contrasted with the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific systems of the United States, it is shown that the revenue received by the Canadian line is much lower than that accruing to the American companies. For the year 1924 the latter got a revenue per ton mile almost double that enjoyed by the Canadian system. The number of cars handled by the C.N.R. (western region) in 1924 was 133,297, as against 107,115 for the Great Northern and 81,500 for the Northern Pacific. Freight revenues, C.N.R., $25,130,932; Great Northern, $16,201,692; N.P.R., $10,713,289. When the average haul is taken into consideration, it is found that it amounts to 317.6 miles for the C.N.R.; 373.5 miles for the G.N.R.; 324.6 miles for the N.P.R., yielding a revenue per ton mile of only 2.26 mills for C.N.R., as against 9.85 mills for the Great Northern and 9.77 for the Northern Pacific. From figures prepared by the C.P.R., also, the discrepancy in rates between the Canadian and United States' services is seen to be glaring. If the American roads were hauling 100 lbs. of wheat from Calgary to Fort William, a distance of 1,243 miles, they would charge $1 7-2 cents, taking as a basis for calculation the rates on American roads to Duluth from points in the American wheat fields corresponding in distance, as compared with 26 cents, the actual rate on the Canadian lines. From Winnipeg to Fort William, 420 miles, the rate would be 20 cents, instead of 14 cents; from Lethbridge, 46 cents, instead of 26 cents, and in corresponding proportion right down the list, the comparison is immeasurably favorably to the Canadian services.

LOCARNO

The Locarno treaty has been signed in London. The significance of that fact will become more apparent with the passage of time; but the sentiment of the entire world over the accomplishment of this progressive step is that of profound relief and gratitude. The act of the King in conferring an immediate honor upon the author of the pact, Sir Austen Chamberlain, and at the same time decorating his wife with the Grand Cross of the British Empire, is a fitting recognition of the British statesman's great services to humanity and a tactful tribute to the part which woman has played in the evolution of the new and better mentality. At the impressive ceremony at the foreign office, too, the French premier, M. Briand, struck the same note. He chose, from among the flood of congratulatory messages received from all parts of the world over the signing of the treaty, the simple letter of a "woman of the people", a French mother who wrote to express her thankfulness that she was at last able to love her children with some feeling of security. That little heartfelt burst of gratitude sums up to feeling, not only of the mothers, but of the whole body of the people, in France, in Britain and her dominions, in Italy, in Germany and all European states, as well as on this continent. It is the sincere sentiment of the entire human race. Something definite has been achieved; the universal yearning for peace has been translated into action. It is felt to be a beginning, and a very promising beginning, of a new epoch in the history of mankind.

The rate of progress and the lengths to which these new aspirations will carry the world depend upon the people. The diplomats have done their part and done it well. It is not enough that the nations applaud, although applause is certainly in order. To make the promises which have been entered into valid there must be faithful co-operation on the part of the public. The "will to peace" is strong at this moment; it must be kept strong, by efforts in the schools, in the churches, through special organizations, through constant advocacy of every kind. Locarno proves what can be done by obedience to the principles underlying the League of Nations. The scoffers have been put to route. One remembers Greece and Bulgaria and now this permanent pact of peace between former enemies and rivals. These developments give the lie to those who affirm that it can't be done. It is not only can be, but is being done. The darkest ideals are, in fact, no longer ideals, but sober realities. Sir George Foster, president of the League of Nations society in Canada, recently declared that the league was the outstanding fact of human history, the logical development of centuries of sentiment. There are still some who refuse to believe it; one can only pity them in their blindness.

ABUSE OF FREE SPEECH

The British Labor party made its promised onslaught upon the Baldwin government in connection with the prosecution of the twelve Communists. Ramsay MacDonald introduced his resolution condemning the government; it was supported by himself and several other speakers, but the house rejected it by a vote of 351 to 127. The resolution declared that "the action of the government in instituting prosecution against certain members of the Communist party is in violation of traditional British rights of freedom of speech and publication of opinion."

For the conviction and punishment of the Communists the government cannot, of course, be held to blame. That was the work of the jury and the judge who tried them. What the government is blamed for is that it prosecuted the Communists. But as it turned out, the defendants were convicted of a serious offence; it was established by evidence that they had violated the law. else they would not have been convicted. Therefore the government is blamed for having brought certain lawbreakers to justice—for having enforced the law. It seems hardly fair or reasonable.

It cannot be shown that the "traditional British rights of freedom of speech" were violated by the prosecution, conviction or punishment of these offenders. Their offence was not in expressing opinions hostile to the present social and political order, nor in urging opposition to the government, not even in advocating the establishing of a new system of government. It was in advocating the use of force to bring about the changes which they desired—in inciting to violence.

It is a principle of law that inciting to crime is in itself a criminal act. The use of violence is a crime; therefore incitement to violence is a criminal offence. That is what the Communists were convicted of and punished for. If they had been content merely to express opinions and urge their hearers and readers to use constitutional means to obtain the revolutionary ends which they seek, they would never have been prosecuted. They were guilty of a criminal abuse of free speech. To confound freedom of speech with the abuse of it is as dangerous as it is fallacious.

R. L. S. REDIVIVUS

An author of my acquaintance, who is just back from Scotland, said that when he was standing in the streets of Dumfries an unkempt figure called him by name, and then said "Robert Louis Stevenson."

"I stared into his face," said my friend. "He was a replica, almost, of the great author.

"Are you not his son?" asked the author.

"Yes," he replied.

"Where did you sleep last night?"

"On the road, on the way from Edinburgh.

"What do you do?"

"I write a little."

Thus there came back, dramatically, something out of the past, something belonging to Stevenson's early life.—Sunday Express.

THE NEW IRISH TOURIST

A hotelkeeper in one of the well-known tourist districts of the Emerald Isle was commenting to a friend upon the new conditions there.

"Oh, yes," he said, "we're getting many visitors again, but they are not what they were!"

"In what way?" asked the friend. "Well, ye see," was the reply, "they're the sort that when ye take them hot water to a few rooms at night they look a ye and say 'What's that for?' "—Morning Post.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric Or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up; is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, F. B. Johnson, 246 Craig St., W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also so ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Leola Dale's Fortune

By Charles Garvice

"Nonsense, my dear madam!" said Mr. Ford, but very casually.

"I am sure of it!" said Mrs. Wetherell. "I seem to be living in an atmosphere of mystery and danger. Why are you two shut up—locked in—here? and why does Leola pine and fret as she does? Is she ob; happy, Mr. Dyer?"

"What can I say?" retorted Philip Dyer, almost savagely. "I will go and find her," and he went toward the door; but before he could reach it it was opened from the outside, and Cyril King sky stepped into the room.

His appearance was so unexpected that Mr. Ford and Mrs. Wetherell stared at exclamations of surprise.

But Philip stepped back without a word, and Cyril, entering, was followed by the stranger who had appeared at the dam.

At sight of him Mr. Ford sprang to his feet.

"Mr. Sturge!" he cried.

At sight of him Mr. Ford sprang to his hand.

"How do you do, Mr. Ford?" he said.

Mr. Ford took his hand and stood looking at, looking wonderingly from him to Cyril, who had quickly gone over to Mrs. Wetherell and placed his hand upon her shoulder, as if to calm and reassure her.

Suddenly there came a knock at the library door. Both men started, like disturbed conspirators. Mr. Ford opened the door and admitted Mrs. Wetherell. If she had been anxious and distressed before, she looked now almost wild with apprehension.

"Oh, Mr. Ford," she exclaimed, "Leola is not in the Abbey!"

Philip Dyre started.

"Not in the Abbey?"

"No," said Mrs. Wetherell, anxiously. "I went up to her room a little while since, and found that she was not there. I have been all over the place and cannot find her,and now Mary tells me that Leola's hat and jacket are missing from the hatstand."

"Leola cannot have left the place with out someone seeing her!" he said impatiently.

"But she has!" said Mrs. Wetherell "and it makes me very uneasy. I wish you would go out and find her, Mr. Dyre, and tell her that I think she ought not to be out. There is a storm coming on," a nd indeed as she spoke, the rain came down in torrents.

Philip Dyre moved toward the door.

"I will go at once," said he. "How long is it since she left the house?"

"I cannot tell," said Mrs. Wetherell; "Mary did not know that her mistress had gone. All this mystery," added the poor old lady, "frightens me. I am sure something dreadful is going to hap pen!"

"You are surprised to see me," said Mr. Sturge, the stranger, "I am Mr. Cyril's legal adviser, and accompany him."

"Oh, indeed," said Mr. Ford, sinking into his chair again. "Yes, I remember —"

"And by what right and by whose permission," broke in the cold, clear voice of Philip Dyre, "does Cyril Kingsley, or yourself intrude at present, Abbey?"

Mr. Sturge smiled and bowed.

"Mr. Dyre, I presume?"

"That is my name, sir," said Philip Dyre, with suppressed anger.

"I have heard of you, Mr. Dyre," said Mr. Sturge, "but I am afraid you do not know me. I am the senior partner of the firm of Sturge and Sturge, Lincoln's Inn.

Philip Dyre bit his lip.

"That fact does not interest me, sir," your intrusion does, sir. What may be your business?"

"At present," said Mr. Sturge, with a smile, "I am the guest of Miss Dale."

FLAPPER MADE HER ESCAPE

Winnipeg, December 4.—Leaping from a window on the third floor of the home of the Good Shepherd, Ida Herbert, 17-year-old bobbed haired flapper, made good her escape. The home is maintained for wayward girls.

Half the world is half starving!

Check that statement if you will. It is terrible to feel all dragged out—to live from meal to meal, day to day, in the grip of constipation—the greatest cause of weariness. Yet thousands do. Millions suffer constipation in destroying habit-forming drugs. Instead, try Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Nothing else like it. Results follow from this cheapest, surest, most delightful way to get the bulk you need.

"Nothing seemed to interest her"

By the end of the second act she wished she were home in bed. She was tired—always tired. That fact showed in her face. And "she" may be multiplied by tens of thousands of women in America. For it was the world's most universal disease that was sapping her strength and killing her interest. . . . . It is good to know that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has brought permanent relief to thousands of sufferers from constipation.

When ALL-BRAN travels through the system, its fiber remains unchanged. Therefore, it can sweep the intestine clean. It can absorb and carry moisture through the intestinal tract and stimulate it to natural, healthy action. ALL-BRAN is what doctors call a bulk food.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is delightful with milk or cream, sprinkled over other cereals; cooked with hot cereals; in soups, or made into the many recipes given on every package. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or the grocer returns the purchase price. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal.

Be sure to get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Only ALL-BRAN brings sure results. You can see that a part-bran product can, at best, be but partially effective.

Kellogg's is the original and only ALL-BRAN. It is the bran which doctors recommend. Accept no other if you would be sure. All grocers sell it. Leading hotels and restaurants serve it. Buy a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN today.

MAROONS BEAT CANADIENS 3-2

Six Thousand Fans Out on Stormy Night to Wach Battle

Montreal, Dec. 4.—Montreal Maroons defeated Canadiens here Thursday night in an N.H.L. game by 3-2 score, in the resumption of the intra-city struggles which provided such an attraction to hockey fans last season. Distinctively weather kept the crowd down to 6,000.

Canadiens started their regular team team with the exception of Georges Vezina, who is ill. Alphonse Lacoste, substitute goalkeeper was between the posts for the league champions.

Montreal were at their full strength and ready to wipe out the deficit they face in the city chains due to three defeats in the Aacia last season.

Playing on their home ice the Canadiens were conceded an advantage as Montre'l was handicapped by the small ice surface.

Cooper Smeaton was in charge of the game, assisted by Donald Smith, former professional hockey star, who was making his debut as an arbiter in the professional league.

TUBMAN READY FOR SATURDAY

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—Owing to the slippery condition of the playing field, the Ottawa rugby team went through their signals formations and signals in Howick Hall, one of the exhibition buildings at Lansdowne Park. The men were hustled through nearly two hours' practice on the tan bark ring and benefitted by the indoor work.

It was announced by Dr. Andy Davies, club physician, last night that Joe Tubman, Senators' kicking ace, will be in uniform and ready to play on Saturday. The star half liner has been down with an attack of grippe, but is coming along nicely and will be in the starting line-up. Charlie Connell's infected foot was well enough for him to walk on and he was back at practice. If there is any chance at all Connell will be in the game.

The Winnipegers are on their way East and the local team is fit for the championship on Saturday. The men are in good condition and nothing can be done now but the final drill that should set them right on edge for the battle.

Hysterical Audience Liked "The Freshman"

Harold Lloyd as Boob Who's Joke of College Mingles Tears With Laughs

Harold Lloyd, the arch conspirator against sensitive spines and ticklish ribs, presents his highest contribution to the art of screen fun in "The Freshman," which is being shown at the Griffins Theatre (to delighted thousands nightly.

A story of college life, with him but the 'motivating factor, "The Freshman" is probably the funniest thing Lloyd has done, which goes for "Grandma's Boy", "Safety Last", "Girl Shy" and "Hot Water". Certainly it is his biggest production.

"The Freshman" is hilarious comedy, at times throwing the audience into hysterics with laughter, and every now and again causing them to wipe away an unexpected tear or two sprung from a fount of sympathy. The story is that of a freshman seeking the laurels of popularity and athleticism, and taking his tips on college life from catalogues and motion pictures. He is made the college joke, but, nevertheless his misguided youngster has real pluck and spirit." Although the butt of many a joke Peggy his landady's daughter, remains constant. Eventually he learns the truth regarding his status in collegiate circles, but when he takes Peggy's sound advice to be himself and stops imitating others, he achieves his ideal.

STIRLING READY FOR FAST HOCKEY

Has O.H.A.-Size Rink and Lots of Promising Opposition

Stirling, (By Mail)—Hockey is now in the limelight in this district. On Monday night one of the most enthusiastic meetings ever held in Stirling in the interests of sports, was held in the agricultural office, when over thirty hockey enthusiasts assembled and re-organized the hockey club, with the following officers: Hon. Presidents—Dr. Ponton, M.P., P. R. J. Cook, M.P.P., W. E. Tummon, M.P.

President—H. W. Mallejohn.

1st Vice-Pres.—Hugh Morton.

2nd Vice-Pres.—C. R. Bastedo.

3rd Vice-Pres.—W. Anderson.

Sec.-Treas.—Earl Lasery.

Managing Com.—W. J. Whitty, J. Ackers, H. Tulloch, J. Lagrow, A. E. Dobbie.

The treasurer's report showed a surplus of $21.73 from hockey receipts of past years, to start the season.

After considerable discussion it was unanimously decided that there was sufficient material available to place a team of senior calibre on the ice. W. J. Whitty and Earl Lasery were appointed to make an investigation as to the intentions of outside clubs, in this sphere of sport, that are within reasonable transportation distance. An endeavor will be made to form a group consisting of Marmora, Madoc Tweed and Stirling. If this group is organized, and in all probability it will be, fast hockey will be witnessed here this coming winter. With the new covered rink, which is O.H.A. regulation size, one of the best hockey arenas in the province is available. It is to be hoped the citizens will support the game by attending every contest. It gives encouragement to players when they are assured of strong support.

To outfit a hockey team or any team in sports, means a big expense before any returns are realized. In order to meet this expense the club had a dance in the Town Hall on Wednesday night, Dec. 2. The following committees were in charge:

Entertainment and Lunch Com.—W. Wright, E. Eggleton, P. Maguire E. Sandercook, H. Buckingham.

Invitation Com.—E. Lasery, W. J. Whitty, R. Coulter.

Representatives from the H. S. team were present and asked assistance from the club. It was felt, however, that the club was not in a position to give financial help but would permit the students to use the rink.

BOSTON BRUINS TOOK WHIPPING

Ottawa, at Home, Were Trifle Too Strong on The Defense

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—Ottawa Senators blanked the badly weakened Boston Bruins here Thursday night 5-0 in the first appearance of the Bruins in the capital this season.

Sprague Cleghorn, is out for two weeks. Gerun has a broken nose and Bill Stewart a bad ankle. Consequently Art Ross was obliged to do some changing around, Mitchell went back on the defence with Hitchman and Brackenborough went to centre. Ed Gorman started out at left wing for Ottawas instead of Dennery who has a bruised foot.

Cashin, forecomer of whom Art Ross predicts a great future showed hard skating form in practice. The club was also strengthened by reference Mike Rodden called the teams together. Bobby Hewitson, a newcomer to pro hockey was judge of play. About 1,000 were in attendance.

advancement. Belleville was "round ing the corner" and must carry on her work of achievement. "If doubt exist about the by-laws on which you vote," he said, "be cautious before taking a retroactive step." He submitted his record before the electors.

J. C. St. Gorman felt he could be of service to the city of his birth. See a Bigger and Better Belleville. Mayor Ethel, he believed, had been one of Belleville's greatest boosters. He promised his utmost application and painstaking attention if elected, and mentioned a probable gas and water amalgamation at a reduced cost of from $1,000 to $1,500 per annum.

M. J. Duff had responded to a call sent out for younger men in civic affairs. He is a C.N.R. official, has lived here 13 years, has had 7 years' experience in corporation work, will urge for more parks and playgrounds for children in the city, will go the best to abide by the work of the council and work with economy if elected.

David Harrison, veteran recruit is also a railway man, known as "Dave" to any C.N.R. man but as Mr. Harrison to the most of people down here. He said that he was a poor writing man after he had left here 40 years, was in the fight because he had been asked to get into it, and was out for economy and no extravagance. He opposed the location which now has the city within $-10ths of a mill of bankruptcy.

Arthur H. MacConnell believed it was a young man's duty to take an interest in the city's welfare. He was a tax payer and property owner and would help make Belleville a real city. Indications that stay are the plod "Mac" will be after, which will supply work for Belleville workers.

R. D. Macaulay will support all progressive legislation, he promised, would favor an attempt to reduce the fire insurance rates, meet a reasonable demand of the Parks Board which has done so much wonderful work, and assist the school board in any way towards the erection of the new collegiate.

Dr. A. D. Procter decried the lack of civic spirit last election. Now a large number of candidates were having a real thrill out of the race. Dr. Procter will do what he can to help along any good work in the interest of the city.

IS A CANADIAN

W. E. Rowsome stated that he came out because he felt it was his duty to offer his services to the city. "My great grandparents came to Canada from Ireland and settled at Brockville. I am a Canadian and that statement may set at rest any rumors which may have been circulating to my detriment. I have been here 14 years in the manufacturing game, have helped to bring many industries here and am proof of the Alemite Company with which I am associated. Since Alemite started, it has paid $125,000 in wages to Belleville workmen. As an answer to Mr. Cherry's "Why does Belleville not progress?" Mr. Rowsome said the reason was because, "work men only brought here; not from Eaton's catalogue. Elect the best men," he concluded.

Granville Sinclair felt there was a fine selection of candidates, labor, railway, law, medicine and business being represented. There should be a fair council selected. He urged a big vote so that a display of interest and support might encourage the people.

Glen Thompson said there was a fine crowd of men from which to choose. Taxes were too high and economy was his only platform.

C. O. Tye reminded that I'll would be "left home", but he was taking his chances. He would be doubly honored if elected rather than a repetition of last year's acclamation. "Tried to nobody, progress with economy, and every support to the Parks Board and the new collegiate" were planks in Mr. Tye's platform.

C. E. Wilmot was educated here and lived here many years. His business has been successful in the city of opportunities for young men. "Pull together, foster baby industries, patronize home merchants, employ local labor and further the interests of Belleville," were his aims if elected.

Charles Hyde had consented to stand at the urgent request of several citizens. A Belleville boy with a good business record of years, he would promote the welfare of the city—not be master but humble servant.

HEAR ALD. GRAHAM

Ald. Graham told of taxes being slightly reduced last year here. Of course fixed expenditures must be taken care of. The city was in excellent financial condition he said. Belleville bonds selling as well as the bonds of any city in the province. The city was not, as some bankruptcy as one speaker had stated, but an endeavour should be made to keep below that 25 mill rate which is set by the government as a limit. The progress of the city had been hindered, he'd thought, carelessness in the past, good industries had been "passed up" by indifference when they were believed to be too small. McLaughlin carriage plant was an example. Mr. McLaughlin first came to Belleville but his reception with his—at that time—baby industry was so indifferent, that he located at Oshawa. Any one knew the result. From Belleville was made a city, until 1911, the population was stationary or else went back. Then it commenced to move faster and is now on the move.

THAT GAS BY-LAW

Explaining the gas by-law, Ald. Graham pointed out that Mr. Yates was the agent for an English company but that did not mean that that company would put up the money. Yates and his colleagues had plants in Canada for an English company. He had the Canadian agency and had negotiated with many Canadian cities. The Belleville plant was to be a model plant on the success of whose operation, Yates was to sell other similar plants in Canada. Yates has formed the Dominion Fuel Co. and will sell stock in this gas company if it is taken over. In that way it is a promotion, but Belleville has nothing to lose as Belleville takes no stock. If the proposition falls down, after they take the plant over, Belleville takes the plant back. It is merely leased to the English company for that period.

FAVORS NINE MEN

Speaking of the other by-law of nine men council, Ald. Graham stated that it should receive the most careful and serious consideration, and should be put through. It would improve the working of the council tremendously and would allow for continuity of action in the council. Without this system it was impossible to best plan the future of the city—the largest business interest we have. Better work always results from a smaller organization. If it carried, it would be necessary to have an act passed in the House. In the case of eventualities, the next man in the list would succeed the man who was retiring or who had been removed by death. The high three men would stay in three years, next three, two years, last three one year.

NOT AUTOCRATIC

"This would not mean an autocratic council," explained Ald. Graham. "The mayor would be chosen annually and through him the electors could dictate to the council. Even each year three aldermen would be added and they could tell the old council what was wanted by electors. In this manner the fire insurance could be lowered. We are entitled to a reduction and we should have it. Hydro rates, though service is good in Belleville are excessive. Belleville assisting to cover up the deficit of the Peterboro street railway."

Speaking of industries, Ald. Graham said we did not want industries which must be bonused, but by giving their representatives a good reception and showing a progressive nature, get them in and make Belleville the leading city of eastern Ontario.

NOTHING TO LOSE

Mayor Mikel then explained that the English company must first pay $48,000 for the Belleville gas plant and make all stated repairs before they get it handed over to them." We have all the security," said the Mayor, answering a query that had been in the press. "If people would read the by-law carefully all those statements are in it," he said.

MR. GREENLEAF

Ex-Ald. Harry Greenleaf was pleased with the optimism in Belleville, and citizens were justified in showing that spirit. He said Ald. Graham had covered the ground well, and stated that next year's progress, so far as he was concerned, would follow the efforts of the Parks Board, and urged citizens to put on a campaign to have residents of other cities, towns and villages in the district, visit Belleville next summer, and spend their vacations here. This would help merchants and advertise the city. He objected to the 2% addition to tax bills not paid promptly, and if they had been left as they were, he felt that the points would have been sufficiently covered. A certain small discount should be allowed for pre-payment of taxes.

"If Mr. Graham is elected," he said, "I will follow him and the council, and in every way do all that I can to assist them."

THE PRESENT COUNCIL

Ald. C. E. Foster, chairman of gas, in his remarks said that the two foremost matters to be considered at the municipal election were the gas by-law and the by-law relative to reducing the number of Aldermen to 9. The Council carefully considered the gas question as it was an easy task. The proposition he considered was almost too good for the city. If the city undertook to improve the plant it would require at least $75,000 for a booster and the putting in of some new mains and other necessary improvements. The present indebtedness of the plant is about $40,000. He urged upon the electors to vote for the agreement which was in the city's interest.

Ald. Gowdy asked the support of the electors for his re-election as Alderman for 1926. While in the council this year he had done what he considered was in the interest of the city.

Ald. W. W. Parrish's platform was progress with economy. He had no chairmanship this year but had used his best judgment for the best interests of the city and asked the electors to re-elect him to next year's council.

Ald. W. R. Patterson stated that he had for four years been serving the citizens on the City Council and had done what he could to promote the city's interest and would still do this if re-elected.

Ald. C. W. Deyo claimed some credit in securing the two buses which are operating in the city which were much appreciated and of great benefit to citizens. He had been able to secure employment for some who were unemployed. Labor conditions were slightly improved with a prospect of further improvement. He asked for support in the approaching election.

Ald. K. Rutter spoke briefly stating that he had, while in the council, did what he considered was his duty toward the city and that would be his policy if re-elected.

Ald. S. Steverton referred to the fact that he had been for 7 years a member of the council, and had been chairman of the Fire, Public Works and Market and City Property Committee. He had been so careful as he could in the expenditure of the city money as interested citizens meant an increase payment on all citizens including the speaker. He wish ed all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Ald. Phil Harrison made a plea that the council this year be had done what he could to promote the city's interests, and votes he had given, were with an idea of helping the city. He had performed his duties in a conscientious manner and if re-elected would do all in his power to help Belleville. He was in favor of a reduction of taxes if at all possible with efficiency. He was a candidate for re-election and would submit the votes of the electors to decide how the city's interests.

WOULD GIVE HIS TIME

F. R. Watson, a candidate said he was perfectly willing to give a portion of his time to the city's interests and would submit the votes of the electors to place him in the council.

The scrutineers' speech making and just as the audience was receiving Mr. C. A. Reid asked a question in relation to the gas plant agreement and asking whether he subscribe stock for a plant we already own.

Mayor Mikel in reply stated that no citizen need to subscribe stock if he was asked to do so.

WOMAN AGED 75 SEEN ON TRACKS SAVED BY POLICE

Authorities Notified By Residents Who Noticed Her Wandering

City Police received two or three calls from those who feared for the safety of an old lady who they saw wandering on the C.N.R. tracks. P. C. Evans and Provincial police driver T. Hitchcock drove out to the Cemetery Crossing, and walked towards the city on the tracks. They met the woman and another woman who after telephoning the police, had followed the strange woman up the tracks. Police took the woman to police station and after an hour's enquiry her identity was disclosed. She was a Mrs. Anderson, who moved here from Toronto a few weeks ago. She lived on South Church street with a son who came and took her home. She is aged 75. She was bareheaded and wore scanty clothing.

SIR H. DRAYTON CHIEF SPEAKER AT MAYBEE FETE

At Campbellford Dinner Preceeded Speeches And Dancing

Campbellford, Dec. 5.—(Special).—One of the most brilliant and successful conservative meetings of the year in this section was held last night when the reception to Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Maybee, M.P., was staged in this city by high lights of the Party for miles around.

The guests included Sir Henry Drayton, Major the Rev. J. P. Bellord, M.P.P., Mr. Fred Bowen, member of Parliament, W. H. Ireland, M.P.P., Earnest Tunmon, B.P., for South Hastings, and Mr. Thomas Jarrett of Trenton.

Major Bellord was in the chair. The banquet was served at the hotel, and was attended as the last word in completeness and excellence.

The decorations were colored chrysanthemums which were in lavish abundance. After the banquet which began at 7 p.m. the meeting adjourned to the Auditorium of the High School where the speeches were delivered.

The first speech came from Mrs. Bellord who responded to the presentation of a huge bunch of "roses" loomed together with tulle. She gratefully acknowledged the gift and made a charming reply.

Mr. Bowen in speaking made reference to the fact that for four years he had been the desk mate of Mr. Maybee at Ottawa.

Sir Henry Drayton delivered an inspiring address on the subject of the Independence of Canada in which he advocated the seed of a high tariff with the development of home industries.

Fred Hale, Boy Member of Parliament for this district was heard briefly and appealed. There were also speeches from Mr. Maybee, Mr. Ireland, and Mr. Tunmon.

At 10 o'clock the dancing was begun which was protracted until early this morning.

CANADA'S WHISKEY MOSTLY TO STATES

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 5. (By Canadian Press).—Canada's exports of Canadian distilled liquors to the United States have increased enormously in statistics available here. A glance at the figures covering exports of Canadian whiskey, gin and "other portable spirits" shows a notable increase in the quantity and value of those liquids which cross the international boundary line. Statistics for the calendar year now drawing to a close are not available, so comparison is made between figures for 1924 published recently and those for 1923.

ANCIENT GREEK CITY OF KYME BEING DUG UP

Czecho-Slovak Expedition Making Valuable Finds In Asia Minor

OF HISTORIC VALUE

Settlement on Asia Minor Coast Dates Back Several Centuries B.C.

Prague, Dec. 5.—A Czecho-Slovak archaeological expedition has been entrusted from the west coast of Asia Minor where it excavated the ancient Greek City of "Kyme". Doctor Alois Salac, of Charles' University, Prague, who led the expedition, has made an interesting report to the Czecho-Slovak archaeological institute on his discoveries.

In the Acropolis of Kyme the expedition mounted a house filled with beautiful ceramics and earthen vessels, richly painted and ornamented, and relief figures. Doctor Salac believes the house originally belonged to a potter and dates from the second century, B.C. In the neighborhood of the edifice an Ionian temple was found, of the third century, B.C., although later rebuilt. The temple originally was dedicated to the Goddess Cybele and subsequently transformed for worship of Isis and Osiris. The structure has a stately entrance hall, which has been rebuilt completely bare.

A separate chamber in the temple has the characteristic niche to be the place where the Osiris mysteries were held. It contained valuable statues and sculptured reliefs of great interest to archaeology and art. For instance, among the principal finds in a marble female head once forming part of a statue of Aphrodite, of the fourth century, B.C.—a marble torso of a child and Egyptian statuettes composed of green stones which bear hieroglyphic inscriptions on the bases, a marble relief of a woman with mystical characters closely connected with the Isis cult, a few reliefs, fragments of sandstone reliefs representing fighting scenes, a prayer written on a marble slab dating from the second century, B.C.

Close to the temple was a tall structure containing a water system from which water flowed in all directions through earthen pipes.

SAVAGE DEATH FOUND ACCIDENT

Coroner's Jury Gives Finding on Fatality at Plant At Corbyville

Purely accidental, was the substance of the verdict returned by Coroner W. W. Boyce's jury at police court room Friday last night in the case of the fatal violence of three witnesses who died light on the electric current which left the late Edward Savage, employee of the Consolidated Distilleries at Corbyville, who died in General Hospital Wednesday morning last.

Savage, it appears from the evidence, was engaged cleaning the combustion chambers at the plant, one of which must be performed weekly. Hot soot and ashes which fell over his head and shoulders burns resulted in death. Evidence adduced, was to the effect that George Lucock a "hot spot" in the pile of soot, which is the term applied to a red hot spot in a pile of soot which is water cooled for safety's sake.

In his excitement, they have raised the shovelful of soot, the staff sliding off the shovel and striking the wire.

Evidence was given by Mr. John Lill, mechanical superintendent; Emmerson Frederick who was both Savage and Frederick Abbott, stationary engineer. Crown Attorney Donnan examined witnesses.

Performance Opened Smartly With Selection By Co-Ed Orchestra

SCENES FOLLOW FAST

Costumes, Music, Short Plays All Of The Highest Order

That there is plenty of talent of every kind in the Belleville High School was more than evidenced at the second annual "revue" put on by pupils in the City Hall on Friday evening, and the capacity house which attended the show was more than enthusiastic in its applause.

Mr. Mac Parrell, president of the Literary Society of the school occupied the chair and in a very suitable way introduced Miss Louise Wallbridge, president of the Girls' Athletic Club who gave a brief summary of the activities of the association and their plans for the future.

THE REVUE

The revue itself opened with a jazz orchestra in which the young ladies like their theirs, were attired in smart costumes of white ducks and navy coats. Their music was snappy, and encores were vivaciously met by the ladies introduced into the number were sew and good. Even the down at the back High School building came in for its share of derision.

"On a Raft" was a clever little sketch in which Jack Robertson as a young man adrift on a raft, rescues Miss Carol McArthur from the briny deep and finds ultimately that she intended to be rescued by him.

This was followed by "A Night in Venice" in which the principals, Ida Folwell, a Venetian girl, Leslie Pyarrall, her husband, Alice McIntosh, an American and Mr. Jim Lafferty as a Yankee were excellent and supported by some splendid choruses.

In the "Old Fashioned Dance" which all the girls were beautifully attired as ladies of the eighteenth century, hoop skirts, powdered wigs and all, was a charming number and the young ladies taking part displayed unusual talent and grace. In this Miss Sheila Taylor and Miss Alice McIntosh took the solo dance and were supported by Misses Helen Cronkite, Levine Sorazoe, Lorna Ridley, Ida Folwell, Gladys Perry and Margery Calnan.

At the conclusion of this number a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums was presented to Miss Gertrude Hall who took a keen interest in the entire production, trained the girls for the various numbers and assisted in rehearsing for other numbers. In thanking the girls, Miss Mikel very generously disclaimed the credit attributing the success largely to Mr. Wm. Conners' ability at the piano.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

It gave me great pleasure to read the official statement of the School Board at their regular meeting last evening. I might say it was my pleasure, and also an honor for me to be Chairman of the High School for three years succeeding our most highly and esteemed member of the Board, in the person of Mr. D. V. Sinclair and I might say that in all those three years I never heard of any unkindness expressed at any of the High School entertainments. I had the pleasure to attend several and I was surprised when the committee was vivacious and the jokes introduced into the number were sew and good. Even the down at the back High School building came in for its share of derision.

U.S. AND RUSSIA TO BE INVITED TO CONFERENCE

Will Be Created to Prepare Meeting—Useless Without Co-operation

Geneva, Dec. 5.—Both the United States and Russia will be invited to participate in the preparatory work for the proposed conference to bring about world disarmament if the council of the League of Nations approves measures agreed upon today by the council No. 2 especially appointed by the League to treat with disarmament problems.

Although no official announcement concerning the decision was made, the press was informed that the members of the disarmament council agreed that no international conference to reduce armament burdens could hope to succeed without the collaboration of both the United States and Russia.

Discussing the decisions, M. Boncour, of France, as president of the council, said that every effort must be supported by the main council of the League.

ST. ANDREW'S SEES 43 MORE JOIN

Rev. Mr. Stewart Calls Attention to Section Of Act of Union

At the preparatory service held last evening in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, at which there was a large representation of the congregation present, a large number joined the Church. At the morning service 11 new members were received, and at the half evening service 24 members joined while at last evening service 43 more became members.

Rev. R. C. Stewart, minister of the church, took occasion to call the attention of his hearers to the act incorporating the United Church of Canada, section 4 sub section of which was as follows:

"Any member of the negotiating churches may, within 6 months after the coming into force of this act notify the trustees of his intention of session, or recording steward of the Quarterly Official Board, or the secretary as the case may be, of the congregation of which he is a member, of his intention not to become a member of the United Church, and in such event he shall cease to be a member of such congregation and shall be deemed not to have become, by virtue of the said union, or of this act, a member of the United Church."

The minister, pointed out therefore that all those desiring to continue Presbyterians, and to keep their heads, the continuity of their membership of this historic church, would require to make their certificates before the 10th day of this month.

Mr. Stewart then gave an address on the questions which are asked candidates on their entry into the Presbyterian faith.

FOG AND SNOW HIDE ENGLAND

South Blanketed With Regular "Pea Souper" Traffic Tied Up

NORTH SNOW BOUND

Even Buxton of Mixed Memories is Covered By White

London, Dec. 5.—A regular "pea-soup-er" fog which settled over London in veiled lethal traffic congestion and many accidents.

Gertrude, Lady Deeies, widow of the famous Baron Decies and sister-in-law of Vivien, Lady Lesley, nee Gould, was badly injured in a collision involving four cars and her taxicab near the Crystal Palace. She was taken to a hospital with a bad wound in the face. Lady Decies is a daughter-in-law of the exhibitionist.

Many other collisions were reported between trains and buses, with a number of casualties. Fog caused considerable inconvenience to city workers as well as holding up traffic along the Thames to the estuary and forcing cancellation of all ferry services.

Further afield the fog was almost as dense, impeding railroad traffic, while reports from the Channel ports indicated that it was of record thickness there.

The weather has been softer this season than in the past 30 years.

Snow and frost in the northern sections of England are rarer than usual. Many farm dwellers in Yorkshire and Derbyshire have been prevented from reports from their homes and from their returning, and the markets in the small towns have been very poorly attended.

At Datfield Junction a train has been almost buried in the snow.

Buxton, which thousands of Canadian soldiers will remember with mixed feelings when they recall it in connection with their war experiences, has such a blanket of snow at the present time that tobogganing is especially popular on the sloping roads in the outskirts of the town.

HAPPY CONTINGENT GOING TO OLD LAND FOR CHRISTMAS DAY

Winnipeg, Dec. 5. — The first Christmas holiday special of the Canadian Pacific Railway bearing 300 happy faced westerners bound for the Old Country passed through here enroute to St. John where it will connect with the steamship Montrose sailing Saturday for Liverpool. It was one of the largest first holiday specials in the history of the road. They will arrive at Liverpool December 11th. The special as the second section of the Imperial Limited was composed of eight sleepers one each from Edmonton, Calgary, Moose Jaw, Kerrobert, Sask., and Shanovan, Sask., and two from Winnipeg. Western prosperity from the recent grain crop was written all over this happy contingent of holidayers many of them revisiting the Mother Country for the first time since they came here as settlers. They were outfitted with newly bought equipment from bagpipes to personal apparel. Many of the women travelled alone with, from one to five children, while their husbands remained back on the old homestead, while others are accompanied by their husbands and families.

It is evident that the number of votes recorded at the advance poll in the municipal election will not be large. It was opened on Thursday at Mr. Thos. IN POLICE COURT

Drunk on rhubarb wine which was offered him at a Church street home he visited during night before attending a dance, a local youth was fined $10 and costs of $14 in police court this morning. He was arrested on front street, south of the railway tracks. A Frankford man arrested Friday night in Frankford by Inspector Naphan was fined $20 and costs of $23.80. He is believed to be shedding bootleggers of the north, when he says that the drunk was procured by "sale" procured on a doctor's prescription for a cold.

CHARGE IS PERJURY

Clarence Delong, who was fined for being drunk today, was later charged with perjury. This charge was laid over for one week. He told a story about getting wine at a private home he visited. One of the members of the family was taken to the station and evidently as a result of the story told by him, the charge was laid against DeLong.

New Strength For Weak Stomachs

Indigestion Disappears When the Blood is Enriched.

The constant need of all who suffer from indigestion is a tonic to enrich the blood. Pain and distress after eating is the way the stomach shows that it is too weak to perform the work of digesting the food taken. In this condition some people foolishly resort to purgatives, but these only further aggravate the trouble.

New strength is given weak stomachs by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills because these pills enrich and purify the blood. This is the natural process of giving strength and tone to the stomach, and it accounts for the speedy relief in stomach disorders that follow the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The specific revives, food can be taken without discomfort and the burden and pains of indigestion are dispelled. The following statement from Mr. Ronald L. Latter, Lakelet, N. S., proves the value of these pills in cases of this kind. He says:—"A couple of years ago I had a bad attack of indigestion. I had little or no appetite, and what I did eat did not agree with me and caused me much pain. As a result of this trouble my general health broke down, and I finally had to give up my work. I had taken doctor's medicine but it did not give me any relief. Then a friend advised me to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and I got six boxes. Before I had completed the third box I found that they were helping me and by the time I had taken six boxes every symptom of indigestion had disappeared, my general health had improved and I have since been in the very best of health. I look upon Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a wonderful medicine for all who are run-down." 5-7

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

One of the best social evenings ever held in the city, is what some two hundred couples voted the dance given Friday night in Moose Auditorium by officials and office staff of the Consolidated Distilleries at Corbyville.

Everything about the event was easy, and every guest enjoyed himself or herself to the utmost. Officials of the company and members of the office staff were present from the opening of the dance to the end to see that each guest had the best time possible.

Those who were responsible for the successful function had spent much time and energy in producing the excellent decorative scheme which pleased the eye. Fancy variolored paper decorations adorned the walls, and from the ceiling and suspended from strings at the ceiling, tempting clusters of varicolored balloons. The stage at the orchestra stage was supplied with fine furniture and also not forgotten in the general decorative scheme. With that background, some two hundred couples in evening clothes and many of the season's smartest evening gowns swayed about the spacious auditorium when the first strains of music were heard at nine o'clock. It was a gay scene and a pretty one—youth and levity in a melange of color and life.

The music for dancing was supplied by Bodley's orchestra of Toronto, and there is not much doubt but that section will be used here this season again when a Toronto orchestra is desired. Bodley's band proved to be the most suitable and popular orchestras which ever played an engagement in Belleville. With six experienced musicians in the organization, music which was popularly voted, "just right" was dispensed throughout the evening. Selected numbers and the manner in which they were played was remarkably fine. The dance has already been voted all times, breaks and novelty choruses making no difference to this group of experts. It was almost impossible to get the dancers off the floor, and encore after encore was simply "demanded". In this respect too, the musicians were very kind. Everyone wishes to hear from Bodley's again soon.

The dance programme consisted of fox trots and waltzes with one social dance. For the most waltzes, the "encore" alone dimly through a reflector, bearing the painting of a wise old night owl. Two novelty dances and a ballroom dance also added to the fun. The first novelty was the supper waltz when clown chapeaux were issued to everyone, and added more color and gaiety. Then there was the "solo" dance when noisemakers of every conceivable nature were handed about promiscuously. The happy babble must have been heard at a distance for it was not confined in the auditorium where everyone had congregated for a gay evening. The balloon dance also created the usual fun and excitement.

Officials and members of the office staff served a most appreciated supper at midnight. After supper, Mr. Frank Munro, on behalf of those responsible for the event, thanked Mr. W. J. Hume, general manager at the Consolidated Distilleries for his generosity in paying for the orchestra from his own pocket, and making the event possible. Three rousing cheers and a tiger were given for him. The balance joined in, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow". Then three more cheers were given forth in. The balance of the expenses were defrayed by other officials and members of the office staff all of whom contributed.

Those responsible for the event are to be highly congratulated.

Economical Gifts

That Christmas is full of all kinds are to be found in the shops of Belleville but there are very accepting gifts to be found on the pantry shelves of the good housekeeper. How delighted your friends who live in a small apartment would be to receive a pot of real home-made jam or marmalade wrapped in tissue paper and tied with ribbon. Or a plum cake some date cookies or any of the dainties that can be made in a real kitchen but are difficult to make in a kitchenette. And from the country farmhouses may come the most acceptable gifts for city folks, gifts they would appreciate. Apples in a basket done up prettily with red paper or lined with evergreens, a chicken or even a turkey or goose all ready for the pan or a jar of mince-meat would be a present that would bring real happiness to the friend or relative both for itself and for the kind thought that prompted the gift.

Where You May Buy Stamps Do Not Crowd P. O. Wicket!

Postmaster Gillen has issued the following list of addresses at which stamps may be secured. It is especially desirable during the Holidays that citizens patronize the place nearest them. This saves time as there is a crowd at the stamp wicket at the Post Office during this season. The Post Master stresses the point that these are not Post Offices and are they even sub-post offices. They are merely addresses at which the correct number of stamps will be sold for any letter or parcel to any point desired. Proper tables for this computation have been furnished by the Post Master.

PONY EXPRESS DUE AT BELLE

Humor is an essential element in the making of a big dramatic picture, is the belief of James Cruse, producer of "The Covered Wagon" and other screen successes.

"Life isn't all serious, tense and tragic," he points out, "even in its most dramatic moments. If you are a realist, trying to portray in a picture life as it is, you must include numerous moments of humor and comedy and smiles as well as the trials, tragedies and hardships."

That Cruse practices what he preaches is clearly brought out in "The Pony Express," which he recently finished filming. Comedy relief is with drama. Humor balances pathos, and smiles are mingled with tears in the one and only Cruse manner. In fact the dramatic, emotional and humorous scenes are so closely and intelligently knit together that the audience is left to wonder from minute to minute whether it is laughing or crying.

"The Pony Express" is the first epic historic western Cruse has made since "The Covered Wagon." The story, laid against the vast panorama of the frontier West as it existed in 1860, is written around the exploits of the heroic pony express riders. Betty Compson, Ricardo Cortez, Ernest Torrence and Wallace Beery are the featured players.

At the Belle Theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Don't miss it.

"Let there be harmony in things essential—liberty in things not essential—Charity in all."

MONDAY'S VOTING

Hardly within a generation has Belleville had a more interesting or for that matter more important civic election. The straight fight for the Mayor's Chair as distinguished from last year when there were four in the race; the unprecedented number of gentlemen in the field for aldermanic honors; the obvious decision on the part of these public spirited men that there be no such lamentable affairs as acclamation again, and other reasons, make this election of Monday next one of unusual importance.

This display of interest on the part of these gentlemen calls for a corresponding display of interest on the part of the ratepayers and they should and most likely will respond in large numbers.

The heavy ballot will make for slowness in voting and that requires that people should if at all possible, go to the polls early and "get their voting done early."

Then as to the By-Laws.

There are possibly some arguments against the by-law respecting the election of nine aldermen. But these are more than counter balanced by the obvious advantages in the better men who will be chosen and it is an action that a smaller board will work more efficiently. Legislation will have to be obtained later if this by-law carries in order to bring it into force. Other progressive cities have found the smaller number of aldermen work very satisfactorily.

Then as to the Gas By-Law.

The agreement drawn up by members of council and agreed to by the company after a number of clauses they had wanted inserted were struck out, is something by which the city cannot lose. Even in the event of the company failing to carry out its agreement the city still will have the plant and very probably it will be then in a better shape than it is in at present. And the company must first take up the city's overdraft of approximately fifty thousand dollars as a guarantee of good faith before the affair goes forward at all. The statement has been made locally that the whole thing is a stock selling scheme. Certainly stock will have to be sold and some of it may be sold here. But Close Brothers, brokers of London, Eng., have agreed to take up to half the amount required if necessary, while the Company have agencies all over Canada and the project as a Canadian public utility will go on the market as a high class security. There will be a local board of directors, all but one man, who will be an English expert, so that if the thing goes flat it will be Belleville's fault.

The company quite obviously will have to make the thing go because they are depending on its success here to sell gas plants of a similar character to other Canadian and United States cities. Port Hope wants one it Belleville's plant is a success. The by-products will be coke for which there is an unlimited market and gasoline and other things.

The fact that there is already here the Tully Plant is the thing that brought the company here. Had the Tully plant been in Kingston for instance, the company would be trying to improve the Kingston gas situation, not Belleville's.

That's about the size of it.

The agreement is, so far as any one can see, water tight, so far as the city is concerned.

There is therefore no valid reason for voting against it.

VERY POOR ECONOMY

The action of the federal authorities in withdrawing financial assistance to returned men with less than a 75 per cent. pensionable disability has caused consternation to those suddenly cut off from benefit. What are they to do, with unemployment rife and living costs so high? The answer to this question has already been given in the increase in the number of applicants for civic relief. The order could not have come at a more inopportune time. There is here and there the specter of want grim enough at all times, is more than ever formidable at this season. Of all the avenues open for the practice of official economy—and there are very many of them—it would be hard to choose one which inflicts a greater measure of distress or its victims than this. The amount of money saved is small, but it means very much sometimes all, to the recipient.

The war has been over for seven years and it is natural for an overburdened country to seek for ways of relief, but in the process due regard must be paid to justice and to obligations of honor. It does not follow that, because a veteran's disability is not crippling, it can be ignored. There are many cases of men who had very slight physical defects before enlistment but who came back from their war experiences seriously handicapped in the employment market, even though the D.S.C.R. may not recognize the fact. It is difficult enough for physically fit men to make a living in these precarious times, the country should be preserved to those handicapped in any way by reason of their patriotic services. It is to be hoped that this order will be rescinded. It has nothing to recommend it, and is valueless as a measure of economy, for what the Dominion withholds, the municipalities will have to supply.

WORTHY OF HONOR

Six years have passed since Sir William Osler died at Oxford. In most cases, even members of the medical profession who were famous in their lifetime are all but forgotten before the lapse of six years. But the fame of Osler is even greater now than it was while he lived. He was so big a man and his field of achievement was so large that it has taken years to enable the world of science to view him in proper perspective. The consensus of opinion in the medical profession now is that he was the foremost physician of his age.

It is therefore fitting that medical men should start a movement to establish a memorial in honor of the man whose personality and life-work reflected so much credit on their profession. The Hamilton Medical Association has originated this movement, and expects co-operation from the whole profession not only in Canada, but also in the United States, where Osler did some of his best work.

Canada alone cannot claim him. It was in the United States that he attained his full stature as a medical scientist and it was in England that he did much of his most valuable and enduring work as an educator and author. In fact, he placed the whole world in his debt, and his name is revered in countries where but little is known of Canada.

THE INCOME TAX

Windsor is still pressing for the abolition of the municipal income tax, and many individuals, not only in the Border City, but generally throughout the Province, will be in hearty accord.

The situation in Windsor, of course, is a little peculiar, inasmuch as many of Windsor's citizens are employed in Detroit, and thus have to pay an income tax on both sides of the border on the same income.

Leaving that factor out of the situation, however, several sound objections to the municipal income tax still remains, and one of the most potent reasons for complaint is the haphazard way in which the levy is made with the result that in some municipalities the tax is not collected at all, while in others the last cent is insisted upon.

In some cases township authorities make no attempt to collect the municipal income tax at all, and people living in these townships at the outskirts of a city and enjoying most of the privileges of urban dwellers escape payment.

Again there is undoubtedly a feeling that it is impossible to apply the assessment equitably, no matter how conscientious may be the work of the municipal authorities, because there are many means of escape that are utilized by those wishing to evade the tax.

Where it is possible to secure a pay roll the man who works is one individual who never escapes. He has to pay, but others whose incomes may be larger find a way to dodge the levy.

SURE ENOUGH

Montreal Gazette:

She: "What do you think of the new type of car that can be converted for sleeping?"

He: "It's the bunk."

SCORED NEATLY

Montreal Gazette:

Edith Ellis, who dramatised Mr. Maugham's "The Moon and Sixpence", for a London production, has scored neatly off the critics who charged that the last two scenes were "an outrage on Maugham." She states that those two scenes were written by Mr. Maugham himself.

SURE ENOUGH!

A schoolmaster had explained to his pupils the functions of a British consulate and to find out whether or not they understood, he asked:—

"If someone carried you off in an aeroplane and after a long flight dropped you ten thousand of miles away in a foreign country, what place would you seek out first of all?"

An eager hand was uplifted.

"Please, sir, the hospital," came the unexpected answer.

BY THE WAY

He was an elderly son of the soil, and he had all the farmer's savage hatred of rates and taxes of every kind and description. To add insult to injury, a pesky little back-to-office of a collector recently called for taxes he had already paid, but for which he had mislaid the receipt.

"And would you believe it, Bill," he said, when relating the incident later to a friend, "the feller began to abuse me."

"Did he?" said Bill. "And what did you do?"

"Do? Well, I remonstrated with him."

"You did. To what effect?"

"I dunno, exactly, but the shovel got broke."

"I Wonder If It Would Help Me"

"NEARLY every place I go I hear someone talking about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. My Friends advise me to try it, and yet I never have.

"I wonder why.

"Perhaps it is because I have suffered so much from nervous trouble and found so little benefit from the use of medicine.

"But they tell me that the Nerve Food is different. They say that it is not a mere relief from pain, but a restorative treatment, which will build up the depleted nerve cells and make me well and strong again.

"Goodness knows I have suffered enough from headaches, sleeplessness, hysteria and dread of the future. I want to get away from all this.

"Why cannot I enjoy life like other people do? Perhaps I have not tried to get well. Perhaps I have been discouraged, and thought there was no use trying.

"Well, I am going to begin trying right now, and Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will have a thorough test in my case.

"The future has been all black to me. I have thought at times that I would lose my mind. Many of I have been suffering and worrying others have been restored to health, and I can now see my mistake.

"If Dr. Chase ever had a faithful patient, I shall be one, and believe that his Nerve Food will do for me what it has done for so many thousands of others."

CONNIE TALMADGE AS MADCAP DANCER

Star Here, Monday in New Comedy, "Her Sister From Paris"

The story has to do with the exploits of a young and charming—although too thoroughly domesticated—wife who entertains her husband into showing his love for her. To do it, she impersonates her own maiden sister from Paris, who has become famous as a dancer.

It was necessary to evolve for Constance a dancing which would not completely transform her that even her husband wouldn't know her, and at the same time retain enough of her real loveliness so that she looked like herself. Particular care was taken with her gowns, and dressmakers worked for weeks before Constance and Sidney Franklin, her director, were satisfied. In the early part of the story she appears as a meek little person in housedress and a hat then suddenly changes into himself look, brazen young dancer.

LLOYD'S RAH, RAH, WINS BIG HA, HA'S

Tears and Thrill, Give Extra Wallop to Clever Fun Abounding in "Freshman"

Rah—rah—rah, and more rahs! Harold Lloyd and "The Freshman" last night at Griffin's Theatre, had its audience limp with laughter. It's one of those comedies that airs all your emotions in public and you laugh and cry and shout and completely forget all dignity.

"The Freshman" combines the same sort of sympathetic characterization established by the comedian in "Grandma's Boy", but is even more poignantly appealing than that record-breaking comedy classic. Tears and sentiment should be classed as a comedy drama, rather than a straight comedy, for it has more than the usual quota of heart-throbs and human interest.

As a characterization, Lloyd's freshman is splendid stuff, and the story is not only compelling, but each player is imbued with the real college atmosphere and looks and acts like part with utter naturalness. Jobyna Harmon especially stands out as the football coach, according to a subtitle, as being "as handsome as a blow torch. As is usual with Lloyd's pictures, "The Freshman" is a great picture for the whole family. It will be shown here for the last time tonight.

TRADE MARK UPHELD IN UNITED STATES COURT

A recent decision of a United States Court on the subject of unfair competition in brands and packages is of timely interest to manufacturers and merchants whose trade is being filched away unfairly by the activities of certain members of the same business community seeking to trade on the reputation of others.

Federal Judge Dickinson sitting in the United States District Court of the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, has granted a permanent injunction against the Pennsylvania Soap Company prohibiting the Pennsylvania Soap Company from the manufacture, sale or advertising of a product wrapped in imitation of the universally known Palmolive Soap package. The Pennsylvania Soap Company product bore the name "Palm and Olive" and was

STRONG TEAMS IN VOLLEY LOOP

Great Interest Taken In Y.M.C.A. Gym Classes This Season

FIRST GAME TO-DAY

Basketball Proving As Popular as Ever—O.A.A. B. A. Fixtures

Almost every day brings new faces to the various Y.M.C.A. Gymnasium classes which are growing rapidly, particularly in the junior department and the two ladies' classes which to date have the largest enrollment. There are in all fifteen Gym Classes per week, besides special practices for basketball, basketball and various other features, giving an opportunity to nearly every member of the family for their "Weekly Dance" at least.

This afternoon will see the opening game of the Senior Volley Ball League when Albert College Y.M. Beal Prep. men, Seniors, and High School. The schedule will be completed for the first round early next week, and as many games as possible will be played before the holidays.

Basket ball is proving as popular as ever and present indications point to this Association being well represented by teams from both the girls' and the boys. Candidates for the Seniors Girls team are holding weekly practices and especially attention is being given to their play as they become acquainted with the changes of this year's rules and perfect team play. The championship will doubtless be heard of in basketball circles before the close of the season. The Juniors, during their first year in competition, it would seem that there is no scarcity of material with which to build up a "Regina Fighting Five." It is a very likely that the section of the O. A. B. A. will be called upon to complete their games with Bowmanville this year than in former years and in order to be prepared, regular team practice is insisted very soon.

SEE CLOSING ACT OF RUGBY SEASON

Ottawa Agog With Football Chatter On To-day's Fixture

CONDITIONS VERY BAD

Tammany Tigers of Winnipeg Had Workout Inside Building

Ottawa, Dec. 5.—Howick Hall at Lansdowne Park, resounded Friday afternoon to the call of foreign signals and the scuffle of strange feet as the Winnipeg Tammany Tigers raced through their signals and line formations on the big tan bark floor. This was the first workout of the western threat for the Dominion rugby crown before they take the field this afternoon against Ottawa Senators in the closing act of the Canadian senior rugby season.

Eighteen husky, clean-cut young stalwarts under the management of L. S. "Tole" Mitchell were included in the party of twenty-four from Winnipeg who booked at a local hotel. With the exception of Johnny Laing the boys are in great shape and confident that they can extend the Ottawas to their very best. Laing is ill with a cold, but is being counted on to be ready.

Manager Mitchell had little to say regarding his team's chances. The boys are all determined to give their best and are making no prophecies regarding the outcome. The dismal weather conditions are not worrying them as they state that most of their games this year were played in conditions that were nothing but favorable.

With seven victories in nine starts the Tigers must have the making of a good football team. They have fought their way to the right to represent the west. According to Manager Mitchell, this will be the first game for some time in which he will have his full strength available. For part of the western season he had to worry along with two halfbacks.

A signal practice concluded the Ottawa preparations. The local team is fit and ready and Coach McCann will start his strongest dozen against the prairie champions. Eleven subs will be in harness and he will have plenty of field from which to select his relief.

The probable line-ups as announced are as follows:

Winnipeg		Ottawa
Buckingham	P. Wing	Emerson
Warren	Halves	Tobman
Van Vliet	Halves	Mulrooney
Laing	Halves	Connell

Adelman	Snap	Bruce

ST. PATS SLOW TO GET GOING

Face New Yorks Tonight And Must Give Them Taste of Defeat

Toronto, Dec. 5.—St. Patricks will step on the ice tonight determined to redeem themselves in the eyes of the local fans for their poor showing to date by handing the highly-regarded New York team their first defeat of the season. New York has played but one game so far this season, when they defeated league leading Pittsburgh Pirates by 2 to 1 in the 1rst overtime game of the year. Since returning from Montreal on Tuesday night where the Maroons clahed qht to them their second defeat in as many starts, Boston having beaten them on the previous Saturday, the local team have been going through strenuous practices. As the St. Pats are notorious for their slow entrance into the winning column each year, local fans are hoping that, with two defeats goading them on, the local entry in the N.H.L. will upset the dope by winning to-night.

Recreation Bowling Results

Three league games were played at the Recreation alleys last night in the C.N.R. league. The B. & B. Dept. won from the Station by 178 pins, the winners taking the three games. High bowlers were Devey 568 and Locke 545.

In the Industrial league the W. & W. won from the Creameries by 20 pins, this game being close throughout, the first game the W. & W. were up 6 pins but lost 6 pins in the second, the W. & W. winning the last game by a few pins. Ross and York rolling the highest scores for their teams.

Playing four men aside in the Senior league, the Fruit Merchants won from the Hikers by 25 pins. The Hikers got a lead of 78 pins in the first game, and added another 54 in the second, but in the third game they fell by the wayside, dropping this game by 149 pins, the Barretts rolling the highest scores for their respective teams.

Mothers Who Have Used Baby's Own Tablets Always Strongly Recommend Them To Other Mothers

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she will use nothing else—actual experience teaches her that there is no other medicine to equal them for any of the minor ailments from which her baby or little ones suffer. Having found the value of the Tablets in her own home, she is always anxious that other mothers should share her knowledge. That is why Mrs. Creighton White, North Neel Road, N.S., writes the following:—"I have a baby seventeen months old and have given him nothing but Baby's Own Tablets ever since he was a week old. I know of no other medicine to equal them, and it is certainly a pleasure to recommend them to other mothers."

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative that regulates the stomach and bowels; banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and make the sickly baby well and happy again. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY
AT POINT ANNE

On Thursday, November 26th, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Hart celebrated the 25th anniversary of their wedding.

In the evening a reception was given at the Canada Cement Co.'s Club House in honour of the occasion.

The first hour passed pleasantly with progressive euchre, after which Mr. and Mrs. Hart were presented with a splendid cabinet of silver table ware, knives, forks, spoons, etc.

The following address was read by Mr. H. Scallan:

"To Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Hart.

Dear Friends—We, your friends, are assembled here for the purpose of presenting you our most hearty congratulations and good wishes on this, the 25th anniversary of your wedding.

We ask you to accept this small token of our esteem which we trust you will find useful as well as a remembrance of the good will of your many friends.

We hope many years of happiness and prosperity will be added to your lot and that twenty-five years from today we may meet again to celebrate another happy anniversary in your golden wedding."

Mr. and Mrs. Hart very heartily thanked their friends, and after the orchestra had played "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow", dancing started and was kept up right into the wee sma' hours, when everybody went home happy.

POEMS Old And NEW

"HAVING EYES, SEE YE NOT?"

(By Norma Hendricks)

I wonder why God made the trees to bend,
Never unmoving, rhythmic with the wind.
Men's pillars, rigid rock laid end on end.
Are still and dead. But glad trees and their kind,
From quivering aspen leaf to tallest pine,
Are breathing deeply, breath on breath with God.
What fools we are! In doubt we beg a sign,
When all about us, even in the clod
Of earth beneath our feet, God's barred heart throbs.
The whole world's holy ground, but we tramp past,
With heeded feet, resentful and scoffing scale
Of clay. Muddy adjuring to the last.
God moves upon the surface of the deep,
And man but stirs a moment in his sleep.

—The Christian Century.

Love is like a summer morning
Sometimes sweetly, gently borne

To the haunts of your set.

Let us keep it while we may,
Hold it closely in your breast,
Turn, oh turn, it not away,
'Tis but only wishing rest.

SALAD DRESSING IN RHYME

Probably there is no better salad dressing than this old-fashioned one in rhyme:

Two boiled potatoes passed thro kit,
Of mustard one small spoon
Two yolks of eggs and raw,
Softness and smoothness to the salad give;
Of mordant mustard add a single spoon
Distrust the condiment that bites so soon,
Yet deem it not, thou man of taste, a fault
To add a double quantity of salt;
Four times the spoon with oil of Lucca crown,
And twice with vinegar procured from town.
True flavor needs it, and your poet begs,
The pounded yellow of two hard-boiled eggs;
Let onion atoms lurk within the bowl,
And, scarce suspected, animate the whole;
And, lastly, in the flavored compound toss,
A magic teaspoon of anchovy sauce."

WHO IS HE ANYWAY?

Nothing but traffic,

To fill one with awe

"In England, I vow
I'd like best to be—

He sounds like a disgruntled alien.

OLD MAIDS VS BACHELORS

Lord Astor paid quite a tribute to "Old Maids" recently. She expressed sympathy for the bachelors but her comments on them sounds anything are not flattering. She said.

"The bachelor is the most helpful creature that ever was. He is the one thing making matrimony Possible. If married women look at a bachelor they get a little more reconciled to their own husband."

Lady Astor did she could not say the same about the old maids. They carried on the work of the world whereas the bachelors got crutchety and narrower as they got older.

"Old maids expand; old bachelors concentrate. Old maiden ladies usually become more beautified as they grow older, while those—the poor lonely animal—the older he gets the homelier he becomes."

The Winnipeg Tribune in discussing the arbitrary method by which Wm. Lyon Mackenzie King has been holding on to power, suggests that the defeated Premier make himself a Senator. The article says in part:

"There remains something more to complete the picture. Mr. King might appoint himself to the Senate—the notorious Senate. That would give him some kind of a seat. Of course, it would be a penalty, but what of that. All rules fail when Mr. King makes his political moves to hang to power. A defeated premier appointed to the Upper House by a defeated premier who has seized the reins of Government after defeat, would in principal not differ much from any other administrative net performed."

BABYLAND

"How many miles to Babyland?"
"Anyone can tell!
Up one flight;
To the right;
Please to ring the bell."

"What can you see in Babyland?"
"Little folks in w hite—
Dear as brady;
Cradle-beds;
Faces pure and bright."

"What do they do in Babyland?"
"Dream and wake and play;
Laugh and grow;
Shout and grow;
Jolly time have they!"

"What do they say in Babyland?"
"Why, the oddest things!
Might as well
Try to tell
What a birdie sings!"

"Who is the Queen of Babyland?"
"Mother, kind and sweet;
And her love,
Born above,
Guides the little feet."

Eugene Field

Then and Now

By Miss Cora Harris

In the old days when women lived good lives in their homes, their cabin of piety and adversity fitted them like a golden harness. They faded early, like bright pictures grown sweetly dim, and passed into just their virtues with a sort of unobtrusive quietness. They settled down to that steady rhythm of duty and sacrifice which is so soothing to others, and held it to the end. Not one buckle of the golden harness ever slipped. Without much humour or praise, they were the foundations upon which the world, the Church, and the home rested—and in those days never rocked as they do now.

"Sometimes they died from the weight of doing so much good. But it was a peaceful passing. They laid neat little funerals, a few flowers, a few chosen words bestowed upon them, a few tears contributed, and then they were lost away in eternal rest, that long holiday to which they had looked forward with so much confidence. Such women never can be spared during their life-time to go on a holiday.

"But the rest of us cannot afford to wait so long. We are living under a fierce nervous strain than these women ever knew. Times have changed, and we are changed accordingly. We no longer have the illusions that made them and blessed them. We do not believe with the same faith they had. We know too much. Knowledge can be a fearful loss in peace and happiness. We have achieved liberty, not of conscience, but of action. We are playing the role of freedmen in ethics and morals. We have won independence in a fiercely competitive world. We have exchanged the house we used to make and keep for the world that we can neither control nor change.

"The world has got us at last. We are citizens of it. Our vision has been stretched. We are wrestlers with social, industrial, and political reforms. We are doing great things—and nothing good is happening. It is very exasperating, nerve-racking. I do not propose going out to buy a field and planting a vineyard in it was half the worry" we have going forth to lecture in a good cause. I doubt if rising while it is yet night, and having early breakfast every day, is nearly so exhausting as being up many nights until morning at social functions." —(From Woman's Magazine.)

'CADAVER' STORY DECLARED FALSE

Chamberlain Accepts Luther's Denial in British Parliament

SPIRIT OF LOCARNO

German Chancellor and Stresemann in Gallery At Westminster

London, Dec. 3.- The spirit of Locarno received an impressive exemplification in the House of Commons .The famous "Cadaver" story at last was officially declared a falsehood. It was denied to the British Government by Dr. Luther, chancellor of the German Government, and Sir Austen Chamberlain on behalf of the British Government accepted Luther's denial.

The matter arose through a question by Arthur Henderson. Luther and Stresemann were occupying front seats in the distinguished strangers' gallery, following proceedings in the House with considerable interest. When they understood the purport of the question they rose quietly and withdrew.

Chamberlain, replying, said: "The Chancellor of Germany has authorized me to say on the authority of the German Government there was never any foundation for the corpse factory story. I desire in behalf of the British Government to accept this denial, and I trust this false report will not again be revived." Loud cheers from the Labor benches greeted the foreign secretary's statement.

This has been the most important development so far of the results of signing the Locarno treaties here.

TWO MEN PLANNED TO WRECK A TRAIN

Regina Man Discovered Pair Adjusting Explosive Trap and Notified Police

Regina, Dec. 3.—Province and railway police are today conducting a search for two men who last night attempted to wreck Grand Trunk Pacific train No. 3, westbound, presumably for the purpose of robbery.

At daylight this morning dynamite matches, copper wire and fuse string were found on the main line of the railway tracks, about five miles west of Regina. To Frank Medge, Regina, goes the credit for the prevention of the disaster. Walking into the city, he noticed two men on the tracks, said as he neared the spot the men parted and ran, disappearing in the semi-darkness. He found matches in small bundles on the track, attached to the fuse strings hanging from two sticks of dynamite. He immediately removed the explosive and notified the police.

Railway officials believe the trap was so arranged that the front wheels of the engine would ignite the fuse and the explosion would be timed to occur under the tender or cab of the engine so as to derail the front end of the train and possibly wreck the entire train.

So far no arrests have been made.

Leola Dale's Fortune

By Charles Garvice

Mr. Ford looked up.

"Miss Dale?" he said. "Where is she? Do you know, Mr. Sturge?"

"I am here," said Leola's voice, and she came in and stood between Cyril and Mrs. Wetherell.

Philip Dyce started forward.

"My dear Leola!" he said, but Cyril stepped in front of him.

"Wait Mr. Dyce," he said, speaking for the first time, and looking with an ominous sternness full into Philip Dyce's eyes.

Mr. Ford sprang up.

"What does all this mean?" he said. "Miss Dale—Leola, my dear, why are those two gentlemen here?" and he waved his hands toward Cyril and Mr. Sturge. "There seems to be some fearful confusion and mystery."

All eyes were fixed on Leola. She put out her hand, and Cyril took it and held it.

"There need be no mystery or confusion, Mr. Ford; this is Mr. Kingsley—"

Mr. Ford nodded impatiently.

"So I see; but—why is he here?"

"Let me answer that question, Mr. Ford," he said. "I am here as Miss Dale's guest, and her future husband."

Mr. Ford dropped into his chair and groaned. Philip Dyce laughed.

"A very modest assertion!" he said, mockingly. "Miss Dale," and he turned to Leola, "I congratulate you upon your choice. Her future husband! you hear that, Mr. Ford?"

"I don't understand," cried Mr. Ford. "Miss Dale, is this true?"

"It is quite true," said Leola, with dignity.

"Then—then all this story of Kingsley's running away—"

"Is false!" a said Cyril, coolly.

"It is true," broke in Philip Dyce. "But what does that matter? If Miss Dale is satisfied, we ought to be; she has made her choice, and that before sufficient witnesses," and he looked round with a sneer; "though I think Polly Marsden ought to be here."

Cyril made a step toward him, but Leola's hand held him fast.

"We only want the presence of that young lady to make the scene complete, sir," said Mr. Kingsley could produce her if he liked; she is not far off."

"She is not far off!" said a voice in the doorway; and Lord Beaumont entered.

Philip Dyce started and turned pale, and he looked beyond Lord Beaumont, as if he expected to see someone else; but Lord Beaumont came in alone, and closed the door.

"Miss Dale," he said, "I can almost gather from what I see that the news I have brought comes rather late; but at least I may enjoy the pleasure and delight of clearing a friend's name from calumny"—and he glanced round, allowing his eye at last to rest sternly on Philip Dyce—"with what Mr. Kingsley was charged, and of what we deemed him guilty. It is my enviable lot to be able to clear his good name. The girl Polly Marsden is at home with her father. I found her in London, and during a full confession from her that confession she is now ready to substantiate, of Mr. Dyce requires any substantiation."

"Speak for yourself, Lord Beaumont," Philip Dyce replied, haughtily. "The matter has no interest for me; it may be of some consequence to your friend," he added, with a sneer, "it is none to me."

"That remains to be proved," said Lord Beaumont, striving to restrain his anger. "You will, no doubt, deny that the girl left her home at your instigation and has been in the charge of a person in London w ho is in your pay?"

"If I thought it worth while, I should deny it in in toto", said Philip Dyce, folding his arms; " as it is, we have more serious business here, Lord Beaumont; business of a private nature."

Lord Beaumont bowed.

"If I am intruding, I will withdraw," he said.

"No, stay," murmured Leola.

Lord Beaumont hesitated a moment, then bowed, and stood beside Cyril.

Philip Dyce's face grew a deep crimson.

"Lord Beaumont," he said, evidently struggling for composure, "it pains me to have to speak more plainly. I must request you to leave the Abbey!"

There was a half audible murmur of surprise; Lord Beaumont sprang forward, but Cyril laid his hand on his arm.

"Wait," he murmured.

But Lord Beaumont was not to be quieted.

"By what right, Mr. Dyce," he said, "do you request me to withdraw?" and he turned toward Leola.

"In no right," said Cyril, quietly.

"Stop—hush! for Heaven's sake! Yes," exclaimed Mr. Ford, rising excitedly. "Mr. Dyce," and he laid his hand upon Philip Dyce's arm. "do not let this go further; it must—it must not—"

"You cannot stem it now; they have forced it from us. I would have spared her," and he allowed his eyes to rest for a moment on Leola; "but these," and he waved his hand toward the rest of the group—"they are of no consequence."

Mr. Ford crossed over to Leola.

"Miss Dale," he said, "let me implore you to leave us. I beg it as a favor. We have business to do at which you need not be present—leave us, I beg."

Leola looked at Cyril, and would have risen, but Cyril held her to her seat gently.

Philip Dyce raised his hand commandingly.

"At least," he said, fiercely, "we can be relieved of the fellow's presence. Kingsley, leave the house—"

Leola sprang to her feet.

"Miss Dale," cried Mr. Ford, frantic with excitement, "be silent. I implore you. Mr. Kingsley—leave us for the present."

Cyril smiled grimly.

"Perhaps Mr. Dyce will tell us how it comes to pass that he rules in the Abbey," he said, quietly.

His eyes were turned toward Philip Dyce.

"If you will have it, so be it," he said, "I order you to leave the house because I am master here—"

Leola uttered a low cry of astonishment, and sank back in the chair.

"Because I am master here by virtue of Sir Godfrey's second will, which has been discovered, and which I now call upon Mr. Ford to produce."

All eyes were turned upon him with mingled incredulity and astonishment, and in the minds of most arose a suspicion that he had suddenly taken leave of his senses. Mr. Ford alone sis played no astonishment, but with something like a groan brought his hand down upon the table.

"Not before all here," he said, waving his hand; "this is no time or place."

Philip Dyce laughed sardonically.

"They forced it," he said, morosely.

Mr. Ford took the parchment from his pocket and opened it open.

"Miss Dale," he said, "the truth is soon told. A document purporting to be the last will and testament of Sir Godfrey Lorne has been discovered, and I have it here under my hand. I myself discovered it while looking for some papers in the library—"

Cyril, who had been listening with a profound gravity, started, and looked at Philip Dyce.

"In the library. Had it been of an earlier date than the one which constituted you mistress of Lorne, the discovery would have been of little consequence. But the will is dated the fifteenth of January last year, two years later than the one in which Sir Godfrey made you his heiress—"

"Then, then," said Leola, quietly, "I am no longer the mistress of the Abbey; I have no right here."

Leola sank into a chair and clasped her hands; one of Cyril's was laid upon them.

"Mr. Ford," he said, "if this be Sir Godfreys last will, Miss Dale will not oppose it. May I not say that?" he whispered to Leola.

She seemed benumbed for the time, but looked up at him.

"But," said Cyril, "perhaps you would tell us in whose favor this will is executed?"

"This document, purporting to be the will of Sir Godfrey Lorne, places the whole of Sir Godfrey's estate, real and personal, in the possession of Mr. Philip Dyce."

Leola rose, then sank down again at a gentle touch from Cyril.

"To Mr. Philip Dyce," he said, his voice sounding strangely calm in the midst of the murmur of astonishment. "To Mr. Philip Dyce," and he repeated the name, he glanced at Mr. Sturge, who glanced back again.

"That is so," assented Mr. Ford.

"Will you give us the date?" asked Cyril.

"The fifteenth of January in this preceding year."

"I hope so," said Cyril, gravely.

Philip Dyce looked up with a passionate exclamation.

"Why does this fellow interfere in this matter?" he demanded.

Bubbly and Hot Liquids in Car Which Was Sent To Toronto

After an exciting chase and hunt, during the late hours of Saturday night, Provincial police officers captured a bootlegger car, and nearly 2,000 worth of choicest liquors in this city about 9 o'clock Sunday morning. The bootleggers escaped.

The car and its precious cargo was seized and carefully guarded until it was driven out of Belleville to Toronto, the load not being removed, it will be handed over to Provincial police headquarters at Toronto, where the car and liquor will be disposed of.

Provincial men had been on the watch for this car all over the line Saturday night. Headquarters had the highway between Trenton, Belleville, and east of the city, under their surveillance. Inspector Naphan, Sergeant Rae and Provincial Constable Keasy encountered the car on the highway east of Belleville and followed in towards the city in the fancy car. In the city, the chase lead up Front street, pock and neck. The bootleggers turned east on Bridge street and at Griffin's theatre they deliberately crowded the big police car into the curb and shot down Church street over the hill. Unfanned, the police again took up the hunt and after scouring the city, the car was found on South Church street with lights and engine off and abandoned. It was immediately seized.

The car, a fine Studebaker, was found for Niagara Falls, police believe and doubtless the choice stock was for Christmas trade. It was an open car, closely curtained with the space between Front and back seat as well as the back seat filled level with bottles, filled up like fire wood, encased in the usual wrapper of the Quebec Liquor Commission.

Inspector Naphan said this morning that it would be difficult to say exactly how many bottles of the stuff there were, or the exact value of the cargo which consisted of champagne, creme de menthe and other expensive liquors. A few bottles of beer were also in the load. Inspector Naphan approximated the value at $2,000, Both doors were securely tied together so as to prevent the obvious "spill" if they happened to be open in transit. The bottles were camouflaged by an oilcloth which was carefully spread over them.

There was no trace of the occupants of the machine, who evidently ran from the car when they were aware of the determination of the police.

Woodstock, Dec. 7.—Giving chase to an automobile suspected of carrying liquor and later found to have been stolen in Hamilton on Saturday night, local police recovered the machine on

DOCTORS ANXIOUS AT KING'S HEALTH ORDER SEA TRIPS

Doctors of Opinion that His Majesty Must Avoid London Winters

NEW YACHT NEEDED

Voyage Taken Early This Year Great Benefit To King's Health

London, December 7.—King George will have to leave his inland domain for a two months' sea trip every year, his medical advisers have decided.

The Mediterranean trip which the King took last spring was a success, and such an annual repetition will be necessary for the good of the King's health, the physicians think.

Many weak lungs, which, with the approach of three-score years, are a good by the damp London winters.

NEW YACHT NEEDED

The problem of building another new royal yacht to replace the obsolete Victoria and Albert, which is far from a satisfactory sea cruiser, is again being considered.

It is about to build a new sailing cruiser when the war opened, and since then the Victoria and Albert has been devoted in the interests of Royal economy.

Queen Mary, as is well known, is not a good sailor, and the few trips which have been made in the Victoria and Albert have been hard trials to her.

YACHTS' UNFORTUNATE HISTORY

The story of the Royal yachts has been an unfortunate one. Queen Victoria's first yacht, the Osborne, was a good sea boat, but had cabins which the Queen said "would have disgraced a merchantman," and she ordered the Victoria and Albert. King Edward, soon realized its drawbacks and built the Alexandra, which, however, was never popular with the Royal family, and, like the Osborne, was sold.

It is rumored that the new yacht will be most palatial cruiser ever built in Great Britain.

VOTING WAS NOT HEAVY EARLIER MORE ACTIVITY SEEN AFTER NOON

Belleville could have gone to the polls today on "runners" but she chose the more fleet motor cars, though the snow was plentiful in a three inch blanket which swept from the murky heavens late Sunday night.

Electors were slow this morning to exercise their franchise for mayor and the dozen aldermen who are to be running on an unusual number of tickets for the city during 1926. That applies more particularly to the morning, but the afternoon the voters were being rounded up. Plenty of cars are carrying about the slippery streets with their occupants, and this evening and closing of the polls, a rush almost as heavy as recorded year before last is expected. Excitement is not prevalent, orderly and methodical work being popular.

The snow may probably keep voters at home, but not if candidates know about them, and may reach them with a car. Old timers who have the lay of the city at their fingers' ends, and the location of the voters' lists, are not to be caught napping on election day.

Belleville's Ministerial Association Goes on Record Against Sunday Concerts

At the Belleville Ministerial Association which met this morning at the Y.M.C.A. the following resolution was unanimously endorsed:

"We, the members of The Belleville Ministerial Association, believing, as we do, that Sunday should be preserved as a day of rest and worship, feel that Sunday Concerts, Entertainments, etc, for the purpose of raising money are not in the best interest of Religion, because:

"(a.) They tend to draw people away from their Church service,

"(b) They pave the way for the open theatre on Sunday."

This is not to be interpreted as meaning that we are not in sympathy with the purposes for which such Concerts have been held.

HELIUM WELLS IN PEEL COUNTY

Possess Highest Helium Content of Any Natural Gases Yet Discovered

ARE NEAR BRAMPTON

Prof. McLennan Details Commercial Value of New Discovery

Toronto, Dec. 7.—The Province of Ontario, through field work done by Professor J. C. McLennan of the University of Toronto, and Colonel R. B. Harkness, Natural Gas Commissioner, and through the policy of its government in claiming the properties involved on behalf of the Crown—has come into possession of important helium wells, their location being in the County of Peel, at Inglewood, a short distance from Brampton. Announcement of the acquirement of the wells was made over the week-end by Premier Ferguson. Assessment of the value of the wells for scientific purposes, they would assume worldwide importance.

Helium is a very rare gas, much lighter than air, which came into especial prominence during the war time as a result of its utility as a filling for dirigibles. Since then it has received world-wide scientific notice because of endeavors to liquefy it in which Professor McLennan was finally successful. It is now proposing to assume some considerable commercial importance as a packing for electrical generating machines, whereby their efficiency would be greatly increased, and as an explosive in combination with other chemicals. It is of importance to the motor car industry as a tremendous conductor of heat and will reduce a commodity to as low a temperature as 450 degrees Fahrenheit below zero, thus permitting the investigation of the properties of substances at very low temperatures.

A Valuable Discovery

In a statement upon the subject of the newly discovered Inglewood wells, which he named last evening, Professor McLennan told of having been commissioned two years ago by the Department of Mines at Ottawa to examine the gases of Canada with a view to discovering helium. As a result of this commission, the wells in Peel County had been located, and found to possess the highest helium content of any natural gases as yet discovered in the British Empire. The wells are said to be shallow, and the gas supply moderate in amount, but it is estimated that they will provide at least 100,000 cubic feet of helium per year.

Ottawa, Dec. 7.—Mr. J. R. Booth, Ottawa's veteran civic and millionaire lumberman was gravely ill today and fears were entertained for his recovery. He was nearing the century mark in age. MANAGER MURDERED SITTING AT HIS DESK

Montreal, Dec. 7.—R. J. S. Tyhurst, Assistant Woods Manager of the St. Maurice Paper Company, was shot and killed while he was sitting in an office of the company at the Village of St. Michel des Saints where he had been located for about a year, according to news reaching Montreal this afternoon.

Mr. Tyhurst was working late and was at his desk when murdered, the shooting taking through a window. He was mortally wounded and died in a few minutes.

Details of the murder are lacking, but it is said that several people drove up to the Tyhurst home in a car a few minutes before the shot was heard. As the car rapidly left the vicinity immediately after the murder, it is presumed that one of its occupants was the assassin.

Mr. Tyhurst, who leaves a wife and one child was 39 years old and had a fine war record. It is believed by the police that in his capacity of Woods Manager he recently had been engaged in making certain investigations, and his murder may be associated in some way with these activities.

Prince is Going to Ireland

London, Dec. 7.—The recent suggestion that the Prince of Wales visit Ireland in 1926 has solidified itself into a report that such a mission is being arranged. Under the new build-up of sentiment signed in London last week, Northern Ireland will obtain a sum of sufficient size to build a new parliament house in Belfast. It is understood the Prince of Wales will go to Belfast next year to lay the foundation stone.

MEETING OF PROTEST

Dublin, Dec. 7.—Deputies from the North and the South of Ireland spoke at a meeting in O'Connell Street in Dublin today, held as a protest against the dismemberment of Ireland. The attendance was so great that all traffic was stopped for a considerable time, and there was strong opposition to the new London pact.

VALERA DENOUNCES ENGLAND

Eamonn de Valera denounced the partition as the greatest outrage ever committed by England on the Irish people. He declared there was not a nation on earth possessing effective means but would feel justified in shedding its last blood to prevent it.

Lincoln, said Mr. De Valera, faced four years of war to prevent the secession of the Southern States, which was much more justified than the secession of part of Ireland. On no account could national consent be given to the pact. Ireland's sole gain from the pact was the gain of being relieved from the responsibility of being cheated further.

The worst of the new bargain was the completion it would bear, for it would be said that they had sold their country

Friday evening at Hotel Quinte Warden Wiggins will tender a banquet to members of the Council and a few of his many friends.

Slippery Roads On Election Day

Slippery streets here today called tire chains into use and caused much slipping and skidding of cars. One taxicab skidded into the curb at the corner of Catherine and Dundas streets, snapping off the left rear wheel and breaking a pane of glass. Between Belleville and Toronto Sunday night two cars were in the ditch.

Driving was treacherous with blinding snowstorms which blew over and slippery roads. Traffic was heavy too.

BRITAIN LOOKS LIKE HOLLAND IN FROSTY SNAP

Every Piece of Water Is Solidly Frozen; Crowded With Skaters

DEATHS IN PARIS

29 Below Zero Recorded in France and Belgian Village Buried

London, December 7.—The fog which has covered London and other parts of Great Britain like a pall disappeared yesterday, but cold weather remained. As a result, England looked more like Holland. Racing was suspended because of broken ground, tennis is impossible and experienced golfers took a holiday rather than break clubs or spoil their style.

But skaters are in their element. In the sports departments of the great London shops there was a rush for skates which is unequalled in the past two decades. In many shops the stock was sold out. Very few modern skates remain to be sold as London and shopkeepers have been searching cellars, for stock stowed away when winters before the war, when snow and ice were not so uncommon as since. A good many skates of this ancient vintage were discovered apparently, but are found buyers just the same. It is a peculiarity of the English that they are very changeable climate in the world the are never prepared for extremes of either heat or cold, and skates and ice crazes almost always coincide with the sale of heavy woolen commodities most difficult to procure in winter, or summer.

If very long pond, lake, canal and even reservoir is covered today, however, with happy skaters, who catch little wisps of ice, dotted here with silver, steel or rusty iron, while carpenters found a new occupation in the construction of delights. Russian bootmakers are the only manufacturers with whom the cold snap is unpopular. In this country of brief winter, skates are strapped temporarily rather than screwed permanently on footwear and it has been demonstrated that Russian boots with their high heels are hopeless for the purpose.

BITTER COLD IN FRANCE

Paris, December 7.—A cold wave gripped France in earnest in the Rhone Valley, which has been called "colder than Siberia," the thermometer reached the lowest level recorded there—24 degrees centigrade or 23 Fahrenheit; below zero.

In Chamonix it was five degrees Fahrenheit below zero, at Belfast, three above and at Auxonne ten above. Near Paris it was 17 above, but many runs at Auteuil were cancelled because of frozen ground. Three persons dropped dead in the streets of the city. All along the Riviera the temperature was below the freezing point.

News of the death at Myrtle St. Macdonald Hospital, in General Hospital, Kingston, came with a shock to her many friends in Stirling and vicinity. MacMillan, Stirling, and was well known in this district. The deceased was in her thirtieth year and a native of Rawdon township. She had been a member of the News-Argus staff for several years and also occupied a position in the Methodist Book Room, Toronto.

CANADA'S PRIZES WON AT CHICAGO MORE THAN EVER

Made Clean Sweep in Shorthorn Class, Prince's Bull Leading List

TOOK HORSE TROPHIES

University of Saskatchewan's Clydesdales Made Impressive Showing

Chicago, December 7.—Canadian exhibitors at the International Live-stock Exposition and Grain and Hay Show return to their home country with them the greatest numbers of championships and prizes won at any exposition in their history. Blue bloods of livestock from the Dominion competed with the best United States breeds and took away impressive victories. Products of the field and farm won prizes which demonstrated to farmers of the United States that Canada is an outstanding agricultural country.

Perhaps the most remarkable feature of the show was the Dominion's showing in short-horn cattle. "King of the Fairies," the Prince of Wales' prize bull entered from his ranch at Pekisko, Alberta, was adjudged grand champion of short-horns. The famous animal had already won a grand championship at the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, a week before. "Browndale Diarch," a yearling bull entered by James Douglas, of Caledonia, Ont., completed Canada's clean sweep by shortening by winning the junior championship. An additional honor came to the Prince's bull in the form of the Brethorn Society of Great Britain and Ireland's special prize.

King of the Fairies was sold for $13,850 to Thomas G. Bahcey, of Kansas City, Mo., wealthy short-horn breeder in the auction sales at the International Show. Experts declared that the price paid was too low, but the bull is now old and further handicapped by being temporarily lame.

UNIVERSITY SCORES

Canada's record on Clydesdales proved not equally impressive. "Green Meadow Footstep," a three-year-old stallion entered by the University of Saskatchewan, was the grand champion in Clydes. The University of Saskatchewan also scored a junior championship in this same class on "Bonnie Craigie," as well as a reserve grand championship and junior championship in the breeding mare division, on "Bonnie Betty."

"Parkdale Pyxie" owned by J. L. Donavan, of Condie, Sask., carried off a reserve championship in the yearling stallion class. "Queen of Freshwater," entered by Harrower Brothers, of Watrous, Sask., took reserve senior championship. Among breeding Clydesdale mares, Saskatchewan exhibitors captured several first prizes.

Canada dropped the wheat championship to the United States for only the second time in fifteen years of the International Exposition. The winning exhibit was grown from seed originally obtained from Seager Wheeler, of Rosthern, Sask., five times winner of the world's wheat prize. L. J. Yates, of Flabtail, Montana, was crowned the new wheat king. Canadians, however, made a notable showing in wheat, scoring twenty out of a possible thirty on hard red spring wheat in a field of 185 exhibitors.

VICTORY IN SHEEP

Grain growers front the Dominion upheld their traditions in other competitions in the grain and hay show. In oats, Canadian entries won eleven out of twenty-five prizes. Seager Avery, of Kelso, Sask., was the highest exhibitor with a third prize to his credit. Other winners for the Dominion included five out of six prizes on Yellow Field Peas, eight out of fifteen in Timothy and five out of nine in Alsike Clover.

Canada swept the boards once more in the sheep competition. Colonel Robert McEwen, of London, Ontario, won the Grand championship on a carload lot for the fourth time running, as well as a number of reserve championships and first prizes on individual exhibits.

RHINELANDER LOST SUIT, FOR ANNULMENT

White Plains, N. Y., December 7.—Leonard Kip Rhinelander has lost his fight for annulment of his marriage with the former Alice Beatrice Jones, part-negro daughter of a New Rochelle bus driver. The sealed verdict found by the jury was against Rhinelander on all points.

The jury found that Mrs. Rhinelander had not deceived her husband before their marriage, either by denying or concealing her true color, and that Rhinelander married her knowing well she had negro blood.

Melba's Memoirs Tell of Late Queen And Early Failures

London, Eng., Dec. 7.—(By Canadian Press)—Dame Nellie Melba has the famous singer, in her book of reminiscences, just published, makes the interesting revelation that it was through the late Queen Alexandra's interest in her that she was induced to make another series of appearances in London after an unfortunate debut here. It happened in 1888, when Dame Melba had scored a phenomenal success, at the outset of her career, in Brussels and Paris. Dame Melba came on to London, for some performances at Covent Garden. There was a ball filled house, an indifferent orchestra and had management all round. Dame Melba returned to the continent vowing she would never see London again. However, she had a letter from Lady de Grey, one of the leaders in matters musical and artistic of that day, begging her to return.

"One of those who are most anxious for your return is the Princess of Wales," wrote Lady de Grey. "She was present at your performance of Signoleto and deeply impressed with your singing."

Dame Melba did return the next year, and achieved the first of her unending English triumphs. In this connection it may be mentioned that Queen Alexandra was about the only member of the English Royal House in her time, what had any deep interest in, or devotion to music. The only other real musician or her own generation was the Duke of Edinburgh, brother of King Edward, who died many years ago. The Duke and Sir Arthur Sullivan were great friends, and King Edward himself could hardly conceal his feelings of boredom when he attended grand opera.

King George has no great liking for ambitious music, but Queen Mary, although herself not gifted as an executant, maintains an unabated interest in knowledge of music in general: is considerably above that of many of her friends.

THE HEN AND HER EGGS

HOW TO TELL A PROFITABLE HEN FOR LAYING

Feathers and Egg Production—How to Obtain High Egg Production—When Eggs Are Worth More—Green Food for Poultry.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

A hen will not lay if she is not in good condition. She should be healthy, free from any disease, and show plenty of vigor and activity. The first pullet to lay in the fall is the early maturing one. The hen which is a slow moulter, is likely a fortnight late in coming out; is also a slow layer. The Month in Jeopardy

As soon as a hen goes into a moult she will lay, feed to maintain new feathers, and her egg production falls generally to a minimum or nothing. It is easily noticed that some hens go into a moult much earlier than others. If a hen starts to moult in July her laying for the summer is about over. If she lays that late moulting and heavy egg production in the fall is impossible. If she does a longer summer period and still she is back to form in time for winter production. So says Prof. W. R. Graham, Ontario Agricultural College, Laying Hen and Her Plumage.

If a hen is laying heavily the plumage will become dry, hard and brittle. The lustre will disappear and the feathers become broken. A hen can certainly lose much of her natural beauty in the interest of producing that bright lustre and also keep up heavy production. Watch for the individual with the full array of feathers in its coat. Don't be afraid to let her out one of the boarders in your flock.

How to Know a Laying Hen.

The question is often asked, "Can you tell whether or not a hen is laying?" This is not very easy, and requires but a few observations. When a hen commences laying the comb begins not up in the reproductive organs are very distinctly developed in any pregnant animal. Preparation is made for that egg, as for the nourishment in a cow.

The ovary is dormant and no eggs are being produced the digestive organs are large. The appetite is very small. The vent is dry, small, puckered, and the whole body of the hen has a decided band of yellow pigment around the hocks. When laying commences the pelvic bones become more pliable and spread apart. The distance may increase from one to two inches. At the same time the vent become large and moist, and the hocks lose their yellow band and laid the ring of yellow pigment has disappeared and the vent is bleached. How to Obtain High Egg Production.

The requirements for high egg production, says Prof. W. R. Graham, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, are, good, comfortable houses, that are free from direct draughts over the birds, and that are well-lighted. The feeding consists of a variety of grain, green feed, animal feed, grit and shell, which is clean, and not mouldy. Water must be given to the birds regularly and in sufficient quantities. They have all they want to eat before going to roost at night; that the supply of drinking water is clean and unobstructed; that the attendant is regular in his or her work and is interested in the birds; that the birds are bred from good laying ancestors, and that they are hatched at the proper season and well reared, and are free from disease.

When Eggs Are Worth More.

A study of the distribution of the egg production of Canada and the important from the point of the annual returns from the birds. Egg prices rise and fall with the seasons and usually the greatest profit is made where eggs are produced in a season or seasons of the year when prices are high. This is the time of scarcity of egg supply. They require usually from six to seven months in which to mature. It is, therefore, possible to regulate egg production in the fall months at least to some extent by regulating the time the pullets hatch in the spring. The main sources of eggs produced in October and November is the March hatched pullets, while in the May hatched pullets are out for a reputation.

Green Food for Poultry.

Now that the poultry are off the range and no longer benefit the pickings of the fields, feed at least a substitute should be provided. Mangels, sugar beets, cabbage and potatoes do very well to supply in part the lack of vitamines. Vitamine A and D, so essential to proper nutrition. A little attention to the feeding of this important point frequently means the difference between success and failure with breeding stock. At the Ontario Agricultural College Poultry Department a liberal allowance of mangels, or roughage which contains the vital elements is always available for the poultry. Information may be of Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

When Horse Is Overcome by Heat.

A horse that previously has been overcome by heat should not be turned in hot weather and be subject to recurrence of the attack. If necessary, can be caused danger may be offset. Keep the hair of the skin clean, and blanketing may be tried. When a skin condition has developed nothing is from ear to ear stimulates sweating and interruption of blood. It should not be applied before putting on a blanket. Some have had good results from copious draughts of warm water containing ginger essence or tincture or the powdered root.

The farmer who keeps plenty of stock is the one whose crops will stand a drought the best. If takes two years to show the benefits derived from liberal applications of stable manure.

A small table with a drawer or an odd-fashioned commode with casters on the legs makes a wheel tray that comes in handy in the kitchen and dining-room.

Oakdale have staff composed entirely of young ladies under the direction of degree staff Captain Bro. Bert Bailey. Jas be Liberal candidate in G. D. Rivers, notary of St. Pie. Mr. Fauteux was defeated in the general elections by 700 majority, the victor being J. E. Marcile, who had held the seat since 1908, and whose death shortly after election day made the by-election necessary.

While the Liberals profess to be confident of success they do not anticipate a large majority as at the general elections, and have left no stone unturned towards bringing about victory, realizing the tremendous effect a Conservative victory in Bagot would have on the whole of Canada. Liberal leaders recognize that a check in Bagot at the present time would indicate a revulsion of feeling throughout rural Quebec.

The campaign has been waged mainly by two of the ministers, Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Minister of Marine and Fisheries and Hon. Lucien Cannon.

On the Conservative side, the main incident of the campaign was the visit said to the county by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, the Conservative leader, who was given a fine reception in the parishes

Rotary Choir Here Helps Trenton Club

Male Voices Directed By Prof. Hunt; Mr. Leo. Riggs, Mr. Young, Assist.

The Belleville Rotary choir of twelve went to Trenton last evening to assist the Trenton Rotary club in their Saturday evening concert in the King Street United church choir, by which they raised $153 for their Christmas Cheer Fund.

Mr. Leo Riggs and Mr. Marcus Young accompanied the Rotarians, the former to play certain selections on both piano, and violin numbers, the latter by Mr. Young who played a selection from "Thais," and the very beautiful "Berceuse from "Jocelyn." The choir did four numbers an arrangement for male voices of "The Heavens are Declaring", the "Recessional", "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say" sung to the tune of "Drink to me Only" and Vesper Hymn "Now the Day is Over."

Mr. Kinsella took the solo part in the "Recessional" and Mr. Sandy Bannerman in the number, "I heard the Voice." Members of the Rotary choir are: Professor Hunt, director; Messrs. Hansford Bone, A. D. Billman and F. G. Kinsella, first tenors; P.M.T. Little, W. F. Scott and Reginald Burrows, second tenors; J. Arnold Thomson and Dr. Morley A. Day, baritones; Sandford, Burrows, F. K. Smith and Morley F. Dafoe, basses.

The Church was crowded. The meeting was in charge of Vice President Fred Adsett, in the absence through illness of the President Mr. Simmons. Secretary Howard Graham and Past President Owen Fortune and other Rotarians occupied seats on the platform and spoke. The address of the evening was given by Principal Robert Wayte of Trenton High School who is not a Rotarian. Mr Wayte gave an excellent address on the work of Rotary. Prof. Albert Hazel the organist of King Street Church played very charmingly.

Trenton Bowling

Trenton, December 7.—That smoking act which Mark Tripp has offered for the best score for three games in one day on this Recreation Academy alleys, must be getting "nervous" these days. Saturday morning the score at the top of the heap was 686, which had been recorded by Hughie Vance several days before.

By Saturday evening, the score of 697, made by J. B. Lewis, was the one in line for the set. The men who outbowled Lewis will have to beat the champion of the alleys for a single game score as well as for three games. Mr. Lewis also holds the single game record of 247.

The standing of the teams in the men's league was posted Saturday, Group No. 3 Sets the Dominion Combing Mills at the top of their class, as before.

the Provincial highway near Beachville within an hour of the time the warning of the Brantford police had been received. Observing the car going through Woodstock, Inspector Milligan followed in a taxi, but, on continuing his query on the highway was met with shots from the thieves' revolvers.

The gang consisted of a woman who happened to be the ringleader and two young men. After stopping their car the thieves abandoned it and escaped over the near-by fields and are known to have returned to the city about midnight when they engaged A. W. Shaver, local taxi driver, to convey them to Brantford. About four miles from Brantford on the Governor's road Mr. Shaver felt a revolver thrust at his neck and after being forced to hand over $25 and a gold watch, he was ordered to get out of his machine. Brantford police subsequently found the taxi abandoned in that city.

The Association Gymnasium on Campbell street was the scene of what real action on Saturday afternoon when the Y's Mens' Club representatives took on the Albert College Six in the opening game of the Senior Valley Ball League. During the early period of the three game contest, the boys from the North City Coast of Lemoine appeared to have the edge on the play. In fact in the first and second games they were able to win quite a considerable lead over the Y's Men But the latter appeared to strike their stride as the game progressed and after obtaining the lead about half way through these two games they held on until the end. The last of the three games was a real corker and although Albert College was not able to jump into the lead, as in the other two, they never stopped trying.

The scores of the three games were 15-7, 15-9, 15-8.

Wonderful Abbey Is Being Restored

London, Eng., Dec. 7. (Canadian Press Despatch).—High on the headland overlooking the quiet of Whitby in Yorkshire stands the ruin of St. Hilda's Abbey. For five hundred years, after the synod of Henry the Eighth had laid it in ruin upon the abbeys and monasteries, the fabric of St. Hilda's foundation was left a prey to the ravages of time, and for many generations at least—of any builder in the neighbouring countryside required a worm-load of dressed stone for the fetching. Then, one morning in the early winter of 1814, the enmities of another royal despoiler appeared in the shape of German - wash ye, which shelled what there was still standing of the Holy West Front of the Abbey. It may seem strange when the world is in need of so much in the way of repair that what should be given to it when what is merely a relic of mediaevalism. We are more careful of our ancient landmarks now than formerly, however. Five years ago the ruins of Whitby were handed over by the then owner, Sir Charles Peacock, to the Ancient Monuments Department of the Office of Works, which has since steadily persevered in repairing work which is now complete. It aimed simply at making the West Front what it was before the bombardment. Little has been done also to improve the appearance of the remainder of the Abbey ruins. Before the war the ruins was a favourite haunt of the passionate overgrown with grass. One save is now a smooth and well-kept lawn from which stands up the bases of the great pillars which were till recently interred. In clearing away this debris and in the effective excavations which have taken place outside the Abbey many interesting things have been found. As these excavations are completed the earth is filled in again and smoothly turfed so that when the work is finished what is left of the Abbey will be green and level within add without.

NO LONGER THE "WEAKER SEX"

Belleville went to the polls today without the opportunity to vote for a woman. That is fortunate or unfortunate according to the individual view; but this fact remains: The proposal to place a woman candidate in the field here, although not carried to a successful conclusion, it is but the result—and a reasonable one too—of giving to the so-called weaker sex the same status as the "stronger"—citizens in civic, provincial and federal affairs.

For some time past Belleville has had two ladies serving on the Board of Education and it must be said that their services have been very valuable and has suffered nothing in comparison with that of the male members of the Board. They have displayed initiative and a grasp of local educational needs.

There is no such thing as "the weaker sex". Woman has long held her own as a chirch worker, and there is no reason for supposing she will not prove equally as valuable in affairs of state. At the same time she is quite competent to keep her proper place in the home. Better qualified even than man should she be to deal with educational and social affairs, her chief interest being in the home and the family.

COMMUNISTS AND CHURCHILL

Mr. Winston Churchill, British chancellor for the exchequer, has given his communists one of the severest castigations of their existence. When this statesman sets out to criticize, he makes a thorough job of it. If sympathizers of the sedition-mongers sentenced by a British court imagined that they could intimidate the government by their vicorous protests, they have received their answer. The cause of bolshevism, under whatever alias it may choose to marquerade, is finding the going very hard these days in all countries outside of soviet Russia, and not so very easy there. On this continent definite steps have been taken to put an end to the continual propaganda by which it is sought to undermine the allegiance of loyal trade unionists. In Toronto the Labor temple has been closed to communist activities, and orders have been given to the caretaker of that institution to "eject summarily any communist who attempts to sell literature or distribute propaganda about the premises." Communist schools, by which it is sought to infect the young are being abolished. Through out Canada organized Labor is purging its ranks of the seditious trouble-makers, with their policy or sabotage —"boring from within," to use their own phrase. Not only in Canada but in the United States the house-cleaning is going on to rid the Labor fold of its "wolves in sheep's clothing."

Labor is to be commended for its energetic action. It is surprising that effective measures have not been taken before this to eliminate those who are to completely out of sympathy with the ideals of the industrial movement. Ineslecable harm has already been done by the reckless misleading that is in many be. Because of its comparative insignificance, considered numerically, the communist party on this continent has been allowed to have much too free scope.

Mr. Churchill has given a description of the Soviet Government, which people in Canada should remember. He spoke of the dark power of Moscow and went on to say:

"There we have what was never known before — a band of cosmopolitan conspirators gathered from the underworld of the great cities of Europe and America, in despotic possession of what was once the mighty and famous Empire of Russia. These men are ceaseless in their endeavors to spread revolution throughout every land. There is no country more the object of their malignity than this island home of ours, which has so long preserved democratic freedom with order and responsibility in all stages."

"Underworld conspirators", and unforgettable phrase.

THE CRIMINAL'S OFF DAYS

A Winnipeg bandit held up and robbed a newspaper reporter of a sum of money a few days ago. When the bandit discovered that the money represented the receipts of a concert held for the benefit of a Christmas stocking fund for poor children, his heart softened and he returned the amount, minus a couple of dollars which he had spent before discovering the truth, with a note expressing his regret.

That bandit had a heart; perhaps others have hearts, too, if only the way to reach them was known. The theory has been typically and musically exploited with success in "The Pirates of Penzance":

When a felon's not engaged in his employment,
Or instirring his felonious little plans,
His capacity for innocent enjoyment,
Is just as great as any other man's.
When the interesting burglar's not a-burgling,
When the cutthroat isn't occupied in crime,
He loves to hear the Bittlebrook a-gurgling,
And listen to the merry village chime.

Possibly the way to deal with the enterprising bandit is to catch him when he is not engaged in his regular employment and show him how to make a more general use of his capacity for innocent enjoyment. But perhaps after all that could be done in this way it would still be true that "the policeman's lot is not a happy one."

CHAMBERLAIN'S REWARD

For his eminent services at Locarno Austen Chamberlain might, if he had chosen, have been made a viscount or even an earl. But that would have made it necessary for him to take his seat in the house of lords, and he has himself said that he is "a house of common man". So instead of ennobling him the King has bestowed on him the Order of the Garter.

It is an unusual mark of royal favor. Only twice before within the last three centuries has the Garter been bestowed upon a commoner, the recipients having been Arthur J. Balfour and Edward Grey before their elevation to the peerage.

To most people in this democratic country the extreme veneration with which this ancient order of knighthood is regarded in Britain and even in other European countries is not easy to understand. Crowned heads covet it. It has hitherto been reserved for their kin and for eminent members of the British peerage. It is the oldest surviving order of knighthood in Europe, having been instituted nearly 600 years ago by Edward III. What makes it a somewhat inappropriate reward for such distinguished service as that recently rendered by Sir Austen Chamberlain is the fact that it has so seldom been bestowed at a recognition of merit or of public service. "What I like about the Garter," said Lord Melbourne, "is that there is no damned merit about it." Sir Austen in being admitted to the company of the knights of the garter, finds himself among monarchs and peers of high degree.

Verily he has his reward.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

In today's voting one thing was sure—more men would be left "at home" than would enter the portals of the Council Chamber. Belleville is therefore due for an exhibition of good losing.

Only 18 robbing and hold-up days till Christmas.

As for that Winnipeg team was their 1200 mile trip worth it?

"A man is known by the people he thinks unnecessary." Belleville will know itself better after today.

PETER PAN'S HOUSE

I see that the house in Lancaster Gate, which is the original of the Darling family's house in "Peter Pan" is to let furnished (says a Daily News writer.)

But the caretaker has only a vague idea of the associations of the place, for although she has lived in England for the past 18 years, and much prefers London to her native Paris, she can hardly understand English at all. Yet her face lights up when you mention "le garcon qui ne voulait pas grandir" (the boy who wouldn't grow up), and she even knows that there was once a great writer who lived near Kensington Gardens, and loved their green spaces, though she does not seem to remember his name.

PILLIERS

The British government will impose a tax on betting and the surest bet of all is that it will be hard to collect.

Oh, way to protect the office girls at this time of the year might be to put a "Please Don't Open Until Christmas" sticker on it.

When the prosperous house-buyer today inquires of the real estate agent: "What length is the lot?" he is not thinking of a garden, but a radio aerial.

Of the nursing sister who is ministering to him in his rertiem illness, Rudyard Kipling doubtless will be able to say: "And I learned about women from 'er."

Penitentiary accommodation is better than in 99 per cent. of the hotels in Canada, Superintendent Hughes declares. The prisons likewise do a bigger business.

Western Palestine is reported to be agitated by recent events in Syria. The political mash in that section of the world never gets a chance to stop fermenting.

A lot of boys who are expected to be surprised on Christmas morning when they see what Santa brought them are wondering if the stuff hidden in the attic is all they are going to get.

PROTECTION

Kingston Standard:

Some Liberals are going so far as to say that protection is a discredited doctrine and they do so in spite of facts to the contrary which are staring them in the face in Great Britain, which practically lyrics protection there, are some million and a half unemployed people. On the other hand there is an abundance of work in both the United States and France, both highly protected countries. Since the Dominion government lowered the tariffs there has been a decrease in Canadian trade of 23 per cent., while the pay rools have decreased from $20,710,000 in 1921 to $7,210,000 in 1925.

APPLES ALLOWED TO GO TO WASTE?

FARMER'S WIFE COMES TO DEFENSE

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 7.—(Canadian Prim)—Criticism of the farmer who lets his apples waste has been much in the fore this year. One farmer's wife comes to his defense: "An orchard is counted for so many barrels at so much in a farmer's budget. This year the price is very low, owing to the large yield, and it is costing just as much to pick and ship the apples as when they rice of three times as much. As for giving them away, I know one lady who tried it. She sent word to her city friends to come and get all they wanted, but they made excuses—the cellar was too hot for apples, or they did not have barrels. Had she hired a man at two or three dollars a day, and bought barrels at one dollar each—that is the price here—and paid express to the city, the friends would have said 'it was nice of her to send them,' but afterward, 'apples are so plentiful, why couldn't she?'"

"An instance is quoted of a farmer with 100 barrels ready to ship and the wind stripping his trees, but who would not give them away. Why should he? —I have gone into stores and seen hundreds of dresses there, but if I wanted one I had to buy it. The farmer likely had pigs. We feed what lots of people would call waste and throw away.

"This summer an organization sent out to our lake 25 boys for two weeks and asked the farmers to feed them. We made pies, cakes and everything but bread for the two weeks. What would happen, if one of our men took 25 of our boys to the city and asked just plain citizens to feed them for two weeks? I am sure the boys would like it just as much as the city ones did."

The fundamental factor in Christmas celebrations—the Christmas tree is going to come heavy on the Belleville pocketbook this year. Prices are higher today and prices have jumped. for one tree, to the price of half a cord of wood—$1, with smalle and harsh symmetrical trees selling as "low" as $1.50.

Of course there are always scrub trees to be had at from fifty cents each to one dollar but the majority of Belleville parents are a bit shy of discriminating about taking anything which is not the best.

PRIER TREES

Far back in the early days in Germany when Kris Kringle first commenced his activities, establishing a custom which has been perpetuated, the first Christmas tree, which the children of the land was a permanent fixture. On many of his visits, he left, on errands of love, his gifts on the little trees sparkling fr rees among the German peoples homes, where on the happy Christmas morning the delighted children found them. From then on when the price of trees was nothing to these good when Santa Claus climbed down the chimney with anything from a mofor car to an automatic pungy for the children, he trees of Christmas remained with the Christmas celebrations, and every year the forests have been robbed till the supply has become scarce. Hence the present high prices and about the only salvation for the little trees.

Cedar Trees Shinney

The recent embargo placed upon the trees entering the United States has also had the influence of protection and the thousands which formerly were carried across the border, many straight from Belleville to the widest of Manhattan Field in Chicago, Stress in New York and other leading American firms, will this year be diminished and the forest trees will remain standing for a few years more.

Already sleigh loads of trees have arrived in this city from the surrounding districts and every corner lot is filled with trees of various sizes and shapes fostered to the running border. The farmers' lads and about Belleville are keeping a watchful eye out their outlying groves and for the first time have decided to charge for a tree from which has been taken many small scrubby bodies and shade for all to see.

But they have only twenty-two days more to watch and already many have their trees set up and are busy preparing make believe front for decorations to see what may be salvaged from the week to utilize this year.

The Dream of C.S. Macgregor

After dinner, at the end of a hard day's work, he dropped off to sleep. It was only a few seconds, but—

Like a flash there passed before him a panorama of the happenings of the many years. A moving picture—with himself as the leading man.

What he saw is shown in the booklet, "The Peerless Policy." The pictures show a series of incidents that may happen to any man, and they are none the less thrilling because they are true to life.

Every one will be interested in the pamphlet: men and women—wives and husbands—all the family.

Write to the Agent whose name appears below for a copy of "The Dream of C. S. Macgregor." He will gladly send it.

Leola Dale's Fortune

By Charles Garvice

"You forget, Mr. Dyce," said Cyril, "I am speaking on behalf of Miss Dale, whose property is in question. I have her authority to confer with Mr. Ford, who is her solicitor, not yours; and as the intruder here, at present, for not withstanding the discovery of the document, Lorde Abbey is still Miss Dale's, and she is mistress here!"

Philip Dyce bit his lip.

"Mine, then, is the only witness," said Cyril, "Mr. Sturge here is a lawyer; of course you gentlemen will say whether one witness is sufficient."

"Quite," said Mr. Sturge, gravely. "It would be better to examine Sline."

Mr. Ford pressed his hand to his brow. "I have done that," he said; "I did it last night; not on Mr. Philip Dyce's behalf, but on Miss Dale's. I was anxious to get at the truth."

"And Sline's testimony?" said Cyril.

"Was as straight forward as such a man's could be," said Mr. Ford; "I am bound to admit that." Then suddenly the old man burst forth, excitedly: "But this shall go no further at present. As Miss Dale's legal adviser, I refuse to recognize this will, or to answer any more questions. I imposed it, and I beg to inform Mr. Dyce that I am ready to receive notice from his solicitor;" and the old lawyer folded the parchment and placed it in his pocket.

Leola rose, trembling.

"Let me go," she said; "let me leave the place, I cannot stay another hour!"

"Is that Miss Dale's resolution?" said Philip Dyce. "Let me ask her to reconsider it. Lorne Abbey is still hers, if she will keep the solemn promise she gave me. I am willing, I am anxious to bury the past."

Leola interrupted him with a look of infinite scorn and turned to Cyril

"Will you take me away?" she said with touching dignity, as if asking him to protect her from the insults of such a proposal.

Philip Dyce's face turned pale.

"So be it," he said." Then I rest my claim upon this document, which I leave in Mr. Ford's honorable hands."

And he took up his hat.

"Then," said Mr. Sturge, "I am sorry for you, Mr. Dyce, for such a disappointment as you are about to suffer will be very bitter. You rest your claim upon a document not worth the paper it is written upon. I inform you that, on behalf of my client here," and he waved his hand towards Cyril, "and I may as well Mr. Ford, place the notice in your hands."

And he stepped up to the table and placed a paper upon it.

"What is this?" demanded Mr. Ford.

"Simply a notice of claim to Lorne Abbey, on behalf of my client Sir Cyril Lorne, a copy of whose certificate of birth and other evidence of identity, is enclosed."

"Sir Cyril Lorne!" echoed Mr. Ford in amazement, "is this a jest Mr. Sturge?"

"A very sober earnest, sir," replied Mr. Sturge; "this gentleman is the only son and heir of Sir Godfrey's elder brother, and consequently, Sir Cyril Lorne, of Lorne Abbey."

Everyone rose to his feet and stared at Cyril as if we were a ghost but he seemed to have no eyes or thoughts for anyone or anything but Leola, who, with an inarticulate cry clung to Mrs. Wetherell.

"The evidence does not allow of a shadow of a doubt; every certificate is clearly authenticated and proven the identity has been established beyond even legal question," said Mr. Sturge, rubbing his hands with solemn satisfaction. "You must forgive us, my dear sir," he continued turning to Mr. Ford who sat like a thing of stock and stone; "you ought to have received notice some months ago, but Sir Cyril held our hands and positively forbade us moving in the matter. Sentiment —sentiment, my dear sir," he whispered behind his hand, "wanted to make love, like one of the kings of old, in disguise."

And the lawyer laughed.

"But—but—and this is really a case of love!" said old Mr. Ford, with tears in his eyes, "Old fool that I was, I might have guessed it. Let me go to him!"

And he went and shook hands with Cyril, who was on his knee beside Leola, while Lord Beaumont fanned her.

Suddenly there was a loud crash of music in the air and the bells pealed out in wild clamor, while a noise of shouting and hurrahing was heard on the lawn.

"I told the vicar and old Dr. Thorne," said Mr. Sturgs, explaining; "That's the way to spread intelligence! The whole county will know it before the day is over."

But suddenly the sound of hands-e having turned, recalled their attention to the all-important performer in this thrilling comedy.

They had forgotten Philip Dyce, and even as he turned to go there fell a dead silence.

The cool, indomitable spirit had not deserted him. He stood with his hand thrust in the crest of his coat, looking at the group round Cyril with a sarcastic smile.

"Let me congratulate you," he said, "before I go on the success of your strategy. But I am afraid you will find that it is a very transient one. Mr. Ford, I leave Sir Godfrey's will in your charge. As for that imposter," and he glanced at Cyril with a malicious sneer, "the police will be better able to deal with him than I can."

He opened the door—no one had yet spoken—but suddenly Lord Beaumont said sternly:

"One word with you, Philip Dyce."

"Well, my lord," demanded Philip.

Lord Beaumont stepped up to him and said a few words in a low voice.

Philip Dyce started as if he had been shot, and a deadly pallor overspread his face. For the moment he seemed utterly unable to move or speak and his head dropped upon his breast.

Then, with an effort, he looked up and slowly seemed to take in the faces before him with one comprehensive stare, and with a smothered oath slipped through the window, "not to be used against him or Philip Dyce unless it was necessary."

"And where is Sline?" asked Mr. Ford, still in amaze. "Why did you not produce him and confront this—this ineffable scoundrel?" and he groaned.

"Sline is dying at Marsden's cottage," said Lord Beaumont, gravely.

"There's some one beside his bedside," he added turning to Cyril, "whose presence will surprise you. Cicely tells me you thought you recognized the woman in Ringland to whose house you were sent by an anonymous letter."

"Yes," said Cyril, musing, "I fancied I knew her, but could not recollect her face definitely."

"She was Sline's sister, and in Philip Dyce's pay. It was she to whom he sent Polly Marsden, and it was at her house that the detective and I found the girl."

Amazement sat upon Leola's and Mrs. Wetherell's faces.

"But the anonymous letters—by whose hand were they written?" said Cyril.

"Can you not guess?" said Lord Beaumont, reluctantly. "By Lady Vaux!"

Bronchitis More Than a Cold

Often develops rapidly into pneumonia—relief is found in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

And cold is serious enough when its dreadful possibilities are considered, but when there is soreness or tightness in the chest and a dry hard cough you can look for bronchitis, which is often confused with an ordinary cold.

It is usually known by aching limbs and body pains, chilly feelings, weariness and weakness, pain in the chest and a tight, tearing cough. Fever, dry skin, thick, coated tongue and constipation are other symptoms.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine seems almost like a specific for bronchitis because it is so successful in loosening up the cough, aiding expectoration and a speedy cure by its

CANADIAN TEAMS ALL WON GAMES SATURDAY NIGHT

Ottawa Well to Fore With Three Wins and No Losses So Far

ST. PATS BEAT N.Y.

Boston's Weakened Team Lost to Maroon's Details

Toronto, Dec. 7.—St. Pats came through on Saturday night with victory over the New York sextette on the Arena by a margin of 5-3, winning it the last period from the wearers of the Stars and Stripes. The losers of Saturday were considered to have the edge on before it had started and are favored by many to win the National League title this year. The victory of the Irish was as much deserved, however as it was unexpected, being the first period and part of the second the New Yorkers had more than their share of the play, but the Torontos team finished with a slightly better speed and stamina which pulled them through.

Jack Adams, veteran St. Pats centre player, was the hero of the game, going into the last period on the short end of a 3-1 count. Adams got into the fee after a rest and the period had been under way less than two minutes when he beat Forbes. Forty-five seconds later he repeated the performance, to put the Irish in the lead. These two bits of hockey were light into the team and from that they were decidedly the better team. They only scored two victors by 4-1 during the period.

The pace was fast from the start and was maintained during the greater part of the game, despite the heavy checking which might have slowed up many players. Both defences handed out some body checks which effectively stopped that particular rush. They were for the most part legitimate. Corbeau led in this respect and the veteran played a stellar game throughout. He was just as effective on the attack as on the defence and gave Torbes several interesting moments. He showed flashes of stick-handling which were well received by the fans. His teammate on the defence, Bert McCaffery, played a stellar game, his efforts being responsible for two goals. He received a great hand from the crowd. He was just as effective when back on the defence with Corbeau. Hoath's work in goal had nothing to do with the victory. Some of his efforts were sensational.

Joe Simpson stood out for New York, with Langlois and S. Green, sparkling at times. Dye got his usual two goals for St. Pats and along with the never faltering Corbeau vied with Adams, Dey and Neville as the best for the locals.

OTTAWA 1; PIRATES 0.

Ottawa, December 7.—By defeating the Pittsburgh Pirates by 1 to 0, Ottawa Senators scored their third consecutive victory in the National Hockey League. In their third game on home ice this season, the Senators were extended to the limit to defeat the Smoky City sextette, who uncovered one of the smartest, combination team play that local fans have seen for some time. The game was just as close as those one-sidedness and there was little advantage either way in the matter of general play.

Slightly more than half the final period had elapsed before Captain George Boucher notched the tally that settled the issue. After two scoreless frames, both teams were throwing their all into the final twenty, with the result that the spectators were in a continual uproar as the rival goalers, in turn, held the opposition at bay when scored certain.

Following a dangerous rush by Dury, Boucher broke from behind the Ottawa net and sped up the centre, tricking his way through the Pirate forwards. Coming into the defence he steadied himself and blazed a terrific ankle-high shot between Conacher and Roger Smith. Worters saw the disc too late, and, although he turned the full width of the net, he outstretched foot failed to reach the rubber and the net sagged, while the crowd went into veritable pandemonium. The cheering lasted for some seconds after play had been resumed.

MAROONS 4; BOSTON 0.

Montreal, December 7.—Montreal Maroons continue their merry way in the National Hockey League race, when they blanked the Boston Bruins, 4 to 0, before a crowd of 5,000 at the Forum Saturday night, but not before the crippled team from the "Hub" had sent a feeling of apprehension coursing down the backs of the local club's supporters. Boston played at a clip that was anything but what was expected from a team which was minus three regulars and was forced to use other payers who were hardly fit for the gruelling. But they could not stand up to the task and faded in the second half of the contest, conceding the win to the Maroons, who thus still stand tied with the Ottawa Senators for first place in the campaign.

BIBLES DISTRIBUTED IN THE HINTERLAND

400,000 Copies of the Scriptures in Many Languages Delivered In Canada

Toronto, Dec. 7.—(By Canadian Press)—Stories of heroism paralleling the best missionary traditions were revealed in the reports of colportage in distance and lonely outposts of the Dominion, which were made at the annual executive meeting of the Canadian Bible Society here. Far up the shores of the St. Lawrence to the Labrador, Bibles were carried; in the lumbering districts of Ontario and on the great plains of the west among peoples of alien speech.

During the past year more than 400,000 copies of the Scriptures in many languages were circulated in Canada by the Society, which has for its purpose the wider circulation of the Scriptures to every man in his own language, without note or comment. In the same period more than 9,000,000 Scriptures were circulated in China by combined Bible Society effort, almost one half by the British and Foreign Bible Society.

Heroic Measures in Old Country To Combat Heavy Frost

GAMES CANCELLED

Serious Injuries on Frost-Hardened Pitches—Attendances Droped

London, Dec. 7.—Despite many devices to protect the pitches, including the spreading of straw, salt and sand and the distribution of blazing tenders, there were many injuries on the frost-hardened grounds at soccer and rugby matches on Saturday, while a number of rugby fixtures had to be cancelled. Almost heroic measures were adopted by the Bradford club, where the ground was sprinkled with gasoline, which was set alight. This melted the ice and made the pitch quite playable. However in most cases the players were very cautious, with the result that scoring was at a discount. Eyre, of Bournemouth United, alone distinguished himself, getting three goals, after which he was carried off injured. Attendances dropped everywhere. The big league games only attracted 402,000 spectators altogether. Fighting the frost gout clubs a goodly sum. Huddersfield spending £200, while the unemployed were employed in getting the Blackburn grounds in readiness. Reading seemed so surefooted in their game with Northampton that the referee examined the boots of players during half-time. Mooney, of Newcastle, broke his leg; Hopkins, of Liverpool, broke his collarbone; Jennings, of Lincoln, strained his groin; Wells, of Arsenal, dislocated his shoulder; Barratt, playing against Whitstable, and Osborne, of Manchester, also carried off, as was Parker, of Sunderland.

The tidbit of the English First Division soccer matches was the game between Huddersfield and Burnley, the struggle ending with honors even, each team scoring two goals.

London, Eng., Dec. 7.—(By Canadian Press).—Cycle racing for women under National Cyclists' Union rules has been approved by the council of this body. Karn, McPherson, Wilson and Boyett were outstanding for the losers.

OTTAWA TEAM VICTORS BY 24-1

Canadian Senior Champions For First Time in Many Years

TOOK THINGS EASILY

Winnipeg Were Never Seriously in Running at Any Time

Ottawa, Dec. 7.—Ottawa Senators Canadian Senior Champions for the first time in many years. The Senators had an easy time of it on Saturday defeating Tommy Tigers, of Winnipeg, by 24-1. There never was any question about the superiority of the Senators. They started off well, and then with a safe lead, they eased off. This permitted Winnipeg to show something, but it was noticeable when Ottawa did tighten up, the Westerners could do very little. It was not a brilliant game; but there was plenty of open field play. The Senators did not show their usual dash and pep, simply for the reason that they did not have to.

Tubman was kept on the bench most of the afternoon, and Mulcocay, Aubi, and James did most of the work in this respect. Ottawa tried a lot of goals kicks, but did not gain much by them. Winnipeg did as expected and opened up the game with extension runs. They did make around a lot, but probably this can be accounted for by the fact that after half time if the Ottawa team did not over exert themselves to try and break up the Winnipeg play.

The field was slippery, and a strong wind blew straight down it. A crowd of about 5,000 watched the game. Play was clean, with only two penalties, both on Winnipeg, one for holding and one for jumping on after a tackle. The best of feeling prevailed between the teams.

BEAVERBROOK CAUSING BIG STIR

CANADIAN NOW FIRMLY IN LIMELIGHT

Press Despatch).—"I shall never buy or start another newspaper, except for defensive purposes or as a special," declared Lord Beaverbrook in an advertisement concerning the Sunday Express, one of his trinity of journals. The exception which his Lordship indicates is capable, of course of a very wide interpretation.

In an article discussing how the big financier has come to dominate London newspapers ownership "Truth" remarks:—

"To dark horse in the newspaper world to-day is Lord Beaverbrook. He is the ablest man in the business. He has money, brains youth, ambition. He has also personality. He is a man who takes long views; any observer can see that in his newspaper policy he is not concerning himself so much with the dividends for the day as with building for the future. The Beaverbrook is gaining in experience and ripening in judgment, but he still handicaps himself by tempestuous and unbalanced exhibitions which shows that he does not yet take himself seriously enough as a newspaper man. He will go far if he is capable of concentration on newspapers and manages to impress upon himself that responsibility goes with power."

Rumors which have been going around Fleet Street for some time concerning the fate of Lord Rothermere's Daily Mail, and its sister companions, the Evening News and the Weekly Dispatch, are thus disposed of in a paragraph in the Mail:

"A paragraph appears in the current number of G.K.'s Weekly which is edited by Mr. Gilbert Chesterton, the humorist, stating that negotiations have taken place between Lord Rothermere and Sir William Berry for the purchase of The Daily Mail, Evening News and Weekly Dispatch.

"There is not a word of truth in the suggestion. No negotiations have ever taken place between Lord Rothere and Sir William Berry for the purchase of those newspapers or any part of the property, nor have any such negotiations ever been suggested at any time or in any circumstances. No offer would be entertained. The whole story is utterly and utterly untrue."

WOMEN HIKERS MADE A RECORD

Averaged More Than 19 Miles a Day to Finish 1000 Mile Walk

Vancouver, B.C., Dec. 7.—(Canadian Press)—Mrs. Annie Rorvik and Mrs. Ann Johnson, of Prince Rupert, B.C., travelling more than a thousand miles on foot in Canada averaged 19 miles a day and covered the distance in two months. They won $100 from Mrs. Rorvik's brother, who said the thing could not be done.

Their packs weighed from 30 to 40 pounds, including clothing of food and sleeping bags. Sometimes they cooked their own meals and on other occasions they were guests of the farm or cook cars of railway and road gangs and in th homes of hospitable people along the route. They slept in beds at night were often in haymows, sometimes in hotels and frequently on the side of the tracks or in the shelters made by piling up railway ties.

CARE OF PIGS IN WINTER

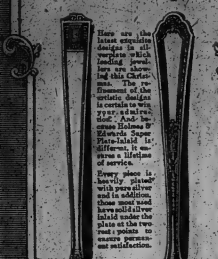

SUBSTITUTES FOR GREEN FEED, OR SUMMER ARE NEEDED.

Diet Is an Important Factor In Preventing Rickets—Also Recently Learned How "Tramps" Are Caused and Combated.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Considerable effort has been expended in attempts to discover what added winter rations for young pigs. During the summer when pigs are at pasture, rickets and leg weakness are quite rare occurrences. Pasture grass yields an abundance of all the required, vitamines, and also a large part of the ratinol supplies the needs in metabolism and prevents the condition known as rickets. Winter pigs need a large substitute for pig pasture or a feed that resembles green growing grass and can be fed in a practical way. This is best supplied by young clover hay secured according to the Alfalfa hay. If the hay is the clover leaves are well preserved, and of a green color, they contain a quantity equal to five per cent. by weight of dry grass ratios. Minerals must be ground limestone, ground phosphate rock, and ground common salt should also be fed in total quantity not necessarily exceeding two per cent. of the total ration. The alfalfa and the minerals will be supplied in the form of a good chop composed of two parts ground oats, one part bran, one part oilmeal. This will be preserved, and of a green color, the vitamines are nearly

TALE OF "CURSE" IS NOW REVIVED

Lord Leith of Fyvie Found Dead in Bed in British Home

London, Eng., Dec. 7.—(By Canadian Press)—In connection with the death of Lord Leith of Fyvie on November 16 a "curse" which is said to have been laid on Fyvie Castle long years ago is recalled. Lord Leith was found dead in bed at Hartwell House, near Aylesbury, Buckinghamshire.

Lord Leith, who was 79, was Alexander Forbes-Leith, the son of Rear-Admiral John Leith, and joined the Navy himself at the age of 13.

Twelve years later when he was a lieutenant on the Zealous lying in San Francisco Harbour, he met at a dance Miss Mary January, daughter of a wealthy American steel magnate. He married her, left the Navy and joined his father-in-law. Later he became a director of big steel companies in the Western States, entered into partnership with Andrew Carnegie, and eventually became chairman of the Federal Steel Company.

Then having added an immense fortune to that of his wife, he returned to this country and realized the dream of his life by buying Fyvie Castle the seat of his ancestors. In 1905, Mr. Alexander Forbes-Leith became Lord Leith of Fyvie.

Attached to the Castle is the legend of a curse, laid on it by the Scots poet and prophet, Thomas the Rhymer. He visited the Castle, disguised as a beggar and was turned from the doors. In his anger he declared that no laird of Fyvie should ever be succeeded by a son and the prophecy has been fulfilled to this day.

Lord Leith leaves no heir. His only son died during the South African war, and his grandson was killed in action in 1918. The latter was the son of Colonel C. S. Burn, Ex-M.P. for Torquay, who married Lord Leith's daughter.

one millions over the first eleven months of last year. In Ontario, which shows a decrease of five millions from the past year's figure, residential building has increased 22%; business buildings 15%, while industrial projects have fallen off 50% and public works a 4d ditto decreased by 21%. The Western and Maritime divisions are practically on a parity with 1924.

It is quite evident that generally speaking very active building operations will continue throughout the winter with a good market available for building materials and labor. The condition will behold more in some places than in others, of course, depending upon where the actual projects are elected.

MacLean Reports A Building Increase Over Other Seasons

Toronto, Dec. —Canadian construction contracts for the month of November, as compiled by Maclean Building Reports Ltd., totalled $37,272,800 as compared with $29,847,500 in October, and $24,614,200 in November a year ago. For the fourth successive month the totals have exceeded those for last year, culminating in November by an increase of 50.8% over the same month a year ago.

Residential buildings accounted for 19.2% of the November total and amounted to $9,228,000. Business buildings totalled $9,217,600 or 13.5%; Industrial Buildings $13,450,000 or 36.7% and Public Works and Utilities $17,826,200 or 37.9%.

The activity was distributed amongst the provinces as follows: — Quebec 33.9%; Ontario 39.9%; Prairie Provinces 3.7%; British Columbia 1.6% and the Maritimes 7%. Contemplated new work reported in November aggregated $37,549,200.—

Totals now stand at: $283,397,700 for the first eleven months in 1925 and for the same period of last year $217,393,200, showing an increase as for of 15.7% over 1924. The Grand total for twelve months of last year is already exceeded by over nine million dollars.

Not only does the November total exceed that for any previous November, it leads any month since 1913 except 1923, when fifty millions of new work was awarded. The usual seasonal decline is quite absent.

Unprecedented volume of construction in Quebec, particularly in the pulp and paper industry and in power development contributes the bulk of the increase in the totals for this year. That province records an increase of forty-

WARDEN WIGGINS REMINDS COUNTY OF ITS BLESSINGS

His Honor in Opening December Session Refers to Good Harvest

MR. MALLORY VERY ILL

Winter School at Stirling Hoped to Be Boon To County

At the Council chamber Shire Hall, the December session of the County Council opened at 2 o'clock, this afternoon, Warden W. E. Wiggins presiding and in opening the Council addressed the members.

Proceedings will continue morning and afternoon until Friday evening when the annual warden's banquet takes place at the Quinte.

THE WARDEN'S ADDRESS

Text of the Warden's address follows:

To the Members of the County Council,

Gentlemen,

I am sure it is a great pleasure to see all members present and enjoying the best of health.

We have a lot to be thankful for in this County for Providence has again blessed us with a bountiful harvest. This with good prices prevailing on live stock, cheese and butter, has a tendency to make it much more pleasant for the agricultural part of the county, which, in turn, makes it better for the Village, Town and City.

During the recess the work of the County has been very efficiently carried on by your various committees. The Corbyville, Suburban Area Road was officially opened by the Hon. Minister of Highways, and credit is due your Committee for the carrying out of this piece of work so efficiently.

The work of this session will not be very great as only routine work will be brought forward and on Thursday afternoon the Speaking Contest will take place for the young pupils of the Public Schools in this Chamber.

Since our last session we have had again exemplified to us that Hastings County Council is a great educator and beginning for public men for we had the honor of having Dr. A. T. Embury, ex-Warden and Mr. W. E. Tunnon, another ex-Member, elected to Parliament, and the hearty congratulations of this Council I am sure are extended to both of them in their new sphere of public life. This with the Hon. J. R. Cooke, Member of the Ontario Provincial Cabinet and the late T. H. Thompson, ex-M.P. call for this County.

The year now drawing to a close has been very pleasant indeed or me.

MANY SURPRISES IN HEAVY VOTING ON 12 ALDERMEN

Old Council Got Bad Wallloping From Ratepayers of City

WILMOT HEADS POLL

Duff, Railwayman Is Second—Front Street Well Represented

Belleville has chosen Robert J. E. Graham as mayor for 1926 and has selected what appears to be one of the strongest and youngest councils in many years. Probably the Great War, more than any other impediment happening, indicated that this was a young man's age, and Belleville-ites back Monday by electing young men to council, all of whom are newcomers to the municipal fold.

The time to lease the gas works to an English company for thirty years carried by 1621 votes, there being 2228 for, and 1153 against.

The by-law to reduce the council to nine members for a three year term failed, 1746 voting against it and 1644 for it. It was lost by 96 votes.

Mrs. J. A. McFee was re-elected trustee in Samson ward. She defeated Dr. S. R. McCreary by 138 votes. She polled 252. Mr. McCreary 117.

W. Harvey, in Bleecker ward defeated Roland Pearce for trustee by 72 votes. He polled 290, Pearce 117.

Only one of last year's council was sent back to a seat in the council chamber. This was Robert Gourley, who served part of last term.

A surprise came just before noon today when after a check-up of the figures it was announced that Mr. J. L. R. Gorman had been elected declaring Ald. Sam Trevarton. The successful candidate got 44 in Coleman No. 16 instead of 41 as previously announced. Ald. Trevarton gained 1 in Foster No. 2 and dropped 3 in Samson No. 3, making his total 892, a lie with Mr. Rollins.

THE SPEECHES

When all returns had been announced at City Hall after the check Monday night, Mayor Mikel Mikel called Mayor elect Graham. H. W. Greenlead, the defeated candidate, and all members of 1926 city council to the platform amid the cheers and plaudits of a crowd which taxed the capacity of City Hall.

MAYOR-ELECT GRAHAM

Mayor-elect Graham promised to do everything that he could to warrant the confidence of the electors. He congratulated Mr. Greenlead on the gallantly, clean cut campaign conducted.

MR. GREENLEAF

Mr. Greenlead thanked his nominators and supporters. It was not a fight he had been through but a sporting proposition. I will contigue to be a booster for Belleville," he promised.

MR. WILMOT

C. E. Wilmot who headed the polls for aldermen was deeply affected by the honor which electors had conferred. "I never knew I had so many friends," he said. "I will do all I can to make the work of the council during 1926, 100%."

MR. DUFF

Mr. F. Duff appreciated the splendid showing which electors had made possible for him. It was unexpected, he said, but he thanked the ballot for their reflection which on his behalf.

"Do not forget the services of the defeated councillors", reminded Mr. Duff. "They have given good and faithful service, to their city."

MR. MacCONNELL

A. H. MacConnell expressed his gratitude to electors, and promised to do all in his power for the city and its interests. It was a hard fight in a big field, and the losers should be appreciated and thanked for having shown their interest in the city by offering themselves.

MR. SINCLAIR

G. R. Sinclair thanked electors for electing him from a big fields of good men. Mr. Sinclair promised to boost Belleville and represent all, the best way he knew how.

MR. HYDE

C. L. Hyde thanked his supporters and expressed appreciation of the confidence which they had placed in him.

"I did not head the list", reminded Mr. Hyde. "I did not have my picture in the newspaper". This inspired thought her which pulled about the good natured crowds for five minutes.

MR. WOTTEN

F. R. Wotten thanked his supporters for the fine finish they had made to his unexpected campaign. His wife had told him that he would not get 50 votes. He really got several hundred and fifty votes.

Robert Goudy was not present.

DR. PROCTOR

Dr. A. C. Proctor thanked his friends and said he would make Belleville better if I possible. He thanked everyone who offered their services, whether they won or not.

MR. CHERRY

E. T. Cherry expressed his thanks and gratitude to electors who voted him into the 1926 council.

MR. COLLINS

A. B. Collins thanked his nominators both of whom were elected. He also thanked electors who voted for him and would do all he could for everyone.

C. C. Walker was not present.

In 1923 Mayor Mikel had a majority of 1,218 in a single contest for mayor. This was the highest majority ever given a mayor in Belleville. Last year with four candidates in the field, Mayor

BAGOT RETURNS NOT COMPLETED

Liberals, However are Celebrating Success, Tories Reduced Majority

Actonvale, Que., Dec. 5th—Liberals of Bagot spent the night celebrating the victory of G. D. Morin in the Bagot federal by-election yesterday which was needed till vicenoy caused by death of incumbent elect J. E. Marcile. His majority of 473 reported late last night was not changed this morning and final returns are not expected from remote polls until tonight or perhaps tomorrow owing to the condition of the roads.

In results, Liberals and Conservatives alike are finding both pleasure and disappointment. There is evident regret among Liberal forces at the reduction in majority. Conservatives regret their failure to win the county. At the same time they are finding keen satisfaction in the reduction of the majority. From both sides there is an aftermath of corruption and intimidation charges. Liberals are making much of boxes of chocolate distributed to children at one of the Conservative meetings in Actonvale. Conservatives are retorting in kind.

FIRST IN FOOTBALL AND FIRST IN STUDIES

Regina, Sask., Dec. 5.—The defeat of the champion Queen's team in the Canadian rugby final by Toronto was a good thing for football, said Dr. Bruce Taylor, principal of Queen's University, who is here today. "Queen's had held the championship long enough," he declared. "I am sorry, though, that the particular team could not have retained the championship to the end. They are breaking up. Eight of them leaving this year. They were one of the finest groups of men in every respect; good students as well as footballers.

"Football," he continued, "is just an expression of the life of the University. You can also add if I take a deep interest in the game. I should think I do." Queen's is not finished as a force in rugby, he went on to say. We have lots of football players coming on.—Leadley and Cunningham are two brilliant youths, Chantler and Voss."

The present team was somewhat worried by the prevalence of rumors to the effect some of its members were at the University to play football. "The record of the teams proves the absurdity of that," he declared. "Leadley was one of the finest students in civil engineering; Thomas made a great success in commerce and Red McKelvey will easily will be first in medicine.

St. Lawerence Power In Private Hands?

Toronto, Dec. 5.—A special despatch to the Toronto Star from a staff correspondent at Montreal published to-day says, "Ontario's fears of the power monopoly may be dissipated by the realization of hopes of a Montreal electric combine headed by Sir Herbert Holt. For Montreal interests have acquired the right to develop 1,-000,000 horsepower of electricity on the St. Lawrence River near the Ontario boundary and is willing to sell 300,000 or upwards to Ontario with the guaranteed approval of Premier Taschereau.

FOUND HALF FROZEN NEAR DESERONTO TOWN

Leo Bourett, aged 15, who wandered from his home here Monday morning, was found near Deseronto on the C.N.R. tracks by Constable Wilkins at Deseronto, half frozen and hungry and scantily clad for wintry weather. He was cared for and his parents were down in Deseronto this morning and brought him home. It is believed that no ill effects will follow the exposure to the cold.

Mrs. Bocrett reported her boy missing Monday morning at police headquarters. One hour later she telephoned and told police that a section man had seen the boy walking quickly along the railway tracks in the east yards and towards the east. P.S. Arthur Hartman wired Deseronto and Napanee to be on the look out. Later in the day Constable Wilkins wired back information to police here that he had found the boy near Deseronto on the tracks.

When the boy left, he was wearing only a sweater coat. When found he was not even wearing a sweater.

The boy had not been corrected at home and his mother was at a loss to know why he ran away.

Copenhagen, Dec. 5.—King Christian of Denmark has a novel way of curing lumbago.

While he and King Gustaf of Sweden were hunting elk with Prince Charles, the latter suffered an attack. King Christian immediately ordered one of the foresters to hammer away with clenched fists at the small of the prince's back.

Sequel To Accident Appearance in Court

William Nicholls, aged 24, 216 Coleman street, was not asked to plead to a charge of criminal negligence in police court this morning. The case was enlarged for one week by Magistrate Masson. On the second charge of operating a car for hire and gain without a license, accused pleaded guilty and the case was enlarged for judgment.

The merchant for whom Nicholls drives a delivery also charged with employing a driver who did not have a license and pleading guilty was fined $10 and costs of $6.55. He paid. The merchant had given the driver time off to get a license and understood that he had one.

This trouble arose from an accident on Moira street west Monday evening when a truck driven by Nicholls struck a buggy which was being driven by Miss Edith Daymond. Both shafts of the buggy were broken, spokes broken in one front wheel and Miss Daymond was painfully injured. She sustained a deep cut on her forehead 6 inches long and was badly bruised about the body.

Dr. S. Cronk and Dr. F. W. Hill attended the injured woman, and P. S. Boyd with P. C. Morris drove to the scene of the crash—126 Moira street west—where they investivated the accident. Nicholls admitted that he was not watching where he was going, and is believed to have been watching an uncovered coil box to see if the coil were sparking, instead of watching the street. The truck was not badly damaged.

A NAPOLOGY IS MADE, BY DISTRICT M.O.H.

Peterboro, Ont., Dec. 8.—Dr. Norman P. Sutton, district officer of health, is apologized to Dr. T. W. H. Young for alleged slanderous statgment made at a meeting of the Board of Health on the 17th of November last. Dr. Young has accepted the apology. The amount claimed in his suit was first announced as $25,000, but it was learned today that suit was entered in the County Court for $500.

The apology makes it clear that the statement was made at the meeting of the Board of Health in the words: "Made by me at a meeting of the Board of Health as to cases of death from diphtheria in which I said you were as responsible for the death of those children as if you had taken them out and struck them on their heads with an axe, I retract that statement and apologize for same."

CAR WAS LODGED ON DOCTOR'S LAWN

Trenton, Dec. 8—At 7.45 this morning, a McLaughlin sedan, one of Hagerman's taxis, driven by K. Lewis swerved off the corner of Dundas and Marmora streets, and skidding backwards, climbed the five cement steps which lead to the lawn of the residence of Dr. E. A. McDade, and came to rest facing down the hill, the front wheels clear of the curb, the back wheels only on the lawn across the sidewalk. The right rear wheel was knocked off. There was no other damage.

Mr. Lewis was running up the hill at a good speed to insure his making the grade. As he neared the top, his accelerator jammed and he was unable to reduce the speed. He said that he could have managed to make the turn despite this fact, if he had had the entire road in which to do it. An automobile approaching on Marmora had also caused zig zagging him on the Belleville road on his left.

He jammed on the brakes with the engine speeding, passed directly in front of the car, turning around in the process. The momentum of the car was such as to overcome the power of the motor which was pulling against it when it turned around.

No one was hurt. Mr. Lewis was answering a call from Mr. "Pat" Jennings and his sister, Mrs W. Beeher.

JOHN R. BOOTH DIES AT OTTAWA

Millionaire Lumberman, Grandfather of Princess Erik, Was 98

Ottawa, Dec. 8.—Jno. R. Booth, millionaire lumberman, died this afternoon.

It had been the fervent hope of the members of his family that he would live at least until he could celebrate his centenary anniversary.

The lumber king had been confined to his home since early in November, but the illness only became acute Saturday. The illness was not definite but just a gradual weakening brought on by old age.

His attendants state that he suffered little pain. Until recently he was able to sit up in bed and receive his family and business associates for a short time each day.

His brother, Col. E. J. Booth, of Burlington, Vt., arrived in the city with his son. Word has also been sent to another brother, and a sister. His surviving children, Mrs. A. W. Fleck, Aikens Booth and Allan Booth, and members of their families are at the bedside.

Mr. Booth took his usual trip to his Wadewana lumber limits this year, toward the latter part of September, but after a week in the woods he was brought home, his attendants fearing he would contract a cold. He has not left his home since.

Four Days in Jail For Manslaughter

New York, Dec. 8.—A sentence of four days in jail—the shortest term ever given on a charge of manslaughter—was imposed to-day on Ezra Conklin by Supreme Court Justice Seeger. Conklin admitted he was driving an automobile which struck and killed Robert McLaughlin on a dark night, and was unaware of the accident until his arrest."

The sentence was severe, says, and as Conklin had already been in Goshen jail he was released to-day. Because of his record as a well-behaved citizen his plea was not questioned.

WAS ARRESTED

Manley Salisbury was arrested in Rossmore this morning by P.S. Dan Boyd for Peterboro Police. An officer from Peterboro will come after him. He is wanted there on a forgery charge, the cheque involving the sum of $25.

This morning a young man reported the matter to police headquarters. Chief Kidd called Chief Constable Samuel Newhall of Peterboro, who verified the fact that there was a warrant out for his arrest at Peterboro. Sergt. Boyd drive to Rossmore immediately and arrested him, accompanied by the youth.

Warden Wiggins Reminds County and my sincere thanks and appreciation are extended to the various Committees together with all the Officials for their hearty co-operation and support. A report of the several Committees will be presented at this Session.

I am extremely sorry to say that for the last three months our worthy Treasurer has been confined and recently I found it necessary to appoint Mr. Nugent, the County Clerk as Treasurer, pro tem. in the interests of the County. I trust at this meeting, when we should decide on some definite course. I feel that if Mr. Mallory is unable to assume the duties that this Council should deal very generously with him, after so many years of faithful and efficient service and that he should either be given leave of absence or superannuated.

Lastly I wish to speak a few words re. the Agricultural Advisory Committee which was appointed last January. The work of this committee has been, I trust, very profitable for this County and when the report is brought down, I feel sure it will met with the approval of this Council. At last week's Committee composed of Col. Roscoe Vandervaart, Mr. C. H. Thompson; the Warden and County Clerk waited upon the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Mr. Martin, re. an Agricultural School in this County for Central Ontario, and we had the encouragement that something would be done and he assured us that a three-months course at school would be opened this winter at Stirling as a Trial School, and if this proved satisfactory a more Permanent School would be considered. This will be a great benefit to this County and district and should receive the support of each and every member this winter to make it an assured success.

In conclusion I trust we will have a very pleasant and profitable meeting and that the County Council of 1925 will always remain a pleasant memory to each and every one of us.

VISITED HOSPITAL

Warden W.J.E. Wiggins and Lieut. Col. Roscoe Vandervaart D.S.O., visited the General Hospital this morning, as the committee appointed by the County Council to do so. They were very gratified with the exceptionally good condition in which they found all department of the hospital and expressed this satisfaction to those in charge. They will so report to County Council.

There was no formal programme, everyone was made to become acquainted and they had very appetising refreshments.

MET TRAGIC END ALONE IN WOODS

John Gillespie, Toronto Builder, Killed by Shotgun's Discharge

Toronto, Dec. 8.—John Gillespie, well-known builder and contractor, of 174 Dundas Avenue, North Toronto, met a tragic death several days ago while on his farm near Wasaga Beach, Georgian Bay, but it was not until yesterday that his fate became known. His body was found lying by a log. Both barrels of the shotgun he had been carrying had been discharged and the gun lay behind the log. Mr. Gillespie had been shot in the left leg just before the knee. The bone was shattered and the arteries cut, and it is believed that he bled to death within a few minutes. The body was about 200 yards from the house. A farmhand living in a shack not far away says he heard a shot about nine o'clock Thursday night, but it never thought that Mr. Gillespie had had his day in the bush and had stumbled over the log in the darkness. An inquest is unlikely.

"Let there be harmony in things essential—liberty in things not essential—Charity in all."

THE CIVIC ELECTIONS

Last night's returns in Belleville were after all full of exciting facts. Most elections are: this one was no exception. The number of votes cast was one, more than is usually the case in municipal bailotings. Then the old council took a tremendous walloping. And quite a number of them are well down on the list this morning, showing according to a majority of "opinions" that there was a demand all over the city for a clean sweep, for reasons not set out in any detail but yet very definite.

Perhaps no more complete turnover has been seen here within recent memory. Not a leading member of council is left. Ald. Goody having been there but a short time, Ald. Treverton announced as one vote ahead of the thirteenth man and two votes ahead of the fourteenth man never was chairman of the executive.

At all events there are more "business men" in the council, in answer to the cry raised in their behalf. They will now be given an opportunity to show how much they can reduce the tax rate and still carry on routine to say nothing of emergent business.

As for the By-laws the one to amend the constitution of Council was turned down and that was after all rather to be expected for only once in the past thirty-one men in the field running for twelve places voluntarily to work for a system by which their chances were reduced from twelve to nine. The result yesterday does not necessarily say that the idea is totally bad.

The Gas By-law was carried by a comfortable margin. We may now expect progress in that quarter.

RIVAL SHOWS

In Washington, where the court martial of General Mitchell and the inquiry into the causes of the Shenandoah disaster have been competing with each other for the nation's front page space, it is the concensus of opinion that the probes have revealed one certain fact—that both the war and navy departments are in a sorry jumble of disorganization. Commenting upon this state of affairs, Mr. C. P. Stewart, a political observer at the capital, had occasion to say in a few days ago: "It isn't so much that experts in the two services are all split up among themselves concerning questions of national defense. The trouble lies in the wrangling groups attitude toward one another. Their arguments take the form of personal abuse. Each thing as discipline scarcely exists. The Mitchell trial and the Shenandoah hearing—mere verbal brawls, with actual physical explosions from the inquiry room featuring the latter case—have illustrated this." Mr. Stewart might have gone further and pointed out that what is wrong with the war and navy departments is a national condition—sensationalism. General Mitchell appeals to the public as superior officers interested in his plans for the improvement of the air forces of the United States, told his story to the public and for his pains he was deposed and demoted and a court-martial inquiry launched to complete his disgrace. And this inquiry been conducted with dignity it would have been perfectly in order, but it was staged with an eye to dramatic values only. The Shenandoah inquiry, instituted in the hope that the facts revealed would be useful in preventing a repitition of this disaster that sorrowed the nation, has borne a closer resemblance to a hippodrome spectacle than to an inquest. The disgraceful events which have featured these inquiries are certain to be considered by the sixty-ninth congress which means nothing more, if past experience can be used as a measuring rule, than that the shows will merely move on to larger quarters.

WEATHER GUESSERS

A Frenchman predicts that this will be the most severe winter in the memory of man. A farmer examines the thin coats of his stock and predicts that there will be a mild winter. "A great stack of pine cones, hoarded by squirrels, indicates cold weather ahead. The presence of large flocks of birds that ordinarily migrate to the south long ere this time of the year is interpreted to mean that it will be an open season. Pseudo-scientists and nature students are, as they always have been, in complete disagreement but the real scientists who have made a study of weather conditions have reached a common conclusion and it is that nobody knows. Considerable excitement was caused a few months ago by the prediction of a gentleman-astrologer in science that next year will be "the year without a summer." This was based upon nothing more substantial than that there was such a year a century ago and that it's about time for another one. It may be that the prediction will be found to be correct, but the odds are all against it. Astronomers have attached amazing accuracy to predictions based upon the movements of the heavenly bodies but the science of weather prognostication has not been developed to the same high degree of perfection. The weather probabilities for tomorrow that you read today are not guaranteed by those who issue them but certain dependence may be placed in the reports of the meteorological department. Supposing it was a hot summer next year, it would not necessarily mean famine. There is always an Egypt where there is food, even when there is famine in Canaan. Transportation has made the whole world one. Man is safe from everything but man.

A POSTAL PEST

Once more the public is asked by the postal officials here not to use tiny envelopes, because:

They cannot be satisfactorily passed through the electric marking machine. The cancellation mark covers too great a portion of the surface obliterating in many instance a part of the address. This necessitates picking out the small envelopes from the other letters and detailing employees, who might be more profitably engaged to stamp them by hand.

The small size of the envelopes renders the sortation and the making up of bundles more difficult and hampers the work of the office at a time when it is most desirable to get the mails as expeditiously as possible.

The public can assist the Post Office by refraining from using envelopes smaller than 3 inches by 4 inches

A NEW PROBLEM IN CHINA

Events in China have begun to move forward with a momentum which seems to be a source of more than mild surprise at Washington—and presumably at London and Paris as well. On the other hand, there is some justification for the guess that the capital has taken shock or worried by the trend of developments in Moscow.

Through the confusion that continues unabated in China, one significant fact emerges more and more clearly into view and that is the increasing political and military influence of Feng Yu-Hsiang, the so-called Christian general.

Up to a year ago, Feng figured in Chinese politics as a supporter of Chang Tso-lin, war lord of Manchuria. He unblushingly betrayed his friend when the latter sought to obtain control of Pekin. From allies they turned bitter rivals, but a truce ensued whereby the seat of the central government was to be neutral ground to both of them. The arrangement held as long as Chang possessed the physical force to compel observance.

Meanwhile, Chang's old enemy, Wu Pei-Fu, whose army was thought to be smashed beyond repair, staged a come-back. Simultaneously provincial tuchuns sout of the Great Wall turned on their Mukden over-lord. Disaffection then began to spread in Chang's own army south of the Wall.

This was the moment that Feng awaited. Betraying Chang once more the "Christian" general has taken possession of Pekin and threatens to march through the Wall and destroy the once formidable Chang on the latter's own ground.

Most of Feng's ambitious plan remains to be carried out, but his progress has already been remarkable enough. He owes it in a large measure to the reconcoutburst of nationalism in his country. To this passion with its anti-foreign fanaticism and its native disregard of obstacles head he has catered cleverly and effective y with his championship of "anti-imperialism" and the abolition of extraterritorial privileges is making him a national hero. To this cry he now adds the promise of striking down Chang and of finally incorporating Manchuria as an integral part of the national domain.

Seconding and abetting Feng are the agents of Moscow, foremost among whom is Karakhan, Soviet ambassador at Pekin. Having announced its share of the Boxer indemnity and having relinquished Russia's ex traterritorial status, the Muscavites are now posing as China's only true well-wishers among the nations of the world.

The problem confronting the western powers gener ally is a difficult one. Feng makes no secret of his learnings toward Soviet Russia. Knowing or un knowingly, he is being fashioned into a tool for the re conquest of Manchuria in Russia's sole interest.

DECAY OF PREACHING

Edinburgh Scotsman:

Clergymen and ministers of religion reading Dean Inge's remarks on the decay of modern preaching may be disposed to echo George Canning's line:

Of all plagues, good Heaven, thy wrath can send,

Speaking of the Church of England, the Dean declares that not only is the average sermon uninspiring, but the preaching is unworkmanlike alike even slovenly. It is some satisfaction to the Scottish ministers to learn that they put more thought int other discourses than do the Anglicans, as their people demand stronger meat than would be acceptable to most English congregations. But what Dean Inge says of the Anglican preachers is in a measure true here north of the Border. The crumbling of certain parts of the dogmatic structure has undoubtedly increased the difficulty of preaching. There is uncertainty as to what may or should be said from the pulpit. Ministers too, are not so conversant as they might be with the intellectual revolution which is going on in the minds of a generation which is not content to accept the old formula of religious beliefs with the result that much preaching does not touch the crux of religious uncertainty and is consequently unhelpful.

BACOT REMAINS LIBERAL MAJORITY IS CUT

G. D. Morin, Notary, Ahead By 473 Over His Conservative Opponent

NO POLLS FLOP OVER

Victor Increases His Majority In Own Parish—Details Still To Come

Acton Vale, Que., December 8.—Bacot remains Liberal, but with the majority considerably reduced. Returns by long distance telephone give a majority to G. D. Morin, Liberal, of 473. In the general elections, the Liberal majority was 774. As was expected, the village and canals of St. Pie proved the chief source of Liberal strength. It is in St. Pie that Mr. Morin practises as a notary and here the Liberal majority of 503 secured in the general elections was increased to 581. Inside St. Pie alone, Mr. Morin more than doubled the majority over his Conservative opponent, Hon. Isidore Fauteux, K.C.

HOPES NOT REALIZED

Early returns from the town of Acton Vale indicated that the Liberal majority might be wiped out altogether.

In this, the only town in the whole constituency, a majority of 276 secured in the general elections was reduced to 12. But returns from the villages and parish polls did not follow suit to the same extent. In Upton, the Liberal majority dropped by four in St. Christophe, from 110 to 85; in St. Andre, from 18 to 20; in St. Dominique, from 101 to 96; St. Hilarion, from 107 to 97.

In not a single polling sub-division, so far figures available indicate, was there a reversal in party sentiment. Those parishes which went Liberal or Conservative before have gone Liberal or Conservative this time.

Ste. Rosalie, the recognized Conservative parish of the county, held not by one majority for Fauteux but by many. Supporters had expected. In the general election, his majority there was 176; today it was 160. In St. Simon, he increased his general election majority by one; in St. Helene, his majority was reduced by ten; in St. Nazaire, his majority is down by five.

He made his greatest increase in majority in St. Theodore, where he advanced from 62 to 80.

In St. Hughes the Conservative majority is down by one.

Conservative workers attribute the result in St. Rosalie, St. Simon and St. Nazaire, to the fact that the Liberals had the conditions of the roads. In these three parishes travelling in the last few days has been difficult indeed.

It may be a couple of days before the full returns, including the vote cast for each candidate at the various polls in the county is almost entirely rural, many of the points being difficult of access, especially in view of the present condition of the roads in outlying parishes. Deputy returning officers, with the exception of the voting machine, are in the village proper of Acton Vale, have merely telephoned in not majorities. They have left details of the vote to come in later. These may not be here until Wednesday in a number of cases.

MR. AND MRS. ELECTOR AT HEADQUARTERS UNTIL A LATE HOUR

KEEN INTEREST SHOWN

Active Scene as Favorites Won or Were Placed In the Discard

Last night at the City Hall saw the almost complete extinction of the lines or Liberalism and Conservatism. The crowd was "all Belleville"—which is the healthy and proper thing.

Good natured, chatting and free exchange of banter was the mood of the crowd. The place was packed. Those who couldn't see were insistent for details from those who could have qualified for Frederick the Great's guards—the six-footers, to other words.

THEY SMOKED

The Mayor held the stage and entertained the assembly hall with humor and threats to sing while waiting for more returns. The entire building was blue with smoke, but the women liberated from the feminine necessity of coughing now that smoking is more common with them and not considered either masculine or vulgar when indulged in by men, did not cough, despite the heavy atmosphere.

THE SCORERS

In the ante-room of the City Engineer there was a large board on which the scores were kept. Scores of men industriously jotted down the results on tiny pieces of paper and on the backs of shabby envelopes which their wives had given them to mail last month.

There was great interest in the line of demarkation which marked the "first twelve" from the "other nineteen". This was the important point by nine o'clock. Mr. Treverton and Ald. Goody were jockeyed for twelfth place with two votes separating them for honors. Bets were flying, but not taken very fast. It looked like anyone's race in the last few places.

All the "wise guys" (who always seem to have a mysterious command of information which has not been issued to the general public as yet) were much in demand.

POLITICS

There were infrequent announcements about the returns. Partially divided the crowd into two camps. If made one think of the days of the General Election. Talk of the day and the local returns turned. The Government policies were discussed with much vigor.

After nine o'clock some of the candidates whose election had been quite safe began receiving the congratulations of the crowds. Hundreds sat in their homes away from the icy blasts and heated in to the counter-attractions for the returns. At hotels there were interested groups who felt anyone who was in politics "has had his day."

Monday towns called in, made ready for the tabulation of the results here. Trenton calls were frequent—it's only a suburb of Belleville anyway—and the people there were waiting to hear about the by-laws as well as the Mayoralty results.

The crowd was composed of young men and women. It was a night for young men; young men were being elected. Truly, youth will be served. This kind of election is good for any town; it creates good feeling. Strangers hailed you with demands for information; policemen yearned to hear; children pestered fathers for the lucky names. Belleville was late in getting to bed—ask any restaurateur. Their trade was good.

Leola Dale's Fortune

By Charles Garvice

CHAPTER XLII

The bells rang all that afternoon until six o'clock, when suddenly they ceased and for a few minutes one had alone tolled its knell for the dead. Silas had passed away! As has been said of a greater man than he, nothing became him so well as the life as his manner of leaving it. Before his spirit took its final departure he had some hours of clear consciousness and in that time the aim of the past rose so plainly before him that the miserable man was filled an agony of remorse until he had bared his bosom of its load and told all that he knew of Philip Dysart's schemes and his own share in them. After that he grew gradually more calm, and his last words were a prayer for forgiveness from Cyril, who came in to see him and assure him of that forgiveness.

Long before his dope and tool had departed for that bourne from whence no traveler returns, Philip Dysart and his sister had started for the Continent. In an out-of-the-way town, in the south of France, Philip, Dysart began that misery chain of his existence ever brooding over the past and without hope for the future. Occasionally he accompanies Lady Vane to Paris but they keep city of the world serves only to heighten the contrast between it and his own hopeless misery and in time he will sink into the morose recluse for whom are brings instead of honor'd memories and heaps of friends, the curse of a bad past and a remorseful conscience.

But for us Philip Dyce passed out from this life-drama when the Abbey window was closed upon him, and all we have to do with is this same evening, when the earl and countess welcomed at the Hawth Sir Cyril Lorne and his betrothed.

Beside Leola sat Cicely and more than once their hands met out of sight and clung lovingly and sympathetically. As Cicely said afterward, Leola had never looked more beautiful and added to her loveliness was a certain touch of sweet womanly pride. She had lost Lorne Abbey, and was penniless but she had gained her lover and was richer that she had ever been.

Meanwhile the earl was demanding from Cyril a full account of the Lorne romance, as he called it, and Cyril modestly and quietly gave it while Leola and Lord Beaumont applauding at the exciting parts and looking imensely interested and delighted, when Cyril with some emotion declared what he owed to Lord Beaumont's disinterested exertions on his behalf.

"He was my friend from the first," he said, laying his hands on Lord Beaumont's and pressing it. "He, the heir to Howth, was not ashamed to call an unknown man, a servant, his friend. Through ill-report he trusted me and proved his friendship in the noblest way. My lord," and his voice trembled, "I would give my life for you, that the friendship of your son."

"But," said the stately old man, "I haven't quite forgiven you, Lorne—masquerading- in a menial character in the home of your forefather. It was wrong, Sir Cyril."

"I admit it, sir" said Cyril, grave ly, "but it was done on the impulse of the moment. I came over to England believing that my uncle, Sir Godfrey, was still alive, and quite innocent not to mention him from the property which he believed to be rightly his. I first heard from Leola's own lips that my uncle was dead, and that he had left her the Abbey. I fell in love with her that morning—yes, that morning!" he repeated, emphatically, "and I determined to return to my cattle-run and leave her in possession of the Abbey. I would have done it, but, you see though I could have left the Abbey, and relinquished it forever, I could not leave her. I loved her. I thought it all through that night as I sat in the clay-house and I heard one of the men talking about the vacancy at the Home Farm; the idea of applying for that vacancy under an assumed name at once struck me. I should be near her, see her, with her! I caught the night mail, told Sturges and Burge to keep my identity and presence in England secret, applied for the situation, got it—and from then on the rest. That all has ended happily is owing, in no small degree, to Gerald—my friend."

The earl smiled as the two young men again shook hands.

Then they went into the drawing-room.

"Where's Gerald?" asked the countess, suddenly, half an hour afterward.

"I don't know," replied the earl, who had been talking with Mrs. Wetherall.

"And Cis, too," said the countess. Leola glanced at Cyril and blushed and he smiled back significantly. "I'll go and find them; they are sure to be in the studio," said the countess; but before she could reach the door it opened and Lord Beaumont came in with Cis on his arm, he looking very proud and haughty and she with a shy flush on her delicate face.

The earl stared, the countess stood like a statue.

"Where have you been, you two?" she asked.

"Preparing a surprise," said Lord Beaumont. "Mother, Cis has promised to be my wife; now we can all be happy with Cyril and Leola!" he added, as the earl shook him by the hand, and Cis was folded in the countess' embrace.

"It's no surprise for me," said Cyril; "but it is the one thing wanted to make me perfectly happy. Cicely—we're the two luckiest men in the world!"

THE END.

MISSING VILLAGER BELIEVED MURDERED

Weird Stories Reluctantly Told To Police By Terrified Citizens

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Dec. — The Village of Northland, on the A.C.R. is excited over the recent disappearance of a section man named Sammy, who vanished suddenly, and weird stories which are being recounted by residents have prompted an investigation by the Provincial Police, who believe the man may have been murdered and his body buried or burned. On the evening of Sammy's disappearance some very peculiar incidents took place near Northland which aroused the suspicions of the residents. A woman was seen carrying a shovel and an axe and digging what she claimed to be a garden. It was a small plot indeed, and has not as yet produced anything but weeds.

The small plot, which in some circles is believed to be the grave of the missing man, a bonfire was seen burning for a considerable time.

Since the reported disappearance a young man who was quite chummy with Sammy, was seen wearing Sammy's mackinaw, and which questioned regarding it declared: "Why, didn't you know that Sammy hanged himself in the bush.

Residents of the place say that they have been reluctant to tell of the circumstances, being in fear of their lives if they brought the police. None will say whom he fears.

THREE C.N.R. TRAINS CRASH NEAR COTEAU

Engine of First Derailed and Two Others Completed Smash

Montreal, Dec. — Three Canadian National Railway freight trains crashed into each other just west of the Coteau station and the passenger trains from Toronto to Montreal were delayed nine hours. Two employes suffered slight bruises.

The wreck occurred through the derailment of the engine of a west-bound train. While it was stopped a second train crashed into the first train, and some of the wreckage protruded over the eastbound track. Before it could be cleared or necessary signals made to stop it, a freight train, eastbound, crashed into the wreckage.

The fur border of last year's coat has been replaced by the circular flounce, while the fur has moved up into the cost collar and the cuffs.

COATS have followed the new wider movement in fashion and have adopted flares and princess lines. Now comes the coat with the circular flounce, which repeats itself in the circular cut of the sleeve. For an afternoon ensemble this is extremely smart for velvet, or for ribbed silk or satin made delightfully warm by a lasha lining. Fabric fun short-cap coatings, the smooth-faced plain coatings or the novelty weaves are suitable for general wear. A silk frock matching the coat lining, which this year often contests with the coat, turns it into an ensemble.

HERE is a frock that illustrates three most important developments in the Winter mode—the suggestion of fitting in the basque, the width of the circular skirt and the uneven edge of the scalloped hem. The straight line from shoulder to hem but practically disappeared for the more formal type of frock, though it retains its vogue for sports clothes and wool frocks. Dancing-dresses and afternoon frocks of taffeta, crepe de Chine or Georgette must float below and suggest the figure above. Evening frocks are entirely sleeveless and for afternoon the sleeve may be short.

Help Needed For Children Here is Where They Get Well

During the past ten years, the period in which Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, founded by the late Sir Adam Beck, reached the height of its vigorous activities, the annual tuberculosis death rate in Canada dropped from 130 per hundred thousand of population to 81. In Ontario, where anti-tuberculosis forces have intensified their efforts the rate is now below seventy per hundred thousand. Still thousands of deaths occur annually from the white plague, and the dental disease is authoritatively declared to be the most prevalent of all maladies that afflict mankind. The importance to the general public throughout Ontario, of work carried on by Queen Alexandra Sanatorium is found in the 3331 patients have been treated from all parts of the province. The actual treatment of the patient is just one phase of regular procedure. The discovery of each case requiring sanatorium treatment reveals to the institution a source of further infection. Whether the case be that of a man, woman or child, an immediate investigation is followed through among all with whom the patient has associated. Other members of the family, fellow-workers in shops and factories, children in schools are quickly investigated. Those who seem most likely to have been endangered are quickly and unobtrusively consulted and advised to submit to immediate examination. Very often persons who have had no suspicion of infection are found to be actually in the first stages of the disease and unless are at once afforded treatment the progress and in future return to good health. Such early discovery is one of the most effective of all means by which the scope of the plague has been diminished and the annual toll of unnecessary deaths reduced. Nearly 350 children discovered in the early stages of infection have been treated for surgical operation at the sanatorium and not one has died. No more conclusive evidence of the effectiveness of such preventive operations could be conceived of. Meanwhile those who have been more seriously infected are urged until they are no longer a danger either to themselves or the public. If for any reason they are unable to go into the sanatorium for a period they are educated as to the manner by which they can assist in preventing the spread of germs to others. Thus the general public is safeguarded in thousands of ways, yet those who benefit are often unaware of the protecting influence about them. Meanwhile the sanatorium is carrying forward in a manner deserving of the full support, scientific research work in quest of a solution of the whole problem, confident that some one will some day produce a cure. The Beck Memorial Endowment for which campaigners are now working in all parts of the province is intended to sustain these activities in perpetuity, thus providing a living monument of mercy to Sir Adam Beck. All branches of the Bank of Montreal have been instructed by the management to receive and forward subscriptions to the Beck Memorial Endowment Fund.

Manager Tommy Gorman and his Montreal combination into Montreal at the week-end, and the team worked out at the Arena before a fair-sized crowd. Plus the services of Joe Simpson and Morrison from the west, and of Billy Cameron, formerly with Canadiens. New York are practically the same as the team which last year landed Hamilton into the N.H.L. play-off, and then went on strike and refused to compete for the league title.

The New York combination, in previous "dope", was rated the best all-round championship combination in the augmented circuit this season. They defeat at Toronto the Maroons, beaten by St. Patricks was an unexpected setback as it is within reason that the Americans would prefer to go into the play-offs in New York next Tuesday with a good record from their long road jaunt, and St. Pats' victory preceded a long road battle, the one here tonight with Canadiens and the second Thursday night at Ottawa, both of which the Americans should find difficult to capture, if they do attain that success.

EXPECT A THRILLER

As last season when Canadiens and Hamilton waged several thrilling contests, tonight's game will be another clash of speedy and cunning forward players, with Morenz facing Captain Billy Burch, of the New York team; Joliat holding Shorty Green, and the aggressive McKinnon catching speed and checking with Billy Boucher.

While Canadiens are playing New ton Bruins on the latter's home ice in a York here, Montreal will face the Boston team, the Maroons having left on Boston here Saturday 4-0. A win for Montreal tonight will place them in a strong contending position for their next game Saturday night at the Forum against Ottawa, with whom the Maroons are tied for first place in the league and Montreal should beat the Boston team tonight, but cannot afford to be overconfident with this league combination which is liable at anytime to upset the calculations of the smartest teams.

RE-ELECT TOOLE BASEBALL CHIEF

International League Will Draw Up in Toronto During February

New York, N. Y., Dec. 8.—John Conway Toole was re-elected president of the International Baseball League for a term of five years after opposition to him, said to have been sponsored by Major league interests, had been overridden by a majority of club owners.

The schedule meeting of the League will be held in Toronto, some time during February. L. Solomon, owner of the Toronto Maple Leaf club, is one of a committee of three which will draft the playing date.

The Newark internationals have purchased Al Mamaux, veteran pitcher, from the New York Yankees, and also signed George Burns veteran outfielder for 1926, it was announced.

The Newark club also announced it had signed Tom Sharkey, formerly of the Reading club, as trainer.

The Syracuse Internationals created a surprise when the secretary of the club announced waivers had been asked on 19 players, including George Blaeu, outfielder, who led the Western League in batting last season as a member of the St. Joseph, Mo., club.

U.S. Tariff Angry Topic

Washington, November 8 (By Canadian Press).—Outbreak of protest against the tariff law when Congress convenes promises to be more violent than has been generally anticipated. This outbreak may not succeed in forcing the regular or "Old Guard" republicans, who control the machinery of House and Senate, to undertake tariff revision the coming winter but it will mean things worse, in fact, they are already apprehensive over the tariff controversy which they seem looming up.

The factor which promises to make most trouble for the high tariff supporters is the rapidly growing feeling in the agricultural sections and especially in the agricultural states of the Mississippi Valley and the northwest against the present high duties on manufactured products. Letters are pouring in from Republicans in those sections denouncing the operation of the present tariff law, declaring it benefits the eastern manufacturer only, and threatening to beat the Republican Party. The demand of the agricultural elements is that they be as well protected and aided by the Government as are the manufacturers and other business interests.

Added to the attacks on the tariff law from agricultural source are the attacks of the Democrats and the criticisms from many manufacturers that the present rates are not high enough. Manufacturers in some lines of industry point to the vast importations from Europe and other parts of the world as evidence that the rates as to these industries are not adequately protective. For instance, it is well known the textile manufacturers are dissatisfied with the rates.

HOW STOCK IS HANDLED

PRACTICES WHICH ARE FOLLOWED AT THE STOCK YARDS.

Not Necessary for Owner to Be Present—Humane Society and Care of Animals Are Served According to Grade and Payment Made on This Basis.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

It is not feasible for all the deviations the stock takes going through the yard, but it is possible to give the reader some idea of the regular channels of movement.

Stock yards are built on a definite plan of small and large pens to efficiently fill the various requirements and each class of stock is allotted a certain section of the yards.

On arrival of stock at the yards it is immediately unloaded into the unloading pens and the pens are locked by the employe of the stock yards company. These pens are divided into sections according to the different classes of live stock can be kept separated in cases of disease attack. Usually all the cars at the train-load are unloaded into these pens before the distribution of stock to the various pens for sale or shipment. During this operation there is a member of the Humane Society present, whose duty it is to see that the live stock has been properly loaded, cared for in transit and that it is handled judiciously while in the yards, also to direct the care of dead and crippled animals. It is not absolutely necessary for the owners of the stock to be present as their interests are looked after by employes of the stock yards company. Each class of stock from here goes to its own section in the yards. It is not necessary to follow a carload out of stock yards through, so will confine this report to a carload of butcher cattle.

Handling Butcher Cattle.

When the cattle leave the unloading pens they are counted and this mark each animal in the railroad shipping bill. They are then moved and locked in a pen in the alleys of the commission firms to whom consigned, where food and water are available. (It may be stated here that most cattle are fed and watered as it order to receive a good price it is necessary that they have a good fill to appear at their best at time of sale. If not, the buyer take advantage of this and cut down the price, so it is the shipper's try to reach the market a day previous to selling in order that the cattle may have a good fill and quiet down.

The gate is unlocked and the stock released to the commission firm, after it accepts the count and signs a slip to that effect. It is responsible also for any stealing or mixing of stock. Before the market opens the stock is sorted according to grade. The market opens at 8 a.m. and closes at 4 p.m., and no trading is done before or after these hours under penalties provided by the rules of the Live Stock Exchange.

When the market opens the buyers enter the pens, look over the stock and make their bids for the lots they require if they are of even quality or individuals, according to grade. The prices offered depends on trade conditions, the class of stock and the actually establish it. When the salesman is satisfied that the highest market possible bid he completes the sale, as it stands for the day, and cannot be over until the next day. Each party keeps his own records and a final settlement is effected later when the day's bargaining is over. A credit to the market personnel that there is a huge business to be carried on in this manner without the aid of a pen to a pen and handling cars with very rare disagreement later as to the prices and kinds of stock assorted According to Grade. "

The stock is driven to the scales by employes of the commission firms assorted and weighted into pens, according to the grade and kind sold. A weigh ticket is made out and stamped by employes of the yards company showing the weight, owner, commission firm, number in load, purchaser, and agreed price. The weight is now cut of the shipper's hands and driven and locked into pens according to the name purchaser as weighed. Export cattle are kept separate, of course, to comply with the quarantine regulations.

Cattle that are bought although are stop off to be fed and watered are unloaded after by the stock yards company. They are unloaded and driven and locked into pens, fed and watered, and then reloaded to continue their journey.

Calves and sheep are handled much the same as the various classes of live stock. While in the unloading pens the calves are inspected by a representative of the Medical Health Officer who or suspected calves, and the doubtful ones are set aside and if necessary final inspection when slaughtered at the rail. The operative departments, of course, necessitate the marking of the animals and there can be no rated settlement. This is best done by ear tagging the cattle and the use of paint color for the sheep and lambs.

When hogs leave the unloading pens they are counted and marked in the same as the other stock. They are taken directly to the scales and weighed, then locked into pens and either fed and watered or not, according to instruction from the owner. Most hogs here are sold on the "weighed off car" basis. They are bought by the German packers before selling, and a grading sheet accompanies each car. The selling is much the same as for the cattle, the stock yards company demands that all grades be sold when under their care, and a slip signed when released.

On hogs shipped co-operatively the selling weights are deducted from the home weight and the shrink expected to each animal. Each lot must bear a distinguishing mark so that each shipper receive the proper grading sheet. The salesmen make the best mark by cutting the hair in various designs.—A. Leitch, Dept. of Economics, O. A. College.

Emmanuel School Room Enfete Annual Bazaar in Progress Attractive Articles Displayed

Emmanuel Reformed Episcopal Sunday School room was en fete to day when the Ladies' Aid of the Church held their annual bazaar and sale of home cooking.

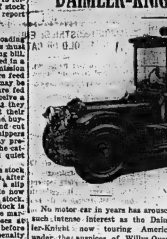

The entire School hall had been transformed into a most attractive centre, one half reserved for the tea room and orchestra, the other for the sale booths and all were most charming. The tea room carried out a color scheme of yellow and white in bright crepe paper streamers and bunches of yellow and white chrysanthemums. Here the convenors were Mrs. R. H. Richardson and Mrs. Harry Thompson. Miss Shute poured tea and was assisted by Mrs. Evan Barlow, Mrs. Monty Barlow and Miss Lottie Wallace. Each little table, like the large central table was centred by a bouquet of chrysanthemums in yellow and each had yellow candles in dainty silver candlesticks. The delightful luncheon menu cards were the work of Mrs. Shutran of Ottawa.

The fancy work booth, of which Mrs. Henry Thompson was in charge, was really lately with its decorations of mauve and violet, finished with bouquets of mauve chrysanthemums and there very dainty pieces of linen were sold, consisting of anything from a pretty hand made handkerchief to a handsome table centre. Mrs. Hallen took charge of the candy and home cooking booth which with its color scheme of green and white was most attractive and a popular centre for all wishing the daintiest of confectionery, cakes and pies.

Mrs. Wilkinson had a busy afternoon at the pretty pink apron booth and this proved a popular fixture solving the difficulties of many who wished an apron for any occasion found a cover all to a tiny hand embroidered tea apron. Each booth was well supplied with efficient assistants.

During the afternoon and tea hour the many persons who dropped in were entertained by a pleasing programme of piano solos and the entire affair proved a success even beyond the expectations of the ladies in charge of the arrangements.

DAIMLER-KNIGHT A FINE CAR

No motor car in years has aroused so much interest as the Willys-Knight-Knight now touring America under the auspices of Willys-Overland, manufacturers of the Willys-Knight motor car. It was built especially for His Majesty King George V. of England in 1910, and was used by him from that time until late in 1924. It was then replaced by another Daimler, with the same type Knight motor. After 14 years in the service of the King, the car is now touring America under the auspices of the Willys-Knight motor car. It was built especially for His Majesty King George V. of England in 1910, and was used by him from that time until late in 1924. It was then replaced by another Daimler, with the same type Knight motor. After 14 years in the service of the King, the car is now touring America under the auspices of the Willys-Knight motor car. It was built especially for His Majesty King George V. of England in 1910, and was used by him from that time until late in 1924. It was then replaced by another Daimler, with the same type Knight motor. After 14 years in the service of the King, the car is now touring America under the auspices of the Willys-Knight motor car.

The "King's Daimler" is equipped with a Knight sleeve-valve engine, 6 cylinders, 4½ bore with 5-2 inch stroke, which develops 87 horse-power. The wheelbase is 148 in. and the car weighs over 7 tons all. Tires are 36 x 6. The car, without gasoline o rpassengers weighs 9,170 lbs. or slightly less than three tons. In spite of this tremendous weight, it attains a speed of 50 miles per hour and averages 6 1-2 miles per gallon of gas. The gasoline tank carries 25 gallons.

The rapid development of the automobile is very clearly illustrated by this fine car. The electrical equipment is quite primitive, each lamp having a complete and separate circuit. The independent and generator are both driven by a belt off the drive shaft.

The dual ignition system was installed in this car by means of the electric starter. The starter is one of the old time friction drive type. The limousine body is entirely of the set examples of coach building to be found anywhere. While it is some what out of date, it is as useful today as when it was first delivered to the Royal Family. The body back of driver's seat is entirely of glass and is finished in the Royal colors—maroon with a striping of vermillion and black. The interior is upholstered with goat skin, a unique feature to those familiar with modern cars. A speaking tube is also lining is provided for each passenger. The interior fittings are complete—cigar and cigarette trays, vanity cases, etc.

For the convenience of those in the Toronto, two speedometers are installed in the front of the rear compartment. One of these registers the things both miles and furlongs. The other registers the constant speed per hour and the maximum speed per hour during the trip. One speedometer in front gives the driver the same information.

The top is extra strong and is equipped with a railing—thus providing a capacious luggage carrier. The fenders are of leather, as are the running board shields. The car is equipped with wire wheels. The lining of the tonneau is worth feit, to prevent rattles, is another example of the extreme care exercised in building the car.

On July 20, 1925, this grand old car passed its 176,000th mile, and the engine is today as quiet, flexible and trouble-free as ever—a shining example of the supremacy of the Knight sleeve-valve engine.

"SEAT GUARDS" IN ROME "LOUNGE LIZARDS" HERE

Rome, Dec. 8.—"Seat Guarders", somewhat like the "Lounge Lizards" of America, have originated here as a result of the growing predilection for afternoon tea in the English fashion.

Rome's number of tea rooms is restricted, so each afternoon young men swarm to the numerous work tables and hold them until the tea-seekers arrive. Then, instead of relinquishing the chairs, the guards are merely offer to make room for the arrivals, slipping back as soon as tea is over.

To-date, the new occupation mere ly is used as a means for social adjustments, but there are indications of commercialization.

See Hollywood As Magic Place Of Many Changes

Hollywood, Dec. 8—Because of its insignificance not so many years ago, Hollywood became one of the goals of the world's movie-struck.

Dating its first ten years after 1900, when the motion picture industry was beginning to come into being, Hollywood stubbornly refused to show any marked growth. Its founder, H. H. Wilcox, a real estate man formerly of Ohio and Kansas, had laid out the district attractively, unfaltering it as desirable residential property. But there was too far from the then small city of Los Angeles.

Most of the motion picture studios were in the East, but a few were located in and around Los Angeles. None were in Hollywood.

There was no lighting equipment then such as is used now, and pictures made in California, where there was plenty of sunshine, showed results that were difficult to obtain in sections more frequently visited by rain.

Back in New York the Nestor Company of David Horsely was experiencing unending trouble. With a large payroll to meet, rain or shine, bad weather was eating up the profits. Horsely and his associates decided to go to California.

The heads of the Nestor Company had heard of Hollywood. It was a pretty place. But the best feature was that a location for a studio probably could be obtained there for little or nothing. And so, because of Hollywood's very insignificance, the motion picture "magnates", upon arriving in Los Angeles with about $50 between them, went immediately to the western suburb and rented an old tavern and its barn for a studio.

Although today the industry is looked upon by every citizen as the community's greatest asset, its entry into the town was not sought, and it was several years before the people took to the fact that the movies were making Hollywood, and the business became persons grata.

For years after their arrival, that is, until the drawing power of the industry became obvious, the people of Hollywood were subjected to all

"Tess" Presented In Hardy's Home

London, Dec. 8.—Thomas Hardy, who is 85 years old, was unable to come to London to see a performance of "Tess of the d'Urbervilles," which is running at the Garrick Theatre, so the London company travelled to his home at Dorchester on Saturday and gave a special performance of the play in the aged author's drawing room! The audience of a dozen, included the household servants.

No attempt was made to use scenery or properties other than the tables, chairs and screens in the room, and the long red window curtains as a back screen. The illumination consisted of candles and oil lamps. The interpretation of the play, however, lost nothing through its simple setting.

The players were inspired by the presence of the author. They said afterwards that his personality had stirred and invigorated them. They rose to great heights and gave a performance that moved both themselves and their audience away.

All agreed that Miss Fragoun Davies, who took the part of Tess, excelled herself. In the scene where Tess confesses her sin to Angel Claire and throws herself broken-hearted on the floor, Miss Davies' sobs became real and at the end of the scene she had to be lifted to her feet and helped out, still sobbing.

Tears glistened in the eyes of Mr. Hardy, who was deeply impressed by the performance. It is stated that he discussed with the producer the possibilities of writing a one-act play.

BIRKENHEAD'S ARTICLES

Baldwin Says Minister Has Ceased To Write For Press

London, December 8.—Premier Baldwin, in answer to a question in the House of Commons as to whether he had received assurances from Lord Birkenhead he is one who the latter would fulfill his undertaking to discontinue his contributions to the press replied that Lord Birkenhead had ceased to write articles for the press. He already had parted with the ownership of a limited number of articles, over which he had no control now the Premier stated, and only one article still remained in Lord Birkenhead's possession.

The member who had asked the question said he like to be placed at this remainine article. Premier Baldwin smilingly remarked. It was on the subject of eloquence he added.

General laughter followed this sally.

The Premier's statement that Lord Birkenhead had ceased to write for the press was greeted with cheers.

Gas of War Not Deadly

Washington, Dec. 8.—Armed with a mass of statistics and scientific data, the Always Chemical Warfare Service has launched a campaign to slay a ghost that came back with the army from France.

War has been declared against the haunting specter that lingers in the minds of thousands of those who got a whiff or five "over there," that some day because of lasting injury done by gas to their lung tissues they will fall victim to the dread white plague—tuberculosis.

This spectre is a pure figment of fancy said Major General Amos Fries, chief of the Chemical Warfare Service. Exhaustive scientific investigation during and since the war, General Fries maintained, has marshalled casualty figures and the verdict of British, French and American doctors to sustain his assertion—has failed to disclose any case whatever of evil after effects of gassing.

Gassed men, he declared, either died or got well; there was and is no middle ground; no army of maimed and crippled sufferers such as bullet and bayonet and shell left in their wake.

General Fries admitted the task he and the regular and reserve officers of the Chemical Service have undertaken is a titanic job. He did not attempt to deny that the overwhelming verdict of public opinion is against his settled judgement that gas is the most humane and at the same time the most effective weapon of war yet devised by man.

"It is a big job to convince 110,000,000 people, nearly all of whom think otherwise," General Fries said, "but that is what we are trying to do."

In the judgment of the chemical officers, few of the after effects of gas in the minds of veterans is the most difficult obstacle to overcome in changing the views of these millions of people on the general question of using gas in war. Almost everybody, General Fries points out, has talked with veterans who sincerely felt that they had been forever impaired physically by reason of a touch of gas.

On the possibility-that gassing induces subsequent tuberculosis, the war casualty reports of the surgeon general are illuminating. They show that 72 cases of tuberculosis occurred in 1918 among the 70,552 men in the army who had been gassed, the rate per 1,000 being 1.45. The annual rate for troops in Europe that year, other than the gassed men, was 2.50 and in the following year 4.30.

"It would seem apparent," the surgeon general commented, "that tuberculosis did not occur any more frequently among the soldiers who had been gassed than among those who had not been gassed.

"Deaths from gas are at least lower than one to ten compared with other war weapons, permanent disabilities are practically negligible and after effects are of no moment." General Fries continued, adding that compared to older methods, gas warfare "must be commended instead of being condemned."

Notable Cast Seen In Pony Express Film

A notable cast has been assembled in James Cruze's new Paramount production, "The Pony Express," to be shown at the Bella Theatre to-night and Wednesday.

Betty Compson has the leading female role—Ricardo Cortez appears as the hero of the story, a pony express rider, Ernest Torrence, as Ascension Jones, a blacksmith and religious fanatic. Wallace Beery has a part which scintillates with real humor throughout. All four players are featured in the principal roles of the production, written for the screen by Walter Wodos from the story by himself and Henry James Forman.

An interesting characterization is that of the half-breed Indian, Charlie Brent, played by Frank Lackteen. John Fox, Jr., who has grown considerably since he played the part of the tobacco-chewing boy in "The Covered Wagon," also has an important part in the story.

Al Hart has the role of Senator Glen, William Turner is part of William Russell, and Rose Tapley is the aunt.

Baby Vondell Darr and Clarles Gerson complete the line-up.

TRIO OF BAD ACCIDENTS REPORTED FROM NEARBY CENTRES

U. F. O. IS SOUND SAYS MORRISON DESPITE POLITICS

Question of Re-Entry to Come Up Again Thurs-day Morning

REMENDING OF FENCES

Co-operative Co. Elects New Officers — Alvinston Man President

Toronto, Dec. 9.—The question of the United Farmers of Ontario taking part in politics has again been raised at the annual meeting of that organization and today it was decided that the matter would be discussed at tomorrow morning's session. Urged by General Secretary J. J. Morrison the organization, following the downfall of the Drury Government adopted a resolution to withdraw from partisan politics.

Mr. Morrison presented his annual report today. He briefly reviewed to his story of the U.F.O. that history, he said had its acts of wisdom and of folly, its moments of triumphe and its moments of disaster, but with surprising unanimity it had stood the test and maintained its principles.

"Battle scarred though we may be, the U.F.O. holds a higher place in the public esteem than ever before", said Mr. Morrison. The reversal at the polls had shaken the U.F.O. to its foundations, Mr. Morrison said that independence of the U. F. O. is politics although lived up to by only a minority, is the absolute basis to partisanship. It had suffered as the old parties suffered from self-seekers. The U.F.O. was now facing its fewest after the storm.

President H. A. Gilroy, Alvinston, Vice President James Ross, Woodbridge, and the third member of Executive, J. A. Bothwell, Owen Sound, a former president.

Christmas Gifts Originate Mostly Across the Ocean; Best Toys Made In Canada

England, France and the United States are the principal outside sources of Christmas supplies for the Belleville merchants and the importations this year have just been the average, Major E. A. Greer, local inspector of customs, stated today.

Merchandise from many other countries is undoubtedly on the market, in the city he said but these have been mostly imported at the big wholesale houses in Montreal and Toronto and are sold to the local merchants consequently they are not inspected by the local authorities.

England contributes dry goods, France laces and fine embroideries and the United States diverse toys and toilet table accessories. Most of the Japanese curios, ornaments, which are so popular with Bellevillians and are part of the biggest sellers at Yuletide are imported by the wholesalers in other cities and sent here. An amusing incident occurred recently in the opening of one of the big crates of goods, a tiny Japanese white mouse jumped out and scurried behind the boxes ranged about. Apparently he was the only thing which escaped the eagle eye of the Customs examiner and his appearance in Belleville was far from enthusiastically received by the young ladies standing about.

AN HONEST TOWN

Major Geen stated that Belleville is an honest town—attempts to smuggle are most infrequent and would doubtless be fruitless as everything is most carefully gone over by the local staff and the Dominion Government probably never of late years has had anything put over-it is that line locally.

Much of the Christmas stock offered by the local merchants is "Made in Canada" and it is surprising what splendid toys the Canadian factories are turning out at the present time. Time was when really ingenious toy was on sight conceded to have come from Germany, but the war taught the Canadians what they could do themselves resulting in most of the leading manufacturers in Toronto and Montreal factories. Canada provided practically all the dolls to be sold this year and the entire window full exhibited by a local firm was declared to be a great attraction to the old as well as the young were all manufactured a few hours distance from the city—in a Toronto factory. So perfect are the Canadian products the merchants prefer them to the cheap dolls from Germany. They can put together to last as well as to attract.

The pat-a-pat doll, which will hang on most fortunate little girl's Christmas trees, and which were invented very recently, were made in Toronto and have proved absolutely irresistable to the parents on their shopping tours.

SOMETHING FROM EVERYWHERE

The trees this year will no doubt contain merchandise from half the world over; handkerchiefs made in Switzerland, linen from Ireland, woolen goods from Scotland, glass from Czecho Slovakia, china from England, laces from France and many products of the Flowery Kingdom. A Christmas tree in any land is indeed, though seldom realized, a cosmopolitan affair.

LINDSAY SEES CELESTIAL WAR

Chinese Expletives Went Over Heads of Whites —Jealousy Alleged

Lindsay, Dec. 9.— A miniature tong war was staged on East street here Sunday evening, and for a while the air was filled with Chinese expletives which went over the heads of the eye-witnesses.

Rivalry in the laundry business is said to be at the bottom of the trouble, and as the proprietor of one laundry, who by the way conducted the affair on his part of guns of money to the local churches, was leaving the Eleanor Cafe, also the property of a Celestial, he was confronted by two compatriots. One laid hands on him, and each him quite a pummelling before any interference by the victim of the assault claims that the other Celestials are jealous of his success in business, and charge him with encroaching on their territory.

It cost the aggressive celestial $5 and costs and he had to pay the $2 doctor's bill.

The commission which will be in west within a week or ten days will inquire into conditions generally in the states of Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas are involved, he said. Many union miners in Oklahoma are now on strike.

Anglo-French Accord Seen In Studying Disarmament

Geneva, Dec. 9.—England and France to-day reached an accord concerning a study of the problem of mutual assistance in war time in connection with preparation for the international disarmament conference. After an secret meeting of the League of Nations Council, M. Paul Boncour of France announced that Foreign Minister Benes of Czecho-Slovakia had been appointed to draft a formula covering the question which divided the British and French. He explained that the study of mutual assistance would be more flexible than originally proposed by the French, thus intimating that a compromise had been reached. The impression is growing that Britain favors a separation of the study of land and naval armaments, keeping the road open for a possible second naval conference in Washington, while France continues to regard the disarmament problem as one and inseparable.

Belleville's Thirty-One

(PETERBORO EXAMINER)

Will Belleville please tell us how they did it?

Yesterday was municipal election day in the Bay of Quinte city, and how many candidates do you think appealed to the electorate for election to one of the twelve places in the City Council?

No fewer than thirty-one.

This record number was thoroughly representative.

It included a number of merchants, several manufacturers, insurance brokers, salesmen, executives, a doctor, railway employees, machinists, etc., and if the people of Belleville did not succeed in selecting a good dozen out of a field remarkable both for quality and quantity they all that can be said is that their powers of discrimination must be wonderfully underdeveloped.

Belleville is to be congratulated upon the very evident interest her citizens are taking in civic affairs.

When thirty-one men, representative of practically every business and professional activity in the community, offer their services to their fellow-citizens, and are willing to endure the large volume of criticism and the very small evidence of appreciation that are associated with municipal service, there is abroad in the city a very healthy civic spirit that must inevitably be reflected in a more prosperous and progressive community.

Peterboro would be decidedly the better-if a similar showing could be counted upon at the coming municipal election—but, in the light of past events, perhaps that is too much to anticipate.

Car Threw Stone From Roadway. Village Pays $81 For a Window

Brighton, Ont., Dec. 9.—An automobile passing through this village threw up a stone that broke a plate glass window in a building belonging to Nesbitt and Wells. The plaintiffs sued the corporation for $81 damages. The case was brought into division court and Judge Ward gave judgment for the amount.

The plaintiffs claimed the corporation in making repairs to the road had not exercised proper care in the selection of the material and in not raking off the larger stones, which Judge Ward considered, were a menace to the public.

He considered also, that the corporation was liable, and awarded the plaintiffs $81 and costs. No plea to be removed by the plaintiffs and awarded to the defendants.

This is the first case of its kind tried in an court in Ontario and will be a precedent, no doubt, for other Essex township municipalities will be responsible for damages in such cases.

BRITISH HOUSE O.K.'S IRISH BILL

Labor and Liberal M.P.'s Endorse Baldwin's Sentiments

London, Dec. 9.—Without waste of time and treading the bill as a practically agreed to measure, the House of Commons unanimously passed the Irish bill giving effect to the new Irish boundary agreement in all stages without division.

There was little debate. After the Prime Minister, Stanley Baldwin explained the financial undertakings of the agreement in an optimistic speech, J. H. Thomas, for the Labor cities, and H. A. L. Fisher for the Liberals, endorsed the Premier's sentiments, while David D. Reid, in behalf of Ulster, joined in the general ecomiums and expressed the conviction that the difference between the North and South had been exaggerated.

IRISH NOT A UNIT

London, Dec. 9.—Possibility that the Irish boundary agreement may after all be defeated developed in the Free State when it was stated that Republican members of the Dail Eireann who have power taken their seats may not do so in order to defeat "partition".

SIX YEARS JAIL WITH 24 LASHES

Picton Man Convicted of Criminal Assault to Penitentiary

Convicted of a very serious criminal assault, Geoffrey B. Denike, of Picton, was sentenced to serve six years in Portsmouth penitentiary at Picton by Mr. Justice Lennox, presiding at the Assizes there. Denike also must receive 24 strokes of the lash, three to be administered every six months until his term expires.

Denike was arrested by Provincial police officers in June last, the offence having been committed on June first.

Mrs. Denike, who was charged with implication in the charge, was discharged in Magistrate's court some time ago.

C. A. Payne defended Denike, and the interests of the Crown were in the hands of J. M. Simpson of Napanee, who is Crown Prosecutor at Picton assizes.

This was the only criminal charge but a big docket of interesting civil actions is engaging the attention of the court.

TWO MEN DEAD THREE ARE HURT CHILD IN PERIL

Series of Automobile Accidents Near Port Hope and Cobourg

PINNED UNDER MOTOR

Attempting to Turn On Bridge Two Were Drowned in Stream

Plainville, Dec. 9.—Frank Minifie and Thomas Henry, farmers, residing near Harwood, had their lives in an unusual accident Monday afternoon.

They were driving along the Beaver Dam Road in Minifie's car. When they arrived at a bridge near the home of Mr. H. Minifie, they evidently attempted to turn around on the narrow platform. The boards of the flooring were covered with a light coating of snow and were very slippery. It is thought that the wheels of the car slipped over the edge of the bridge, it precipitating it into the stream.

PINNED UNDER CAR

In falling, the car turned completely over, and the occupants were pinned beneath the body immersed in several feet of water. There were no eyewitnesses of the tragedy but Carl Bowman, Cobourg, arrived on the scene soon after wards. Unable to release the men alone, he summoned aid, which however arrived too late.

Minifie and Henry, both married men, leave a wife and family to mourn their loss.

THREE BADLY HURT

Cobourg, Dec. 9.—As a result of a bad accident which occurred on the Provincial Highway east of here shortly after twelve o'clock Sunday night, Harry Johns of this town is confined to the Cobourg General Hospital suffering from severe injuries to his back, and his two companions, William Soogle and Thomas Flanigan suffer great body bruises.

Soccus was driving his car east when opposite the Massey estate lights of an other car blinded him. The car skidded on the slippery pavement and turned several somersaults into the ditch, pinning all occupants underneath.

The car was smashed beyond repair, and the only parts which are of any value when sold to the tires and storage battery.

THROWN THROUGH WINDOW

Port Hope, Dec. 9.—The seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keeler, of Port Hope, had a miraculous escape from serious injury when she was thrown through the window of the car in which she was riding with her parents, about a mile west of Newcastle.

Mr. and Mrs. Keeler with their three children were proceeding toward Port Hope and when on top of a hill near Newcastle their car started to slide on the slippery road. The car was then out of control and Mr. Keeler was unable to avoid a collision with a Ford truck which was coming up the hill. The Ford truck driven by Mr. Kendall was broadside smashing one of the doors and doing slight damage to the fenders.

MIRROR SAVES LIFE

One of the remarkable features of the accident was the escape of Mr. Keeler's daughter Marie, who was thrown through the window of the car when the vehicles collided. Miss Keeler was serious in escape to the roadside but sustained no injury.

FELL INTO CELLAR WITH TRAP DOOR OPEN BEHIND HIM

Robert Simpson Was in Pool Parlor When Accident Happened

NOW SUES FOR $500

Evidence Is Contradictory As To Whether He Was Warned

Robert Simpson, the plaintiff, was first witness in the case of Simpson vs. Maraskas, before County Judge G. E. Deroche in the sessions Tuesday afternoon. He is suing for $500 damages for injuries sustained on July 23rd when he fell down cellar in Maraskas' billiard room, Bridge street.

Simpson told of playing snooker pool in the billiard academy conducted by Michael Maraskas, on the evening of July 23rd last. He had played three games and early in the fourth game, he stepped back into an open trap door, which he alleges had been opened without warning to him. He fell to the floor, a distance of 9 feet, and was taken to the General Hospital where he spent two days. He was at his home two weeks after, and then went from work for two months. He said he had trade which he had not yet received. His business averaged $40 per day the year around. Witness denied that he had been drinking under the influence of liquor. Sam Porter, K.C., defense counsel.

A cut on one leg was dressed for 14 days, and one which was treated while his side, chest and hip were sore for a long time.

TELLS OF ACCIDENT

Percy Alderman, cook at General Hospital, who played pool with Simpson, told of Simpson backing into a hole that night. He picked Simpson up with Mr. Maraskas, and put water on his head. They put Simpson sitting on a chair, gave him a bottle of jamenade and when the taxi cab came, accompanied Simpson to the Bridge's office and to the hospital.

Maraskas told witness later that a former had fallen down the hole and had not said anything about it.

Simpson was absolutely sober that night, he stated.

START WITH DEFENSE

Dr. F. G. Wallbridge, who examined Simpson, but who was in Toronto at Supreme Court witness there, was not present and the defense was started subject to the calling of Dr. Wallbridge.

TELLS OF WARNING

Defendant told of an Italian friend having his car in the cellar. This Italian's son is employed as billiard marker by Maraskas. The Italian and his son opened the trap door and one set them told Simpson to "look out," as they were going to open the trap to go down cellar.

Simpson soon said that somebody had fallen down cellar, and witness came from the back of the room where he was, and hurried downstairs to where Simpson lay. He assisted Simpson upstairs and called a taxi to take Simpson to the doctor. Simpson was assisted to the taxi. Witness denied that he had told Simpson that "it was funny how Simpson had been injured when others had fallen down the hole without being hurt." Simpson talked to witness at the pool room two days after the accident and asked $500 for a settlement. Maraskas paid the doctor's bill and promised to pay the hospital bill too.

SMELLED LIQUOR

Roy Stanford, taxi driver who answered the call to get Simpson, and who drove him to Dr. Wallbridge's office and later to the hospital, told of Simpson being sick in the car that night, and about smelling fumes of whiskey in the car. Simpson walked into the pool room to the taxi cab, Sanford said. Maraskas paid for the taxi.

HE HEARD WARNING

Oscar Babcock, car inspector on C.N.R., plays pool nearly every night in Maraskas' academy and left soon Simpson there often. He was playing at the time of the accident. Witness heard the Italian boy say "look out" as he opened the trap door.

Five or ten minutes later Simpson tacked down the hole.

WAS NOT "FIXED"

To Col. O'Flynn, plaintiff's counsel, witness denied that he had been offered money for testifying that Simpson was drunk. He had already $15 with no man and his wife had not heard any discussion of that nature.

Theodore Maraskas, son of defendant, told of Simpson visiting the store two days after the accident. Simpson said he was very lame and ill, but after an argument about damages, swore and walked out, and down the street without a limp.

MOVE NOT OK'D BY PRESBYTERY

Rev. Mr. Cranston's Call to Owen Sound Left To Own Decision

A very large delegation appeared for the Trenton congregation offering very decided opposition to Rev. R. G. Cranston's translation. When the motion was placed to Mr. Cranston's hands and he was called upon to make his decision he found himself unable to do so, saying he felt himself to be the servant of the church.

The Presbytery then went into a committee of the whole and discussed the case in private and in deference to Mr. Cranston, granted him two weeks in which further to consider, or take the whole matter into his consideration.

The big feature of the meeting was the visit of Mr. Thomas MacMillan a prominent layman of Toronto who as chairman of the board of administration of the Presbyterian Church who gave a very able address saying the whole church was to be congratulated on the willingness to assume the burdens it had set itself.

The Rev. R. G. Stewart gave an address on the situation in the West.

The meeting was particularly important inasmuch as the allocations for the congregations for 1926 were considered.

Eleven thousand dollars was recommended to the Kingston Presbytery and the Presbytery was called upon to decide whether or not they would accept the allocation. Scarcely any discussion took place, the Presbytery accepting without discussion its allocation and proceeded then to discuss the matter of its own budget as to how the $11,000 to be allocated to the various congregations. Practically every one accepted its full share.

Trenton Bowling

Trenton, Dec. 9.—Bowling at Tripp's Recreation Academy last night proved very even games in the ladies' league, with just enough odd breaks in the individual scores to make an analysis of them interesting.

In the first place, the Teachers succeed out the Gregory team by the slim margin of 6 points, the lucky Seven beat the Lucky Strikes by a small margin, made smaller by a penalty of 66 points for playing only four players in each of the three games. For the Lucky Strikes, Mrs. Avery and Mrs. Hoose each scored 279 for the three games. The score 279 was made twice during the evening, once by Mrs. Avery, of the Lucky Strikes, once by Miss Keeler for the Teachers.

ARRAIGN EX-M.P. ON THEFT CHARGE

J. A. M. Armstrong and Coffey a Banker, in Court Together

Toronto, Dec. 9.—J. A. M. Armstrong former member of Parliament for North York, was arraigned in County Police court this morning on a charge of theft, and was remanded till Saturday. At the same time Harry Coffey former Manager of the Imperial bank at Sebomberg was also arraigned on a similar charge and was likewise remanded. Bail in each case was fixed at $50,000, but neither man has yet been able to arrange release from custody.

Armstrong who was arrested last night expects a bondsmen to arrive from North York this afternoon. The charge against the former member of the federal house, is the alleged theft of $7,000, from Sunan Mills, while, under a joint allegation, Armstrong and Coffey are charged by Richard A. Carter with the lawfully stealing $1,675, the property of the estate of the late Richard Carter, on or about May 23, 1925."

SYRIANS SORE AT THE FRENCH

Ask That Mandatory Powers Be Cancelled—Can Run Own Show

Geneva, Dec. 9.—Immediate action by League of Nations council to check the alleged French misuse of the mandate over Syria is urged by Islmen Djabri Bey representing the Arab Palestine Congress. He appealed to Signor Scialoja, President of the Council today, for the right to appear before the league body and present Syrian demands. The Syrian representative declares his people want the council immediately to cancel commission of inquiry to the scene. He also asks French abandonment of the mandate and retension of the right of autonomy to the Syrian people.

FERGUSON LIKES STAND OF QUEBEC

Dropping of 50-Cent Duty By Taschereau a Friendly Act

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 9.—We very much appreciate the spirit in which such action was taken. It will be of direct advantage to us if we ever find it necessary to go to Quebec for power", stated Premier Ferguson this morning in discussing the action of Premier Taschereau of Quebec in removing the power tax of one cent per kilowatt hour now on any power that might be exported to Ontario from that province.

"If we can get power anywhere to help us over a critical period I think public will agree that it is good business to rent it," stated Premier.

"If we can get powers from Quebec there is no reason on earth why we should not avail ourselves of it."

While admitting that the shortage was an imminent Premier Ferguson did not state if imports would take place in the near future.

TASCHEREAU DENIES IT!

Quebec, Que., Dec. 9.—Premier Taschereau of Quebec to-day denied that this Government would re-move the tax on export of power to Ontario. The matter, he said, would not be considered. The report came from Montreal last night that the Government had decided to remove the tax.

BOOTH EMPLOYES NUMBERING 2000 FOLLOW CASKET

Planned to Have Large Corps Thursday to Ottawa Cemetery

PICTURESQUE FIGURE

Owned Forest Dominion of Over 4000 Square Miles

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 9.—It is expected that two thousand employees of the John R. Booth Lumber Co. will be represented at the funeral on Thursday afternoon when Mr. Booth who formed the immense industry more than sixty years ago will be laid to rest in Beechwood cemetery. Hundreds from wife whom he married at the age of 21, and who predeceased him about fifty years ago. Arrangements will be made to have employees follow the cortege in a body.

FOUNDER OF GREAT INDUSTRY

The life of "J. R." as he was familiarly known, was one rich in the romance of industry, and undoubtedly will be the highest example of the late Queen Victoria's British Empire, the creator of a great fortune. He is the founder of an industry which stands among the foremost of its kind in the world.

The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 and will be attended by representatives of the Government, the Senate, the City, and possibly the Governor-General.

Only three children survive the distinguished pioneer. Colonel Booth A. W. Feck, C. Jackson Booth and J. Fred Booth, all of Ottawa. His two brothers, Hiram Cole Booth of Perth of Burlington, Yt., and a sister, also survive. These relatives, was also brought on a visit to Ottawa and was likewise remanded. Bail in each case was fixed at, $50,000, but neither man has yet been able to arrange release from custody.

Armstrong who was arrested last night expects a bondsmen to arrive from North York this afternoon. The charge against the former member of the federal house, is the alleged theft of $7,000, from Sunan Mills, while, under a joint allegation, Armstrong and Coffey are charged by Richard A. Carter with the lawfully stealing $1,675, the property of the estate of the late Richard Carter, on or about May 23, 1925."

The death of John Rudolphus Booth in his 93th year, marks the passing of one of Canada's most picturesque figures, who carved his fortune out of the virgin forest. He was truly, a timber king, with a forest, dominion of more than 4,000 square miles, close to the waters of the Great Openings and the Madawaska, north far into the boundaries of Quebec, and east and south to Burlington, in Vermont State.

Mr. Booth did not make his money easily, and often, again, no did he find that operation necessary, to keep it. Indoor affairs he left to his more trusted members of his office executive; outdoor ones, even in their smallest details, he himself superintended. He was a busy and worried little man back in the fifties when Ottawa was not even thought of, for the capital did Sixty years lated though the frosts and silvered his brow, he did the same thing—every morning at six o'clock, retiring at ten at night and putting in from 12 to 14 hours of solid labor each day.

Short of stature and slightly stooped was Mr. J. R. Booth. White hair and beard framed a square, stignatic face, tanned by exposure, in which two bright blue eyes glittered keenly but not coldly. Of late years rather sparing of speech, he indulged in few reminiscences and gave no autobiographies of the ascent up the rough hewn path to fortune.

AGRICULTURAL HIGH SCHOOLS

Various speakers here and elsewhere have suggested agricultural high schools for rural parts. The idea is relatively new and the thing has yet hardly more than entered the experimental stage if it even can be said to have reached that far. Yet basically it is said to be sound.

The idea is this: Boys and girls in the country are under a handicap with respect to attendance and tuition at secondary schools if they happen to live any considerable distance away from a city or town in which is to be found a high school or collegiate. Many said they do attend these institutions but at considerable pecuniary sacrifice. There is no question but that a great majority of them do well at high school; one has only to be reminded of the fact that a great many of the leading men and women of the cities today were once country boys and girls, to realize that the country so called is the breeding ground of future prominent men and distinguished citizens of the country.

That however does not happen to be the point at issue with respect to the plan for agricultural high schools. The point is that a considerable amount of the studies which country boys and girls take up today at collegiates—in the regular way and following the normal curriculum of these schools—could well be replaced with studies that relate more closely to the farm. For instance:

For the boy: a modified edition of the course at the O. A. C.; a sort of junior training leading up to the very thorough and scientific training there, an entrance to the O. A. C. if the student and his parents decide that he should go on for his degree.

For the girl: Domestic science.

His Honor the Warden of the County of Hastings referred to this in his address to the Council yesterday and apparently something is to result here.

It is most important and is a suggestion which should meet with the approval of the whole country.

The establishment of one of these schools in Hastings would place this important unit in the Province of Ontario well to the forefront in education. It would recruit its pupils from families probably just too far from towns to allow the boy or girl to attend High School for the Agricultural High School would naturally be taken near the farm boy or girl. It might possibly help also to solve the problem of overcrowding in Belleville High School and elsewhere.

The location of these schools is not of premier importance. Stirling would probably be the site for one; Tweed might be for another.

What is in the mind of the authorities is not yet known but at all events every encouragement should be given the idea.

It is to be hoped that the County Council of the County of Hastings give this matter its best consideration. Something very fine and of lasting benefit should result to Hastings once these schools have been established.

WESTERN POLITICS

The Western Producer, the farmers' organ in Saskatchewan, urges Progressive members to support Mr. Meighen. Referring to this advice, the Winnipeg Tribune declares: "The carefully cultivated idea that the Liberals and Progressives are natural allies as 'low tariff forces' is held by only a portion of the Progressive rank and file. If events should so shape themselves that it came to an actual alliance, those who formed it would be due for a surprise at discerning how few of the Progressives would follow their leaders into it." Recently the member for Rosetown, Mr. John Evans, asserted that the Liberal, on questions like the tariff and subservience to financial interests were worse than the Conservatives—an opinion, observes the Tribune, "widely held among the Progressives." Discussing recent developments the Manitoba Journal declares that, under the surface, "a quiet revolution" is proceeding in the farmers' movement in the west. Up to the present the movement has been directed by men of Liberal tendencies, former members of parliament many of them who were also leaders in farmers' business ventures. The new generation, it is declared, has as "little reverence for the political as the business leadership of the former chieftains." Even a change in the Liberal leadership, would probably fail to create greater faith in the party, it is thought. The Western Producer is said to speak with "considerable authority" for the new force in the farmers' movement.

IRISH SETTLEMENT

Every one is delighted that North and South Ireland have at last been travelled upon to join hands in peace and good will across a boundary line acceptable to both. The Empire joins whole-heartedly in the chorus of congratulation. British statesmen, leaders in Ulster, the Free State government, all concerned, in fact, are apparently well satisfied with the terms of the settlement. The natural condition of affairs in Irish politics. How has this been created? John Bull, that benevolent old gentleman, again comes to the rescue. The financial arrangements involved in the Irish boundary agreement, it is said, mean a gift of no less than £1,455,000,000 to the people of the Irish Free State. No wonder they are happy and quite ready to accept the terms laid down. If the agreement really results in permanent peace between North and South, however, the British taxpayers will not complain of the price, heavy though it is. They are used to extending the helping hand financially though it is a current they continue to do it.

Though the Free State is released from its obligations in the matter of the British war debts, she undertakes to pay for damage to property in Ireland cause by political disturbances, and to increase that compensation by 10 per cent. The Free State also promises to co-operate in a more intimate manner with Ulster in the future in the discussion and settlement of points in dispute. Northern Ireland retains existing boundaries, and is just as pleased as the Free State at the settlement made. "I am fully satisfied with the outcome of the negotiations," declares Sir James Craig, adding: "I sincerely trust that this may result in more friendly relations being permanently maintained among all parties and cliques throughout Ireland." Even Lord Carson expresses himself as well content with the agreement.

Colonel Amery, secretary for the colonies, characterizes the action of the British government in the matter as "free and generous," and indeed it is. Well if Great Britain can create a united and contented Ireland, she problem has been found and that both factions will accept will not be disposed to count the price. Let us hope that at last the real and abiding solution of the Irish tie down to build rather than destroy.

EXECUTION-PROOF

Just how fantastic is the case of Gerald Chapman, whose refusal to accept a presidential pardon is now before the courts, is not generally known. Chapman, according to figures gained out, will carry his fight for the pardon to the federal supreme court, which means that he will not swing for the murder of the Connecticut policeman for a year or two, at least. If the courts finally rule that a pardon must be accepted by the pardoned, this killer will die on the scaffold, but if the courts rule the other way, Chapman will be "execution-proof" for a quarter of a century, the period of time which he insists upon serving in atonement of a previous crime. Chapman has escaped prison many times and he may do so again. If he does, he can go back to his profession of banditry with the knowledge that he can commit any crime he likes, with impunity. It may be necessary for Chapman to kill a few guards to get out of prison. What matter to him? His neck will be safe for 25 years no matter how many more notches he carves in his gat. The apprehension of Chapman as always been attended with considerable risk. If the courts rule favorably upon his appeal and he breaks prison again, arresting him except by a surprise attack, is unlikely to be effected without tragic toll. Death in action is the only peril he will have to face, which certainly will make him an ugly customer with whom to cope. Chapman is a power in the underworld, where strong influences are at work in his behalf, but his friends there have not been helpful to him as have the courts. If he succeeds in his present fight, a sentence to a long term in prison will become an invaluable asset, to any criminal involved in murder.

CATALOGUE VS. CITY

The Peterboro Examiner:

There are so many reasons why Peterboro people should do their shopping in the stores of their own city that it scarcely seems necessary to mention them all.

Here, however, are eight that have been set out by the Chamber of Commerce as worthy of the consideration of every citizen:

1.—Peterboro stores will duplicate the price of any responsible mail order house on goods of equal quality in the same quantities and on the same basis of delivery and payment.

2.—Peterboro stores will be glad to extend the advantage of credit to responsible persons.

3.—Peterboro stofes are close at hand. You can visit them and examine your purchases before investing your money. Another advantage catalogue buying does not offer.

4.—Peterboro stores will promptly remedy or make right any error or any defective article purchased.

5.—Through direct and indirect taxation they help support your schools, your churches and other institutions. No mail order house pays taxes of any kind here. Peterboro stores are entitled to your support.

6.—Peterboro stores offer a cash market for any product of your farm. It is this more than anything else that gives your land its present value.

7.—Peterboro stores maintain a delivery service by motor truck in a broad area. You have no transportation charges to pay and you get your purchases much more promptly than you do from catalogue houses. And furthermore, you pay transportation charges buying from a mail order house.

8.—Every dollar kept in circulation in this community helps to increase property values. Every dollar spent outside of this community that could as well be spent here helps to build up some other community at your expense.

Cost $22,000,000 Next Year
New York, Dec. 9.—Vivid melodrama, faked comedy and historical plays all are wanted by the American movie-going public in the opinion of Jesse L. Lasky, and next year the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation will spend $22,000,000 in meeting this Demand.
A number of the photoplays will be of the "super-special" class and each will present what Mr. Lasky termed a "distinct individuality," accomplished through the selection of authors, scenarios, directors and actors.
For instance, Theodore Roosevelt and the soldiers who followed him in the Spanish-American war will be pictured in "The Rough Riders." Herman Hagedorn, one of Roosevelt's biographers, has been selected to write the scenario. An actor, yet unknown to the public has been studying the original war photographs and will appear before directors of the Roosevelt Memorial Association for approval before work on the picture begins.
Then there is Florenz Ziegfeld who will either the movie to produce a picture entitled "Glorifying the American Girl." Rex Beach is writing the scenario and many of the Ziegfeld beauties will appear. Esther Ralston will have the leading role.
"Old Ironsides" will be the title of another historical picture about the Constitution, now rotting away in Charlestown Harbor, and a romance of Sitting Bull, Mr. Lasky credited Secretary Wilbur as having originated the idea for the production and said hitherto unpublished historical information has been supplied by the navy department.
Many years ago the producer read Mario Curcelli's "Sorrows of Satan."
Negotiations for the picture rights were begun but it was not until after the author's death that the book was obtained for D. W. Griffith to produce.
Among other pictures will be "New York," written by Rinaldo Lewis; "Arms of the South Seas," which Gilda Gray has been making in Porto Rico; "The Greatest Show on Earth," written by Monte Katterjohn about the life of P. T. Barnum; Barrie's "A Kiss for Cinderella," for Betty Bronson, and "Untamed," written by Fannie Hurst; for Gloria Swanson.
Many things were considered in deciding upon the program of pictures, which will total seventy-five. Among them were the public's taste, current fiction and developments, the directors and "stars" on hand and "locations."
"There is no need to make a picture if the public doesn't want it," said Mr. Lasky. "Fiction and developments of the day are excellent guides in learning the taste and providing scenario material. Directors have their special capabilities, and stars have a way of wanting to make certain pictures and of being unwilling to play in others."

BRITISH POLICY MODEL IN SYRIA

In Bagdad Complaints Are Always Heard and Adjusted

Washington, Dec. 7.—French have regained the upper hand over the rebellious Druses in Syria and should be able to maintain control, until severe weather sets in, which will greatly favor the Druses, according to latest official reports here. So long as the weather is mild the revolting tribesmen for the most part keep in open and live on the country. For this reason those in close touch with Syrian developments, who are familiar with the results from having lived on the ground, do not look for serious fighting after Winter sets in. The tribesmen are not able to carry on their most effective type of hostilities when weather conditions are adverse.

M. Dejouvenal, the new French High Commissioner, will have an opportunity during the Winter months to mollify the native leaders and regain their confidence. He is credited with tact and toleration, which his predecessor is said to have lacked.

A Heart's Triumph

CHAPTER I.

FAIR CECIL LACKLYNE.

The White Abbey stood well in the heart of Westaire, England. Visitors came in troops during the summer season on their way to see the old thirteenth-century castle that was still in a marvelous state of preservation. The castle was the pride of the inhabitants of the sleepy little town over which its moss-covered battlements towered. Surrounded as the Abbey was by its many acres of land, and its multitude of fine trees, occasional glimpses could, nevertheless, be had of this quaint white stone building, which was so the village people declared, well-night as old as the castle itself.

Village people, as a rule, are pretty good historians as far as their own immediate precincts go, but in the case of these Westaire folks they were very far out indeed as regarded the age of the White Abbey. The house could not boast of a century of years. It had been built since 1803 by a certain Squire Lacklyne, and had passed down through two generations to the present owner, Sir Charles Lacklyne, famous a few years before this story opens, for his eccentricities, his wealth, and his remarkable skill as an amateur mechanical engineer.

It was, perhaps, the fact that the family of Lacklyne had been established for more than a couple of centuries in Westaire that added the halo of great antiquity to Sir Charles' estate. Its cosy, home-like, at-any-rate, this reputation, was passed on from old drivers of waggonettes and other guides, and in consequence there was a growing tendency among tourists and sight-seers to be allowed to explore the grounds and apartments of the White Abbey in the same way that the old castle was explored.

Sir Charles Lacklyne's views on this matter, unfortunately, did not coincide with those of the tourists. He resolute ly kept his gates locked, and no one was admitted to the house, save friends who were brought thither by his invitations, or had business to transact with him.

Cecil Lacklyne lived entirely outside the boundary of his property. He lived for the most part in his huge workshop, a building that had been erected by his first turned his back on this fashionable world and took up his life from his own points of view. In this workshop had been invented and manufactured various mechanical contrivances, some wonderfully ingenious, others just the reverse.

He had working with him a stalwart Irishman named Dennis, a Swiss whom he had imported, and a young English man called Michael Everest, who had been strongly recommended to Sir Charles by a firm of prominent engineers as being a young fellow of considerable ability. Occasionally a fourth boy, his assistant, used to appear amid the whirl of the machinery, and take up some task with intelligence and serious intent.

The whole bent of life at the White Abbey might be said to centre round the mechanical. Sir Charles had invented a contrivance for every small detail of his daily life. In the gardens, for instance, he had been succeeded by a self-acting machine, his paths rolled by another. Gates were arranged to open and shut automatically. He had, too, wonderful step-ladders and fly-machines, automobiles, and bicycles worked by steam or electricity. In short, electricity ruled everywhere. Nothing was done in the conventional fashion, and nothing was very comfortable, or very useful, either, for Sir Charles' inventions had the trick of being perpetually out of order.

"I am waiting for Father to invent a way of putting our food into our mouths without bothering our hands, or without studying our appetites," was a remark made by Sir Charles' daughter on a love by September evening, for one of the few people who were honored with an invitation to be guests at the White Abbey. "It really seems to me that it is the only thing that remains to be invented," Mr. Darnley.

The reader had a touch of weariness in it, and the tall, slight figure, oddly dressed in a boy's suit of brown corduroy that had grown too small, reposed about it, leaned almost despondently against the side of the high-framed window.

The man to whom this speech had been addressed was leaning back in his chair, enjoying an excellent cigar.

He was a man about forty, not particularly good-looking, either in feature or form; but he had that indefinable air of distinction which is always charming, and his eyes were well placed and full of keen intelligence. He had been looking about him in an amused, half-lazy sort of way, when that young voice, with the note of weariness in it, broke on his ear. The meal he had just eaten had been as excellent as the cigar he was smoking, but there had been an element of surprise and novelty attending it at almost every turn.

No butler had waited behind the chairs, but a square table with shelves had moved automatically round the room, making a loud, whirring noise as it went its round, now and then coming to a desperate stop, and requiring energetic attention before consenting to move on again. In keeping with this curious mechanical wailery, there had been electrical contrivances for ringing bells, changing plates, drawing the curtains together, and, in short, for doing everything which is customarily done by a neat parlor-maid, or by men servants. In consequence, the dinner had lasted a very long time, and there had been a great deal of noise and breakage, which caused a great deal of satisfaction to the Charles Lacklyne. This changed into wild excitement when a message was brought to him that one of the most valuable turning-wheels in his workshop had gone wrong, and required his immediate attention.

BULLET FROM CANADIAN GUN BROUGHT GERMAN TO GROUND

SPY'S TALE IS DENIED

Official Inquiry Proved that Enemy Airman Was Shot From Air

Toronto, Dec. 9.—Captain A. Roy Brown, D.S.O., the man who it officially credited with killing Baron von Richthofen, the German ace, is now living in Toronto, at 25 Wrenson Road. Captain Brown has branded as "absolute nonsense" the story given out in Berlin by a former German spy, who claimed that he had heard from one of the 149th Battalion in Edmonton that Richthofen had been shot on the ground by Canadians after he had made a forced landing behind their lines.

"Von Richthofen was shot in the air," declared Captain Brown. "His plane crashed behind the Australian lines, and he was dead when taken from his machine."

According to D. H. Bottrill, now of Toronto, who served with an Australian unit, von Richthofen was killed by an Anzac machine gunner. This, too, was contradicted by Captain Brown, who continued with an account of his own encounter with the German ace. He (Brown) had attacked von Richthofen from behind, and the latter followed another Canadian machine. Brown's fire hit the German and he collapsed, although unable to crash, landed the Canadian airman.

OFFICIAL INQUIRY HELD

"Afterward there was some question as to whether he had been brought down by me or by an Australian Lewis gunner firing from the ground," continued Captain Brown. "As the case was of some little importance, an inquiry was held over the body of the dead airman, and it was agreed that the bullets had been fired from behind and above him. In view of this, it was definitely established that von Richthofen was shot in the air."

"One bullet which must have caused his death, passed through his left shoulder, penetrated his heart, and came out through his abdomen. The Australian gunner could not have shot at the very moment my bullets took effect."

QUIETUS SHOULD BE GIVEN STORY

Writing from Cobourg, F. M. Field, K.C., says that the quietus should be put immediately on the wretched attempt to defame Canadian soldiers over the fate of the great German ace, Baron von Richthofen.

"Corroboration of the facts given you by Colonel Ford can be obtained from the equally gallant Canadian ace, Captain Roy Brown, who swooped down from the clouds upon Richthofen, who was himself in pursuit of a Canadian machine, and brought down 'Circus,'" says Mr. Field.

"Not a great while after the event The New York Times published a picture of Richthofen and I had an interesting correspondence with this paper, which they published, in which I then suggested that in justice to Canadian valor equal prominence should be given Captain Brown in the pages of The Times. In furtherance of this representation, I wrote also at the time by the enterprising Mayor of Carleton Place, Ont., who evinced a patriotic pride in the prowess of a native son of his home town. This brought me into contact by correspondence with a notable citizen of New York in the person of Mr. Lawrence Driggs, who became the first general of the American Aviation Society in New York City.

"This loyal American citizen had been keeping a sort of baseball score of the aviators, kind with characteristic American enterprise went to Europe and prosecuted inquiries on the spot in France and England and satisfied himself that the claim of the Australian Anti-Aircraft Battery to the distinction of having brought down Richthofen was not well founded, but that it was Captain Brown of Ontario who did it.

CAPTAIN BROWN TELLS HIS STORY.

"When the latter was in St. Andrew's College recovering from illness attributable to his war service, I called upon him there, and during a motor trip in which I had the pleasure of his company I learned the thrilling story of the combat in the air—not indeed without some urging, as Captain Brown was reticent, as so many of our gallant men are, respecting their own exploits. He then said that he had brought home with him from overseas the aluminum seat of Richthofen's aeroplane; and it is quite true, as Colonel Ford says, that it has been in the Military Institute in Toronto as a memorial war relic for some years, having been at my suggestion, very kindly placed there by Captain Brown, having attached to it a pertinent memorandum briefly narrating the reason of its preservation there.

"Captain Brown was one of two brothers hailing from Carleton Place who volunteered for service overseas. My recollections of some facts concerning them, obtained, as I have stated, from the Mayor of Carleton Place and later from Captain Roy Brown, are these: The young men, being rejected for infantry service as medically unfit, determined to get into the war somehow; their father having means and not desiring to thrust his sons in their ambition in that regard, provided them with funds, whereby they went to Dayton, Ohio, and at their own expense took a course to fly at the Wright Brothers' School of Aviation in that city. I believe, also with funds provided by their father, they got over to England, and after further training there in aviation, they got much as they went, to the front.

THRILLING TALE WORTH TELLING

"I can recall little more concerning the war career of the younger Brown, who was one of the great many of our gallant young men who were cut off, as will be remembered, by the terrible influenza epidemic of the autumn of 1918. Captain Roy Brown, however, is credited with having brought down 16 enemy aviators, and among them the redoubtable Baron Richthofen.

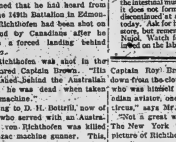

"How it was done is a thrilling tale well worth the telling, but I leave that to some enterprising newspaper to obtain, as I did, not without difficulty and much urging, from Captain Brown up the memorable afternoon of his motor trip with me after I picked him up at St. Andrew's College, then a military hospital."

Tall Buildings Best in Quake

Stanford University, Cal., Dec. 8.—Tall steel buildings are safer than structures of 100 feet in height during earthquakes, in the opinion of Dr. Bailey Willis, professor emeritus of Geology at Stanford, and seismologist.

This view, contrary to the general conception of the layman, is supported by Dr. Willis on the theory that the period of swing in a building of more than 200 feet does not coincide with the earthquake's period of swing, and, hence, the inertia of the building mass stops jerking when the theoretical pendulums pass.

A building 100 feet high swings with the earthquake and this relieves the maximum jerk when the subterranean pendulum changes its swing, he said.

New York Americans Plus Forbes Were Superior Lot

WON BY 6-2 SCORE

Joliat and Morenz at Old Tricks But Were Outguessed

Montreal, December 9.—Canadiens were soundly beaten here last night by the New York Americans by the score of 6-2.

The Frenchmen were speedier and more flashy on the offensive but their defense was a sieve. The sorry fact be they won Vezina. Forbes played a marvellous game in the star-spangled nets. Morenz and Joliat and the rest bombarded from close range but he was invincible except on two occasions.

Lacroix in the Canadien nets hasn't the class. At the end of the second period he had allowed four to bulge the twine to none for the Canadiens. It was a dull and dumb home crowd. The final period saw the scoring even and a bang up contest. Each got two.

The locals got away to a wonderful start winning the first game by 38 pins, the locals rolling 1026. In the second game both teams fell down somewhat, the Kingston bowlers falling down hardier they only rolled 831 against Belleville's 929.

DR. EMBURY, M.P., CONGRATULATED

Former County Councillor Now Occupying Seat Among Mighty

TAKE STANDING VOTE

In Reply Genial Member Says Councillors Are Good Fellows

At the County Council Session Tuesday afternoon after Warden Wiggins had delivered his address a vote of congratulation was unanimously adopted to Dr. A. T. Embury, Rawdon township, and M.P. for Hastings-Peterboro riding.

In a few well chosen words Lt. Col. R. Vanderwater, Deputy Reeve of Sidney, said it gave him pleasure to move a hearty vote of congratulation to Dr. Embury a member of th County Council who had been elected a member of the Federal house. He, (the speaker) had been associated with the Doctor in the late war and with him in the County Council.

Mr. Charles S. Rollins, Reeve of Wellington Township, seconded the motion and said the electors had chosen wisely in selecting Dr. Embury as M.P. While in the County Council Dr. Embury had served well.

The motion was carried by a standing vote.

Warden W. E. Wiggins said it was a pleasure to present to Dr. Embury the position which had been proposed and unanimously adopted.

Dr. Embury M.P., in replying, expressed his gratitude for the motion. His experience as County Councillor dated back to 1912. Since that time a number who were members of the Council first passed to the great beyond. He had never been associated with a body of men that were better in fellowship than the members of the County Council. This men represented the best there was in Hastings County, in Ontario and Canada. They were the pick of men of the Council. He (the speaker) had been associated with Col. Vanderwater in the County Council and he was a worthy representative. The Colonel's military record was a gratifying one. The motion passed was also a fitting one for his retiring from his municipal career.

WHEN an electric light bulb burns out you take it as a matter of course and replace it with a new one.

When the coil in the cooking element of your electric range burns out the consequences are more serious—and more expensive, depending upon the type of element it is.

If it is an open element the chances are the porcelain is badly cracked, broken and crumbled and will have to be replaced as well as the coil. And you will have to have an expert electrician come and do the job—more expense.

If it is a solid iron or porcelain element with the coils embedded inside and connected up in the usual way you will have to buy an entire new element and you will require an expert electrician to replace it—more trouble, delay and expense.

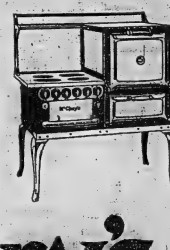

With McClary's Speediron Element you need no expert. The unit is simply lifted out and you can either replace the burnt out coil yourself or take it to your electrical dealer and have it done for a few cents while you wait. Then you just drop the unit back into place.

The heating coils of the Speediron Element, because of their perfect protection, are immune from the effects of dirt, grease, forks or other foreign substances which cause burnouts in the coils of open elements.

How to Remove a McClary's SPEEDIRON Element

When a coil burns out and you want to remove the McClary's Speediron Element, you merely lift it up. It takes less time than it does to unscrew a bulb from the lamp socket and it takes less effort to put it back than it does to screw in a new bulb. There are no screws or nuts or wire connections to remove or loosen. In a few minutes you put in a new coil, drop the Element back in its place—that's all.

Come and See It

If you have an Electric Range now, you will want to see this new, splendid improvement, because you know all about Electric Range troubles now. If you are going to buy an Electric Range you should see the Speedizon Element in McClary's Electric Range—the only trouble-proof Element on the market. The new Speedizon Elements are now on view at all leading dealers. Come and see it—today.

RICE LAKE FROZEN; WOODCHUCKS OUT

Weather Anomalies Along the South Monaghan Shore

Baltiboro, Dec. 9.—Although Rice Lake froze over on Friday, November 27, and the ice still remains upon the lake, still it does not seem as though winter is yet on hand. During the recent warm days there have been reports of wood chucks once again coming out around the edge of their dens, and the other morning while W. Barnard was cutting wood in his bush he killed a huge grass snake which was quite lively.

The majority of farmers have their cattle on pasture during the day time, but in the majority of cases they are stabled at night.

TWO MISSING AND NOT FOUND

Look Huntsman Were In Stoney Lake Area—Dog Was Dead

NOW TOTAL OF THREE

Crown Authorities Meet Criticism For Alleged Failure to Search

Norwood, Dec. 9.—The fate of the two missing hunters, George Winslow and George Rogers, of Clarina, still remains unsolved. Last week a large party of citizens went in from Stoney lake to Koshabogamog lake, the scene of the tragedy to search for the bodies of the, missing men or some trace of them. Five boats were used in dragging the lake but nothing was found. The only additional evidence from last week is that the dead dog was found in the bushes on the bank not floating in the water as first reported. The dip in the temperature and rough weather put a stop to further search at the end of the week.

HUSBAND IN TEARS ASKS THAT HIS WIFE BE NOT NOMINATED

Toronto, Dec. 9.—There was an unusual scene early yesterday afternoon at the 8th annual convention of the United Farm Women of Ontario, when Harold Currie, of Strathroy, added his appeal to here to those who had nominated Mrs. Currie for the presidency.

"My wife cannot possibly stand for nomination and election as president. Nobody knows, as I do, how her health has been undermined, and it was only on understanding that she withdraw from public life this year that I let her become vice-president last year. It isn't right to ask her to stand. Please allow her to withdraw her name. It isn't right," he said, and at this point he burst into tears.

Some criticism has been heard from the public that the Crown has taken no part in the search for the missing men, or provided any assistance. The fact remains that all the members who comprised the ill-fated hunting party and other information has apparently been officially investigated and recorded. In the meantime rumor has been rife in the circulation of details and there is said to have been some ill feeling towards Winslow. The Crown authorities at Peterboro it is said will shortly conduct an investigation.

While the circumstances appear to be rather vivid in the case the fact is recalled that this makes a total of three men of whom no trace has been found in our north country in a little over a year. Last Fall, Henry Hughes left his home at Centre Dummer and to date the mystery of what became of him has never been cleared up.

SAYS GENEVA DECISION WILL INFLUENCE BRITAIN

London, Dec. 9.—How long Great Britain remains in Ink depends upon the League of Nations' disposition of the Turco-British dispute over Mosul, Premier Baldwin told a questioner in the House of Commons today. Asked whether Great Britain was pledged to uphold and maintain Irak, the Premier said that must depend again upon what was done at Geneva.

'THE UNHOLY THREE' RICH IN THRILLS AND ROMANCE

Tod Browning's master crook film, "The Unholy Three," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production instituted by an all-star cast, will be seen at the Griffin theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Browning, who has always been regarded as a master director of this sort of melo-drama, is said to have made a heart-interest drama that will live for a long time as the best film of this type.

The story is a film adaptation from C. A. Robbins' work and was prepared for the screen by Waldemar Young, former police reporter who is familiar with the life of the underworld.

The all-star cast includes: Mae Busch, Lon Chaney, Matt Moore, Victor McLaglen, Harry Earles, Mathew Betz and several others familiar to the fans.

Miss Busch has the featured role and Chaney, who is considered the real master of the art of make-up, plays a dual role that will be a big surprise soon. Matt Moore has the role opposite Miss Busch and Victor McLaglen, celebrated English actor and Harry Earles, thirty-five pound midget, are two of the "heavies."

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Sharp new set backs in value of wheat took place early today. Lower quotations at Liverpool were the chief bearish factor. On the other hand, petitions were under consideration by the Board of Trade committee that 5,000,000 bushels of wheat in store here be removed from the report of stock on hand as being of a quality fit only for chicken food. The opening ¾ to 1¼ lower was followed by a rally that in some cases went slightly above yesterday's finish but then by fresh decline with crew to unchanged 173 and May 163¼.

CREW ADRIFT ON BARGE

Tampa, Fla., Dec. 8—The crew of tug Oneida are drifting about helplessly in the Gulf on the barge Altama, following the mysterious sinking of the tug Friday night. The three masted schooner Santa Rosa is in lower Tampa Bay in distress, it was reported here to-day. The coastguard cutter Tallapoosa and the tug James Dougherty have gone to the rescue.

Radical Plans to Aid Musicians Generally Too Poor to Eat Well

New York, Dec. 9.—The man whothem through while the composer listens.

Mr. Barlow, critics, members of the orchestra, and officials of the society will then confer, decide on the good and bad features of the work, and then offer their findings for the consideration of the writer that he may take them home and meditate on the result. If he chooses he may revise his manuscripts and return them to be played again.

And the young musician—generally pictured as frayed at the elbows, and too poor to live decently—gets all this service gratis. He is only required to write the music and orchestrate it for enough pieces to satisfy the demands of a symphony.

SAHARA DELVERS REPORT ON FINDS

Evidences of Lost Civilization Found in Sands of Desert

MAY BE LOST ATLANTIS

Object of Researches, Existence of Ancient Trade Roues Achieved

Paris, Dec. 9.—An account of low evidence was found of the existence of an advanced ancient civilization where desert winds now sweep over the shifting dunes of the south central Sahara, and of the discovery of "a legendary tomb that is not a legend any more, has been brought to Paris by the Count de Perrois-Bolot-college expedition just returned from its labor in the sun-scorched desert. The leaders, Count de Perrois and Bardley, Tyrrell, said their discoveries in the Hoggar country, which some antiquarians have regarded as the lost Atlantis of the ancient world, had fully repaid their work.

The primary object of the expedition—establishment of the fact that in ancient times there were Sahara trade routes between Carthage and the great civilization then existing in the Hoggar country—was achieved, the sun-burned count said to-day.

"The tomb of Tin-Hanan — the discovery of which was announced November 25, is, I believe, the greatest archeological treasure Africa has ever produced. The statue of the Libyan Venus we found there alone would more than pay the entire cost of the expedition. Tin-Hanan's tomb stands on a flat-topped rock overlooking the desert. It is built in a circular shape with rectilinear blocks, covered with Libyo-Berber inscriptions.

"Tin-Hanan was the ancestress of the Tuareg line of Kings whose rule was that of a matriarchate, that is, the succession descended through the female side. Tin-Hanan appears to link her with the great queens of the Carthaginians, Tanit, and with Athena of the Greeks.

"We began digging half way between the base and the top, driving into the heart of the structure and then downward—but we struck a passage leading into an upper chamber filled with dried dates, wheat and food stored ages ago. There were eight chambers."

French soldiers are now guarding the tomb, which the French government has declared a national monument.

Carthage and Utica were not the first states to exploit the Berber country. We found all along the way neolithic stations, marked by heaps of black stones and ancient flints, in the dry river beds, indicating that still more ancient trade routes had existed that way. These flints were the handiwork of men at the dawn of history, and might be ten thousand years old. We found fourteen in the same region and within half an hour, showing that it was once a thickly populated region.

The treasures found in the tomb in which the skeleton was discovered, included a golden diadem decked with stars, five necklaces of various stones, eighteen bracelets, nine of them gold and nine silver, fourteen anklings of delicately carved wood, a complete set of toilet articles; a little mound of precious stones.

Patsy Ruth Miller Stars With Peters

Patsy Ruth Miller, who played the role of Esmeralda opposite Lon Chaney in Victor Hugo's stupendous "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," comes back into the Universal fold after an absence of more than two years to play the leading feminine role opposite House Peters in the latter's latest starring vehicle, "Head Winds," the Universal-Jewel feature coming to the Belle theatre to-morrow.

In "Head Winds," Miss Miller is cast in the role of a society "shrew," who threatens to "marry the other man" for spite, but is tricked into marrying the man she actually loves, John Peter Rosslyn, a wealthy yachtsman as portrayed by House Peters. In the play her two brothers, as played by Arthur Hoyt and William Austin, see the folly of Miss Miller's folly and through the means of a practical jokemary, her off to "the man of her heart of heart's choice." It is a novel situation that Patricia is placed in and especially different to cope with when she discovers that "her husband by force" has kidnaped her at sea.

"Head Winds" is adapted from A. M. Sinclair Wilt's famous Saturday Evening Post story of the same name and reveals a tale of romance on the high seas.

Too Much Hockey Ruined Donald's Health

It is often said that tears are just a step removed from joy. Poor Donald knows that. At the age of 16 he was attending high school, playing on a hockey team and was a fine specimen of healthy manhood that a red-blooded youth will do. When joy was at its height gloom made its appearance in the shape of nervous trouble.

Doctors did nothing to do, the doctor said, but drop everything and go to the Muskoka Hospital for a thorough rest and skilful, constant treatment. Donald followed the doctor's advice and spent six days in his happiness over the news that he is soon to be sent home—better!

Contributions may be sent in Hospital Fund to the Muskoka Sanatorium, Bracebridge Branch, Toronto 2, Ontario.

COUNTY COUNCIL HAS BEFORE IT AGRICULTURAL REPORT

FOUND GUILTY OF AN ASSAULT, PAYS HIS FINE

Roy Jarvis of Madoc Fined $100 or Three Months

HOOVER IS CONVICTED

Aided and Abetted Assault, Must Pay $50 Fine

Found guilty by a jury of assaulting Robert McGhee, of Madoc, Roy Jarvis, aged 26, also of Madoc, was fined $100 and in default of immediate payment must spend three months in the County Jail. Damon Hoover, found guilty of aiding and abetting the assault by a jury, was fined $50 or two months. Both fines were promptly paid.

This marked the end of two interesting criminal cases before Judge G. E. Deroche at the Session which closed this morning.

Neither man had been in court before except on indictment charges. Jarvis is unmarried, but Hoover has a wife and four children.

LEAVE DRINK ALONE

Before imposing the penalty, Judge Deroche advised the men who stood together in the dock, against ever taking chances on destroying their intellect even temporarily by drink as they had been at the root of this trouble. Their first trouble was over liquor, and this case arose from the first trouble.

"The should be a lesson to you men to quit the ways of intoxication and leave them forever to your lives", advised His Honor. "You see where you are at now, and if you continue, you will doubtless be lead into something more serious. "I always feel that I am inclined to be too easy with men who are not really criminals inclined and who are first offenders, but I always have in heart the desire to do something for a man. I do not wish however to do with him what may spoil the possibility of doing something for him. Then of course the public must be considered and other men must be considered who may say, "Well he committed an offence and got off easy". I want to give you men an opportunity of proving to the world, your friends and associates that you are good citizens and by your good behaviour prove that you are worthy of the respect of other good citizens.

After passing sentence, Judge Deroche in a brotherly manner, said, "I hope you men appreciate that I am doing something for you."

T. Y. Wills, representing E. Guss Porter K.C. defence counsel, believed the men had been sufficiently punished. They had been in court, had spent one night in jail and the injuries to the man assaulted had not proved permanent.

County Attorney Dornan had nothing to say.

U. F. O. Reverses Policy and Will Re-Enter Politics in Province

Former M.P.'s Support Amendment Moved by Woman Member

NOT "BROADEN OUT"

No Other Classes in Community Will Be Asked To Help

Toronto, Dec. 10.—The Drury following in the ranks of the United Farmers of Ontario administration today over the J. J. Morrison faction when they carried by almost three to one a resolution to have their organization take up political warfare again.

This action completely reverses the step taken following the downfall of the Drury Government, two years ago when the U.F.O. decided to keep clear of politics and to confine its energy to co-operative effort in the interest of farmers.

J. J. IS BEATEN

J. J. Morrison, secretary of the U.F.O. was an outstanding opponent against re-entry into politics and he had the support of Agnes Macphail, M.P., Dr. Amos and Mr. Wm. Good, who expressed the opinion that the U.F.O. should rest content with standing on its constitution relating to the interests of farmers.

U.F.O. political efforts however, will not "broaden out", to take in classes other than farmers, as the Drury faction urged in past year. Mr. Morrison stated this question settled and while not formal, a resolution was put before the meeting on the subject. D. J. Macdonald of Fenwood replied that it would be a farmer's movement entirely and this pronouncement was apparently generally accepted.

RE-ELECT AMOS

W. A. Amos was re-elected President of the U.F.O. The resolution to refrain from political activity was sponsored by Grey county clubs and was moved by Mr. Holmes of Exeter. It urged that the United Farmers of Ontario as a provincial organization refrain from participation in any political excpts to watch legislation.

An amendment called for an advance to the policy of constituency autonomy and the right of any local association to nominate candidates for the Legislature or the House of Commons.

IT CARRIED

The second amendment moved by Mrs. C. Darvel, Lambton, recommended the nomination of U.F.O. candidates and the participation in politics by the association, and this amendment was supported by J. D. Woods, formerly M.P., and R. H. Halbert, former M.P. Mr. Halbert declared farmers needed men from their own ranks in the house and the legislature, to look after their interests. The second amendment was carried.

BATH CHURCH TO BE OPENED

The new Anglican church has been completed at Bath, Ontario, and will be officially opened for Divine service Sunday next being the 13th. The Rev. new edifice, known as St. John's Anglican church, has been erected as a memorial to the late Rev. John Langford, former missionary to the United Empire Loyalists.

The Right Rev. Dr. Bidwell, Lord Bishop of Ontario, will preach at both services, which are to be held at eleven o'clock in the morning and seven o'clock in the evening.

Rev. W. Swayne, formerly rector of Christ church, this city, is rector of the new St. John's Church.

It fill be remembered that the old church, which was destroyed by fire since the Rev. Rural Dean Swayne became rector, was one of the oldest churches in Ontario. It was well over 100 years old and was still in good repair when destroyed by fire.

Rev. Mr. Swayne has been indefatigable in his work of raising funds for the new church and deserves much credit for the splendid accomplishment.

GRAND JURY DUTIES OVER

Visited County and Provincial Institutions—Notes Are Made

The Hastings County Grand Jury in attendance at the sessions now proceeding made its presentment to His Honor Judge Deroche this a.m. What they saw pleased them very much but in two institutions they visited they recommend certain changes.

The text of the presentment reads.

To His Honour George E. Deroche, His Honour.

We, the Grand Jury of the Court of General sessions of the Peace for the County of Hastings, beg leave to report as follows:

We desire to thank your Honour for your very able, clear and explicit instructions in the law in reference to the consideration of the Criminal Cases coming before us and also in reference to our other duties.

We desire to thank Sheriff Clarke for his kindness and attention and also Crown Attorney Donnan for his efficient and valuable assistance.

We visited the County Gaol and found six men and one woman there. The condition of every part of the premises reflects credit on Mr. Fetherson, goaler, Mrs. Ketcheson, matron, and Mr. Collins, Turnkey. We would recommend that one or more male prisoners confined there, be transferred to some other institution where his condition would receive the proper attention.

We visited the House of Refuge and we desire to congratulate the County on this well conducted home. Everything was in good condition and the inmates well cared for and cared for. Mr. and Mrs. Leigh were very kind and considerate and showed us through every part of the institution and deserve great credit for the good condition, prevailing under their supervision. TURK CRUELTY IN MOSUL EXPOSED BY GENEVA AGENT

Occupations, Confiscations, Fines, Crimes Against Women, Murders, Heartlessness, Committed on Mosul Border

Geneva, Switzerland, Dec. 10.—Atrocious acts of violence going as far as massacre, have been committed by Turkish soldiers along the provisional frontier of Mosul in Northern Mesopotamia, General Laidoner, of Esthonia, special League of Nations agent, declared in a report submitted at today's session of the League Council.

The Turks refused to attend the meeting, complaining that the Mosul affair had gone beyond the powers of their mandate from the Angora government which permitted mediation but not arbitration by the League of the Turkish dispute with Great Britain.

In his report, General Laidoner asserted that the Turks had carried out wholesale deportations of Christians from villages along the Mosul frontier as defined at the Brussels conference, occupying villages confiscating arms, imposing heavy fines, demanding women pillaging houses, and in some cases taking life. During the deportations, the report said, sick were abandoned to die. Others perished of starvation, or exposure, while the survivors were left in an absolutely pitiable state.

EXPECT FIVE MEMBERS AT WARDEN'S BANQUET

At Hotel Quinte Friday evening Warden W. E. Wiggins will tender a banquet to members of the county Council and a few of his many friends. Among the speakers will be Hon. J. E. Cooke, M.P.P., for North Hastings, W. E. Hanna, M. P. for South Hastings, Dr. A. T. Embury, M.P. for Peterborough, W. H. Ireland, M.P.P. for West Hastings, J. F. Hill, M.P.P. for East Hastings, Mayor Mikel and Mayor-elect R. J. Graham. The addresses will be interspersed with vocal selection. Mr W. H. Nugent, County Clerk, will be the chairman and toast-master.

MUST KEEP TAX DOWN

Warden Wiggins Says He is Ending 25 Years in Public Life

The newly-elected city council were luncheon guests of the President and Directors of the Chamber of Commerce to-day when they passed complimentary reference backwards and forwards and promised much during next term co-operation for nineteen-twenty-six.

Incidentally in the speech of Mayor-elect Graham were forecasts of possible activities by the council along the lines of better facilities for children in the way of skiing and playgrounds. And Alderman-elect E. T. Cherry electrified the meeting with the offer of a number of lots he owns on Everett street gratis as the site of skating rinks for two or even five years.

President Scott of the C. of C. said that it was the function of that body to assist the city in every way possible and to carry out duties which were for certain reasons beyond the power of the City Council as a body. They were glad to be able to do this.

Mayor-elect Graham warned that the tax rate must be kept down but that certain necessary plans would have to be carried out. Playgrounds for winter and summer were most important. The tourist camp must be in operation this summer, he said.

Warden Wiggins of the County Council spoke briefly telling the newly elected men that he was complet ing 26 years of municipal service and knew what they would experience. He did not expect to be back again. For eight years the Northern Quartette had been coming down boosting the North They had received more than almost any district and than they could accommodate. What really was needed he said, stalling was a paved road to Bancroft, the "B-B Highway".

Alderman-elect Sinclair, Cowan, Cherry, Reid, Wetsh, MacConnell, Walker, Proctor, Duff and Wilmot spoke briefly.

Mr. Herity, rising after a great many complimentary references had been made to him, said among other things that before long he expected to have very interesting announcements as to industrial developments here.

NOVELIST IS DEAD

Paris, Dec. 10.—Andre Beaunier, critic and novelist died to-day.

Treasurer Mallory, Very Ill, is Granted 6 Months Absence

Reeve Haggerty There Pro Tem

J. W. Haggerty, Reeve of Huntingdon township was appointed county treasurer pro tem at County Council meeting this morning. The unusual procedure of taking "ayes" and "nays" was used, 18 voting for and 11 against the motion for appointment. Mr. B. Mallory, treasurer, is ill and incapacitated. As a result of the appointment, Mr. Haggerty will be compelled to resign his position as Reeve of Huntingdon.

Mr. J. A. Moore moved, seconded by Mr. A. McHenry that Mr. Haggerty be appointed treasurer pro tem.

Mr. C. B. McGuire stated that he was not an applicant for the position.

Mr. S. B. W right spoke in favor of the plan of unalternating the office of treasurer and county clerk if a change was to be made.

Mr. J. L. Newton referred to Mr. Mallory as an efficient official of the county and he would be loathe to do anything that would affect Mr. Mallory in his present state of health. He would rather see Mr. W. H. Nugent continuing as treasurer pro tem.

Mr. S. C. Rollins was by no means in favor of having Mr. Mallory resign his position. He would favor a temporary appointment by the County Council to continue to act as treasurer for a few months.

Warden Wiggins referred to the action he had taken in appointing Mr. Nugent as treasurer pro tem, owing to Mr. Mallory being unable to be at the office. Mr. Mallory was anxious that no appointment be made until the sadili was completed which would be before January 1st.

The yeas and nays were asked for and resulted as follows:

For the Motion—C. Burleyer, A. McKenzie, T. Turril, H. Heyzett, J. M. Anderson, C. B. McGuire, P. A. Wellar, Dr. A. T. Embury, E. C. Metcalfe, H. T. Miller, C. Thompson, W. A. Mc Murray, J. A. Moore, G. Bailey, E. W. Brown and Col. R. Vanderwater.—18.

Against the motion—R. Mitchell, G. J. Aitken, R. Bonter, J. C. Campbell, J. L. Newton, J. Taylor, S. B. Wright, J. A. McKinney, W. A. Reid, C. S. Rollins and W. Wintermute.—11.

Upon the resumption of the County Council on Wednesday afternoon the Warden read a letter from Mr. B. Mallory County Treasurer, stating that he

Financial Results Are Gratifying

Holloway Street United Church Ladies Aid has been responsible for many entertainments of diverse natures but none have so far been so successful financially or attended by such crowds as the social and financial results were most gratifying to those who had worked for years in the interests of making this annual entertainment the great success it proved to be.

The room in which the affair was held was fascinating in its bright and tasteful decorations of all the booths, each carrying out a pretty color scheme of its own and so arranged to avoid any clashing of colors.

THE TEA ROOM

The tea room, always the centre of social interests at such affairs was prettily with its many and cleverly made articles suitable for Christmas gifts for the most discriminating person.

HOME COOKING

The domestic table where the choicest of cakes, pies, tarts, candies, etc., were displayed was in charge of Mrs. Bowers and Mrs. Langabeer. Each booth was well equipped with willing helpers who saw to it that the slightest request of each customer was filled speedily and Mrs. G. Wooten, the president of the Ladies Aid was warmly congratulated upon the success of the organization department and in the consolidation of all workers to make the bazaar, the big event of the year, the complete success it proved to be.

VERY IMPORTANT SUMMARY GIVEN OF COUNTY PLANS

Future of Hastings Boys and Girls Wrapped Up In Document

PROGRESS IS SHOWN

Every Township is Interested in Funds of Committee

At the County Council session on Wednesday the two following reports were presented and adopted:

REPORT OF HASTINGS COUNTY ADVISORY AGRICULTURAL COUNCIL.

Gentlemen:

A meeting was held at Shire Hall the first Monday in March where the interests of agriculture in general and particularly those pertaining to this County were discussed. We found that owing to the extent of this County the influence of the Agricultural Representative was limited so that those communities in the eastern and northern portions were not reaping the benefits of the office now established. So in order to rectify this situation with the facilities at our disposal we recommended to Agricultural Representative that a more educational campaign is practical way with:—

1. School fairs at which there were ten held this year with an attendance of 5,000 school children.

2. Short Courses of which eight thirty are formed at the present time in the County.

We further recommend to this Council that when grants to the Agricultural Societies are being made a grant of $300 be made towards prize money for rural school fairs in the County.

A demonstration will be arranged at local shipping points and in any other way possible to have lambs graded locally in order that farmers might get a better idea of the various grades of hogs as graded, and also that it might be possible for farmers to secure the premium or select hogs.

THE CORN BOARD

This committee also submit to the County Council a resolution recommending a more rigid enforcement of the law to prevent the spread of the European Corn Borer, to the Minister of Agriculture to carry free from the pest and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Minister of Agriculture and Provincial Departments of Agriculture. If the same be endorsed by the County Council.

We further recommend that as a counter measure owing to the amount of capital invested in silos and the feeding value of corn to live stock, that all possible efforts should be made to further Corn by promoting the growth of silvalfa and, that the use of local seed be encouraged when available.

In view of the fact of the numerous orchards in the County we recommend that the orchard survey service and orchard supervision service conducted by the Provincial Fruit Branch be extended to Hastings County.

The possibilities of conducting in the County a campaign for baconsires in all classes of live stock were discussed.

Poultry culling demonstrations were endorsed and a continuance of these demonstrations were suggested.

TO MR. ATKINS

A vote of thanks and appreciation of this Advisory Committee was tendered to Mr. Ray Atkins for his services and the manner in which he has carried on the work this year, especially the work in connection with school fairs. The new one held in the northern part of the County at Bancroft this year was a decided success and worthy of special mention.

At a recent meeting of this com-

EVIDENCE IN ACCIDENT CASE

Robert McGhee, aged 66, former P. A. constable at Madoc, where he has lived for many years, and the man who was assulted, was the first witness called. He told of being disabled, by the accused, Roy Jarvis, opposite the gangway at the G. T. Lawrence hotel, about ten o'clock on the night of August 13th last. He was returning with John Hallida from a lodge meeting, carrying a parcel of books, when he says he was set upon by Jarvis and beaten up. Mr. McGhee is now a tailor at Madoc, did has been in that business, there for the past 30 years.

John Rollins, who has lived in Madoc three years, corroborated the testimony of McGhee, he having witnessed the fight.

Eric Cross, student at Osgoode Hall, who was visiting at Madoc, and who witnessed the fight, told of reaching forward to separate the men when Damon Hoover, who is charged with aiding and abetting the accused, stepped in front of him and placing a hand on his shoulder said, "Do not interfere, they are settling an old score."

Dr. Sam Eagleson, who attended McGhee the morning following the fight, told of McGhee's black eye and cracked cheek bone, a colour having formed where the bone knit. There was also a cut on the back of his head.

Damon Hoover, first defence witness, was sitting in front of the hotel with Mr. Bloe, the manager, when he saw McGhee and Rollins coming down the hill. He saw Jarvis walk towards them and into the gangway. Then a scuffle started, which McGhee struck Jarvis. He then walked over and Cross who carried a cane or stick, rushed forward. Hoover told of fearing that Cross would strike either of them with the stick and said to him: "Do not hit anyone with that stick." He denied laying a hand on Cross. He heard Jarvis say to McGhee, "you got me and brother Jim five years ago, but you didn't get me this time" and also heard Jarvis say, "you did not hit me, you are too darn slow." Witness admitted having said he would pay the fine and he meant it, believing that it would be impossible for Jarvis to be fined when McGhee struck first. He described the fight, Jarvis clinching McGhee after McGhee passed at him. They struggled from the gangway to the middle of the road and then Jarvis released his hand and poked McGhee. They went down and then Jarvis got up. McGhee grabbed him around the ankles and Jarvis grabbed McGhee by the throat. Then both let go, but McGhee grabbed again around the ankles and Jarvis again grabbed him by the throat holding him until he stepped highly and away from McGhee's reach. He then left the scene. McGhee arose alone.

Jarvis, aged 26 and a husky unassuming chap, said he had never been in a fight before, and did not know how to fight scientifically. He said of McGhee having knocked him down with a club when he was coming stable about ten years ago. He told of buying a suit from McGhee which was very unsatisfactory, tearing out in two months. He walked up to McGhee the night to ask about another suit. McGhee said he would give him one for $37. When they argued about the quality of the other suit, and McGhee was accused of giving him poor value, witness said that McGhee struck at him with his fist and the fight was on. He was sorry after the fight because McGhee was an older man than he, but he only wished to get away from him, and had to strike him three times before McGhee would release his hold. His story of the fight was the same as Hoover's.

R. Blue said that he heard Jarvis shout to McGhee twice during the wrestling preliminaries, to "let go", but he would not.

McGhee recalled said that the suit he sold to accused was a good one, all had only being as represented. He denied that Jarvis ever mentioned anything about a suit to him before the assault.

McGhee admitted having knocked Jarvis down once and having his brother fined. He did not use a club he said, but his open hand and only when Jarvis came in to fight him.

B. C. Donnan is conducting the case for the Crown and E. Guss Porter, K.C., is defending accused men.

Note of Optimism Sounded at Meeting of Bank of Montreal

Sir Vincent Meredith, President, Stated That in the Light of Present Day Conditions, He Looked Forward With the Utmost Confidence to Canada's Future.

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, General Manager, Points Out That Bank Had Never Been in a Better or Stronger Position to Undertake New Business—Bountiful Crop Has Helped Situation in Canada.

The annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Montreal, held at the head office, marked the close of a successful year. The annual statement showed total assets of $756,147,876, and liquid assets of $458,489,068, equal to 56% of total liabilities to the public.

Sir Vincent Meredith, President, in his address to shareholders, reviewed conditions in Canada and touched on the more important trade developments in the outside financial centres where the Bank is represented. Sir Vincent struck an optimistic note regarding the outlook in Canada, but stressed the urgent necessity for the Government to deal with the problem of the loans being sustained by the National Railways and to get taxation down to the level existing in the neighboring country.

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, General Manager, referred to a number of the outstanding features of the Bank's statement, and stated that the Bank had never been in a better or stronger position to undertake new business. He expressed the belief that people must wake up to the fact that public debt is a burden on the individual back and the bigger it gets the more money it takes out of the individual pocket. Sir Frederick also pointed out that there were indications of renewed financing between Canada and London.

President's Address.

Sir Vincent Meredith in his address, said in part:—

In interviewing the business of the past year, our balance sheet indicates the general trend of events. Our deposits, as compared with two years ago, show a large increase, while our loans during the same period are considerably reduced.

Our profits are in consequence somewhat adversely affected, but we are left in an unusually strong position to meet any calls which financial activity in trade may make upon us. Notwithstanding these conditions, our dividend and bonus have been earned and taxes paid, and we have a balance to carry forward.

The abnormally high yields on pre-war bad war investments have dwindled as capital has accumulated, and the necessity of finding profitable investment has no doubt been largely responsible for the advance in the prices of stock exchange securities.

There is no question but that the trend of business is slowly but surely upward. As an evidence of this, our loadings are the largest on record, while wholesale and retail business shows a fair degree of increased activity. Textile industries are well employed, and there is more demand in the leather and allied trades. Improvement is also shown in other lines of business, although profits are curtailed in the grocery trade. There is little improvement in the lumber market in Eastern Canada, but western shipments by way of the Panama Canal have substantially increased.

Agriculture is our leading industry and on its profitable outcome the prosperity of the country largely depends. While, unfavourable weather conditions restricted harvesting to some extent, the crop that was garnered this year is a very large one and, at present prices, will prove profitable to the farmer. The marketing of the crop will bring at least $500,000,000 of new money into Canada and will undoubtedly effect a liquidation in farmers' liabilities. This new money will flow into all channels of trade and be reflected in improved business conditions generally throughout the country.

Need For Public Economy

The pressing necessity of restricting, so far as may be legitimately possible, all national expenditures is apparent, but unless it is followed by appropriate action which results in reduction in taxes, we cannot regard it as other than an ineffective gesture. If our expenditures should be so controlled that within a reasonable time Canadian taxes should not exceed those imposed in the United States, it would provide an important stimulus to industry and also an effective aid to immigration and colonization, the need for which is apparent. When I urge as strongly as I can that this measure of prudence and economy should be exercised, I do not do so with any feeling that lack of confidence in the country is warranted. In fact, I am more convinced than ever that the country, actually and potentially, possesses such wealth and opportunity that its future cannot be denied, and I deprecate most strongly expressions of opinion based upon local conditions and individual business which are perverted into pessimism as to the country's future when no real foundation for such a sentiment exists.

General Manager Reviews Situation

In his review of the situation, Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor said in part:—

As you know, the good name we possess was never better than it is today. It is an asset which we value as we do our material resources, and which it is our duty as well as our determination to preserve.

We have gone through another year of business depression and this is reflected in the disadvantage of lessening profits. Fortunately our great earning power continues, though obviously the amount of profit has been larger had the industrial situation permitted us to put out more money in the trade and commercial channels rather than to loan on call in London and New York, or to buy high-class investments to yield a lower profit.

As to the future, my special message to our shareholders at distant points and abroad is that for several years past there has been a feeling that there has come about a better and more hopeful feeling throughout Canada. In consequence, there is ground for thinking that we have passed through the worst of our bad times and that we can look for better general conditions, in which, naturally, our Bank must share, especially as we have never been in a better or stronger position to undertake new business.

Conditions in the year under review were neither so good nor so bad as extremists on either side have stated. Due to the unsettled state of the finances of the National railways into account we are not balancing our national budget as we must continue. We must sometime and somehow contrive to live within our means and begin to pay off our debts. With good management of our affairs we should be well able to do this, and we will do it as soon as our people wake up to the fact that public debt is a burden on the individual back and that the bigger it gets the more money it takes out of the individual pocket.

Tremendous Natural Advantages

Before the war, conditions of living in the United States and Canada were much alike, and we had grown accustomed to that order of things, but the war put us behind and put the United States ahead, so comparison at present is futile.

This same condition of prosperity in the United States has also resulted in far too many of our people crossing the border. True, Canada is not the only country whose citizens are attracted by the prosperity of the United States, but, speaking for ourselves, there has been a cause for emigration that is more disturbing than the fact itself. Living next door, we naturally stand in closest comparison and are more exposed than any other country to a drain on our population from the fact that at the moment we are carrying a heavy burden of debt, while our neighbours overflow with wealth. Against this, however, we have more than they to offer to the desirable settler who wishes to go on the land. Land hunger is a human instinct. We have good and cheap land in plenty, and eventually the tide of immigration will turn in our direction.

We have a fertile soil, vast mineral resources, inexhaustible fisheries, mighty forests, unequalled water power, transportation galore, and as industrious people—in fact, all that goes to make a great and strong nation—but prudent management of our affairs is fundamental. Without that all our manifold advantages mean nothing.

We should ever keep before us the fact that Canada has immense potentialities and that the mistakes of the past are reparable. Also, we have a splendid manhood east and west, with a loyal love of country and a unanimous determination to preserve our political independence.

HON. J. S. MARTIN WAS AT TRENTON

Provincial Minister of Agriculture Tells of Help to Farm People

Trenton, Dec. 10.—The problems of the farmer, and the panacea for their solution were discussed in the High School Auditorium yesterday by Hon. J. S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture, before an audience of about two hundred prominent men of urban and rural circles here.

Mr. Martin came as the guest of the Canadian Club.

In the course of his talk, Mr. Martin explained various Government agencies which stood ready to serve the farmer. This included the soil testing which takes place in the Fall Fairs.

The advantages of "co-operation" he omits are organized, having for their object the centralization of the markets and the voluntary pooling of the products of their members, were praised and recommended by the minister. He outlined the Denmark system of marketing "dirty products," the details of which are so well worked out that if a man in England discovers a poor egg at his breakfast table, the man in Denmark is to blame, and the egg can be located by marks on the shell. Furthermore the man is located—and fined.

The chairman was Dr. Ralph Aylesworth. On the platform with the speaker were: Mr. G. M. Meyers and Mr. David Mirrlees, newly elected president of the Farmers Club.

Mr. Howard Graham, Secretary of the Canadian Club, had charge of the meeting. "This was an address which every farmer should have heard. Such talks serve to educate and closer contact men of the cities and of the farms."

CHRISTMAS TREES

The perennial question as to whether it is not a shocking waste of our timber resources to cut down hundreds of thousands of spruce and other evergreens for Christmas trees is again being discussed.

Some of those who are objecting to the cutting down of evergreens for this purpose are letting their emotions get the better of their common sense. Thus one person says: "Why not teach the children that every Christmas tree may mean that some poor little bird is without a place to sleep?"

It is assumed by those who are opposing Christmas trees that if they were not cut down all would grow into tall timber suitable for saw-logs. But the assumption is unwarranted. Both when planted by man and by Nature the conifers spring up in thick clusters, so close that there is no room for all to reach maturity. Some must yield to others are to have enough space and light. Foresters accordingly deliberately thin out the stand, by cutting some of the small trees to make room for those that are to be allowed to grow. Trees thus removed may be used for Christmas purposes. If they were not removed they would probably be killed in the struggle for existence with their neighbors.

Making a true over the destruction of Christmas trees is a case of saving at the spigot and wasting at the bung; for the loss of our timber resources from this cause is infinitesimal as compared with the damage done to our forests by fire and insects.

IMMORTAL

Sheridan's "The School for Scandal" in its original form, staging and costuming is being produced again in American cities. When it was first presented in England the U.S.A. was a British colony. And yet this comedy of manners lifeless produced in 1925 with as great success as it was received one and a half centuries ago.

Modern performances of old plays seem to prove that for all the superficial changes that have taken place in the passage of centuries, human nature is intrinsically the same. The humor of this generation responds to the same stimulus that provoked to laughter the Georgians; the old allusions to the foibles and follies of society are still apt. Although an effort was made to preserve Sheridan's play in its eighteenth century setting its meaning was not obscured nor were its powers to entertain diminished by the twentieth century production.

Here is the test of immortality in the drama. The comedy which amused the younger Pitt, Edmund Burke and other brilliant lights of the world of politics and fashion in the London of that day is now amusing leaders in the world of politics and fashion in the United States of this day. As a satire on society it applies as aptly to the society of any American city of today as it did to the society of London of Sheridan's own day.

WORLD COURT

Senator Borah is getting quite a raking over the coals in the American press for his illogical attitude towards th World Court, which is the issue of most interest to Canadians in the program of congress, which has just assembled. The Philadelphia Public Ledger, a newspaper of independent views, declares that what the senator is suffering from is "a lack of rules". No perfect thing can be built, according to Mr. Borah, which is not founded upon rules. He would accept the World Court, says the Ledger, only if it were wrecked, for then a "perfect tribunal" could be erected on the site. The statesmanship of the present and past presidents of the United States has almost got a wrecking the court, but at strengthening and improving it, according to their own opinions. And that is surely the only way in which restitution to join can be justified. It is absurd to pretend to approve of the principle of the court and at the same time work might and main to prevent the nations from accepting it either as it is of as it might be after men of good will have done their best to improve it. There is no doubt at all as to what the opinion of the majority of people in the United States is regarding the ideals for which the World Court stands. The St. Louis Post Dispatch, another independent news paper, declares that the "plain people" of the United States are "fed up" on war, and "will be fed up on militarism who fail to do everything in their power to banish war from the experience of humanity."

Notwithstanding the unreasonable opposition of politicians like Senator Borah, however, it is probable that the proposition for the United States to join the World Court would carry by more than the required two-thirds vote. The people are "on to" Senator Borah and men of his stamp.

A CURIOSITY OF ELECTIONS

Edmonton Journal:

When the general vote is compiled, it will be found that in most of the provinces the ballots cast for the different parties are out of all proportions to the seats obtained by them. There is nothing like the preponderance of Liberals in Quebec, or Conservatives in Ontario, that the bare returns indicate. In Saskatchewan no Conservative candidates have been elected, but the candidates of that party, according to the figures available in Regina polled over 48,000 votes, only about 1,000 less than did the Progressive nominees, six of whom have been elected. The Liberal total was placed at 72,6g8, and that party has won 115 seats.

BETTER AND BETTER

Daily Express!

M. Coue is back in England. The auto-suggestion which he preaches with the formula as to getting better every day and in every way has undoubtedly helped thousands of people over difficult situations in all parts of the world. We can easily observe the magic effect of an oft-repeated assertion. It is noticeable at the present time when, after a period of pessimism in trade which the Daily Express has so vigorously opposed, the spirit of optimism has at last spread over the land, and business people everywhere are saying, "We are getting better and better every day and in every way." And so we are. Optimism engenders confidence and energy, and all we needed was this impetus to start the machine at its former pace. Old England has Coued herself back to the prosperity road.

DANCING INTO HEAVEN

New York Evening World:

Arthur Holltscher, German globe trotter, exploring the myths and folklore in certain South Sea islands, came upon a tribe, the Ponapeans, who hold that no one can enter the blessed abode of eternal happiness unless he or she is a good dancer. According to the creed of these people every soul passing to the great beyond is obliged to cross a bridge guarded by demoniacal watchmen, waiting to pounce upon him and drag him down to the lower regions. If, however, the soul is able to dance across the bridge, the evil watchmen will be so engrossed in studying their movements that they forget their duty and before they have time to realize it, the soul will slip past them into paradise. Holltscher says he was not in the least surprised when he heard that in the local housegow there languished seven confirmed heretics who had been condemned to forced labor because they did not hold to the orthodox tenets of the faith and one of them told the traveler that he would surprise the priests some day by getting over the bridge without dancing, but by simply scaring the demons with a big painted wooden mask that he was busy carving from a chunk of tree.

DOING WELL HERE

Toronto Mail and Empire:

Mr. Robbins, London manager of the White Star-Dominion and Red Star lines' colonization department, told the Montreal Gazette that having visited a number of the 500 families brought to Canada under the 3,000-family scheme, he found them all completely satisfied. He met many families who had more money than they ever saw before and he believed that on the completion of the present scheme in 1927 another similar agreement would be made to bring British families to this country.

RATHER NEAT

Stratford Beacon Herald:

A British visitor to the United States undertook to explain to an American audience recently one of the differences between that country and Great Britain. Both countries, he said, believed in freedom, but, while the Americans sang about it the British people practiced it.

DIFFERENCE IN METHODS

Montreal Gazette:

An English jury has accepted the plea of insanity in the case of the murderer of the commander of the Hesperia, but the difference between such a verdict in England and the United States is that in the former country the guilty man will be kept permanently where he will not be a menace to his fellows, instead of being let loose when the public has lost interest in the case.

Sometimes they bear the semblance of a star,
Or many stars, or spires of bud and bell;
But what their names and what their colours are
That leaves
I have no skill to tell.

Fair fingers plucked them, ruthless feet crush down,
Half-hidden in their depths dead heroes lie;
Relenting murderers eye them with a frown—
That changes to a sigh.

Nameless and colourless they nod and sway,
While Voiceless lovers kiss and villains plot,
Poor flora of a world for ever grey
Where the wind reaseth not.

Romance of Ruined Castles

Notions of the Northumberland coast vary, rather widely, in memories of Scott's poems come to grief on a first sight of it, writes a correspondent of St. Leger's Yeast. It was going to be all castles, crags and torrents. It is flat and sandy. But just because it is flat and sandy the coastside was wanted to build castles on it were only too glad to make use of the stones of one castle to build another, which they could find. This is why Dunstanburgh, Bamburgh and the castle on Holy Island look as romantic as they do. Compare them with the Chateau Gaillard or with Carcassonne, and they are naught. But in the kingdom of the blind—

They are very romantic, very picturesque, and Dunstanburgh is the most romantic of all, partly because it is ruined, and partly because it stands all alone there on its great rock, far from any house. Bamburgh and Holy Island are both inhabited and well cared for, but Dunstanburgh can look mighty fine on a windy day of the cloud in floats" from a little distance and the sandy coast. Watched by Lucker, Embleton and the other is rich in the enduring interest of being on Holy Island.

People when the tide was big and white a stiffish breeze was blowing. The boy children caught not to be altogether tame and easy. It meant driving from Beal a high, dog-cart through a mile of choppy sea with the water over the hubs of the wheels, skirting the waves all round. Not long, sandy beach, beyond the guiding stakes and the safety buoys. So, in security and comfort, might be gained a sight of one of what the more hardy islanders have to do on dark winter nights in a northerly gale. A courteous, charming people they seemed, in spite of the mainland reputation of the three men fired for, like every Islander. They do not now, but by ancient trade of wrecking and smuggling, but by farming and fishing, and, so far as the wreckers, they do heroic service with their two life-boats, of which the newer was only christened last December.

On that long, low, lonesome stretch of sand and dunes there is no more people than one would find in the quietest crofter ruined Norman architecture in the King's dominions—the Priory of Lindisfarne, on the "Holy Island" or "Holy soul" who, on seeing this red sandstone behind, and together is there where the Saints-of England had its cradle, does not want to take it away and keep it for his private use in his own country. Private use will want the very interesting old parish church and all the Saxon and work in the little museum; and those of all, perhaps, the view from the island's wee memorials above the mountain rotaspective view of the Farne Islands and Bamburgh Castle and the North Sea.

Friendly from which to see the Alnwick romantic sights is Alnwick which also has been may their fashionable. Dear wick is no near; but windy, dusty smoky little place, not nearly worthy of its terrible history. The rail way station (now being rebuilt) stand on the site of its castle; but in an hour or two one may walk around the old town-walls and see from their top the view down the town, the harbor the sands and—best of all—the old road-bridge (a new one is being built hard by it) and the former railway bridge. The Alnwick is inexhaustible The town itself—at first sight stolid. But there is a delightful old-world friendly—has a cozy old hotel, the White Swan, and some few old bits, including the Hotspur Tower; but Alnwick has zero, and its chief, the Duke of Northumberland's Alnwick Castle, just Alnwick parks. The inside of the castle (much restored in the 18th and the 19th centuries) I found closed to visitors as the Duke is in residence; but the outside of the castle seen from the path along the left bank of the Aln, is very impressive indeed. I walked through miles of woods many of them steep above the river and were delighted to find "Keep out" bracken to find the ruins of little Hulne Abbey in their sylvan remoteness. Fountains, Jervaulx, Glastonbury—one thinks of half a score of great woods not parks without remembering anything else equally in their own way, these Alnwick woods and waters. And now and then, not far off, one sees hills and heather.

That is the end, I suppose, of the "Border Ballad" country. One cannot say in the Border country. It is the Ballad country. One cannot see it without the glow which the natural poetry of wealthy things call of old unhappy days. There is a bold, day region, in the usual sense, this coast seems to be less used than it might be. There is a "quiet little resort" at Bamburgh, where rich Norocratisme go to play lawn-tennis and golf, and "poorer Norocratisme" come in motor-coaches for the afternoon, to look at Grace Darling's effigy in the church and to sport upon the fine sands. But poorer Norocratisme really prefer their beloved Whitley Bay, or Redcar, or even South Shields. Of these Northumbrian sands are so good that at certain places —Newton-by-the-Sea, for instance—they hold motor-bicycle races on them. At Alnmouth, Newbiggin, and a few other spots—including Holy Island—famous for a few summer weeks there are "more visitors than natives" —a few people who stay in bed, fish, play golf, bathe and take "map-shots". But the pull here is inland, towards the great estates—Alnwick, and the Grey places at Chillingham, Howick Fallodon; towards Prudhoe, Flodden Field, the Border; towards Hexham, Corbridge, the Roman Wall. And a noble country it is.

COUNCIL GIVEN RURAL SUMMARY

mittee held its Agricultural Representatives' office, Stirling, November 30th, it was decided to send a deputation to wait on the Ontario Minister of Agriculture, Hon. W. H. Martin, to establish within Hastings County an Agricultural School and Demonstration Farm in the sandy the agricultural interests of Central Ontario and this County in particular. It was pointed out to the Minister that thousands of dollars had been and will continue to be spent by governments, and railway companies, to bring immigration to this country when practically nothing is advanced to the progress of rural communities to encourage them to remain on the land.

The larger percentage of school children pass the entrance to High School and then comes the period for the Agricultural school to do its work, as the comparatively small percentage who proceed on to High School to graduate into the professions, but it is already crowded or use it as a stepping stone to the professions, but it is to the percentage who remain at home to whom we are directing our attention.

PROSPERITY COMING

It cannot be denied that a very large percentage of the revenue of this county is derived from the agricultural industry and it is interests of this industry we wish to further, because even in the most pessimistic, admit that this country is verging on an era of unprecedented prosperity, and we wish those engaged in agriculture to be in a position to take advantage of it.

It was the intention of the Agricultural Representative to hold two one month's courses in the County in the winter of 1926, January in Stirling, February in Stoco.

The former was changed to a three months' course, which it it proved satisfactory from a viewpoint of interest and attendance would be taken as an indication of the necessity of establishing the Agricultural School and Demonstration Farm within the County, and that it would receive favorable consideration.

So that now it requires the co-operation in a practical way of every member of this County Council to further the advantages of these courses, both in point of regular attendance and interest taken, and the reward will come to this County in a practical way which will be of use for the generations to come.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

(Signed) Roscoe Vanderwater, Chairman.

A Heart's Triumph

CHAPTER 1.

HAR. CECIL LACKLYNE.

The White Abbey—Myself in the heart of Wyndale, England. Visitors come in troops during the summer season of the year to see the old historic, ethnological castle that was still in a marvelous state of preservation. The castle was the pride of the inhabitants of the sleepy little town over which its moss-covered battlements towered. Some of the visitors to the Abbey were by many acres of land and its multitude of deer trees, occasional glimpses could, nevertheless, be had of this quaint, old world building, which was, so the village people declared, well-aight as old as the one in itself.

Village people, as a rule, are pretty good historians as far as their own immediate precincts go, but in the case of these Wyndale folks they were very far out indeed as regarded the age of the White Abbey house. They had only about a century of years. It had been built about 1800 by a certain Squire Lacklynelwho had passed down through two generations to the present owner, Sir Charles Lacklyne, famous, a few years before the story opens, for his eccentricities, his wealth, and his remarkable skill as an amateur mechanical engineer.

It was maybe, the fact that the family of Lacklyne had been established for more than a century in the county of Wyndale that added the luster of great antiquity to Sir Charles' estates, his money, house, his car, his crystal radio (he passed it proudly from all drivers of wagonettes and other guides, and his conveyances there was a growing demand from tourists and sightseers to be allowed to explore the grounds and appurtenances of the White Abbey. It was never any that the old castle was explored.

Sir Charles Lacklyne's views on this matter, unfortunately, did not coincide with those of the tourists. He resisted to the last ditch, and was, in the way he was actuated, by his house, save those who were brought thither by his invitations. And, had he been consulted in the matter, he himself never went outside the boundary of his property. He lived for the most part in his huge workshop, a building he had had erected when he first turned his back on the fashionable world and took up his life from his own point of view. In this workshop had been invented and manufactured vast and wonderful contrivances, some of them mighty ingenious, others just the reverse.

He had working with him a skilled Relation of the Liver and Kidneys

Such that each suffers when other deranged—Both regulated by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

When the liver becomes sluggish or torpid in action, the kidneys have to help out with the work of filtration. When the liver fails the kidneys have all the work to do.

Hence the beginning of trouble is usually biliousness, constipation and indigestion, and after a time the kidneys begin to be affected and backache, backache, kidney derangement and kidney disease.

The remarkable success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is due to the unique combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels. They act on the cause of trouble and remove it no matter how complicated it may be. They regulate thoroughly the disease the bowels, so that the liver and kidneys are relieved the overworked kidneys.

Avoid Bronchitis

Irishman named Dennis, a Swede whom he had imported, and a young English man called Michael Everest, who had strongly recommended to him by Charles by a firm of prominent engineers as being a young fellow of considerable ability, but unlucky a fourth boy-assistant used to appear about the whirl of the machinery, and take up some task with intelligence that was to intent.

The whole basis of life at the White Abbey might be said to have rested on mechanism. Sir Charles had invented a contrivance for every detail and in the course of his walks in the garden, for instance, his hands were usually by a walking machine, his pains rolled by mechanical means, and his feet moved by steps and shot automatically. There were wonderful step-ladders and by-ways, automobiles, and by-ways, motor-bicycles, electricity. Inside the house, electricity ruled everywhere. Nothing was done in the manual fashion. Indeed, the whole was very comfortable, or very useful, either, for Sir Charles' inventions had a trick of being perpetually out of order.

"I am waiting for father to invent a machine that will fetch for me my boots without bothering our hands, or without studying our appetites," was a remark made by the daughter of the house on a Saturday September evening to one of the few people who were honored with an invitation to dine at the White Abbey. "It really seems to me that this is the only thing that remains to be invented, Michael."

The voice had a touch of weariness in it, and the tall, slight figure, oddly dressed in a long white robe of brown woolen that had something picturesque about it, leaned almost despondently against the side of the high-backed window.

The man to whom this speech had been addressed was leaning back in his chair, sipping an excellent cigar.

He was a man about forty, not particularly good-looking, either in feature or figure, but he had that indefinable look of distinction which is always charming, and his eyes were well placed under a high, intelligent brow. He had been looking about him in an amused, half-lazy sort of way, when that young voice, with a touch of weariness in it, broke on his ear. The meal he had just eaten had been an excellent one, the cigar he was smoking was strong, and he had been object of surprise and novelty attending it to almost every turn.

The butler had retired behind the chairs, but a square table with shelves had moved automatically "round the room, making a whirring noise as it went its round, now and then coming to a desperate stop, and requiring energetic attention before consenting to move on again. In keeping with this curious mechanical waiter, there had been electrical contrivances for ringing bells, changing plates, drawing the curtains together, and, in short, for doing everything which is commonly done by a neat parlor-maid, or by men servants. In consequence, the dinner had lasted a very long time, and there had been an great deal of noise and breakage, which caused a great deal of satisfaction to Sir Charles Lacklyne. This changed from what entertainment and amusement was brought to him that one of the most valuable turning-wheels in the machinery of the house, and required his immediate attention.

"You will forgive me, Darnley," he had called out, and moved away."

Mr. Darnley had checked a smile as he watched the hasty departure. It was not the first occasion on which this eccentric being with the extraordinarily handsome man of fashion Charles Lacklyne had been about a dozen years previously.

"Do you find my father much changed?" was the question put to Paul Darnley when Sir Charles had vanished so quickly.

"Since last I was here—how much? No, not very much. He is still wonderfully energetic. Does he ever sleep?"

"Sometimes he is obliged to rest. For week he would not go to bed before, for twenty twenty-four hours. He was so absorbed, poor man!—and when he woke up you can't think how furious he was because none of his inventions had fulfilled their various duties, and wakened him instead. I did not dare confess I had stopped them all."

There was a slight musical laugh on the end of this speech, which was followed by a little sigh. The young girl had moved across the room, pulled back the curtains, as Darnley instantly had started herself on the broad window-ledge.

Paul Darnley stood the salon from his cigar, and leaned his small dark and delicate profile silhouetted against the clear sky of the September evening. He found this what had struck him the first time on his arrival, that Cecil Lacklyne had developed an extraordinary degree of charm, of soul beauty since his last visit to the White Abbey. There was something, too, in the deep-cut outline of that slender figure which had a feudal look in its curves that, had struck him with the utmost of pity this evening for the first time.

"You have grown very tall" lately, Cecil," he said, almost involuntarily, his mind turning to her father.

"I am eighteen now—at least," was the reply. "I am. Father never remembers my birthday, and I never, on her head back again,and looked it in the eyes, and never to have been outside the gates of the White Abbey! I suppose you don't meet many girls in the world, Darnley, in the big world that lies around us, do you?"

Paul Darnley smiled at her kindly. "Yes, I do," he said. "Some world best. Cecil," he said. "I grow fonder of this place every time I come here."

"Too, come so seldom," the girl said. She spoke rather listlessly. Her eyes were fixed on a building standing far away from the others, a large, square, stiff-looking building, which even at so great a distance, had something of the look of a prison about it, and dreams about everything that is to be found in your world," she said, turning to him after a little pause, "but, chief of all, I think, I dream about that place over there, and set myself to wonder what it contains. I am the person who are 'shut up' there, and if life is very, very terrible inside those prison walls."

"Life is not likely to be at all terrible, it is pretty bearable, by what I can see," Darnley laughed a little carelessly.

"The prisoners sent to Cleveland are not likely to be terrible, for there are only women more like animals than human beings." He rose and came toward her, "I had no idea you could ever dream anything so shut out the view of this great, ugly building.

Cecil laughed faintly.

"Father seems to have no objection to it; on the contrary, I have often seen him sit and look at it through glasses, though he enjoyed the sight. It is very far off, really," the girl added, "and I don't think it is any nearer than when I was a child. The servants have told me the gardens of the governor's house are quite beautiful. I should love to see it, but though he enjoyed the view," Cecil said, half-dreamily, "I should feel as if I had lost something, I like to sit here and imagine that those poor creatures may perhaps know that there is some one who thinks about them, and is sorry for them. But I am talking a great deal of nonsense. Mr. Darnley. Shall we go and see what has happened to the workshop? You know you have not seen all the wonderful things that have been done since you were here last."

She walked beside him out of the room, and led the way to the workshop. There was nothing strange, or puzzling, in her movements. She wore no fanciful garments with the case of one who has grown up accustomed to them, as was, indeed the case, for the girl had no recollection till now, when she was approaching womanhood, Cecil Lacklyne had never been permitted to wear a hat or a wear any other form of clothing. There was, Paul Darnley was compelled to admit, a be beautiful Cecil Lacklyne had full, healthy form, a good deal to be said in favor of Sir Charles' whim in this respect. Charles Lacklyne was wont to declare loudly that all women should be trained as he had trained his girl.

"Teach them to move freely—and how can they move freely in those abominable clinging skirts? Let them expand their lungs, and not compress their limbs, as nature intended them to do, look at Cecil. Isn't she the picture of health?"

This was the kind of argument he had always ready in the past when comment had been made by any visitor to the unusual custom of garbing his pretty little daughter as a boy.

"I mean Cecil to grow up without a corset-lace," was a phrase Paul Darnley remembered hearing many years before. "If I can, I will keep her and brain clear from vanity. Being of the female sex, she is found, of course, to have odious things in her character, but I'll suppress them as long as I can. I'll have no missing alas, or fal-las, or tom-foolery surrounding her. She shall grow up honest, and I'll have her taught nothing but what will broaden and beautify her mind."

Paul Darnley could recall long and weary hours he had spent in the society. "Happily," he had said dryly, "the child seems likely to endure your education, Lacklyne. There are some children to whom your free-thinking principles might have been a little too drastic.

He had in his mind as he spoke the same strict rules and regulations that had surrounded Sir Charles' only child's daily life of training—the absence of "nothing approaching luxury or even comfort." In those early days little Cecil never knew what it was to have the very warmth of a fire in her apartment. She battled all the year round in cold water, and she was given food of the most primitive description.

Once in those past years Mr. Darnley had peeped into the girl's schoolroom. It was a bare, cold room, and Cecil, sitting through him, and yet there had been nothing dull, or unhappy, about Cecil herself. Her earlier training seemed to have had no power to touch the joyousness of her nature. She had been the merriest, the most delightful of little creatures, ebbing in her boyish garb and her closely cropped head.

Paul Darnley's mind was full of recollections of those days as he walked with Cecil now to join her father in the workshop. He had been touched, as has just been said, by the distinct influence of her womanly grace and fascination, and by a kind of pathos that seemed to hang about her. For the first time, he realized her separate individuality. She was no longer the child she had been. She was fast merging into a woman, a woman with the greatest physical charms, allied to a mind as broad, as deeply cultivated, as vastly superior to the minds of most other women as it was possible to imagine. He saw before him a problem which Charles Lacklyne would be called upon to solve, and a very big one, too.

What was to be the future of this girl reared in so strange a fashion? What was to be her position in the world?

She would be very wealthy. No one knew so much about Charles Lacklyne's business and properties as Paul Darnley. Young man as he was—for what do we by years count in a man's life?—Darnley had obtained his full confidence, and the strings being Cecil called father. The wealth that had come to the Lacklynes was very large indeed, and, before, when he put himself away as employer from contact with his fellow-men, he had invested and manipulated, and added to his wealth, and the owner of White Abbey was, at the opening of this story, one of the richest of the rich landed gentry in England and, when he died, all this wealth would be Cecil's.

Paul Darnley himself, a commercial man, could not but feel a touch of envy for the easy fate which put so much into the hands of one who cared so little about it, or, rather, who had ceased so

"Artistic temperament" popularly believed to exist in artists is fiddle-de-dee, hair-tearing tantrums is nothing but "advertising," in the opinion of Miss Bertha Ott, a prominent woman impresario of Chicago.

For nearly a score of years Miss Ott has been the medium whereby artists of voice and instrument have been presented to music lovers of Chicago and from her experiences, she has drawn many interesting viewpoints.

"Some artists are childish, but most of them are normal, level-headed business men and women, devoted to their work," she said. "Instances of temperament that have been an instance of a singer or instrument-alist refusing to complete a recital or interesting with arrangements because of "temperament"."

The name's the thing to the general public is its patronage and concerts. Just as Babe Ruth can pack a ball park on an off day, so can a musician with a reputation crowd a house. But unlike the Bambino, who often fans the breeze and disappoints the spectators, the concert artist always delivers the goods.

"Mme. Galli Curci, Rachmaninoff or Kreisler can sell out the biggest house in Chicago with the mere announcement of their appearances. Miss Ott said. "Concerts go to see the personalities of their performers.

"Usually the public's appreciation is the same for a man or woman, for a vocalist or instrumentalist, but many of the same patrons attend all concerts."

Appreciation of music is strongest where an influence of foreign race or heredity exists, she said. The love of song of immigrants who has taught music in childhood leaves his love for it as a legacy to his American children.

"The public schools are stressing more and more, but it may take two generations before America is the musical peak of Italy, for instance, where even the street urchins whistle the opera.

"Jazz has not displaced classic music in popularity. On the contrary, a deeper appreciation of operatic masterpieces as Paul Whiteman does, in such a way that the jazz devotee may understand them and the lover of the classics is not offended, jazz will give highbrow music a more universal appeal."

Among the figure great of the musical world, many of whose introduction efforts are arranged by Miss Ott, the finds none of them is above equal in number, but singers are much in the minority.

"This is because in isn't everybody who has a voice," she explains, "but anybody with talent and effort can learn to play an instrument.

The Ritchie Company are showing a choice lot of Ladies' French Seal Coats, Chapelleen, in plain and contrasted styles, at prices ranging from $100 to $175. They are from the most reliable makers and are extra values.

Find Manuscript Of Hugo Writing Les Miserables

Paris, Dec. 10.—The manuscript of a novel Written by Victor Hugo ten years before "Les Miserables" appeared, has been discovered, and soon will be given to the public.

The project is the idea of Gustave Simon, the venerable literary executor of Victor Hugo, who for forty years has been active in promoting interest in the great novelist.

Both the fact that the old manuscript is in existence, and the plan to publish it, have been kept secret hitherto, as far as the public is concerned.

Announcement of the discovery and proposed publication of the manuscript was made here by the American Braille Press for War and Civilian Blind, which has been making inquiries regarding the matter, in behalf of the blind veterans and the part of French blind readers in the works of Victor Hugo.

The following statement was made by a representative of the Press:

"It should be interesting to know that Victor Hugo's literary executor, Gustave Simon, the scholar and biographer, is still busy and that after years of research he has discovered the manuscript of "Les Miseres, a novel written by Victor Hugo more than ten years before the appearance of "Les Miserables" or more than three-quarters of a century ago.

"Except for the last two chapters, "Les Miseres" was ready for publication when Victor Hugo was sent into exile, which broke all thoughts of finishing the novel from his mind. The manuscript was thrown aside and not even looked at for ten years. Hugo then took up the manuscript, read it, was dissatisfied and decided to rewrite the whole story. 'Les Miserables' was the result.

"Exile had caused change in Hugo's mind and it set its effect on his novel, so that while 'Les Miseres' has the basic theme of 'Les Miserables,' there are essential differences in the characters. The earlier novel, it is said, will read like a new book. In 'Les Miseres' there is none of what is now called the love interest, and Cosette, one of the famous figures, does not appear. In other words, 'Les Miserables' was almost an entirely new story."

Annual Meeting of C.O.B.L. League Shows Changes As Very Possible; Oshawa Doubtful; Who'll Come In?

Ottawa and Brockville Would Like to But Cost Would Be High—Kingston was "Shabbily Treated" By the O.B.A.A.

Healthy conditions existing in the Central Ontario Amateur Baseball League, and enthusiasm noted at the annual meeting held here Wednesday afternoon in the library at the C.N.R. depot, point to an excellent season in this loop again during 1926.

While most of the afternoon was taken up by the seven delegates and officials present, for presentation of cup, election of officers and general discussion which was of a very helpful nature.

Secretary Treasurer Newton Thompson's excellent financial statement as read by him showed a balance on hand of $225.06.

The following officers were elected to serve during 1926:

W. L. Kennedy, of Kingston, President.

H. T. McFadden, of Peterboro, 1st Vice President.

N. P. North, Belleville, 2nd Vice President.

Newton Thompson, Belleville, Secretary Treasurer.

Past President, Ernest Parsons, of Oshawa, and Secretary Thompson, were appointed as delegates and representatives, with expenses paid, to semi-annual and annual meetings of the O.A.B.A.

The office of third vice-president was left open and will be taken by an Oshawa man providing he can come into the league. Representatives from each club will be chosen by the executive when decided, and the names of those selected sent in to the secretary.

SORRY FOR KINGSTON

President C. M. Anderson, of Oshawa presided until the election of new officers when President-elect Kennedy took the chair. President Anderson presented the Johnston Cup, league pennant and Spalding baseballs to Manager Jon Daly of the Kingston Ponies, champions of the C.O.B.L. last year.

"I am sorry to see that Kingston club did not go through with the finals, thus completing what we believed they were capable of doing and winning the Provincial championship", said Mr. Anderson, in making the presentation.

DALY DISSATISFIED

"We thought we were shabbily treated by the O.A.B.A. in compiled Daly in accepting the coveted prizes with thanks. At ten o'clock last night we were told not to go to Niagara Fall's to play the game. Kingston offered a sudden-death game, but the O.B.A. said no, later condescending to allow Copper Cliff a sudden-death game. The grounds at Kingston were wholly unfit for play."

Mr. Kennedy of Kingston also stated that it would have been impossible to play on the ball diamond which was like a marsh, owing to a week's rain. It was impossible for the constitution to order a sudden-death game. Harry Batstone himself had assured the ball team that he would stay with them and play baseball. Manager Hughes of the Queen's football team said he would not stand in Batstone's way. When teams could not agree, then the O.B.A. named the place for the game to be played.

OSHAWA DOUBTFUL

Considerable discussion evolved from the probability of Oshawa withdrawing in the C.O.B.L. next season. Mr. Anderson told of Oshawa having had a bad year financially. They were $1,400 down at the end of the season. Fifty men in the city had made good that deficit, but the players of the club had resigned, refusing to carry on. Mr. Anderson had tried to line them up with players ago in preparation for this meeting but the feeling was that many of them were anxious to get into a Toronto league.

"The statement has been made", he assured, "that there will be a senior baseball team in Oshawa next summer no matter what league they play in."

No communication of withdrawal of Oshawa club had been received by Secretary Thompson, and it was finally decided to leave an opening for Oshawa or whatever team may take the place if Oshawa does not come in. Oshawa will be required to give definite answer within a reasonable time. There was no representative from Oshawa at the meeting. Wednesday's Toronto newspapers stated that it was doubtful whether Oshawa could get into a Toronto league. Ottawa and Brockville wish to get in the C.O.B.L. but the idea was scouted by Peterboro representatives who are at the west end and would have big travelling expenses.

PRAISES THOMPSON

Mr. Anderson, retiring President in handing over the reigns of office, thanked all who assisted him for their good work. It had been a very successful and pleasurable season, and Secretary N. Thompson had stood the brunt of the work well, owing to the fact that circumstances prevented Mr. Anderson from getting around the circuit, though at all times he was in direct touch with the league's business.

"Mr. Thompson is to be congratulated on his work as the live reporter which he has read", he continued. "He has handled his work very efficiently and the league is fortunate in again having him as secretary for 1926." The secretary's report was adopted immediately it was read.

TAKES NEW OFFICE

Mr. Kennedy, in taking the chair, expressed pleasure and pleasure at being at the league helm after three year's service in the league. He promised that he would be could any way to continue the business of the league to its best interests.

Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Duff moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Anderson whom he said had been a most efficient president, and a good worker with all ball clubs. He had filled the office with credit to himself and the league.

On Mr. Duff's suggestion it was decided to write the secretary of Oshawa ball club to urge upon him the importance of getting early deciding whether or not a team will be entered in the C.O.B.L. from this city.

Secretary Thompson urged that unless official scorers be more prompt with their returns, that the clause in the rules be struck out which demands their services.

Secretary Thompson said that he had never been notified of the recommendation for suspension of Roy Daly and Reagy of the Kingston club by the O.A.B.A. as a result of the friction over the final series with Daly and others after reading the laws, stated that they did not believe it was constitutional to suspend them.

An earlier decision in T.A.B.A. so that play-offs commence earlier in the fall was urged, if possible. Many of the good weeks were wasted, waiting in the fall, and then bad weather greets players when the series called for play.

Those present were Messrs. C. M. Anderson, Joe Daly, Walter Gower, "Shiner" Johnson, H. Duff, Newton Thompson, W. L. Kennedy and H. T. McFadden. R. Hughes, representing the Queen's Reformer and local sports writers were also present.

NO CORN BORER HERE WANT LAW ENFORCED

The prevalence of corn borer in certain parts of Ontario was the cause of the following resolution being proposed at this morning's session of the County Council. It was unanimously adopted:

Moved by Coll R. Vanderwater, seconded by Mr. E. C. Metcalfe, that in view of the fact that the European Corn Borer is rapidly increasing in the Province of Ontario and that this county is not quarantined up to the present while the adjacent counties are being devastated. That this Council now in session petition the Minister of Agriculture and Provincial Government for a rigid enforcement of the law to protect the corn growers.

Several members spoke of the pest and desirability of having every thing possible done to exterminate it.

See Attractive Christmas Gifts On Sale at St Andrew's Bazaar Fancy Work, Candies Soon Gone

It is seldom so wide a variety of attractive Christmas gifts, all handmade or hand finished, is displayed as that at the bazaar held to-day in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church Assembly room, and the affair attracted a big percentage of Belleville's population. The whole hall was decorated uniformly in a color scheme of pink and white, carried out in canopies of pink and white crepe paper streamers over each booth and in the flowers, (pink chrysanthemums) on each of the tables.

THE BOOTHS

Mrs. D. W. Rollins, Mrs. W. N. Ferry and Mrs. Mayber had charge of the fancy work booth with its wide variety of delightful linen articles, each bearing the mark of expert workmanship, and this proved an interesting centre to all the many visitors who came in.

Mrs. Clifford Walker and Miss Bessie Waters were responsible for the wonderful array of candies at the candy booth and had no trouble disposing of the entire stock of tempting sweets.

The apron booth, of which Miss Hay and Miss Rollins had charge, was an interesting centre and the newly as well as shiny aprons displayed, were eagerly acquired by the guests.

Mrs. H. A. Naylor and Mrs. W. Muir were in charge of the home cooking with its delicious array of jams, cakes and pies and long before the time of closing had disposed of the entire stock.

The senior C.G.I.T. girls had charge of the fish pond and "Touch Me Not" booth and did a rapid and interesting business throughout the afternoon especially just after four o'clock when eager bands of school children arrived to join their parties.

THE TEA ROOM

Under the convenorship of Mrs. S. Holmes and Mrs. M. B. Green, the tea room was splendidly organized. Here at the tea table which carried out the tea room color scheme of yellow and white in the huge bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums and yellow candles, Mrs. George Wallbridge and Mrs. Hanna presided, and were assisted by the St. Andrews' Girls' Club.

All in all the affair was most successful and delightful, thoroughly enjoyed by all and the ladies and all who attended and the convenor of the bazaar Mrs. S. J. Fisher, who with the Minister's wife, Mrs. E. G. Stewart, received, was more than gratified by the day's results.

Superintendent be removed to some other institution.

We also visited the Ontario School for the Deaf and were very much pleased with the condition of affairs existing there. This Institution under the guidance of Dr. Coughlin reflects great credit on the Province. We found nearly 300 students in attendance there. Too much credit cannot be given the teachers for their devotion to this arduous work.

The Childrens' Shelter is in excellent condition and well managed by Miss Harris, the Matron. There are at present 35 children there. All appear bright and happy and all provided with the essential things of life.

We visited the Belleville Hospital and were very pleased to find every department in excellent condition.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ENGLISH CITY FACES SCANDAL

Former Lord Mayor is Said To Have Admitted Irregularities

Bradford, Eng., Dec. 9.—A Municipal scandal has arisen in Bradford in connection with H. H. Tordoff, formerly Lord Mayor of Bradford, and for 23 years an alderman and chairman of the Bath Committee, who, it is said, admits irregularities in his civic dealings. The Bradford council discussed the affair in a crowding last night amidst a strong sense of restraint. The fact that Tordoff has occupied a prominent position in the city for so many years and was respected generally caused members of the council to deal with the matter quietly without heat, but it was decided that there should be an enquiry into the whole affair.

DID SOMEONE SELL SIMPSON?

Letter in New York, Blames Former Portsmouth Inmate

TELLS OF AMERICAN

Had Befriended Him But Got Suspicious When He Spoke of Reward

Gordon Simpson, pal of "Red" Ryan, escaped prisoner from Portsmouth penitentiary and now under arrest in New York, blames his capture on one Lambert, an American, who was in Portsmouth at the time of the sensational escape of the Ryan gang, and who was afterwards liberated on the expiration of his sentence.

"This fellow", said Simpson, "an American citizen, native of California, had served time for robbery and other things in Canada. When I found him he was broke and hungry. I bought food for him and was good to him. I kept him for weeks On one occasion he mentioned the escape and said something about the $400 reward, and I began to think I might be in danger.

"So I though I had better get out of there, and I left Lambert and got a job as seaman on the Steamship America of the United States Line sailing to Bremer-Haven and other ports. I went to Germany in this ship, but over there I could not speak their lingo and I did not like it much, and anyway you know I served considerable time in the Canadian forces during the war, so I came back to New York."

Simpson declared it was Lambert who had betrayed him to the police and he made this accusation without any malice violence of language or without uttering a threat, but there was that in his manner which aquired ill for his treacherous roommate should the twain some together again at any time in the future.

"I'm pretty comfortable," said Simpson. "The jails here are more humane than they are in Canada."

Just before this one of the detectives who arrested him, happening through the Tombs, said to the writer:

"The reason you don't have more Red Ryans and Gordon Simpsons in Canada is that you know how to handle them, and how to sentence them and how to keep them in prisons."

QUEEN'S PLAYERS ARE BANQUETTED

A Number of Them Entertained by Lt. Mr. C. Bermingham

SPIRIT OF VICTORY

Fine Dinner and Some Excellent Speeches Given —1926 Is Toasted

Kingston, Dec. 10.—Mr. C. Bermingham, who in recent years has become as great a football enthusiast as he is a golf expert and baseball fan, gave a dinner last night in his beautiful home, at King and Barrie streets, to Coach Hughes and a number of the members of the Queen's football team whom he had come to know well during the season. These members included not only Coach Hugh at but Captain Bannister, "Doc" Lendley, Jack McKelvey, "Bob" Thomas, Bill Muirhead, Bert. Airth, Fred Baldwin, "Pewee" Chantler and Karl Voss. Mr. Wm. Harty, President of the Canadian Locomotive Co.; Dr. Frank Bermingham, brother of the host, and Mr. W. R. Given.

The table at which the guests sat down was beautifully decorated for the occasion with great chrysanthemums in bowls and a large array of Queen's colors, and presented a very handsome appearance.

After the inner man had been satisfied toasts were proposed and replied to as follows:

Coach Hughes, proposed by Mr. Bermingham and responded to by Mr. Hughes.

Queen's football team, proposed by W. R. Given and responded to by Jack McKelvey, the oldest playing member of the team, and Karl Voss, the youngest playing member.

The Queen's Band division, proposed by Wm. Harty, and responded to by Herbie Bastone and Frank Leadley, the big bass and wing men, proposed by Dr. Frank Bermingham and responded to by Messrs Muirhead, Airth and Thomas.

The quarterback, proposed by Jack McKelvey and replied to by Fred Baldwin.

The team of 1926, proposed by the whole assemblage and responded to by "Pewee" Chantler, Karl Voss and Fred Baldwin.

Some really excellent speeches were made, Mr. Bermingham in his talk paying high tribute to the wonderful spirit of Coach's defeat in victory. He declared that the spirit in which the team had taken its setback at Ottawa was the finest ever before shown. He believed so, but that it was in itself a victory and of a kind that must impress itself upon the world at large as striking evidence that Queen's good wincery were also good losers—always clean, honest sports with the true instincts and with the true spirit of such playing the game for the game's sake.

Six Hundred Film Features Yearly About 70 Good Ones Are Avaliable But Best Way is First to Sell Story

New York, Dec. 10.—The potential scenario writer should first sell his story for publication, condense scenario and tens of eight leading motion picture companies.

A story published in book form or in a magazine, has an advantage over the original script, in their opinion. To the author, it means added revenue and a wider distribution. To the producer, it means more public interest, with a resultant box office drawing power and protection from plagiarism suits.

The Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, in assembling the editorial view points, discovered that although more than 10,000 persons annually are submitting manuscripts, only three or four ever reach the silver sheet. As a result, the producers are compelled to depend principally upon highly trained writers, the novel, the stage play and the magazine.

Scenario editors are constantly seeking new written talent. In showing the trend of original matter, one editor called attention to the producing program of 600 features a year by the companies.

"From what sources can we draw the material?" he asked. "If we get ten good ones from the plays produced each year it is a big average. The same is true of the books published. Of short stories, if there are fifty good ones, it is high average. That makes seventy pieces of spoken and written literature, which could be converted into really high grade special motion pictures. With a program calling for 600 features, the remainder are taken from built-up mediocre material and perhaps the season's product is made out of the original story."

Screen writing is as difficult as stage writing, the editors agreed, and is not quires hard, untiring effort for success.

PALATIAL SHIP USED FOR UNIVERSAL FILM

A palatial private yacht, which was especially loaned to the Universal Pictures, Corporation by its owner, a California millionaire, is the scene for most of the action in "Head House Peters and Patsy Ruth Miller's latest starring vehicle, "Head Winds," the Universal-Jewel feature now being shown at the Belle theatre, thanks to Director Herbert Blache.

After the picture rights of "Head Winds", the sensational Saturday Evening Post story by A. M. Sinclair Will, was acquired by Universal there was much doubt expressed in studio circles as to its advisability of filming the story, by reason of the fact that it was necessary to charter, or build, a magnificent seagoing yacht. Strange as it may seem these appeared to be no such yacht on the whole west coast, with the exception of the "The Patricia" the "Star" name of the yacht used in the picture.

It so happened that the "Pat" was the property of a wealthy California. The "price" of chartering the vessel didn't stand in the way. The thing that had to be obtained and this was essential to the story, was that the craft had to be manned by a crew other than the regular crew maintained by its owner.

Ah! Backache Gone Rub Lumbago Away

Rub Pain from back with small trial bottle of old "St. Jacobs Oil"

Ah! Pain is gone! Quickly!—Yes. Almost instant relief from soreness, stiffness, lameness and pain follows a gentle rubbing with "St. Jacobs Oil."

Rub this soothing, penetrating oil right on your painful back, and like magic, relief comes. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless backache, lumbago and sciatica remedy which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin.

Straighten up! Quit complaining! Stop those torturous "stitches." In a moment you will forget that you ever had a weak back, because it won't hurt or be stiff or lame. Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from your druggist now, and get this lasting relief.

Only when it was firmly established that Peters, the star of the production, was himself an able-bodied seaman with a varied experience before the mast, could the picture people get the yacht.

"Head Winds" is a story of the taming of a society shrew at sea. The cast includes Arthur Hoyt Williams, Austin, Richard Travers, Lydia Yeamans Titus, and three noted Oriental players, Togo Yamamto, George Kuwa and K. Nambu.

LODGE ON MAN'S ORIGIN

Believes in Creator

London, December 10.—The human body is undoubtedly inherited from the rest of the animal kingdom, but there is no essential opposition between creation and evolution, Sir Oliver Lodge declared in an address on evolution today before a large audience in Christ Church, Westminster.

Sir Oliver made it clear that, while he believed in the animal ancestry of man he also believed in a creator who brought the universe into being "by long and patient processes."

Teachers Banquet Was Jolly Affair Education 6-sided

The Y. M. C. A. was the scene of a very happy occasion on Thursday evening, when the teachers of the city were invited to be the guests of the local W. C. T. U. Mrs. Gibson, president of the County Union, and Mrs. Pearsall, president of the local Union with Mrs. E. M. Hayes and Mrs. F. E. O'Flynn welcomed the guests and a social half hour was spent in the reception room. Supper was served in the dining room at six, after a delicious programme, by giving a brief account of the origin and growth of education, as carried out by the schools of the W. C. T. U. platform.

Mrs. F. E. O'Flynn in her graceful way, proposed a toast to the teachers of Belleville. Mr. Bidwell acting principal of the High School responding on behalf of the teachers. Then followed readings by Miss Maddin and Miss Ivey and a song by Miss Bird, which were much enjoyed. An address by Rev. Mr. Wight, of Holloway St., likened Christ was the feature of the evening. Mr. Wight paid a tribute to the W. C. T. U. and what it has been accomplished by them in the face of seemingly insurmountable difficulties. The teaching profession declared Mr. Wight, ranks second to that of the ministery of the church and dwelt on the opportunity of the teachers in developing the characters and personality of the student.

Education should be so-told in that it should develop a strong body—an intelligent capable of thought—a heart to love —a conscience for righteousness—an ideal attention to appreciate the beautiful—a will strong to chose. As a wise man builds on a strong foundation so must education be built on these ideals but the monetary value and the cultural value, 3rd the spiritual content. Education of this growing youth of our country against the evils of alcohol will do much to advance the cause of temperance.

Miss Merry moved a vote of thanks to the hostess on behalf of the guests and Mr. Anderson seconded this. The singing of "O Canada" and the National Anthem closed this delightful evening.

POLICE MAKE BIG ROUND UP OF STOLEN GOODS IN CITY

LIGHTS AT NIGHT ON ALL VEHICLES UP TO PROVINCE

Col. Vanderwater Leads In Move to Protect Those On Roads

CITY OFFERS VIEWS

County Will Not Pass Legislation Separately—A Resolution

Horse-drawn vehicles being compelled to display a light was a matter freely discussed at the County Council session this morning with the result that the following motion was unanimously adopted:

Moved by Col. R. Vanderwater, seconded by Mr. A. McGinnis:

That this Council recommend to the Department of Highways that some further precautions be taken for pedestrians and vehicular traffic on the Provincial highways within the boundaries of the County of Hastings.

THE CITY'S VIEWPOINT

The subject was opened up by Mayor-elect Graham of Belleville who stated that the City Council was desirous of passing a by-law compelling horse-drawn vehicles to carry a light at night. He stated that at present accidents occur by reason of no lights being displayed on buggies and other vehicles. It was desirous, however, that the County Council should co-operate in this matter. "We want to protect the lives of all who travel on the highways," he stated.

Mayor Hubel endorsed the remarks of Mayor-elect Graham and stated in particular manner that if such a law was enacted it might financially hurt the lawyers. He was however in favor of horse-drawn vehicles displaying lights at night for the safety of all concerned.

UP TO PROVINCE

Warden Wiggins—In that is a matter that the Provincial Government should take up? In some counties such a by-law has been supported of and in other counties no action taken. It would certainly be confusing if one County passed such a by-law and the adjacent County did not.

Mr. W. A. Reid of Sidney spoke in favor of such a by-law being passed, especially having regard to Provincial highways.

Mr. J. L. Newton favored making a recommendation to the legislature to enact such legislation rather than some County Councils passing bylaws.

Col. Vanderwater spoke in support

BROADENING OUT HAS UPSET U.F.O. NO FIXED POLICY

Local Riding Associations Must Interpret The Famous Resolution

Toronto, Dec. 11.—Whether political action is to be taken by the United Farmers of Ontario in future is to be confided to farmers themselves or whether it is to be left to all people who care to join in, is still a mystery after last night's storm at the close of the annual meeting of the organization here.

The point remains unsettled and among the delegates remaining over in town today there is an opinion that the various local riding associations will interpret the political resolution as they see fit. Whether it will be a motion to adjourn which terminated the debate on the broadcasting out point of the U.F.O. also is not clear.

Appeal was presented by F. M. Field, K.C., and was opposed by Col. Gregory, Crown Prosecutor.

A statement by Townsend was read by Mr. Field. The young man's age was given as 27 and his 24 as formerly stated. Mr. Field suggested that the case would be fully met if his client were put on his own recognizance. In any event Mr. Field thought one month would have been sufficient. Col. Gregory would feel the accused need between six and seven hundred dollars in Ottawa. He had declared that the country owned him a living and he was going to get it. It was not true that he was not asked before sentence whether he had anything to say.

Stoner is also required to pay all costs except those incurred by adding the city of St. Thomas as defendants, the action against the city being dismissed. Chief Justice Meredith finds that the boat was unfitted for its purpose.

EXILE TELLS ESCAPE

Father and First Husband Persecuted—Now Happily In Toronto

Members of the Women's Canadian Club had an unusual chance for appeal to learn first hand the conditions in Bolshevistic Russia when this afternoon, Mme. Lonina Loskin came to address them that country, gave a most interesting address on "Russia in 1917" from Czars to Bolshevism.

Previous to her address, seen at the Quinte, Mme. Lonina told some most interesting facts about her appeal. Since driven by Bolshevistic sentiment she has resided in many of the European countries and in Turkey in which she died directly from Russia.

The speaker is a charming person, attractive in appearance and address-ly neat in dress. Her tiger skin cape she acquired in Germany where she spent some time after leaving Russia. "I had to make most of my purchases there as when I left Czarist country I had few clothes, little money (I had sold my very jewels to buy my first passport) I feel privileged that I carried even a spark of life from that awful cataclysm."

LIVES IN TORONTO

Greek-Orthodox in religion, Mme. Lonina is an extremely good church-woman and finds great solace in attending divine service in her own religion in Toronto. She now resides at 46 College street, Toronto with her second husband a doctor practising at the Weston Sanitorium. Mme. Lonina herself is a teacher of French and has a very large and very exclusive class of Toronto society women.

She was extremely impressed she said by the absence of political broil in Canada and hardly knew there were such things as fighting until October 29th. It is very different in Russia she said when a new party steps into power almost every week.

In her address Mme. Lonina told first of the chaotic state of Russia leading up to the revolution in April 1917. Of this she had an intimate knowledge as her father was Alexander Kerenskoff having in 1915 been minister of Justice.

He was the head of the House of Lords and when the revolution was thrust upon the country, imprisoned by the Czar, the war would have ended, but for any active participation in any propaganda or military seal. LOST THEIR HOMES

She told of how, when Kerenskoy was appointed to the position vacated by her father, they were forced to flee and seek safety occupied by him and to ensure the eagle's safety from his spirit and the Bolshevistic played in each room nine times.

Continuing, she told of the activities of the war would have had influence but one Bolshevism took hold in October 1917. The constituent assembly, the Christian Rakovsky, Soviet Ambassador to France today. The Ambassador yesterday presented his credentials to President Doumergue. "The Locarno treaty," M. Rakovsky continued, "must be completed by agreements with Russia, if it is to be regarded as starting point for the policy of European solidarity."

THEY HAD "RHUIN" WITH THEM IN MOTOR

Provincial Constable Keamy of headquarters and Constable Thompson of Napanee arrested two well-dressed men in a car between Deseronto and Karyaville at 12.30 o'clock Thursday night. They were taken to Belleville police station where they remained overnight and driven to Deseronto for their trial this afternoon at two o'clock. The driver will be charged with being drunk in charge of a car and the other man with intoxication. A partially filled bottle of "Rum" was found in the car.

A Napanee man was also arrested Thursday night, charged with driving a car while drunk.

THREE MORE ARRESTS TODAY MORE EXPECTED BY NIGHT YOUTH CONFESSES HIS PART

Two Older Men Who Have Inhabited Shack In North West Part of City in Custody — Sensational Developments Under Way

City Police officers were to-day completing the biggest clean-up of stolen goods which had been accomplished this year. They had arrested only two before ten o'clock, and one was arrested Thursday evening by Chief Kidd. Five other arrests were expected before night.

The Constables' room was cluttered with stolen goods brought into the station in two motor car loads by Chief Kidd, P. S. Harman and Det.-Sergt. Trunisch. The latter two officers conducted the search this afternoon.

The clean up started Thursday night when a sixteen-year-old Belleville boy was arrested at police headquarters. He talked freely and admitted being the lad who slugged Brasmen Brown, aged McAnnany street butcher, during the Old Boys Re-union, last August.

This morning Walter Mahon, aged 16 and Joseph E. Mahon, aged 24, were arrested in the shack in which they live at 59 Purdy street. This shack big enough for two grown people, the value of which will mount into hundreds of dollars. They and the booty were taken to the station and locked up.

PLEADED GUILTY

Joe Mahon, who is out on suspended sentence on a charge of receiving stolen goods, is again charged that on May 9th and divers other dates he did receive stolen goods, knowing them to have been stolen. He pleaded guilty and was remanded for sentence to-morrow.

Walter Mahon, charged with breaking and entering the premises of W. A. Elliot, 216 Albert street, on May 5th and stealing a revolver, proclaimed his innocence. Asked to plead or elect, he said, "I can neither read nor write. Try me anytime and at any place, but it is not right." He was quickly remanded for one week and as he turned, spat on the floor. The Mahons were rough-appearing youths in work clothes.

THE SLICK TYPE

The other youth, a slim white skinned youth, well dressed and neat, was charged with assault with intent to rob, using an offensive weapon. Mr. Brown, the man who was seriously injured by a monkey wrench which is said to have been wielded by this boy, was present in court. Before he was asked to plead, Crown Attorney Donnan instructed the youthful looker which had been stolen from the Isolation hospital.

IN A HOUSE

When P. S. Harman and Det. Sergt. Trunisch searched the home of Joe Mahon, Sr., long before noon hour they found in the following: Two kegs and pearls with initials, five more blankets, ladies blue suit, a light overcoat, a fur collar, coat and skirt. The man is father of the two boys arrested. He lives just outside the city on Gilbert Lane. Joe Mahon, Jr., has no more connected. They searched the house from cellar to garret and searched the barn too.

The writing paper was stolen from the Northrup home it is believed, the hats came from Judge Parkes, the razor from Tiger Tyre Company, the tools from Nelson and A. Vanderveort.

The code provides a 11 year maximum for offences of this kind.

IT WAS J. G. CAMPBELL NOT COL. VANDERWATER

In the report of an incident of the County Council session with reference to the discussion and vote on the matter of Mr. Mallett's conviction of this paper yesterday said Col. Roscoe VanderVater seconded a motion to have Mr. Nugent appointed pro tem.

It was not Col. Vanderwater but Mr. J. G. Campbell, of Tyendinaga, who seconded Mr. W. A. Reid's motion. As a matter of fact Col. Vanderwater was one of the 16 who voted for Mr. Haggarty.

MR. WIGGINS' PRIZES

Text of Winning Speeches Given—All Six Speakers Praised

In the year 1923-Mr. J. V. Walsh who was Warden of the County of Hastings gave a silver cup as a prize to the boy or girl of the public schools of the county who was selected by the judges as a winner in an oratorical contest. This contest was repeated last year when Mr. C. S. Rollins of Warden gave a cup. This year Warden W. R. Wiggins went one better. He gave a beautiful gold medal to the girl and boy who were adjudged as winners.

SIX IN CONTEST

This contest took place in the council chamber on Wednesday afternoon and the interest was keen. The spacious council chamber was filled to the standing room with visitors and members of the Council. There were six contestants for the two medals, namely-four girls and two boys and the judges who were members of the County Council with Warden W. R. Wiggins had no easy task to decide the winners as all acquitted themselves in a most creditable manner. The subject spoken to was "Children Are Canada's Greatest Asset."

Myrtle Cunningham, S.S. No. 2, Sidney, Miss N. Phalen, teacher.

Edna Sharpe, S.S. No. 3, Rawdon. Mrs. A. Cummings, teacher.

Doris Webber, Tweed, No. 3. H. Connor, teacher.

Sidmer Reid, S.S., No. 12, Huntingdon, Miss E. Barnes, teacher.

Charles Treverton, S.S., No. 22 Tyrendinaga, Miss S. Coulter, teacher.

The judges after due deliberations awarded the medals to Edna Sharpe and Sidmer Reid and Warden W. R. Wiggins, presented the medals to them, complimenting the winners and their teachers upon the ability they displayed in preparing and presenting the subject.

SIDMER REID

Mr. Chairman, Honourable judges, Members of the County Council, ladies and gentlemen, the subject I am to speak on today is

"Children are Canada's Asset"

We the children of today are a great asset to Canada, not only a great asset but the greatest asset Canada has.

Without the children of today there would be no future, and all the other assets Canada has would come to naught. How to train with the people of today to develop that great asset of Canada; and make it worth while so that Canada will be the envy of many of the other countries. As Tennyson said in his poem entitled, "Dust Thou Look Back on Thy Past Life."

From High to Higher

"Who moving up fortune's crowning slope,
Becomes on fortune's crowning slope,
The pillar of a people's hope,
The centre of a world's desire."

Now in order to become that pillar you must have children worth while, well taught, well developed in every way, and with an understanding of what they mean to Canada.

Of course you all know you must have something to start with before there can be any development. But where can you find any better child than when you have right here in Canada. We are descendents of the good old English, Irish and Scotch, and not alone that but our forefath-

COUNTY GETS FACTS AS TO ROADS

At the Thursday County Council Mr. James Haggerty presented the report of the roads committee as follows:

TEXT OF REPORT

To His Honor the Warden and Members of the County Council:—

We herewith submit for your consideration our report on the County Roads system with various details and unit costs in connection with the work during the past season.

The new Highway Act, which was considered at the June session and a special session later, has decreased our mileage by 126 miles leaving on the assumed system, as adopted in the special session of Council, 387 miles. On a separate report, one of which has been given to each member of Coudcil, you will see the location of the various roads and their mileage.

We were disappointed in the Council not adopting the recommendations in our report in connection with location of roads as we had given much time and thought to work out a system that would best serve the various centres of the County.

The subsidy from the Government will be 40% on road which are illuminated, from our system for the year and 50% on all other roads now in the approved system, also on machinery Supt's Salary, car and office expenses.

The bridge painting accounts the year were much more than usual as there were several large bridges in very bad condition. We thought it advisable to ask for tenders for this work and the tenders received were submitted to the road committee and on their decision we were instructed to take that of the Onl. Bridge Co but before doing so we forwarded all tenders to the Department for attention and approval. As per clause 1 Highway regulations "All contract work has to have approval of Department" and we were advised by Dept to t ake that of the Onl. Bridge Co at $1.40 per lineal ft. including all material and labor.

We also had the Kerr bridge in Hungerford 2-100 ft. spans painted by day labor. The County supplying material so as to get a comparison of costs. This bridge is on the County Road and no subsidy is payable by the Dept. The bridge painted by contract were the Consecon, Fairfield, O'Brien's, Sloco, Mayhew, William's and Marmora.

"Your machinery equipment used during the year comprised five crushing plants, 2 rollers, one tractor and numerous graders and dumps. Cost for repairs were—Crusher $1300, Roller $920, Tractor and Graders $370, tools etc $130, making a total of $2725, new machinery included price $2,175, making a total of $4900 to $100 less than estimated cost.

"The following is a copy of statement asked for and forwarded to th District Engineer on the first of December.

Road Construction 26 miles, cost $42,285

Decrease for 1925 of 448.0
Amount appropriated as per June report 132,611.71
Amount expended up to date...122,339.4

We did not think it wise to continue the work as we could not get satisfactory results for our expenditures. Therefore you have a balance of $8,472.28 which will put the road in fair condition next spring and also to the benefit of the expenditure for the whole season.

We are rearranging the Patrol sections and appointing more patrolmen each of them are receiving printed instructions as to their work and responsibility.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

COUNTY SETS $300 ASIDE GRANT TO HIGH SCHOOL

Owing to the increased attendance of pupils at the Belleville High School it became necessary for the Board of Education to make accommodation in the old St. Thomas' Church Parish Hall, which building was acquired by the Board some years ago. To provide class-rooms and equipment an expenditure of over $1,000 was estimated. Of this amount $300 was contributed by the County Council of Prince Edward County, as a number of pupils from that County attend the school and Hastings County Council was asked to contribute $300. In the view and many committees on Thursday afternoon the request was considered and after a brief discussion a motion to make the grant was unanimously adopted.

Trenton Gets New Industry

Paper Manufacturing Firm Will Erect Big Plant There

Trenton, Dec. 11.—Hind and Dench, a paper manufacturing company of Sandusky, Ohio, with a branch at Toronto, executed an agreement at Toronto yesterday with the Town of Trenton for the erection of a large paper mill within the corporate limits of the town.

BETWEEN TWO RAILWAYS

The location of the new plant will be on the east side of the Trent River, north of the C.P.R. This will place it between the C.P.R. and the C.N.R. outer stations. The site is vacant at present.

Construction will begin as soon after January as the weather permits. On January 4th a by-law providing for a fixed assessment for the mill for a period of ten years will be presented to the voters of Trenton. A copy of this by-law will be in the hands of a local printer tomorrow.

A BUSY SATURDAY.

To-morrow morning, Saturday, there will be a special meeting of the town council for the purpose of framing the by-law. At that time, Mayor Fraser and Town Clerk O'Rourke will affix their signatures to the document which has already been signed by the agents of the Hind and Dench Co. The only question which the town of Trenton may according to statute make as an inducement to incoming industries is that of a fixed assessment for a period not to exceed ten years. The company requires no other aid than this.

Mayor Fraser will return from Toronto to-night to be present at the special meeting of the Council in the morning.

It was stated this morning by a responsible party that the cost of construction alone will exceed $150,000, for which work it was intimated by the company that a local contractor might be engaged.

WILL PASS BY-LAW

This matter will be held in abeyance, however, until the voters express their opinions as to the by-law. It is a foregone conclusion that the by-law will be passed.

The plant will employ about 100 men at the start of its operations which are expected to expand rapidly.

This estimate does not include the cost of equipment, nor the installation thereof. The plant, ready to operate early in 1926, will represent an investment of over a half million dollars.

FREES HIS MOTOR CAR BY STROKES WITH AXE

Trenton, Dec. 11.—That an axe is an almost indispensable necessary of the modern automobile was demonstrated late last night by Mr. Ed. Begin, tailor who is employed one in order to get out of his garage.

Recently Mr. Begin drained his radiator. Last night when he attempted to remove the car from the garage after a weeks idleness, he found that the tires were frozen to the cement floor by the water which had come out of the radiator.

His recourse was the trusty axe with which he loosened the tires and went his way.

of his resolution which was adopted. The County Council would be willing to co-operate with the City Council in the matter, but legislation should emanate from the Legislature.

HERE'S A QUESTION

Mr. C. Thompson—How about a farmer who might be hauling a load of wood on a side road after dark? It would be rather difficult to have a light on a load of wood.

E. C. Metcalfe, B. W. Brown and A. McKinney spoke in favor of some legislation in regard to lights being enacted in respect to Provincial highways.

Mr. W. A. Reid—It might be quite right for the city to pass such a by-law and if it was not a success it could be repealed.

This concluded the debate and the resolution above was adopted.

Belleville's Thirty One

Peterboro Examiner

Belleville's success in securing a field of thirty-one candidates for the Municipal Council was commented upon by the Examiner the other day:

The result of the election in that city furnishes material for thought.

The electors of Belleville, taking advantage of the unique opportunity afforded by such a large and representative field of candidates, practically obliterated the old Council and elected in their stead an executive board of young men, business men for the most part, headed by the youngest Mayor ever elected in Belleville.

In every community there has always been more or less talk of the desirability of interesting the younger business men in civic affairs, instead of leaving the municipal administration almost altogether to the older generation.

Belleville has the distinction of being the first Ontario city in which this idea has been carried out to completion, and it will be interesting to watch the progress of the new civic machine.

Among the successful aldermanic candidates are several well known to Peterboro people, including Russell Wotten, formerly of this city, and Morley P. Duff, former President of the Central Ontario Baseball League.

The result of Belleville's experiment will be followed with a great deal of interest.

AWARDS VICTORY IN NORTH HURON

Toronto, Dec. 11.—Mr. Justice Wright gave judgment in the North Huron election case in favor of C. W. King the Progressive candidate, and unseating George W. Scotten, the Conservatives candidate to pay costs. His Lordship directs that:

(1) The County Court Judge complete the recount as far as necessary to carry out the directions of this order.

(2) To detach the counterfoils.

(3) To count the ballots, if otherwise in proper form, as if the counterfoil had been at the proper time removed.

(4) To correct and complete the final addition so to give effect to the recount when conducted according to the directions contained in this judgment.

The appeal to Mr. Justice Wright arose out of the decision handed down by the county judge, following a recount of the votes in North Huron. This recount was granted on the petition of George Spotton, Conservative. At the recount the judge threw out the ballots of from two polling booths, which had counterfoils attached. This resulted in the election of Spotton, and the decision was appealed by King.

"The law would indeed be impotent in a case like this where 1,242 voters were deprived of their franchise no relief could be had. Where the voters have done everything in their power to register their votes by way of ballot in the proper form every reasonable construction should be placed on the statute to give effect to the expressed will of the voters. To do otherwise would amount to a declaration that how ever perfectly the ballot might be marked, the Deputy Returning Officers, either wilfully or carelessly and negligently, might destroy the ballot and prevent the vote being counted.

"The statute is remedial and ought to be given a liberal construction so as to provide the remedy and correct the injustice aimed at.

HAS CANADA OVER-INVESTED?

Concluding a series of articles on Canada, the London Morning Post's correspondent who made a tour of this country with other British newspaper men early this autumn writes that: "A nation, as yet small in numbers but great of heart, has laid the foundations of its future on a generous basis. Today it would appear as if Canada had over-invested in her railways, in her fine parliament buildings, universities and colleges of every province, in the scale of her governments, her education system, and even some of her business enterprises; but one feels that this boldness of conception will be justified in the years to come."

The term "over-invested" is happily chosen There is no doubt about the justness of the criticism. Canada has over-invested in many directions. Her "overhead" costs are too high. Particularly is this true of her investment in railways; because of that extravagant investment Canadians are taxed about twice as heavily as they would be but for that extravagance. We have railway mileage enough for a population thrice as large as we have. In the matter of government, too, Canada could get along very well with much smaller and less expensive political machinery. Possibly too much money is spent on the mere external equipment of our educational systems—school buildings and the like—too much sacrificed for show. But these are faults of a democratic people and of a young virile country with much confidence in itself. In the past, no doubt, Canada has been too optimistic; but, looking forward, we have the experience of those who have bitten off more than they can chew, our people and their leaders will probably be more cautious in the years to come.

A TITANIC WORKER

In his 90th year, John Rudolphus Booth, of Ottawa, lumber king, railway builder, and multi-millionaire, was interred yesterday in an Ottawa cemetery with the simplicity and lack of pomp that was the distinguishing characteristic of his long life. A native of Quebec province, this famous Canadian was a man with the rugged virtues which distinguished the pioneer settlers of this province. Vigorous in body, he was in early life a lusty man in the woods and drove lumber in the rivers. But to physical vigor he added shrewdness, courage, an iron will that nothing could balk, business imagination which enabled him to see farther into the future than most men, organizing genius and an abiding faith in his native country and a passion for promoting its industrial welfare. So he became the owner of the largest mills in the world and the lord of timbered lands with an area greater than many a European principality, and he built hundreds of miles of railway and for many years was one of the richest men in the country. With all, he remained a plain, unaffected, quiet John R. Booth, simple in his tastes and habits, a man of few words and a hard worker to the last.

Work was his hobby. In it he found the only amusement that he wanted. He did not long for leisure; it irked him. Having worked hard all his long life, he could not be content with idleness; and when he could work no longer he died.

Even such hard and continuous labor as that which had become a habit with Mr. Booth cannot guarantee to every worker such success as crowned his efforts; other qualities of mind and character are necessary to such achievement as his. But it can be said that no one who works as assiduously and conscientiously as he did will make a failure of life.

BAGOT RESULT

The hysterical delight with which the Liberal press hails the result of the Bagot by-election betrays the anxiety which had been felt concerning the possible outcome. Bagot remains Liberal, but it is not quite so strongly Liberal as it was a month ago. That is all the election shows, and it is not a revelation to cause either exultation to the Liberals or despair to the Conservatives. It would have been very nice of course, if Mr. Meighen's visit to the Quebec constituency had been rewarded by the return of the candidate in whose favor he was campaigning; but the fact that Hon. Andew Fauteux, Conservative, was defeated—by a considerably reduced majority—by his Liberal opponent does not justify the violent denunciation of the Conservative leader's tactics which appears in the leading Liberal organ of this province. Mr. Meighen was criticised for keeping away from Quebec during the general election campaign and he is now being criticised for going in. It is impossible, apparently, for him to do right whatever course he may pursue. If he went there at all, it is insinuated he should have gone as a hasty champion, eager to show fight rather than to offer the olive branch of reconciliation.

The prejudices which have been stirred up in the breasts of electors were too strong to be dissipated by the simple assurance that the resentment was unjustified and the fears absurd, accompanied by a definite pledge that in future steps would be taken to secure popular approval of the government's course whatever warlike action was involved. Such a policy may be difficult to carry out, but there is no reason to doubt that it is sincerely proposed. The improved state of international relationships in view of recent developments in Europe, makes it extremely unlikely that the suggested referendum would be required for a long time to come. The hope and probability is that Canada will never again be called upon to sacrifice her manhood and treasure on the battlefields of Europe. But unwarranted fears have been deliberately created by unscrupulous party organizers and it is necessary to remove them. The numerical strength of the respective political parties remains unaffected by the Bagot by-election. The Conservatives still retain their position as the largest group in the house by a good margin over their nearest rivals, with the rest far behind.

THE UNKINDEST CUT

It is hard that the government of this province should be prevented from proceeding with the development of the water power of the St. Lawrence by electrical interests. It is under its very long delay in starting the work of development pointed to as evidence of the failure of the Ontario Hydro system to produce satisfactory results.

Such is the strange interpretation of the Buffalo Courier. "Has government ownership of the Hydro utilities in Ontario," that paper asks, "proved so unsuccessful that the provincial government doesn't wish to engage in further risks by developing St. Lawrence power for Eastern Ontario?"

Could any query be more grotesque? It is precisely because the Ontario enterprise has been so successful that the Ontario government is intending to extend the advantages of the Hydro system to eastern Ontario by developing the water power of the St. Lawrence. Apparently, however, the consent of the Federal government must first be obtained, because the authorities at Ottawa must be well assured that the navigation of the river will not be affected by the development work or the construction of the deep waterway interfered with.

Meanwhile Ontario waits, and has for years been waiting, although it is faced with the prospect of a power shortage two years hence; and we see that the delay is interpreted across the border to mean that Hydro is such a failure that the government does not venture to enter upon any more power-development projects. One is almost tempted to urge Premier Ferguson to go ahead with the development in spite of the Federal government.

THE ANGELIC BOB

There is much comment in the press on the order issued by the superintendent of the General Hospital here forbidding nurses to wear their hair bobbed. The general opinion is that the order is uncalled for. In fact there seems to be an impression to the effect that nurses with prettily bobbed hair are more attractive than those who wear their hair long; and certainly that the efficiency of nurses is not diminished by the use of the shears or scissors.

But a peculiar opinion appears in the St. Thomas Times-Journal. "Of course, if the hospital authorities want their nurses to look dignified, angelic and the sort of thing that is supposed to go with long tresses, all well and good," says the St. Thomas paper in another column, "but if, as they think, a girl must wear her hair long that is dying in the face of artistic tradition. An old poet said of woman, "Angels are painted fair to look like love." And take notice of the conventional coiffure of angels in the pictures in which they appear, both mediaeval and modern. It will be found that most of the angels have bobbed hair.

In this matter we are on the side of the angels.

CASE OF AEMILIUS JARVIS

Financial Post:

The city of Toronto and Province of Ontario are going to court to settle the final ownership of the funds derived from the fine imposed upon Aemilius Jarvis in the Ontario bond case. The Financial Post believes that at this time it might be only fair to consider whether the money should not be returned to Aemilius Jarvis —this in view of the acquittal of Andrew Pepall.

During the Pepall trial important evidence was brought out in connection with the whole transaction which was not available at the Jarvis hearing. On that evidence Pepall was acquitted of all four charges brought out in connection with which Aemilius Jarvis that the same evidence been given in the Jarvis trial there would not have been a conviction.

Chief Justice Meredith, at the Smith-Jarvis trial, said to the jury that had Pepall been called by the defence to

A law making voting compulsory may have its inconveniences, but we believe that it also has its advantages, and one of these would be to reduce the number of members of parliament who actually represent only a minority of their community.

THE WHY-OF CHRISTMAS TREES

In the forests of the North, woodsmen are busily engaged in cutting hundreds of beautiful-shaped cedars and balsams, which will soon be in every city, throughout the Dominion, to be sold for Christmas trade. On Christmas morning they will be dazzling and glowing with light and color and beauty, and indeed with gifts. Little children will gaze in adoration, clap their hands for joy, and laugh, and shout as they behold them while grandmothers will wrap-up their sorrow some of the happiness of their own lost childhood and feel that truly Christ is the Light of the world, for once in all the year.

This practice of decorating and hang ing gifts on a Christmas tree is a very old established and one of the most delight of our Christmas customs.

But it is all originated in somewhat unexpected fashion. Certainly there is no mention of the Wise Men of old hanging their gifts on a tree. It is, of course, well known that the Christmas-tree custom was first introduced into England from Germany about a hundred years ago, and was rapidly adopted by all-English-speaking countries. In Germany, the Christmas tree seems to be a very ancient custom probably a remnant of the fanciful pageants of the middle ages, or may have been introduced into Europe by the ancient pagans, as were so many of our Christmas customs.

There is a legend about the Christmas tree which tells how one, Annarius went forth as a missionary to the Vikings of the North. There Annarius met with Hate—Faith, Hope and Love—to find and light the fire Christmas tree. They searched for one that should be lit high in Hope, as well as Love, and should have the sign of the Cross on every bough. The balsam fir and the blue juniper were the ever-green trees and to and ribbon, and to-day mas tree.

And is not this symbolism one of the day the balsam fir is the favorite Christ most beautiful things about a Christmas tree? For a Christian holiday is always connected with Childhood and Home both of which embrace those three quiet virtues—Faith, Hope and Love. Indeed there is no other season of the year when Home hurs to itself young and old alike, as around the Christmas tree at Christmastide. The Christmas season finds people travelling north, south, east and west, to be Home for Christmas.

In anticipation of the heavy Christmas traffic, the travel the management of the Canadian National Railways has made special arrangements by which all holiday travellers may reach "Home", or whatever their destination may be, as comfortably, conveniently and rapidly as possible.

Travellers are recommended to secure their tickets and reservations as early as possible, to avoid the last minute rush.

What a weight of responsibility rests on the mother of the family during the cold, wet weather. But Dr. Chase has given a prompt relief for coughs and colds and a preventive of more serious ailments of the throat, lungs, in his Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

"This medicine is so well-known that only a reminder is necessary to most people to recall its effectiveness in relieving croup, bronchitis, and even all forms of throat and bronchial troubles

Increase in 1925 of Over $40,000,000 Estimated by Board Of Trade

London, Dec. 11.—Great Britain's drink bill last year was over $1,500,000,000, an increase over 1924 of $40,000,000, the Board of Trade estimates. Of his the Government took 43 per cent. or $645,000,000.

The latest census shows that 397,000 men and women were employed, directly or indirectly, in getting the liquor to the consumer.

GENERAL LESSIE HOME RETIRES FROM COMMAND

Was O.C. East Scottish Infantry Brigade With Headquarters At Edinburgh

Kingston, Dec. 10.—Brig.-Gen. W. St. Lessie, who for the past four years has been in command of the East Scottish Infantry Brigade, with headquarters in Edinburgh, Scotland, but who retired a few weeks ago, arrived in the city on Monday from Scotland to be with his parents here for several months. Gen. Lessie's father, Capt. W. B. Lessie, has many friends who regret to hear, has not been well latterly and Gen. Lessie came on to cheer him up.

As is generally known, Gen. Lessie is a Kingston boy who since his graduation from the Royal Military College at the head of the King's medal list, Canadian Sergeant Major, has had a remarkable and noteworthy career, serving with other distinguished officers in war and on numerous occasions being cited for gallant conduct, and finally, four years ago, being given the command in the historic city of Edinburgh.

Gen. Lessie looks hale and hearty and is being given a hearty welcome by his many old friends.

In this connection it is interesting to note that his son is also in the army, being a lieutenant in the Royal Scots, now stationed at Aden.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN -- FEATURES FOR ALL

A Heart's Triumph

By Effie Adelaide Rowlands.

Mr. Eccles did more than to know about Mr. He himself had given Sir Charles the title of a baron who had travelled down from London almost every day of the week, and trained Cecil as though she were in truth the boy of her father to ordinarily had desired her to be. There was no boy of the noble equal Cecil as a student. She was an adept in mathematics, an admirable Latin and Greek scholar; French was the language easier than spoken between her father and she; and she had for nurse and maid an Italian woman whose native tongue quickly became as natural to Cecil as her own language. Furthermore, she was a finished violinist. Altogether, the thought of the girl, with her many accomplishments, her future wealth, her peculiar surroundings, and her own unique character, gave the mind of the aged much food for thought.

And, to add to the difficulties, she had threatens to be abducted by Lord Ashleigh, and to himself, with something like charity, we be stepped after her into the huge building where the heart and soul of Sir Charles Lackyne might truly be said to have been centered.

There was a glare of electric light and a clanging of machinery as they entered.

"Nothing wrong, evidently," Cecil said, with a smile that disclosed two rows of white, even teeth, "if we all the wheels are going."

Paul Darnley winced a little at the tone, and, noting this, the girl moved forward and spoke a few words to the head workman. In an instant the great chimney came to a pause, and Sir Charles rushed out from some hidden corner to share the praise of this.

"Mr. Darnley was being described," Cecil explained. She was not in the least timid with her father; "I have brought him to see some of your latest wonders."

That was quite enough for Sir Charles. Linking his arm in his friend's, he began a tour of the place.

"Why don't you take my advice, Paul, and give up your life in that abominable hole of London?" he cried. "There's work to do here, where you can choose for yourself, and with your brains, what could we not achieve?"

Darnley made some laughing reply, but his eyes had followed Cecil. Left to herself, the girl had walked to one of the open doorways, and was leaning against it half-wearily, gazing out into the evening dusk. With the light falling on her thick, golden-brushed curls, and bringing out the color and quaintness of her clothes, she might have passed for a flesh-and strayed by chance from the woods of Arden into this very matter-of-fact home of machinery.

"I must have a quiet hour's chat with Lackyne before I go," Paul Darnley said to himself decisively. "This was all very well; a pretty little farce enough when Cecil was a child; but now she is a child no longer, and Lackyne, though he may subdue and crush me, he cannot command my her woman hood. It is time matters were altered. The girl her self begins to crave for those things that are her rights. She is no weak, ordinary woman. Her education has made her strong enough to face the whole world without flinching. When the moment comes that she demands her freedom, Lackyne may regret his life in inventing something to stop her; but her freedom she will have, all the same—on that point he may be very sure."

Cecil stood looking out across the lawn to where the trees made a patch of darkness against the crimson sky. She heard her father questioning, and explaining, and growing enthusiastic about his ideas, in a misty sort of fashion.

Mr. Darnley's arrival this time had disturbed the girl strangely. It was three months now since any guest had been to the White Abbey.

Cecil seemed to have grown a great deal in those months. She was darkly conscious of a change in her self. The contact now with some one from that outer world entered this feeling. She had no self-consciousness in meeting Paul Darnley, or any other visitor from that big mysterious world that was so resolutely shut away from her. Her isolation from all the other members of her own sex—for, save for the old Italian woman, there was not a female in Sir Charles' establishment—had kept her mind free of those little vanities, or preferences, that come to most girls. She knew, of course, it was not customary for women or girls to be garbed as she was, but this did not trouble Cecil. In fact, thought of her personality had not, as yet, reached her. There was not a mirror to be found within the walls of the White Abbey, and Cecil had, therefore, not the faintest notion of how she looked, or if her face were fair, or ugly.

It was not these things that troubled her. It was the subtle influence of another brain by her studies and by her beloved books—for Sir Charles let no point on her reading—that was beginning to stir itself now into a thousand eager questions. Life, with all its vague mysteries, its possible joys and sorrows, surrounded her as a dream. In imagination she could hear the voices, the tread of the feet of the busy world passing by ever beyond the confines of her home. The soft soughing of the branches in the night wind brought messages of hearts, and loves, and kingdoms to the fanciful brain of the girl, and touched her with a yearning to break through the veils of the present limited life, and come in direct contact with that world about which she had read so much, and knew so little.

It would never be possible for her to speak out these longings to her father. Already Cecil had gazed her father's nature most accurately. She knew him to be a man of strong prejudice and pasers were the best that the mother country could give, not the wealthy class nor the poor, but those who did work, would work and who were not afraid of work. Then although the ocean separated them from England, they never forgot her and never will.

Now although all over Canada we have the best class of people what men, about our own county of Hastings. Do you know who we are?

We are almost all descendants of the "The United Empire Loyalists". They came from England, worked hard and then proved their worth to England, by giving up all that they had, just to remain loyal sons.

We the children of Hastings of to day are proud of our forefathers, and if we get the chance, can do as much, or more, than they did.

It brings me to mind of the poem written by Robert Reid, entitled "A Song of Canada".

Search earth over you'll find none like stancher

Whether his hands be white or brown

Come of a right good stock to start with,

Best of the world's blood in each vein,

Lords of ourselves and slaves to no man.

For us or from us, you'll find we're —Men.

Now men and women of today you are falling away from the example set before you by our forefathers. You are not setting the highest ideal before us, and yet you expect us to develop a great future. How are we to do it? You have ceased to be easier to repair an old house than to wait till it tumbles down and then try to rebuild it. That is the spirit which is before the grown up people of today. If you do not repair Canada now, by the time we get to be men and women it will have tumbled down, and then even if we do build it up the results cannot be as good.

So we are looking for you to help us, now, not in the future. This brings us face a face with the question of importing foreigners. Foreigners in their own country may be all right, but are they here in Canada? Most certainly not. They are as wild flowers taken from the woods and transplanted in a beautiful garden. They soon wither and even if they do not die they never become equal to the beautiful flowers which they would have been in their native surroundings. Just as the gardener spends more time on this plant, you have to spend more time and money on the foreign children.

Why not spend your extra time and money on us? And, you will find the result will be well worth your trouble.

The same thing may be applied to the Hastings County. In this county there is not the difference between the children of other parts of the Dominion and the children of Hastings County, but never the less we were born and brought up in Hastings, educated in Hastings, and therefore attention paid to our own county thus we should be worth more in Hastings than any one from any other part of the Dominion.

If we were encouraged in some way to stay in Hastings we would follow the example of many others and leave the farms to go to the cities or even go across the lines to the States.

KEEP US IN HASTINGS COUNTY.

HELP US TO MAKE PROGRESS. SET BEFORE US THE BEST OF ALL EXAMPLES.

GIVE US A CHANCE, and we will make the future of Canada worth while and show that we are the greatest asset Canada has.

I thank you.

EDNA SHARPE

Mr Chairman, His Honour the Warden, Worthy Judges, Ladies and Gentlemen.

The subject of my address this afternoon is "That the children here are Canada's greatest asset", with special reference to Hastings County.

Canada is the largest of Britain's colonies—a vast land containing over three million square miles—a young country with a very bright future. No country possesses finer prospects for agricultural development. Her forests are a great source of wealth making Canada one of the most important lumber countries in the world. Besides, her rocks are stores of minerals whose value cannot be estimated. All the leading commercial metals except tin, are found in this great Dominion In fact no other country in the world has a scarcer of greater resources than Canada.

The destiny of a country does not depend upon its natural resources alone, but on the character of its people. Russia and China have unlimited resources, but their people are the most backward and unhappy. I would say Canada's greatest asset is her boys and girls because the future depends upon the boys and girls of tomorrow. The youth of Canada are being taught the struggles and sacrifices of their ancestors, and more they know about the history of their country and the British Empire the more will they love her and the greater will be their loyalty and desire to help Canada realize her destiny.

Now, Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen, Hastings County is a splendid county in the Canadian Dominion, yet it is a very important part. This county contains practically every natural resource to be found anywhere. Besides this her people have good customs, moral standards and loyalty to Canada. Are not many of them decendents of the United Empire Loyalists, who have become prosperous, intelligent and true patriots?

This county offers every educational advantage. It is dotted with public schools, but one of the best contains the only institution in the province for the deaf and dumb, besides it is the home of many a fine college which prepares men for the highest calling in life, namely the ministry.

Our county has but one city and two towns, therefore most of the people are found to live in rural communities. The soil, especially in the southern part is most suitable for agricultural pursuits, namely farms. The farm means labour and we must keep our own boys and girls on the farm. Instead of encouraging foreigners. The immigrants, even of British origin, are unaccustomed to our methods and require some time to acquire the knowledge necessary for the development of our resources. Foreigners prefer to do certain kinds of manual labour, but their interests are in the accumulation of money rather than in the welfare of Hastings County. On the other hand our young people see that Hastings is to be their home in the future, and should take the keenest possible interest in the land that is to be their's and the resources that are there for the development. If, they are led to see the advantages of Hastings County sure they will be satisfied and not seek homes elsewhere.

One of our greatest problems is to keep the young people on the farm.

Let me offer a few suggestions, make farm life more attractive by means of electricity to lighten labour, the telephone for convenience and the radio for amusements. Make the home in the country just as convient attractive and comfortable as the city provides. The boys and girls wages paid to immigrants. They will spend it in the community instead of sending it to spend elsewhere. Educate the children to the farm, not away from it.

With God and me in the half and half. The cow I own was mine his calf. I'm going to stick right where I am, Because my sheep was once his lamb.

No town for me—I'll stick right here,

For I'm his tractor engineer.

It's "even split" with dad and me, In a profit-sharing company.

We work together from day to day, Believe me men, it's the only way.

If our boys and girls are not retained in Hastings County in time it must pass to the foreigner. As Canadians and as citizens of this county, we must not allow that. Then, there is only one alternative, Keep our boys and girls in Hastings at any cost. Hastings County for Canadians and let them be the descendents of today's citizens of Hastings County.

I thank you.

CLEAR NOSE AND THROAT RESTORE SIGHT OF BOY

By Anti-Septicine Expert Cures Lad, Almost Totally Blind

New York, Dec. 11.—A cure of a young boy who was practically totally blind was effected by Dr. Charles Gluck of this city after the eyesight of the boy had been despaired of by physicians at the Manhattan Hospital.

The young patient, Herman Behrend, had been suffering from an infected eye contracted by a peach stone that had been thrown in fun by a playmate and had landed in young Behrend's eye. It became badly infected, and Herman was rushed to the Manhattan Hospital, where he remained for two weeks.

That was last September and since then he has been going back there for treatment which did not seem to improve the condition of the eye, in fact, his good one was being affected.

A week ago Monday Mrs. Behrend, the mother, was stricken and to have the infected eye taken out. But next day a friend took Herman to Dr. Gluck's office and a week after that, to be exact, found Behrendt well on the road to recovery—with both eyes still in his head.

The method of Dr. Gluck, who is a member of the Medical Society of the State of New York, a member of the American Medical Association and also an expert in eye, ear, throat and nose troubles, is one of anti-septicing the nose and throat.

THE SCORE WAS 3-0

Ten Thousand Fans Out to See Tom Gorman's New Team

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—The Ottawa Senators put the skids under the highly touted New York Americans here last night, wiping the ice with them to the tune of three to zero.

Ten thousand saw the battle, and spectators continued to crowd into the Auditorium rink even after the play had begun. The Senators were out to start something and they did. They overwhelmed the invaders in the first period though the score was only 1-0, were on even terms in the blank intermediate frame and led 2-0 in the final set to.

It was no polite game and the fender was freely decorated with players.

Ottawa were out first, closely followed by New York, who were given quite a reception. Their speedy repute created somewhat of a sensation, but there was no demonstration. The teams held a short practice and Goopy Smeaton started them off their way. The band played the "Star Spangled Banner," and the crowd uncovered their heads as a compliment to the American entry. It was followed by "O Canada," in which the same ceremony was observed.

Then they were at it hammer and tongs. The teams:

Marmora Expects To Put Strong Team on Ice—A Play Off

Marmora, Dec. 11.—There is much enthusiasm among local hockey fans over the resurrecting of the Marmora team. In many a season during the last decade, a gallant team has done duty for the marble village. Prospects are good for a formidable team this season. There are many good players available, so that the career of the team will be watched with interest. It is understood that a meeting will be called in the immediate future to organize and elect officers. Messrs. A. T. Neal and Clifford Jeans represented Marmora at the meeting of the new Hastings County League held in Madoc on Tuesday, Dec. 8. The officers of the new League are as follows:

President—Mr. Tom Beatty, Tweed.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mr. W. Nugent, Madoc.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mr. A. T. Neal, Marmora.
Secretary-Treasurer—Mr. E. Lucey, Stirling.

Executive to be composed of the manager of each of the four teams. A double schedule of games has been arranged, to conclude with one between those old rivals, Stirling and Marmora, at the latter rink on February 15. First and second teams in the League standing on the completion of the schedule will play off for the championship. Marmora has a very capable rink manager in the person of Mr. John Flanagan, and a thoroughly successful season for team and management is therefore anticipated.

Learned Game on Sand Lots Of Queen City His Home Town

Toronto, Dec. 11.—Pres. Lawrence Solman, of the Toronto Baseball Club, wired from New York to the effect that Toronto had purchased from Buffalo Cecil "Babe" Dye, outfielder, to replace Joe Kelly sold.

Dye is a Toronto boy who learned baseball on the sand lots of this city and was taken south by Toronto until he was sold to Buffalo in 1920. He was turned over to Brantford for seasoning and finally released to that club when Buffalo recalled him.

Dye apart from being a good hitter is fast and his presence on the line-up will give a native touch. He is, of course, a prominent playing hockey here with St. Pat's.

Mr. Solman did not announce the price but said it was a big one.

Recreation Bowling Results

Kingston turned the tables on Belleville last night in the return game in the C.O.B.L. at the Recreation alleys, the local bowlers not hitting their stride until the last game, when after dropping the first two games by over 200 pins they came back with a vengeance rolling 1127 in the last game, every bowler being over the 200 mark.

The local bowlers couldn't hit the side of a barn in the first game while the limestone City bowlers were clouting them for fair but the third game saw as mentioned above was a treat to watch.

By the locals dropping the two games last night it puts Kingston only two games down and the locals cannot afford to lose many more games. Belleville has only two more games to play and both of them are with Trenton. Lynch was the big noise of the night for the locals, while Brown was high for Kingston.

In the Industrial League Springers added another win when they defeated the Alemite by over 400 pins, Springers taking the three games. Young and Darrah rolling the highest scores for their teams. Players and scores.

O.H.A. GROUPING HERE THE SAME

Brockville Likely Now To Center—Ice Is In Prospect

O.H.A. teams will be given their groupings as to night's meeting in Toronto. Belleville players and fans will await the results of this meeting with interest. Belleville Intermediates were to have been grouped in the seven team Lake Shore group, comprising teams in towns from Bowmanville to Kingston inclusive. Thursday, Brockville decided to enter an Intermediate team and that upset the dope. It now appears although Belleville may be grouped with the seven crowd as an unsafe one, Cornwall, Brockville and Kingston.

If mild weather does not continue, it is expected that Manager Garnett Arnott will have an ice sheet by the middle of next week, and the local boys will be able to have their first work out. There will be two teams sponsored and Intermediate hockey despite recent rumors to the contrary. Ed. Thomas will manage both squads and told the Intelligencer this afternoon that he would have two strong teams.

Toronto, Dec. 11.—An increase in the public revenue of more than $6,000,000; a decrease in the year's capital expenditure of $8,000,000; and a decrease in capital expenditure of more than $9,000,000 remained to be outstanding, in the annual financial showing of the province for the past year Provincial Treasurer Price had been laboring since the Legislature business closed on the 15th of last month to gather together the facts of the public budget, and yesterday he completed his task, issuing a comprehensive record of the treasury transactions of the past 12 months.

In brief, the Province out the previous year's deficit of $8,325,645 to $4,905,293.; increased the previous year's revenue of $40,342,721 to one of $46,556,133; increased ordinary expenditures from $32,016,929,277 to $34,345,233; and collected from new taxes $3,269,418. Old taxes were dropped to the extent of $546,468.

While expenditure for the year was increased by $1,552,256, the reasons were uncontrollable Statutory increase in members' indemnities accounted for $68,000 of it; a change in the plan of paying hospital grants f rom a yearly to a half yearly basis accounted for another $600,000; the balance of the cost of the O. T. A. p bilestock took a nother $200,000, and highway maintenance another $470,000 In addition there were grants to Queen's and Western Universities of $200,000, to which a provincial contribution had agreed Leaving out of account these and similar factors in order to get an actual basis for comparison with last year, accordingly, and a decrease of expenditure of $873,744 is seen to be achieved. While the total sum is higher than 1924, furthermore, it is over $1,000,000 lower than 1923, the last year of the Drury Government's record.

REVENUE FROM NEW TAXES

New taxes were not so productive as had been estimated. The gasoline tax indeed, fulfilled the expectations held for it by returning $1,976,847. The beverage tax, however, was only a satisfactory revenue source, bringing in only $370,782, much less than the $2,- 300,000 estimate which was made by the Government in the Legislature at the time at which the tax was proposed.

It is in the field of capital expenditure and capital revenue that the Government's showing is highly exceptional. Figures for capital expenditure for the year are $27,817,574, which amounts to $12,538,111 went towards productive projects such as the T. and N. O., the Hydro and the Agricultural Development Bond. The total of $27,500,000 compares with $36,033,218 spent a year ago and $43,693,783 spent in the fiscal year of the Drury Regime . Capital revenues, on the other hand, which totalled $9,331,896 are made up of Provincial takings and from the natural resources of the Province. have swelled from $5,912,795 in the last year of the Drury rule too $9,331,896 in the twelve months just ended, this i ncrease having been effected solely by more efficient collection methods a nd regulations and without the imposition of new taxation.

OUTLOOK FOR COMING YEAR

Upon the outlook for the coming year, Hon. Mr. Price was non-committal. He was not prepared, he said, to predict the possibility of new taxes being found necessary. He could see the possibility of swelling revenues by perhaps $1,500,000 through having the luxury tax in operation for a full twelve months, and he thought also that a reduction in expenditure of $1,500,000 might be made. There must be considered, however, the plan which the government has in mind that a sinking fund to retire the public debt, and there was also the possibility of contingencies arising.

Gunner Arnott, who played very clever hockey the entire game, after eleven minutes of play, stickhandled his way through to beat Collett from closein the first goal of the night.

Dad Ashley dashed in for a goal and Juks followed with another on a pass from Eddie Clark after the latter had tied the Parkdale defence in a knot. Arnott made the count 5 to 2 with a corking drive from the red line.

Dad Ashley did not hop the entire route in the first goal against Gossen Hall. Gunner Arnott's stickhandling and smart work around the nets was a decided feature in the play of the winners.

BIG BASEBALL SEASON IS MADE WEEK SHORTER

New York, Dec. 11.—Ban Johnson and the American League club owners joined hands with Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner, today and defeated the National League, always hitherto strongly behind Landis in the only test among the disputes between the major leagues which came to a vote at the annual joint meeting at the Roosevelt.

Johnson came together with Landis on the question of a shorter baseball season, the only time they have been of the same mind since the Commissioner took office in 1921.

The season of 1926 will close on September 26th next, instead of October 3rd because Landis broke a deadlock between the two leagues and voted with the American club owners.

LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHTS ARE IN ACTION TO-NIGHT

More than 20,000 persons, greater than any throng that has witnessed an indoor bout in history, are expected to attend this engagement, scheduled for 15 rounds to a decision. Delaney knocked out Berlenbach in four rounds in March, 1924.

The Well Stocked Laundry

An Important Part of the Home

THE well organized household boasts of a neat laundry equipped with well cared for equipment and thoroughly selected supplies. The space may be small, perhaps only a corner of the basement, but it contains in orderly arrangement the equipment for proper care of washing.

The necessary equipment for washing consists of some or all of these large articles—tubs or machine; wringer, boiler, board, basket, bench and stove, the selection of each article being based on the individual needs of the household. These should be arranged in the space allotted with an eye to the light as well as the convenience. When not in actual use, each article should be cared for according to the directions which accompany it.

The washing supplies are just as important as the larger pieces of equipment and should be selected with discretion. Whether soft or boiling or a few grade soap can be decided on much depends on a laundry and to more of a suitable than a well filled a baby washing machine.

Your Grocer Cupboard Will Not Be Bared

The stock of laundry supplies should include clothes lines, clothes pins, a bag or basket to hold the pins, a quart measure, a pan for cooking starch, and starch, blue, soap and washing soda, if the water has to be softened. A cupboard to hold these articles is not most essential, or at any rate very convenient.

In selecting laundry supplies, a competent housekeeper applies much the same good judgment which characterizes all of her buying; that is, she should choose only good grades and buy in as large quantities as storage space will permit.

For general laundry work, a regular bleach soap is unsurpassed and of late years the white laundry soaps are found especially popular for washing clothes. Yellow soaps are rich in glycerine, whipped soaps are more convenient, and cocoanut oil soap such as ivory soap should be kept on hand.

To make a soap supply complete and adequate for all purposes, a neutral soap such as ivory soap, should be included for the washing of silks and woolens and also for the small fine things which are laundered by hand.

GOV'T CONTROL NEWS TO NICKLE

Knows of No Movement in Cabinet For Such Legislation

GIVES WIDE DENIAL

Assures That His Statement Is Free From All "Hedging"

Toronto, Dec. 11.—Ontario's Attorney-General, who has charge of the enforcement of the Province's present temperance legislation, has no knowledge of any intention upon the part of the Government to supplant that legislation by a Government control measure. In reporting to day what will be the Government's course of action in the months of the year to come, an evening paper yesterday announced an appeal to the people upon a Government control basis, and went so far as to declare that the proposed bill was already in draft form and in process of being concurred in by the Cabinet Ministers.

Hon. Mr. Nickle stated that he knew of no proposal for a Government control measure in Cabinet circles, nor had he any reason to assume that such a bill as the article mentioned was in existence. "And," he added, "I don't want it to be thought from my language that I am hedging behind my words which I may use. There is no reservation and they convey everything."

SAY ESPIONAGE CASE "MERREST VAUDEVILLE

French Authorities Think Morsell Woman is Irresponsible

Paris, Dec. 11.—Commandant Brocard, member of the Chamber of Deputies, and former chief of the famous "Sureté" squadron, in which Captain Ladoux figured, discussed to an authorized interview the prominence given to the espionage case, with the French model and parachute jumper, Martha Morsell, in the leading part, and three Englishmen alleged to be implicated.

Commandant Brocard added that the case was "the merest vaudeville."

While no official announcement has been made, it is reported that the Morsell woman will shortly be examined as to her mental competency. The police now assert that she appears to be irresponsible.

BOOTH FUNERAL SIMPLE

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—Orders for simplicity, that virtue alsemplified so well by John R. Booth in life, governed every feature of the funeral at Beechwood Cemetery here, where his body was interred to rest along side that of his wife who predeceased him half a century ago, and other members of the family. There was no mention made for the reception of the dust of one of Canada's greatest men. The body was lowered into the freshly dug grave in the Booth plot and the earth placed over it. The funeral service was conducted at the residence of Mr. Booth by Rev. Dr. W. T. Herridge, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and the Then through the streets lined with citizens and followed by a vast con-

HAD TOO MUCH LIGHT

Another Trentonian was charged with driving a car, using a light stronger than a candle power. He pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs of $4.50. He told of bumping over the Belleville bridge and breaking one of his headlights recently. He tried to buy new ones like the one broken but the garage man recommended the ones he used when apprehended. He believed they should be checked. Car drivers should beware, for officers are getting tight after those who are negligent about their lights. No lights, and glaring lights are considered dangerous by they claim, and refer to repeated accidents with serious results as a result of such carelessness.

Youthful Designer Equally At Home In Shop Or Kitchen

To be the full fledged proprietor of a successful hat shop is no small achievement for a girl of eighteen but Alberta Strother has already gained an enviable reputation for the distinctness and chic of models designed after her own ideas.

Creating hats and running a shop does not give much time for domestic affairs although in a tiny apartment which miss Nungler shares with her partner they have cleverly managed to create a charming atmosphere at home.

And it is really amazing what delectable things come forth from behind the screen which divides the "kitchen" from the "drawing room."

Egg croquettes is a dish always demanded by their guests and they make it after the following recipe:

2 tablespoonfuls Crisco
1 tablespoonfuls Flour
½ cupful Milk
4 hard cooked Eggs
1 teaspoonful chopped Parsley
½ cupful chopped cooked Tongue
Salt, Pepper and grated Nutmeg to taste
1 Egg
Breadcrumbs

Chop eggs and mix them with ham, parsley and seasoning. Melt Crisco, stir in flour, then add the milk, and cook two minutes, stirring all the time. Now add egg mixture and if required add more seasoning. Cool mixture, then divide in tin-like portions and shape each into a neat croquette; brush over with the egg beaten with a tablespoonful of water, roll in breadcrumbs and fry in hot Crisco. Drain and garnish with fried parsley. The Crisco should be hot enough to brown a breadcrumb in forty seconds.

Sufficient for nine croquettes.

A new 80 page cook book will be sent free to readers of this newspaper, upon receipt of a two-cent stamp to cover postage. Address the National Household Service, 164 Fifth Ave., New York City.

JUDGE CONDEMNS C.A.S. IN DURHAM

"Inhuman" Treatment of Mother Whose Children Were Taken Away

CONVICTED OF THEFT

Disapproval of Methods Employed Voiced by Judge McGlade

Cobourg, Dec. 11.—"Inhuman" was the term which Judge McGlade employed in reference to the action of the Children's Aid Society and, Magistrate Ward of Bowmanville in depriving Mrs. Elizabeth Warnum of her three little children, when her appeal came up for disposal Wednesday afternoon in County Court.

Mrs. Varnum was recently convicted in Bowmanville Police Court of, stealing nine chickens from a neighbour, and was sentenced to four months in the County Jail. At the same time her three children were taken under the care of the Children's Aid Society as wards. Mrs Varnum appealed the case.

DISAPPROVES METHODS

After hearing the circumstances of the case Judge McGlade expressed his disapproval of the methods employed in the case and granted the appeal, by which Mrs. Varnum will be relieved of the remaining weeks of her jail sentence and her three children will be returned to her. The children will remain under of the Society but Judge McGlade stipulates that they must not be taken from the care of their mother again without good and sufficient cause.

If Judge McGlade felt that no children should be removed from their mother's loving care while they are mainly clad, well fed and sheltered, and believed it inhuman to deprive a mother of her offspring.

"THE UNHOLY THREE" IS GREAT UNDERWORLD FILM

There is no lack of thrills and entertainment in Tod, Browning's crook drama, "The Unholy Three," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, now showing at the Griffis theatre.

Indeed, it may be said that Browning has made more than a good underworld picture. He has made a melodrama that will go over anywhere with a bang because it contains real heart interest, plenty of comedy and a lot of drama.

The story is a most unusual one and deals with a trio of freaks—a giant, a midget and a ventriloquist—who forsake their life in a dime museum to pursue a career of robbery and murder.

The trio cover up their misdeeds by running a bird and animal store, and succeed in escaping detection after each crime until two of them murder a wealthy club man while looting his home.

Miss Daeh and Lon Chaney have the outstanding roles but the others take every advantage to give as very fine performance in what may be rightly called the best crook film of the year.

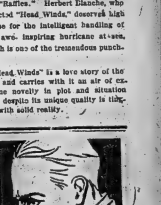

PATSY RUTH MILLER ASSISTS HOUSE PETERS

The Universal-Jewel features "Head Winds," starring House Peters with Patsy Ruth Miller, which opened at the Bells theatre as the result of an unusual and remarkable combination in picture making.

Intelligent acting, intelligent direction and an intelligent adaptation of a famous Saturday Evening Post story from the pen of A. M. Stanley Will, is responsible for the mighty success of "Head Winds."

House Peters will be remembered for his remarkable work in his first two Universal productions, "The Torrido" and "Baffles." Herbert Blanche, who directed "Head Winds," deserves high praise for the intelligent handling of the awe- inspiring hurricane at sea, which is one of the tremendous punches.

"Head Winds" is a love story of the sea and carries with it an air of extreme novelty in plot and situation that despite its unique quality is tinged with solid reality.

To banish that everlasting cough you must treat the cause of the bronchials where the irritation really is. Pepe do this in a novel and most effective way. When dissolved in the mouth a Peps tablet gives off potent soothing and healing fumes which are breathed through the tender air-passages deep into chest and lungs.

Peps owe their unparalleled success in Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis etc. to their sweet direct action. Dosage is not measured into the stomach nerve tonic the real trouble.

GRAIN MOVEMENT HEAVY ON LAKES THEN BY VANCOUVER

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 12—Advices from the head of the lakes last night indicated that seven million bushels of grain would be taken out by twenty-four steamers leaving there, before the close of navigation at midnight to-night This will relieve the amount of grain in store at lakehead ports to approximately 14,000,000 bushels but it is stated, some 48,000,000 bushels is expected to arrive at the elevators from points in the west. Railway officials expressed the opinion that there would be a large quantity of grain move westward to Vancouver from now until the conclusion of operations, for the marketing of this year's crop.

One Light Out Motorists Fined

Three motorists apprehended by city police for driving with but one front lamp lighted, were each assessed $6 and costs of $5.50 in police court today.

Those men are but three of a large number of motorists who will be hooked in court if this practice does not cease.

The "connection had slipped loose on blocks before."

"The maximum fine is really not one quarter high enough. This thing has been going on for years and it is extremely dangerous," opined the bench.

RICE LAKE OPEN AGAIN BY STORM

Waves Rolled High Last Saturday and the Ice Disappeared

A party of young men arriving home in Belleville this morning from Rice Lake where they had spent the past week hunting rabbits report a strange "almost phenomenon" in the way of a storm.

The boys, four of them had rented a shack on the shore of the lake and had prepared for a week's winter weather, stacked all, and enjoyed themselves on the ice which almost covered the big lake. On Saturday morning however a storm unrivalled for violence in the annals of the countryside came up, swept like a cloudburst over the land, teamed over the eaves of the houses and outbuildings. The surface wherever the land was level was from six to eight inches deep with water and the creeks were running over the banks.

The worst and strangest of all "the fetters that held the lake hard iron bound and fast" as Jacques Cartier described the Canadian waters, had been washed away overnight and the skating rink turned into a churning mass, the waves dashing over the banks of the lake as even the Indians in the vicinity had never seen them rush and by the time the storm died down, the rink was a lake, good for canoeing, and speedily used for such by a few of the natives. As yet the lake has not refrozen over.

FILM STORY BY BARRY

Proposed to Make New Movie in London

London, December 12—Sir James Barrie, famous author of "Peter Pan," has consented to write an original story for the Famous Players Lasky Corporation, according to a report here. It is proposed to make the new Barrie film in London.

Some see in the announcement the beginning of American invasion in the English drive against American made films. Pictures made by American companies in England, it is argued, could display as British made, thus avoiding the proposed discrimination here against American movies.

Barrie has chosen Betty Bronson for the title role in his Peter Pan film.

Belleville's Saturday Market

While the interior of the market building was this morning filled to its capacity with sellers and buyers the attendance was by no means filled up. A feature of the market was the quantity of dressed fowl offered for sale and the near approach of Christmas was clearly indicated by the number of Christmas trees being offered for sale. These retailed from 50c up to $2 according to size.

SOME PRICES

Dressed chickens were in abundance and sold from $1.25 to $2.25 a pair according to quality; the ruling price for chickens were $1.25 and $1.40. A few geese were offered for sale and commanded a good figure namely $3 and $3.25 each.

Turkeys as yet are scarce.

Fresh dairy butter sold at 40c a pound; 20c and 22c a peck, pears 60c peck.

LEAGUE WOULD BE RESPONSIBLE FOR TURK WAR

Conflict Would Not Be with Britain Alone, But With League

BRITAIN HAS PLEDGE

If Turks Continue To Defy League They Will Find World Against Them.

Geneva, Dec. 12—If mediation between Great Britain and Turkey in their dispute over Mosul fails, it is understood that the League of Nations council plans to make a definite frontier decision at its present session, hoping to secure the necessary unanimity.

When timorous folk here talk of the dangers in the Mosul question and suggest it will infallibly mean war with the Turks authoritative spokesmen correct them gently and say the conflict the Turks must face would be, not with Britain, but with the League of Nations. As for actual fighting, spokesmen say, it is not quite accepted, especially if Angora understands how purely political is the agitation carried on in the Nearer East and Beaverbrook press against the British Government's action in Iraq, but if Angora does not insist it will be a question for the League, not for Britain, alone.

TURKS ARE CRUEL

Of course Britain would be prepared to accept the boundary the League laid down but would also expect other members of the League to do their share in bringing pressure on the Turkish Republic. The authorities here are loath to discuss precisely what developments there might be, but it is obvious that with the Straits at the mercy of Europe's fleet, Constantinople an open town, France conveniently situated on Turkey's flank in Syria, and various Mediterranean nations not averse at making a fling at Turkey, Angora would find herself in an unhappy position of the League actualy started even measures. Moreover the report just made by the Esthonian General Laidoner on the terrible treatment Turkish soldiers have meted out to Iraq Christians must arouse against the Angora Government the sympathy of the world.

FEELING AGAINST THEM

"If the Turks really defied the League," said a well-informed man here to-day, "they would find themselves once more in the position they occupied in the war without the aid of Germany, with the Dardanelles disarmed and the moral feeling of civilization against them."

The real decision on the Turks' part to take up arms. But if they do Britain military opinion considers that the forces in Mesopotamia, it is reckoned, are quite strong enough to command all the Kurdish country, and India could surely spare a contingent of British troops to back the air-men.

MADE ATTACK ON CHALET

Three Men Tried to Push It Off Promenade

London, December 12—Three men object to much to a chalet built on public property on "the Leas"— Folkestone, Kent, promenade—that they tried to push it over a cliff into the sea while its owner, Lady Sybil Middleton, daughter of Earl Grey, former Governor General of Canada, and sister-in-law to Lord Earl, was inside.

The remarkable event occurred last Saturday with the permission of the city council. It was just large enough for one person and could be moved on its base or transported could always face the sea. The first day Lady Middleton occupied it three anti-chalet men made an attempt summarily to get rid of it. As a result is is understood the owner will have the chalet removed immediately.

LIE UNDER CARS TO DODGE SHELLS IN CHINESE WAR

British and American Passengers Caught by Sudden Fire

Peking, Dec. 12.—Several British and score of United States civilians, passengers on an international train which left Peking for Tientsin yesterday, were caught in the middle of a battle between troops of Feng Yu-Hsiang and Chang Tso-Lin near Langtsun, north of Tientsin last night.

The train also carried fifty Italian Legionnaires on their way to the coast for doing guard duty in the capital. The passengers, including some women and children are reported to have lain between the tracks under the train to escape Chinese shells. A Czech piece was hurriedly put in service to check the morning between Tientsin and Pehtsang, a few miles to the north.

The train was caught between opposing forces when an armored train from Peking, following in its wake, landed 1,000 troops with artillery and opened fire on the Mukdenites. The passengers had alighted from the stalled train with the intention of walking the remaining distance to Tientsin when the firing began. They raced back to the train and took refuge under the coaches, from bursting shells. Major General William H. Conner, American Commander-in-Tientsin, is reported to be trying to get a relief train through with orders to convey the passengers to their destination.

SAW THIN HORSE 'PULLING' A LOAD OF 3300 POUNDS

Sentence Suspended on Man Charged With Cruelty To Animals

Sentence was suspended for one year on Charles Stapley, charged with breach of the Cruelty to Animals Act in Magistrate's court today. He pleaded not guilty.

P.C. D. Morris told of answering a call to Station street at Emily at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning where Stapley was attempting to lead a thin horse, which was hauling a heavily laden wagon of railway ties. Each of horse's back was a sore behind the back pad, about three inches in diameter. Fifty-seven half railway ties which were creosoted, was the load, which had been hauled about ¼ mile. Each piece weighed 66 pounds.

The load was 3,300 lbs. without wagon and the streets were slippery. The two drivers were on the load and walk watching the morning operations.

Provincial Constable J. Kenny corroborated the evidence of Morris. The horse was unable to haul the empty wagon in his opinion.

Accused told of the horse's excellent driving power until a month ago when he was off work with a broken leg.

Magistrate Deroche remarked that he felt in his present position, how lost and valuable were pity for friendship made and retained and how precious the memories he would have of his twenty-five years of municipal life.

He again referred to the great increase in tourist traffic in the North and the duty of every citizen to assist in accommodation. He predicted that before many years there would be a Belleville to Grenoble Highway.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT

He announced the receipt of a telegram from Hon. J. S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario saying that a three months course would be started in Stirling the coming winter, this having reference to the Agricultural school sought for the county by the good work of the Agricultural and Horticultural Committees work. This announcement was received with every indication of pleasure and gratification by the audience.

"It means that if we attain success in this school that Central, Ontario will have a school and farm of this county almost in the centre between Kemptville and Guelph. It means a great deal to Hastings County," said the Warden amid renewed applause.

Colonel Cockburn, deputy reeve of Sidney proposed the toast to the county of Hastings and reflected on its splendid traditions and on the fact that its people were of the soundest of British stock the best in the world. We must be said see that the high standard of manhood set has an example and as splendid achievements as our forefathers left us.

The congratulatory reply was made by Mr. Mackenzie Robertson.

WARDEN WIGGINS HOST TO FRIENDS AT BIG BANQUET

Dining Room of Quinte Could Not Contain All Who Accepted

FARM SCHOOL SURE!

Hon. J. S. Martin Wires Word of 3 Months' Course at Stirling

Another Warden's banquet has gone into history.

On this occasion his Honor the Warden of the County of Hastings Mr. Walter E. Wiggins the occupant of that respectable position during 1925 was entertaining his host of friends and all the same time saying good bye to them. He had announced that he would not be back again as a County Councillor. The famous Northern quoit-ette is breaking up. Part of it is going to Lot Donaldson House in the person of Dr. A. T. Embury to whom along with Mr. W. Ernest Tennison a former County Councillor for many complimentary references were made.

As banquets go it was a great success and throughout was a very pleasant evening, under the capable hands of Mr. W. H. Nugent and Clerk of Hastings and a former Warden as Toastmaster. To Mr. Nugent was also greatly due much of the success of the entertainment. She played piano accompaniments for soloists in a manner that left nothing to be desired. Mr. Ald. Mills, Reeve of Deloro, and Mrs. Wright charmed the banqueters with a violin and cornet solo. Reeves Mr. Mikel, Mr. Ernest Tennison, Mr. V. A. Thomson and Mr. Stephen Burrows sang solos while Mr. Sprung and Mr. Bailey gave humorous readings also with the assistance of a chorus gave "Brown October Ale."

A PRESENTATION

The guests were so numerous they had to set tables for them out in the Rotunda of the Hotel Quinte. Mr. J. A. Kerr was among those so situated and was prevailed upon to come in and lead the chorus of "In the Good Old Summer Time."

One of the interesting events of the evening was the presentation to Warden Wiggins of a gold headed cane. This was done by Mr. Chas. S. Rollins, Ex-Warden who made a very happy speech paying high compliments to Mr. Wiggins and offering good wishes on behalf of himself and his colleagues.

Mr. Wiggins remarked how honored he felt in his present position, how lost and valuable were pity for friendship made and retained and how precious the memories he would have of his twenty-five years of municipal life.

He again referred to the great increase in tourist traffic in the North and the duty of every citizen to assist in accommodation. He predicted that before many years there would be a Belleville to Grenoble Highway.

Mr. C. S. Rollins was invited to the Warden's chair and Mr. C. J. McGuire moved, seconded by by Mr. Airhart, a hearty vote of thanks to Warden Wiggins for the efficient, able and courteous manner in which he had discharged his duties as Warden for the past and wishing him a Merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year.

McKinney, G. Bailey, C. S. Rollins, W. Whytock and T. A. Moore. The motion was carried by a standing vote and singing for he's a jolly good fellow."

Warden Wiggins made a felicitous reply thanking the members for their kind references to him. The past year had been a most pleasant one to him and his association with the members of the council could never be forgotten. All the members had done what they could to make the Warden's duties pleasing and a regrettable part was the fact that some would not return. He wished all the members a prosperous new year. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

MR. MCGUIRE'S REPORT

Mr. A. W. McGuire, public school inspector for Centre Hastings, presented his annual report to the County Council. It showed that in his inspectorate there were 5 village schools and 70 rural schools with 87 teachers. Of these 31 are in the village and 78 in the rural schools. The report dealt with the necessity there was of teaching agriculture in the rural schools, as many of the pupils would, no doubt, eventually become farmers. At the present time in 38 schools in the inspectorate, agriculture is being taught, one hour a day being devoted to the subject. The report showed that there were some schools in the inspectorate that were unsatisfactory.

The report was adopted.

A NIGHT OUT

Mr. Charles Payne's big Airedale had a night out last night. The big fellow became a little over-enthusiastic in a chase after a cat and followed her up the stairway of a barn on Victoria avenue, lost his way and stayed there all night. He was weak and hungry this morning when rescued by an ambassador of commerce and a civil servant. The cat had better luck than many a legal foe Mr. Payne goes after—she got away.

Jack Frost Brings King Sport to Quebec

Chateau Frontenac Dog Team with trainer. Chateau Frontenac & Toboggan Slide. (Upper right) Trotting Race—Quebec.

What is expected to be the most brilliant winter season in the history of Quebec was launched in that city recently with the formation of the Winter Sports Club which is under the patronage of His Honor the Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Quebec, Hon. Narcisse Perodeau, Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Premier of the Province and Mayor Jos. Samson of Quebec.

The Club has undertaken to organize the International Colleges Ski Competition, the International Snow Shoe Convention, the World Championship Dog Derby and the famous Quebec Dog Derby. The Ski competition will include a five-mile cross-country race, a ski-jumping contest, and tests in efficiency including Christiana turns. Sight-seeing tours and sporting events will follow each in harmonious succession right through the season in addition to the major events. In the Quebec Open Amateur Ski meeting in February, clubs from Montreal, Ottawa, Berlin, N.H., and others will compete. Ivind Nelson, amateur ski champion, and Oliver Kaldahl will be the ski instructors. A lady instructress to be appointed and visitors to Quebec will be carefully instructed and taken out in parties.

As usual, skating will form one of the attractions. Lew Crafstrom and Mrs. Alfan Kerr will act as instructors. Towards the end of January, arrangements have been made for a skating masquerade on the brilliantly illuminated open rink outside the Chateau Frontenac, while another masquerade may be held in February. The rink will also be available for smaller masquerade skating parties.

Moonlight ski-runs and sleighing parties, the brightly lighted toboggan slide, music from dancing rooms in the Chateau, all will add to the gaiety and charm of the carnival. The Dufferin Terrace Toboggan Slide runs well over a quarter of a mile. A long climb back, but with a soothing sensation to come flying down a long, smooth stretch of ice as if the toboggan would never stop. Five Snow Shoe Clubs have been acquired and competitions will be arranged some time in February.

Besides the regular hockey league games, negotiations are in progress to arrange an exhibition game between Sons of Ireland and a Princeton University team, while there is also every possibility of having a few ladies' hockey teams. Trips will be made periodically to the Shrine at St. Anne de Beaupre, Chateau Richer, Montmorency Falls and other beautiful sites about the city. A number of excursions will be made to the Island of Orleans via the ice bridge with sleighs as the return journey. This novelty is expected to make a decided hit with tourists.

Fast horses have been trained for ski-joring and will also compete on a track of beaten snow in trotting races.

TRENTON POLICE RUSHED TO AID

Man Pinned and Dying Under Car Was Found Asleep in Rear Seat

Trenton, Dec. 12.—Trenton police received a rush call at 11.45 last night to rescue a man who was pinned and dying under a car which had overturned in a ditch on the Trent Road about two miles West of Trenton.

Seven minutes after the call was made, the police were on the scene. A man was found in the back seat who was neither dead nor dying, but who was dead drunk instead.

The car was on its side with the left front wheel smashed. The man was taken to the Trenton Police Station where he gave his name and a few other particulars about himself and the party who were in the car with him at the time of the overturning of the car.

This morning he was feeling indisposed and was not bothered for the present. He will be given a hearing soon.

The police stated this morning that the car did not believe it possible that the man could have been driving the car, on account of his condition and position in the car.

It was not known who had called the police, or where the rest of the party went after the crash.

Police removed the right front tire while they were there, to protect the machine from theft. The tire was almost off from the skid which sent it to the ditch.

CANADIAN LITERATURE

Winnipeg Tribune:

The first duty of a national literature is to give us knowledge and understanding . of our fellow citizens. The Canadian novelist has a big and almost untouched field before him. Charles Dickens made the country squires, the family lawyers, the coach drivers and all the people who made up Victorian England known not only to themselves but to the whole world.

But how little do we in the middle west really know of the home life of the Nova Scotia fisherfolk, of the Cape Breton miner and steel-worker, of the present-day habitants of Quebec, even of the Swedish, Danish, German and other foreign communities that are settling right here in our midst.

Much of the so-called Canadian fiction is written by self-exiled Canadians in New York, from the outside looking in, for foreign consumption. Many of the stories are Canadian in nothing except the arbitrary geographical location. Such is not Canadian national literature.

LIGHTS ON VEHICLES

So far as has been reported to date no County Council has up-and supported outright the proposal made at and passed on from Queen's Park that the aforementioned municipalities enact laws requiring all vehicles to carry lights at night.

On the contrary all municipalities have been quite unanimous in passing the buck back to the Legislature. That is what happened in the Hastings Council, and as a matter of fact The Intelligencer thinks they did exactly the proper thing. The Legislature was "trying out" a plan; they asked the isolated counties to pass a local regulation; it has not worked. At next session of the Ontario House therefore we should have some sound and sensible legislation protecting people who travel the highways. The people are waiting for it.

"LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—"

The idea in the mind of J. V. Walsh, former Warden of Hastings County, which developed into the annual oratory contest now always held at the final meeting of the year of the County Council has borne very special and wonderful results so far as there is no telling how far-reaching these results may yet be.

History may yet be written about the Demosthenes and Lloyd Georges—one could hardly cite more extreme cases—who sprung from the county of Hastings, and who were first in the public eye through their orations given in Shire Hall. All honor to them and to the Wardens of Hastings who have so generously continued the practice. Mr. Wiggins' prizes this year were really quite handsome and will be worn with pride by the successful contestants.

NOT A NEW SYMPTOM

Brigadier-General Smedley D. Butler, going back to the United States Marines after a two-year attempt to clean up Philadelphia that admittedly made service with his beloved "devil-dogs" a peaceful holiday, told a group of club women that his experience as director of public safety was a keen disappointment to himself. All the support he received from the decent element asserted the doughty fighter, was applause; which is far from effective as a club on lawlessness.

General Butler's resentment of the lack of co-operation in the efforts he put forth is the natural reaction of one accustomed to doing things and receiving nothing from those about him. But similar complaint could be lodged by executives in almost any large community, and some small ones. When it comes to cheering, the law-abiding element is usually as proficient as it is deficient in giving real assistance to public servants. This is in direct contrast to the high efficiency displayed by those to whom contempt for the law is a profitable profession.

Indifference, if not open opposition, in least expected quarters does a great deal to keep men of affairs out of public life. They feel, as General Butler does, the uselessness of such service. It is no new system that the discouraged commander of the Marines emphasized. And until it provokes something more tangible than "careful consideration" no betterment of conditions need be hoped for.

MARRYING AGES

Census statistics reveal the ages at which men and women are most inclined to marry, though the average for both sexes is rising. About 10 per cent. of women marry before they are 20, while more than half marry before the age of 25. More than half the men do not marry before the thirtieth birthday. It appears that as ages come apace the chances of marriage rapidly diminish. However, this may not be due to unwillingness but to lack of opportunity. According to census compilations, 2,000,000 men and women more than 50 years of age are leading single lives, though whether of "blessedness" is open to debate.

Altered conditions are responsible for the rising average marriage age. Not so long ago about the only career a woman lay in marriage. Some of our grand mothers were but 16 when they became brides. Now, ordinarily, a girl is not out of high school at that age. Even when both are at marrying age it does not follow that a wedding will ensue quickly. Many a Jack never finds his Jill. There is one important reason why many do not marry, though to what extent it is true the census figures do not reveal.

AS OTHERS SEE US

In Belleville, on Monday, a bylaw was submitted to the electors, which provided, says the Hamilton Herald, for the reduction of the city council to nine members, three of whom are to be elected each year for three-year terms. The bylaw was defeated at the polls.

There is something to be said in favor of the principle behind this bylaw, the principle of continuity in office. Usually it takes a new alderman almost a year to become familiar with the routine of his duties and the minutiae of civic government; then, when his service is getting to have real value, he is obliged to make a fight for re-election, with a chance of being set aside. With a term of two or three years, the continuous service of a man anxious to serve his fellow-citizens efficiently and with the ability to do so, would be assured.

Yes, but on the other hand it would be necessary to carry the deadwood a year or two years longer than the right time to get rid of it. After all, in most cases the merit of the alderman who does good service, or who in his first year shows capacity for service, is recognized by the people, and he is re-elected. Sometimes the people are at fault, but as a rule they do justice.

The principle of continuity in service might with advantage be applied to the election of controllers. They should in all cases be chosen from the aldermen, for it is highly desirable that the member of the board of control have experience in the conduct of municipal affairs. And as they constitute the executive branch of the civic government, in charge of business which extends from year to year, continuous service beyond a single year is in their case desirable.

"We would favor a two or three-year term for controllers, but not for aldermen," concludes the Herald.

THE ENGLISHMAN

Montreal Star:

If the Englishman abroad showed the world one-tenth of the faith in his own country and its future that is revealed by his stubborn facing of trials and hearing of loads at home, the world would have a very different impression of England from that which unfortunately prevails in many lands. There ought to be a course in national optimism added to the English public school curriculum. In a generation its influence would be felt —and the world at large would be the gainer.

CHASED BAILIFF FIGHTS ARREST

Oshawa Man Has Apparently Stored Up Trouble For Himself

Oshawa, Dec. 2.—Bailiffs are about the most unpopular people in the country easily outstanding even tax-collectors, and William Stevens, a bailiff and county constable, yesterday had this fact impressed on him in no unmistaken terms. In the morning Mr. Stevens was commissioned by the Oshawa tax collector's department to seize goods at the home of Frederick O. "Morley") Bowden, 50 Bond street east, in lieu of $205.27 in taxes which had been unpaid in 1924 and 1925.

The bailiff was chased from the property by the owner who wielded a hockey stick and bread knife, Mr. Stevens losing his glasses in the chase. In the afternoon Mr. Bowden went into the business section of the city and at the corner of Simcoe and King streets he was arrested by County Constable Stevens and Sergeant of Detectives Charles Paxton—but not without some trouble. Mr. Bowden objected strenuously to being placed under arrest and the officers called upon C. White, of the staff of the Dominion Bank for assistance. The three of them endeavored to place Mr. Bowden in a taxi-cab and in the scuffle Mr. White received a black eye, having been hit in the face by Mr. Bowden's elbow. One of Sergt. Paxton's trouser legs was badly torn also.

At a special sitting of the police court held after the arrest Mr. Bowden was charged with assaulting an officer in the performance of his duties. The case was remanded until December 17, meanwhile being released on $2,000 bail, furnished by himself.

"What did the Doctor say?"
"He blames it all on my nerves; says my nervous system is exhausted and that I have nervous indigestion."
"Does he think you will soon be better?"
"No; he says I will have to be patient and let my digestive system rest and my nerves gradually regain vigor."
"Well, I know what I would do."
"What is that?"
"I would start in right now with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I have been nursing on so many cases just like yours and have seen so many restored by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food that I am sure it is just what you need to build up your nerves and make you well."

"Well, I certainly would try it if I were you. I have never seen such results as a treatment for the nerves from any other medicine."
"If you will go around to the drug store and get me a box I will start in right now. Goodness knows, I need something to build up the nervous system so that I can eat and sleep and get some strength."
"All right, I will do that, and I know you will thank me for suggesting it."

If love is a madness, what is marriage?

Worse things may happen to a woman whose husband has left her.

"Sure," says Sinical Sadie, "he may come back!"

From the virtues and accomplishments a man expects to find by one bride, you'd know he was marrying a saint.

This didn't happen in Belleville. Teacher—Who signed the Magna Charta?

It didn't occur to him, at the time, that she was ignorant of the fact that a tourmalin was the usual name applied to a dog-collar.

POEMS Old And NEW

NOW

I cannot change my yesterdays,
For they are past and gone,
With all their sorrows and their joys
Their faults and victories won.

I cannot see my days to come,
They are in other hands.
No anxious thought of mine can cheer
Or speed life's trickling sands.

So why grieve o'er my yesterdays,
Or blood on coming years?
Better to labor, laugh and love
Each day as it appears.

—Winifred M. New.

POEM FOR THE DEDICATION OF A HOME

These stones are not a hearth until
The lover
The red and kindly miracle of flame
Nor this house home until love makes it so.

Houses, for good report, or dubious
fame,
Take on the aspect of their tenant's minds;
The thoughts that seemed deep hidden in the brain
Shall shine forth from the very eaves and blinds;
Joy, sorrow, sorrow, sacrifice and pain.
No portals may bar sorrow out nor dread.
And these expectant, empty rooms await
The soul new born, the body newly fed.
Put when a hundred human years
have gone,
Rain on this south and sunward-looking slope,
God grant this homely fortress fronts
the snow
With unconquered kindliness and hope.

A Heart's Triumph

By Effie Adelaide Rowlands.

She became quickly acclimated to the curious atmosphere that surrounded her, and she had been perfectly happy, as Paul Darnley had always noted, till the years rolling on brought her to the brink of womanhood. With the development of mind and body, Cecil felt also the development of a nature that clashed not merely at the restrictions that were imposed her, but at the narrowness, the selfishness, the uselessness, and the cruelty of her father's character. Of the latter trait, the girl had had more than one proof. Charles Lockhye had always been noted for the sharpness of his tongue in the past, but active salt bitter as this was Cecil knew his cruelty was not confined to words.

Although she had never set foot beyond the hall, grey stone walls that bordered the domain of the White Abbey, Cecil's ears were used to the stories of poverty, sickness, and hardship that were in the winter time only too prevalent in the village home scattered about outside her own grand empty home. She was wearily sad, too, in the sense of violence and abuse that would inevitably follow on any appeal to her father from those in distress. While money was scattered and wasted in every direction for the furtherance of his latest craze, or toy, there were people at his very door starving for the actual necessities of life.

Cecil herself had been the first to up proach her father on such a matter as this, when her little mind had grasped the full significance of what she heard, but she never repeated the effort, for she had been but a mere child at the time, and her father's rage with her had only temporarily frightened her.

The lesson of humanity had come to her by degrees. It was her own nature that sought to understand the lesson, and her books helped her. Her father striked nothing in her education, but he would not let her be given any religion. Aided by poor, ignorant, devout old women, however, the child found a religion for herself, and not a sweeter, truer, purer heart could be found in all the world than that of Cecil Charles Lockhye's daughter. Could she have been free to exercise the charity that was so natural a part of her nature, Cecil might have found happiness in her lot solitary and confined as it was to the end of her days; but there was so little she could do.

Money she had never had; she scarcely knew what its worth was; she could give, therefore, no material help to the many who, Nini told her, had such need of it. But yet the heart of the girl found some solace. She lavished love on the animals scattered about the place; she had ever a soft word and inquiry for the servants, and she was a constant disgrace with her father.

Quite recently there had been an accident in the workshop. Michael Everest, the young Englishman, had slipped amidst the scene of the machinery, and had lacerated his hand severely, and Cecil had bathed and dressed the wounds with such tender tenderness as though the man had been her brother.

She had always stood between her father's work-people and his anger when ever it was feasible. She had dampened her fear of him, but with the birth of courage had come a strong pride that prevented her from asking for good favor of her father. She shrank, too, from routing him to that furious mood since his full significance of what she heard. Cecil always felt humiliated when her father lapsed into one of these fits of passion and screaming invective. She knew he was by this time regarded as being mad, not only by those who served him, but by all who dwelt near. But Cecil did not consider her father mad. She found him a man wholly unrestrained, a nature bad and selfishly cruel to begin with, and made harder still by self-indulgence.

Into her father's past the girl had never ventured, or desired to inquire; her mind was always set on the future. Thought with her was naturally chained about that future. She was as one growing in the dark, yet hope and inspiration were always with her, and her brain was full of pictures, both in her dreams by day and in her sleeping fancies.

ELECTION NIGHT

Time—9 p.m. Monday night.
Place—Intelligencer Office.

A young man more than mighty exhilarated smiled in and hearing the constant stream of calls by phone, another type with some thought of helping the busy operator, he picked up the receiver and this is what the startled group in the office, a pal at the other end of the line heard: "Yeah, Graham's elected with a majority of 14,000." There was a gasp of disbelief at the other end apparently and he insisted, "Thash right I tell you, 14,000."

Needless to say he was at once relieved of that job, and I trust this will explain and excuse the incident to the Enquirer.

OUT OF THE MONTHS OF—OLD PEOPLE

The other day I had dinner near an old lady and her delightful conversation was not startling wish expressed. The dear old soul had a grievance. The conversation was all of Christmas and when she said, "Oh they always send me cups and aprons and such things and I'd just love something different." Then one of those bangle bracelets for example! Course I wouldn't wear it out anywhere, but when I'm in bed I'd love to just get something like that for once. Here she chuckled and her eyes twinkled, but suddenly a wistful look crept into the wrinkled face as she sighed and said again. "But of course they'll send cups and aprons. They're dears, though."

I'd love to get hold of the old dears' name and address so that she could have her "bangle" for Christmas!

LIBRARY BOARD, PLEASE!

I wonder if the Library Board could not take steps to ensure more quietness in the evenings for the benefit of patrons who wish to take advantage of the Reading Room at the Corby Library. Twice this week have we heard complaints from studious people who have found it impossible to concentrate on serious reading on account of the "circus" outside. This comes from boys who use the Library outside—architecture on which to do acrobatic stunts, accompanied by wild and constant shouts which penetrate easily to the Reading Room where the occupants "tear their hair" and then reluctantly leave.

I admit all that stonework at the entrance makes a perfectly wonderful fencemenagerie or whatnot but one must have quietness in the precincts of a Reading Room if it is to serve its purpose.

HE SAVED IT!

It is said that a dog is the only animal that has a sense of humor. A story is told of a bull-terrier that was accustomed every day to carry his master's dinner to him in a basket. One day he was attacked by two dogs and in the course of fight back had to set the basket down. While fighting one of the dogs, he noticed that the other was devouring the food in the basket. He at once gave up the fight to cat what was left of the meal. The moment he got to him in the only method of saving at least part of his master's property.

The Bronte Sisters

"There were three daughters of the old parson of Haworth," writes Lord Halifax in "John o' London's Weekly." "Of Anne, the quiet but attractive Anne, all that that I have to observe is that she lived as their affectionate sister and fellow-worker in the atmosphere of Charlotte and Emily. Neither of these nor in poetry did the reach their level. But she was not the less a beautiful soul.

"Of Charlotte there is some thing different to be said. A great poet she was certainly not. Her verses never reach a really high level. But in prose, as a novelist, she attained to high rank. She suffered, as indeed did Emily—from never having been confined closely in the technique of her art. They lived in narrow surroundings which only their genius enabled them to surmount. They aimed too high to be able to escape from the cramping influences of a narrow world That was partly due to the circumstances that they were always trying to look into the deeper things of life. Robert Burns, without training or any very wide experience, surmounted his difficulty, but only because he discovered of himself that he was a lyric poet. Had a world the Brontes did not mean to confine themselves, and consequently they never brought up against the limits to their actual vision.

"But Charlotte and Emily were wanting of genius. In prose, Charlotte was always, if imperfect novelist. She worked. She worked hard and she succeeded in developing her powers. To one who reads with care was one of her earliest writings, "The Professor," published late but written early, can see how she had got away from many limitations when she later on composed 'Jane Eyre' and 'Shirley.' Her professional theme was character, and particularly the character of the women she knew at Haworth. In her prose pictures of this she is very real, and sometimes of very quality shows at times in her poetry.

"Emily was of a different order. She was great in her verse power with which she also describes concrete, living, individual character in 'Wuthering Heights' is tremendous, if somewhat inartistically-shaped novel. Her verses were many of them cosmopolitan But the best of them are of pure Haworth poetry, heights which her sister Charlotte could never touch. She died in 1848 of consumption at the age of thirty. She did not attain, like her sister, Charlotte, to fame in her lifetime; or even to any appreciation of the value of her poems she one jo a height which poses for a certain quality among the greatest poets, not only in England, but of the world."

Has a full rich flavor delicious to the taste; it is invigorating and sustaining.

Henry C. Sherman, Professor of Food Chemistry, Columbia University, in his book "Food Products" says: "Cocoa, in addition to the stimulating property, due to the alkaloid theobromine, and the flavor which makes it popular both as a beverage and in confectionery, has a considerable food value."

MAROONS HOPING TO BEAT OTTAWA

First Place at Stake When Senators Meet Montreal To-night.

STEWART VS. NIGHBOR

Interesting Battle Between Centre Ice Stars Expected as Result

Montreal, Dec. 12—Ottawa Senators play their first road game of the season against the Montreal Maroons at the Forum last night and will enter the contest with a record of three straight shutouts. But in meeting the local team they will be facing for the second time this season the only National Hockey League scoretie which has occurred against them. The two goals on Ottawa's debit side were tallied by Babe Stewart, of the Montreal team, in the opening game of the visitors' campaign at the capital, when Ottawa won out, 3-2.

The game to-night brings together two teams battling for first place in the standing. Ottawa are out in front, having won one more game than the Maroons, and will thus enter a victory to maintain undisputed leadership in the campaign, for a victory for Montreal will place the Maroons on even terms with the Senators at the top of the pack.

In facing the strong Ottawa combination, Montreal will have a fair advantage. They have had a longer rest than the two-day lay-off Ottawa had had since meeting New York last Thursday. The Maroons will also have the advantage, if any, accruing from home ice conditions, but have a good edge in that they skated tacticially by Eddie Gerard, former Ottawa star, who knows the style of the Senators both as a team and as individual players, and it was this fact which helped the local scrutte so materially in the opening game against Ottawa. How to best nullify the play of Frank Nighbor, George Boucher and Frank Clancy is something hard to fathom, but Gerard had his players holding this trio in smart style, and if they can repeat again to-night the contest should develop into one of the best seen here this year.

Ottawa have been travelling at a merry clip in their four games to date. Their record in the early season has been the reason d'etre of a queue for tickets at the Forum and it is generally conceded that the two teams will play to a capacity crowd.

Many clever tussles between rival stars of the two teams are anticipated, not the least spectacular fray being that expected between the two centre players, Frank Nighbor, of Ottawa and Nelson Stewart of Montreal.

Recreation Bowling Results

The Alcmite and the Belvideres finished up their Fall schedule at the Recreation Alleys last night, the Alcmite coming through with their second win of the season, winning out by 75 pins, Miss Flagler and Miss Rushworth rolling the highest scores.

In the senior league the Rovers failed to put in an appearance, giving the game to the Kiwanis, this being the first defaulted game in the senior league, and no doubt it wouldn't have been defaulted if the Bowlers were to be remaining.

In the junior league the National Castings were just 65 pins better than the Strollers who were playing two new men. High bowlers were Phillips for the Strollers and Daniels for the Castings.

The Industrial league came to a close last night with the Canada Cement Co. and the Greameries playing the last game on the schedule, all the games being finished right to date. The Greameries winning this game by over 200 pins, Ross and Wheeler rolling the highest scores for their teams.

NEW YORK ISSUES S.O.S. FOR PLAYERS

Gotham Pro Hockey Team Hit by Injuries and Three Suffered Ptomaine Poisoning.

Ottawa, December 12.—New York Americans leave here this afternoon for New York, where they will open up their home schedule with a game against Montreal Canadiens on Tuesday night. Although several of the squad are on the sick list, it is expected that all will be fit for their home encounter. After travelling two thousand miles and engaging in four road games, three members of the team suffered ptomaine poisoning. Simpson, Forbes and Burch being the players affected. Burch recovered and Simpson and Forbes will be fit in a few days. "Crutchy" Morrison is another casualty with water on one of his knees.

They are reported to have wired to the Pacific coast for reinforcements. Roy Rickey is a player sought, but nothing definite could be learned as to prospects for the Gothamites securing his transfer.

Health Broke Down

Could Not Get Sleep for Hours After Going to Bed.

"It is not natural for me to sit down and write a letter of praise of a proprietary medicine as I had always been skeptical as to their virtues." Thus writes Mr. Arthur Sequin, Storthoaks, Sask., who further says:—"But three years ago I opened a general store here in Storthoaks and placed on my shelves a few lines of the best known proprietary medicines. Among these, naturally, were Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. As there were three of my customers who were obtaining good results from taking the pills, and as I was in good of a medicine I decided to try them myself.

"I had been suffering from catarrh for years, and my insides work had completely broken down my health. I was coughing all day, suffered from indigestion, and could not sleep until three or four hours after retiring. I carried the pills, not with any great confidence, but by the time I had finished the second box I marked much improvement. At the fourth box I felt quite recovered, but continued them for some further time. My cough has left me, the indigestion has disappeared and I now fall asleep almost as soon as I am in bed. In my store now I do not hesitate to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any who are feeling run-down or without energy, as I think they are a blessing to mankind."

If others who may feel skeptical will give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial they will be convinced as was Mr. Sequin. You can get the pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GOLF COURSE FOR BANCROFT

"Times" of That Thriving and-Up-to-Date Town Announces It

GAME IS "EXPLAINED"

All You Have to Do Is Hit The Ball Where It Should Go!

The Bancroft Times says: It may be of interest to some, that a golf course has been in existence in Bancroft for some four years and upwards of twenty players have taken up the game with an interest that is to be commended, in view of the fact that the Course is only a make high greens, fairways and hazards. While often appearing even foolish to those who have never played, it is in reality full of keenest interest. To hit the little ball, as far from being as simple as it looks and the game is not merely to hit, but also to control its flight and play it, in the face ofmany difficulties, into a small hole with the fewest number of strokes. This requires an accuracy that in an expert is truly marvelous. Technically the game is to play a ball from a definite starting point, striking it with an implement called a club, into a distant small hole, 4 1-4 inches in diameter; the object being to put the ball into the hole with the fewest possible strokes. In the new Course there are nine starting points and a like number of holes. Every starting point with corresponding hole ground between, and everything directly pertaining to it is known by the same number.

We feel that many of our readers will be interested to learn that they may take up this game at a minimum of cost and that any resident of North Hastings is eligible for membership in the Hastiwell Club.

Items on Golf and be wtop lay it will be found in future editions of this paper.

KIPLING'S PROGRESS GOOD

Burwash, Eng., December 12.—Slow but satisfactory progress is being made by Rudyard Kipling in his fight against bronchio-pneumonia. It is nearly two weeks since the author was stricken with the disease and the reports from the bedside have indicated that his physicians believe total recovery is only a matter of time.

She is neat and slender, with exquisite hair and hair that is always perfectly bobbed, of course, for Kitty is nothing if not smart. Kitty has a delightful time in Paris, lunches and dinners and parties, cold and wet, and then more parties and more sick spells brought on what her mother might have prevented in the first place.

No, you can't blame Kitty. Her youth, her prettiness and her popularity were false friends to her. She is now in the Hospital Ambulatoire of the Montreux Hospital for Consumptives, where expert medical attention and nursing are hers, with perhaps one last restored to health and happiness.

Stampede is Climax In Zane Grey Thrill

Players and Cameramen Risk Lives Filming Mad Rush Of 5,000 Wild Horses

Film fans, you have raved about the sensational pictures you have seen, you have witnessed the screen's mightiest thrills, you who have enjoyed the dynamic action of epic westerns—see "Wild Horse Mesa" at the Belle, and you'll have something to brag about!

For stupendous action, for spectacular thrills and for the most gasp-provoking climax ever flashed on the silver sheet, this Paramount melodrama, which George B. Seitz produced from Lucien Hubbard's adaptation of Zane Grey's gripping novel, has them all beat!

Imagine a tremendous herd of five thousand , terror-stricken wild horses charging at top speed across a vast stretch of tableland, headed straight for a treacherous barbed wire corral! This stampede—the final, smashing highroad thrill in photoplay—is pictured in all its terrifying realism, and was filmed at great personal risk to cameramen and players, many of whom narrowly escaped death from the thundering hoofs of the wild steeds.

And this scene comes as a fitting and high-powered finale to a series of tense dramatic events which have their beginning when Jack Holt, hero of the picture, comes into open and bitter conflict with a gang of outlaws and horse thieves, captained by Noah Beery. Billie Dove is the lovely heroine and Douglas Fairbanks Jr., portrays the fourth featured role, that of Holt's dare-devil younger brother.

"Scarlet Saint" Picture Is Carnival of Love

Real Carnivals Too, for Film Embodies New Orleans' Famed Mardi Gras

Lloyd Hughes , and Mary Astor, two of filmdom's most popular young stars, have the leading roles in "The Scarlet Saint", First National's romantic drama of New Orleans which opens Monday at the Griffin theatre.

Colorful Mardi Gras scenes taken in the Southern city during the picturesque festival form the background of this highly entertaining story which, based on Gerald Beaumont's story, "The Lady Who Played Fidele," deals with the romance of a New Orleans beauty, who is forced to marry a man she does not love through a promise made by her father years before.

And this scene comes as a prominent feature of Mardi Gras week, figures in the picture, and patrons of the Griffin Theatre will be treated to several sensational horse-racing episodes. Two famous race tracks, Belmont and Empire, were used during the filming of the big race scenes.

GRASS AT C.P.R. STATION WAS CUT TODAY

Kingston, Dec. 12.—Perhaps the queerest stunt ever lately greeted the eye of the passerby on Ontario Street Friday morning, when the janitor at the Canadian Pacific Railway station was seen industriously cutting the grass there. Two years ago Friday the grass was in similar condition and had to be cut, and while it was being done, brought many smiles from the watchers.

SMALL COUNCIL IN FOR 3 YEARS DEMANDED BY EXPERT

JEWRY OF CITY HELD FESTIVAL SUNDAY EVENING

Gave Play Centring on Trying Period in the History Of Judah

IN DIAMOND HALL

Given Under Able Direction of Rev. Dr. Gertzel, Local Rabbi

On Sunday Belleville Jewry gathered en masse at Mr. Diamond's hall where they took place a picturesque Chanukah festival which is the first of its kind to be enacted before a Jewish audience in Belleville. The audience were given a real treat when a number of the Jewish children mounted the stage and gave a clever display of histrionic ability.

Under the able direction of Rev. Dr. Gertzel, rabbi for Belleville, the Jewish children entertained in no startling a versatility as to satisfy the taste of the most fastidious person. Comic sketches, dialogues, dittles, and vocal solos were dispensed with such ease and enthusiasm as to bring the audience to its feet with deafening applause.

The chief piece of the evening, however, was an original play written by Rev. Dr. Gertzel. The plot of the play centers around one of the most trying periods of Judah's history. Moreover, it is allegorical in theme. You may have read how hard and bitter were the lives of the Israelites under the yoke of Ancient Greece and how Maccabeus inspired an uprising which was instrumental in driving out the Greeks from Palestine.

Those who took part in this play are as follows:

Shamie—J. Goodman.

Courage—Miss Jennie Springer.

Hope—Miss Annie Safa.

Ambition—Miss Bloomer Taube.

Numbers—Miss Helen Samuels.

Unity—Miss Mary Goldberg.

Knowledge—Miss Sophie Safa.

Ardor—Miss Katy Goldberg.

Home—Miss Dora Samuels.

Chanukah—Mr. J. Diamond.

In conjunction with the festival the Roberts String Orchestra and Smithsmith as well as music and it would make some of the local orchestras green with envy just to hear the way they made their instruments talk.

Much credit is due to Mr. A. Safa, President of the Beliefield Jewish congregation, for his unstinted efforts to make the festival a success. Mr. Sam Rose was very ably as chairman and Mr. Diamond is to be thanked for his kindness in allowing his hall to be used for the occasion.

There was no one in the audience who was not in a joyful mood, and in the parlance of the local paper, the festival was a "wow" and that's that.—Contributed.

FOUR SHOT DEAD IN CHICAGO AREA ONE A CONSTABLE

Police Have Busy Week-end With Mystery in Every Quarter

Chicago, Dec. 14.— Killers wrote a heavy record on the police annals of Chicago and vicinity over the week end.

The mysterious slaying of a family of three near Batavia, Ill., Saturday night remained unsolved as guns and knives Sunday brought death to four in shooting and policemen.

With an abandoned automobile which was expected to yield finger prints most promising clue, authorities of neighboring counties were undecided whether the slaying of Harry Jeske, a bank clerk, his wife, Eva, and a six year old son, Ralph, was the work of robbers or a desperado seeking revenge.

Two former convicts, resting in a River Forest road house after an afternoon haul, shot it out within policemen who attempted to question them. Ed. Hannan, motor cycle officer was fatally wounded. As he fell, another policeman shot and killed one of the robbers who later was identified as James Johnstone, sought in connection with the robbery of a State bank of $18,773, October 24. His companion, wounded in the arm escaped through a cornfield. He was identified to the police as William J. White who received a discharge terrible from Joliet Penitentiary last April.

A feud between rival bootleggers was believed responsible for the slaying of Frank A. Lenz. His wife and he were fired at when he answered the door in Bellwood, Ill., a fight in a south side speakeasy resulted in the death of Ralph Hawkinson, and the serious injury of a companion.

GEORGE HARVEY WELL ANSWERED

British Are Reaccumulating Capital While Paying Their Way

ARE NOT DOWNCAST

Payments to America Without Squaring of Accounts By Debtors

London, Dec. 14.—George Harvey's recent statement that Great Britain is down and out is answered good-humoredly but straight from the shoulder by Joseph Garvin, editorial writer on the Sunday Observer, in a leading article of his paper entitled "Joad to Jonathan—The Premature Obituary."

"We do not greatly care what mere nations think," says Mr. Garvin. "We do care what America thinks."

IGNORES ASSETS

After reviewing Mr. Harvey's opinion that Great Britain is bankrupt, that is insolvent and staving under an insupportable load to lift itself by its own bootstraps, Mr. Garvin scores Mr. Harvey of arriving at his mournful conclusions by ignoring British material and moral assets, and writes:

"The real trouble is one that no human wisdom could foresee. Wherever demand exists there will be to pay America without being paid our selves. That is where we are hit. Equal sacrifice of wounds all round would have left us well on the right side. As it is, we are some £80,000,000 annually in the hole—a pretty sum for a country not one-fifth as rich as the United States."

"We still, indeed, enjoy the—but many of us expect Great Britain in due time to be greater than ever," he goes on, "By reason that there is an empire still capable of vast development in its tropical dependencies alone. Because we have large investments outside the island, and our rubber investments are only one instance of our wealth-restoring power. We are there beyond conjecture, that, so far from approaching bankruptcy, we are beginning to reaccumulate capital while paying our way."

A U. S. OF EUROPE

The church was burned last April. It was erected in 1792 by the United Empire Loyalists who settled in the Bay of Quinte district, and was regarded as the oldest Anglican edifice in Canada. The new building was erected in six months, contributions coming from all denominations in and near the city, the church might be appreciated. The new building is a replica of the old except that it has a tapered brick. The old bell was fixed and plaster.

No More Than Five Men Needed To Run Belleville Or Places of Similar Size

Belleville's new City Council-elect were told all about it to-day. Instead of hearing from them in a dozen short speeches the Rotary Club told it to them through the person of Dr. Horace Brittain head of the Municipal Research Bureau of Toronto. Dr. Brittain himself a Rotarian had been for a dozen years or more chief analyst of the Queen City's municipal doings; he has in addition made a study of municipal achievement throughout Ontario and generally speaking is in close contact with municipal affairs all over Canada and the United States. He knows also something of the problems of affairs in Old Country town councils having had to acquire this vast fund of knowledge in his search for ideas. He speaks; and the City Council of Toronto—sometimes—rushes to do his bidding.

Anyway to-day he told Belleville his opinion of municipal bodies of the Ontario pattern; and it is not very high.

He rather is on the side of the men themselves who get elected on most questions and has little but criticism for the general public but most particularly for that large proportion of it which fails to vote but which is long on criticism when anyone does something they consider a mistake, forgetting that the man concerned is trying to do his best and may have done good service previously; and may again.

He is all in favor of smaller councils and suggests five men for cities less than 25,000 population. Not more than nine for the biggest of cities he says. With more than that there is an appalling waste of time.

New aldermen for two months are dumb for they do not know what is going on. They are on holidays for two months in summer. They reassemble in September and generally do wel for a month. Then October comes along and with the election in sight they begin fighting of getting re-elected and that only.

The only experts Ontario cities and towns elect are experts in getting elected.

Dr. Brittain commenced by showing the close resemblance between city governments and private corporations, the difference being that the private board of directors appoint one man to manage the concern and make him responsible. The trouble with city councils often is that members interfere with the managers of departments and the trouble with the "stockholders" of the town is that a few of them are really interested in the welfare of the "concern."

NOT WELL INFORMED

The first thing all councils must have in order adequately to carry [illegible] information; and that is a thing they will find if they are new at the business that is hard to get. A City Clerk has found that generally speaking, the accounting in municipal affairs has not progressed beyond the routine cash statement without showing proper receipts and expenses.

Secondly there should be continuity of policy, he said, and it was here where he made the assertion that councils should be elected for three years. It has been said that an intelligent man could not be got rid of. That was a gospel of despair, he could not stand. Councils should be elected for over-lapping terms of years so as at least the majority of their middle terms could go ahead and do something without having to worry about their weekends. At the end of the year elected council smiled broadly at one another.

"The trouble with the one year term is that anybody, who starts something is sure to be criticised and may be pitched out at the next election. The man who does as little as possible makes no bad friends and he is often the one who gets to the top."

Thirdly there should be a rigid separation between the policy-forming and policy-carrying out bodies.

SMALL COUNCILS

Let the city engineer run his department. In one city Dr. Brittain knows of a baker was elected parks commissioner and said the speaker "as a parks commissioner he was an excellent baker."

He advocates for larger cities [illegible] in the council and for cities of less than twenty-five thousand people a council of not more than five men. Then would be money saved and a good deal less fuss. There wasn't enough money in being an alderman to attract any man he thought whose motive was not service to the community.

Under the present system however a man who offered himself for election in either a martyr or else must have a skin three or four inches deep. The latter skin is alright but it is not one of the essentials for an alderman.

The city councils of Ontario are as good as the people themselves are and they are as bad as the people are willing to put up with.

"There will be no permanent improvement until we get a finer conception of citizenship and citizenship," said Dr. Brittain. "The Scottish people alone know that it is a sin to waste money. Every time that a municipal council devotes money to some less than essential object they are wasting your money."

People who sit back and only criticize are playing into the hands of the Reds. Canadian traditions are the finest municipally in the world. There is no more shy affairs in this country should not lead all the world in efficient and honest and progressive administration of the public services.

VOTE OF THANKS

Mayor Elect Gordon on behalf of the Rotary Club moved a vote of thanks to the speaker and said he personally was delighted to hear from Dr. Brittain that three years. It has been said that an intelligent man could not be got rid of. That was a gospel of despair, he could not stand. Councils should be elected for over-lapping terms of years so as at least the majority of their middle terms could go ahead and do something without having to worry about their weekends. At the end of the year elected council smiled broadly at one another.

"The trouble with the one year term is that anybody, who starts something is sure to be criticised and may be pitched out at the next election. The man who does as little as possible makes no bad friends and he is often the one who gets to the top."

FIFTH AND SIXTH OF GANG CAUGHT POLICE DECLARE

Believe They Have Pair Who Broke Into Queen Mary School

124 JARS OF FRUIT

Lady Whose Cellar Had Been Robbed Hopes to Identify Property

City police arrested two more youths who are believed to be members of the gang which burglarized a dozen residences during the summer, taking a large quantity of almost every kind of goods. The youths are Joseph Lucier and John Gionetti, both aged 16. They were admitted to bail until Friday next when the other four members of the gang who are in custody will also appear.

The last pair arrested are charged with breaking and entering Queen Mary public school and stealing a number of silver trophies which were recovered by police last summer when they were raiding the old fair grounds. Other streets may follow in the clean-up.

In the house where the Mahon Brothers lived, officers found 124 large sealers of fruit. Twenty-four sealers were taken in the police station where a woman whose fruit cellar had been pilfered, believed she could identify her sealers. She believes that 24 of the number here are hers. There are no identification marks on the other sealers and while women whose cellars have been burglarized, have attempted identification, they have failed so far. Mahon boys say they preserved the fruit themselve. There is a quibility of honey in the lot.

Dr. Ryan, Superintendent of Rockwood Hospital at Kingston, will examine the youth who is being held as a member of the gang, and also for the two arrested Brown Brothers. McAnany street, butcher for his money during Old Home week last August.

Police did not recover any more stolen goods over the week-end.

TALK OF RECOUNT HEARD ON STREET NOT AT CITY HALL

Though rumor in the street today intimated that ex-Alderman Sam Treverton would order a recount in the municipal elections Assessment City Clerk Wilfred Holmes assured The Intelligencer this afternoon that he had not heard of it.

"I would be the first person to hear about it too," he explained.

Returning Officer A. W. Trowerton, at last announced as having been the twelfth candidate elected in the Aldermanic race with thirty-one candidates in the field, was counted out on a recheck and Alderman J.L.H. Gorman appointed him.

SAILOR, ASHORE, HAS ROUGH PASSAGE

After a heated argument about his ticket with the conductor on a train, Joe Watson of Toronto was fined $10 at Belleville and arrested by P. C. Evans He will spend Christmas day in jail here.

Watson's counsel this morning he was fined $15 and costs of $14 on a drunk charge, and as he had but $5 even money, he was required to spend twenty-one days as "the city's guest," for that was the alternative imposed by Magistrate Masson.

Watson, who came up from Montreal last week on the boat which laid up at Kingston, told of having two drinks of liquor at Kingston. Asked who gave it to him, he remarked that "they all had some." It was evidently a "generous interval". He then took the train for home.

Denied drinking rubbing alcohol and showed his cracked and calloused hand as other members acquiring the habit. Belleville. He was a fireman on the boat and his hands were sore from hard work.

Chief Edd stated that when under the influence, Watson was very abusive. Watson said he had temporarily lost his ticket—hence the argument.

Joseph Dolce and Dolsho Seguine, two young French Canadian "Knights of Hard Luck", were each sentenced to serve three days in the county jail on vagrancy charges. Poorly clad, dirty and footsore, the men appeared to welcome the rest and the scrubbing which they, of evidently a "generous interval". He then took the train for home.

Happily Wedded for 25 Years. Mr. and Mrs. I. Cole Celebrate With Silver Wedding Festivities

On the 11th of December, 1900, Bertha Cassidy and William Cole were united in matrimony, and at their home on Friday evening last, the happy bride and groom of twenty-five years ago celebrated their silver wedding. About fifty friends joined them in the celebration of the auspicious event.

The home was profusely decorated with great bouquets of chrysanthemums, the gift of the Quinte Friendship Chapter No. 227 and the dining room carried out a silver color scheme of silver and white in the handsome table decorations.

After a most enjoyable hour spent in congratulating the bride and groom, and in reminiscing, the guests were invited to the dining room, where a sumptuous repast was enjoyed, after which the Rev. H. Farnsworth proposed the health of the bride, wishing her and Mr. Cole every happiness and success in the future. Mrs. Cole replied very gracefully. Short and complimentary speeches were made by Messrs. Hutley, Thompson, Cole, Ketcheson, Smith, Lazenby, Fleet, Fisher, R. Walker, Priory and Cole.

A charming musical programme was given to which Mrs. Farnsworth contributed a musical reading, Master Earnest Smith a piano solo, and Miss Pearl Cole, youngest daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Cole, a piano solo. Mrs. Clapp, of Corbyville, and Mrs. H. Allen Thompson poured coffee.

HER BIRTH PLACE

Mrs. Cole was born in the home in which she now resides, and was brought up in Napanee. She was married in Belleville, Three children were born to the happy couple, Mrs. Walker, Miss Dale and Miss Pearl. Mr. Cole is an exelle officer at Corbyville.

The delightful feature of the entertainment was the unpacking of the many and beautiful gifts brought by the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Cole which included some of very great intrinsic value. Mrs. Cole very graciously thanked all for their generosity and thoughtfulness.

THE GUESTS

SACRED CONCERT BRINGS IN $160

Second in Trenton Brings Total to $300—Belleville Artists Help

Trenton, Dec. 14—The Sacred Concert which was held at St. Peter's Church Sunday night under the auspices of Rotary was a huge success which was made clear so by the Belleville people who entertained and the personality of Rev. W. McDonald who so not only lent his presence a nd sang a solo, but gave us excellent 10 minute speech during the evening.

The concert was held in the church with the directors of the activities seated just before the altar. There was a splendid attendance of about one thousand which filled the church to capacity.

Mr. Edward Simmons, President of the Rotary Club was in the chair.

Those from Belleville who offered their services were Miss Kate Bawden, Miss Dorothy Grant, organist at St. Michael's Church, Messrs. Edward Brown, Harold Barrett and Thomas Barrett, J. B. Bentley and Jack Thomas.

Mr. Fowler, Miss Grant and Mr. T. Barrett formed a trio which produced high class music.

The programme was rounded outby the performance of local artists who rendered their services for the benefit of the cause.

Professor Albert Hazel was at the organ during the evening. Mr. Theron Graydon gave a cornet solo.

About $160 was taken in at the collection which proved gratifying to those in charge of the proceedings. To-day it was said the total sum on hand would be completed to $300.00.

This sum will be used by Rotarians for their Christmas Cheer Fund for the poor of Trenton.

Rev. R. A. Cranston Decides Not To Accept Owen Sound And Will Stay in Trenton

Trenton, Dec. 14.—Rev. R. A. Cranston of St. Andrew's Church will remain in Trenton, and will not answer the recent call from Owen Sound. This answer to a question which has been before the ecclesiastical eye of the entire Presbytery for the last week was given to the Board of Managers of St. Andrew's Church at the last of the week and ratified upon this morning when The Intelligencer called to see Mr. Cranston.

"My attitude toward this call was this," said Rev. Mr. Cranston. "If the need in Owen Sound were greater than it is in Trenton I would accept the call. This was the mental attitude which I adopted when the matter came up for consideration.

"The situation as Owen Sound is unique," continued the pastor, "in that it contains the possibility of the largest congregation in Ontario. Owen Sound is the centre of a large community. For this reason the minister of the church there would be the bishop of the entire neighborhood, virtually."

This characterization of the situation was given to Rev. Mr. Cranston by one of the church officials who wrote him from Toronto advising the acceptance of the call.

The efforts of the eleven members of the Trenton delegation who went to Kingston to oppose the call from Owen Sound were shown when it is considered that most of the other influence brought to bear on the matter was for the acceptance of the call.

There were two men who came from Owen Sound to press for the acceptance of their call.

Dr. Gibson of Cook's Church, Toronto, was one of those who wrote Mr. Cranston in accept. Dr. Gibson outlined the challenging conditions which were a test of the mettle of any organizer.

"The appeal from Trenton was too great," continued Mr. Cranston. "The need here for my services is as great if not greater than it is at Owen Sound.

"After a consideration of all the conditions which must be considered as bearing for as well as against favorable action by me, I feel morally bound to abide by the recommendation of the Presbytery and remain in Trenton.

Rev. R. G. Stewart of St. Andrews Church called The Intelligencer this afternoon to express his "delight" at the action of Rev. Mr. Cranston. "We regard him as one of the kingpins of this Presbytery. He has been here seven years and really knows more about the conditions here than most of the rest of us. I am delighted."

"It must be borne in mind, too, that Rev. Mr. Cranston's action was one of conscience He would have received from $600 to $800 a year more in Owen Sound than in Trenton," continued Rev. Mr. Stewart.

There will be a reception at St. Andrew's Church, Trenton, shortly, in honor of Rev. Mr. Cranston.

TWIN BROTHERS IN TWP. COUNCIL

Wilbert R. and Rupert L. Aylesworth Elected At Kingston

Twin brothers will sit together at the Municipal Board of the Township of Kingston this year.

These men are Deputy Reeve-Elect Wilbert R. Aylesworth, who was elected by acclamation at the nomination last week after serving two years as Councilor, during which he headed the poll on both occasions, establishing a record in the township by winning out over his nearest competitor in one of the years by over two hundred votes, and his twin brother, Councillor-elect Rupert L. Aylesworth, who entered the municipal field this year for the first, and signalized his entry by succeeding his brother in leading the poll in the contest.

The twins are sons of the late John A. Aylesworth, who served as reeve of the same township in 1907 and 1908, winning that office in one of the years by the largest majority ever given a reeve in the township. Thus the sons are following in the footsteps of the father.

One other brother, Floyd Aylesworth, and one sister, Mrs. Norman Eastman, both of whom reside in the township, together with their mother, complete this interesting family.

Aylesworth Bros. are busily engaged in other affairs in addition to the interest they take in municipal affairs, and include a large dray, baling business which extends over all the county and into neighboring ones they have a large interest in a successful and growing silver fox farm near their home near Harpells Corners, and they also conduct a coal and wood business in the city: in addition they all have farms in the neighborhood on which they have been successful. Their business methods and their enterprise have won for them warm friends and their success both in their private interests and in their municipal experiences is evidence of the large share they have in the confidence of their neighbors.

Twin brothers, sitting in the same municipal council, one elected by acclamation and the other at the head of the poll, is a circumstance which makes the recent election in Kingston Township unique in the province.

HEAVY WEATHER ON UPPER LAKES HARD ON SAILORS

Waves Hit Steamer Belvoir So High That Crew Lost Belongings

Midland, Ont., Dec. 14.—Running into very heavy weather on Lake Huron, Steamer Belvoir, had a rough time and was five days en route on the trip from the head of the Lakes. On Thursday morning about eleven o'clock the vessel experienced the roughest weather of the trip, and heavy seas striking her forward, forced water through the hatch plugs, wrecking the crew's quarters, the men losing all their personal belongings.

Capt. Heffernan put back to Detour and four or five thousand bushels were taken off in order to put the vessel on an even keel. She arrived here yesterday and after discharging left at 11.45 p.m] for Collingwood dry dock. She is canal-size and a quantity of her cargo was damaged.

The Plight of France

Paris, Dec. 14.—France's financial plight daily grows worse and the public is beginning to show signs of something like panic which is being heightened by a series of sharp drops in the value of the Franc on the exchange market. The Coin now stands at a lower level than it ever has reached before, and every Frenchman who is in possession of any quantity of them is hastening to convert his money into something tangible such as houses, diamonds and even raw gold and platinum. Minister of Finance Loucheur's seven bills with which he hopes to beseige the financial situation, seemingly are disliked by everybody, irrespective of political creed.

"Let there be harmony in things essential—liberty in things not essential—Charity in all."

NOT WORKABLE

In the course of an Armistice day oration in the United States last month, General Harboard declared "for a decent personal liberty as to the milder forms of beverage, which would obviate the necessity of an income tax." He was possibly thinking of the province of Quebec, where governmental defiance shrank away in the extreme dampness and surprises took root and flowered There is no eighteenth amendment in Quebec, however, and there is one in the United States. There being no indication that the chance of overthrowing that amendment is any better this year than it has been in the past, what General Harboard advocates is lay violation, with government approval. His plan, it seems, is to permit "mild" beverages, but not so mild that they would not be able to carry the load of a substantial tax. It would have to be substantial to make it possible for the government to dispense with income tax. This latter tax, it should be pointed out, is paid by only a small part of the people, none of them poor. The beverage tax suggested by General Harbord would be contributed in the main, by those who are not now paying income tax, and little of it would be paid by those who are now contributing the bulk of the income tax. A man with an income of $50,000 pays 320 times as much income tax as the man with an income of $6,000. Would General Harbord expect this man to consume 320 times as much mild liquor? Hardly! The best explanation that can be advanced in the army officer's behalf is that he was letting a friendly regard for old John Barleycorn run away with logic. People have never been able to drink themselves out of debt. Quebec hasn't done it. What it did was to bootleg itself into affluence.

PAROLE SYSTEM

The general impression is that too much leniency is shown prisoners, and that the prevalence of crime is due in large measure to the mistaken sympathy which some people display towards law-breakers. There is without doubt, a tendency to give sentiment too free a hand, and much mischief results. The case of the paroled prisoner is, however, in an entirely different category. Like all other human institutions, the parole system is not perfect. Now and again one hears of lapses, and straightway the principle receives vigorous condemnation. Those lapses are, however, comparatively few, and, on the whole, the system works satisfactorily. The chief, parole officer for Ontario, Dr. A. E. Lavell, reports that during the last five years the number of prisoners let out on parole in this province amounted to 1,149, of whom only 49 broke faith. That is a pretty good showing, especially when it is mentioned that of these 49 only 17 escaped punishment, the other 32 being re-arrested and sentenced to a new term of imprisonment. Eighty per cent. of the prisoners paroled prove themselves worthy of the trust reposed in them.

Another aspect of the system which is of particular interest and importance in these times of financial stringency is the economies which it ensures. During the five years under review the cost to the province in connection with these paroled prisoners was only $4,000, as against $100,000, which would have been the cost if they had been kept in jail. Moreover, the paroled prisoners earned $200,000 in that period, which went to the support of their dependents, who would otherwise, in many instances, have become a charge on the public funds. Another matter referred to by Dr. Lavell was the indiscriminate way in which the prisoners were kept together in the jails. "Five per cent. of the prisoners in Ontario," he said, "are a rotten, desperate, nasty, dangerous lot," and these should be kept apart from less hardened offenders. The parole system given the latter a chance to resume contact with society and regain their self-respect. It is a merciful course and one which has the practical recommendation of being in the best interests of the community as well as of the delinquents affected.

WEMBLEY GUARANTORS

Much is being written about the losses of the Wembley exhibition. It is most unfortunate that, financially, the great British show did not fulfill all expectations, but it is probable that most if not all of the guarantors are quite reconciled to the situation, and are in no need of sympathy. Instead of being called upon for 25 per cent. of their underwritings, it is expected that they will be asked for 75 per cent. of the amount. The total deficit will be about $6,500,000. This unfavorable result has been brought about by the excessive cost of this year's display, which will rather $16,000,000 than the anticipated $9,000,000. It is natural, under the circumstances, to hear criticism of the management; but it is a mistake to suppose that there is any regret on the part of the British public that the exhibition has been held. It was a complete success, speaking imperially, and, even from the financial point of view, it is probable that the money spent will be more than returned, directly or indirectly, in increased trading. In a way, the exhibition may be regarded as a huge advertisement to the people at home and throughout the Empire, as well as Commonwealth. "It is altogether possible that in the long run British trade and British services of many sorts will feel permanent results of the Wembley exhibition in tangible ways which more than counterbalance the cost," says the Wall Street News, drawing a compar ison between the Great Britain fair and the Chicago exhibition in 1893, which had such "a tremendous effect in introducing the people of the east and west to one another and in the expansion of home markets."

Of the losses at Wembley, by far the largest guarantor is the British government itself, with £1,100,000. Lloyds, the underwriters, guaranteed £100,000 and a private firm as much as £150,000. Other were the two thousand guarantors, with amounts averaging about £400 apiece. Some of these have explained that they have more than recouped themselves as a result of the exhibition and those who have actually lost money are little likely to complain, seeing that the object they so generously supported has been successfully achieved.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The announcement the other day that a new firm is to locate in Trenton is good news for Belleville and the whole district. What helps one part of the county helps the remainder. The comment of Mr. J. O. Herity Secretary Manager of the Chamber of Commerce, when informed of the news to the effect that it showed at last that industries were coming east of Toronto—Central Ontario's development and possibilities were becoming known—it was the very best possible sign. Good luck to Trenton.

There are many obstacles in the way of disarmament, Viscount Cecil has discovered. Most of these obstacles are arms and ammunition.

Major league pitchers may be permitted to take part to make balls more difficult to hit, the big idea being to economize on baseball. The old like may then be revived to read: "Spare the ball and spoil the Babe."

Money may be secondary, as "Red" Grange, football wizard, declared the other night to his radio audience, but did you ever notice that folks who empathize that fact did not make the discovery until they made their pile?

The despatch which tells of the death of 61 coal miners, as a result of a gas explosion in Alabama, is an answer to those whose sympathies are all with the employers in the strike zone. The miners' demands may be excessive but the demands made upon them are also worthy of consideration.

THE TIPPING EVIL

Sarnia Canadian Observer:

The tipping evil is always with us. It is one of the petty annoyances of life at which legislation shrinks. Most people would heartily welcome some upheaval that would, forever, banish the obligation of handing out something to servants. There are some laws against tipping, but they are practically inoperative. Sleeping cars, hotels and restaurants are the strongholds of the institution. It does not appear that increased pay would eradicate the trouble, for human greed is still to be encountered. The objection is not against giving something extra for an extra service, but rather against the tendency to demand it where no service has been performed. It has become a species of respectable black mail. The individual of exceptionally strong character, who does not give a tip, soon is made to feel that he is getting on the outside of things. He is frequently insulted by disappointed menials and it is in this respect that employers of tip-demanding help are amiss. They are actively collaborating with their servants to force patrons to a humiliating hold-up.

FOOLISH BUT NOT UNUSUAL

Edmonton Journal:

A co-ed at Denver university, who was the object of admiration of two fellow-students, informed them that she would marry the one who made the most points for the football team in the next match. It is this kind of thing, says an American newspaper, which explains why the records of the divorce mill are so appalling. That she was foolish, of course, cannot be denied, but was she any more so than the mature citizens who are intent on having "Red" Grange run for congress because of his exploits on the gridiron? He is no more likely to be an efficient congressman because of these than the young man who accomplished most for his team would on that account be a better husband than his rival. The tendency among our neighbors to give preferment in one field to those who have excelled in a totally different one is nothing new. They never had a great military hero who was not urged to become a candidate for the presidency, and Henry Ford became a possibility for that office not because of any aptitude that he had shown for public affairs, but simple because of his mechanical and manufacturing genius.

A Heart's Triumph

By Effie Adelaide Rowlands.

She was fast tipping into one of these hazy moments, as she stood by the doorway, hearing her father's voice explaining enthusiastically to Paul Darnley his latest exploits and triumphs. She felt inexpressibly tired tonight, and hope was almost dead in her breast. The heat and noise from the workshop fatigued her, too. She looked back to where Mr. Darnley and her father stood together. They had ceased talking. She would go out into the silence of the night and wait for a while under her favorite trees. She paused as she was passing and spoke to the young working man near her.

"Your hand is better, tonight, Michael" she asked.

Michael Everest's face lighted up at the sound of her voice.

"There is hardly any pain now, Miss Cecil," he answered.

She moved on with dust and oil. His clothes were those of an ordinary workman, his face blackened by the smoke from the furnace in the engine-room, yet none of these things could take from the young man the fact that he was of unusually fine physique, and that the set of his head and shoulders deposed him to be by nature superior to his surroundings. He had always felt he was a man above his station. She gave him a smile as she passed on.

"Let me know if you want another letter written to your mother," she said kindly, "and I will send them the she went out, and vanished in the shadows of the dusk.

Michael Everest stood and looked after her with an expression in his eyes that beautified his face, despite the grime and grease of dirt. It was an expression that, could it have been translated into speech, would have laid bare the eloquent homage of a young, honest heart. That this heart beat fast beneath the blouse of the workingman's clothes apart from the beauty or value of that silent offering of deepest, strongest, most reverent love!

CHAPTER II.

A Strange Visitor

At least once a year the quiet old-fashioned county of Westshire was shown into a state of wild excitement, this excitement being produced by the military ball held in the town sheltered beneath the moss-covered battlements of the old castle. The brilliancy and success of this ball naturally depended on the status of the regiment quartered in the neighborhood, for the country people were always ready to offer hospitality to any number of smart guests, and to attend in large numbers themselves. As long as she could remember, Cecil Lackyne had heard rumors of this annual ball. Her father, of course, always received an invitation to it, and, of course, he always threw the invitation into the waste-basket unanswered.

Cecil, as she made her way through the trees toward the lower part of the grounds, suddenly remembered, as she went, that this beautiful September night was the night fixed for the ball given by the colonel and officers of the Fiftieth Lancers. From the distant road she could hear the occasional rumble of carriage wheels and the click of horses' hoofs on the hard road. The sound aroused her. She was yet enough of a child to enjoy sightseeing, and to Cecil the vision of women with fleecy shawls and silken array, even if she could only get faint glimpses of them as the carriages rolled past, constituted a kind of spectacle.

She hastened her footsteps a little and reached the high, gray stone wall which completely shut out the road. Here she had made her own cosy nook of vantage and with the ease of long habit she swung herself up to the wall, and, using a stout trunk of a close-growing tree till she was comfortably seated on the broad flat wall. It was here that she came night after night to gaze down the long country road and dream of the wonders of the world that lay at the end of it. Sheltered by the leaves and branches of the tree, no one could see her, even if any one had thought of looking upward, which no one did, for a more dull and uncommunicative wall than that which Sir Charles had had built round his property could not well be imagined.

Cecil gave a sigh of something like content when she found herself up in her old corner. She had had some happy moments here, all alone with her thoughts, and she was glad now to be roused from the mood that had fallen on her since Paul Darnley's arrival. She sat aside her questionings and vague longings as she sat and gazed down the road. From the left hand direction there came the sounds of music. She conjectured that it must be some military band that was playing in the town. A sprinkling of carriages rolled by followed by the girl's wistful beautiful eyes. She did not envy these people their gaiety, but the knowledge of how vastly different was their life from hers seemed to be pressed home to her as she watched them rolling by. There were other vehicles that passed, laborers' carts, and here and there a clumsy gig.

Cecil leaned her head on her arm, which was stretched along a sweeping branch. There were myriads of stars breaking the deep, wide heavens. She looked up at them, after a time, with the confidence of one who greets old friends, and she fell into a doze.

The guests had all reached their destination by now. The country folk were soon in bed. Even for that far-off music and the multitude of faint noises that belong to the stillness of a night in the open, all was quiet as the grave.

Suddenly Cecil started. A bell had rung loudly. She leaned forward and peered down the road to where some fifty yards below, was the lodge-keeper's cottage and the entrance to the White Abbey grounds. She could just discern a carriage standing before the gate, and Cecil's heart beat a little quickly at this discovery. Then she drew back again, with a faint laugh at her own folly.

"It is old Dr. Thorold, of course," she said to herself; "he is very late this evening. I hope father will be kind to him."

She had in her mind an old, retired physician, who was about the only creature in the neighborhood that Sir Charles admitted to the house. He was a friend of hers. He, too, was a scientific enthusiast, but he dreamed of greater, higher things than her father, and his mind was a storehouse of knowledge.

There was a kind of friendship between the girl and Doctor Thorold. She liked him, too, because she felt he had influence with her father and worked that influence for good as far as lay in his power.

Hearing the lodge-gates close, and the wheels of the carriage pass on, Cecil sat up in her leafy nook, and then she determined to go back to the house.

"Happily, Mr. Darnley is there," she said to herself. She knew that Sir Charles might flash into a rage with Doctor Thorold for coming so late and she knew that the old man was particularly sensitive.

"Possibly he has some wonderful new idea to give father," she said, with a smile to herself, as she pushed her way through the trees toward the more cultivated part of the grounds, "and in that case it will be all right."

A clock chiming in the distance told her it was half-past six.

"Nini will be wondering where I am," was her next thought. "Poor old Nini! She who ever achieve her wish, and see me dressed in the lovely white clothes she is always talking about! I am not hurt with these things, as she is; and yet, of course, she is right. They divide me farther than ever from other girls—they help to make the future difficult. If Mr. Darnley were only a woman," Cecil mused on wistfully, "I would speak out all that is troubling me, and perhaps I should be comforted; but as I am——"

She was crossing the broad lawn now. The house was a blaze of light. Evidently Sir Charles and his guests were indoors. Cecil could see the carriage standing before the door. In the workshop all was still for the night. The night few days.

BUSINESS MEN WIN SATURDAY'S VOLLEYBALL FIXTURE

At the Y Gymnasium on Saturday afternoon the business men and Albert College Volley Ball Teams played off a number of games, the former team winning all three. Business men played a steady game throughout and Albert College could not seem to get going properly at any time during the game. Although the combined work at times they lacked the necessary punch to put over the required kills at the net. On the other hand the combination of Albert College was working most effectively and a large percentage of their set-ups were perfect for necessitating the necessary kills. In this latter department the McKechnie-Silwell combination were working together most effectively.

CANADIENS LOSE TO ST. PATS 4-0

Toronto Team Scored Goals, Beating Lacroix on Rebound Shots

DEFENCE TOO STRONG

Play of Morenz, Joliat and Boucher Halted by Corbeau and McCaffrey

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 14.—Having a supriority over their opponents in practically every department, St. Patricks defeated Montreal Canadiens into undisputed possession of the cellar position in the National Hockey League, here Saturday night when they blanked the "Flying Frenchmen" by 4 goals to 0. Canadiens, without the services of their star on the net-minders, Vezina, absent from the game for all-time because of illness, and without the services of Sprague Cleghorn, clever defence player who was sold to Boston at the beginning of the season, lacked the brilliancy that they have displayed here on former occasions. Lacroix in goal made a number of stops that bordered on the sensational, but his weakness in clearing gave Corbeau the hunky St. Pats defence player an opening to score the initial goal of the evening. Adams and Corbeau, the locals two wily veterans were quick to take advantage of the Canadien goalies slowness in getting the puck away, and the two of them combined to get the rubber up to the defence where Adams drilled one at Lacroix, it struck the Canadien goalie's pads and bounced far out in front. Corbeau, the instant Adams shot, dirted through the Canadien defence and grabbed the rebound to put the locals up. From then on till the end of the period play was exception ally fast, with Morenz, Joliat and Boucher displaying some of their oldtime combination, clever stickhandling and speed, but they discovered the local defence was having one of its good nights, and all their dashing attacks were shattered on the locals stonewall guard.

MAROONS SPEED TO BEAT OTTAWA

Record Crowd Out to See Maroons Creep up with 5-2 Score

HOOLEY SMITH AWAY

Ottawa's Dashing Rushes Piled Upon Rock of Noble-Munroe

Montreal, Dec. 14.—Ottawa's winning succession in the National Hockey League has been halted at four straight games. Before a record crowd of 11,42 at the Forum Saturday night, a gathering which jammed the large rink to the very roof. Montreal defeated the leading Senators, 5 to 2, in a fast emiting battle, easily the best hockey struggle seen here this winter.

Dazzling hockey marked the first period, and the greater part of the second period, with the Maroons having an edge on the play, and quite a distinct margin as the game proceeded, and the visitors cracked under the strain. Montreal were better fortified with fresh substitutes to keep up the clip, while Ottawa had only three relief men, and were without the services of Hooley Smith, flashy right wing player, who came down with the 'flu, but who had to be sent to the hospital with an infected foot.

It was an exciting contest for the crowd, one replete in the first half with brilliant hockey and in the second half with plenty of action and a good smattering of hockey. As was expected then were many brilliant duels between opposing checks. The star performances were furnished by the opposing centres, Nels Stewart, for the Maroons, and Frank Nighbor, for Ottawa. Stewart shower all the cleverness which has made him an idol of the Montreal supporters and last night added to his smart hockey a greater degree of stability—the former Cleveland amateur attending strictly to the game, despite e loss watching, and the last. He showed, besides cunning, t working with smiling determination t willingness to follow the puck from cor to end and in this was back up by the entire forward line. The work of Broadbent, Siebert and Stewart in back-checking, bottled up the speedy Ottawa rushers and say that did become dangerous were steered on to that steady pair Noble and Munro. Noble, next to Stewart, was the outstanding performer on the Montreal team. Time and again he blocked the way when Ottawa threaten ed and it was this same player who started the Maroons to their first goa and rallied them again after Ottawa had broken in to the scoring and were waiting to cut down Montreal's margin.

COUNTRY CLUB HERE REPORTS A SURPLUS

The Bay of Quinte Country Club held their annual meeting of shareholders in the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Friday night. The Secretary reported that the Club had managed to pay operating expenses for the year and had a small surplus left over. Now that the links is open an increasing number of tourists are taking advantage of the course, and it was thought that next year the revenue from this source would run between one and two thousand dollars. The course was extremely well patronized during the year, and the stewards had all the work they could handle supplying meals and refreshments to members and their guests. It was bought advisable to leave the matter of appointing new board of directors and other officers until Spring, and a meeting will be called for this purpose early in March, in order to get ready for the new season. The grounds and greens are in first class shape, and arrangements may be made another year to rent some of the Bay shore land to members for camping purposes, if this should be done, such members could arrange for some of their meals at the Club House.

YULETIDE ENJOYMENT

Do you remember the Christmas of your youth? The hanging up of stockings on Christmas Eve, the scurry in the morning to see what Santa had left, the fun with the new toys, the dinner, the games afterwards, the happy, joyous family group and you, you thought, the happiest of them all.

This year have another old-time Christmas—go home. Surround yourself with the atmosphere of your youth. You will bring untold joy to the home folks and be happier yourself than if you spend Christmas any other way.

Decide now—that you will go. And see that you will travel in the utmost comfort, ask any Agent of the Canadian National Railways to make your reservations both ways.

"SCARLET SAINT," NEW FILM, IS HERE

"The Scarlet Saint," an adaptation of Gerald Beaumont's magazine story, "The Lady Who Played Fidele," is the First National attraction this week at the Griffin theatre. Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes have the featured roles with a supporting cast that includes Frank Morgan, Jed Prouty, Jack Raymond, Antrim Short, Lorna Duveen and George Neville. "The Scarlet Saint" was directed by George Archainbaud under the supervision of Earl Hudson, producer of the screen's sensation of the season, "The Lost World."

FILM ACTORS GLAD TO "MIX IT" AND DID

One fist fight that called for no rehearsing because both actors agreed to "let it go," has just been put on the screen.

During the filming of "Wild Horse Mesa," in which Jack Holt plays the leading role and George Magrill, one of the "heavy" parts, director George B. Seitz was confronted with the necessity of staging a desperate battle between these two players that called for a real knock-down and drag-out affair.

In this particular instance the director had nothing to worry about. Both players readily agreed not to hold their punches and to waive all defensive rules. Holt is a skilled boxer and loves to "mix it"; Magrill, during the World War, won the light heavyweight championship of the fleet.

When the time came for the fight, and was still going strong long after director Seitz had ordered "cut."

Noah Berry, Billie Dove and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. as the other players who are featured with Holt in the production at the Belle to-day.

AWARD MORE OF MOSUL TO BRITAIN, IS REPORT

Geneva, Dec. 15.—After an hour's secret session of the League of Nations Council today, a report was circulated that it had been unanimously decided to fix the provisional Brussels line as the definite frontier of Mosul, thus awarding the greater part of the disputed territory to the British mandate, State of Irak.

Bazaar at St. Michael's Academy Justifies Expectations of Those Who Toiled to Make it a Success

Justifying their expectations, and the work and time the one hundred and twenty-five members of the Children of Mary of St. Michael's Church had expended upon it, the bazaar held today in St. Michael's Academy was an enormous success and quite the most enjoyable entertainment the girls have as yet undertaken.

The assembly hall of the Academy was unbelievably attractive with the exquisitely decorated booths each carrying out a clever and novel color scheme and each held untold quantities of dainty offerings. At the fancy work booth where clever fingers had turned dainty fabrics into many useful and beautiful articles such as lingerie, bridge and buffet sets and all kinds of linen household necessities. Miss Stella Ford, president of the Children of Mary and Miss Priscilla Doran and Miss Nora Drain were kept busy throughout the afternoon and evening. The booth had a color scheme of pale blue and white.

ICES AND SWEETS.

Miss Alice Deacon and Miss Kate McLellan were in charge of the candy and ice cream booth with its pretty color scheme of yellow and blue and it was busy few hours keeping their attractive table restocked as eagerly were the dainty candies sought.

Suitable to its nature "The Mystery Booth" was done in black and white carried out in cubist decorations and this booth afforded much merriment to the patrons who bought a brightly wrapped parcel paying 25c or less at random. Miss Mary McLellan was in charge of this feature.

TOYS WERE SOUGHT

Miss Nell Connell and Miss Irene Bean had charge of the delightful toy booth which proved irresistable to the young and old and featured smartly dressed dolls, at uffed bunnies, automatic cats and a host of other articles dear to the heart of every little boy and girl and most interesting to the older people. The booth was very attractive with its blue and white color scheme.

THE TEA ROOM

The tea room which naturally was an attractive feature to all who attended was in charge of the Catholic Women's League of which Miss Anna Hurley is president, and with its dainty tables, with their bouquets of chrysanthymums was a busy spot throughout the three hours of the bazaar.

During the afternoon and evening an attractive musical programme was given and specially arranged games included in by old and young, making the bazaar an entertainment, all in all, a success that is remembered by all who were fortunate enough to have attended.

MANLEY MACDONALD'S PICTURES

An Appreciation

Very restful, very colorful and startling true to nature is the immediate impression one receives on visiting the interesting art exhibition of Mr. Manley McDonald at the Bithcie store this week.

Practically all the walls in the department in which the exhibition is held are covered with these art treasures, mostly done in oils, some in water colors and a few colored etchings which are indeed very charming.

All paintings are of Canadian scenes to which the artist has always devoted his talent and some were done in Belleville, these latter bringing to all who see them a realization of the beauties of the city they had probably never before had appreciated. The colors are absolutely true to life the scenes most delightful and the work done by a master hand.

Some of the pictures have elicited much admiration as famous exhibitions and are most beautiful reproductions, the "Horse Dealers" and "Noon tide" both very large canvases and the former much on the lines of Rosa Bonheur. The latter with its color effects much on the order of a Fielding. The artist's impressionistic work is very fine and some handsome mantel decorations are displayed to advantage.

Mr. McDonald himself is in charge of the exhibition and is most interesting to meet, having studied in the great art centres of Europe. He was a pupil of Beatty, of Toronto, a graduate of the Ontario College of Art, a student of Ernest Roberts. He has exhibited at the Gallery of Art in Ottawa sent several pictures to Wembley where they were very praised and one of his masterpieces exhibited at the latter place was sent to Belgium, a proof of the appreciation it received in the art centres of the Old World. The latter picture was of Belleville interiors.

The present exhibition represents a monetary value of many thousands of dollars, some being valued at one hundred and fifty dollars, others at prices ranging down to five dollars.

Of especial interest are the portraits done by the artist, he having achieved an enviable reputation in this department.

Mr. MacDonald obtained the Canadian Traveling Scholarship in 1918.

SNOW COVERS NORTH FRANCE

THE JOY OF GIFT GIVING

There is no custom connected with the Christmas season more sincere or deep-rooted than that of the giving of gifts, for it dates back to the very first Christmas, when the Wise Men journeyed many long weary hours across the desert, to deliver their gifts in person to a baby Kitzz, in Bethlehem Town. And, it is doubtful if there is any other custom that involves so much real joy and pleasure—it brings joy to both the giver and the receiver.

No matter how much work the selecting and purchasing, or the making of the gifts may entail, or how weary you may be at Christmas Eve, the very satisfaction you feel in knowing that none of your loved ones or friends have been forgotten, and that you have added your share to the gladness of the world at this greatest festival of the year, more than compensates for it all.

Those who are far away from home and unable to join the family circle for Christmas can picture the smile on Mother's face, as she unties the big express parcel and lifts out the various packages containing the gifts for Dad and Mother and the kids, but you can never guess the thrill of joy it brings to those back home to know that they have not been forgotten by that big boy or girl in the distant city.

Perhaps you are sending a turkey home to the family, or a box of luscious, red, Canadian apples to relatives across the seas, but what ever you send and no matter how far distant it is to go, the Canadian National Express will despatch it carefully, safely, and promptly, and with the least possible trouble to yourself. Parcels are called for at any address, leave the city on the first available passenger train, and are delivered promptly to their destination on arrival. All parcels arriving at their destination up until Christmas Eve are delivered the day of their arrival, and packages up to the value of $50.00 are insured, free of charge.

BATTLING SIKI IS FOUND SLAIN

Once Famous Senegalese Fighter Done in by "Hell's Kitchen"

POLICEMAN SAW HIM

Detectives Say Row in Night Club Ended in His Murder

New York, Dec. 15.—"Battling" Siki, Senegalese pugilist, whose real name was Louis Phal, was found murdered early today on the lower west side. Death had been caused by either a gunshot or knife-wound in the back. The body was found lying face downward on the sidewalk about 100 feet east of Ninth Avenue in the district known as "Hell's Kitchen," locally, and considered by policeman John J. Meehan, a friend of Siki's who found the body.

Detective Hughes said he and Meehan found Siki a short distance from where the body was found a little after midnight and that they had exchanged greetings. Four hours later Patrolman Meehan was walking through the street when he saw the body of a man lying on the side walk. He turned the body over and recognized Siki. It is the theory of the detectives working on the case that he went into one of the numerous night clubs near by and becoming involved in an argument that he was followed into the street and murdered.

FREQUENT BRAWLS

Battling Siki who first sprang into public notice when he won the world's lightheavyweight championship from Georges Carpentier in 1922 in Paris, has had many escapades which frequently resulted in brawls. Since his arrival in the United States, he has been injured several times in street fights and spent some time recently in the Presbyterian as the result of a knife wound.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH BATH, RESTORED CONSECRATED BY BISHOP BIDWELL

Impressive Services at Re-open ing of Edifice Burned Last April—Unique Accomplishment in the History of the Church—Inspiring Sermons by Bishop of Diocese

Bath, By Bath.—Sunday, Dec. 13, was a day of very special rejoicing for the rector and members of the parish of Bath. It will be recalled that the historic St. John's erected in 1793 was destroyed on April 4 by fire.

At a special vesty meeting on Easter Monday the congregation unanimously determined to endeavor to erect a new church, no time was wasted. On Wednesday, July 22, the corner stone was "well and truly laid" with full ecclesiastical and Masonic ritual. Immediately hereafter, Sunday, the faithful little band of workers set to the fulfilment of their hopes when they found themselves able not only to have the church 'opened' officially but much more, to have it consecrated.

The church, built on the original site, was consecrated by the Lieutenant Lay Reader, Mr. G. W. Cuppage.

While the present building and work has been consecrated, considerable yet remains to be done. The exterior is to be stuccoed in the autumn, to keep faith with many benefactors by making the church externally a replica of the old one.

merely as historic landmark, but stood as a silent witness for the presence of God in a world which easily forgets Him, and he trusted that this new and beautiful church would for many years to come stand witness for God's presence in the same way. He urged them to make frequent use of it, and to allow nothing to stand between them and their obligation to Almighty God to attend Divine Service regularly every week. The House of the Lord should be a real centre and inspiration of their community life. He congratulated Rector and people most heartily, on the work had accomplished and prayed that God's blessing might rest upon them all.

EVENING SERVICE

At the evening service the church was again filled to its utmost capacity several of the congregation having to stand throughout. A solemn Te Deum was sung at the commencement of the service. The first lesson was read by the Rev. H. Pringle, Rector of Adolphustown, and the second by the Licensed Lay Reader, Mr. G. W. Cuppage.

The present building and work has been consecrated, considerable yet remains to be done. The exterior is to be stuccoed in the autumn, to keep faith with many benefactors by making the church externally a replica of the old one.

KIWANIS KONCERT ATTRACTS CROWD

Proceeds of Evening to Be Used for Christmas Charity

Patrons of charity were at the City Hall Monday night, where they were entertained with the biggest fifty cents worth of a ye-filling and ear-satisfying "jazz and dance" in the experience in three parts for some time.

Aldermanelect Bob Gorman was Chairman of the evening, which meant that he didn't have a chair at all, but that he pranced around the stage and saw to it that everything went smoothly. And it did.

Eight manly Boy Scouts, under the tutelage of Pte. Fred Malott who had trained them, demonstrated that all the masculine beauty of figure is not to be found in R. V. D.'s. They were a gym suite heralded by two buglers and supported by a color guard who carried the Union Jack.

To the cadence regulated by a whistle these eight potential men of Belleville bended, made pyramids and otherwise displayed their agility and strength.

Mr. James Bunker was next with a solo which was encored. Mrs. Gordon Lloyd entertained with a reading which detailed the mental infelicities of a family cleaning of the Christmas and African decent in fact. Her reprodiction was appreciated and encored.

Mr. David Nicholson charmed with a solo on the pianoforte.

The dance that the High School girls offered in the name of charity was a plain demonstration that clothes make the woman if they don't make the man. For now who did not know the girls, it would have been difficult to tell whether their ages were 6 or 26. They were dressed in rompers, had their hair in lollipops and sweet smiles, and were one of the real hits of the evening. The bal lerinas of this number were in charge of Miss Lorine Sprague whose curly locks were set off with a flat pink piece of headgear.

Dr. Haffner, delighted with solos, appearing twice during the evening.

Mr. Stokie sang in her usual skilful style to the attentive audience.

Miss Dorothy Grant and Harold Burwell rendered solos of high quality.

The arrangements for the evening were Mrs. Grant and Mr. Leo Rigel.

The Bon Ton Orchestra furnished the music during the intermission, as well as between numbers.

MERIT LOCAL GRANT

Chief Supt. for Ontario Miss Seville Talks to Audience Here

"Good for Belleville" was the comment made by the deputy minister of health recently, when he learned the city had secured the services of Miss Stone as the Victorian nurse. This message was brought to the city last evening by Miss Seville, Chief Superintendent of the V.O.N. in Canada in an address to the Victorian Order committee and a number of interested citizens.

SPECIAL QUALIFICATIONS

The speaker who was introduced by Mr. J. B. Findlay, emphasized the fact that the Order appeals to any and every one who wishes to be of service. She dwelt upon the special training the Victorian nurse requires in as much as she must not only nurse her patients but instruct them how to carry on. Not only must she have special educational qualities but must possess adaptability. She must have many characteristics to meet the people, the patients and the committees.

HIS HISTORY

The start of the Victorian nurse in Belleville had been unusual. The Kiwanis Club were moved to get busy and put the idea on a firm footing, but it is not well for it to be in charge of one organization; it should be an immunity community prize, supervised by a committee representative of all types.

The Order is non-denominational. No one's religion is interfered with; on the contrary the patients religious convictions are strengthened if anything, and on no proselytized. Formerly all district work was charity. Under the V. O. N. people are encouraged to pay, according to their financial ability. Miss Seville who attended the International Congress of Nurses in Finland said that the tendency abroad is toward government.

THE WORK

In all Canada one in every sixteen babies born last year was tended by a Victorian Nurse and in Ontario one in every twelve. In Belleville during the last month, Miss Shore the local Victorian nurse paid 225 visits, during the year she and her predecessor paid 1433 visits. Because of the number of cases of tuberculosis which naturally exists in a municipality of a great burden of debt, the Order should indeed, Miss Seville emphasized, be given a generous local grant.

EASIER TO DO

In addition Miss Seville pointed out, to do a thing oneself than to teach some one else how, but it is in the duties of the nurse to show the mothers how to do the work of the order and explained the inner working of the Central Committee which is responsible for the class of nurse sent out and accepted for training for the work.

LUNCH TABLE CHAT

After Mrs. Boyes had moved a vote of thanks to the speaker for her address which was carried by the rising vote of the order so efficiently, the way people entered into a round table conference as to ways and means of assisting the local order. Miss Seville explained to Miss Tait, Supt. of the Gen. Hospital, the method of co-operation with the local hospital might become affiliated. It was suggested that a meeting Sunday might be held in the collegiate, for the Church to be devoted to the work of the Order.

CHRISTMAS CLOSINGS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Old Christmas Carols will be sung in all the Public Schools, under the direction of the supervisor of music, during the closing week of School as follows: King George, Tuesday 3 p.m.; Queen Mary, Wednesday 3 p.m.; Queen Victoria, Thursday 3 p.m.; and Central Academy, Friday 1.30 p.m. Those exercises will be very interesting to which all the members of the board, parents and citizens are cordially invited to attend at any of the schools

Youth's Good Conduct in Affair Wins Clemency From Authorities

William Nicholls, truck driver, for a local merchant, faced two charges in police court this morning. He was first charged with criminal negligence as a result of a crash which occurred on December 7th, when the truck he was driving damaged a buggy and injured Miss Edith Daymond who was riding in the buggy. He pleaded guilty, and sentence was suspended upon him for one year on his own bond of $200. On the second charge of operating a car as chauffeur for rain, accused also pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs of $7.

The youth had the commission of good words spoken for him by his erstwhile employer and the rector of the church in which he is a faithful member. The rector told the court of the boy having done everything required of a gentleman since the crash. He acted the part of a man after the accident and has visited the young woman daily since she was injured. The rector said a pathalooner raised the fine for the youth. Nicholls is a former Bamardo boy. C. A. Payne appeared for him.

Johnstone Class Dances Cleverly As Season Closes

Pupils of Professor and Mrs. Johnstone last evening gave a most excellent exhibition of their terpsichorean prowess at the closing of the fall sessions of the Academy. The large and interested number of the parents of the children who attended were delighted with the splendid showing made by the graceful deportment of the pupils and their clever interpretation of the different dances. All the various dances were demonstrated including the Hesitation quarter, the Tango foxtrot, the Charleston, the Boston waltz and the Castle walk, the Castle Brel, the Tarantoune dance, the Fairy dance, the Reel and two Irish dances, all in costume, were interesting and picturesque and the intricate steps exceedingly well done. A pretty feature which received much attention was the ballet dance by Kitty Johnstone and Doris Calcutt.

ARGYLLS ON INSPECTION DRILL EVERY EVENING

The Argyll Light Infantry will be inspected on Monday evening next when it is expected Brig.-Gen. Hill, C.M.G., D.S.O., will come up from Military Headquarters, Kingston for the occasion. The Regiment is drilling every night this week up to and including Thursday. Badminton games which ordinarily occupy the Armouries floor Tuesday and Thursday evenings have been called off for those evenings this week.

A touch of color and a whole lot of fun was added to the regular Kiwanis luncheon gathering last evening at the Queen's when some fifty or sixty members of the far sex—wives and friends of Kiwanis members—were entertained by the Club to supper previous to the Christmas Concert in the City Hall.

YOUR SHOPPING NUMBER

To-day The Intelligencer presents the first Shopping Number of the present season. It is complete and full of the most interesting announcements. The merchants of Belleville have co-operated with this paper in presenting to the public well ahead of the last Christmas days of rush a thoroughly complete list of things the people desire and need for their Christmas shopping. If, after perusing the pages of this issue the average person is still in need of suggestions for his or her Yuletide gifts then his or her ideas on the subject are not to be found within the bounds of Canadian and European and United States' manufactured articles for the best. From all these countries will be found in Belleville stores, where you can see them before purchasing, making obviously impossible any mail order goods are favored. Visit the stores advertising in this edition of The Intelligencer. The managements of them will welcome you.

You will be given every courtesy and you will be satisfied with what you buy for it is of the most satisfactory character or it would not be displayed.

And do not wait until the last minute.

Let someone else—if there has to be anyone—be late.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS

James S. Woodsworth, M.P. for Centre Winnipeg may be personally a fine fellow, and also a useful public representative, but it would be disastrous to Canada to permit him and men like him to dictate the policies of the Canadian government. For Mr. Woodsworth is a radical of an extreme type, who would be more at home in the Soviet council at Moscow than in a representative body like the Dominion parliament. He has made a statement to the effect that he and about a dozen other elected radicals are now in a position to dictate economic policies at Ottawa. Mr. Woodsworth repudiates tariff protection, and he proposes to abolish the banks and have the government do all the banking for the country.

He and his fellow radicals of the Progressive party expect that Mr. King, being determined to cling to office at any cost, will be willing to bargain for their support and to pay them their price; and they will be willing to sell their support if they get their price, their price being the adoption by the government of radical policies dear to their hearts.

It is hardly likely that these great expectations will be realized. Even if Mr. King were willing to bargain with the radical group and make large concessions to them, it is improbable that he would be able to carry at his Quebec followers with him—and he would need them all. There are among the Quebec Liberals as strong protectionists as there are among Ontario Conservatives, and practically all of them are men with conservative views on financial questions, banking included. Mr. Woodsworth's banking proposals would not be tolerated for a minute by them.

It is more probable that a number of Quebec Liberals, less bound than the majority by party ties, will be inclined to break the deadlock by offering their support to Mr. Meighen, enabling him to form a government which could command a small majority in the house.

BUY-IN-CANADA

A movement which should have important results was inaugurated in Toronto on Thursday, when a "Produced-in-Canada" committee was formed, for Ontario, with Colonel C. R. McCullough as chairman. Similar bodies have already been established in Quebec, the Maritime provinces and British Columbia and the Ontario organization helps to round out a most promising undertaking, the prairie provinces having signified their intention to form a joint committee. The object of the committee is to persuade Canadian consumers to buy goods of native production and manufacture and in pursuance of that object not only the general public, but business firms and the various associations throughout the province will be invited to lend their co-operation. There should be no difficulty in enlisting such support, for it is manifestly to the interests of all classes that the commercial and industrial situation of the country should be improved. One certain way of improving it is to increase Canadian patronage. If the dollars which find their way across the border for merchandise of foreign manufacture—which can be obtained on equally advantageous terms in this country, produced from Canadian material for the most part and fashioned by Canadian workers—are retained within the Dominion, it will make a material difference to the prosperity of all.

MAIL THEM EARLY

The appeal of the Postmaster General of Canada, to the people to give the postal workers a real Christmas this year by mailing their Christmas cards and parcels earlier, is one that should be heeded.

The congestion of Christmas mail during the last few days, which means a rush of extra work for the employees of the postal service, could easily be avoided, or at least materially reduced, if Mr. Murphy's advice were heeded.

Too many people hold their parcels back until the last possible moment planning to have them arrive at their destination on Christmas Eve, and the result is a pressure of mail that taxes the facilities of the postal service to the utmost.

Many of these parcels might as well be on their way now, thus as the Postmaster General expresses it, letting their Christmas spirit manifest itself in a practical way.

The gifts can be marked "Do not open until Christmas", if you desire but at all events mail them early as possible.

In this matter as in the case of Christmas shopping, a little thought and consideration for others would make this Christmas season much more enjoyable and less strenuous for many people who have learned to dread the Yuletide because of the pressure of work it means for them.

LET'S HAVE SAFE WALKS

Winter will soon be upon us. And it brings with it terrors of pedestrians. The maintenance of walks in safe and reasonable condition is a pressing need, not only in Kingston but in all Canadian towns, says the Kingston Whig. The civic laws are strict enough but the non-enforcement is the thing that irritates. It would be a wise procedure for the chief of police—to whom authority is given to enforce the law—to have the code examined, the salient points freshly printed and then enforced. Walks in the past have been permitted to be a danger and a menace, and the owners allowed to get away with non-performance of their duties as property owners and citizens. Early last week the walks were in a very unsafe condition and days passed before they were sanded and then only a few of the walks were so made safe to walk upon.

At Utica, N.Y., the same disregard of attention to walk is spoken of and the Observer insists that many people who would not deliberately set out to injure someone, or cause loss and damage to a neighbor, by permitting their walks to remain in a dangerous condition, become responsible for the harm, injury and loss to a neighbor or to some one who is passing along the street.

Then it goes on to say, as we have already mentioned that there is sufficient legislation to compel the occupants of premises or the owners or agents of vacant property to keep the sidewalks clear from snow and in safe condition. That there is so much carelessness and neglect is wholly due to inattention on the part of a police force. Officers will plough through snow banks, climb over ridges wade in slush to the tops of their overshoes and scramble over ice to their own peril, before they will give notice to guilty offenders and make reports to their superiors. The heads of departments are negligent in their failure to make it a requirement that the patrolmen clean up the walks in the territory which they are expected to cover.

NOTE AND COMMENT

In its attitude on the Mosul question, Turkey is proving to be a real gobbler.

Miswabe would not soon have been forgotten even if the town of Yarmouth had not named a street after him.

Teaching mathematics has no lure for Eamonn de Valera now that he has the boundary settlement to agitate against.

A Heart's Triumph

By Effie Adelaide Rowlands.

"How sweet it must be to have a mother!" she murmured passionately.

She moved rapidly over the grass, and reached the end of the lawn, just as she saw that the carriage waiting was not Doctor Thorold's brougham but a fly from the railway station.

Cecil's first questioning wonder returned to her. Except for the mechanical duties, there was no surprise in the life at White Abbey. She could not understand what visitor it could be who presented himself at her father's presence this late hour.

She hurried forward. The wide side door of the room next to the office was open, and there was the sound of a strange, shrill voice speaking.

Almost mechanically, Cecil turned and looked in. It seemed to her that she passed through a suddenly chilled air; she could not see her father at first, and when the blindness cleared away, she saw, staring straight at her, her father's face—also changed, as if, all that the reader heart of the girl suddenly contracted.

Dimly, but unmistakably, she saw the tall figure of a woman standing in the middle of the room. Dimly, also, she heard the woman's voice speaking in an excited way; but Roger pointing at her father, as if rebuking or accusing him. These things were as nothing to her, while her father's face stared at her with dumb, annihilated eyes. Her father—her strong, fierce, rough-spoken father—at these things had looked feeble way.

She went straight to him and clung to him with both her hands.

"Father, dear father, what is it? What has happened?"

She looked eagerly at Paul Darnley as she spoke; but Darnley, with a face as white as death, avoided her eyes. He was pouring out some brandy and was putting it to the sullen lips of the man in the chair.

"Father, father!" Cecil whispered.

A terrible fear was beginning to possess her—a feeling she could never have described.

She took the brandy from Darnley's hands and moistened the lips of the stricken man.

The woman had ceased speaking. She had resumed her cloak, as if about to depart, and glanced it tightly about her, while she stood watching the girl with an extraordinary expression on her face. Despairingly, wildly, Cecil clung to her father, and finally, still in a weak, but it seemed as though words would never pass Charles Lackyoke's lips again. He sat breathing stertorously, his eyes staring in that distorted fashion before him, as though his sight were magnetized by some horrible vision.

TRENTON TALKS CIVIC ELECTIONS

Warm Campaign Already Indicated—Mayor Fraser To Stand

Trenton, Dec. 15.—"I have been asked to run for Mayor and I'm going to do it if the demand becomes sufficiently pressing." This was the statement which Mr. Edwin James made to The Intelligencer this morning in response to the question of his intentions.

The campaign for Mayoralty in this town this month will be one of the warmest which has been seen here for some time. This is apparent to the attentive observer who talks little and listens much.

One has only to talk to those who are "in the know" to see that there are going to be at least two main camps in this race, with the possibility of three factions.

There are those who assert that it would be folly to displace the present Mayor who is alleged to have been so influential in bringing several industries to Trenton, when there is the possibility of luring additional capital here.

There have been objections against Mr. Howard Graham's age, or rather youth.

One of the most influential men in Hastings County said this morning that Mr. Graham would win hands down were he to project himself upon the political stage. Mr. Graham himself has been observed, in consulting himself on the matter.

Those closest to Mr. Fraser consider it asserted that he will be a candidate. There seems no doubt from any side as to Mr. Fraser's intentions, but his opponent is a question.

It has been suggested that the attitude of some of the possible opposing candidates has been about this, "I'm neutral. I don't care who beats Fraser."

If this sentiment is a true indication of the situation today, then interest which stirs Trenton is justified. The atmosphere this morning was strongly suggestive of General Election days.

Trenton Bowling

Trenton, Dec. 15.—Only one game was played at Tripp's Recreation Academy last night, that being between the Taxi and the Physicians. Although the "docs" started out well by winning the first game the "car drivers stepped on the "gas" and easily won the final two games, and the total score gave them the large margin of 221 pins. Dr. Reid led the boys for the single game with a score of 228. J. Lewis was high for the three strings with 545. The total score of 2619 is a very creditable one indeed, following are the players and their scores:

Taxi—Lewis 545; Ross 542; Potts 272; Stinson 414; Robinson 439; Ebersol 277. Total 2619.

In the prize competition which closes tonight at 4 o'clock, Mr. J. B. Lewis is still leading for the men with 567. Miss Shurie raised her own score and is now leading with 594, while Miss McAlpine is next with 472.

HIS PEOPLE GLAD TRENTON PASTOR STAYS WITH THEM

Reception in Honor of Rev. R. A. Cranston Of St. Andrew's Church

INSTAL NEW ORGAN

Fine Instrument Will Be Ready Fr Christmas Day Services

Trenton, Dec. 15.—That the new $5,000 organ w hich is being installed at St. Andrew's Church in Trenton will be ready for use on Christmas Day was the hopeful prediction expressed at the reception last night in honor of Rev. R. A. Cranston, the pastor who recently signified his intention of remaining at Trenton instead of answering the insistent call from Owen Sound.

Optimism and gratification were the keynotes of the evening which was carried along by two hundred pleased members of the congregation. This organ which will soon be in service will be a very fine one, judging from the reports concerning it.

It was manufactured at St. Hyacinthe, Quebec and is being installed by men from Cor Casavant company. It is planned that the first public use of the organ will be at the accomplished hands of Mr. T. J. Palmer, of Ottawa, whose fame as an organist is well known. Rev. R. G. Stewart will preach the day the organ is played.

Mr. James Shurie, one of the members of the committee which actively opposed the removal of Rev. Mr. Cranston, expressed the sentiment of most of the congregation when seen this morning. After expressing his personal satisfaction at the arrangements, he added, "We here feel indebted to the influence and aid of Rev. Mr. Stewart, of Belleville, in the late discussion. Rev. Mr. Stewart is a real man."

Mr. James Shurie, Clerk of the Church Session read the address last night and in concluding Mrs. Cranston was presented with a silver basket filled with bouquet of roses.

Rev. Mr. Stewart, of Belleville, was then called on and spoke in general for the Presbytery and on behalf of St. Andrew's Church Belleville. Refreshments were served after the address. After these were partaken of a musical program was then rendered. Colonel Bye, pastor ably filled the position of chairman.

Canadiens, Montreal and Ottawa Senators Left For Points South

OPENING AT NEW YORK

Canadiens to Have 250 Club Supporters at To-night's Tussle

Montreal, Dec. 15.—There was a general exodus of professional hockey players and supporters from Montreal last night when Montreal Maroons, Canadiens and the Ottawa Senators all left for international scenes the border. Twenty cars were required to transport the players and club followers on the journey and the United States Limited, some leaving from the C.P.R. stations and others from the Bonaventure station.

OTTAWA AT BOSTON

The Boston-leading Ottawa Senators were passing through on their way to Boston, where they will play the Bruins in a National Hockey League fixture tonight. Canadiens and the Bulls of the New York, some 250 strong, were bound for New York, where Canadiens hope to battle the New York Americans in the first professional hockey game in the new Madison Square Garden—a game which will mark New York's official entry into the league contests at home, a series which will be celebrated with great pomp and ceremony. The Montreal Maroons left a day earlier than necessary that they might witness the New York inauguration before proceeding to Pittsburgh, where they will play the Pirates tomorrow night.

battling for leading positions at the present. Canadiens are somewhat down on their luck just now and have found themselves for the time relegated to the cellar position. But their game tonight is attracting unparalleled attention chiefly from the point of view of a spectacle. The start of pro hockey as a regular form of entertainment in Gotham has been accompanied by a great hullyboo that, which is to be celebrated with great pomp and ceremony. The Montreal Maroons left a day earlier than necessary that they might witness the New York inauguration before proceeding to Pittsburgh, where they will play the Pirates tomorrow night.

NEW OFFSIDE RULE FOR O.H.A.; KICKING ALLOWED; ALSO BODYING

Toronto, Dec. 15.—The conference of O.H.A. referees should result in much benefit to the game, as referees have known the rules, but have given different interpretations. The result has been that a referee will go into a town one week and disallow a certain thing, and a few days later another official will come along and allow it.

BORDER, DEFENCE AREA

The outstanding feature of the changes in the rules this year is that the offside area for the defending team is forty feet from the end of the rink instead of twenty feet, as last season. In that area any player on the defending side can bodycheck but outside of that area no bodying is allowed. Forward passes made in that area must be completed in three also or they are illegal. Bodychecking is defined as using the hip or side of the body when standing still or skating slow. Coming fast at a man and using the body is of course charging and is against the rules. In that forty-foot area the defending side may kick the puck, which is an important point and one the fans should remember.

MUST BE ALL IN

Another thing that will interest the fans is that it was decided that a goal is scored when the puck has wholly passed over the black line between the goal posts. Some people had the idea that if the puck was fast, partly over the black line it was a goal.

The goalie, of course, can throw the puck anywhere behind the goal this season, which means even into the corner. However, he must not hold it for any length of time.

CROWDING ALLOWED

Body checking into the board, even in the 40-foot area, is not permitted, but "crowding" a man into the boards at any part is allowed, so long as that "crowding" doesn't get too near a body-check. In other words a man must be given an opportunity to check a puck-carrier on the boards, and often a player will skate alongside a man and get him in close to the boards so he cannot carry the puck. That is permitted, as laid before, so long as it does not develop into roughness of any description or checking.

PROPER FACILITIES

It was recognized at the meeting though, that while numerous innovations such as red lights, proper dressing rooms for the teams as well as the referees and proper accommodation for the players and timekeepers are all right in the bigger rinks, the smaller and older ones are not so up-to-date. However, the O.H.A. will instruct all clubs to do everything possible to provide the referee with a separate room in dress, and to see also that the timekeeper's and players' boxes at the sides of the rink are not so crowded that changing of players is interfered with.

And when the O.H.A. officials impressed most of all upon the referees was that they are in absolute control, and that in any decision they make the O.H.A. would back them to the limit.

MARDI GRÁS PICTURES IN CURRENT FILM SCENES

"The Scarlet Saint," a swiftly moving story of love and intrigue, set in New Orleans during Mardi Gras week, with its picturesque carnival and its famous ball, is the glorious stage for Clara Bow in Theatre.

Adapted from Gerald Beaumont's fine love story, "The Lucy Woo Played Fiddle," the picture deals with the dramatic romance of a young American girl who is forced to marry a much older man; a foreigner, to have the sweetheart from jail.

LATEST ZANE GREY FILM PLEASED BELLE AUDIENCE

An involuntary storm of applause punctuated the Belle atmosphere last night during the initial unfolding of "Wild Horse Mesa," Paramount's celluloid version of Zane Grey's latest novel.

That this spontaneous tribute to the merits of the photoplay was well deserved, is attested to by the fact that all over the country, wherever this spectacular production has been shown, it has been hailed as a unfathomable thriller of the first water.

Zane Grey at without a peer when it comes to devising dynamic plots that fabricate with red-blooded scenic, unique thrills and appealing romance, and in "Wild Horse Mesa," he is at his supreme best.

Jack Holt, who portrays the leading role, covers himself with dramatic glory and gives a superb exhibition of horsemanship skill. Noah Berry handles the "bad man" part with his usual finesse; Billie Dove, charming and lovely, furnishes the love interest; and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. wins new laurels with his characterization. To-night at Belle.

ALL ABOUT SELECTING PRESENTS

SEE THAT YOU ARE AMONG THOSE

WHO SEE 11TH-HOUR BOYS PERFORM

Life, they tell us, is the survival of the fittest.

Christmas presents, we know, are the survival of the fittings. All of which means that when you get the gloves from Aunt Dandyling you try them on and find they don't fit, and give them to your brother.

Christmas presents are, indeed, the survival of fittings.

And of fits, too. For who of us has not had fits trying to find something suitable for Cousin Cameron? The general rule to be followed when trying to decide the nature of the gift is first, to consider whether the prospective recipient is a man or a girl. In these days of shaved necks for girls and flowing locks for men, it is sometimes hard to decide that initial question. But if necessary, ask some one about it. That first step is then taken. After that it is a matter of considering the interests of the one concerned, so that you can get something suitable.

This doesn't mean that you should get Mother an ivory dish pan because she washes many dishes. The rule is not to be followed blindly. The question of what to get a man is often easy. "Does he smoke?" The chances are that he does—be cue is then to get him a box of cigars which have pretty bands. It is only later that you find that he uses cigarettes and saves the coupons—which latter is the most severe condemnation which may be applied to a man, except to say that he beats his wife or does something else equally heinous.

If the man is a radio fan, the usual run your pet is to get him an attachment which won't fit or which he has already.

The hardest subject on record was Old Bill Watts, who lived up in Labyrinth, Michigan, where it gets cold, but, like in Winnipeg, you can't feel it. This has nothing to do with the story, however, so we'll let it go with the frank statement that it gets cold.

At all events Bill was the hardest man in seven counties to suit when it came to a Christmas present. He didn't smoke, chew or drink. Neither did he ever shoot anyone that anyone ever heard of, so they couldn't get him a gun. He refused to own a car, so there were no accessories to be got for him. His dress was a casual affair, and the only thing that anyone could suggest in that quarter was a pair of policeman suspenders or a suit from a Chicago mail order house. But Bill never would wear suspenders, it was known because he was afraid the metal would touch him. The mail order suit was impossible because Bill was too ticklish to stand getting measured for the suit.

Radio was just new then, but he was scared of that anyway, for fear his wife would get in touch with him. She had left him about three years before, much to his relief.

So it was finally decided that Bill would have to go without a present that year (the year of the blue rayne) because he had no hobbies or inclinations on which a present might be hung. The problem was nearly solved by Deitife intervention shortly before the store closed on the night of the 24th, when Bill cashed in, as they got him a coffin.

Bill is gone now, so that every man, woman and child above the sod can be pleased with some present—because there was never another man like Bill.

Speaking of bills, calls to mind that they don't have to be very large after Christmas, either. While cash is a very handy thing to have around the house, at any time, and especially at the season of the Yule log, there is no need to mortgage the best silk shirt or borrow on the insurance in order to have a respectable layout for everyone else's Christmas.

The King and Queen, who could give such presents to all their little friends if anyone could, give cards, you notice. And they aren't shy about telling us about it. They have pictures of the cards in the papers each year. Their example is, as usual, a pretty good one to follow.

But, while King George is content to mail out a package of cards the average $18 a week lad thinks he has to give his "one and only" a wrist watch or a Van ity case.

Of course it isn't necessary to go to either extreme, but the idea is to give what you can without compromising yourself for the next three months. The average merchant would rather have your 10 dollars now than have to waste 15 cents worth of stamps and pay to dun for $25 that he waits half a year to collect. At least most of us would, so it's a cinch the merchant would, too.

While this may sound like a preachment, or something from Ebers, Hobbard, it isn't really, but it's rather something to bolster up the nerves of the shopper before he goes out to plunge into that maelstrom called "downtown".

If everyone shopped early, Christmas would be robbed of one of its real pleasures for the rest of us. Nothing can gladden the heart of the one who spent quite so much as to stand on the sidewalk the day before Christmas and watch the eleventh hour boys do their stuff. The result of all the delay in present from one angle, at least. There is one little bit that enters in people and the clerks are so tired that they won't tear down to the basement to tempt you to "look at something else". They know you have to get your presents anyway, that time is short, and that all they have to do is wrap. So if you want to select a bum present and spoil the clerk's Christmas by working him or her to death, just wait until the last day, and rally out with a list that looks like a royal proclamation, and begin.

A LEGEND OF CHRISTMAS NIGHT

'Tis said when day is over,
And midnight shadows fall,
On Christmas Eve the cattle
Kneel humbly in the stall;
They bow in loving homage
Before the manger low,
Because the Blessed Christ-Child
Was laid there long ago.

And when the hour of midnight
Chimes forth many a bell,
The glad notes ringing sweetly
Oer hill, and plain, and fell,
For one brief hour 'tis whispered
The beasts like men can speak,
That they may join in praising
The Babe and Mother meek.

The donkey, scorned ill-treated,
Though marked with Holy Sign,
Kneels down amid the darkness
To hail the Child Divine;
For he, like kine and horses,
Was in that cattle-stall,
The birthplace of the Savior—
The King and Lord of all!

The sheep upon the hillsides
Turn eastward, kneeling low,
In memory of the Angels
At Bethlehem long ago;
And shepherds by the sheep-fold
First heard the wondrous song—
The earliest Christmas carol,
Hymned by the heavenly throng.

ACCESSORIES FOR FIREPLACE HANDY

The Friend With Open Hearth Will Appreciate Gifts For Fireplace Use

This is the season when the open fire forms a welcome centre of family life, so what gifts could be more appropriate than accessories for the fireplace? You can spend little or much for gifts of this nature, according to the elasticity of your purse strings.

A modest beginning is the Cape Cod fire-lighter, the lazy man's delight. It consists of a brass Dutch mill for like a vessel for holding kerosene, and a lighter like a long-handled affair, beside which that is kept saturated with kerosene. When lighted and placed under the logs it will blaze long enough to ignite them without further kindling.

Long handled forks for roasting apples and chestnuts are expensive. Wood baskets have a quaint charm, and are really necessary equipment. Brass jamb hooks for attaching to the face of the fireplace would make a welcome gift.

Every fireplace would be delightful with a set of fire tools and holder. These usually consist of tongs, poker and shovel. The stands may consist of a shallow basin at the bottom and a half circular arms at the top from which the tools are hung. If you do give equipment of this nature, do not forget to consider first the style and architectural design of the fireplace. For a Colonial fireplace, for instance, select a set having Colonial handles. Wrought iron fittings are particularly appropriate for rough stone fireplaces, or for Colonial mantels with stone facings. Heavy brass tools are suitable for the bungalow type of fireplace.

A friend who already has a set of fittings would appreciate some of the extra tools to add to them, providing you note the style of the handles, and get those that will go with her outfit. One of these might be tongs for handling the big logs, made with claw-like ends, and called "clutches." Every housewife will like a hearth brush for sweeping the hearth clean.

Or you could give a spark guard. Some of these fire screens are in one piece, while others are made in several panels. Those that fold are easiest to dispose of when not in use but do not give as much protection as the large, one-piece screens that cover the whole mouth of the fireplace.

HOW TO SELECT AND PREPARE FOWL FOR THE HOLIDAY DINNERS

A Few Points to Remember When Choosing Duck, Goose or Turkey; Facts About Drawing and Cleaning

When you start bravely out to market to choose your holiday fowl it is well to refresh your memory on the points which indicate good condition of poultry.

These considerations are: The feet should be smooth and limber, legs thick and short. The cartilage at the end of the breast bone is pliable in the young bird, stiff in the old bird. A young bird has many pinfeathers; long hairs mean an old bird. The breast should be plump, yet firm when pinched between the fingers.

"An old bird (fowl, goose, duck pigeon) may be good, but must be cooked by some process (as steaming in a fireless cooker) that will make it tender. Always buy birds that were drawn (dressed) as soon as possible after killing.

THE CASE OF THE DUCK

The breast bone of a young duck should be soft and almost transparent; the under bill will break easily. The windpipe breaks if pressed between the fingers. It is essential to procure a young bird for roasting; an old bird requires processes which usually arer employed for holiday dinners.

AND THE GOOSE

Choose the goose with a yellow bill; a red bill is a sign of old age. The breast should be firm and thick; the feet soft, fat and pliable. A downy on the legs indicates a young bird. Geese live to be very old and can be unbelievably tough, so exercise especial care in selecting one for roasting. If you have an old goose it is better to boil instead of roasting it. Season the water with onion, garlic and red peppers and allow twenty-five minutes to the pound. Coarsely cut olives or mushrooms are good in goose gravy.

THE TURKEY'S QUALIFICATIONS

The turkey should be plump with a broad, full breast, and should have pliable, smooth, black legs with moderate spurs. The shorter the neck the better the bird. The hen turkey is better, being more tender. A bird weighing no more than ten or twelve pounds is best; an eight to ten-pound turkey is the ideal size if the bird is fat.

TO DRAW A BIRD

Remove the old bag. Make an opening near the vent—either a two-inch cut extending perpendicularly from the vent, or one at right angles to it and about one-half inch in front. Reach in with the thumb and forefinger, grasp the gizzard and pull steadily and firmly, removing all the viscera. Be careful not to use jerky movements, which might break some of the membranes.

Cut around the vent, removing it and the intestines in one piece. Remove lungs and kidneys. Cut the gullet from the liver and remove the arteries from the heart. Use extreme care in handling gall-bag so as not to break it and release the bitter fluid it contains.

STUFFING THE FOWL

Rub inside of bird well with salt before stuffing it. Place in a bowl just large enough to hold it. Begin stuffing at the neck, plumping out the breast, then fill in at the vent. Fill about three-fourths full, leaving some room for the dressing for the meat to swell. If the opening is small, it may be stopped up with a large piece of bread. It is usually sewed up or the edges firmly fastened together with strong toothpicks or skewers.

FINAL PREPARATIONS

Take care in removing string, after roasting, not to tear skin, especially over breast where it is tender.

The legs of a duck are shorter, and so the trussing must be done in a little different manner. After cutting in skewers wind string twice around legs of one leg, then around the other, so that the legs are one inch apart, bring legs close to back, tie string under body, bring around and tie around skewers.

Rub the fowl, chicken, pullets, turkey, pigeon—all over with salt and with pepper. For a five-pound fowl use one teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Rub with fat also, or lay three or four slices of bacon across the breast. Mix fat with flour if you like a crusty surface. Place in roast-ing pan with breast up. A double roaster is best—one with close-fitting cover. In this put about ½ cup of water and fasten cover in place. No basting is necessary, but about fifteen minutes before the bird is done turn it breast down so the juices will run into the breast. If an open baking pan is used baste every fifteen or twenty minutes with a mixture of hot water and fat—use three tablespoons fat to one cup water.

URGE PASTOR BE SET FREE

Hamilton Spiritualists Rally To Rescue Chief Now In Jail

Toronto, Dec. 15.—Charging that Toronto police fabricated evidence that led to charges being preferred against their pastor, and that these charges were not later pressed on the understanding that he would leave the country, a deputation of some 20 people, representing Eastern Hamilton Spiritualist Church, waited on Attorney General Nickle this morning. The deputation, which was represented by H. O. E. Braden as counsel, urged that charges of forgery, telling and fraud be relieved and that the pastor, Arthur H. Hildreth be permitted to return to Hamilton and resume his charge. Mr. Hildreth was arrested in Toronto by police.

"It would seem to me that it would be best for Mr. Hildreth to return and face charges" stated the Attorney General. "I have no power to bring the man back, any more than I have power of banishment."

ENTER LOVE, GOOD FELLOWSHIP IN PACKING CHRISTMAS BASKETS

Clubwoman Tells of the System They Follow and the Class Of Gifts They Make; For Families and Others; Spirit Of Giving Counts

"Charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up," At Christmas one's thoughts turn toward giving and that generously,—not only to our dear ones but to those especially in need, those to whom otherwise would mean a sad—a time when Santa had apparently forgotten them.

Charity has such an unpleasant sound. It is translated into love and good fellowship it will work out the greatest happiness to all. One woman who for three years had charge of the Christmas Baskets given by a women's club said she had always regarded this work as a very great privilege.

"We fix up our baskets as if we were giving them to our friends," she said. "First we find families who are worthy and to whom baskets will be acceptable. There are always the "poor poor" who would only feel hurt if offered gifts. Then if we know the age of the children in the family we supply stockings and mittens of the right size.

"A call for donations from the club members gives us varied supplies. Home-made preserves or canned goods we always receive. Then each year we have a chicken. Here is fruit, candy and dates, or some special Christmas dainty. We try to see that each child received a little gift."

MAKE BASKETS ATTRACTIVE

"As to packing the baskets," she continued, "we make a special effort to make them look attractive. The baskets are decorated with colored paper the gifts are all wrapped with tissue paper and tied with ribbons. In other words, just as we would send to our dearest friends. Each basket has its Christmas card with a merry rhyme. Our grocer kindly loaned their truck and delivered the baskets for us this last year.

"Besides the work the club does for the individuals we try to help the settlement house in which we are interested. For them we send out a call to our club members for soap, and all sizes of stockings. These two articles seem to be the most needed. As to clothing our effort has been to supply that, both before and after Christmas. If we know of some special need, we ask our members for the size and kind of garment, and it is always forthcoming."

Another branch of this club's Christmas fellowship work is handled by a committee to work among the ex-soldiers in a near-by hospital. Different organizations take up the various needs, so as to not conflict with each other. One group gives handkerchiefs, to each one of the soldiers, another group gives socks, and so on. This particular club gave each boy a Christmas box, besides decorating trees to fit different wards in the hospitals.

In order that the boxes might be nearly uniform, club members were asked to buy their gifts with the box, to amount to a dollar. Cigarettes, stamps, stationary, toilet soap shaving soap, tooth paste, toilet water, decks of cards, were suggested as possible gifts.

At the meeting in which the gifts most acceptable were discussed, there was some amusement felt over the toilet water. But it was explained that the soldiers did really regard it as a luxury and were very fond of it—and at Christmas they surely ought to receive the things they like.

SEND LITTLE NOTES

It was further suggested that a little note accompany each box, so that the recipient would feel it more of a personal present and so that if he wished, he might write and thank the giver. Not that the giver wants to be thanked—but the boy's self-respect has been considered. An incident is called to mind of the club's work. One Sunday afternoon a young couple invited a stray sailor lad from a near-by training station to their home for the afternoon. He seemed so appreciative of the effort to entertain him that he could hardly wait until he might "return the favor." He invited them to visit his training station, and later when the young folks were able to accept the invitation he took great pleasure in showing them around and explaining all he could. They in turn

GAYETY & COLOR SCHEME KEYNOTE OF CHEERY CHRISTMAS DECORATION

Departure From Old, Traditional Ornamentation, to a New and Attractive Plan Suggested; Colors Will Express Proper Spirit for Various Rooms of Happy Homes

One grows tired of the rameness of Christmas decorations. Holly wreaths tied with red ashes grow to be a sacred tradition from which we dare not depart. Of course there's a special Christmas flavor to holly wreaths, just as there is to the fragrance of pine branches. For older folks, vague memories of childhood joys are awakened by the associations of scents and the Christmas festival is ushered in by old happiness.

Wouldn't it be a pleasant change to decorate an entire room in one color scheme and the next room in a different scheme, keeping in mind the old favorites red and green and white and adding silver as a fourth, to the possible combinations?

A red and white living room will be friendly and gay. An old white mantle will make a wonderful centre piece, as the hearth is ever the center of the home. White cotton snow covering the mantle shelf with a pair of great tall thin red candles flanking both sides of a miniature tree in the middle setting. The green of the tree would be subordinate, making red the principal part of the story. Red and white decorations hanging from chandeliers or wall brackets, and p laced over picture frames will add to the effect. Beaded fringes, made of cranberries and popcorn will add wonderfully to one of the big white globes usually in the centre of the room.

Green and white will be cool and quiet for the library, or for the dining room. In the latter one might want a special note of emphasis in four tall red candles on the table. In the library the soft green of bayberry candles will seem fitting.

Tinsel can be combined effectively with either red or green. The use of long lines of tinsel or of tinsel ornaments will give an unusual touch to your decorations. You know it d oesn't have to be used exclusively for the Christmas tree.

Tinsel can be used for tying Christmas gifts, combined with red or green ribbon, or tied into the bow knot on the packages. Brilliant colors for tying make attractive all sorts of gifts and the combination can be chosen from colors that clash slightly. Bright blue and green tied together will attract attention as will two shades of red—like cherry and crimson for instance. Little flat paper flowers of gay colors can be cut out by the children and with a little paste can be used as seals. There will be effective on a background of white tissue paper.

Table decorations give one abundant opportunity for the use of imagination. A large center bell containing tiny wrapped gifts each with a ribbon attached is not an entirely new idea but it can be decorated in a new way by having each string lead to a place card, on which reside a gum drop man with clove eyes.

Gum drops can be used in so many ways for decorations. Christmas trees eight inches high, can be constructed of them. Four of these set on the table with fat gum drop men on skein bent and legs will make a quaint and unusual treatment.

In all our decorations either for the home, our gifts or our table, joyous gaiety is the key-note for Christmas. With the proper spirit and even the familiar round objects of our everyday living can be suddenly transformed from the humdrum to the romantic, from dullness to sparkling adding zest and buoyancy not only to our friends and relatives but to ourselves making the close of the old year and the entrance of the new a happiness to be long cherished.

ORIGIN OF CHRISTMAS TREE BURIED IN THE SANDS OF TIME

Idea is Thought to Have Originated in China as Far Back as 247 B.C.; English People Caught Idea From the Germans

Though the "festive evergreens" are so ancient that their history is buried under the sands of time, the institution of the Christmas tree is comparatively recent. It was the Germans who introduced the tree into England, where its transference is attributed to Prince Albert, who retained his German tastes and gratified them at court.

In France the Christmas tree was quite unknown until some years ago but is has been introduced with other customs by way of England. Italy has its Christmas tree, but it becomes scarcely recognizable. In Florence, for instance, it appears as a kind of basket made of straw.

FROM CHINA

Originally the Christmas tree is thought to have come from the land of "the heathen Chinee." In the records of the Tain dynasty, which ended 247 B.C., and from the name of which our word China is derived, English-speaking countries is comparatively recent. It was the Germans who introduced the tree into England, where its transference is attributed to Prince Albert, who retained his German tastes and gratified them at court.

FROM CHINA

Originally the Christmas tree is thought to have come from the land of "the heathen Chinee." In the records of the Tain dynasty, which ended 247 B.C., and from the name of which our word China is derived, interested drivers have discovered that a tree of a hundred lamps and flowers was placed at the entrance to the audience hall. The celebrated Princess Yang, the all-powerful favorite of the Emperor Ming Huang A.D. 713-755, caused a "hundred lamp tree" 89 feet high to be erected upon a high mountain. It was lighted upon New Year's night, and its light was seen for hundreds of miles, eclipsing the light of the moon. At the present time, the Christmas tree is no longer lighted in China, being replaced with enormous quantities of lanterns which are lighted everywhere.

JAPANESE CUSTOMS

In many countries New Year's Day supersedes Christmas in importance. Thus, in Japan, at the season, two evergreen trees are placed without the house, just opposite the door. These are tied together at the top with a straw rope, and various symbolic objects, such as lobsters and oranges, are fastened to their branches.

Among the Chinese in America, an equivalent to a Christmas tree is erected everywhere at the New Year season. A special altar is built

IN EVERY SMALL TOWN

The snow is gently falling, an elderly man in a big coon coat is striding up and down the Canadian National Station platform, an expectant smile on his kindly face. Behind the station awaits the horse and cutter to convey a loved one from the city to the warm embrace of a sweet faced mother. There's holly and mistletoe and a great big turkey and plum pudding—they haven't forgotten a thing to celebrate this joyful homecoming at Xmas.

Don't you disappoint the home folks this Xmas. Write them today. Tell them you'll be on the Canadian National train. Being them joy. Enjoy yourself. Any Canadian National agent will help you arrange the trip.

with curious bunches of artificial flowers and paper toys placed in vases on either side. These objects called "Golden Flowers" are the tree. There is a patron saint of the occasion, too, an old man with a very long egg-shaped head, known as the Starry Aer ef-Longevity. He is represented by holding a peach, the emblem of long life, and little boys swarm around him, for he is the Chinese Santa Claus.

EGGLESS FRUIT CAKE SHOULD BE PART OF CHRISTMAS BOX

There is no more appropriate or appreciated prezzident Christmas gift for these busy folk than a well-filled box of cake, candies and candies.

A holly box packed with a square fruit cake, some Christmas cookies and the rest of the space filled with good home made candy will delight the hearts of all.

Since eggs are so high in price, why not make an eggless fruit cake.

After baking and cooling the cake, wrap it in a towel saturated with grape juice. Store in a tight tin or earthen jar. Watch closely and as the cake absorbs the moisture, redampen the towel.

Keep the cake in a cold place. Bake at least four weeks before wanted for use.

Eggless Fruit Cake

One pound fat salt pork, 2 cups boiling water, 1 cups brown sugar, 1 cup molasses, 1 tablespoon each cloves and nutmeg, 2 tablespoons cinnamon, 1 pound raisins, 1 pound currants, 1-2 pound citron, 1-2 pound candied cherries, 2 cups nut meats, 4 tablespoons baking soda, 1-2 cup sour soda, 8 cups flour, 1 tablespoon vanilla.

Remove rind and any bits of lean meat from salt pork. Chop very fine and pour over boiling water. Mix well and let stand until lukewarm. Strain raisins. Clean and dry currants. Shred citron. Combine fruit with candied cherries and mix with one cup flour. Mix spice and mix with one cup flour. Mix and sift remaining flour with baking powder and soda. Add sugar, molasses and spices to softened fats. Mix well and add prepared fruit. Mix thoroughly and add coffee and vanilla. Add flour and nuts and mix well. Be sure the flour is completely blended with the other ingredients. Turn into a large pan lined with buttered paper and bake in a slow oven for two and one-half hours.

Egg Fruit Cake

Perhaps this is the "fine" Christmas and nothing short of the most extravagant fruit can quite express the festivity of the event.

No matter if you are an inexperienced cake maker you can bake one of these fruit cakes. The utmost care however is needful during baking. A cool oven is imperative.

Keep the temperature even. A quick flash of heat may spoil the cake if you are not sure that you can regulate the oven properly, steam the cake for three hours. Then put in a moderate oven to bake.

The Recipe

Two cups butter, 2 2-3 cups light brown sugar, 9 large eggs, 4 cups pastry flour, 1-2 cup molasses, 1-2 cup strong cold coffee, 1 cup currant jelly, 2 pounds raisins, 2 pounds currants, 2 pounds dates, 1 pound citron, 1-2 pound candied cherries, 1-2 pound candied orange peel, 1-4 pound candied lemon peel, 2 1-2 cups blanched and shredded almonds, 2 tablespoons cinnamon, 1 nutmeg, 1 1-2 teaspoons soda, 1 tablespoon vanilla.

Cream butter and sugar beat in eggs, beat one add a clover beet er. Sift one-half cup flour into butter and sugar. Add eggs well beaten. Before beginning to mix the cake, seed and chop the raisins, clean and dry the currants, slice and shred citron, stone and chop dates, cut cherries in to small pieces and shred the lemon and orange peels. Mix the prepared fruits with one extra cup of flour. Add jelly to the first mixture. Mix thoroughly and add flour and coffee alternately. Add prepared fruits, nuts, spices and vanilla. Dissolve soda in molasses and add the last thing. Mix the cake thoroughly after the addition of each ingredient. If the batter is not well mixed, one-half teaspoon of salt should be added to the cake. Turn into well-oiled and floured deep cake pans, cover with buttered paper and steam three hours. Bake one and one-half hours in a slow oven.

This rule makes three good-sized loaves.

BUILDING MENU FOR CHRISTMAS IS REAL TASK

Expert Tells How to "Lay Out" Dinner For Holiday

(By Florence Lazanke)

My first paragraph is a request. If you are interested in the thing I am writing about today please clip the paper now. Do not wait for a week or two, hunt around for the paper and then discover that you have lost it.

ABOUT A CHRISTMAS DINNER

I am writing early because I have discovered that a person who is not used to cooking likes to set her mind in order before she starts to work. If I wrote this on the two days preceding Christmas it would not allow sufficient time for her to make preparations.

One of the compensations which comes as one grows old in the ways of housekeeping is this—a person acquires her mind and her muscles more easily. Habit makes it possible for her to accomplish in a shorter space of time the things which used to take hours on end as well as much mental strain.

This dinner which I am going to describe was served to my family on Thanksgiving Day. We had Christmas Day on Thanksgiving at our home. I decided that I would get a real Christmas dinner ahead of time so that I could analyze the job and tell you just how to go about the task most expeditiously. After a thing is over you know one always discovers to be better way to have done it.

BUILDING THE MENU

There were only four of us at the table, but the food was prepared in ample quantities for eight. I had to take our six family likes and dislikes and build the dinner around them. For instance, a holiday dinner is no dinner to one of the guests if candied sweet potatoes is not included in the menu. Another person must have soup or the dinner is a total loss as far as he is concerned. I had had a request from one of the guests regarding the orange, not the green, cabbage squash. So I put some on the menu to please her. I had a new piece of equipment which mashes potatoes and I wanted to show it off to my guests, consequently I put in mashed potatoes. No one knows better than I, or you for that matter, that sweet potatoes, squash, and mashed potatoes do not belong on the same menu. But for reasons aforesaid, we had them all. We served ice cream it worked out better than 5 o'clock because one guest considers a dinner would have done. PURCHASING PLANS

I purchased the soup in cans, purchased the plum pudding and the small cakes, the mints. With these exceptions the dinner was prepared in the home kitchen.

First came the planning of the menu and then the preparing of the market list. When I have a large affair before me I always list every single article which will be needed in the preparation of each and every dish. This includes such things as salt and pepper and cream, sugar, pepper and condiments of all sorts. I do this with a book book in front of me so that I will not forget any items. After I have these listed I rearrange them, putting in one list the things which come from the butcher, in another list are the supplies from the market and so on. I list them for which I can telephone and those which I want to select in person. Armed with these lists I sally forth, market basket in my arm.

Next I check up on linen, silver, and on towels and napkins. I decide on the center piece, and any table decorations I may plan to use. Next I check my list. When I have it in full and plan it up in my kitchen.

Now I have a little session with my mind. It is perfectly amazing how useful the mind will be if only we utilize it. I decide the order in which I will start the work in front of me. Now that I am experienced I do not take the time to write the successive steps on paper, but if I were a new comer at the game I would list the whole thing in precise array.

Star Canapes

Knock Turtle Soup Crackers
Roast Goose Dressing Gravy
Mashed Potatoes
Candied Sweet Potatoes, Baked Squash
Buttered Onions Crisp Celery
Cranberry Rings
Maple Mousse Small Cakes
Plum Pudding Lemon Sauce
Coffee Mints Nuts and Raisins

It took five hours all told to prepare the dinner and set the dining-room table. That includes one hour's work the night before and four hours' work in the morning of the dinner. We served at 2 o'clock. That is not the most desirable hour for a holiday dinner but in this particular business

CHRISTMAS FARM LORE

By MAUD E. SARGENT
In The Animal World

Most of the old-fashioned customs and beliefs with regard to domestic animals and birds at Christmastide are fast dying out, but in a few parts of England the ancient belief lingers that bees and cattle kneel in their stalls at midnight on Christmas Eve; or, as some say on the Eve of the Epiphany, and adore the newborn Saviour.

In Northamptonshire, Warwickshire and other Midland counties, there was a legend that cattle turned towards the East, and always went in procession on the hills, while in the West of England it was supposed that the cattle, when they knelt in their stalls to worship the Christ Child, received the gift of a speech, and foretold all the events that were to happen in the parish during the next twelve months. It was said in some districts that if you knelt and wished at the same moment that this happened, you would gain your heart's desire. A belief which also prevailed in Ireland, where the bees, the cow, and the donkey were considered "blessed beasts" because they were supposed to have been in the stable at Bethlehem on the first Christmas Night, and people wished to see them kneel in adoration.

In other parts of the country, and in the Channel Islands, Brittany, Switzerland, and some places in Central and Eastern Europe it was thought to be wise to avoid the stable and cowhouse after dark on Christmas Eve, lest, when the animals obtained the gift of human speech, one should hear them mention one's own name among the list of those doomed to die during the year.

The custom of giving an extra feed to the domestic animals and fowls at Christmas is by no means extinct even now, in many parts of the country. In Scotland the treat was given instead at New Year, as we read in Burns' "Auld Farmer's Address to his Mare"—

"A guid New Yerr I wish thee, Maggie!
Here's a ripp to thy auld baggie!"

A "ripp," or "repe," was an old name for a handful of corn; in this case, no doubt, it meant oats. Many old-fashioned farmers took a special supply of food to each animal in stable and cow-house at Christmas, and the sheep and pigs, too, had their holiday fare. In Ireland a similar custom prevailed, and the calves, in particular were given a special drink of sweet milk as a Christmas treat. Good folks in olden days declared that beasts and birds should all share in the Christmas fare and rejoicings.

In Gloucestershire and other counties where the quaint old custom of "Wassailing" prevailed up to a few years ago, each house and cow on the farm was mentioned by name in the curious "Wassailers' Song," which was chanted by the bearers of "the Wassail-Bowl."

The dogs and cats had no lack of good things during the "Twelve Days" of Christmas, and, judging from ancient songs and stories, they were able to help themselves to unusual dainties just as they desired.

"And dogs thence with whole shoulders run,
So all things then abounden."

In Sweden, where the domestic animals and fowls also had extra fare for Yuletide, great victory was attached to the "Yulestraw," which was strewn on the floor at this season. Some of it was carefully kept, and given to the cows before they were driven to their summer pastures. If was also put in the nests of hens and geese, when it was supposed to preserve them from witchcraft, cause them to fatten, and insure a plentiful supply of eggs and young birds in the coming year.

Part of the Swedish Christmas cake, known as "Yule-hogs," and often made in the form of a pig, and baked on Christmas Eve, used also to be dealt out to the fowls and domestic animals, either at Christmas, or mixed with corn on other days. It was given to the horses before the spring plowing began.

In Scandinavia, too, when the old Christmas ceremony of "wishing" was kept up, the head of the house used to go to the hearth and strike the Yule-log with a fire shovel, and as the sparks blew out, he breathed a good wish for his home, cows, sheep, goats, pigs, fowls, etc. Then some of the ashes were collected, and either heaped on the log to burn or set aside till next Yuletide, with a piece of money hidden in them.

In many parts of the continent the ashes of the Yule-log were strewn in water, and given to horses and cows to drink as a protection against witchcraft. In some districts in rural France it was the thought that cattle could be kept in good health for the year by giving them a drink on Christmas Eve directly after their owners returned from the Midnight Mass, and before they entered the house.

The strange custom of Wassailing once prevailed in Herefordshire, and some parts of Staffordshire on Christmas Eve, or Epiphany Eve, when bonfires were lighted in the fields, and the farmers and their friends and servants went out to the wheatfields to drink each others' healths by the ruddy blaze and returned home to supper, at which the housewife always provided a large round cake with a great hole in the middle. This was not cut at supper, but directly afterwards the whole party followed the farmer, or the bailiff, to "the wainhouse," where the master, with a cup of strong ale or cider in his hand stood opposite the finest of the oxen and pledged him in a very curious old toast. The rest of the party did the same with the other oxen, mentioning each by name. Then the big cake was produced, and put with much ceremony on the horn of the first ox, who was then tickled to make him toss his head. If he tossed off the cake, so that it fell behind him, it was the mistress's perquisite; but if it fell in front of the ox it belonged to the master, the bailiff, or the cow-herd.

In some Staffordshire parishes where a similar custom was observed, the farm servants took a bit flat cake covered it with a pole, and fastened it to the horn of an ox, repeating quaint lines as they did so to wish their master good cattle good luck in the coming year. Then the men and boys ranging up behind the ox, and made it toss the bread, and if the cake forward the boys claimed it, but if it fell behind the men had it.

The eggs laid by fowls and ducks on Christmas Eve were formerly connected with some strange superstitions. They were boiled hard, the yolk removed, and the hollow filled with salt; girls ate such eggs fasting at bed-time, and went to sleep hoping to dream of their future husbands.

In many parts of Europe, as well as in our own Isles, girls used to go out and listen at the fowl-house at midnight on Christmas Eve, or New Year's Eve, often knocking at the door of the building. If a cock crowed at the noise they were sure that they would be married that year, but if a hen cackled, it was a sign that the maidens would not wear a wedding ring before the next Christmas dawned.

Another Christmas spell consisted in going out early on the morning of the festival and watching to see in which direction the cock turned his head when he first crowed on being let out of the fowl-house, as he was supposed to indicate in this way the direction whence the future husband was to come.

The belief that the cock crows all night at this season still lingers in some districts. It travelled to America with the early settlers, and is firmly believed by many white folks, as well as the southern darkies, who are convinced that the birds crow every night at a certain hour for three weeks before the festival, for "de chickens know dat Christmas am a-comin'!"

In Spain on the Midnight Mass on Christmas Eve is called "La Misa del Gallo," or "Mass of the Cock." In many parts of rural England the legend persists that the bees waken in their hives on Christmas Eve, and hum the Hundredth Psalm in honor of the Nativity, and that luck attends those who go and listen.

In olden days in North-Eastern Scotland all the four-footed animals on a farm were served with unthreshed corn for their first meal on Christmas morning, and "the clyack sheaf," which was stored up by itself at harvest in readiness for "Yeul," or "Yule," was given to the oldest beast on the farm— horse or cow, bullock, or sheep. In some places this practice was observed on New Year's Day instead of Christmas.

ON PICKING TOYS FOR TINY CHILDREN

Brightly Colored Articles Catch Eye of Tots; Tiny Dishes for Daughter Appropriate

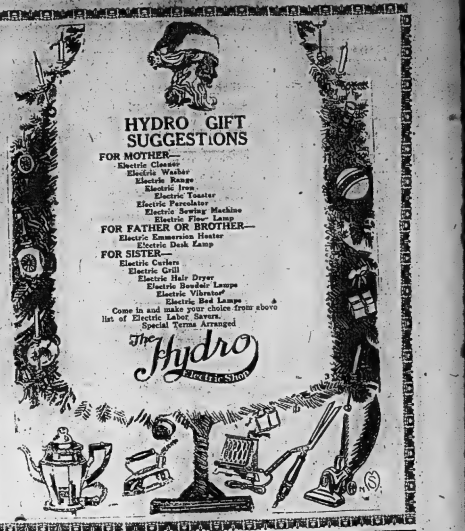

Toys that keep little fingers busy and expanding brains intrigued are among the things needful for Christmas. For the little folks whose sense of values is woefully undeveloped, careful parents fix on brightly colored rubber dolls or sets of blocks, or soft wool animals that can be tossed about a nursery with impunity.

And dishes! Patterns which mother cherishes among her nicest possessions are being reproduced in tiny sets for daughter's tea table. Platters and covered dishes are added to the plates, cups and saucers, which used to comprise even the most pretentious services. Tables to hold the dishes, by the way, are too amazing for words. We see them painted in delicately colored enamels and on the bases are stencilled scenes from "Mother Goose," or quaint little girls and boys.

A new fad in dishdom is the assembling of a breakfast set, gaily flowered, in a cozy basket. The plates, teapot, cream and sugar are nestled down inside, while the small knife, fork and spoon, the cups and some small napkins are tied to the handle with ribbon bows.

ARM IS SHOT OFF

St. Catharines, Ont., Dec. 15.—Robert Cudney, 18-year-old son of Norman Cudney of Homer had his right arm amputated at General Hospital last night as the result of an accident on his father's farm at Homer, where he was shooting rabbits yesterday morning. In some way he stumbled and caught the trigger of the shotgun in some under brush, the charge entering his right arm at close range.

YULETIDE LEGENDS OF BIRDS

BY MARJORIE HOWE DIXON

Some say that ever 'gainst that season comes
Wherein our Saviour's birth is celebrated
The bird of dawning singeth all night long.
—Shakespeare.

Legends of birds are as old as history itself. Many and quaint are the lore associated with the birth and life of our Master. The reference above shows that the great Poet was familiar with the old story of the cock's crowing at midnight, at the Saviour's birth, a legend dating back to the fourth century.

There seem to be many more stories connected with the crucifixion, than with the birth of Jesus. Robins, swallows and owls have in this way become almost sacred because of some pretty story about them. These legends are told to the youngsters of many countries, and have created a feeling of affectionate regard for the birds, resulting in many pretty customs, designed to show forth their love.

For this reason, among the rural villages and farms of northern Europe, where Friend Robin stays all winter, he is especially remembered by the children. Grain is scattered about on the roofs for his Christmas, and he is offered shelter in barns and haystacks.

WHAT THEY DO IN SWEDEN

In Sweden the good farmer, assisted by his children, takes a sheaf of unthreshed wheat and ties it to a pole for Robin to feast upon. The children watch for his coming, and have all sorts of little thrills over his pleasure in their gift.

Alas for the poor little wren. It fares most unhappily this season in Ireland and on the Isle of Man. Customs, the origin of which is lost in the mists of time, decree that little wren must die.

On the Isle of Man, it happens thus. Amid great excitement the wren is sought and killed and tied to a stick. It is then carried from house to house while a crude rhyme is recited, and money is brought. Finally it is buried with great solemnity in the grave yard, with singing of dirges.

It is thought by Mr. Inerwoll, to whose book, "Birds in Legend, Fable and Folklore," we are indebted, that this may be traced back to the early hatred the Christmas felt toward the Druids. The wren was the Druid Bird. From its chirpings the priest drew auguries, and thus the poor little bird became an object of disapproval, if not hatred to the Christians. The killing of it became the symbol of the severance of all connection with Druidical practices. Ireland, belonging to both Christmas and St. Stephen's Day.

TURKEYS FOR CHRISTMAS

If he but knew, the turkey, too, would dread the approach of Christmas. We think of the bird as the one that should be served on Thanksgiving, because the Puritans, who did not observe Christmas to any extent, handed down to us this custom. While they, no doubt, were inflicted by the fact that it was found in great numbers here, in those hard days, still they may have brought the custom from England with them.

Going back a good ways, boar's head was the special Christmas dish. Then came the religious struggles when the "English Dissenters" and the "Papists" were continually at swords' points. The Dissenters could not countenance anything savoring of "Papist" practices. Anything savoring of "Papist" practices. And besides turkeys were abundant, during those troublous days of the Reformation. So the "noble bird" became the special meat for Christmas and still is.

Another legend of a bird has come down to us, varying in different countries. As told by the peasantry of the English Midlands, a mother had a large lump of dough, which she promised to bake for Jesus. Her daughter reduced the size of the lump, until when it finally went into the oven, it was very small indeed.

However, as it baked it swelled to enormous size, and the girl exclaimed, "Hen, Hen." The sound suggested that of an owl and the girl was forthwith transformed into that bird. Ophelia says, in Hamlet, "They say the owl was a baker's daughter." a reference to this old legend.

In Northern Germany, a baker's man was the guilty one, and the Lord changed him to a cuckoo. He wore a blue coat, and thus the cuckoo wears one, too, with white spots on the wings where flour was sprinkled.

There are many stories of owls. One sad little legend tells that the owl at one time had a sweet voice and sang charmingly. Unhappily it was present when Jesus died, and since that day it cannot bear daylight, and cries "Crux, Crux." This story comes from Spain.

From Russian comes the legend that all the farm animals are able to talk on Christmas Eve, from midnight until sunrise. This is because Christ was born in a manger. Would one could slip away some Christmas Eve and hear them; The legend does not say what they talk about, but perhaps they have far more curious legends than any we can gather from ancient chronicles, be our sources ever so many.

A proverb from Cornwall will furnish us with a wise maxim:

"He that harts robin or cryn
Will never prosper, boy or men."

ROBSON IS SKEPTICAL

London, Dec. 14.—Sir Robert Robson, noted grain importer says he thinks it is extremely improbable that there has been any rigging of Winnipeg and Chicago wheat markets by Bolshevist agents by circulating reports earlier in the year that Russia would export large quantities of wheat with a view to profiting by fall in prices as result of such reports as charged by London newspapers. In Sir Hebert's opinion however, it is quite clear that Russians have been selling their own ends by under cutting their own crops and transport facilities.

PAY SALARIES FOR EFFICIENT MANAGEMENT

Council to Make Change Regarding Increases To Heads

WORK ON SURPLUSES

It Is Believed Plan Will Result in Practice of Greater Economy

Hamilton, Dec. 15. — A sweeping change in the method of increasing the salaries of city employees and particularly department heads and their assistants is being privately discussed by members of the council as a means to an end in effecting the greatest economy.

Under the present system of striking estimates an appropriation is made for each department and it is an unusual occurrence to have a surplus turned back. In fact the present order of things has produced the effect of encouraging department heads to spend whatever allotment is made for their respective departments. Otherwise, if a surplus is turned back the officials usually find their appropriations reduced by that amount the following year.

REWARD EFFICIENCY

The plan being discussed by council members is to alter the present method of giving salary increases in February and when final figures are available in December, in connection with departments grant increases where economy has been coupled with efficiency in administration.

STOP WIRE PULLING

"This would have a tendency to do away with the antiquated method of wire pulling which goes on," said one member of the council. "I do not think we should hold up cases where we know an increase is justified but the new plan we are endeavoring to arrive at would certainly encourage officials to take as much interest as the public's representatives in keeping down the tax rate.

Society Girl Wins Cash Wager "In Walk"

Boston, Dec. 15.—Miss Eleanora Sears, Boston Society leader, and all round athlete completed a walk from Providence to her home in Boston to win a wager. She covered the 44 miles in little over 11 hours. Four hours within time limit set by wager. She was apparently fresh when she pulled up at the finish line. Forty minutes later taken for breakfast and rest at Dedham, reduced the actual walking time to little more than ten hours. The terms of the wager, made with Howard Sturges of Providence, were not disclosed further than that Miss Sears took the walk for money and something more. She finished Monday.

GORDON SIMPSON WAITS DEPORTATION FROM U.S.

BRIGHTON DEALS IN LIQUOR GOODS BRING JAIL, FINE

Is Fined $800 and Must Do Seven Months on Two Charges

YEAR IF CAN'T PAY

Isaac Alcru's Team and Wagon Confiscated by Authorities

Isaac Allcorn, of Brighton, was convicted on a charge of breach of the Inland Revenue Act and S.O.T.A., also, on Tuesday.

He was fined $400 and six months on the Inland Revenue charge, and if he does not pay the $400 he will be required to serve six additional months. On the S.O.T.A. charge—one of keeping liquor for sale—Allcorn was fined $400 and one month. If he fails to pay the $400 fine, he must serve three additional months.

A team of horses and a wagon used by accused in the traffic, were confiscated also.

A still was seized when he was first apprehended and now police report they have disposed of one of the most persistent bootleggers in the district. Provincial police officers of this district laid the charges.

Mail From Old Country Starting Fewer Parcels Badly Wrapped; More Attention to Proper Names

Overseas Christmas parcels have not as yet arrived to any great extent in the city though an occasional clit in the letters has filtered through. Post Master Gillen stated this morning that he expects the Great Britain Christmas parcels at the end of the week at the earliest, though many anxious inquiries come in at the office from local people expecting the usual Christmas parcel.

THANKS INTELLIGENCER

Locally sent out parcels have fly. Gillen stated, this year been most carefully wrapped, thanks to his inductions printed in The Intelligencer, and hardly a single package has been received but what has been wrapped and addressed according to regulations. For the benefit of those who have brought parcels to the wicket, not happily wrapped, the Postmaster has had strong cord placed in the local office for the general use.

Incoming mail has not been so strictly supervised and some of the parcels passing through the post office have been damaged incidentally through improper wrapping. There is a tendency for shoppers to write on the cloths in the stores to tie up their parcels for shipment and this trust almost invariably results in the reception of the parcels at destination in a more or less damaged condition. Today it was a doll; the poor little Saperella creature was received in Belleville with only a semblance of the pox left to protect her.

FEW CO ASTRAY

Happily of late years the public has come to a realization that the post office staffs are not magicians and in consequence the parcels are now being more carefully addressed, resulting not only in insurance against being damaged beyond description, but in a more speedy delivery. Few parcels are handled nowadays which are not fairly carefully wrapped.

FRITZIES DON'T SEND GIFTS

Very few gifts come through here from Germany. A very little mail of any description comes through at all since the war. Apparently the Fritzlenes and Fritzies have stopped remembering their Canadian cousins.

One exciting factor here of the Belleville Christmas mail, also attributed by the post master to intelligencer publicity, is the fact the people are not leaving their parcels to the last minute. They will insure their parcels for delivery in the North West to which a big percentage of the mail has been forwarded.

REVISION COURT CUTS ASSESSMENT ON 2 BUILDINGS

Old Molson's Bank Is One And Riggs' Garage Another

ST. AGNES UP AGAIN

Reductions Are in each Case Considerable — The Discussion

Before County Judge Deroche this morning, the assessment on the building known here as Molsons Bank Building, corner McAnnany and Front streets, was reduced f rom $15,000 to $12,200, a reduction of $3,200 having been allowed.

Previously at the court of revision, its assessment had been reduced $1,000—from $16,500 to $15,500.

B. C. Donnan appeared for W. S. Caley, of Trenton, the owner, and S. Mason, K.C., appeared for the city of Belleville.

RIGG'S GARAGE $20,000

Appeals from the Court of Revision at this city were heard here by Judge Deroche today. There were three.

Mr. W. B. Riggs, through his counsel F. J. Ahern, appealed against the assessment of his garage which had been raised from $15,000 to $25,000. A reduction of $5,000 was granted. It is now assessed at $20,000."

It was contended by the appellant that the increase was unwarranted. The lands could only be assessed for the value of the lands with any enhanced value the buildings brought to it, and that it was not a question of the cost of the buildings or rent received, but a question of value of the land with any increase in price which could be obtained for it.

AS TO GOOD WILL

It was further contended that the large rental included the good will of the business which was a valuable asset and a large number of tools and equipment which were not assessable.

S. Mason K.C., for the city, admitted that tools and equipment were not assessable, but blamed the assessment on proper valuation.

DRIVERLESS HORSE.

KNEW HIS DESTINATION

A driverless automobile is creating a sensation in Paris as it dodges through heavy traffic. A driverless delivery wagon, piloted by a "mec", horn, runs and smiles on Bridge Street east just after 12 o'clock noon today. He had probably grown tired of waiting for the driver to deliver the goods and "struck" for the shop. He walked carefully to the curb and then broke into a steady trot. At Bridge and Front streets he pulled to the right curb and slowed down to turn up Front street. Then he quickened his pace until he drew up to the shop. The horse exercised more than some drivers of vehicles. The driver hurried along the sidewalk about 1-2 blocks "in arrears."

H.R.H. the Prince Never Too Busy To Visit One of His Old Companions

London, Eng., Dec. 17.—No hour of the day or night is too late for the Prince of Wales to visit at the bedside of a dying soldier. This fact has just come to light and illustrates an instance of his consideration for his officials.

A veteran of the war dying in a London hospital, and having no relatives in the metropolis, Capt. B. "Tubby" Clayton, M.C., and padre of Toc H (Talbot House), has called on him comforts with a beautiful pigeant—Go to the TABERNACLE, Friday night, the 18th. A worth while entertainment. Admission 15 and 25c. 413-4td

One day the veteran turned the conversation to the war and the days of 1914 to 1918 happened to the old man's close association with the Prince in the Ypres salient. He expressed the desire as a dying wish that he might see His Royal Highness again. Undaunted "Tubby" sought out the Prince who was laid up with flu at York House after attending an evening function, only to find that the heir to the British throne had retired for the night. But on being acquainted with the fact, Mr. Clayton decided to leave a note for the Prince. The latter apparently recognized the voice of the Padre, descended the stairs in pyjamas and dressing gown to hear what "Tubby" wanted. On being apprised of the soldier's wish, the Prince, though tired, immediately dressed and departed for the hospital. He tiptoed down the ward to the cot of the dying soldier, took his hand and stayed with him for some time. Although too far gone to speak, the soldier opened his eyes and gave a smile of recognition and shortly after lapsed into a state of coma.

A few hours later he beckoned to the nurse and asked if he had been dreaming. On being acquainted that His Royal Highness came specially to visit him, the veteran smiled again and died happy in the knowledge that his wish had been granted.

Miss Madeline Young, Miss Helen Silkman and Mr. J. O. Heath, judges in the W.C.T.U. medal contest held on Tuesday evening in the assembly room of the Bridge Street United Church, after much deliberation awarded the silver medal to Miss Muriel Moran, contestant number six.

The affair which has now become an annual institution and which has awakened much interest amongst local temperance sympathizers, attracted a large audience who thoroughly enjoyed the splendid efforts of the young people, efforts which reflected not only considerable talent but splendid training at the hands of Mrs. Harland Wood-Alyea, who also assisted the young ladies.

Maloti, chairman of the evening and through whose courtesy the assembly room was secured by the ladies of the W.C.T.U. in opening the proceedings complimented the ladies upon the splendid type of temperance education they had taken in the elocutionary contests, all poetry recited by the young ladies stressing the horrors of drink. Before calling upon the first of the contestants he introduced Dr. A. R. Mitchell, whose solo was very heartily applauded. The Misses Lavoie also played duets, both of which were encored insistently.

Chief Distinction of U.S. Policy Is to Avoid European Politics

New York, Dec. 16.—The foreign policies of the Coolidge administration and the reasons behind them were explained here by Secretary Kellogg of the State Department, in a speech running the whole scale from the Saskatchewan explosion case to the League of Nations.

Using a meeting of the Council of Foreign Relations as his forum, Mr. Kellogg advanced these pronouncements to United States citizens and to foreign chancelleries:

A warning to United States war bankers against "indiscriminate" loans to German states and municipalities, although the State Department "has not felt itself called upon to object to such loans as against the public interest."

Reaffirmation of the Government's desire to co-operate in European rehabilitation but keep clear of European politics.

A declaration that he set as much store by the spirit of Locarno as upon the treaties of Locarno."

An expression of hope that China will realize her aspirations for freedom from unequal treaties.

An exposition and reiteration of the United States war debt funding policy.

A defence of his own action excluding aliens who desire "to teach their pernicious doctrines of Communism" in this country.

UP GREAT IMPRAVENDS

Mr. Kellogg spoke from a carefully prepared manuscript. It was disclosed that the address was regarded as of such importance that the section dealing with foreign debts and that touching upon the United States' attitude toward European conferences, although it contained no direct reference to Locarno, was discussed in advance and had been called in full by the State Department to United States diplomatic representatives abroad.

The "chief distinction" of American policy and that least understood abroad, the secretary said, was "the fixed determination to avoid participation in purely European political matters."

"Ever since 1789 has the United States been a party to any military alliance," he said. "We shall go to the very limits of reasonable cooperation for all legitimate purposes, but we will not under any circumstances become involved in the European system of alliances and counteralliances to maintain that balance of power upon that continent. It is doubtful if they have ever contributed to the maintenance of peace."

Declaring that Europe herself was "making a sincere effort" to free herself in the debt and reparations tangle, Mr. Kellogg described the Locarno conference as "an outstanding accomplishment" and said the spirit of uniting European nations in a common pact of security", from the Locarno gathering, he said, because it deals with purely European political questions and "there was no reason to invite the United States to attend."

Winnipeg Lecturer Cuts Loose With Tirade Against Fashions

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 16.—Modern fashions are following the line of least resistance, while the fear of social ostracism compels many women to adopt fashions which wear clothing often immodest and vulgar, declared Rev. G. A. Wells, warden of St. John's College, Winnipeg, in the course of a lecture.

WHERE "FASHION" ORIGINATES?

"A new way of dressing your hair and not dressing your hair is usually started by some actress with a daring reputation and no particular character, is often the origin of 'fashion,'" Mr. Wells said. It was about time he thought that someone was strong enough to start it. There was too great a desire to be smart as the next party, and capital lying this weakness, if designers were driving many a good man into bankruptcy, the speaker maintained. The mad craze for change in garments made women ridiculous. They did not use their own judgment, but depended upon designers who were often without any conception of and too prone to emphasize extremes.

THE LADY AND THE POM

"I like pretty things," the speaker said, "but I detest with all the manhood in me the present trend of fashions." He contended that in some fashions stimulated individuality in the leaders and in some meeted to progress but led to fads and crazes. "If there is anything that raises the Old Adam in me, it is to see a charming lady at the end of a string and a little dog at the other," Mr. Wells, added.

THE ETERNAL QUESTION

In a lighter vein he asked an explanation for such "fantastic abortions" as, French heels, pierced ears flimsy dresses in winter, spurs at receptions, rice at wedding, "Why was thirteen unlucky? Why was it fashion to be late at meetings? Why long speeches?

THE EVIL OF SUGGESTION

Mr. Wells dealt with instinct and habit, intelligence, reason and will. He spoke of suggestion and brand-by Gerald Chapman is denied, as is ing the school of Freud as vicious. Magazines and photoplays were full of rubbish founded on this one idea he asserted. The main feature of suggestion, he said was that unscrupulous persons used it to victimize and make money out of unwoman weakness. Canada, he believed was not paying sufficient attention to custom, which he claimed was a valuable aid in national development.

PASS REDUCTION ON INCOME TAXES

U. S. Maximum Surtax to be Cut From 40 to 20 Per Cent.

FIVE HOURS' DEBATE

Proposed Amendments Turned Down by House in Rapid Order

Washington, Dec. 16.—The sweeping reductions in income taxes proposed in the revenue bill were approved by the House.

The new rates provide for a cut in the maximum surtax from 40 to 20 per cent and for reductions in all the normal taxes.

Overwhelming support of the non-partisan bill drafted by the ways and means committee, developed during the first day of consideration of amendments by the House. Half a dozen proposed changes were swept aside.

The most serious fight came on the proposal of Representative Railey of Illinois, a Democratic member of the committee, to increase the maximum surtax rate to 25 per cent. It was rejected after a sharp but brief debate, 196 to 117.

Other amendments were turned down in rapid order and with little or no debate during the day.

A large attendance participated in the five hours' discussion of the bill today, during which its most vital provisions were disposed of. Adjournment was taken when the proposal to increase the personal exemption from $1,000 to $1,500 for single persons and from $2,500 to $3,500 for married persons was reached.

CHAPMAN APPEAL FAILS ORDER TO HANG IN ORDER

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 16.—The application for a writ of habeas corpus denied Chapman is denied, as is his petition that he be returned to the Atlanta Penitentiary to serve the remainder of his 25-year sentence for the $2,400,000 Leonard Street mail robbery in New York City before he is brought here for murder by the State of Connecticut, in the decision by Federal Judge Edwin S. Thomas. Judge Thomas orders Chapman remanded to the custody of Warden Henry K.W. Scott of the Connecticut State Prison at Wethersfield, the execution therefore the death penalty imposed upon him by the Superior Court here last April after his conviction of the slaying of Policeman James Skelly in New Britain, Oct. 13, 1924.

The barley crop this year is valued at 167,560,600 as compared with 1924, when it was valued at $37,566,000. The valuation of the rye crop this year is given as $10,616,000 as compared with $13,678,700 last year. The estimate for flax seed is $18,369,000, whereas in 1924 it was $18,849,3000. Other grains which include peas, beans, buckwheat, mixed grains and grain grown hay have an estimated value this year of $43,063,000 as against $35,814,000.

The value of the potato crop this year is much higher than last, according to the estimate. This year, the potato crop is valued at $56,560,000. In 1924, however, approximately the same as last year.

The report issued today states that the wheat crop of 1925 was the second largest on record "and the average price of $1.11 per bushel, though less than that of 1924, is in advance of $1.25 remains still 24c per bushel above the low record of 87c per bushel in 1922." The total of 1,112,691,000 is the largest value assigned to the field crops of Canada since 1920, when the total was $1,455,244,052.

NEWSY ON C.N.R. TRAIN CAUGHT SELLING LIQUOR

Two O.T.A. Enforcement Men Bought Liquor for One Dollar

Orillia, Dec. 17.—Found guilty of selling liquor illegally, Willie Superstein, a young man giving his address as 41, Canadian National Railways, was fined $500 and sentenced to one month's imprisonment, or a term of four months in lieu of the fine, by Police Magistrate Clarke at Orillia Police Court. The offence is committed on board train in the Town ship of Orillia.

The charge was laid by Provincial Constable Kelly of Barrie on information of two O.T.A. enforcement officers John Scouse and Chas. Woods, who were travelling from Greenwood, near Toronto, on November 16. As the newsy came through the train, Scouse says he had the young man Superstein replied that he had something stronger, and offered to bring a bottle. Both Scouse and Woods left the money at that time, paying $1, Later Superstein asked Scouse if he wanted more, and he brought another bottle at the same price. On analysis, it was found that the liquor contained 43.6 per cent. of alcohol.

In his evidence, Superstein denied all knowledge of the affair, stating he had not seen the bottles before. John H. Hoye, of Barrie, defended the accused and Mr. B. Tudhope, of Orillia, acted for the Crown.

Another news agent was sentenced to a heavy fine a week previously in Barrie on a similar charge.

DELIVERY LATE WITH RIG GONE

Boy Has Only Eight More Days to Get Them to Destination

Trenton, Dec. 16.—Icy streets and a heavy touring car caused a small boy and 6 docile horse the surprises of their respective lives this noon on Dundas street. The boy, driving a small buggy drawn by the horse, was delivering parcels which bore all resemblance to totems of Christmas remembrance. He was not only contented with his job but glad with the advent of the holidays.

The heavy car, coming the opposite direction, turned to go into Bird's Garage, swerved, and tapped the buggy which seemed to be fearfully contrived after the manner of the wall known one-horse shay. At all events, it practically collapsed in the centre of the street. The left front wheel lost every spoke, while the rim rolled to one side.

The car driver stopped and walked back apologetically to the heap of small boy and wood. The lad woefully grasped the denuded rim and surveying the quizical horse who turned inquiringly toward his master, he said, "My Gosh, these presents ain't goin' to be delivered before Christmas Eve, now!"

LONDON STREETS RING WITH MUSIC

Old Carols May Be Heard on "Christmas Day in The Morning"

In the British Isles and on the Continent it is the delightful custom of carol-singing in the streets. In North America, however, people are supposedly too shy to adopt this method of spreading the "tidings of great joy," and keep their carols and songs for indoor and Sunday School performances.

The "Christmas Waits" of London are an old-fashioned feature of the customs of the season. They are at it long before daybreak and keep it up during the morning hours. Some times the singers are singing for the mere pleasure of it and with a feeling of duty fulfilled. Generally, however, they look for a gratuity from those whose slumbers they have broken.

Writers attribute this custom of singing to the "Feast of Excelsis" of the angels announcing the birth of Christ. Originally the songs were carols of the best sort on purely appropriate subjects. This is still the case in remote parts of England, and the tradition is maintained in Wales. In the larger cities of England popular airs from the theatres are used.

The custom is kept up with much vigor in Italy and Spain. The Calabrian shepherds come down from their hills into the Italian cities to sing their carols through the streets. Occasionly they are noticed singing before a carpenter shop, and it is explained that they are honoring the memory of St. Joseph.

TEACHING PROFESSION VERY OVERCROWDED

London, Ont., Dec. 15 (By Canadian Press).—"Teachers are so plentiful that position cannot be found for them," according to G. A. Wheatoln, Inspector-Administrator of this city's educational ins. On his recommendation only first class certificate holders will be appointed in future on the city staff. "It is not always the most brilliant in Normal School training and examination who makes the best teacher," he said, "if a plan of probationary training for the first year at Normal School were adopted a great deal of the difficulty would be eliminated. "The present one-year course should be only a testing period after which the prospective teacher could write an examination for entrance to the official Normal School teachers' training course."

MONTREAL SAW FOXES WORTH TIDY FORTUNE

Montreal, Dec. 16.—About $50,000 worth of silver black foxes passed through the Windsor street station Monday morning, on a leg of a 5,000 mile journey, in a private car. The carload of fur-bearers in the care of the Dominion Express Company, was the second consignment of the kind to pass through the station in the past few days. The other group consisted of but four of the animals on their way to Sweden.

In to-day's carload there were 28 crates containing 56 foxes, two to a crate. They were being shipped to Victoriaville, California, for the Bypestown Fox Kennels, at Onawa, Maine. No special attendant is with the animals, but a Dominion Express Company messenger stays in the car, at all times and will be with them until they are delivered and follow the shipping directions which are chalked on each crate.

Radio Hits Sale of Music, Pianos And London Wonders

London, Eng. Dec. 15 (Canadian Press Dorpatch).—For some time past it has been asserted that radio is sounding the doom of the piano, the gramaphone, and the home musician. As for the latter the upgrowing feminine portions of the middle-class population are believed to realise increasingly that, even with the best will in the world, their chances of becoming pianoforte executens of little more than medifferent merit are remote. Outdoor games, the motor-cycle with the sidecar, and a dozen other diversion yield more pleasure to the rising generation than can be afforded by strumming on the drawing-room piano.

Publishers, especially of dance music, have admittedly been seriously hit by radio. The British Broadcasting Company pays a royalty of four shillings per dance tune on every one broadcasted. It may seem a heavy figure, declares Lawrence Wright, the well-known music publisher, but already the sale of sheet music is threatened by ten million listeners-in." According to the same authority London is the least musical area in Great Britain, and Lancashire the most musical. To some extent this is due to the difference in the social habits of the two districts, for the hearty homely people of the North continue to hold parties and musical evenings, whereas the Londoner mostly finds his entertainment in more elaborate ways.

J. B. LEWIS WINNER OF BOWLING PRIZE

Trenton, Dec. 16.—In the prize competition for gentlemen which closed last night at Tripp's alleys, J. B. Lewis was the winner with the score of 667's. This competition has been running for some time. The prize was a fine smoking set.

The ladies' prize competition which extends over the period from Dec. 9 to Dec. 23 was given a 501 last night when Mrs. H. Jarrett came along and rolle1 506 nosing out Miss J. Shirts who had held the previous high score of 504. But there is still a week left and the "dope can" may easily be upset in that duration of time.

NOBODY WAS HURT

Trenton, Dec. 16.—At about noon yesterday a Ford delivery truck owned by Mr. Windover from Frankford and a McLaughlin car met with a collision at the corner of Murphy and Middle streets. Nobody was hurt and the parties agreed to settle amiably.

PORT HOPE MAN LOSES IN BIG LAW SUIT

Toronto, Dec. 16.—The action of Victor A. L. Gladman of Port Hope, against the executors of the late W. T. C. Boyd of Bobcaygeon, and the W. T. C. Boyd Co to recover $22,500 commission on the sale by Boyd to F. E. Pendleton in 1919 of timber limits on Vancouver Island for $700,000, has been dismissed by Mr. Justice Wright. His Lordship states that the defendant might well have remunerated the plaintiff, as no doubt his services had something to do with the sale, as he introduced Pendleton to the purchaser, but the action fails as it was not proven that Gladman's services were the real cause of the sale. No order is made as to costs.

TO MEET THE POWER SHORTAGE

An important letter to the mayor of Toronto from the chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission in reply to the mayor's inquiries as to what is being done to meet the prospective power shortage of has been published. Chairman Magrath says the commission has not abandoned the plan of resorting to a steam auxiliary plant, but has it under consideration. To meet the necessary demands of the municipalities, Mr. Magrath says, the commission is "investigating the various sources from which additional power might be made available." Regarding the report that in the event of an acute shortage, the commission will curtail the power supply for domestic purposes in order that there may be enough for industrial purposes, the chairman says that if the domestic supply is to be curtailed it will have to be done by the local Hydro commissions, which have jurisdiction in the matter of local disposition of the power supplied to them by the provincial commission. However, Mr. Magrath expresses the hope that the commission will be able to cope successfully with the prospective shortage, which he expects to develope in the autumn of 1927.

The statement is a satisfactory and reassuring one. But it would be more so if Mr. Magrath had made a definite statement to the effect that steps are being taken to make a start in the work of developing the water power of the St. Lawrence. Even if the work were started at once it would be too late to depend upon that source of power to relieve the shortage two years hence. But year by year the demand will increase, and with the greater industrial activity which is expected the increase in the demand for power will be very great before the St. Lawrence works can be completed. This province should not be placed in the position of being forced to depend upon Quebec for the additional power which it requires to operate its industries and meet the growing demand for domestic services.

THE WORLD'S BREAD BASKET

There are bitter complaints in England against the Russian Bolshevik government on the ground that it has been guilty of concealing information about the Russian wheat crop in order to serve its own speculative purposes. In fact, it is accused of broadcasting the false information that Russia would have plenty of wheat for export this year, thus depressing the price of wheat in world markets; then quietly buying huge quantities on the Winnipeg exchange for future delivery, knowing that, as there would be no surplus Russian wheat for export the price was bound to rise.

If the charge is well-founded, the Bolshevik government has done nothing worse than thousands of private individuas do, the difference being that the individuals speculate in wheat with a view to their own profit, while the Moscow government has done so for the benefit of the Russian people. As, it appears, Russia, instead of having surplus wheat to export, finds it necessary to import wheat in order to make up for the failure of the domestic crop, the Soviet government should not be greatly blamed for resorting to a subterfuge which enables it to buy to the best possible advantage.

Not only the Russian crop is short; there are partial crop failures also in Australia and Argentina. With supplies from these grain exporting countries cut down Canada becomes the chief source of the world's wheat supply this year; in short, countries which are obliged to import part of their wheat must depend almost wholly on Canada to make up the shortage in their supply of daily bread. As a result the price of wheat is likely to rise steadily, and as a large proportion of western Canadian wheat is now marketed by a great co-operative organization the western farmers will be the chief beneficiaries of the increase in price.

This will be good for the country as a whole. It is probable that this year's crop will be the most profitable one ever harvested in Canada, and the money which its sale will bring into the country cannot fail to stimulate trade ad give a spur to industry.

Dr. Brittain said new City Councils are dumb for two months and as they heard it, Belleville's council laughed. What at?

If the Australian style were in vogue here, and a stiff fine imposed on every qualified voter who neglected to vote in the civic election, our tax might be reduced next year.

That Mussolini is the biggest man in the world appears in the fact that he is managing director and editor of all the newspapers in Italy, besides running that country.

It may be so as Sir Oliver Lodge declares, that the evolution theory and the Biblican story of creation are not opposed, but, unfortunately, the same thing cannot be said of their respective proponents.

Ex-uncle of the former Shah of Persia is reported to be in Paris gunning for his nephew, who owes him $6,000, and the hide of that dissolute young man isn't worth anything like that amount.

PETERBORO'S SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
The Examiner:

The series of three concerts arranged by the Peterboro Symphony Orchestra gives the citizens of Peterboro a splendid opportunity to hear and at the same time to support this fine musical organization.

The very presence of such an orchestra in a community is an asset; the organization is of great value from an educational viewpoint, both for those who play in it and for those who listen.

The opportunity to hear good music capably played comes too rarely in a city of this size and our citizens are to be congratulated that there is here a well-balanced and splendidly conducted symphony orchestra that has during its short existence won laurels for itself and its home city by a splendid showing in the Ontario Musical Festival.

Such an organization cannot, of course, be maintained or supplied with the instruments or the music it needs without considerable expenditure, and it is therefore essential that the music-lovers of Peterboro should rally in its support and see that the series of concerts the first of which is to be held tomorrow night, is liberally patronised.

The orchestra has wisely arranged popular prices for the series—the whole three programmes can be heard for $1.00—and the public generally is thus given a good opportunity to show its appreciation of the past record of the Symphony Orchestra and its confidence in the future of the organization.

CANADA'S GERMAN TRADE
New York Sun:

In the expansion of Canadian foreign trade nothing has been more striking than the development of commerce between the Dominion and Germany. In 1910 when this trade was regarded as well established, Canada exported to Germany goods amounting to $2,065,768 and imported from Germany goods valued at $7,935,230. The war put an end to this business, but commercial relations were resumed immediately after peace came, and in 1920 Canadian exports to Germany reached $3,215,327, with imports amounting to $1,547,665. Since then there has been steady and rapid growth until in the last fiscal year Canada sold to Germany to the extent of $24,234,685, and bought from that country to the amount of $6,772,590. Not only has the volume of trade grown enormously, but the favorable balance has shifted from Germany's column in the ledger to Canada's column. Canada's exports consisted of agricultural and vegetable products valued at $18,000,000 animal products valued at $2,500,000, while non-ferrous metals and non-metallic minerals form a considerable item. Germany sent to the Dominion among other products, dyes, textiles and chemicals. In cereals Germany takes constantly increasing quantities of wheat and flour.

LOOKING NORTH

Since I have come to Florida,
The sun seems brighter far
Than in that land from whence I come—
Beneath the Northern star.

Since I have come to Florida,
Life's taken quite a swing.
The staid old grill I've left behind—
To see what luck will bring.

Since I have come to Florida,
And joined the eager throng
That buy and sell and speculate—
Eager I rush along.

But since I've come to Florida,
My thoughts will travel back
To shady quiet home town streets
Where friendship never lacked.

What Florida has taught to me
I've been so glad to learn—
But oh! I miss little town.
To you I'd gladly turn.

Letters to the Editor

AN APPEAL FOR THE AGED.
To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Sir:—Cheer for the old people in the Belleville Home for the Aged is always most generously provided at Christmas time by the many friends of this institution and it is expected to be the same this year.

The number of inmates is larger than usual and the capacity of the bedding in the Home is being taxed to provide for them. Would generous friends kindly give blankets, quilts or comforters so that it will be possible to meet the wants of those in warm when the severe weather comes. Also to allow for necessary changes.

The Home is also in need of boots. Old boots in fair condition as well as new ones will be very much appreciated.

The city grant and the small allowance from the Government pays only for the fuel and ordinary living expenses so that the Board has to depend on the gifts of money and articles to provide for the necessary clothing, furnishings and repairs.

Thanking you,"

The Home Board of Management.

HOLLY TREE HAS CLOSE YULETIDE ASSOCIATIONS

The holly has always stood for mystery and mute personality. Always one feels that it is something more than an ordinary small tree." From time immemorial it has played its part in the great winter festival—the Roman's gave it an honored place in their Saturnalia—and when Christianity superseded the old gods and the festival became Christmas, still the holly and its association with the winter rejoicing continued, though into both festival and tree new meaning was read.

The holly, though openly a part of the rejoicing of the Nativity yet hides within it the secret mystic foreshadowing of a crown of thorns in its prickly leaves and gleam of passion blood in its red berries, and a reminder of immortality in the ever-greenness of its leaves. And so it became the "Holy Tree," as well as the "Holly Tree."

It is the true with scarlet berries that is always spoken of as the real holly, and it has often been accounted strange that certain holly trees never produce berries, but the initiated know that this mystery is one of sex, one set of holly trees is male and another is female, and, of course, it is only the female tree that bears fruit. The work of the male trees is done when they have supplied the fertilizing pollen, fertilization being generally accomplished by the busy bee flying from flower to flower and tree to tree.

The holly, it is interesting to note, is a native of England and was often known as the holme or holiver. There are a number of places whose names commemorate its vicinity in early history, such as Holme, Holmwood, Holmesdale, Holmpton and Holmfirth.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN -- FEATURES FOR ALL

A Heart's Triumph

By Ellis Adelaide Rowlands.

Cecil's voice ceased after a while. It was as though an hesitancy had arisen since she entered the room and yet the clock's hands had only ticked on two minutes.

She rose, still keeping her fingers clasped round her fathers cold, heavy hand.

"Mr. Darnley, help me!" she said, half-wildly. "Father is ill. We must send for a doctor. Let a servant go for Doctor Thorold. He will come; he will understand." Then she put out her hand to Paul. "Be merciful to me! Tell me—what—what had to fight the words —"what does this woman want? Why does she stay? Does she not see my —my father is very ill"

Paul Darnley took her hand, but it was not she voice that answered her; it was the voice of the woman behind, and at the sound Cecil turned and faced her for the first time.

"I am here because I have a right to be here—because it is my proper place," the woman declared stiffly.

Cecil's eyes scrutinized the face before her. It might once have been handsome but it was now pitifully repellent. The skin was roughened and lined, the eyes violent. About the head a scarf was swathed instead of a bonnet.

At first contact with Cecil's eyes, the woman laughed a shrill laugh, and jerked the scarf from her head. Her hair was cropped close and she had a strange air about her.

Cecil felt an oppression steal over her as though she were about to suffocate. The words she heard did not hurt her so much as this woman's face. She turned to Paul with a shudder.

"—I do not understand," she said.

The woman laughed again.

"You want plain words, I see. You want to know who I am. It is easily answered. I am a discharged prisoner from Clevelands. I am your father's wife! I am your mother, and I have come to take my place in your house!"

To Paul Darnley it was as though the torture in the girl's heart passed from her eyes into his. An instant he, too, felt suffocated; then his senses were alert again, and as Cecil reeled and fell forward, he was in time to catch her before she fell to the ground insensible.

ing him for the first time generally credited him with being a shy, simple creature, with shabby clothes, limited intelligence, and no use of any personal importance. It was with an air of incredulous astonishment that such people presently received the intelligence that he this shy, quaint-mannered old man, with his snuff-box and his lack of dignity, was the same man who by force of intellect had made for himself a name in beneficent science that would never wholly die out. His whole life seemed such a contradiction to the fame which in the world of knowledge, circled about him.

His house, on the outskirts of this little Westshire town, was nothing more nor less than a cottage his servants consisted of an old couple, who had lived with him for more years than he could count. They were dear to him, not merely because they knew and understood him almost as well as he knew and understood himself, but because they had been associated with the one period of his life that stood out in his memory as the period of his golden early manhood—the period when his dead wife had been with him, a veritable living angel.

No children had been born to Sebastian and Anne Thorold. All the love they would have lavished on their own child or his, had they been so favored, was on an Orphan boy, an only child of Mrs. Thorold's twin-sister, who had died in giving him birth.

From Anne Thorold and her husband this lad, Felix Blake, had received practically all the affection of parenthood. The meaning of his orphanage had never come to him; in truth, his childhood of rare happiness was such as is not often given to young creatures. When death snatched his aunt away, Felix Bingham had his mother for the first time. He was taught to revere his own mother's memory as he grew up, but mention of his father was always made.

It was not until Felix attained to boyhood that he began to question about his father, and though he was not satisfied with the answers his uncle gave him, in his shy, shrinking ways, Felix with premature shrewdness, told himself he would do better to leave the matter alone. It was evident to the boy that his father's record had scarcely been a fair one, and already, at that early age, he had grasped the fact that being the nephew of his celebrated uncle was a better position for him than proclaiming himself the son of some unknown man.

The quality of shrewdness developed in Felix as the years of his boyhood sped away, along with other qualities which would have occasioned great pain to the old savant could he have known of their existence. Doctor Thorold, low ever, knew nothing of Felix save what was good and admirable. It was enough for him that the boy was the joy of his existence. He was inordinately proud of Felix, and, truly, his nephew was a youth to inspire affection. The handsome looks he possessed were the heritage of his father, and were destined to play an important part in Felix's future life and success for he was an exceedingly handsome young man. He stood as tall and was as splendidly built and had the same coloring as one of the villains of old. Physically there was not a flaw to be found in Felix Bingham, and his nature was seemingly as sunny, as beautiful as his face, with the splendid eyes, the clear-cut features, and the healthy tan of his skin.

It had been his dead aunt's wish that he should enter the army, but Felix had not aside this wish.

"It is an idle life," he had said to his uncle, "to be always dressed up in gold lace and scarlet, and to be paraded about like a doll. I don't think I could endure it, Uncle Sebastian."

And, of course, he got his way. As a matter of fact, it was not the idle part of the army that struck the young man as objectionable; it was just the contrary. No living creature abhorred rules and regulations more than young Mr. Bingham. To have to go through the perpetual drill and routine of a military life would have been purgatory. He preferred a life of absolute independence. He had more than his share of brains, which turned far more quickly to schemes of making a career for himself, of chance, of pleasure, of speculation, and of anything, in fact, but steady, hard work.

He had scrambled somehow through his university training, being a favored "man" at college because of his strength and skill in athletics, and passed out eventually with a champion record, as far as sport went, but with little else to recommend him. Felix had he had managed to pass a fairly decent examination in medicine, had solicisted as interne in a hospital, and was qualified to practise as a doctor.

There were few subjects, as a matter of fact, that Felix had not at one time or other had he given himself full chance; but this he would never do. He turned his back on medicine and swore that he did merely to keep himself in good favor with his uncle. He had put it in his head from his earliest boyhood that Sebastian Thorold was not merely a wealthy, but a very wealthy man, and to obtain this wealth at some period of life under his uncle was the motive that actuated all Felix's thoughts. He knew his mood and temper, and being aware that Doctor Thorold might leave, but at the same time he was well aware that the old man had from his quite early years set relationship, if not as clear to himself; and that it was that the memory of his dead wife kindled afresh and brought about a spate of things which gladdened the heart of the good old man, who loved Felix so deeply and so unwisely.

Once qualified to practise, Felix was settled—at a considerable cost—in good locality, and, having obtained all he needed to start himself with every flourish of trumpets, he set himself to the task of amassing himself. His uncle, happily for him, never paid a visit to London, and as Felix knew Doctor Thorold lived now so completely out of the world that he was never likely to hear any account of Felix save what Felix desired he should hear. Now and then, just for the sake of receiving further attention, the young man would do some small thing and get himself written about in the papers, in order that his uncle should imagine he was be coming famous.

Famous he certainly was, but in a way quite different from that which Doctor Thorold could have imagined. Thrown his uncle's fame to begin with, Felix Bingham had found himself a welcome guest in the houses of the smart and the rich; and once having been admitted his handsome presence and his charm of manner won him instant appreciation. He was, before very long, a familiar figure in the most exclusive and fashionable set, and life was a succession of pleasures for him, varied only by the perpetual discomfort of not having enough money to keep himself going in the way he liked best.

Dainty Art Work By Keitha Lloyd Proves Attractive

Belleville has produced many artists of considerable talent, amongst whom Miss Keitha H. Lloyd enjoys a promising place. Her exhibitions being held in her studio at 249 1-2 Front Street, have attracted marked attention among the citizens.

Miss Lloyd specialises on china painting and has in her exhibition, featured the following: Dresden ornaments in that line, some really beautiful objects of art having been produced by this talented young lady. Tiffany silks, lamps, beautiful tea sets, individual cups and saucers and many other pretty china articles are displayed; likewise some very charming examples of basketry. The latter include most delightful doll furniture built to suit, and on many articles in "grown up" person's rocker fixtures the triple reed work and some handsome ironwork all the work of Miss Lloyd's own hands. She has also recently wag work, like new and popular art, to a fine point and her class finished in this is most remarkable. These are but a few of the dainty Christmas suggestions on view at the studio which has been a busy centre during the past few week and which will be continued until Christmas.

McGUIRES ARE COMMITTED TO STAND TRIAL

Early Date May Be Fixed—Next Court Term in September

LOTS OF LOCAL COLOR

Women Jammed Country Court—Committal was Vigorously Protested

Jolitte, Que. December 16.—Patrick and Edward McGuire were committed to stand their trial for the murder of Robert Tyhurst on December 4th when the preliminary trial was closed here before Magistrate Dubeau.

The McGuire brothers signed a document to the effect that they had nothing to say. In Joliette the old criminal court proceedings are still in vogue, and the voluntary statement was a lengthy formality to go through.

They were ordered to wait till fall until the regular criminal term comes along in September, 1926.

It is very probable, however, that the trial will be set for an early date.

The commitment came after an arduous day in court. It seemed as if the whole population of Joliette and district had crowded in, except the babies. The court-house was on the judge's mercy, and one that was threatened when an elderly woman became sick and stumbled across, seating herself by holding on to the bench. The women, dressed in their holiday best, stood round in the sweltering heat, indomitable in fur coats and woollen sweaters determined to see the thing through. One elderly woman was so tired that she took off her shoes in court and stood in her stockinged feet, for when the time came she would not cede her place, however, and was among the last to leave, sore-footed but satisfied.

It was shown that Tyhurst, the manager of the St. Michel's des Saints office of the St. Maurice Paper Company was killed with a soft-nosed dog-dum explosive bullet. Fragments of lead and copper, six clustered pieces, were shown by Dr. Rosario Fontaine, of the medico-legal staff, who said that he had picked them out o fthe unfortunate man's skull, lowbone, throat and mouth.

F. Philippe Brais, who represented the Crown together with Ernest Hebert, brought out a series of important facts, all circumstanial evidence, to show, among other matters, that the automobile seen by several witnesses corresponds in many features with the McLaughlin coach recently bought by Rene McGuire.

To refute this argument of the Crown prosecutor, Alban Germain, K.C., and J. J. Denis M. P., protested that there are hunters, fishermen and lumberjacks from Montreal, Quebec, Three Rivers and other parts who visit the lone parts of the north country.

DECISION IS AGAINST THIS "TANK" CLAIMANT

London, December 16.—Judgment was rendered in the King's Bench Court, against Captain J. F. Bentley, who sued the British Crown for $1,500,000, alleging it was due him as the inventor of the "tank" which played such a big part in the World War.

The case has been arousing much interest here. During the proceedings one witness who testified was the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Winston Churchill, who was first Lord bf the Admiralty in the early days of the war.

C. N. R. baseball club will hold a big dance the latter part of January it was decided at a well attended business and discussion meeting, held Tuesday night in the Y.M.C.A. which was attended by President Cyril McBride, secretary Al. Fink and many other officers as well as fans who are always welcome at such meetings. Preliminary business was arranged for the dance, and a committee of five members was appointed to start the machinery in motion for one of the best dances of the season. Those on the committee are Messrs. Kenneth Dolling, Stan Hagerman, Clyde Cline, Vey'n Weir and S. B. Vandervoort, and the committee was given power to add to their numbers if need be at any time.

The purpose of the dance of course is to raise some money and yet give the people something for their money. The canvas is to be given to be a "white elephant" officials declare, and it is now difficult to secure canvas sufficiently enthusiastic to canvas the city. Tickets for the dance will be sold throughout the city it is planned.

Jack Ouellet who has been in the city for some time now, has been offered a good position.

FIVE THOUSAND SAW BRUINS LOSE

Ottawa in First Game in Boston, Were Bit Too Good Score 2-1

Boston, December 16.—Ottawa beat the Bruins here last evening by outplaying them in the final period of a spectacular game in which the local led off in scoring.

The scoring in the first and 1-1 at the end of the second, the league leaders notched the winning tally in the final frame, both teams going at top speed the while.

The Senators were without Hooley Smith, who is laid up in the hospital suffering from an injured foot. The Bruins were, with the exception of Sprague Cleghorn, at full strength. The match was the attraction for one of the largest crowds of the season, five thousand greeting the players when they came on the ice.

NEW YORK TEAM LOST AT GARDEN

Canadiens Were OutPlayed In First Period But Came Back

THE SCORE WAS 3-1

Madison Square Garden, New York, December 16.—Professional hockey came to New York with all the prestige of an international event. The opening of play between the Canadiens, of Montreal, and the Americans, of New York, in Tex Richard's new Madison Square Garden, was delayed until 9.10 p.m. by the formalities of the occasion. Entering the gaily decorated rink, which was honored by the presence of the society of the Dominion and New York in the boxes, the Governor-General's Foot Guards band from Ottawa and the United States military band from West Point led the opposing teams. After the strains of the Maple Leaf Forever, God Save the King and the Star Spangled Banner had resounded throughout the arena, the midget mascots of the two teams, played on by flashlights, came onto the ice armed with hockey sticks to do a two-man battle. The Canadien club ended hostilities with a hot shot into the United States goal. The teams were then called to centre ice when Major Hylan and Tex Richard came to greet the players. Richard sent the teams into action with the face-off.

The result of the game which after all was of great importance was 3-1 for the Canadiens. New York scored first, but the Frenchmen took the lead in the second and kept it.

The New Element SPEEDIRON

PAT'D and REG'D. 1925

Makes Electric Range Operation Simple and Trouble Proof

"Hello, Speediron, so you are making the Electric Range as simple to operate as I am"

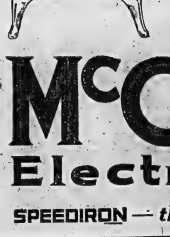

McCLARY'S, always in the lead in improving the Electric Range, have now eliminated the last Elemental weakness in the Electric Range. McClary's Electric Range, with their new Element, Speediron, is as simple and trouble-proof as an Electric Iron.

McClary's Speediron Element cannot be damaged by spills or knocks. Pots or pans cannot damage it. Forks or spoons cannot touch and short circuit the coils. Boiled over liquids cannot break the hot porcelain nor cause the coils to burn out. Nothing gets into the Speediron Element. Nothing can happen to the coils except to burn out, and sooner or later that happens to all coils, just as it happens to bulbs or fuses.

When a Coil Burns Out

When a coil burns out you simply lift out McClary's Speediron Element. With little effort and expense you replace the coil, then drop the element back into place. It is just as easy and simple to replace the unit as it is to plug in your iron or toaster.

Quite different from any other type element. When a coil burns out in any other element you have to send for a service electrician. If the element is one of the open type the porcelain will probably be so badly cracked and broken that an expensive repair is necessary. If it is a solid iron or porcelain element with embedded coil, the whole unit is a total loss of several dollars, because the burnt out coil cannot be replaced.

Come and See It

If you have an Electric Range you will want to see this new, splendid improvement, because you know all about Electric Range troubles now. If you are going to buy an Electric Range you should see the Speediron Element in McClary's Electric Range—the trouble-proof Element.

The new Speediron Elements are now on view at all leading dealers. Come and see it—today.

NOTABLE CAST IS SEEN IN BRITISH FILM STORY

La Plante and O'Brien Supported by Many Favorites—Story of Trip to India

In "Dangerous Innocence" the Universal-Jewel screen play coming to the Belle theatre tomorrow, Laura La Plante and Robert Ellis, who are co-stars in this screen version of Pamela Wynne's story, "Anne's An Idiot," have been surrounded with an exceptionally capable cast.

Among men, is Jean Hersholt movie star and character actor, who plays Mr. Hershott was assigned the rather disagreeable character of James Gilmore, of the British Colonial Service, with a mind full of vile suspicions and tinged with jealousy, makes all the trouble for Ann Church (Laura La Plante), and Major Anthony Sermour (Eugene O'Brien). William Humphrey, as Ann's father, is another old favorite included in the cast. Then there is Alfred Allen as Captain Rome, the dignified sphinx of the steamer on which most of the action of the play takes place.

Hedda Hopper, to whom was assigned the task of playing the role of Muriel Church, mother of Ann, finds herself the center of interest in a most interesting love problem. She is called upon to choose between motherly love and womanly pride when she is suddenly confronted by a situation revealing the fact that the man who has loved her for years is love with her daughter. Millia Davenport, as the scoundrel, and Martha Mattox, as Mrs. Gamble, are among the other women in the cast.

"Dangerous Innocence" reveals a picturesque India to Western eyes. The action takes place during the passage of a steamer between England and India, and also in the city of Bombay.

SORROW UNCONTROLLED AS THREE ARE BURNED

Montreal, Dec. 16.—There was weeping and mourning at Caughnawaga fire victims were burned, as scores of sorrowing relatives and friends followed with uncontrollable grief.

On Saturday Mrs. Rose Curotte, grandmother, and John Arthur and Eugene Curotte aged respectively 10 and one year, her grandchildren, were laid to rest, following the disastrous fire in the reservation Wednesday morning in which the three little ones lost their lives. The grandmother had died two days before.

Father Lacoture, confessor to everyone at Caughnawaga, said mass for the aged woman and the little ones. Every able-bodied person on the reservation went to mass and followed the remains to the cemetery. It was a depressing scene.

And Saturday morning in the chill air of a real winter day, Tom Albany, the delicate 14-year-old boy, who used to play with the Curottes was committed to Mother Earth. He died during the excitement following the fire, which took the lives of three of his little playmates.

HUGE RUM RINGS AT GERMAN PORTS

Millions of Dollars' Worth of Liquor Consigned to United States

MANY DEVICES USED

Sugar Barrels Popular for Long Time as Receptacles

Berlin, Dec. 16. — Hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of liquor destined for the United States left German ports in the last few months and more is on the way. Hamburg, Bremen and Emden have become the bootlegging capitals of the world and British rum rings fade into comparative obscurity—those that have not transferred their field of operations to German free ports.

IN ALL DETAILS

These facts have been established after an investigation lit both official and bootlegging circles.

Next week a 5,000 ton freighter will leave Bremen with more than $1,000,000 worth of whiskey aboard. At least $1 is insured here for $1,500,000. And its departure is a mere incident in the bootlegging drama.

The ports of the rich, of German free ports as a bootleggers' haven lies in the privileges of such ports. British whiskey can be brought to Hamburg or Bremen duty free as long as it does not leave the port area. Under these conditions customs officials have no jurisdiction over the liquor merchants.

Furthermore United States representatives cannot question customs men or obtain access to documents. So the free ports have become leggers can maintain their own warehouses where they can refill their whiskey casks at pleasure.

SUGAR BARRELS POPULAR

Some liquor is shipped directly to America hidden in other merchandise. Sugar barrels have been popular for a long time, until the Treasury Department discovered Germany is not an exporter of sugar and began to investigate.

For the most part the liquor goes to Bermuda. There it is distributed and loaded on fishing smacks which make their way past the Coast Guard fleet. Many of Philadelphia's and Boston's best known bootleggers have their headquarters "was given for two Jews falling on the street."

He was called upon to detail his men as agents for the keeping of the peace, and upon the arrival of the "fire" he was informed that it was "out," that two persons, by fatal chance, had been shot in the 122 Colonial avenue, and that their verbal friction culminated with an exchange of blows.)

NINETEEN THOUSAND SAW CANADIENS WIN

New York, Dec. 16.—Nineteen thousand persons crowded into the new Madison Square Garden to see "Les Canadiens" of Montreal trounce the New York Americans by a score of 3 to 1 in the opening match of the professional hockey series here.

To say that New York took the new sport to its arms and gave it a rousing welcome is putting it mildly. The big Garden was packed with a wonderful assemblage of those prominent in all sorts of sports and many noted in society and business life. Tex Rickard, Col. Jno. S. Hammond, Thomas Dugan and the other men interested in hockey, who brought it here to New York in the faith that the sport would interest the fans here are all confident that hockey is here to stay.

"I am very pleased with the reception New Yorkers have given professional hockey," said Mr. Rickard, when the match was over. "It looks to me as though there will simply have to be plenty more of it."

SIX FIRE WAGONS OUT TO STOP AN ARGUMENT

Montreal, Dec. 16.—An argument between two gentlemen on Colonial avenue, waxed so hot that a passer-by saw fit to summons District Chief Dufresnis, with fire-fighting equipment.

The district chief assigned two stations to the scene in addition to the call, which, he afterward reported to head-

He was called upon to detail his men as agents for the keeping of the peace, and upon the arrival of the "fire" he was informed that it was "out," that two persons, by fatal chance, had been shot in the 122 Colonial avenue, and that their verbal friction culminated with an exchange of blows.)

discovered they can operate more freely in Germany than at home. Their advent here was followed by the formation of native rings. One, composed entirely of central Europeans, operates four freighters to Bermuda.

This syndicate has an American representative in Philadelphia. One of the German members goes in advance to Bermuda, where he meets the Philadelphia bootlegger. The arrangements for the distribution and reshipment to America and the sale to retail bootleggers. So profitable is the arrangement found by the ring is no wrongdoing for more ships.

Where the prohibition unit is virtually unrepresented except by a treasury agent who also handles the immigration, the bootleggers find, themselves unhampered. Even in cases where informers give tips to American consuls in the free ports, the prohibition agents in America have found it virtually impossible to capture the men runners because of the system of parcelling the liquor among the fishing smacks.

"SUN-UP" IS DRAMA BASED ON N.Y.C. HIT

Few pictures present such stark realism as is setting as "Sun-Up," the Metro Goldwyn-Mayer production directed by Edmund Goulding, which is coming to the Griffin Theatre Thursday. But while the interior scenes of the picture are rough and crude, the exterior scenes have mirrored mountain beauty beyond description.

The locale of the story is laid in the Tehachapi Mountains in California and the grandeur of this rugged country has been transferred to the screen with awe-impelling results.

CHARACTERS FROM LIFE

"Sun-Up" is based on the famous Broadway stage success of the same name by Lula Vollmer. Miss Vollmer lived a considerable time among the hardy people of the Carolina mountain region so that her characters ring with authenticity.

The cast of "Sun-Up" includes, Lucille La Verne, who plays the same role she made famous in the stage version of the piece, Pauline Starke, Conrad Nagel, Sam De Grasse, George E. Arthur, Arthur Rankin, Edward Connelly and Ballard Beckwith.

Victims of Tenement Fire Said To Be Four Women And a Child

"Merry Christmas, Your Honor Says Accused. Trifle Previous

Christmas spirits and spirit is evident already, with the holiday ten days off. One local young man charged with intoxication this morning exclaimed in the brotherly manner, "Merry Christmas Your Honor", and walking forward offered his hand. Magistrate Masson was not expecting such felicitations so early, and Chief Hoag hustled the man out of the room. He was not sober enough for trial and will appear Wednesday, the Court decided.

This man and his youthful companion, was arrested at the C.P.R. depot at 2 o'clock this morning. His companion pleaded guilty to a drunk charge and was fined $10 and costs of $14—total of $24. He had 24 cents, so relatives were communicated with, to raise the fine. The man was allowed to go to work.

He told of attending a motion picture show Tuesday night after which the pair adjourned to his home where a ten gallon crock of home brew sat behind the kitchen range. They drank a quantity and then walked down to the depot at midnight. The story did not "go over" and when officers visited the home they found the crock full and undisturbed. He called, the youth told of adding water to the beer to make up the deficiency which theft, thirsts had created. So skeptical was the court about the story that the Magistrate announced that another appearance of this man would mean the maximum fine of $100 and probably one month in jail if such another story was unravelled. "You will never see me back here again", he promised. He had not been in court on a charge since October 13, 1923. "I shall never forget that date," he explained. "It was Friday the 13th." His father made the beer he said, against the wishes of his mother—a temperance worker.

The Implacable, Trafalgar Prize, To Be Preserved

London, Dec. 15.—(By Canadian Press.)—It was announced recently that Earl Beatty, Admiral of the Fleet, had received £15,000 from an anonymous donor towards the proposed fund of £25,000 for the restoration of the Implacable, one of the warships in the Battle of Trafalgar. In this connection it is interesting to recall something of the history of H. M.S. Implacable, which originally was not British. She was not called "Implacable" when she took part in the Battle of Trafalgar, but was known then as the French battle-ship "Duguay-Trouin."

This vessel is rich in honor and inspiration. She was built for the French Royal Navy before the Revolution and was launched in 1785. Later on she carried the flag of the Revolution; she was incorporated in the Battle Fleet of Napoleon, and so 150 years ago came to Trafalgar, where she exchanged shots with Nelson's flagship, the Victory. At that time she was called the Duguay-Trouin; later, when she had been taken after a most gallant action, she received her present name.

In 1855 she began a new career as a training ship for boys at Devonport. To sail in such a vessel in these days, when the wars in which she took part are no more than a memory, glorious alike to both contestants must surely exercise a profound influence on the minds of the boys in training.

The ship, if sufficient funds are obtained to save her from destruction, is to remain at Falmouth on loan to Wheatley Cobb, who has maintained her at his own cost for the last fifteen years. She will be used under his direction as a holiday training vessel for Sea Scouts, Sea Cadets, and other boy's organizations.

LOSS OF LIVES ON ROADS APPALLS BRITISH JUDGE

London, Eng. Dec. 16. (Canadian Press Despatch.)—"Hardly a day passes when the roads are not strewn with dead and wounded" said Mr. Justice Shearman at Glamorgan Assizes when he sentenced Jasper Ernest Holland, a Newport dry dock manager to six months' imprisonment for the manslaughter of a cyclist. The judge added that if he were to treat the case lightly by saying that Holland took a risk in speeding which other people were taking continually, and to pass it over he would only encourage people to take risks again.

"The loss of life on the roads at the present time is appalling," said the judge. "On a recent Sunday, while being driven in my car, I saw twenty cases of people with motor vehicles who ought to have been prosecuted. The next day I was told by the chief constable that six people had been killed in the county on that Sunday."

ULSTER CONSTABULARY FACING DISBANDMENT WANT COMPENSATION

Belfast, Dec. 16—Members of the special constabulary to-day seized Prince's Dock barracks in Belfast declaring they would hold the building pending a satisfactory reply to their demands for compensation for their disbandment under the new Irish agreement.

In Derry, 2,500 "specials" placed armed guards over their stores and arms to prevent the authorities from removing them. Ulster authorities take a serious view of the situation, but feel that a way will be found to settle the difficulty without resort to drastic action. Special constablis are demanding a disbandment bonus, varying according to the length of service from fifty to two hundred pounds sterling.

DEADLOCK OVER COAL ENDS IF MEN ACCEPT NEW TERMS

RED AGITATORS THRUST TOWARDS INDIAN EMPIRE

Official Notice Taken of Move by Moscow to Stir Trouble

TAMPER WITH NAVY

Propaganda is Being Distributed Among Naval Personnel

London, Dec. 17.—That Russia is "thrusting" toward British India is alleged by L. F. Rushbrook Williams, Indian Director of Public Information, in his annual report. The report sounds an alarm in no uncertain terms regarding the Soviet's designs. "The impression," it declares, "of the new thrust which Russia is making toward India lies principally in the fact that Soviet policy professedly is directed to carrying out the designs of the United Empire. At it seems impossible to believe normal relations between Russia and the British Empire can be resumed until the underground revolutionary activities of the Third International, which are directed toward the expansion of Russian influence in Asia, are entirely abandoned."

THREAT AT AFGHANISTAN

The Soviets, it is added, are concentrating their influence on Afghanistan, and may therefore constitute a serious threat to the unity of the Amirs territories. Communist organizations, it is declared, have conspired with illegal terrorists against British rule.

While the complaint of Soviet machinations comes from abroad, alleged Communist activities at home are recorded in the form of a communique issued by Admiral Sir Osmond Fremantle, Commander-in-chief of Portsmouth. He refers to distribution of pamphlets among sailors on ships and in barracks, endeavoring to stir up discontent on questions of pay, and points out the real aim of their writers is to introduce by revolutionary violence a form of government such as that which brought bloodshed and misery to Russia.

Four Learned Justices Decide That "Barn" Includes Foundation

Chief Justice Latchford and Justices Riddell, Middleton and Masten heard an interesting appeal Wednesday at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, in the case of Demill v. Ketcheson, when it was finally decided that the word "barn" includes the foundation under the barn.

The case arose out of the sale of part of lot 13, concession 1, Sidney, by the defendant to the plaintiff in December, 1923, in which defendant agreed to move a barn from the piece of land taken from the Provincial Highway onto the land to the south which had been purchased by plaintiff. The defendant contended among other points that the word "barn" did not include the foundations. His Honor Judge McLean held that it did, and gave plaintiff judgment for $191.30 damages and costs. From this the defendant appealed with the result that the appeal was dismissed with costs. C. A. Payne appeared for the appellant defendant, and W. C. Mikel, K. C., for respondent plaintiff.

THREE CHARGES AGAINST HUNTER REDUCED TO ONE; FINE WAS $20

Police Magistrate R. R. Casement, of Madoc, has disposed of three charges against Charles Mallory under the Game and Fisheries Act, arising out of the shooting of a deer without having a license in his wife's name. He faced three charges. He was charged with hunting without a license, with hunting a license by mis-representation and with not having the proper tag for the deer killed. Accepting the plea of guilty to the first that he owned land in the north country, was sufficient for him to obtain a farmer's license in his wife's name.

Magistrate imposed one fine of $20 and costs.

WINNIPEG THUGS COLLECT $15,000 IN STREET FIGHT

Cashier of Manitoba Liquor Commission Hit Over The Head

SNATCHED A SATCHEL

Party on Way to Down Town Bank Met By Armed Bandits

Winnipeg, Dec. 17.—Slugged over the head while on his way to a bank early to-day, Thomas Nuttall, cashier of the Manitoba Liquor Commission warehouse, was robbed of $15,000. The hold up was perpetrated by two armed men who escaped in an automobile.

Accompanied by a chauffeur and an office boy, Nuttall was just about to enter the Commission's automobile enroute to deposit money at a down town bank to-day when the party was confronted by two bandits, policing authorities said. Another and his companions the hold up men ordered them to hand over the satchel containing the money. When this was not forthcoming quick enough, one of the bandits wrested it away from the man who held it and with his hold up men made a hurried getaway to their car which was standing near by with the engine running.

As the bandit car speeded off, the cashier started a revolver battle and exchanged a number of shots with the departing robbers.

In the struggle for the loot, Nuttall was hit over the head with an iron bar by one of the thugs, but was not seriously injured. City and Provincial Police are now conducting a city-wide search while the roads to the boundary are also being closely guarded.

More Wines Less Spirits For J. Bull

London, Dec. 17.—Britons are consuming more and more to the habits of their forefathers in the matter of drink.

Consumption of wine in this country is on the rise.

It is stated in the report of customs and excise for the year which ended last March that 15,653,791 gallons of wine were consumed during that period. This was an increase of two million gallons over the previous twelve months.

Consumption of spirits is decreasing, there having been a drop of six hundred thousand proof gallons in home made spirits and 180,000 proof gallons of foreign spirits. Experts say, Empire wines are increasing in popularity. Liquor from South Africa, produced from an old Boer receipe is having an active sale.

Another of Those "Nature" Stories

Telkwa, B.C., Dec. 17.—Silewan Edward White and other members of the new big game hunting cult use the bow and arrow of the middle ages in bringing down their victims, but Scott Tomkins, Telkwa teamster, goes back to the days of David and Goliah for his weapon, finished this modern counterpart of David does not even use a sling. His specialty is hurling stones and his only means of propulsion is his trusty right arm.

Tomkins was driving home from the Telkwa coal mine recently when his horses reared up and almost overturned the wagon, a big black bear sitting in the middle of the road defying the team to approach.

Tomkins got out of the wagon and walked towards the bear. Usually a bear will run away from such procedure, but this one was many-minded. The animal seemed interested in the man's movements rather than being inclined to retreat. Tomkins picked up a stone and endeavored to frighten brain, who immediately started to dance. The man then took careful aim and let go, the stone hitting the bear between the eyes and the big fellow toppled over unconscious.

The teamster finished the bear off with an iron crow bar and brought the carcass into town in order to be able to convince his friends of his slinging feat.

PRINCESS MARY BREAKS BOTTLE OVER WORLD'S BIGGEST WARSHIP

Liverpool, Dec. 17.—Princess Mary, Vicountess Lascelles, officiated to-day at the launching and christening of the warship Rodney in the shipyards of Cammell. Laird & Co., at Birkenhead. The Rodney when commissioned in 1927 will be the largest battleship in the world.

Under the Washington Treaty its displacement is limited to 35,000 tons. Armament is also restricted but the vessel will probably mount nine 16-inch guns in three triple turrets instead of having only two turrets as formerly. It is estimated the contract will bring $33,950,000 to the Shipyards.

Work on the world's largest tunnel was begun yesterday at Liverpool by Princess Mary, who used for the purpose a golden key shaped like an electric drill. She unlocked the boring machine and at them to work on the Mersey tunnel.

LICENSE PLATES FOR NEXT YEAR ALREADY ISSUED

New Car Seen on Trent Road Boasting Black White Marker

"Nine-ty twenty six" license plates are out in limited numbers. One was spotted this morning on the Trent Road, a Mr. Freeman Ketcheson, who owns license plates for this district, said this afternoon that the plate that was seen must have been issued at Toronto. He didn't know it. "The cards are here but the plates haven't arrived from the factory yet. They will be on sale as soon as they arrive," explained Mr. Ketcheson.

The early issue of the plates is a practice which was inaugurated for the benefit of the motorist who purchases a car during the last fifteen days of December. The next year's plates are issued allowing the car to be driven without the expense of the present years plates.

The numerals and letters are black on a white background.

TRAIN APPRENTICES IN THE GOOD OLD WAY

Vancouver, B.C., Dec. 17.—The industrial apprentice system practiced with success in the British Isles for many years, will be given a thorough tryout in the building trades of British Columbia.

The apprenticeship plan has aroused much interest among the youth of the city and many inquiries have been made. It is expected to be an important bene fit to contractors who, under present conditions, complain that it is difficult to encourage boys and young men to continue at a specific trade long enough to acquire skill. The plan is expected to lead to a general stimulation of industrial efficiency.

RIDES TEN MILES ON AN ICE FLOE; THEN IS RESCUED

Narrow Escape From Death To Quebec Man, in River

Quebec, December 17.—Swept down the St. Lawrence for a distance of nine miles on a cake of ice, Napoleon Ducas of Cacouna, had a narrow escape from death, only the barest struggle of three men who fought against the ice, saving him from a watery grave.

Ducas was on the ice gathering harvests of flour that had been swept overboard from some vessels in the channel during a storm. Ducas was marooned in his task when the ice broke away and he was swirled out into mid-stream by the current.

The man cried out for help, but was not heard until three men of a village two miles down stream put out in a small boat. After a hard struggle, in which the craft was threatened constantly by heaving masses of ice, the trio reached Ducas just as he was about to slip into the water, exhausted.

Rev. Father Roy, parish priest of St. Patrick's heard the cries of the man at the same time as the other three, and made his way to a high bluff from where he could see the cake of ice with its human occupant being swept down stream. Believing that Ducas could not be saved, Rev. Father Roy gave him "absolution in extremis." Due to his exposure Ducas is in a serious condition.

OWNERS ACCEPT SCHEME WHICH MINERS SPURN

Lewis said Suggestion would Not Be Considered

WANT LONG CONTRACT

Negotiations Would Not Start Until Two Months After Resumption

Philadelphia, Dec. 17.—Anthracite miners and operators to-day awaited formal invitation from a committee of Mayors and Bankers, for resumption of wage negotiation and the end the long strike now in its sixteenth week. They will be invited to meet at Scranton next Wednesday or at any other time and place convenient to both sides, to take up the discussion of wages and working conditions where it was broken off last August in Atlantic City. The latest proposition to end the deadlock came from the meeting with Governor Pinchot in Harrisburg yesterday from approximately fifty mayors and burgesses of hard coal communities.

Philadelphia, December 17.—The anthracite operators have accepted the plan of settlement submitted to them and to the United Mine Workers of America on Tuesday by the legislature and Lazarus Council.

After a lengthy conference in the office of Samuel D. Warriner in the La Fayette building which was attended by Major W. W. Inglis and members of the operators' scale committee, a resolution to this effect was adopted.

"The anthracite operators," the resolution declared, "have received and considered with care the letter of the legislatures of Luzerne county and hereby accept the suggestion of a conference with the mine workers on a basis of the Lunemy legislators' plan of peace which includes at immediate return to work and a four term contract with provision for physical examination and a board of settlement to decide all disputed question which cannot be disposed of by negotiation."

The plan, which was submitted to the operators by Franklin S. Edmonds, Philadelphia member of the two legislature calls for an immediate resumption of mining operations of 366 days and to expire September 1; the negotiation of a new contract by a committee composed of three operators and three representatives of the United Mine Workers, negotiating to come to conclusion until two months after the renewal of mining operations and the appointment of a board of settlement in case all questions not agreed upon by the negotiation committee within thirty days.

At his strike headquarters at the Bellevue-Stratford, John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, would make no statement upon the operators' action.

Ellis Searls, editor of the Mine Workers' Journal, declared that he sees no reason why the mine workers should discuss the letter.

Lewis said earlier in the day that the plan would not be considered.

SPECIAL CONSTABLES WANT ACTION WILL MEET ULSTER POLICE CHIEF

DID NOT KNOW BABY STOLEN?

Fourteen-Year-Old Anne MacMillan Witness at Toronto

SHE HAS 32 DOLLS

Wanted Girl Babys—Says She Put Minds on Its Clothes

Toronto, Dec. 17.—Fourteen-year-old Annie MacMillan continued her evidence in the Sessions in the case against her father and mother, Ebenezer and Annie MacMillan, charged with keeping or harboring 4-months-old Bobby Muldoon, whom she had stolen from Eaton's Store on Friday, November 6th.

The girl was questioned by Crown Attorney McFadden concerning what found on the clothes of Baby Muldoon when they were previously stated to be. It was put there by her father and herself.

"What time did you put mud on them?" — "About 12 o'clock."

"What happened from the time the papers came in till dark?"—"I don't know."

"Did you tell your father or mother at any time during the baby being in Eaton's?—Did anyone know when I told the detectives."

"Why did you put the clothing taken from the child?"—"I did."

"Why?"—"I don't know."

"When did you tell it?"—"After daddy went up to Muldoon's place."

"Can you give us any reason why the shawl in the water were muddied and damp?"—No."

"Who suggested it?"—"I don't remember who was said."

Witness said the first time she heard anything about the baby being found in the lane was when her father told the Muldoons.

"The first time I told anyone where I put anything to the Muldoons was in the City Hall," said witness.

SUIT CASES OF DOLLS

Jas. Cowan, crossed Atlantic, produced two suit cases of dolls containing some of the 33 which the child owned.

"And you wanted a little baby besides these dolls?"—"Yes, sir."

"When did you find the destroyed clothes?"—asked the Crown of Detective Mulholland.—"In the clothes cupboard on a shelf."

"What happened at the City Hall Sunday?"—She told that same story at first about the baby being found in the lane, but later she said she would tell it all. She wrote and signed a statement. MacMillan stuck to his story till we told him his wife had made a statement. He said whatever she said was correct."

Ebenezer MacMillan told of his daughter meeting him Friday night. He heard a baby crying and asked whose it was. "I found it on the door mat," was the answer MacMillan said he got.

"Had you heard of the lost Muldoon baby Friday night?" asked Mr. Cowan.—"No, sir."

IRISH WRITER FORESEES WAR

Says Locarno Was Merely Camouflage to Hide War Preparedness

TREATIES IN SECRET

Italy and France Both Have Clouds of AirPlanes and Poison Gas

Detroit, Dec. 17.—Brushing the signs of the Locarno Treaties as a farce and declaring that the statesmen of Europe are today deliberately planning for another great war, Shane Desmond, Irish novelist, declared here this afternoon within the next 10 or 15 years Europe could be engaged in the most devastating conflict of history.

"Italy today has 1,400 poison airplanes ready for instant service," Mr. Desmond said. "Such a fleet could destroy 300,000 people within three hours. France is also preparing a great fleet of planes and poison gas for use when the conflict breaks.

"Representatives of France and Germany met a few days ago and shook hands, after the signing of the Locarno treaty, and pledged those two nations to eternal peace, yet each knew perfectly well that both countries are doing their utmost to be ready for a conflict which they expect to come soon.

REPAIRING ARMY

"A general of the French staff told me a few weeks ago that France is preparing millions of black men to be ready to save France in the next war and he declared that such a war was not far distant.

"The nations of Europe and the Orient are honeycombed with secret alliances and treaties, all looking to the next great conflict which they believe inevitable on account of the difficulties and questions pressing on the less favored nations in the world's markets. The League of Nations, the Irish writer declared, is a farce and the Locarno Treaties are all superficial farces calculated to make a showing of peace while great industrial plans for warfare are, in reality, deliberately preparing for war.

"The Christian Church, divided into so many sects—there are 78 of them in the United States—and ministering to national egotism in every country of the Western Hemisphere, added fuel to the fire of the last war instead of making wars impossible and love each other. Every flag flying over nationals in the last war was blessed by priests of the Christian faith as soldiers under those flags went to kill each other.

RACE HATTREDS

"Nothing but an low, determined educational process, teaching the people of the whole world to fraternize and respect each other as children of a common Father can avail against the race hatreds and economic competition which are driving the world into a conflict where one airplane can do more damage than 20 battleships.

If he chose to carry on and remain in the field no could, no doubt, establish a record of Ex-Mayor Tommy Church of Toronto.

Paris, Dec. 17.—Parisian pedestrians are tired of being bowled over, mangled, maltreated and slaughtered by wild taxi-drivers. HUDSON'S BAY TO END LIBELS

Will Prosecute Any Writers Who Take Liberties With Name

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 17.—Armed by what they regard as an unjustifiable attack upon the name of the historic company and its pioneer employees, the governor and committee of the Hudson's Bay Company have issued a warning to writers of Northland fiction that liberties with the name of the company will not be tolerated in the future.

In a letter sent to Prof. W. J. Allison, president of the Canadian Authors' Association, J. Chadwick-Brooks, secretary of the company, in Winnipeg, states that a ban has been placed on H. B. C. villians and that offending authors will be sued for libel.

The official remonstrance of the executive officers, as expressed in the company's letter, is as follows:

"The attention of the governor and committee of Hudson's Bay Company has been called to numerous publications of popular fiction in which references are made to alleged practices employed by the company in its fur trading business. In many cases also it is implied that these alleged actions are the part of the company's employees are instigated or condoned by the company. These statements are disrespectful, and are distinctly derogatory of the good name of the company.

"While it is felt that an isolated instance might be ignored, the statements have become so common that it was evident that the company's name and reputation might be injured. The governor and committee therefore decided that in all cases where statements are published which by implication or otherwise libel the company, legal action should be taken against the authors and publishers. In several instances action has been taken as a result of which apologies have been tendered and the books withdrawn from further sale.

"It is probable that in some instances authors write fiction without fully appreciating the import of some of the statements and references made therein and they thus unwittingly become liable to suffer loss if the publication has to be discontinued on account of libellous passages. In these circumstances we have thought it advisable to acquaint them the governor and committee sel obliged to protect the company's name and reputation in the manner mentioned."

VERY IMPRESSIVE SERVICES MARKED CONSECRATION TODAY OF ST. GEORGE'S CATHEDRAL

Building Free From All Legal Indebtedness and Therefore Secure in Position Where To-day's Solemn Service Could Be Carried Out

Kingston, Dec. 17.—Special to the Intelligencer.—The ceremonies in connection with the consecration of St. George's Cathedral today were impressive in the extreme and marked a red letter day in the annals of the historic church.

By 3 p.m. at 11 a.m. the Bishop of Ontario, who performed the consecration, marched at the main doors in accordance with the usual custom. Following the ceremonial admission of the Bishop the procession moved from the main doors to the Chancel in the following order:—choir, lay delegates, clergy of the Diocese, visiting clergy, visiting Bishops, the Lay Secretary, the Archdeacons of Kingston and Ontario, the Cathedral Registrar, the rector, the Chancellor of the Diocese, the bearers of the Pastoral Staff, the Bishop of Ontario, the Bishop's chaplain, the Dominion Primate, the Archbishop, and the Archbishop's chaplains, the 24th Psalm being sung during the procession.

On the arrival of the procession in the Chancel the Bishop of Ontario took his seat immediately in front of the Altar, when the acting rector and wardens of the Cathedral presented him with the instrument of conveyance whereby the Cathedral building is free from all legal indebtedness, this document being placed on the Altar by the Bishop immediately preceding the recitation of the prayer of consecration, and the actual sentence of consecration which was pronounced by the Chancellor, Mr. J. This tablet is of dull brass and had been placed in the wall of the Chancel just inside the Altar rails, and to the left of the Altar itself, the inscription reading as follows:

"Sacred to the Memory of the Right, Reverend William Lennox Mills, D.D., D.C.L., consecrated Lord Bishop of the Diocese of Ontario on All Saints' Day, A.D. 1900. Died May 4th, 1917.4

"Presenting exceptional gifts as a preacher of Gods Holy Word, he was unsparing both in his labors and his means in furthering the work of the Church in the Diocese. His high character and conscientious devotion to the duties of his office won for him the lasting affection and esteem of all his people. R.I.P."

Following the dedication of the memorial tablet Holy Communion was celebrated by the Archbishop of Algoma, with the Bishop of Toronto as Gospeller, the Bishop of Quebec as Epistler, and the acting Rector as Server. This service was fully choral, and the special music was Rt. Rev. Dr. Farthing, Bishop of Montreal, and a former Dean of the Cathedral.

A LUNCHEON

Following the service in the forenoon a complimentary luncheon to all the visiting clergy was held in St. George's Hall, at which the visiting Archbishop and Bishops, prominent laymen and many of the leading citizens of Kingston spoke.

THE EVENING SERVICE

This evening a special service of Thanksgiving will be held in the Cathedral at 8 p.m., when Evensong will be chanted by Rev. W. E. Kidd, the acting rector, and the special preacher on the occasion will be Rt. Rev. Dr. J. C. Hoyer, Bishop of Ottawa.

At this service special music will be rendered by the choir under the direction of the Cathedral organist, Mr. R. H. F. Harvey, the choir being assisted by the R.C.H.A. Band under Capt. A. Light, the Band a red organ combining in a rendering of the Hallelujah Chorus at the close of the service.

QUOTA POLICY NO ADVANTAGE

Canada Would Prefer U.S. Bars Against Its Population.

POLICY IN DISFAVOR

Canadian at New York Compares Tariffs of Two Countries

New York, Dec. 17.—Canada looks with disfavor on the policy of the United States which permits unrestricted emigration of Canadians while it bars imports from that country, George Wilson, a Canadian delegate, asserted here at the Pan-American Commercial Congress.

Mr. Wilson, who is vice-president of the Toronto Board of Trade and an officer of the Royal Bank of Canada, said Canadians consider it a "left-handed compliment" that their country is exempt from the quota provision of the United States immigration law.

"We are not complimented by the fact that so many of our young men are emigrating to your country," he said. "And I may say quite frankly that especially as we are wheat farmers and cattle raisers, we are not at all enamored of your tariff policy, which is as high as Haman's gallows, averaging as it does 45 per cent. against the Canadian tariff of 17 per cent.

"I think I can summarize Canadian sentiment by saying that we would much prefer bars our population than against our products."

In describing the undeveloped resources of Canada, which, he said, was a land of unlimited possibilities, Mr. Wilson asserted that farmers of the Northwestern United States are selling their sons into the Western Provinces of Canada where arable land may be bought as cheaply as $20 an acre.

GERMANS CAN'T AGREE; ADJOURN TILL NEW YEAR

London, Dec. 17.—An exchange telegraph despatch from Berlin says it has been decided to adjourn the Reichstag until January 12, because there is no prospect of a new cabinet being constituted before the New Year.

Dr. Erich Koch at Berlin notified President von Hindenburg of his inability to form a cabinet. This action had been forecast by the decision of the social democratic party that it could not take part in a coalition government.

COULDN'T TURN CORNER

Speed, ice and a corner combined to smash the rear wheel of a big out-of-town touring car at 1 o'clock this morning at George and Bridge streets. The car, going north on George, turned East on Bridge and climbed over the sidewalk with jammed brakes. The main damages resulted to one rear wheel from which rim and tire were torn.

Aga Khan, one of the turf's outstanding breeders, and race horse owners, has completed a deal with Sir Mortimer Davis, whereby the latter acquires the pick of yearling and young-er thoroughbreds of the Khan's French stables. CHIEF OF STAFF READY FOR ANY EVENTUALITY

Lord Cavan Plans to Keep in Touch With Eastern Situation

London, Dec. 17.—Even official quarters here are in doubt as to the manner in which Turkey will take the Mosul award. While in diplomatic quarters the idea of their resort to force is ridiculed. General Lord Cavan, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, has cancelled his proposed Christmas holiday abroad in order to be in London to feel with any crisis that may arise. Air Minister Sir Samuel Hoare expresses optimism privately, holding the view that British airplanes in Irak can prevent any Turkish invasion, but this view is not taken by the War Office, where a comparatively small British force is forced available, and the reported concentration of three Turkish divisions near the frontier is causing worry.

LAURA HAD TRESSES. BOBBED ON OCEAN LINER

It is not every girl who her to go to sea to have her hair bobbed and that is lucky for the shorn bathers, and by the same token rather unfortunate for their sea-going brothers of the clippers and ranges. Yet an ocean voyage did the trick for Miss Lcura La Plante, who is co-starring with Eugene O'Brien in "Dangerous Innocence," a Universal-Jewel production, coming to the Belle theatre, today.

It happened this way—in "Dangerous Innocence" Miss La Plante plays the role of Ann Chatterton the screen adaptation of Fannie Wyman noted "Ann's An Idiot". Now Ann, who is on her way from Liverpool to Bombay to join her parents, goes aboard ship a simple, little school girl, with hair falling in long tresses over her shoulders. Ann is married the journey alone. Winsome and innocent she attracts to her Major Anthony Seymour, portrayed by Eugene O'Brien, a British Army officer returning to duty in India. Believing her his only motive is to be aid to the child. Later she tells him she is 19.

Love blooms in Anns breast. It has already gripped that of Seymour, but he tries to be distant. Wishing to put aside once and for all time her childish appearance Ann goes to the ship's barber shop to have her hair bobbed.

VOLLEY-BALL ACTIVITIES

Only one of the two scheduled volley ball fixtures for last night, was played. However, there were men and substitution change for the exhibition, this staple game would have been well worth the price of admission alone—not without doubt it was the best demonstration of this indoor pastime that the local Association has been favored with for a long time. There was very little to pick between the two competing teams, the Business Men and Ye Men on the night's play, this notwithstanding that the latter are credited with winning all three games. In the winning, however they were forced to go the limit and give everything they had in all departments of the game. Even after they had lost the first and second games to their opponents, the Business Men did not relax in their efforts but kept keeping on to the very end.

The scores of the set were: 15-8; 16-14; 15-10.

Business Men—Stilwell, McKechnie, Griffin, Munnings, Facey; Subs.

Ye Men—Armstrong, Brown, Nurse, Weir, Reynolds, Poole.

Three Hours of Wrangling at Kingston Meet of O.H.A. Teams

ALL WANT JAM ON IT

Brockville and Port Hope and Trenton Ask Special Favors

After much talking and arguing for three and a half hours at Kingston Wednesday night, representatives from cities and towns in the Intermediate O.H.A. group in which Belleville is listed, failed to draw up a playing schedule.

The meeting which started at eight o'clock, terminated at eleven, and it was understood that the O.H.A. would "do something" in the matter today. Representatives who attended the meeting at Kingston are eagerly awaiting the O.H.A. decision.

Bill Thomas represented Belleville at the meeting and today told how no definite and harmonious decision could be reached. Trenton wanted one thing, Port Hope something else and Brockville, at the other end, wanted more something else, and so it went on.

Morrison and Tonkin of Brockville were there. Prosser represented Cornwall. Jim Sullivan was Kingston's representative with Ed Hardwick and Prof. J. P. MacDonald of Queen's, who was in charge of the meeting. William House spoke on behalf of Preston. Ed Thomas for Belleville, and both Cobourg and Port Hope were represented by Peter Brown, editor of the Port Hope Times.

Y.M.C.A. Bowling

Wednesday afternoon at the "Y" alleys a friendly game was played between the Ladies' Auxiliary and the teachers of Queen Mary School and the former proved victors by 33 pins. The first game the auxiliary took the lead and were up 56 pins but the teachers cut this down to 25 pins in the second game and also in the last game they gained another 5 pins. Mrs. Bottum of the Ladies' Auxiliary was the high three string bowler with 548 and Miss Sullivan of the Q.M.I.C. the single with 202.

YANKEES SIGN THOMAS

New York, Dec. 17.—Myles Thomas, star right-handed twirler of the Toronto Internationals last season, has been purchased by the New York Yankees, in making the announcement prior to his departure for his home in Cincinnati, Mgr. Miller Huggins said the Yankees had outbid several rival big league clubs but declined to disclose the purchase price. Thomas, once first coming to the Yankees for a trial in 1921, has developed rapidly in minor league ranks.

OUELLET, GOYER HERE TO PITCH

Grand Trunk Team Will be In Great Shape Next Season

ALEX WEIR RETURNING

New Park and New Diamond and New Grand Stand and New Team

Twenty representative men attended a second baseball meeting held at the Y.M.C.A. Wednesday night when interest displayed by the meeting in December, washed for unbounded enthusiasm in the old game when the sun becomes warmer and Victoria Day is a bit closer. Four of the new Aldermen were there.

Belleville needs a good team next season. If it has not a good team, then it will not be the fault of the officials of the C.N.E. club and other interested fans.

Jack Ouellet, who has been in the city now nearly one month, has accepted a position with J.L.R. Gorman, realtor and insurance man. That will ease the conscience of many fans who delight in seeing Jack in action and who feel that a very important department of the team in a league of high calibre (O.B. L. has been satisfactorily filled.

Gil Goyer, brother of "Freddy" Goyer of Guelph, who pitched a few games with the railroaders last season, has secured employment, and will be here for the baseball season next year. Of course Goyer has been living in the city continuously for one year, but he had been out of work for a time.

Alec "Bunco" Weir is expected to be seen on the lineup next season. He will be home for Christmas. Alec played third for one of the best teams in Detroit mercantile League last season. He played in 54 of the 60 games.

With the regulars out again and new additions, the C.N.E. should put up some argument Victoria Day or whatever day in May the league may open.

Jack Dance, a smoker, or both, may be staged by the officers of the club during the winter in order to raise a little money for the team to start the season. There is $5 in the treasury now, but that is easy compared to Oshawa, where a deficit of $1,400 had to be made up by fifty public spirited citizens.

With the fine new park and excellent seating accommodation it behooves everyone to assist the team in any way they can, officers believe. By the by if there is any money oft after Christmas shopping, donations to the club will not be refused.

BEAT PITTSBURH AND TIE OTTAWA

Montreal Maroons Outplayed Yellow Jackets at Home

SCORELESS 3RD FRAME

All Canadian Teams Win in Invasion of American Cities

Pittsburg, Dec. 17.—The Canadian hockey invasion of the United States which commenced with Ottawa and Can adien victories in Boston and New York was further developed here last night when the Montreal Maroons outplayed Pittsburg—and incidentally tied themselves with the Ottawa Senators.

The game was replete with thrills and attracted one of the largest crowds of the season.

Pittsburg led at the first breather 2-1, Mike scoring in 3 minutes and Seibert evening the count. While a sub scored for Pittsburg with two Montreal men off.

Both teams went at it with as much willingness in the second canto as in the first futile efforts to score were nullified by the two valorant goalies, but finally after about four minutes of roughing Noble crashed through the Pirate defence and deposited the puck for the tieing marker. A few minutes thereafter Cornelier and Broadbent decided to settle accumulated differences in fistic style, which resulted, as such things generally do, in both being banished from the ice. Hap Speared as though Connie resented Broadbent's methods of checking his progress.

Milks managed to net a goal on a scrimmage before the net, but the referee ruled it offside. Kitchen took the puck down the ice and shot a pretty goal through the defence and into the corner of the net, putting the Maroons in the lead the first time.

Money carried another for the Maroons at 17.35, the puck deflecting into the net after Worters blocked it.

Second period:—Montreal 4, Pittsburgh 2.

That lasted the scoring.

The teams:

Pittsburgh	Montreal
Worters	Geel
Conacher	Defence	Noble
Smith	Defence	Mquro
Milks	Centre	Stewart
McCurry	Wing	Seibert
Darragh	Wing	Broadbent
Cleghorn	Sub.	Lowrey

Skinner	Sub.	Cain

OLD LANDMARK GONE COLLEGE IN ITS STEAD

Kingston, Dec. 17.—An old landmark known as the Place, the farm home of the late Dr. Dembrabtha, has been torn down and a small cottage built in its place on Tremblay Road, near Deseronto. The farm is now the property of the Hawks of the Reserve. A sale of used lumber was held on the place on Thursday of last week. The sale was very successful. Over $700 was made from the sale of used lumber on gas-making tank with house and some small buildings. The money realized on this sale goes to improvements on the place. Mr. G. M. Campbell, the Indian agent of the Reserve, auctioned at the sale.

'David Gluckstein' Creates Hysterical Scene in Court

BOLD BUT SPINELESS

Victimized Jewel Firms By Posing as Man of Wealth

London, Dec. 17.—"David Gluckstein," London's "swankiest" thief, who for months eluded Scotland Yard's best men and fascinated England by his nerve and often amusing adventures in crime, today is a crest fallen convict facing a dreary prospect.

"Yours is one of the worst records of persistent and repeated crime that has ever been before me," said a London judge in sentencing him to imprisonment for three years on a series of theft charges and eight years' "preventative detention" as an habitual criminal.

PRINCE OF CROOK

Though a prince of crooks, such as E. Phillips Oppenheim loves to describe, "Gluckstein" in ordinary life was only Emmanuel Gladman, aged 25, a clerk. He began his criminal career in 1916. In court today the sangfroid and distinguished presence that won him the police nickname of "the dandy swindler" and a reputation as one of the cleverest rogues who have passed through the dock, were conspicuously absent.

He broke down completely when he was sentenced, and was led from the court sobbing hysterically.

"Oh God, don't do that," he cried. "Don't give me a long sentence. I can't do it. I never will do it." He then collapsed in an attendant's arms. When he was revived the judge told him his term would be shortened if he showed a disposition to reform.

"Gluckstein's" famous pose was as a member of the millionaire Gluckstein family owing Lyon's restaurants here. In one of his most audacious swindles he obtained jewellery by representing he was a confidential agent of Lord Reading, Viceroy of India. Always clothed in the highest fashion, he assumed such hauteur in tradesmen's presence that many of them immediately assumed all his credentials to be correct and took the attitude of not wishing to offend a person of such high standing by questioning his claims. Numerous jewellers permitted him to select the best in their stock and take it out on approval without even a deposit.

A FAST WORKER

A characteristic incident took place don shop, "Gluckstein" told the jeweler he was Mister Lewis, proprietor of the Gaiety Theatre, and asked if he could open an account. "Certainly, sir," said the dealer. But "Mister Lewis" then changed his mind. Selecting two rings and a watch, he drew out a bank roll and peeled off the price. Then, hesitating an instant, he queried: "May I use your phone?" When the jeweller contested the theft ostensibly called up the Gaiety Theatre and gave several orders to the manager. Then, turning to the much impressed jeweler, he said on second thought he would buy some jewels for an actress in his revue.

KIDDED THE POLICE

Selecting a diamond cluster ring with four sapphires set in gold, a silver and diamond crescent brooch, a diamond horseshoe pin and a diamond ring, worth in all several thousand dollars, he said he would take them "subject to the lady's approval," and send the money or return the jewels. He then vanished out of the jeweler's life.

"Gluckstein" once wrote a letter to a London newspaper, "kidding" the detectives, concluding:

"I am afraid, despite my alleged cleverness, I have exhausted the possibilities of London, thanks to your attentions, but there are still fresh fields and pastures new, unless some social philosopher converts me to a nobler conception of life."

last September. Entering a smart London restaurant, he sauntered through Scotland Yard deserted him and in tears and contrition he sought mitigation of his sentence. "I am certainly a contemptible scoundrel and a low-down cad", he told the judge. He then declared he was not a criminal either from temperament or choice, but through the influence of a married woman much older than himself.

When the judge announced his intention to inflict a long term, the prisoner grew hysterical. "Oh God, don't do that," he cried. "Don't give me a long sentence. I can't do it. I never will do it." A Heart's Triumph

By Effie Adelaide Rowlands.

Now and then Felix ran down to Westshire to pay his uncle a visit. He found these visits to suit his own convenience. For instance, in the autumn he enjoyed some shooting, and in the hunting season he was able to have some good runs with the hounds.

The allowance Doctor Thorold had made him during his college days was still continued, but as it was only a few hundred pounds a year, it did very little to support Felix in his expensive tastes. Despite the knowledge that the old man had parted with a considerable sum to purchase him the practice he now held, Felix was of the opinion that Doctor Thorold might easily have increased his yearly allowance.

He had already borrowed as much as he possibly could on the wealth that must come to him at his uncle's death; but when one has started at such a pace as young Doctor Felix Bingham started, one requires more command of money than he was able to get.

He was, indeed, beginning to find himself in a very awkward corner, when he received an invitation from some county neighbor of his uncle's to join their party for the military ball given at Minchester by the Fiftieth Lancers. As these people were rich, and as it suited his purpose to pay a visit to his uncle at this time, Felix wrote saying he would be at the ball, only he must remain as a guest in his uncle's house, otherwise he feared the old man would be madly unhappy. This arrangement he carried out, much to Sebastian Thorold's delight.

The two men had a cosy dinner together, and Felix had listened with the usual expression of pleasure to all there to him—proxy details of his uncle's life, giving in return an airy and entirely fictitious account of his own.

These visits of the young man were a source of great happiness to Doctor Thorold. He found something better in Felix each time they met. To him, his nephew was the embodiment of every physical and mental perfection. Most certainly it would be a rare thing to come across a man more splendid in form, more charming in manner, more even-tempered.

Felix was in one of his sunniest humors this night of the ball, as he sat listening to his uncle's voice, while he smoked his after-dinner cigar. It would have seemed inconceivable to an onlooker to imagine that his laughing, happy, handsome exterior covered a mind full of impatient anger, anxiety, and pronounced selfishness.

With his wonderful eyes fixed in apparent affection on Sebastian Thorold's silvered hair and benevolent face, his bitter thoughts were passing through Felix's brain.

If he could only obtain some clue as to the extent of the property the old man possessed! Wealth he must have, for Felix knew that his uncle came of a moneyed family; that his life-work had been rewarded by financial success. This quite apart from the fact that several years before a certain friend and colleague of Sebastian Thorold's had died, bequeathing to the latter a large sum of money to be used for the purpose of furthering the interests of science—a purpose, needless to say, that Felix Bingham regarded with no amiable spirit.

Generous as the old man was to Felix he never made any confidences about his property to his nephew, and Felix had to draw conclusions of his own as to the value of the estate which must one day come to him, and on which he counted so much.

"Will he live forever?" he asked himself, with cruel impatience, that night.

It was annoyance to find Doctor Thorold looking more sprightly and talking more intelligently than ever. Matters would have been altogether better for his ambitions and his daily necessities if his uncle had fallen into an invalid state. Thus helpless, his affairs would have passed into Felix's hands, and the result would have been infinitely satisfactory to the young man. But, save for a rheumatic tendency, which crippled him slightly, Sebastian Thorold was as hale and hearty now in his seventy-fourth year as he had been when Felix was a lad.

The young man's thoughts were far enough from the various subjects his uncle introduced. Despite the smile on his lips and his serene manner, he felt utterly depressed. The ball had no particular attraction for him, for he went to many balls; and though the people whom he was to meet were certainly rich, were correspondingly vulgar, and, as such, most displeasing to him.

"I wonder if he would be good for a thousand if I were to break it to him gently?" he pondered.

He took another cigar and lit it meditatively. Doctor Thorold smoked his old meerschaum pipe.

"Surely, it is time for your dance, isn't it, Felix?" he queried, as the clock chimed eleven.

Felix shrugged his shoulders.

"I have a very good mind not to go," he said; "it is so pleasant here with you, Uncle Sebastian, and I see you so seldom."

Doctor Thorold's eyes had a deeper look of tenderness.

"There are others, maybe, who will be looking for you, my boy."

Felix smiled.

"I can do without the others."

To himself he set the awkward task of finding some good way of broaching the subject of money, and it was not an easy matter to handle.

"Well," the old man said, with a sigh and a wistfulness in his voice, "I shall not be in a hurry to lose you, Felix only since you came down here to go to this ball, it seems to me you ought to go. You will see all the elite of Westshire. Everything belonging to this part of the world will be there to-night, except Charles Lashtyne and myself.

Felix looked up suddenly.

NEGLECTING THE BALLOT BOX

The funny part about all this discussion over the failure of many electors to use their franchise or to interest themselves in politics is that such people are really boycotting the ballot box, which is the symbol of our determination to be free, the instrument by which we may say what measures we approve and what men we are willing to have carry on our business.

The ballot box should be all powerful—and yet 50 per cent., sometimes more, of the people refuse to exercise their right to make use of this powerful agency.

"Vote as you like, but vote", may not be an ideal slogan, for a ballot cast in ignorance is often not very valuable, but at the same time conditions would be infinitely improved were the advice lived up to generally.

Unfortunately, too, it is not always the ignorant who stay away from the polls and the intelligent who vote.

In the 1923 election for the office of Mayor of Chicago, 740,000 of the 1,400,000 adult citizens who might have voted failed to vote. One-half the adult citizens of Chicago threw away their right to a voice in the government of their city.

Competent investigators interviewed 6,000 of the 740,000 citizens who failed to vote, asking them why they did not vote. Charles E. Merriam and Harold F. Gosnel have compiled the results of this research in a highly suggestive book on Non-Voting. Twenty distinct reasons for their failure to vote were given by the 6,000 non-voters interviewed. The four groups of reasons were as follows:

First—Physical difficulties: (1) Illness; (2) Absence from city; (3) Detained by helpless member of the family.

Second—Legal and administrative obstacles: (1) Insufficient legal residence; 2) Fear of loss of business or wages if time were taken to vote; (3) Congestion at the polls; (4) Poor location of polling booth; (5) Fear of disclosure of age.

Third—Disbelief in voting: (1) Disbelief in woman's voting; (2) Objections of husband; (3) Belief that one vote counts for nothing; (4) Disgust with politics; (5) Disgust with one party; (6) Belief that ballot-box is corrupted; (7) Disbelief in all political action.

Fourth—Inertia: (1) General indifference; (2) Indifference to particular election; (3) Neglect, intended to vote but failed; (4) Ignorance or timidity regarding voting; (5) Failure of party workers.

See which of these was your reason for not voting in the last election, and ask yourself whether it was a worthy reason that should guide you in the next election.

ALL-AMERICAN CANAL ROUTE

Quebec province's opposition to the St. Lawrence deep waterways project is based on the assumption that if the project is not carried out present conditions will continue—that produce for export will continue to be brought to Montreal in river vessels and there transhipped to ocean steamers. But perhaps the Quebec obstructionists are overlooking a rather important factor in the situation. American promoters of the deep waterways project favor it, because they are convinced that it is the most practicable and the most economical plan to securing continuous water transportation from lake ports to the ocean; but failing in this, they have an alternative project in the enlargement of the New York State Barge canal. It is now announced that Chairman Dempsey of the congressional rivers and harbor committee, who has hitherto been an ardent supporter of the St. Lawrence project has now switched over to the alternative scheme, the change in his attitude being due to the recent decision of the Imperial Privy Council vesting in the Quebec legislature full power over the bed of the St. Lawrence river in that province. Mr. Dempsey realizes that possession of this power will enable Quebec to obstruct the deep waterways project, so he turns to the next best proposition—through transportation for produce in large vessels by way of the New York State barge canal.

Should the improvement of this waterway be proceeded with, the most probable plan would be to enlarge the Oswego canal which connects with the New York canal system and the Hudson River.

Should the improvement of this waterway be proceeded with, the most probable plan would be to enlarge the Oswego canal, which connects with the New York canal system and the Hudson river. Thus large vessels from the upper lakes could pass through the new Welland canal, down Lake Ontario to Oswego, and thence through the New York state canals to the Hudson and on to New York. This transportation plan would of course depend upon the completion of the new Welland canal—a fact which suggests the inexpediency of rushing that work to completion. Unless the St. Lawrence canals are correspondingly enlarged, the Welland canal will have been built at a cost of a hundred million dollars to the Canadian people mainly to enable our neighbors to divert water transportation from the St. Lawrence route to New York.

Perhaps, however, the Quebec obstructionists will get their eyes open so far as to enable them to see the point.

OUR NEGLECTED SEAPORTS

Some significant and unpleasant figures were published yesterday in an Ottawa despatch. It was officially stated that during November 24,195,814 bushels of Canadian wheat had been exported to Britain and that of this quantity 16,619,104 bushels had been shipped by way of United States ports, and 5,485,710 had gone by way of Canadian ports; also that during the four months ended November 30 a total of 63,632,820 bushels of Canadian wheat had been shipped to Britain through United States ports as against only 17,144,297 bushels shipped through Canadian ports.

A message from Halifax is to the effect that not one bushel of the Canadian grain crop of 1925 has arrived in that port, although Halifax is equipped with two great grain elevators, one completed this year at a cost exceeding a million dollars. No doubt the same is true of St. John. But Halifax and St. John are Canada's Atlantic winter ports; it is not to be expected that Canadian grain would be shipped from either of them during the period of summer navigation. The puzzle is why so much of it was shipped through foreign ports instead of by way of Montreal, and the puzzle is the greater because of the fact that much American produce reaches the sea by way of the St. Lawrence and Montreal. There must be a reason and the reason must be an economic one; it must pay Canadian shippers to use American in preference to Canadian ports.

The figures quoted are an argument in favor of the St. Lawrence deep waterways project, which would knock off several cents a bushel from the through rate from the head of the lakes to tide-waters.

NO WAR WITH TURKEY

There has been talk of war between Turkey and Great Britain for some time, but an authority reminds the people that if Turkey forced war on the Mosul question she will be at war, not only with John Bull, but with the countries forming the League of Nations. The league gave Britain a mandate, appointed it steward, policeman and overseer over the new kingdom of Iraq and much as the Turk covets part of that territory which he formerly governed, the League is not likely to give it him because the Christian nations simply don't trust him.

The Turk has a habit of talking fight when anyone treads on the tail of his coat, but in this occasion he has no outside support. In former big wars he has had Great Britain or Germany on his side, but now he would be absolutely isolated and have to fight alone. Few people love the Turk.

VINCENT MASSEY HANGING ON

The Port Hope Daily Times:

It is pointed out that Vincent Massey is meeting in "conference" and not in "council" with Premier Mackenzie King and others of his defeated ministry. Mr. Massey having resigned the portfolio he didn't have cast his slip in Council, but the exigencies of the present case have made necessary the improvisation of some new methods of consultation. This has been found in the "conference" which Mr. Massey attends while he awaits the results of negotiations to find him a seat where there is less chance of him being defeated than there was in Durham or Toronto.

The latest information is that a seat will be found for the ex-president of the Massey-Harris Co. in the province of Saskatchewan where so much noise has been made from time to time about the price of the Massey-Harris products.

WOMAN A PROSPECTOR AND HAS MADE GOOD

Vancouver, B.C., Dec. 17.—Bringing with her samples of ore from claims she located in the Portland Canal district of British Columbia, where she has been prospecting during the summer, Mrs. N. H. Stevens, of Stewart, has arrived in Vancouver. She is the owner of several important mineral prospects located by herself in the Marmot River, Bear River and Salmon River sections of the district.

Mrs. Stevens is one of the few women who have taken up prospecting. She goes into the hills like the ordinary prospector of the sterner sex, and has gained extensive experience that Northern men say has made her as good a judge of mineral indications as the average prospector. She is a familiar figure in the Stewart district and has good knowledge of all the mineral locations which she has visited from time to time.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Dec. 16.—Wheat underwent a sharp setback in price today as the result of general selling on account of the bearish character of the complete official crop report from Argentina. This report received over night was greatly at variance with assumptions due to Government figures yesterday from only two Argentine provinces. The new report however was viewed skeptically by numerous traders and there was active buying on the decline. Opening prices, 1 7-8 to 4 cents lower, new style, were followed by a moderate rally but then by fresh downward sales with December touching $1.65¾ and May $1.64 6-8. Corn and oats receded with wheat.

BEAVERBROOK ADVANCES PLEA FOR FREE PRESS

Old Partisan Newspaper Produces a Wrong Relation

POLITICIANS ANNOYED

Beaverbrook Includes Many Personal Sketches in His New Book

London, Dec. 17.—Interesting views of the changed relationship between statesmen and journalists since the rise of politically independent newspapers is given by Lord Beaverbrook, proprietor of The Daily Express, in his book "Politicians and the Press".

CONTINUAL QUARREL

Referring to the continual quarrels between politicians and the press in these days when newspapers tend more and more to break partisan shackles and take whatever attitude they please, Lord Beaverbrook writes:

"The newspaper has an equal right with the statesman to choose for its own public policy and subordinate its relations with individuals in accordance with how far they agree or disagree with its own national issue. But this at least the politicians will not allow. An independent newspaper pursuing a national course uninfluenced by and often cutting across party interests is a new factor and one extremely inconvenient to the dominant executive of the day. Its therefore is resented, like all fresh influences."

FAVORS INDEPENDENCE

Lord Beaverbrook greatly favors independent journalism as against the old partisan press which, he writes, "produces" a wrong relation between the newspaper and its public," but the politicians, according to him "sigh for the good old days when any party error would be defended by a hundred able pens," and their resentment finds vent in the constant complaint that any newspaper opponent is animated solely by personal spite on the part of its editors. What he considers the fallacy of such arguments in general is illustrated by Lord Beaverbrook by the following experience in his own career:

"I am told, for instance, that The Daily Express has a vendetta against Mr. Baldwin when it opposes his Mesopotamian policy. Yet The Daily Express began its campaign for the evacuation of Mesopotamia when Mr. Lloyd George was prime minister, strongly urged Mr. Bonar Law to take the step he did in limiting our occupation to 1928, held the same view when Mr. Ramsay MacDonald was in power and merely continued to maintain a consistent policy now that Mr. Baldwin is in office. It is incredible that anyone with any pretention to logic or even sanity can propound the view that the unvaried policy of the newspaper dating from 1919 when Mr. Baldwin was in a position of no political importance, was invented to annoy Mr. Baldwin as premier six years later. Yet I constantly see this theory advanced."

THE BRITISH EMPIRE

Lord Beaverbrook declares that the future of Britain lies in the British Empire, not Europe, and that "the British Empire is the greatest instrument for good the world has ever seen." He remarks in conclusion that if its action is to be as limited by party exigencies that he is barred from expressing his real views, "I would at once quit public life altogether and return to the Canadian village whence I came."

Lord Beaverbrook in his book claims that the "discovered" Stanley Baldwin, the present prime minister of Great Britain and gave him his first chance by recommending him to Bonar Law, who was premier a short time before his death. However, His Lordship displays a certain amount of reticence in narrating his political relations with these two.

Referring socially to Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, Lord Beaverbrook notes that Churchill knows the difference between good and bad food, although the chancellor is not necessarily a gourmand. He also mentions Lord Birkenhead, secretary of state for India, in a social way by saying that "Lord Birkenhead, though a good trencherman (having a good appetite) confronts the contents of his plate as if an enemy were before him which had to be abolished."

DEBT TO STATES

Again referring to Premier Baldwin Lord Beaverbrook says: "I have always been ready to agree with Mr. Baldwin when he is right; my only complaint is that he is sometimes wrong."

Bonar Law, according to Beaverbrook's "Politicians and the Press," appears passionately to have wanted to resign his premiership rather than set his hand to the settlement of Great Britain's debt to the United States. Throughout the booklet Bonar Law is revealed as having consistently occupied the role of Jonathan to Beaverbrook's David. How Beaverbrook helped Lloyd George to power then fell foul of him, and how His Lordship pursued Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen, when the latter was minister of agriculture over the embargo on Canadian cattle, are duly recorded in the booklet.

Lord Beaverbrook, according to his own story, has always in vain to overlook the fact that Lord Birkenhead knows and appreciates a glass of good wine.

CRIME LESSEED IN PAST SEASON

Montreal, Held to Be Centre Of Misconduct Is "Good"

ONLY THREE MURDERS

No Large Robberies In Recent Past and Constables Smile

Montreal, Dec. 17.—Crime in Montreal had been decidedly lessened during 1925, according to police department records.

Although complete statistics are not yet available, the records show that only three murders were committed in the city during the past eleven and a half months.

In addition, there have been no large robberies and no serious crimes of any other nature. Minor offenses, also, were considerably less than in 1924, when the outstanding crimes were the Bank of Hochelaga murder and holdup, and the robbery of His Majesty's mail.

Of the three murders this year only one remains unsolved—that of Arthur Moreau, 3328 Berrie street, a butcher who was killed in his shop on St. James street on March 18, 1925, by thieves, who stole about $200 from him. No one has ever been arrested for this murder.

R. Schroeder was found behind a door on the gallery of his home, 2300 Jolliette street, on June 6th, with bullet wounds in the body. For the alleged shooting Robert Wise was acquitted by a jury in King's Bench, self-defence being the plea.

Joe Moro is in a death cell at Bordeaux jail, awaiting hanging for the murder on July 22 last, in the Dreamland club—since closed—of Donald Carragher, a youth from Maloue, N.Y. Moro went into the place to rob the merry-makers, but when a companion of the dead youth threw a chair, he shot him first, killing Carragher and wounding another.

PETTY ROBBERIES.

There have been a number of petty robberies in various residences and stores, and a number of persons have been held up in the streets but none of these can be classed as major crimes. True, many automobiles have been stolen during the summer, but a large percentage of these have been recovered.

The morality squad has made a general cleanup in the red light district, with the result that what previously was a locality of "wine, women and song," is now dark and silent. The district is closed, according to the police.

"I think the police department is to be congratulated on its splendid work this year," said a Montreal resident. "They have the situation well in hand. What city in the United States, with a population even approaching that of Montreal can be as proud of its record? Very few, if any.

"The duty of any police department is to prevent crime, and in Montreal that certainly is what is being done. The department deserves great credit."

Recreation Bowling Results

The following is the standing of the highest bowlers in the Recreation leagues in the town competition, every bowler being well over the 600 mark with the two highest bowlers just over the 700 mark for three consecutive strings. Cornell 710; T. Barrett 705; Beaver 690; Donohue 687; O'Callaghan 687; Harvey 683; Turner 677; Wesley 663; Young 660; Stratton 659; Lynch 631; Mitchell 625; Hector 620; A. Symons 605. In the ladies department they haven't seemed to have got down to it and although there have been a number of them bowling there are no scores worthy of mention.

Two league games were played at the Recreation Alleys last night, one in the junior and one in the C.N.R. league. In the junior league the Vicks were a little too good for the National Castings, while in the C.N.R. league the Station easily won from the Express. High bowlers for their respective teams are as follows: Drumm for the Vicks and Beavers for the Castings, while in the C.N. league Johns was high for the Station and Harris for the Express.

TWO ARE SENTENCED TO RECEIVE THE LASH

Montreal, Dec. 17.—The lash has been featured in sentences given by Judges when, for theft of $45 one man was sentenced to twenty lashes and two years' imprisonment, and another, for gross misconduct with a minor, to six strokes during the terms lasting days of a three-year term. The judges scored both accused and made it plain that in all such cases the lash would be ordered, in order that a stop should be put to such practices.

Twenty strokes of the lash will be dealt John Dolenchuk, convicted of theft of $45, during a prison term of two years, ten of which strokes will be administered within ten days of release.

Such was the effect of sentence given by Judge Decarie this morning, who, when he disposed of the case said: "let it be well understood that the kind of robbery will be dealt with now by the lash."

Rev. Dr. Crossley, Now 75 Years "Young" Gives Demonstration in Shirt Sleeves Of Exercises and Diet Which He Preaches

"Better take time to keep well and live, than have to take time to get sick and die."

That is the motto which Rev. Dr. H. G. Crossley impressed upon minds of men, women and children who crowded the Sunday School rooms of Bridge street church Thursday night, when that wonderful preacher spoke on the subject, "A Million Dollar Secret."

Ladies should have that motto in their bedroom, men in their hats, and newspapers should print it.

Dr. Crossley, well known in Belleville for his successful evangelistical campaigns of the past, is 75 years "young", yet as breathing, strong and supple as a school boy. For 40 years he has taken physical exercises, and for nearly 52 years, he has been an evangelist, known the world-over.

PROVES PRACTICAL

Demonstrating his set of exercises in shirt sleeves, Dr. Crossley explained each movement and its benefit to the body. He repeated the exercises several times so that those who wished to begin them, might not forget. Explanatory pamphlets were passed out.

Any person is as young as his or her spine and arteries, Dr. Crossley avers, and he holds that this set of seven simple exercises, taken for five or ten minutes each morning and evening, will add from one to twenty years to four out of five persons' lives.

Two fifths of the diseases of the world are caused by stomach trouble, he said, and another two fifths from constipation.

Those two troubles played into each other's hands largely for the other fifth. By cutting out both, four fifths of the diseases were cut off. By cutting out both, four fifths of the diseases were cut off. The exercises had resulted in his case of his not having a headache in forty years and prevented sickness throughout his life except for child's diseases when he was young. Also the members of his family have seldom gone, or were set aside, and all younger than he. Constipation, he said, was caused from eating denatured food, not drinking sufficient water, and lack of exercise. White bread and rice were two foods named as the greatest causes. Drinking at least eight glasses of water should be observed. As bad sewage caused disease in cities so did a cess pool in the body.

Diet was advised and "piecing" between meals—even candy—was censured. Drinking water before meals, deep breathing exercises taken, each mouthful of food chewed at least 20 times. Disobedience to these rules caused bad teeth to-day in young people and false teeth in the opposite of people not much older.

WOODPILE A CURE

Exercises of head and neck corrected incipient goitre, also prolonged and correct exercising of the eyes. Nervous diseases, it was explained, had recently been discovered to be not diseases of the nerves, but due to lack of exercises. The wash tub and woodpile were advised ahead of the rest cure, as that vigid, weak and unused muscles might be, corrected. Millions of cells in the body formed the storage battery of the body and when run down, should be adjusted by brisk exercises which vitalized the cells.

Dr. Crossley is quite bald. In suburban cases, it was advised to start early and increase the voice, but by all means keeping up with the exercises. It is Dr. Crossley's practice to "do each exercise" 4 times. When he feels tired, he does them 8 times each, for he feels well. Sluggishness caused the tired feeling and it is paramount to get the poison on the move. His brother, Rev. Jos. Crossley, former pastor at Tabernacle here, was completely cured after being an arch rheumatic, and many other cases were cited. Chest expansion had been increased from 3 to 4 1-2 inches by experiments in 1 months by this method.

LIKE BIG HARP

The human body was compared to a huge harp of 1,000 strings, which must be kept in tune by exercise so that it might be played on and played with, to bring forth the best results possible. Not to keep in tune by exercise so that it might be played on and played with, to bring forth the best results possible with life worth, if the health was gone. When Queen Elizabeth went away, she said she would give millions of money for a inch of life. Carnegie said he would give all his millions for fifteen or twenty additional years of healthful life. By investing ten minutes each day, years of

1925 CIVIC COMMITTEES HELD FINAL MEETING

At the final meeting of the civic committees of the 1925 council held last evening a large number of accounts were passed.

It was decided that all who are on the city pay list be paid on Tuesday next the 22nd inst.

A recommendation was adopted that the Parks Commission be empowered to borrow $12,000 instead of $10,000 on the Exhibition debenture.

The Council will concur in a petition from residents in Foster Ward that the railway track on Wharf street which led to the rolling mills premises be taken up or buried. The petition will be presented to the proper railway authorities and may have to be dealt with by the railway Board.

DRUGGISTS HERE ARRANGE HOURS FOR EVENING HOURS

Even the druggists are human. You may have doubted this, if, when coming home late from the movies you looked into the gaily decorated drug store, windows and watched the white suited patiently working; and you may have wondered when they slept or had time to take a meal.

But this is all to be changed in the new year just about to dawn. Either the druggists or their wives have rebelled and have worked out a plan to serve the public and still have an occasional hour of leisure. After January 1st, 1926, the hour of closing for drug stores on week days will be 6.30 p.m. but one druggist will be on duty each night to serve the public.

This is an extension of the present plan of only two druggists being open on Sundays. It is proposed to keep the public posted through the press every day as to where they can get a prescription filled that evening, if necessary, or get a forgotten box of candies.

The present Sunday plan will be maintained, but of course Saturday night all stores will be open for business.

HIGHLIGHTS ON LIFE IN BOOMING FLORIDA

Miami, Fla., Dec. 18.—A couple recently drove to Miami in their automobile. Applying for a room at one of the hotels the clerk said that he had but one room and the price was $15. He was provided and treated before six o'clock in the morning; otherwise $15 per day, explaining that he could rent a room at 6 in the morning until six at night.

They took the room and paid $25.00 for automobile parking privileges. In the morning they vacated their room sharp at six and going out to keep the car. They were surprised to find three men sleeping therein. These explained that they rented the car for a night for a lodging, having paid the hotel management $3 a piece for the privilege. They knew nothing about its ownership.

Regimental Band Gives Conductor Fitting Moments

Lieutenant E. R. Hinchey, bandmaster of the Regimental Band of the Argyll Light Infantry, was given the surprise of his life last night when he was called on the inspection by the C.O.C., the District, Major-General Elmsley. Hinchey was presented with an ebony conductor's baton, with silver fittings and suitably engraved with names and date.

It is one of Mr. Hinchey's most prized possessions, and ranks with the wrist watch given him as the occasion of winning by Flet Ba-C.E.F. Band of the army to being the best band in the Canadian Corps in France in 1918.

AUXILIARY PUPIL DOES WORK EVERY BY SUPERVISION

Results of Year's Efforts With Backward Students Gratifying

ALL SCHOOLS CLOSED

Exercises Going on Most of Week Wind Up at Queen Alexandra

The work of sixteen auxiliary students of the city schools was on display today at Queen Alexandra School. It is the result of a year's training for most of them; proof of their inherent possibilities and demonstration that the course given by their instructor, Mr. L. J. Reynolds is worthy of support.

The auxiliary pupils are being given special attention for the past year. They are drawn from all the public schools. Their chronological ages do not agree with their mental ages.

But their work, under proper direction and understanding supervision, is proving good.

A PRACTICAL SUCCESS

The display deals with many kinds of activity, ranging along with their academic subjects. During the afternoon their lessons are of a more practical and concrete nature.

These boys and girls make mats, wick or frames, operate Tyrolean looms, do woodworking, modeling, carpentry and practically everything that auxiliary students are popularly supposed not to be able to do.

THE BINET TEST.

The mental age of each child is determined by the Binet test, which is given by Mr. Reynolds. The eldest child is six years, actual age. The mental ages may run from four to twelve in some cases.

These children are handicapped, but only when they are thrown into association with other children, are they conscious of it. When they are in their own room, they are happy.

Even manual training do not require that fact which would cause them to treat auxiliary fellow students with consideration.

HOPING FOR ST. AGNES

"The idea of disassociation is the only practical way to deal with these children", said their instructor. "They are better away from others, they can learn faster, being free from self consciousness."

The advantages of the possible location of the children at the site of St. Agnes were outlined by Mr. Reynolds.

Today's exhibit is clear proof that children will respond to treatment founded on knowledge of their problems.

The work they produce is worthy of any more than fellow students of a year.

Today, the closing day of the Christmas term in the Belleville schools was observed by the pupils by splendid concerts arranged by the pupils themselves. Each class room in the various schools rendered a musical amount of talent amongst the scholars and the entertainments were enjoyed by teachers and pupils alike.

AT QUEEN ALEXANDRA

At Queen Alexandra School, the programme was carried out as follows:

O Canada. Hark the Herald Angels Sing. Violin selection by Harvey Sprague, the first Nowell. (a)—Jolly Santa Claus, (b)—Away in a Manger, Two part song by selected pupils, (a)—Sewed Them, (b)—Highland Fling. Good King Wenceslas. Chorus—Merrily Over the Show, address by Rev. D. C. Hanney, presentation of Governor General's Medal to Isabel Hinds. Carol—We Three Kings or Orient are.

QUEEN VICTORIA SCHOOL

At Queen Victoria School on Thursday an excellent programme was given and attended by several of the members of the Board of Education. Addresses were made by Mr. John Eliot, chairman of the Board and Mr. H. W. Ackerman a feature of the concert was the splendid behaviour of the pupils who, who, throughout the entire programme maintained excellent discipline, not a word of admonition on the part of them in authority was necessary.

Address by Mr. Arthur Jones. O Canada by the School. Hark the Herald Angels Sing by the School. Presentation of the Master Trophy for proficiency in Drill by Mr. H. J. Clarke, Inspector. Trials of Belleville Youths Hold Stage in Court Here; Five of Them Pleaded Guilty

Magistrate Warned of Possible Lengthy Sentences—All Said They Had Reformed—Two Admitted Five Charges Each of Breaking and Entering—Story of The Proceedings

Four youths were given suspended sentence in police court this morning and a fifth was sent to jail. Joe Mahon, aged 24, alleged leader of a gang of burglars was sentenced to serve two years less one day in prison and an indeterminate sentence thereafter not to exceed one year. Mahon, charged with receiving stolen goods and breaking and entering, was out on suspended sentence for receiving stolen goods.

SUSPENDED SENTENCES

Walter Mahon, aged 18, brother of Joe, who pleaded guilty to breaking and entering was given suspended sentence of two years as was William B. Powell aged 16, who also pleaded guilty to five charges of breaking and entering. He was ordered to pay court costs of $37.50.

Joe Lopinette and John Giosefiti both aged 16 were each given suspended sentence of one year. They pleaded guilty to the same charge of breaking and entering.

PLEA BY COUNSEL

Jack O'Flynn who appeared for the quintette whose members made up two distinct gangs, told of cruel treatment which had been received by both Mahon boys at the hands of their father. They had never had a chance. For defending his sister, Joe was put out of his home and then lived in the shack where most of the stolen goods were found. His was always good to his mother and her welfare, with that of his brother's, who was also charged, worried him more than his own. He was game to "take his medicine", was through with crime and would start all over again.

LOOKING FOR WORK

Walter was described as being a thoughtless adventurer—not too bright—but a good worker. A short term or suspended sentence was asked.

Powell was well dressed to-dy. His father said he was a good boy and willing to work though he was unable to find work until the day of his arrest.

CLOSING EVENTS AT ST. MICHAEL'S

Tiny Tots Sing Cleverly and Recite Faithfully Their Set Pieces

BIGGER GIRLS EXCEL

Pupils of Entrance Class Take Part in Exercises This Afternoon

Little feet which almost against their owner's will kept in rhythm with the marches played at each dismissal of the classes shuffled through the halls of St. Michael's Academy, each pupil eager to discuss the part he or she would take in the annual Christmas closing this afternoon and by concert time the children had reached a high pitch of excitement.

Each room had been skilfully decorated in most Christmas like manner with big red Santa Claus figures on every hand and the children themselves fairly radiated the Christmas spirit, each with an eager request to "Sister" to do his part in the concerts and a most pleasing and interesting programme resulted in each of the class rooms.

THE ENTRANCE CLASS

Most interesting of the fact the majority of the pupils are taking part in the last Christmas concert before going to High School or Collegs, was the concert put on by the pupils of the senior fourth class. The programme consisted of "Deck the Hall with Boughs of Holly" a chorus by the pupils; "A, Wonderful Scholar" by Leo Flagler, Margaret Meagher, and Kathrine Smith; Recitation "I'm Glad I'm Not a Girl", Arthur Cruji; recitation, "I'm Glad I'm Not a Boy", by Murry Cruji; Chorus, "Up on the House Top", by the class.

Reading, "Say Hello," Harvey Dorian.

"An Unfortunate Scholar", Margaret Cummins, Margaret Donaghue and Flora Trunlech and Betty Corrigan.

Chorus, "Sleep Holy Babe", by the Class.

Song, "All Over the Country" Margery McGuire, Philomena Harris and Seline Lynch.

Reading, Arthur Cruji, reading, "Holly Leaves" by Stella Burkett; Mandolin solo by Leo Flagler; reading "A Cross-Legged Geese", by Katrine Smith and the concluding number "Adeste Fidelis" by the class.

RUSSIA MIXING IN

Sang "Red Flag," Display of Temper And Reason For It

London, Dec 18.—Westminster Gazette's correspondent at Plymouth asserts that communists sympathies existed among seamen of some of the ships of the British Navy: He cites the circulation of communist literature and the singing of "The Red Flag", shouted certain warships as proof of his statement. The correspondent quotes members of the crew of the Cruiser Vindictive as having said to him, "The Vindictive is one of bolshevist ships of the Navy".

The correspondent says a sailor on the Vindictive attributed the display to resentment over the "tyrannical attitude of a high officer."

DR. CROSSLEY GIVES RECIPES FOR LONG LIFE

life and health, to the joy of the Lord, were purchased.

"When a woman with whom you shake hands, says her cold hand means a warm heart," explained Dr. Crossley, "she is fooling herself. It is caused by defective blood circulation and lack of exercise. Similarly, fattened poisons caused that tired feeling."

People did not live as long as they should, though the age is being increased by attention to exercise. The average life should be between 70-80 years. It is between 45-49. "Keep in touch with the young folks and interest yourselves in their interests," advised the speaker. "Walk two miles daily for 5 days, and you will avoid hardening of the arteries." When anyone asks how you are, do not answer, "miserable thanks", but about "fine" like the school boys do. "I am just a grown up boy myself."

Ladies answer "pretty well". Men should say "well" whether they are "pretty" or not.

BE BUSHY MUSCLES

Thirty muscles as developed by ponder ous physical culturists, were assailed as harmful. Those men die in comparatively premature years it was absurd because certain muscles had been overdeveloped.

They died between 25 and 60 from tuberculosis, heart failure or pneumonia. Within eighteen months, two of them in U.S.A. universities had dropped dead recently.

Overworking and under exercising were killing people daily. They were "digging their own graves with their teeth." As a man sowed, so shall he also reap. Nature's laws were inexorable and by disobedience to them people died before the Lord called them home. Senator Tillman of the U.S. talk of 63 or 64 senators dying in six and a half years, from overeating.

HEALTH IS DIVINE.

As a preacher, Dr. Crossley felt he would not be fulfilling his mission if he did not tell people how to lengthen their lives.

"The Lord made us upright," he reminded. "Then let us maintain the proper attitude, otherwise we commit an offense to art and an insult to our Creator. "Keep your chest elevated, and the poise of your whole body will be correct."

Do not lay in a sick knife in bed and in every way do as the Lord do. Again, "Let us renew our youth as the eagle," and never use the word old after 40. You are 25 years "young" for instance. "Keep young and serve your generation by the will of God till he calls for your change."

ANIMAL EXAMPLES

All animals and birds were set as examples to man. They strain and shake themselves continually, and babies—little animals—stretch, kick and place their feet in their mouths. At this stage Dr. Crossley placed his foot to the top of his head amid applause. If that were kept up, hardening of the arteries would be impossible for causing and relaxing exercises would rid the stagnant flow of blood, preventing the clinging of impurities to the intimate of the arteries thus narrowing the channels as to be reduced to a stream passing a gorge. Stretching and relaxing muscles and arteries distended mineral matter and set it flowing, removing susceptibility to apoplexy and sudden death. Girls and woman should also exercise as female animals do.

TRIANGLE EXPLAINED

Manhood includes development of body, mind and spirit," asserted Dr. Crossley, by studying and reading, physical culture, prayer and the devotion, so that we might properly keep ourselves in fellowship with God and his son Jesus." The body was a sacred thing—the last thing made by God, and pronounced by Him very good. Those who said the body was impure, were of impure mind. Paul said the body was "the temple of the Holy Ghost" and Jesus sent them to preach the gospel, and heal the sick."

After the address, Dr. Crossley sang "The Prodigy Listen and Golly", Mr. V. F. Hunt playing piano accompaniment. Mr. Leonard, his associate also sang, "In the Land Where the Roses Never Fade", in good tenor voice. Before the address, both Dr. Crossley and Mr. Leonard sang.

Rev. Dr. F. B. Maloff introduced the speaker and afterwards Mr. F. E. Gryan and Mr. Harry Lee with Dr. Maloff expressed the thanks of the audience which was reflected in hearty applause.

Dr. Crossley, well known here as an evangelist with his late partner, Mr. Hunting, was last here in 1903. He is now on his way west from a tour of the east, and of course does so love his Belleville friends, he selected Belleville as the city in which he stopped off to give his lecture. Every dollar of the collection taken goes to religious work.

SALE OF SILK HOSE DOOR TO DOOR SCHEME PROBED IN HAMILTON

Hamilton, Dec. 18.—Col. F. P. Healey, secretary of the Hamilton chamber of commerce, received a letter yesterday morning calling his attention to the door-to-door sale of silk stockings in the city.

The complaint, which chamber of commerce officials are investigating, is not a new one. It is claimed that salesmen are going the rounds of offices buildings and homes, asking girls if they wish to purchase a good pair of silk stockings for seventy-five cents. When they have a customer they take the money and present them with a coupon. This coupon must be sent together with $2.25 to New York, from where three coupons are sent on to the prospective purchaser. She must in turn sell these three coupons and they must be sent in to New York before the original purchaser receives her stock in trade. These are not the actual prices but the chamber of commerce gives them as an example.

CITY REGIMENT WAS INSPECTED

General Elmsley Here to See Argyll Light Infantry On Parade

WAS THOROUGH TEST

Extended Order Drill and Ceremonial Were in Demand

The Argyll Light Infantry underwent a most thorough inspection last evening at the hands of Major General J. H. Elmsley, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O. The General who was accompanied by Capt. Palley of the Pay Services came up by train re turning at midnight.

The regiment, which paraded in column of companies with pipe and drum and brass bands under its command, officer, Lieutenant Colonel Roscoe Vanderwater, D.S.O., V.D., gave the General Salute as the G.O.C. in the District arrived.

Following this came a march past and then individual company inspection, which included some ceremonial but mostly, as far as possible, field manoeuvres such as extended order drill and rapid firing, at the prone position.

Every company officer and all company sergeant-majors were called out by the General and asked to carry on drill.

The General spoke a few words to each company.

He seemed very interested in the progress shown by the regiment and followed all movements with the practised eye of a soldier of twenty odd more years experience.

The bands were at full strength and made a very fine showing. The only absentee was Pipe Major Johnstone whose recent injury to his hand prevented him playing his favoured pipes.

For the first time in several years a Brigade Commander was present, Colonel A. E. Bywater, (Trenton) commanding 7th Infantry Brigade, to which the Argyll belong, was present in uniform and was an interested spectator of the proceedings.

Later in the officer's mess a number of gentlemen were present to greet the General among them Colonel S. S. Lazier, Hon. Lieut.-Col. of the Regiment, Maj. E. O. Kelcher, father of Major Eric Keeler, M. C., second in command of the Argyll's, was a guest of the Mess.

The General and Colonel Bywater with a number of the officers of the Argyll's visited the Sergeant's Mess during the course of the evening where the General addressed them briefly and spoke to the many ex-veterans present.

The General is hoping to be able to arrange for next year a batallion camp for the local Regiment.

BROUGHT GIFTS TO ST. ANDREWS

Usual Order of Things Was Changed This Year by Presbyterians

SALES SENT TO WEST

Church Transformed For Occasion—Very Clever Programme

The Choir, the Pulpit and nave of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was transformed into a fairyland and the remainder of the Auditorium was absolutely filled with children and their most proud and pleased (if grown up) parents last night at the most ambitious Christmas Concert ever held in that large edifice.

And quite as remarkable they changed the usual order of Christmas tree entertainments and instead of receiving gifts in abundance, they gave them. Their gifts are to needy families throughout the Canadian West, and were shipped today.

It was a rather wonderful evening all things considered.

Evergreens were placed with great cleverness and taste, depicting Merry Christmas and British and Canadian—and Scottish—flags were displayed everywhere. The Minister, Rev. Mr. Stewart, was in charge as chairman, but had very little to do as the children were mostly their own leading and very clever things they did, singing and reciting and acting and being merry and bright.

One outstanding performance was the singing of a Christmas hymn by the tiny tots of the primary class, over fifty of them, seven years and under, mostly under, and they stood there manfully and most lustily as the choir might be and sang their words plainly and splendidly. Mrs. D. R. Fleming, contralto soloist of St. Andrew's choir trained these tots, and Mrs. Fleming's patience was truly well rewarded. The whole effect was charming.

Miss Helen Springer's class sang and Mr. Vernon Wade's class of boys gave a presentation in costume of the poem, "When I'm a Man", as farmers, bricklayers, ministers, doctors, teachers, stokers, and so on. It was quite well done.

A rendering of Christmas carols sung in the public schools by the boys of the Sunday School was also well done. A recitation of a poem composed by himself by Master Jack Hyslop was considered one of the gems of the entertainment.

A cantata or dialogue by a large number of the pupils and teachers of this school was the principal feature of the evening, introducing Santa Claus, a role well taken by Dr. James Tower.

Fairies and little girls with dolls in a doll song and choruses and dialogues were all well carried out.

The entertainment was carried out in the auditorium of the church for the reason that the Sunday School room would have been totally inadequate to accommodate the crowd, let alone the performers. The evening closed with the presentation of candy and oranges to all children of the school and after that there were lots for any children who were not yet members of St. Andrew's Sunday School, and a number of these little ones were made happy by presentations.

To those members of the staff of the Sabbath School who took the trouble to train the children must go the satisfaction of labor well rewarded. The Church itself was very beautifully decorated. It was all in

BRIGHTON PRESBYTERIAN ARE MAKING PROGRESS

Meeting Held Fifty New Members Join Church—$5 Is Deficit

Presbyterians in Brighton were greatly heartened at a meeting held on Thursday 17th, when fifty new members were received. Of these, 9 were received on profession and 41 by certificate from other churches. One elder and a strong board of management were elected. The congregation cheerfully accepted its budget allotted. The duplex envelope will be introduced at the New Year. The attendance at the Sunday school has more than doubled during the past few weeks. Two elders from Colborne, Mr. W. W. Rose and Mr. H. McLean, were present and gave helpful service and advice. Mr. S. Nesbitt, who has recently returned from a visit to the Old Country was given a rousing welcome. He predicted that there would be a large influx from Scotland next summer, and that these people would swell the ranks of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. Rev. Dr. Macgillivray who has been supplying the pulpit lately presided at the meeting, and cordially thanked the congregation for the support given him since he began work among them.

CANADIAN CANADIANS

"An agreement between Canada and Great Britain and the steamship lines covering a new scheme of emigration has been signed. It is stated that additional financial assistance of a liberal character is to be provided by the Dominion and British governments, and there is little doubt that the fresh inducements now offered will result in a considerable increase in the number of British settlers of the agricultural class. That Canada needs a larger population is a self-evident proposition; and that the increase should be made up as far as possible of people of British blood also goes without saying. How Canada the question is mainly one of expense. Ambitious immigration schemes involving the appropriation of many millions of dollars annually are naturally viewed with dismay by treasury officials and are almost equally alarming to the taxpayers in general. Every one recognizes the need of a larger population, especially of settlers who will undertake the pioneering tasks of bringing out waste lands under profitable cultivation, but there is not the same enthusiasm over the prospect of spending enormous sums to secure them.

The best Canadian citizen is, after all, the Canadian. It is a deplorable fact that, while strenuous efforts are being made to persuade residents of other countries to establish themselves in the Dominion, large numbers of native-born Canadians and their families are leaving the country, many of them never to return. A policy which would retain the good citizens we have is preferable to a policy which has the effect of driving them away and supplying their place with outsiders. There is no growth like the natural growth. The idea solution of the population problem is the retention and increase of our native-born Canadians. Quebec, with its large families and stable population, sets the example in this respect. There would be no reason for talking of portions of the Dominion made an equal contribution to Canadian citizenship. The relative smallness of the average Canadian family is due, it will be claimed, to economic necessity; but this is not always so. Modern doctrines, which condone and actually recommend the avoidance of parental obligations, even on the part of those who could well afford the luxury of large families are having their inevitable effect. In the case of the Canadian wage-earner with a large family, it might be better to extend assistance in the form of subsidies, rather than spend millions on immigration. Canadian parents who are doing their full duty to the state by raising the children which the country requires are deserving of recognition. The reward might be given in cash, even more useful form, by land grants, mining claims, and so forth, which would ensure the retention of the families on the soil and secure that development of virgin areas which is the main object of all settlement schemes. It would seem, at any rate, that more could be done to encourage the building up or a larger Canadian population from the native-born stock, and it would surely be worth while for our statesmen and politicians to give greater attention to this aspect of the question.

BRITAIN FIRST

It is well known that the past three years have represented a period of the utmost depression in shipbuilding. It is therefore, all the more remarkable to note as recorded in The Motor Ship, (London) for December, that there has been a very rapid increase in the tonnage of motor ships constructed. In 1923 the motor ships built throughout the world totalled 356,926 tons dead-weight, whilst for the first eleven months of 1925 it amounted to 881,355 tons. At the end of 1923 the gross tonnage of motor ships building throughout the world was 460,868. At the present time the corresponding figure is about 1,100,000 tons gross. It is to be remarked that the output of motor ships from British yards this year is greater than from all other country, although the United Kingdom is very closely followed by Germany in this respect.

DR. DOUGHTY RETIRES

The retirement of Dr. A. G. Doughty as Dominion archivist is swift to take up special historical research work for the Hudson Bay company is announced. Dr. Doughty, who is by the way, well-known in Belleville has filled the office with great ability for the last twenty years and has contributed greatly to the historical data of the country. Before his appointment records were not only neglected, but in some cases actually destroyed. The London Free Press declares they were formerly in a state of "dire disorder", rotting in cellars, with no one responsible for their custody and no attempt being made to catalogue them for the use of the researcher. Quoting a letter from Lord Minto to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, it is said: "Prior to 1883 many papers were committed to the flames; I have heard of large consignments of unstirred documents, some of which were known to be valuable, being removed from the Privy Council office for the benefit of the paper factories. It is not only in the government offices that these records exist, but many are scattered throughout the country in the old Hudson Bay outposts, utterly neglected, which are of great historical value." His excellency then goes on to suggest the appointment of a deputy keeper of records, as a measure of efficiency and economy, and mentions the name of Mr. Doughty, then parliamentary librarian, as the best man for the post, "both on account of his ability and literary taste." The appointment has been completely justified and it is interesting to note that Dr. Doughty now intends to carry on the very work in connection with the Hudson Bay company which Lord Minto considered to be specially desirable.

"JUSTICE IS STERN IN CANADA"

New York Times:

Canada has had her trouble with "bandits" of the new school, but the troubles have been fewer, and the experience of the criminals more often painful that here. Some of the reasons for this difference are presented in remarks at Nanaimo, in British Columbia, before sentencing to ten years' imprisonment and 20 lashes, one William Bagley, who ,with four other men, had robbed the local branch of one of the banks. The gang had come from across the border, and the court found it fitting occasion to say that Canada was not to be made a happy hunting ground for criminals—that criminal procedure in Canada was simple and swift and endeavored to be certain. Verdicts once found, he went on, are rarely upset, and when they are there is another trial, no matter what the cost. "After conviction", he added, "the courts of British Columbia intend to deal drastically with would-be murderers—not that we seek vengeance, but that we intend to demonstrate that here in Canada law is respected." In conclusion the justice declared: "Consideration may be given after a time, but once a verdict is imposed, Canadian sentiment will see to it that the punishment is such as will act as a deterrent, with a view of stopping the perpetration of this sort of thing, which I regret to say has become so common, namely, the organization of bands of criminals from the United States who come to our country to perpetrate murder."

Letters To The Editor

WHO WAS YOUR GRANDFATHER ?

To the Editor of The Intelligencer
Sir,—

There must always be in this Dominion many elderly persons who in themselves and in their well-stored memories supply the link between the families of Canada and those of the Old Land. Perhaps it was they of their father or grandfather who first crossed over to make their homes on the other side. And now in their old age they are full of reminiscences over which, either sad or the impression that such things are in themselves of small importance or are of little interest to the younger generation, they are often inclined to be reticent.

Such memories, however, are of exceeding great value. For between the forbears and the descendants of these persons there is often an interval during which the names of the members of the family have not been recorded, and unless the interval is supplemented by their authentic statement the connection between their families in the Old and New Worlds may be lost. In these days there are registers of births, marriages and deaths in every civilized country, those in England and Scotland going back to the 16th and 17 centuries respectively. Such information, which the Old People alone can supply, is required to link up the new registers with the old, and perhaps prove useful some day in establishing facts which long descendants will be glad to know.

One has only to recall the loss felt and the urgent search expressed by the people of the United States that these things were so little appreciated in the days when history was in the making.

Now, Sir, is not Christmas a season when the old ties and these world times are specially recalled? Does not remembrance grow warmer when the family is assembled in the home for the Christmas Celebration? I would respectfully propose to you and to your readers that the occasion should be used to speak of such unrecorded information from the Old People as I have referred to. Let them be induced to speak of early times and let the facts given back to us by their memories be carefully written down as a precious legacy of what they say. Who has not at one time or anbther been astonished at the quickness with which an old name or an old tale will spring to their lips when they are encouraged by a sympathetic enquiry?

Let the mere names of grandfathers and great-grandfathers, or uncles, aunts and cousins that can be mentioned and written down be there. The old legal maxim that "the unsupported oral testimony of one witness is insufficient," need be no deterrent, for this testimony will often corroborate other evidence and help to establish the continuity of the ancestral chain. And nothing is more helpful to the searcher of ancestral records than the knowledge that is circumstantial to the main enquiry.

In England and Scotland the parish registers' conditions a safe store of authentic information in the possession of which our nation is particularly fortunate. The reason given by Thomas Cromwell VIII. for the institution of parochial registers in 1538 was: "The advancement of the honour of Almighty God to the increase of virtue, and the discharge of the Kynges majesty." King Henry VIII. was also desirous of a regular benefit to Scotland in 1616 was that "Divers questions doth oftimes arise upon the times of marriages, baptisms, and decrease of persons, which questions breed great vexations and plee betwix parties and draw them to idle and unnecessary expenses."

If these reasons were appropriate to a former generation, another, is especially so to our own, namely, that the ties of kinship between the Old Country and the great Dominions are likely to become, not less, but more precious to the generations who come after us.

I am, Sir, etc.,
OLD COUNTRYMAN
December 1st, 1925.

TINY UPHOLDER OF CITY ORDINANCE WON BY HOLLERING

The theory that children inherit tendencies of mankind in general as well as the instincts of their parents was given additional support on Front street late this afternoon.

One woman, talking to a friend, was disconcerted by the continual crying of the occupant of her baby carriage. The carriage was finally moved a few feet, when the crying stopped. The carriage had been parked by a fire plug originally.

Evidently the baby thought an ordinance was being fractured.

ONTARIO FIRE MARSHAL WARNS ON DECORATIONS ON FESTIVE DEC. 25TH

Those who are celebrating during the festive Christmas season should also realize danger to life and property from Christmas decorations such as draperies, cotton "snow," scenery, inflammable dolls' house and the lighting arrangements that go with them add very much to the ordinary risk from fire, says

The National Fire Protection Association and the Ontario fire marshal recommend that all fabrics for decoration purposes should be immersed in a solution of commercial ammonium phosphate to one gallon of water. Then slightly wrung and dried they will offer considerable resistance to fire until again washed.

"If this is not practicable, a few simple precautions may reduce the danger. Use aluminum, which should be considered essential where large numbers of people and particularly children are to be gathered.

"See that inflammable material is clear of and not hung over heating stoves, furnaces, steampipes, stovepipes, or electric light bulbs.

"Examine your fire extinguishing apparatus and see that they are sufficient in good order and readily accessible.

"See that all exits are plainly marked and not obstructed.

"Remember that nothing can repair these displays absolutely secure and that if accidents are not to mar the festive season, constant vigilance and care must be exercised."

WAR VETERANS JAILED WILL NOT TELL REASON

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 18.—With the mystery around his killing of his sweetheart as deep as ever, James N. B. O'Mahoney, former British army hero, prepared yesterday to go to Westchester County state town to spend the rest of his natural life.

O'Mahoney pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the death of the girl, Miss Beatrice Donnelly, of New York City, in criminal superior court here and was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Dickenson.

O'Mahony gave himself up after the killing in a woods near Greenwich, last April, and readily confessed, but has absolutely refused to discuss the case or tell what happened on that fatal walk in the woods. Sheriff Pezze will take O'Mahoney to Wethersfield late today.

Joe Mahon pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering the home of Major Harry Walker on May 13th and stealing therefrom a quantity of goods.

"I am not sure of dates, but I plead guilty," replied accused.

A similar charge on May 9th, the complainant being Judge Edson Fralick, was read, and he pleaded guilty. It was a burn in this case. The burn was open— I am not sure of dates, but I plead guilty" answered accused.

He also acknowledged entering the Isolation Hospital and pleaded guilty to a charge of receiving stolen goods at a previous date, as well as breaking and entering two other houses. He was not charged however, on the last two offences.

Walter Mahon pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering the home of W.A. Elliot, 210 Albert street on May 8th but denied stealing a revolver there. He pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the home of Ernest McCormick, 37 Dunbar street, on May 9th, and stealing a variety of cases, also to a charge of breaking and entering the home of Robert Tannahill, 147 George street on March 2nd and stealing goods. He also acknowledged entering the Isolation hospital though not charged with that offence.

Wm. Powell pleaded guilty to breaking and entering Judge Fralick's barn, stealing a fur coat, a sword and hatchet and other articles. He also entered Mrs. George Stewarts home, 243 William St., April 1st, and stole goods, the Isolation hospital at 164 West Moira street, Major Walker's home and Robert Tannahill's home.

Giolfetti and Lupinette were each charged with breaking and entering Queen Mary School on or about September 16th, stealing three silver cups.

SHOULD GET LASH

In considering Powell's case Magistrate Masson said—"I like to get all the sentences I can in making decisions in cases o this kind. People who are men in court often write letters by the folio after a sentence has been given, and criticise a magistrate."

In Walter Mahon's case he said he was really tired of allowing suspended sentence in the case of first offenders. His patience was nearly exhausted.

"What they should get", he emphasized, "is a short term and the fish, so that it could be taken out of them personally, rather than out of the pockets of their parents."

Crown Attorney Donnan named Mahon chief, the breeding place for crime," and asked for a penalty for Joe Mahon.

Asked who led him into crime, Powell was mainly enough not to blame Mahon. "We used to attend parties at his house and play music. We had an orchestra. I would not say Mahon enticed me into it. It was largely my own fault, but I did it through the spirit of adventure."

The Mahons and Powell were cleaned up and well dressed today. They felt their unenviable positions keenly, especial lythe Mahons, Powell feeling badly since his arrest. The trio had been in jail for one week. Today, Walter Mahon was not the bold vagabond he was the day of his arrest, when he spit on the floor after receiving his remand. He realized his position and turned pale when informed by the bench that he might receive 11 years consecutively on each charge.

GET HEAD EXAMINED

The leader of the gang of youngsters who broke into the school will appear Wednesday next. His head will be examined by Dr. Ryan, of Rockwood Hospital, Kingston in the meantime. He stood nonchalantly in the dock, cast piercing glances about the crowded court room, but did not evince the stoical composition on his young face.

GROUPING HERE TO BE DIVIDED

Trenton, Belleville and Kingston and Brockville in Section

CORNWALL GIVEN BYE

Oshawa, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Cobourg in Western Section

Ed. Thomas, manager of Belleville intermediate and junior O.H.A. teams was notified Thursday afternoon by Secretary W. A. Hewitt, of the O.H.A. that the executive had decided that the recommendation as put forward at the meeting of delegates held in Kingston on Saturday night that the teams be divided up with Cobourg, Bowmanville, Port Hope, and Oshawa in one group and Trenton, Belleville, Kingston and Brockville in another with Cornwall getting a bye, was upheld.

This grouping by explained was run official. Winners of each group will play for the championship of the group. This of course, refers to intermediate groupings.

THEY TALK BIG

Right after Christmas the Kingston Intermediates will have more practice than ever, and if they keep on like they have been in the past couple of weeks, the O.H.A. championship should be in Kingston have the Standard. Rogers and Brooks are substantials in the nets, while Rooney will be one of the stiffest cards on the defence. Joe Smith, Elwood, Watts, Lewfor and Davidson still have a few aliases to help them along on the forward line.

QUEEN'S MEN OUT

Queen's will make a good contribution to the Kingston Junior O.H.A. team this season. Gib McKelvey, McDonald, McPherson and several others will probably do the uniforms for the amalgamated, as well as a few other Kingston juniors.

THE JOY OF GIFT GIVING

There is no custom connected with the Christmas season more ancient or deep-rooted than that of the giving of gifts, for it dates back to the very first Christmas, when the Wise Men journeyed many long weary hours across the desert, to deliver their gifts in person to a baby King, in Bethlehem Town. And, it is doubtful if there is any other custom that involves so much real joy and pleasure—it brings joy to both the giver and the receiver.

No matter how much work the selecting, and purchasing, or the making of the gifts may entail, or how weary you may be on Christmas Eve, the deep satisfaction you feel in knowing that none of your loved ones or friends have been forgotten, and that you have added your share to the gladness of the world at this greatest festival of the year, more than compensates for it all.

Those who are far away from home and unable to join the family circle for Christmas joy, will see the smile on Mother's face, as she unties the big express parcel and lifts out the various packages containing the gifts for Dad and Mother and the kids, but you can never guess the thrill of joy it brings to those back home to know that they have not been forgotten by that big boy or girl in the distant city.

Perhaps you are sending a turkey home to the family, or a box of luscious, red, Canadian apples to relatives across the seas, but what ever you send and no matter how far distant it is to go, the Canadian National Express will dispatch it carefully, safely, and promptly, and with the least possible trouble to yourself. Parcels are called for at any address, leave the city on the first available passenger train, and are delivered promptly to their destination on arrival. All parcels arriving at their destination up until Christmas Eve are delivered the day of their arrival, and packages up to the value of $50.00 are insured, free of charge.

LAURA LA PLANTE HANDED SURPRISE

A real birthday party, not a make-believe one, figured in the making of "Dangerous Innocence," a Universal-Jewel production now being shown in the Belle Theatre, co-starring Laura La Plante and Eugene O'Brien. The guest of honor at the party was Miss La Plante and the setting was aboard the S. S. Calawali. That the party took place at sea was due not so much to choice but rather to the exigency of the profession.

In the midst of shooting that part of the story that takes place at sea some one discovered that Miss La Plante would have a birthday before the vessel docked, and it was decided to give her a surprise party. The little star was kept in ignorance of the plan and celebrated the day by doing some really hard work.

That evening when she arrived at dinner she was surprised to find Mr. O'Brien and members of the supporting company already at the table. Sitting with them was the steamer's captain, who had also decided to do her honor.

"Dangerous Innocence" tells the story of the love affair of a young English girl and an English officer, in which the girl believes that her mother is her rival. The action of the piece takes place during the run of a steamer from Liverpool to India and in Bombay. Ann Church is Miss La Plante's role, adapted from Pamela Wynne's "Ann's An Idiot."

MEET TO-NIGHT TO SET DATES

Juniors in Two Sections—Kingston Has Only One Entry

Just as Ed. Thomas was preparing to take a train to Kingston Thursday evening for the meeting of delegates who would draft a playing schedule for intermediate hockey in this group, he received a wire informing him that the meeting would be held to-night at Kingston. He will attend the meeting as Belleville's representative.

Junior teams in this district have been divided into two groups A and B. In B group, Belleville, Picton and Trenton will battle it out, while in A group, Brockville and Kingston will play it out. Kingston has one junior team this season.

WILL STAY IN MONTREAL WHERE THEY MET POLICE

Montreal, Dec. 17.—Samuel Harding, aged 22, and Samuel King, aged 18, both of Calgary, Alta., started out to work out for England to spend Christmas there with their families, for the first time in four years. Instead they will be forced to stay in Montreal, penniles and friendless.

Their savings of the last six months with which they intended to finance their Christmas holiday, were paid into the coffers of the recorder's court this morning. Now they haven't enough money to go home or even take them back to the ranch near Calgary upon which they have been employed.

Saturday they were arrested on charges of possessing a revolver without a license, and of assaulting an officer.

During their trial before Acting Recorder Morrison the two young cowboy tenderfoots swore they thought they were being held up when Sergt.-Detective Bogil and Provincial Detective Bogil admitted that when the scuffle started between him and Harding the accused had shouted for the police.

King was fined $20 and costs on the charge of assaulting an officer. Harding was fined $50 and costs for carrying a revolver and $50 and costs for assaulting an officer. After paying three fines and court lawyer the boys had $23 left between them.

REVOLUTIONARY TIMES ARE BROUGHT TO MIND BY THIS GRAVE STONE

Yanceyville, N. C., Dec. 18.—In a small, heavily overgrown rural cemetery in Caswell country, not far from Yanceyville, is a mound covered with vines—no effort to mark the spot is apparent other than the tombstone—under which lies the body of Starling Gunn, who fired the first shot at the Battle of Yorktown.

The man's name was Starling Gunn. The cemetery is little visited and few people even in the vicinity know that the little cemetery contains an historic grave.

On the headstone, barely legible appear these words:

"Here lies the body of Starling Gunn, who fired the first cannon shot at the Battle of Yorktown, and who was an eyewitness of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis."

The grave is overgrown with periwinkle and other vines and is more prominent than other graves in the lonely little cemetery only by virtue of the fact that the headstone is somewhat larger than the others.

The existence of te historic grave has been recognized only once, other than in a casual way by individuals. A few years ago the Daughters of the American Revolution asked for earth from historic spots to be used in planting a tree, to be taken from Yorktown and planted at Arlington. At that time, a bit of dirt from Gunn's grave was supplied.

Astounding demand and enormous production have made the price negligible—without cheapening quality!

CHARLIE LYNCH MAY JOIN QUEENS

Noted Ottawa Quarterback Sought by Scouts of Tri-Color Squad

Ottawa, Dec. 18.—The Journal this morning says:

"The long arms of Queen's scouts have stretched to the Capital to claim for the distinguished Kingston College another star football player who would bring the tri-color back to the pinnacle of fame that is enjoyed prior to November 29. Deprived of the services of Balatone, Leadley, Thomas, McKelvey, Norris, Adams, Lewis and several other, rugby luminaries the Queen's athletic directorate have turned their eyes to Ottawa in the hope of landing the pivot of the Dominion champions.

"Four years ago they lured Bud Thomas away, and now it's Charlie Lynch, the little dynamo of the Ottawa team which whipped the three-times Dominion champions to a frazzle here a few short weeks ago. Highly impressed with the work of Lynch, the Queen's scouts and athletic mentors rubbed their heads, grew knowing looks to each other, and are they had retraced their steps from Lansdowne Park, decided then and there that Charlie would look exceedingly good around Grant Hall and Richardson Stadium.

"Consequently Ottawa may lose the services of the great little quarter back, for if he listens to the outpourings of admiration that are come from Kingston, he will be wearing the spangles of the tri-color instead of the red, white and black of the Ottawa rest fall."

TURKS ARE DYING IN DEFENSE OF FEZ

Constantinople, Dec. 18. (United Press)—The Angora Government is determined that the Turks shall wear hats, or die.

Carrying out the recent orders against the ancient fez head-dress, the Angora Independence Tribunal yesterday ordered eight new executions at Rineh and 18 imprisonments of persons resisting the order to wear hats.

The district has been greatly agitated at the orders, and many insurgents hitherto have declined to take kindly to the hard, soft and medium hats of Europe.

MAYOR OF MONTREAL MERE SOCIAL FIGURE

Montreal, Dec. 17.—"I do not intend to run at the next election." Mayor Duquette told the News's club of the "haunt of St. James the Apostle. "I am not canvassing, therefore I am at ease to talk about these matters."

His worship described the tragedy of the mayor of the greatest city of Canada, with power to preside, but powerless to voice an opinion; with authority over none but a secretary and a stenographer—in short, the mayor of Montreal is a social necessity, but an administrative figure-head." Mayor Duquette also referred to the "equally unfortunate plight" of the 39 cast of the 35 aldermen who "il to gain the heights of the executive committee."

A Heart's Triumph

By Effie Adelaide Rowlands.

The name Lackyne was one he had heard frequently enough; but it had never conveyed any special significance to his till now, when he remembered to have heard it mentioned a few days previously in the city in close connection with a financial speculation which was, in its way, a gold-mine.

"Does Sir Charles still live in his usual eccentric fashion, People say he is quite mad, don't they?"

"People say very many stupid things," Doctor Thorold observed dryly. "Lackyne is not mad," he added quietly. "A shrewder, cleverer man does not exist where actual business is concerned. He has this hobby of machinery, but though he carries it to excess, he manages to achieve something now and then."

"He is very rich, is he not?" Felix asked tentatively.

Doctor Thorold nodded his head.

"Very, I believe. He spends very little, comparatively speaking. His estate down here alone brings him in many thousands a year. He is not an easy-going landlord," Doctor Thorold continued, after a little pause, "but there is always a demand for his land. His farms are never empty. Little Cecil will be very rich one of these days."

"Cecil!" Felix Bingham looked up "Is that his son?"

"His daughter, and only child—a beautiful girl, brought up in what the world would call the most eccentric fashion Lackyne always wanted a boy, and he thought to get even with fate by turning Cecil into quite a resemblance to a boy as he can. Your heart yours ladies, Felix." Doctor Thorold said with a twinkle in his eye. "Would no doubt look askance at my Rosalind, as I call her, in her brown velvet suit. She is a creature quite out of their sphere to me, she is one of the sweetest, purest and most beautiful girls."

"It is odd I have never heard any mention of this girl before," Felix said "How old is she, uncle?"

Doctor Thorold shook his head.

"Ah, that I cannot tell you. Some thing under twenty. Lackyne he never told me anything about his marriage, or I can feel guess at Cecil's age I thought you knew all about her, Felix All the world around here knows Cecil Lackyne by name; though no one save myself ever meets her. She never leave the precincts of the White Abbey."

"What an extraordinary child!" Felix He was back once more in his troubled selfish thoughts. How to work in the subject of his present need was now the foremost in his mind. The more he reflected, the more absurd it struck him that he should suffer any inconvenience while this old man had so much and could give so easily if he chose.

He had just succeeded in mind definitely to have no beating about the bush were sounds of some arrival at the on bell to speak quite openly, when the trance, and the bell o fthe little house rang sharply.

"Do you have guests so late in this ster?" asked Felix, annoyed at the interruption.

"None one else who has come to me a mistake for one of the other doctors, Sebastian Thorold said.

The door opened and admitted a man whom Felix quickly recognized as one whom he saw frequently in town If no one in the house was ailing Dr Darnley, w ho had a harassed, trouble look.

"I have come to you at Miss Lackyne special request, Doctor Thorold," Mr Darnley said, acknowledging the introduction to Felix with a bow; he, too on his side, had instantly recognized the young man as a familiar figure in London smart circles. "I am sorry to say Miss Olive Palmer is visiting her sister, Mrs. Jordan, near Rosita.

A Heart's Triumph

By Effie Adelaide Rowlands.

but she is in great distress. Her father has had a severe shock, and now is lying in a prostrate condition. I am not skilled enough to read his symptoms, but I very much fear they look like some form of paralysis. Would it be asking you to much if I were to face you to come and see Sir Charles? He is not wholly unconscious, but he cannot utter a sound, and is undoubtedly very ill. I have a carriage waiting."

"I will come at once, and, Felix, you had better come, too. My nephew is a doctor, younger and in a way more valuable than I am now. Give me a moment, Mr. Darnley. Your news is sad to me. I have known Lackyne now many years, and we have always been good friends. Poor little Cecil! this must be a great trouble to her."

Paul Darnley had hesitated a moment as he heard Doctor Thorold ask his nephew to accompany him. The remembrance of the sudden and most painful domestic tragedy that had been played but night at the White Abbey seemed to claim from him all possible secrecy. Yet that other remembrance, that vision of Charles Lackyne stricken mute, and prone, possibly, in a precarious condition, made a stronger demand than the other. Help must be had, and since Felix was a doctor, and the nephew of Cecil's old friend, he was, perhaps, a desirable person to be associated with the miserable events of this night.

It was hard for Paul Darnley, to let a word pass his lips as to the cause of Sir Charles' sudden illness, but as his one desire was to shield Cecil as much as possible, and he knew the poor child as utterly unfit to tell even an old and valued friend as Sebastian Thorold had had happened, he fathomed the subject as they were driving hurriedly through the quiet night to the White Abbey.

"There had been an unexpected arrival," he said to Doctor Thorold. "Lady Lackyne returned home this evening, quite suddenly."

"Lady Lackyne? God bless me! I had no idea his wife was alive!" the old man said, in startled surprise.

He lapsed into thought, and asked no more questions. Mr. Darnley's few words had more than answered him—it was evident they had shocked him, too.

Felix Bingham sat back in his corner of the carriage, feeling by no means despondent at the change in his program for the night. He was in heart an adventurer, and loved to live a life that had nothing else was ordinary or monotonous. This little excitement pleased him. It was agreeable, too, to penetrate into the mysteries of this curious household.

All that he knew had read about Cecil Lackyne remained vividly in his thoughts. He felt a sudden interest in this girl, so strangely reared, so different from all other girls, and with the prospect of immense wealth before her.

This sudden return of a wife supposed to be dead was another factor of interest in the unusual circumstances. Felix almost forgot himself and his worries as he was bowled up to the wide entrance of the White Abbey. His eyes were forward half-eagerly to catch a first glimpse of this girl—Cecil Lackyne.

How little did Paul Darnley dream, as he ushered Doctor Thorold and his nephew into the house, that the thoughts and doubts that had troubled him earlier in the evening as to Cecil's future life were groundless figments of the brain and that already the destiny of the girls home lay in the hands of one, in the fullness of time, would reject his hand upon the priceless gift and crush it to death!

(To be Continued.)

School Attendance Officer Testified as to Two Children

AVOID P.O.W. SCHOOL

Rector of Christ Church Says Youngsters Will Be Looked After

Joe Mahon, sr., father of two youths arrested in court Friday, was charged in police court this morning with breach of the Truancy Act.

School attendance officer William Clark for Thurlow Township, told of Mahon's son and daughter being irregular as to school attendance. The girl had not been there during the Fall term and the boy had been there 10 days in November and 9 in December.

They were not well clothed when visited by the officer.

Principal Cecil McMillan, of Prince of Wales School, corroborated the evidence of the officer and believed the children were under-nourished.

Mahon denied striking his sons with a chain as marks on their backs indicate, when queried by the Crown. He admitted one daughter was in the Mercer for an offense at Kingston.

There are 6 children at home.

The case was adjourned for one month for judgment to see how accused acts in that period.

Rev. C. E. Clarke told of bringing clothing to the children and of visiting the home several times.

"We will do our best through our church organization to see that the children are clothed", said Rev. Clarke.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY FROM ONE CAUSE

News of Husband's Sudden End Brings Death to His Wife

Plantagenet, Ont., Dec. 19.—Tragedy yesterday brought to a sudden close the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Skelly, aged 72 and 64 years, respectively, well known residents of Plantagenet. Mr. Skelly was found dead in his barn, presumably from either a kick from a horse or a stroke and Mrs. Skelly dropped dead when the news of her husband's death was broken to her. She was overcome by the shock.

SELECTED ON SECOND BALLOT FROM SEVEN COMPETING FIRMS

Will Commence at Once Work of Preparing Plans in Conjunction with Board of Education—Final Meeting for 1925 Discusses Many Matters of Interest.

Thomson and Johnson, Belleville Architects, were selected at last night's School Board Meeting to help the Board erect the new Collegiate Building. The selection was by ballot. Seven votes out of the twelve cast, went to the firm selected.

Thomson and Johnson were selected as the Board's Architects, subject to conditions to be entered into between the firm and the legal advisors of the Board. Work will begin at once on the business of preparing plans for the new structure, it will be some time yet before they will be ready to call for tenders.

From the the start of the discussion, which was protracted, it was a foregone conclusion that either Thomson and Johnson or Mr. Willard M. Mitchell, Belleville Architect, would be selected, for to quote Mr. Frank Potter, "There are few of the Board who know much about the abilities of many of the seven competing groups of architects."

Those votes whose names were voted upon were Hutton and Sutor, Hamilton; Burden and Gouinlock, Toronto; Chapman and Oxley, Toronto; Wilkes and Waters, Toronto; S. B. Coon and Son, Tronto. The first ballot gave Thomson and Johnson 6 votes, Mr. Mitchell Chapman and Oxley and Wilkes and Waters, each 2 votes. The second ballot was necessary.

On motion of Mr. Arthur McGie, the matter was raised for settlement. He wanted the special committee which had been appointed for the purpose of selecting the architects, to be relieved of this duty, to allow the whole of the Board to act. Mr.Ackerman voiced for an immediate selection by vote, saying the responsibility was too great to throw on the special committee. The committee included Messrs. A. Jones, F. H. Chesher, H. W. Ackerman, J. W. Cook and Arthur McGie.

Chairman Elliott said that the special committee should select the seven or five, then the Board would endorse the selection, without perley. "But let's do it to-night, without further delay," said Mr. Elliott.

Mr. Potter asked the chair why the Board should vote at all, saying that he, personally, didn't know enough about the abilities of the firms to vote.

Mr. Elliott backed Mr. Potter in this, explaining that he (Mr. Elliott) didn't see how the Board could do anything intelligently without some information concerning the firms. At this point, Mr. McGie read what facts he had, relating to the recommendations of some of the firms. He mentioned that Chapman and Oxley had erected the new Albert College. Mr. Elliott insisted that the special committee should make the selection, with the backing of the Board. Finally it was decided to vote directly on the selection. Messrs. Fred B. Smith and G. B. Smith were appointed scrutineers of the vote.

This was the outstanding matter brought up at the meeting which closed the year for the Board, which sat for about two hours and a half last night.

Among the twelve members present was Mr. Wm. Hudson, newly elected trustee who was welcomed by all the other members when he came in the Council room.

TO KING'S SECRETARY

Mr. Elliott opened proceedings by reading a letter which he had sent to the Private Secretary of His Majesty King George, expressing grief at the passing of the Queen Mother Alexandra. The letter was dated November 23.

Colonel Ponton was in Toronto on business which prevented him from attending the meeting, according to a letter from Secretary Diamond.

Mr. Elliott asked Mr. Potter to take the Chair at this point. The Board went into committee of the whole with the motion of Mr. Ackerman, and approved the financial accounts which totalled $1,000. The accounts were subject to the check over of Mr. Still, well.

MR. CLARKE'S REPORT

The report of Inspector H. J. Clarke, B.A., for the last half year was then read by Mr. Clarke. The comments were as follows: Accommodation—a credit to the city, but taxed to the limit. "It is worth it to the half-day system to have it," said Mr. Clarke. The latter was dated November 23.

A large percentage of this lost time was made up of half days which absence was not due to illness so much as carelessness on the part of the parents in getting their children started to school. Fire Drills were praised for their value in later life as well as in school days. Registration—Total for 1924 was 1665, this year Mr. 1740. Work—Elementary arithmetic was below standard in a few classes, to other respects work was satisfactory. Presence—Last June there were a few students promoted who shouldn't have been. The matter was called to the attention of school principals by the Inspector who cautioned stricter supervision in this matter. Department was satisfactory.

The Inspector occupied fourteen days in his inspection.

General Remarks included the opinion that study of music was important. The Inspector will observe the work of Prof. Hunt during the winter. Professor Hunt shouldn't attempt to teach, but to direct and supervise what has been taught by the teachers.

AILE TEACHERS

Mr. Harvey moved for the adoption of the report, stressing the importance of fire drills. Mr. Elliott seconded the motion, saying he was "delighted" with the report. He expressed his appreciation of Inspector Clarke's work during the year. Mr. Ackerman said that in the inspector and in each teacher, Belleville schools had able directors; that this fact should be publicly acknowledged.

The report of Inspector D. A. Campbell of the Vocational School was next read. The enrollment was

Christmas Entertainment There Delighted the Little Ones

S. CLAUS WAS PRESENT

Lengthy Programme Was Carried Out—Mr. Walmsley Ill

Tabernacle Sunday School pupils held their annual Christmas Tree Entertainment last night in the school rooms of the church. The pools and lights were decorated with cream and mauve crepe paper and three Christmas trees laden with gifts were placed at the end of the platform and glistening under their load of presents with the tinsel and artificial snow hung on them. Sprays of evergreen were placed in the corners and other suggestions of Christmas cheer. A central star was brightly illuminated throughout the evening program. A large picture made up the background. This depicting the birth of Christ and the three Wise Men who had just come from the east.

In the absence of Mr. Walmsley who was advised by his doctor not to attend, due to ill health, Mr. Cecil Lee took the chair and carried out the program very creditably.

About ten o'clock to the great joy of the children, "Santa Claus" arrived and distributed the presents from the trees.

The members of the orchestra which furnished the music during the evening were: Messrs' M. Young, R. Hinchey, C. Hanna, Deshane, Assistine, and Miss Davis who presided at the piano.

The following programme was carried out:—Orchestra; Chorus by School; Chorus by the Girls' Primary Class; Piano Selection, "The Dutch Smith's Song" by Harry McGuire; Recitation by Hazel Sandwith; Recitation by Mrs. Dorothy Wannacot gave a brief but very interesting address, welcoming the gathering and outlining the work of the Sunday School; Solo, by Mr. Mancoll; Recitation, Grace Charlton; Dialogue, Jean and Betty Shorey; Duet, Pauline and Dorla Kerr; Recitation, Bernice Burley; Trio, June Scott, Marjorie Miller and Mildred Chandler; Recitation, "Land Sladby Light", Miss Ashley's class; Solo, Herbie Burley; Recitation, Marion Fisher; Duet, the Misses Hallwell; Orchestra; Pageant, "The Pathway of the Star"; God Save the King.

TO CONFISCATE CAR WHICH HELD LIQUOR

The MacLaughlin car seized by Provincial police officers two weeks ago and nearly 600 bottles of assorted liquor, valued at several hundred, were confiscated by Magistrate Masson this morning. The car was recovered in the name of John C. Cagle, Niagara Falls, Ont., who has been served with a summons.

Mr. Donald Kenny told about the chase the police Paine had with the car that night, his rate being 60 miles per hour from Gibson's crossing to the hospital where it was reduced to 55. The driver crowded to the left and prevented the police car passing. From Dundas street the chase lead to Front and Bridge, up Bridge to Grif fin's, where the police car was crowded up on the sidewalk. The other car shot over the Church street hill with lights off and was later found abandoned.

200 CHILDREN DINNER GUESTS

Had Wonderful Time at Christmas Festivities at Victoria Ave.

THEN A PROGRAMME

Santa Was There and He Had Surprises For Them All!

Had Peter Pan flown in through the windows of Victoria Avenue Baptist Sunday School, on Friday evening, no one would have been particularly excited because nearly every one else from the "Never-Never" land was there—with Santa Claus thrown by way of good measure.

And as to the Darling family J. M. Barrie know so well?

Why, there were two hundred Darling children sitting at the long tables in the assembly hall all having a wonderful time eating a Christmas tea from tables which were not only laden with delicacies but which each suggested Christmas immediately with the great bonquets of flaming poinsettas and holly berries. And strangely enough the fairies, bunnies and brownies all, like the Darling family had most human appetites and when the great Christmas cake donated by Mr. A. Hanna, of the Dickens confectionery store, was cut they all eagerly accepted a generous piece and enjoyed even the last crumb of white icing. Miss E. Forman, Miss F. Hitchon and Miss Jean Hanna were in charge of the tea.

But the tea was not all by any means, the big event awaited the children upstairs where a "thirty-foot-item" programme awaited them and more exciting than ever, the children themselves were the performers in most cases and the proud parents, officers and teachers did feel proud of the children's items. They the Sunday school had every reason to did everything so well that no one could quite decide which was the best so every one got the most cords and every one was happy.

In the absence of Mr. Stilwell, acting Superintendent of th Sunday School, Rv. N. S. McKechnie acted as chairman and kept everything bright throughout the evening.

Distribution of Prizes by Santa Claus.

The last item was a wonderful finale to the programme and old Santa Claus who looked suspiciously like Mr. Joe Blackburn, though no one has ever seen Mr. Blackburn with a long beard and red clothes, awarded the prizes to the children who had missed no Sundays, no fields. Mr. McKechnie who has been one Sunday or even two or three from Sunday School. And so the excitement ended—that is until Christmas Eve, when the children will all watch eagerly for Santa to come through the chimney.

DELONG CASE WAITS UNTIL WEDNESDAY; PERJURY IS CHARGED

Clarence Delong, charged with committing perjury, was before Magistrate Masson in police court this morning. The case was laid over until Wednesday for argument.

Evidence of Mrs. Mary Poynter, of South Church street, and her son Tom, Michael Meehan her landlord and Mrs. Gladys Smith, 58 Church street was adduced.

Delong had sworn that he was served rhubarb wine by Mrs. Poynter in her home. Mrs. Poynter denied having wine, though Delong had called at her house that night to ask if he might board there.

He never even got inside the house she said.

Meehan saw him at the door when he came in the water, but denied drinking with Delong in Poynter's home as Delong had sworn he had.

Mrs. Smith said she had called to her to swear that Mrs. Poynter made rhubarb wine.

"There will be no trouble," he said "and the old man and I will make it alright with you."

C. A. Payne appeared for accused.

TORONTO TURKEY-LESS

Toronto, Dec. 19.—There were not more than 20 turkeys on the St. Lawrence Market today and they were of poor quality. A few of these birds were sold at 35 cents per pound, while the average was 50 cents.

SATURDAY MART WAS NOT RECORD PRICES MEDIUM

BUTTER IS CHEAPER

Details of Prices On Live and Dressed Fowl—And Vegetables

While by no means a record in attendance nor in the produce displayed, the Saturday market was a big one, and the fowl, which as at Christmas market are the main feature, were of an unusually excellent quality. Judging by the fowl displayed, if turkeys, geese and chickens were endowed with the power of song, there would be no barn yards in the county which tonight would not re-echo with "Where Is My Wandering Bird Tonight?"

The prices were high but not extraordinarily so; turkeys sold at 40c a pound and ranged in price per bird from $2.75 to $3.50 to $9.00.

Geese came next in importance selling at $2.75 to $3.00 and a large area of pretesting live ones sold at $4.00 each. These geese which were thoroughly delicious beasties were grabbed pretty speedily and very blazingly. Chickens sold at from 50c each to 80c each, ducks from $1.00 to $1.50 a pair. Ducks sold at $1.00 each to $1.25.

THE VEGETABLES

Some vegetable were very plentiful selling quickly at moderate prices. Potatoes were practically a minus quantity and sold at last week's prices —$3 a bag. Beets brought 10c a peck, onions 50c; carrots, 10c; turnip 10c a peck, cabbages 5c each, pumpkins and squash from 5c to 10c each; celery at 5c each. Fruit was plentiful, apples selling pretty slowly at 15c a small basket and 50c a bag. Pears brought 15c a basket and were reasonably fine.

BUTTER, AND EGGS

Butter was plentiful bringing 40c a pound and fresh eggs 60c and 65c a dozen. Cream brought 35c a pint, buttermilk 10c a pint. Due to crowded condition of the inner market several of the farmers' wives, parked outside and a good business. Home made candy was an uncommon feature, a large basket of really tempting sweets for a large family and twenty-five cents a box asked.

THAT SCHOOL DANCE

The report of the investigation committee for the matter of the school dance which was up much in the public eye, and the allegations which issued after the dance, then occupied the centre of the stage. The report, as published in the local press, was read. Mr. Harvey said that he was sorry that he was ill when the matter came up for publicity, and that he was glad that the report proved acceptable to the Board, and that the matter was cleared up. Mr. Elliott moved for the acceptance of the report. It was seconded by Mr. Fred Smith.

THE RESOLUTION

The question of rescinding the resolution to bar dances in Public Schools was next discussed. Mr. Ackerman was outspoken in his objections to the abrogation of the order. Mr. Ackerman said that "if the parents want to send their children to dances, that's their business, but we (meaning the schools) shouldn't teach them to dance at that age."

Mr. Stillwell wrote a letter to the Board asking for $45.45 to cover the Commencement exercises. "Is that all he wants?" exclaimed Mr. Elliott, launching out in praise for the manner in which the Commencement and the reception of Premier Ferguson had been conducted.

FROM RURAL SCHOOL

The Prince of Wales School wants to compete with the City Schools in athletics, and win the cups offered, if they can, was the gist of a letter read to the Board from Mr. A. McMullen. Most members were agreeable that the request was reasonable, but that the matter should be put up to whoever donated the cups. Mr. Harvey objected, pointing out that if the Prince of Wales School is included in the competition, that the C.S.D. might later apply in this time. Mr. Elliott said that the matter should be referred to the Assistant Principals of the schools who are to interview the donors of the cup. Mr. Ackerman said that the matter was not for the Board to consider, anyway.

A committee composed of Messrs. McGie, Elliott, Fenton and Ackerman was chosen to nominate a delegate to the Convention of the Ontario Society of Teachers to be held in Belleville from February 23 to 26. The Secretary-Treasurer of the Union Society continued, in his letter to the Board, the general programme to be followed during the Convention.

It was later decided that Mr. McGie should be the Chairman of the Committee of Delegates and that the whole Board should attend, or at least that they were eligible to do so.

SKATING RINKS

The Rotary Club and the Kiwanis want a committee from the Board to meet their representatives next Monday at nine o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce rooms for a discussion of skating rinks for children. A committee from the new City Council will co-operate at the same time. The committee from the Board will be Messrs. W.N. Bolair, D.G. Bleecker and Ernest A. Gean.

The Department of Health in the persons of Dr. J. M. Wilson and Miss V. F. Sinclair, nurse, were represented in a report of a recent inspection by Miss A. B. Jamieson.

A tonsil and adenoid clinic was recommended. There are 140 cases which need attention at the present time in the schools. The matter was laid over until the February meeting of the Board after which the new Council will be consulted.

TEACHER IS QUITTING

Mr. G. T. Elliott, teacher of the High School tendered his resignation, effective March 31st, 1926. It was moved to refer the resignation to the Committee of Management with power to act also to engage a new teacher if they be desirous. Mr. Jno. Elliott said that the wishes expressed by Mr. C. T. Elliott would be followed.

The name (Girls' High School) will be replaced in all by-laws referring to it, by the name King George School, its present name.

Mr. Elliott took the Chair at this point.

COMPLIMENTS

Just before adjournment Mr. Elliott expressed his pleasure at having had the opportunity to work with the present Board. The co-operation he received had been gratifying. Mr. Ackerman echoed his personal appreciation of Mr. Elliott's services and said he presumed that he was speaking for the whole Board as well.

TRENTON PUPILS PUT ON PLAYS

Christmas Meeting of Lit. Of T.H.S. Had Very Ambitious Program

Trenton, Dec. 19.—The open Christmas meeting of the Literary Society of Trenton High School was held last night in the High School building.

The orchestra opened the meeting with a fine selection, after which the president, Mr. Alex. Wilson gave a few remarks pointing out the aims of the society and urging that more public speaking should take place. Community singing was then indulged in led by Ronald Hassell and Francis Little. Elmo Fields then gave a vocal solo which was encored in dramatic style. "A Pair of Lunatics" was given by Margaret Croft and Pauline Lidiard. Part one of the the program closed with a vocal solo by Emma LaMotte.

Mr. Wayne opened part two with a few remarks on the Literary Society and agreed heartily with all the speakers had pointed out. The orchestra responded of O. Leary, W. Carter, B. Hendessey and J. McCauley then favored with another selection. Community singing again carried on. A play was then presented entitled "The Boy Comes Home". The boy had just returned from the war and his uncle wanted him to go in the jam factory which he refused. His uncle then threatened to cut him off from a by allowance. His uncle finally fell asleep and dreamed that he had died and that the boy and when he awoke was very, very sore to the boy. It was well done.

A violin solo was then rendered by Gladys Spicer after which the final number of the program—a play entitled "The Grind Comes Downstairs"—was produced. This had to do with a family in London who were "not of the rich class. The Grind Chain's Dandruff was a very precious stone. While they were sitting in their room an object was thrown in through the window. On picking it up it was found to be the precious gem. The thief came in the house to get the diamond but a detective arrived in time and during the conversation Mrs. Perkins had the diamond secreted in a clock which she kept hidden remarkably well. It made a thrilling finish.

The meeting closed with the singing of "God Save Our King".

Sun Up Good Film Full of Real Thrills

If every artist could adapt himself to a new medium as readily as has Edmund Goulding, whose first production "Sun-Up" is being shown at Griffins Theatre, the wall of the pub for something different would soon be appeased.

"Sun-Up", a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, exhibits an intelligent transference to a great play to the screen, an unusual sense of reality and atmosphere, and performances by every members of its cast that defy criticism. To Goulding must go the lion's share of the credit for this because it is not an easy matter to tell a story in an entirely new medium or expression. Heretofore Goulding has been known as an author, playwright and scenarist.

"Sun-Up" tells the story of a North Carolina mountain boy who goes to the war under great protest from his mother and sweetheart. He is thrust lifted in action and it is his unexpected return and the consequences, that call forth some of the finest acting seen on the screen in many a day.

Conrad Nagel, first as the stubborn mountain boy, and later the returned soldier, a sort of rough diamond, gives a performance that cannot be compared due to distinctly, with anything he has done here tofore, and most people in last evening's audience could hardly recognize the immaculate Conrad of old for a few familiar mannerisms in the closing scenes.

Lucile La Verne as the mother, in the role she made famous on the stage, and Pauline Starke as "Emmy" further enhance their popularity by intelligent portrayals of roles entirely alien to any previous performance. The remainder of the cast, George K. Arthur, Arthur Rankin, Sam De Grasse, Edward Connelly and Richard Beckwith should also receive special mention for unexcelled performances.

COL. MITCHELL IS SUSPENDED FROM U.S. ARMY

Court - Martial Sentence Places Term at Five Years

'LENIENCY' EXPLAINED

Prosecution Said Air Officer Caused Public Hysteria

Washington, December 19.—Found guilty by a general court martial of having broken discipline by his attacks on aviation policies, Colonel William Mitchell today was sentenced to five years' suspension from the army.

The sentence must be approved by President Coolidge to become effective, and meantime the air officer will remain technically under arrest.

By sustaining all of the charges, the court adjudged the accused guilty of conduct prejudicial to good order and military discipline, subordination and utterances contemptuous to the war and navy departments in "unrestrained, sentences. Major-General Hines, president of the court, said that he and his colleagues had taken into consideration Mitchell's war record, and the sentence for that reason had been made "lenient."

"We ask the dismissal of the accused," Major Guillon said, "for the sake of the army, whose discipline he has endangered and whose fair name he has attempted to discredit. We ask his dismissal for the sake of those young officers of the army air service whose ideals he has shadowed and whose loyalty he has corrupted. We ask his dismissal in the name of truth, under whose aegis he has foolishly protected, but which he does not know. Finally, we ask it in the name of the American people, whose trust he has played upon, whose hysteria he has fomented, whose confidence he has betrayed and whose faith he has betrayed."

Admiral Sims was characterized by prosecuting counsel as the "opinionated, narrow-minded, hobby riding egomaniacal type."

CONSTERNATION

Constantinople, Dec. 18.—Decision of the League of Nations council awarding Mosul to Irak which is under British mandate, is received with consternation in Turkey. Turkish public opinion as expressed in newspaper considers that the question has not been solved but is entering upon a new phase, more complex than that obtaining prior to the League decision. All papers criticize the "servility" of the League which they assert is the tool of Great Britain. Most of them are threatening a lead from Angora before indulging in any more definite comment but the Djumriet declares: "We shall save Mosul as we saved Smyrna, Adna and Brousa." Leading government organs says "The government has examined all eventualities and has taken the necessary measures to meet every situation." We mention this not, by way of engaging the public opinion here and abroad."

ONE MAN'S CONTRIBUTION

What would be thought of a Canadian who added to Canada new territory, capable of producing wheat, in area double that of the Maritime provinces? Would he not be acclaimed as the greatest Canadian of his time? Yet that is virtually what has been done by an official of the Dominion government, the official scientist, who, working patiently for years at the experimental farm, has succeeded in evolving a new variety of wheat to which has been given the name of Garnet. The new wheat, several thousand bushels of which are now being distributed for seed among the western farmers, is an improvement on the famous Marquis variety, developed by Dr. Saunders, as the Marquis was an improvement on the old Red Fife. The Garnet wheat is as good in quality as the Marquis and has in addition this advantage over that variety, that it ripens ten days earlier, thus lessening the danger of damage from frost and rust.

It is claimed that the introduction of Garnet wheat will push the grain-growing zone in western Canada seventy miles northward. As this zone is from twelve to fifteen hundred miles long, it will thus be seen that the new wheat has added at least a hundred thousand miles to the grain-growing area of the country, an area bout double that of England.

If Swift's saying is true, that the man who makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before has made a real contribution to the public welfare, what shall be said of the contribution made to the welfare of Canada by the man who developed Garnet wheat? Has any public man done a tithe as much?

MISPLACED SYMPATHY

The extremely mournful predictions of Colonel George Harvey, former ambassador of the United States to the court of St. James, concerning the impending collapse of Great Britain, have been answered from many quarters, the general opinion being that the colonel is wasting his sympathy. John Bull resents this pitying attitude, and has cause for doing so. In he not meeting all his obligations punctually and without repining? Only this very week another instalment of $25,000,000 was paid to the United States on account of capital debt and accrued interest. The nation which can undertake to pay off over four and half billion dollars in spite of the fact that she is receiving nothing as yet from her own creditors, is hardly to be considered bankrupt or decadent. Britain's efforts, entailing taxation of a most onerous character, is a proof of her inherent strength, materially and morally. Much more is owing to Britain—leaving Russia out of the reckoning altogether—than Britain owes the United States. Let that fact be remembered. A practical form of sympathy would be for the latter to ease the burden. Since there is no thought of that, the only thing to do is to hold one's peace.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

It is no longer possible to shop early but at all events what the merchants of the city desire now is weather no worse than we have enjoyed and an uninterrupted flow of purchasers of the volume that has been the rule for the past week or more.

Few if any storekeepers have any complaints to make regarding the amount of business they have been doing. They say with gratitude that it has been a good Christmas season.

This being Saturday—Christmas Saturday as the custom is to call it—there are four more purchasing days. Today and tonight of course will make a big difference to the lists of Christmas gifts which the thrifty and forward person always makes out, if indeed he or she has not already completed the business of shopping.

Never were Belleville stores more ready to serve customers. The display of everything in the way of attractive things for gifts had been astonishingly fine and the quality for the price remarkably good. Prices are somewhat down and with better times the season of buying has been very satisfactory.

So it seems that it will be a very merry Christmas all round.

CHAPTER IV
FELIX PLAYS HIS PART

There was a strange stillness pervading the old White Manor when the two men entered. To Paul Darnley it was like the stillness of death. He always associated his friend's home with noise and bustle, and the perpetual click of electricity. Now all was hushed into a heavy silence. It settled almost as if with the coming of Sir Charles illness all that had appertained to his former ecstatic busy self had been swiftly brought to an end.

Some one, probably by Cecil's orders, had lowered the lights everywhere. The girl herself, with her faithful, loving old nurse, came out from that large room on the ground floor as the noise of the wheels could be announced that Mr. Darnley had returned. She had recovered from her fainting-fit, but she looked very ill. Her face was deathly white, her lips even to his lips; her eyes held still that reflection of incredulous horror and pain that had met those them when the last heavy blow had fallen. Her hair, which usually wreathed her brow in such soft, lovely curls, was pushed back in rough disorder. She had lost her proud, easy carriage for a time, and her curious coldness seemed to melt from her ring not to mark her trouble and grief with a mocking, fantastic element.

"They have carried him upstairs," she said to Mr. Darnley, in a voice that was scarcely audible. A wave of sudden relief passed over the face of Paul Darnley both her hands in greeting to the doctor.

"How good of you to come so quickly!" she said faltering; and even her eyes went questionably toward Felix, whose tall, magnificent figure in immaculate evening dress seemed to dwell in the dim light and oppressive silence of the old house.

Felix met the girl's eyes calmly. He saw no beauty in her at this moment. Nevertheless, she attracted him. She was so wholly unlike any other girl he had ever met. She was so young, too, and was surrounded by such extraordinary circumstances, and these alone interested Felix in her misery. Cecil would have been sufficient to make her look like a goddess of sorrow, but even her youth and splendid physique The noble head was gracefully set on his shoulders, the wonderful stature, the beautiful eyes, and the tender sympathy which crept into those eyes as their gaze rested on her was like a faint, soft touch of comfort.

Doctor Thorold hurriedly introduced the young man.

"This is my nephew, Felix Bingham. You have heard me speak of him, Cecil. He is a doctor, and has come with me this evening to join his help to mine, if necessary. We will go to your father. Do not trouble to come, my dear; you look worn out. Now, sit down there and wait till we come, and don't question anything very terrible, my child."

As they were moving away, Doctor Thorold spoke hurriedly to Paul Darnley.

"Remain with her," he whispered. "She should not be left too much alone. Let her talk; it will ease her vitality and probably prevent an illness."

Paul Darnley returned to the dining-room, as he had been bidden.

Cecil was sitting almost feebly in a big chair, and Nini was hovering about her, frightened and tearful.

As Darnley came in, the girl looked up.

"How good you have been! What should I have done without you? I shall never be able to thank you, Mr. Darnley."

Paul Darnley took her hand.

"We are old friends, Cecil, you and I. ship. You know how glad I am to do Thanks are never necessary in real friendship. You must not even think of anything for you. I wish I could, but—I'll your troubles." He drew a chair close to her. "Tell me what happened while I was away."

Cecil shivered, and passed one cold hand over her eyes.

"I seem in a dream," she said feebly. "It is all so strange, so horrible, Mr. Darnley, can it be true? Can what she said to-night be true? I—I think I would rather have died than have heard what I heard from her lips. I have had such beautiful dreams of my mother. She has lived with me always, quite—quite a real person, sometimes, and she has been so sweet, so lovely, so helpful, such beautiful dreams of my mother, of my mother. How little we guessed the truth, if that is the truth!"

ARCHDEACON BEAMISH EXPLAINS THE MEANING OF CEREMONIAL EVENTS

What did the consecration of St. George's at Kingston Thursday mean to you, as a minister?"

This was the question which was addressed to the Ven. Archdeacon Beamish by The Intelligencer.

"The services of Thursday would bring to the minds of many of the older clergy the times of Archbishop Lewis. It was then that the Church had the full ceremonial which is expressive of Catholic faith," said the Rector in explanation.

The ecclesiastical significance, rather than the more consideration of the event as an isolated bit of architecture—is this:

"In spite of the carping criticisms, the full ceremonials, ritual and liturgy of the Church of England will be revived. This elaborate ceremony of Thursday is the manner which the Bishop of Ontario has given to the criticisms offered."

On his return trip, Rev. Mr. Beamish was accompanied by Rev. F. Calger-Watson, Rector of Marmora; and Rev. C. O. Davies, Rector of Rawdon. The two ministers were yesterday the guests of Rev. Mr. Beamish.

Second Notice
THE MAGIC CARPET

Once upon a time in the mystic land of Persia, there was found among the treasures of a king, a wonderful carpet. One had only to sit on it, wish to be somewhere, and away the carpet would fly till the wished-for place was reached. For hundreds of years it carried kings and princes upon the most amazing adventures. No one knows what finally became of it, but it may be that its last threads went into the make-up of the first Youth's Companion. For, like the magic carpet, The Companion for 1926 carries you to the land of your hearts' desire—up into the Maine woods with the lumbermen; out on the western plains where the warlike Navahs live; far up into the gold regions of Alaska; and away on the Southern Seas in search of treasure and lost islands. All you need for such extraordinary adventures is a young heart and a Youth's Companion. Don't lose time in getting started; subscribe now and receive:

1.—The Youth's Companion—52 issues in 1926 and

2.—The remaining issues of 1925.

All for only $2.

3.—Or include Hall's Almanac, the monthly authority on fashions. Both publications, only $2.50.

"THE HAT'S THE THING" MOVIE FASHION EXPERT DECLARES AFTER TRIP

"The hat's the thing," according to Howard Greer, noted creator of screen fashions. Greer recently returned to Hollywood from Paris, where he was sent by Paramount to study new styles. Greer designed all the gorgeous gowns worn by Florence Vidor and Esther Ralston in the Paramount picture, "The Trouble With Wives," which comes to the Belle Theatre on Monday. Tom Moore and Ford Sterling complete the quartette of popular players featured in the leading roles of the production, an original screen story by Seda Cowan and Howard Higgin. Malcolm St. Clair, who made "Are Parents People?" directed.

Mrs. Beatrice Laycock, who died at Liverpool on December 14.

Mrs. Leacock, who suffered from cancer, was brought to Liverpool from Canada about a month ago for the purpose of administering the recently discovered lead treatment, but her illness had advanced to such a stage before her arrival as to render it impossible for her to respond to the treatment.

MAKE YOUR CHRISTMAS CANDIES EARLY

by Barbara Brooks
Home Economics Dept., Kelley Co. of Canada, Ltd., London Can.

Christmas would not be Christmas without home-made candy. In many homes the candy kettle is put on the range two or three weeks before this important holiday and sweets of many kinds are made and used for filling gift boxes. There is no better way of stimulating the Christmas spirit than by having family candy parties. The boys can lend a hand in beating the cream and, of course the candies must be tasted. The girls will enjoy molding and coloring and mother can watch the temperatures.

If you are going to make a good deal of candy, a thermometer will be a great help. Candy thermometers can be purchased at a reasonable price and they will save time worry and materials. It is a pleasant feeling to be sure that candy will turn out the same every time.

The following recipes are tested and will yield delicious candies:

Fondant

2 cups sugar
2 tbsp. light corn syrup
1 cup water

Mix sugar, and water together, and cook, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Cover the sauce pan for a few minutes, so that the steam will wash down any sugar crystals which form on the sides of the pan. Remove the cover and allow the candy to boil until the temperature is 236 F. is reached. (Soft ball.)

Pour the fondant on a cold, wet platter and allow it to cool to 120 F. (lukewarm. Beat until smooth and creamy. Knead with the hands. Put away in a covered jar until you are ready to make the fondant up into fancy shapes.

Super Fudge

2 cups sugar
2 tbsp. corn syrup
4 squares chocolate
1-4 cups milk
2 tbsp. butter
1 tsp. vanilla
2-3 cup fondant

Mix sugar, syrup, chocolate and milk together and cook stirring until chocolate is melted. Continue cooking until the temperature 236 F. is reached. Remove from fire, add the butter and let the mixture stand until lukewarm. Add the fondant and vanilla and beat until creamy.

This fudge is of the consistency of fondant and is soft and pliable. It can be used for centers of bonbons, for making fudge rolls, etc.

All-Bran Brittle

2 cups granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1-2 cup light corn syrup
1-4 cup water
1-4 cup butter
1-8 teaspoon salt
1 1-2 cups All-Bran

Put the sugars, corn syrup and water into a sauce pan and cook, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking without stirring, until the temperature 300 F. is reached.

Remove from fire, add salt and butter, and stir only enough to mix well. Add All-Bran and turn at once on a greased slab or on a greased, inverted pan or baking sheet. Smooth out with a spatula. After about a half minute, take hold of the edges of the candy and lift, ing it slightly from the slab, pull it as thin as possible. Break into irregular pieces.

PITTSBURG WINS OVER NEW YORK

Score Was 3-2 in Well Played Match in the Smoky City

Pittsburg, Dec. 18.—Odie Cleghorn's Pittsburg Pirates defeated New York Americans before a fair sized crowd Friday night by a 3-2 score.

The visitors had a snappy bearing as they paraded on the ice, in their star spangled jerseys. The boys from the big city, however, failed to scare the Steel City skaters who put forth such a fine defence that the visitors were outplayed consistently throughout the first period. Miles, of the Pirates, threw the crowd in an uproar when he scored after six minutes of exciting play. Tex Rickard's skaters did not show any tendency to quit, and their determination was soon rewarded when Campbell cut one through the Pittsburgh defence for a long and beautiful goal. The Pirates were dangerous for the remainder of the period. There was no further scoring.

Recreation Bowling Results

The fowl competition at the Recreation Alleys is growing keener every day in the "duck" class. Yesterday afternoon and last night some good bowling was done by some of the bowlers with the consequence that a few that were down toward the bottom of the list are entirely wiped out. The following is the standing right up to last night: Johns 731; Cornell 710; T. Harvey 706; G. Lynch 703; Reaver 690; Donahue 687; O'Callaghan 667; Harvey 653; Cardwell 653; Turowski 677; P. In the ladies' class the following five are still the only ones over the 600 mark. Mrs. Lee 656; Miss Ford 618; Miss V. Bland 616; Miss Sayers 609; Miss H. Bland 606.

One league game was played at the Recreation Alleys last night in the C.N.R. league between the Road Dept. and the Car Dept. The former team being a little too good for the Car men, both teams were playing four men aside. High bowlers were Bridge 810 and Mack 667.

PORT HOPE DETERMINED TO SOLVE INTERFERENCE

Port Hope, Dec. 15.—The Radio Interference Locating Car from the Department of Marine and Fisheries, Ottawa, made its appearance in Port Hope Thursday morning. The car is complete in every detail and is equipped with a driven tube Super Heterodyne receiving set, in order that places where the car can not go may be tested.

The car made a tour of the town. Careful tests were taken at all likely points around the electric system in the town and everything was found to be in order.

It is thought that the street fighting system in Port Hope is at fault and Thursday evening the car was on the job to locate the trouble. Some citizens believe that the high tension lines north of the town are the seat of the trouble. All these will be investigated and the car will be in town until the interference is rectified.

CONQUEROR OF THE MONGOLIAN WILDS

Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, who startled the world a few years ago by discovering a nest of dinosaur eggs ten million years old, arrived in New York on November 9th from his Third Asiatic Expedition under the auspices of the American Museum of Natural History.

Again he attributes much of the success of his expedition to the astounding performance of his five Dodge Brothers Motor Cars.

Following is a direct quotation from an official statement by Dr. Andrews upon his return to America:

The Gobi Desert in Mongolia is the most extensive undeveloped and unexplored region now left in the world. Until a few years ago it was retarded by the impossibly slow traffic of camel trains, the only means of communication.

But now it is being crisscrossed in every direction by motor cars, or, more correctly by one motor car, the Dodge. Sixty or seventy Dodge Brothers cars are making regular trips far into the interior of this vast waste, bringing out loads of sables, precious furs, wool and other products.

No other car except the Dodge is found there because we have tried it out on each of our three expeditions and have had it demonstrated to our satisfaction that the Dodge is the only car that will stand up under the strain of the roadless desert and do everything we ask of it.

Few people have occasion to subject their motor cars to punishment of this severity. It is reassuring, however, to know that in emergencies Dodge Brothers Motor Car is built to meet the test.

These dependable and sturdy qualities also account for the fact that more than 90% of all the motor cars Dodge Brothers have built during the past eleven years, are still in active service.

SALE OF BEER-BY-GLASS NOT FOR SASKATCHEWAN

Regina, December, 19.—Saskatchewan is not going to have any sys tem which provides for the sale of beer by the glass, not within a year or two at least, Premier C. A. Dunning replying to a delegation representing the Moderation League made that quite clear to-day.

No great demand for the radical change by the general public had come to the attention of the Government, he said. As there was no evidence of any desire for the change the Government considered the present was not the time to even ask the people to vote on the issue and certainly it was not the time for the Government to act without such a mandate.

Christmas Morning—Brief service and Holy Communion at 11 o'clock.

"Glory to God in the high est and on earth peace good will toward men". Has this wonderful song of the Angels ever been realized? We answer No! But the Angels saw in the Babe born in Bethlehem that night not only the world's Redeemer but also the future King, and the heart-cheering message from the Scripture has gone forth throughout the earth that these 1924 Jesus wants right to King has taken His power to reign. Rev. 11: 15-18. Then this is the real cause of the world's unrest—satan empire is falling and will soon pass away in the greatest time of trouble the world has ever known. We urge upon all to welcome earths new King to humbly bow to His righteous authority, to obey the ten commandments and the Golden Rule—the laws of the New Kingdom—then you may be one of the "millions now living who will never die." Then the whole earth will be joining that angelic song "Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace good-will toward men." Address I.B.S., Belleville for free literature.

ST. ANDREWS SCHOLARS SEND GIFTS TO AREA WHERE CROPS FAILED

The Sunday School of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church to-day shipped to a point in the Canadian West a number of bales of Christmas presents, the result of the Christmas Tree in St. Andrew's Church last night, when gifts were made rather than received.

The Minister the Rev. R. G. Stewart who knows the west as only a man does who has lived in it for a generation or more, directed that these gifts of clothes, books and substantial toys be sent to a community of New Canadians where this year there was not only a failure of the wheat crop, but of the potato crop and where consequently not only would there be no luxuries but few of the necessities of life.

The Presbyterian church missionary in the community is doing double duty as teacher and missionary and will no doubt be grateful for these gifts from Belleville.

DOUBLE DROWNING IN BELLEVILLE BRINGS CITY

LOCARNO TREATY MEANS SECURITY ON EVEN TERMS

Prof. Hearton, Queen's University, Gives "Close-up" of Recent Pact

SECURITY IS ASSURED

Old War-Time Hatreds are Gone—Germany is Treated as Equal

The meaning of Locarno is that the political thermometer showing world conditions is again approaching normal, that there is now real hope of co-operation instead of armed distrust, that there is security instead of insecurity; in short Locarno is a great start in advance from Versailles.

Germany is no longer regarded as the sole cause of the war by many distinguished diplomatists and statesmen and she has been treated as an equal and is being allowed to come into the League of Nations practically as an equal. Russia and then next the United States must be brought in and then it will be a real League of Nations.

The foregoing summarizes the findings of Professor Heaton of Queen's University who was the speaker before the Rotary Club at today's luncheon.

The Treaty of Versailles and its results based on the war guilt of Germany and Germany prostrated at the feet of home was wrong, but not finely attempted to be so for four years. The same the Dawes agreement, made by bankers after the politicians had failed. It had for one thing shaved down the reparations to about one-third of their initial size. Then came Locarno with all thoughts of vengeance gone. That was the real spirit of Locarno". Russia has been found to be almost as much to blame as Germany for the war if documents now exposed by the Bolshevists can be depended upon. So that at the present time there is something like a healthy agnos ticism regarding the guilt of Germany as the sole cause of the appalling effort of 1914-18," said the speaker. He recalled that Borden and Hanna had both foretold trouble over the terms of Versailles.

Locarno spelled security and unity. It meant that the world could settle down and go about its business in a normal fashion. It was the biggest thing since the war.

Prof. Heaton was introduced to the Club by Mr. A. G. Davis. Mr. W. R. Scott moved a vote of thanks.

Prof. Heaton joined Queen's this Fall. He was eleven years in Australia, but spent the year in England. He is a recognized authority on international affairs.

CANDIDATES WHO WON AND THOSE WHO TRIED AT COUNCIL TO-NIGHT

To-night the City Council for 1925 will hold its last regular meteing and Mayor W. C. Mikel plans to have it one of the most unique Council meetings ever held in the city. He has sent out a request to all the candidates in the last municipal election whether elected or nor, to attend this last meeting for 1925.

The candidates can not take part in the regular business of the City Council but after the regular business is completed a certain amount of time at the last meeting is usually devoted to discussion and review in which the candidates may take part and in the case of most of them it will be their first lesson in the City Council. It will encourage the spirit of co-operation so indispensable to the welfare of the city.

Christmas Music in City Churches Best Ever Produced in Belleville

Practically all the city churches had musical numbers on Sunday which excelled any Christmas music yet heard in Belleville.

AT BRIDGE STREET UNITED CHURCH

At Bridge Street United Church of which Professor Hunt is organist and choir leader, the anthem, O Zion That Tellest Glad Tidings, by Stainer, was very lovely likewise all subsequent numbers. The soloists, Mrs. Stobie, soprano, and Mr. Fred Kinsella, tenor, and Mr. Fred Sprague, bass, were at their best. Their selections in keeping with the previous numbers that had been heard in the city.

AT ST. JOHN STREET

At John Street Mr. D. Nicholson, organist and choir master had arranged a musical programme of surpassing merit, the soloists taking part in the morning and evening being Mrs. A. H. Hagerman, J. D. Bankier, and Miss A. McIntosh.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

Miss Edith Bran, organist of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was responsible for an extraordinary meritorious musical programme and Mrs. Reid's power in the capacity of choir leader was very ably demonstrated in the evident training the members of the choir had received. The solo "Night of Nights" was sung by Mr. S. C. Hyndman in a style of feeling suitable to this exquisite composition. The anthems were particularly fine. "EVERLASTING MUSIC"

Mus. B. Duff organist and choir leader of Tabernacle Church had arranged a perfect programme of Christmas music and the long programme was heard by the large congregations with extreme satisfaction and enjoyment. All numbers reflected thorough training and talented rendering and elicited response on the part of the gifted men and women of the choir. In the evening the Cantata, "Saviour and King", by Porter, was splendidly rendered.

VICTORIA AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH

Victoria Avenue Baptist Church participated in the Christmas musical programme and some very fine numbers were heard by the large congregations. Mrs. Harold Lavelle rendered a solo, "The Birthday of the King," with fine interpretation and clarity of tone.

AT ST. THOMAS' CHURCH

While the music at St. Thomas' church was very fine, the musical programme is as usual withheld until midnight service on Thursday for which a splendid programme of Christmas music has been arranged for the Choral Celebration of the Holy Communion. This will commence at 11.30 p.m. Professor Weatley has written a special setting in the Gregorian style consisting of Introit, Kyrie, Sanctus, Benedictus and Agnus Dei. The soloists will be, Miss Hall, Miss F. Hutchens, Mrs. Wheatley, and special numbers in the carols and anthems by Masters Evans, Taylor and Jefferies. The following is the programme: 1. Hallelujah from Messah; 2. Carol, "The Three Kings"; 3. "The Star of Bethlehem"; 4. "Holy Night"; 5. "The First Christmas Morn"; 6. O Thou Bethlehem"; 7. "The Birthday of a King"; 8. Shepherds Pastoral. Messiah. Ernest Wheatley, Mus. Bac., A.R.C.O., will be the organ.

AT ST. MICHAEL'S

Christmas music has also been reserved for Christmas, at Christmas Eve at St. Michael's Church.

SERVICE CLUBS BUILD 4 RINKS

Rotary and Kiwanis Take Hand in Providing Recreation Centres

Secretary Oswald Scott of the Rotary Club announced at the luncheon today that the provision of a conference this morning was that Rotary and Kiwanis were behind a project to establish four out door rinks for Belleville children, each club supplying up to $300. The City Council it was hoped going down to have stepped to one side failing into the rocky bottom trench.

BREAKS 2 RIBS IN 8-FOOT DROP

John Langston, C.N.R. engineer, is in General Hospital here suffering from bruises and it is believed two ribs have been fractured as the result of a fall which he had from a trench 7 or 8 feet deep on Great St. James street Saturday evening about 7.30 o'clock.

The Water and Works Department had opened tracks there Saturday afternoon, as they were engaged cutting under the tracks. Pedestrians were using the tracks and Mr. Langston is said

Spirit of Yuletide in Youthful Voices

Sunday afternoon the Lecture room of John St. United Church was filled with the parents and friends of the school who had gathered to join with the children in the Christmas service which was in charge of the Intermediate Canadian Girls in Training.

The president of the group, Jean Satcher, was in the chair and conducted the service with a call to worship, then a prayer, the opening notes of the processional, the joyous young voices rang out with "O Come all ye faithful". Recommended by the Sunday School system and the line of girls clad in the attractive C.G.I.T. uniform filled quietly to a close by the singing of "Holy Night."

Many of the loveliest of the Christmas hymns were sung. Alice McIntosh led in prayer. Jean Givens gave the scripture reading and the beautiful old carol "The First Nowell", by Susie Devitt, Helen Findlay, Mary Gray and Greer Givens.

"We Three Kings of Orient Are" was clearly dramatized by Florence Hill, Maybelle Robinson, Dorothy Hill, Peggy Burke and Ruby Kidd, after which Edith Vallance held the interest of all in the telling of Henry Van Dyke's story "The First Xmas Tree".

Old and young seemed to have entered something of the intangible spirit of Christmas as the service was brought to a close by the singing of "Holy Night."

CROWD WATCHES DIVER AT WORK IN CITY HARBOR

Mr. East McQueen Carries on Efforts to Locate Missing Bodies

FOUND BOY'S TOY CAP

Difficulties of Search Heightened by Anchor Ice At Bottom

A diver worked indefatigably today in search of the two boys drowned in the harbor Saturday afternoon. At 12.05 o'clock to-day Diver Earl McQueen, encased in the regulation rubber and iron suit which was furnished by the local hydro plant, signalled to Louis C. Richardson, Hydro engineer, that he wanted to be pulled back to Tindale's dock.

FOUND A TOY

Grasped in the clumsy mitten of what seemed a fearful undersea creature as he laboriously and haltingly clambered up the ladder, was a pathetically tiny pop gun, with the cork in the end. This was carried by Bernard Brown when he was swept to his death by the Moira, and relinquished from childish fingers as he pleaded.

The toy gun was found at a point about twenty-five feet north of Tindale's dock, about ten feet from shore.

This was the net result of the unceasing labors of Diver McQueen, the diver, City Engineer Campbell who directed operations, and he was in communication with McQueen by telephone a part of the time he was under; Mr. Richardson who fitted the suit on, who directed McQueen by telephone in his latter minutes under the water, and many others were indispensable.

MANNED THE PUMPS

Two men manned the pump at long stretches without complaint. Willing hands paid out the diver, lifeclad rope which connected the diver with the dock and safety.

Police Sergt. Dan Boyd was unceasing in his labors. It was his office to keep the dock clear for workers, see that people kept away from unsafe positions, and he assisted on diver. All this took much tact. Divers aren't seen in these parts very often. The combination of circumstances produced feelings of sympathy and morbidity which were handled well by P. S. Boyd.

DIVED FOUR TIMES

Diver McQueen went down four times during the morning. The first trip was for three minutes from 11.02 until 11.05 after which preliminary

AFTER 48 HOURS

After 48 hours of steady search for two boys drowned on Saturday neither body had been recovered at 4 o'clock Monday.

At exactly three o'clock Mr. McQueen came to the surface with a leak in the suit and diving was delayed at least one hour.

At the same moment, while Mr. McQueen was being pulled ed the ladder, the coffer dam which was constructed at the inland bridge on Sunday, gave away with startling suddenness. The current was largely stemmed by the rymains of the dam but work of reconstruction began at once.

Immediately upon the withdrawal of immersion he returned for an additional of his cap which had fallen over his ears, thus preventing him from hearing over the phone.

He then went down for eight minutes, 11.07 until 11.15. In this trip he searched practically all the open water in front and to the north of the dock, the region where the current might have carried the small, overcoated bodies.

At 11.23 Mr. McQueen reached the ladder again at 11.23 and returned at 11.48. Down again at 11.55 for a final attempt before lunch, he located the pop gun.

A PATHETIC SCENE

The scenes which were enacted this morning brought out many moods, revealed divers natures and were sad, pathetic, thrilling and intensely gripping, or a combination of all three, depending on one's point of view.

There in a chair which was none too strong, sat Earl McQueen, getting dressed by attentive helpers.

Mayor-elect R. J. E. Graham was present during the operations.

Mr. McQueen is an experienced diver, and did much naval salvage work during the war. It was an old story to him. The application of war measures in peaceful ends.

Every detail of the suit was scrutinized by honery eyes—immense collar and bead, leaden shoes, the weighted belt, the helmet the hose and telephone cable.

Finally he stood on the ladder which reached from the dock to the bottom of the harbour, his head piece and weights yet to go on.

GOING DOWN

A young man stepped up and put a cigarette in the diver's mouth and lighted it for a few "drags". The weights are fitted into small boxes which are attached to the belt. Eight of them, of about ten pounds each can be carried in the belt.

TWO BOYS PLAYING ON ICE DISAPPEAR AS THEY FALL IN

EFFORTS TO FIND THEM FAIL

Bernard Brown and Eugene Ellsworth Lose Lives in Open Water in Harbor—Little Brother Gives Alarm—Double Tragedy Casts Gloom Over Whole City.

No effort was being spared to-day to recover the bodies of two boys, Bernard Brown and Eugene Ellsworth drowned late on Saturday afternoon. This morning diving operations were started. Yesterday a cap was found. Experiments were made to determine if possible the direction and force of the current under the ice. Operations will not cease until the bodies are found or until everything has been done to find them.

The bodies of Bernard Brown, aged 9, and Eugene Ellsworth, age 10, who fell under the ice in Victoria Harbor at 3.30 Saturday afternoon, have not been recovered as yet.

Bernard is the son of Arnold R. Brown, fish dealer of 172 Front Street. Eugene's father is Command ant Ellsworth of the Local Salvation Army.

So far as can be ascertained, no adult saw the boys fall in. It was witnessed by Lloyd Ellsworth, younger brother of Eugene. All three boys were playing on the ice near the slip off Tindale's Dock, shooting in fun to each other. When the catastrophe came Lloyd was unable to attract attention by screams for help, though there were fifteen to two dozen people in the vicinity at the time.

HELP SUMMONED

Lloyd ran to R. C. Boulter, who was working in Tindale's Boat House, and then to Black's Fish Store House which adjoins that of Tindale's. Fort Mc-Queen, manager of the Store House was summoned. Both men arrived at the water's edge at the same time, but the bodies were not to be seen. Mr. Boulter told The Intelligencer that if he and Mr. McQueen had been standing on the dock, only a few feet away, at the time of the ice break, that he doubted they could have done anything to save the boys who were swept under ice which ranges from six inches to ten inches in thickness.

The current of the Moira River is largely deflected during the winter time, so as to flow under the bridge connecting Victoria Island with the mainland and through the harbour. This causes a current of some swiftness from the inland bridge for a distance of fifty or sixty feet. This seldom freezes over, on account of the velocity of the stream. It was at the edge of this shifting current that the boys were playing.

HAD BEEN WARNED

Mr. Boulter said that he had come out of his building three times during the afternoon to warn the boys away from the ice on that side of the river. At one time he walked out on the ice and brought a boy twiom he later recognized to be Eugene Ellsworth) to shore and told him to stay there.

The ice at the edge of the rapids is very thin, while in some places near, the water had seeped through showing that the mild weather was making the ice unsafe.

The boys fell into the open stream a few yards from the point where they broke under the ice, and about thirty feet from shore. The open stream races practically east from the inland bridge, only to turn south as soon as it strikes the east shore. The lads fell from the North edge into the lagged open stream.

December is generally accepted as the shortest day in the year—the day when Old Sol is farthest south from us and making his trip across the tropic of Cancer, the shortest day varies between the twenty-first and twenty-third.

tioned the first time, eight later. The telephone was screwed on at 12.47, and a few minutes later the chilling waters of the harbour closed over the grotesque pointing figure which hurried in the water and disappeared amid bubbles. The valve for the release of food air issued forth, and gurgled, when near the surface. It seemed as though some marine monster were in distress.

Mr. McQueen wore three suits of woollen underwear, trousers and three sweaters when he came to the scene. His was later fitted out with knit gloves and a knit cap. He was perspiring freely when he came to the surface the last time.

He called for vinegar before he dived. This was to be smeared over the glass plate in front of his face to keep moisture from collecting.

MUCH ANCHOR ICE

He got too much air at first. He came up and had his suit tightened up so that the air could get inside on the rubber and cause him almost to float. He said his head down deep in the ooze on the bottom not being able to get his feet planted.

Mr. McQueen said that the anchor was one thick that he was unable to get his way through it, that he finally gave up and had to lie on his stomach and wiggle his way along.

RADIO FAN GETS CUBA MODERATELY THRILLED

Big Artists Heard For One Hour Earlier on Sunday Evening

While "listening-in" on his 4-tube Westinghouse Radiola radio set, Sunday night Mr. F. E. O'Donahue, 280 Georgs St., tuned in on Toluca, Cuba. The station heard was 6KW and the time 12.30 o'clock. Reception was clear and loud, through the loud speaker, and the programme consisted of a variety of Columbia phonograph record numbers, including several modern dance numbers and choir selections. No Christmas music was heard during the half hour in which the station was on the air. The announcer first announced station and numbers in Spanish, then English.

Delightful Christmas music was heard Sunday night also, consisting of old-time and modern Christmas selections given by high class artists. Four members of Metropolitan Opera Company were heard from 8 to 9 o'clock in the evening. Reception was fair and the singing—solos and quartettes—with excellent orchestral accompaniment, was wonderful. The particular concert was the twelfth of a series of thirty exclusive Sunday night concerts.

MRS. CARMEN IS 103 TODAY

Her Health Has Not Been of The Best for the Past Week

Trenton, Dec. 21.—Today marks the 103rd birthday of Trenton's oldest resident—Mrs. Carmen. Mrs Carmen lives with her sister, who is 83 at the corner of Victoria and Dundas streets.

Her health has not been the best during the last week. She was confined to bed this morning when The Intelligencer called. She was born in Trenton Dec. 21st, 1822 and has lived here a continuously.

She was the first white child born in Trenton. Her father being the first shipping merchant in Trenton, post master and also magistrate of Trenton at that time. At that time Trenton was nothing but a wilderness. When her father needed supplies he had to take a stage coach and go to Montreal to get them. This consumed a whole week's time. She is a Canadian and her father came from the good old "United Empire Loyalists" stock. She is a member of the Church of England.

With the exception of Mrs. O'Rourke, Mr. P. J. O'Rourke's grand mother, who lived to the ripe old age of 105, Mrs Carmen is the oldest resident Trenton has had.

Although there is still one game to play in the Mens' League it will have no bearing on the standing of the league. The Taxis have won Groups No. 1 and Spicer, T. Graydon, G. Rathbun and R Hazell.

The pastor, Rev. Dr. Laker preached at both services His sermons dealt with the Christmas spirit and he urged people not to commercialize Christmas.

The Dominion Combing Mills have won Group No 2. These two teams will play off for the championship tomorrow night.

SALESMANSHIP

At this season much advice is offered (and usually wasted) on the subject of buying. Not much is heard about the art of selling. Patient, tactful and well-informed salesmen and saleswomen can do much to make Christmas shopping a pleasure rather than a task. And the reverse is true also. Poor salesmanship sends many shoppers home irritated and dissatisfied. It might be said that like a poet, a good salesman is born, not made, much depends upon personality, and yet by taking thought and by cultivation of desirable habits defects of personality can be corrected and a naturally poor salesman can be transformed into a good one.

A survey was recently made by the University of Oregon to ascertain why customers transfer their custom from one store to another. It was found that out of 1996 persons who stopped trading at various stores, 111 objected through alleged indifference of the salespeople, 90 took their trade elsewhere because they were haughtily received at the store which they stopped visiting, 97 left because of delays in service, and 83 left because of poor insistence by the salesman or saleswoman that they buy.

Probably in many of these cases the fault was more that of the customer than of the person behind the counter—for customers are frequently over-exacting and unreasonable, and not seldom they are apt to imagine haughtiness, indifference or impertinence on the part of the salesman or saleswoman when it does not really exist.

But the survey goes to show that salesmanship is not an easy art, but it is one that calls for tact, patience forbearance and knowledge of human nature, as well as good taste and intimate knowledge of the goods offered for sale. The good salesman must succeed in making the customer believe that he is personally interested in the transaction, finds real pleasure in assisting the customer to make a happy choice and should not only be ready to tender helpful advice, but must know instinctively when advice is not needed and would probably be resented.

EXTRAORDINARY CHRISTMAS PUDDINGS

About 200 years ago a London tooth powder manufacturer named Austin, had a huge Christmas pudding made to advertise his specialty. It weighed 900 pounds and took 14 days to boil. When ready it was borne in procession with flags flying and bands playing to St. George's Field where an assembled throng was waiting the arrival of the dainty, to which they were to help themselves.

Unfortunately, the pudding never reached its destination. A mob waylaid the procession, seized the pudding and distributed it among its own friends.

Another huge pudding was drawn through the streets of Exeter to Paignton Fair, where it, was distributed among the poor. The contents of this dainty included 400 lbs. of flour, 200 lbs. of suet, 240 eggs and 140 lbs. of currants and raisins. It required boiling for 36 hours before it was ready to eat.

An ancestor of Earl Grey once had a mighty pie made for his Christmas dinner. It weighed 150 lbs. and its circumference was 12 feet. Inside the pie were geese, turkeys, wild duck, woodcock, snipe, partridges, pigeons and rabbits, as well as a few black birds and curlews.

An ancient rhyme gives a list of the various delicacies which a housewife of the period was expected to provide for the Christmas festivities:

Brown pudding and souse and mustard withal,
Beef, mutton and pork, shred pies of the best
Of pig, veal, goose and capon and turkey well drest.
Cheese, apples and nuts; jolly carols to hear—
And this in the country is reckoned good cheer.

PETER SMITH'S CASE

A deputation has been at Ottawa asking the minister of justice to release Peter Smith from prison. The former treasurer of Ontario was sentenced to three years' imprisonment in the Kingston penitentiary, having been convicted of being implicated in the supposedly fraudulent transactions in connection with the purchase of provincial bonds in England. It is understood that the wife of Peter Smith and his friends are now pleading that, inasmuch as Andrew Pepall has been tried and acquitted on very much the same evidence which served to convict Mr. Smith, Mr. Smith should be released. He has served about a third of his sentence.

But it ought not to be forgotten that Mr. Smith was found guilty also of corruption in connection with the Home Bank business, and sentenced for that offence as well, the two sentences to run concurrently. Pepall had nothing to do with the business relations between the Home Bank and the Ontario government. When charged with the latter offence, Mr. Smith pleaded guilty, he having already been convicted of participation in the alleged frauds in connection with the bond transactions.

The acquittal of Pepall would be a good reason for the release of Mr. Smith if he had been convicted only of the offence with which Pepall was charged and of which he was acquitted. But the acquittal of Pepall cannot fairly be pleaded as a reason for the cancellation of the sentence imposed on Mr. Smith for the second offence. A better plea would be the prisoner's ill health.

KINDLY TOWARD GERMANY

Hon. Andrew W. Mellon, U. S. secretary of the treasury, has evolved a plan for paying the private war claims of American citizens against Germany. These claims directly, the claims he met by the issue of $250,000,000 bonds maturing in twenty-five years, bearing interest at 5 per cent. and guaranteed by the United States. It is a scheme for the relief of the German government, which, it is assumed, would find it difficult to pay the claims at once, but could easily pay the interest on the bonds. Should Germany default in the payment either of interest of principal the United States government would have to assume the obligation.

Contrast this kindly consideration for the German government with the stern and unyielding attitude of the U. S. government toward most of the European nations which owe it money on war account. To Germany a helping hand is extended. To the recent allies (or war-associates) of the United States the demand is made that they pay what they owe to the last cent—if, that is, in the opinion of their creditor, they are able to pay.

Probbly to difference of spirit thus manifested is to be accounted for mainly by the fact that the German vote in the United States is in a permanent condition of mobolization and preparedness.

SATURDAY'S TRAGEDY

News of the very tragic double drowning on Saturday afternoon cast a gloom over the whole community. To the parents and families of the two boys was extended very sincere sympathy. Homes in which Christmas preparations were going forward stopped to consider what a tragic end there would be in all such merry activities in the homes of the little chaps who so suddenly disappeared under the ice and into the cruel water. That there were men and boys almost within call but unable to do anything to save the lads makes the incident all the more tragic. The boys were one moment playing on the ice, the next they were gone. The swift current evidently bore them some distance. They had disappeared from the view of man.

Hope is sustained that the valient efforts being made to find the bodies will not be unsuccessful.

JUST 30 YEARS AGO
(From Intelligencer Files)

Twenty-four of the one hundred employees of Pungent & Fraser at Point Anne went on strike today asking for a raise on their present wage of 22 cents per square foot for cutting stone. Both sides are very firm and it may result in the men getting no wages.

RONDEAU

From you alone, I may retirieve
My fainting faith and needed tone,
So that once more I might believe—
From you alone.
Unfruitful days for me have flown
And shipwrecked on dim shore I grieve,
With no fair skies to call my own.

A boon I crave before I leave—
That ten you promised o'er the phone.
And so I hope I may receive
From you a loan.

A good way to judge a man is by what he says but a better way sometimes, is to judge him by what he doesn't say.

If you like nastiness, you're low-brow; if you like naughtiness, you're highbrow; if you like virtue, you're just middle class.

The behavior of unusually smart children indicates that they seldom are smart in the right place.

PASSING THE BUCK

"Yes, Rupert," said mother, "the baby was a Christmas present from the angels."

"Well, mama," said Rupert, "if we lay him away carefully and don't use him, can't we give him to somebody next Christmas?"

ONE OFTEN FOLLOWS THE OTHER

"See here," said the angry visitor to the reporter, "what do you mean by inserting the derisive expression 'Applesauce' in parenthesis in my speech?"

"'Applesauce' Great Scott, man, I wrote 'Applause.'"

A Heart's Triumph

By Effie Adelaide Rowlands.

Paul Darnley looked keenly at the old Italian woman.

"Nini remembers your mother, then?" he asked eagerly.

Cecil shook her head.

"No; Nini never knew my mother. She came to me when I was a big baby, but there was no one but my father. I have asked her all sorts of questions already, Cecil said wearily, "but she can tell me nothing. She is more bewildered than I am, and quite as unhappy. Oh, Mr. Darnley, if I could only let you know how this hurts me! And then I cannot get my poor father's face out of my mind. He has never been very tender with me, but we have been together so long, only we two, and it is terrible to realize now that he is suffering and that I cannot help him."

"You can always help him, Cecil," the man said gently. "That is one of his much you can do for him. Should this illness be a long one, you can nurse him and care for him all the time; and believe me, for all his rough, strange ways he has a love for you which nothing could ever move. Now you must promise me to be strong, and you must rest as much as you can," Paul added quickly.

The girl's eyes, heavy with sudden tears hurt him sharply. He rose and paced the room a little and then he came back to his chair.

"Where is she?" he questioned, in a low voice.

Cecil's face grew, if possible, paler. "She has gone up-stairs. Nini has attended her. She chose the large red room and ordered food to be taken to her. If, indeed, this illness is her home," the girl said bitterly, "has she not the right to command, and be obeyed?" Then a great fear seemed to sweep over Cecil. "Oh, Mr. Darnley, what is the future going to be? Help me. Oh, I can! Tell me what I ought to do! My poor father's lips seemed sealed to me—neither help nor advice and but you were his friend—his only friend that I have ever known of—and you may be able to do better than I can what is my right path now. I am bewildered, frightened by all that has happened!" the poor girl cried sharply. "It has come so suddenly, and my life has been so strange, so separated from all that other women have, that I do not know how to move nor what to do."

Pau Darnley calmed her.

"I will give you the utmost of my power, Cecil. Tomorrow early I will interview this—this lady. I will go thoroughly into the matter. Your father has honored me with his friendship and confidence in many things. I feel sure, therefore he would be glad for me to step forward now a nd act for him till he is able to act for himself. Right is right, you know, Cecil, dear," he added steadily, though wistfully, "and if proof is brought forward that this lady had her proper place, there is nothing to be done but to submit as gracefully as one can; but I will never desert you, and when once I am married"—a flush crept over Paul Darnley's pleasant face as he spoke these words—"the future will be much easier."

Cecil sank back in her chair.

"I will do everything you think my father would wish me to do," she said faintly.

After this there was a silence between them till sounds from the staircase told them the two medical men were returning.

Cecil started up and went eagerly forward.

"Your father is very ill," Doctor Thorold said very gently. "To tell you otherwise would be to deceive you, poor child! He has had a terrible shock and it is almost too early to say what the result may be. I think it advisable, since it is impossible to get a trained nurse till tomorrow, that one of us remain here with him. My nephew has volunteered to do this."

"My uncle is not strong enough," Felix said, in his most winning way. "I am insisting that he goes back to his bed, Miss Lacklyne. If I do not come down and pack him off myself he will not go."

Cecil said nothing, though she was conscious of a thrill of pleasure merely at the sound of this "young man's office" efficiency, and the sight of his care for the old, crippled man he loved brought tears to her eyes. Her anxiety was, however, too sharp, too far-reaching, to let any other emotion linger. She sat trying to realise the truth of all that had happened, while Paul Darnley and Felix escorted Doctor Thorold back to the carriage.

Her father was very ill! The words seemed incomprehensible to grasp. Her father ill—her strong, energetic, fierce-tempered, indomitable father ill, helpless, speechless! To Cecil the thought was an impossible one to grasp all at once, more terrible even than that other thought which had fallen like a pall over her young life, blotting as tall life unconscious joy, hope, and happiness that had been in her heart.

"I will watch with you," she said to Felix, when the two men came back; and though he joined his urgings to those of Paul Darnley, she was firm.

"Nini, you will go to bed Instantly, she ordered, in Italian. The old woman, reading a new characteristic in her beloved child's eyes, obeyed without a protest.

Cecil looked eagerly to Paul Darnley.

"I want you to rest for a selfish reason," she said, with a shadowy smile. "You are going to work hard for me tomorrow, remember."

Paul would not go till he found he was of no use.

"Since Miss Lacklyne insists on remaining, there is nothing you can do," Felix told him. He had resigned himself quite whole-heartedly to the task before him. In a sense he had an interest in his profession, and he seemed to devote himself to it, he could have achieved almost anything. But idleness and selfishness and the delights of a luxurious pleasurable life ate away all ambition from Felix's heart. Apart from this faint interest in Sir Charles' case, the circumstances surrounding it, of this strange man's career, and of this strange man's career, and it appealed to him keenly. He had let he stood next door to that wealth a sense of satisfaction in feeling that about which he had begun to think he was actually in the stronghold of so steadily.

CURE OF CANCER HOPE OF FUTURE

Tributes Paid at Johns Hopkins to Doctors Gye and Barnard

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 21.—The hope of the future in attaining the problem of the cause and cure for cancer lies entirely in the field of animal experimentation, according to Dr. William H. Welch, director of the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health, who last night addressed a joint meeting of the Baltimore City Medical Society and the Maryland Cancer Committee.

In discussing the claims of Dr. William E. Gye and James E. Barnard, of England, to the discovery of an organism causing cancer, Dr. Welch said that the theory of these scientists that the presence of an ultramicroscopic chemical agent was not in addition to a parasite in the formation of a cancerous growth was a distinct contribution to medical thought, and probably would do away with many objections to the germ theory of the disease.

C.N.R. BROADCAST FRO MTHREE STATIONS

Thornton, Dalrymple, Hungerford And Robb to Speak Wednesday Evening

Montreal, Que., Dec. 21.—An important radio tie-in for a simultaneous broadcast from Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto has been arranged, for the night of Wednesday, December 30, when Sir Henry Thornton, Chairman and President, Canadian National Railways, and J. E. Dalrymple, B.A. Hungerford and W.D. Robb, Vice-Presidents of the system will speak, each one giving a brief review of the year's experience.

In addition there will be a musical programme of considerable merit.

The speakers and musicians will gather at the studio of CNRM Montreal and from that point copper telephonic circuits will carry voice and music to CNRO, Ottawa, and CNRT, Toronto, from which stations the broadcast will proceed simultaneously with that at the point of origin. Tests made have been most successful, the excellence of the large copper wire circuits carrying voice and music with low resistance, rendering high amplification unnecessary, and reducing distortion to a minimum. Each station will broadcast on its permanent wave length and it is anticipated that a vast territory in Canada and the United States will be reached by the broad cast from these three cities.

PROTECTION IS UNWISE SAYS PREMIER BALDWIN

London, Dec. 21.—Premier Baldwin stated in the house of Commons to-day that it was impossible to grant the applications of the Iron and Steel Companies for protection under the safeguarding of industries procedure. This means that the Government does not intend to impose import duties to assist this industry.

RIB SAVED HIS LIFE KNOW BLOW DEFLECTED

North Bay, Ont., Dec. 21.—Harry Rogers, of Whitney, is under arrest here on a charge of stabbing Adelard Richer, of Montreal, in a brawl here late night Rogers used a hunting knife and the stab might have been immediately fatal but for a rib which deflected the knife away from the heart. Richers condition is serious.

TROUBLE WITH WIVES A MERRY FILM STORY

Imagine what a jam you'd let yourself in for if you came home from business with an old college chum. While eating dinner with the little woman, he mentions in a casual tone that you and he had lunched with a pretty little shoe designer. Wifey picks up the cue and launches into a tirade on the trouble with husbands.

She accuses you of so much interest in the other woman that you forgot to bring home her watch from the jeweler. Vehemently you deny it, saying it's at the shop. Then you go to get it, only to discover that you've let it at the other girl's apartment. After it you go to have the infatuated girl take a spraied ankle and sworn in your name.

The effects of your little jaunt show all too plainly—two lip prints on your collar, perfume that insists on clinging. That settles it—and you, as well.

Imagine all this and you have a pretty good idea of how Tom Moore must feel when his wife discovers him in just such a predicament in the Paramount picture, "The Trouble With Wives," opening a run of 3 days at the Belle to-day.

NEW COMMANDMENT

What is the new commandment? Moses wrote ten of them. But another man added one to them. That man is Robert T. Kane, movie producer, who now stands in a fair way of sharing Moses' fame with "The New Commandment", now showing at the Griffin theatre.

"The New Commandment"—is a society melodrama full of thrills, pathos, comedy, beauty and romance. It is dazzling entertainment with novelty to spare.

Blanche Sweet, Ben Lyon, Holbrook Blinn, Effie Shannon, Pedro De Cordova, George Cooper, Diana Kane and many others are seen in this greatest of films. The picture abounds with marvelous acting. The love scenes between Ben and Blanche Sweet will remain vivid forever in the minds of the public.

So, too, will the comedy and hullabaloo of George Cooper. Holbrook Blinn, that blushing actor of "The Dove," fame, is seen at his best also.

Howard Higgin directed "The New Commandment" and in so doing achieved a directorial victory. Seda Cowan and Higgn made this screen adaptation of "The New Commandment" from Colonel Frederick Palmer's great novel, "Invisible Wounds."

That Night 'Fore Christmas

Most generally at eight o'clock I go upstairs to bed,
An' 'fore I undress an' say my prayers am clever up my head,
An shut my eyes up good'n tight an go to sleep, an' then
Kins thing I know its mornin,' an' time to get up again.

Some nights, er course, don't seem so very short, ye know,
Like 'fore a feller's birthday or the night 'fore you go,
Or visit grandpa—oh, my yes! they're kinder long; but gee!
The night that comes 'fore Christmas is a million years to me.

You hear the old hall-clock "tick tock," an' hear the wind, so low
An kinder soft an' lonesome like, you'd if 'twas goin' to snow;
An' then yer wonder if it will, an's yer can slide next day,
An' then you think bout Santy an' his reindeer an' his sleigh.

You wonder what he'll bring yer, an' you wonder how he guessed
You wanted skates fer Christmas, an' a bowgun an' the rest.
An' then you try to sit to sleep, an' then, of course, you don't,
An' then you say, "Well, you jes' will," an' then, of course, you won't.

I spoze it must be right, but oh! some-times it does seem wrong,
That the one night boys wants so short should be so extra long;
I've tried to think out why it is, but all I do enter I could
Is that its long so Santy he'll have time to git around,

But I know this, I'm mighty glad I ain't an Eskimo,
An' has to live away up north mong all the ice and snow;
I really don't see what they do, the boys I mean—oh, dear!
Ger think of waiting through such a night that lasts a half a year!

Ghita And The Goose

By H. M. The Queen of Rumania.

Ghita was four years old and Ghita was unkempt, unwashed, impudent. At the back of his very shabby pedestal there was a little tear, so that part of his shirt stuck out in a point. But this Ghita did not know, nor would he have cared had he known. For Ghita was very indifferent to his personal appearance.

He always wore a huge shabby white-fur cuculia, summer and winter so he wore it, having no other covering for his head.

Ghita was independent and inquisitive. He was always wandering about where he did not belong, and Ghita was greedy. This was rather natural, because Ghita's mother was very poor and there was never much to eat.

Ghita, above all things, adored the dark, sticky, brown magician the peasants make in autumn when the plums were ripe.

His mother was too poor to make any magium, but many of the neighbors did—and Ghita was always hanging around their yards.

Ghita had wonderful persuasive blue eyes and the neighbors had kind hearts, so Ghita generally got as much magium as his little stomach could comfortably digest.

There was only one old woman, Baba Tinca, although prosperous, had no heart for little children who liked magium.

Baba-Tinca was a grasping old body who tried to make money out of everything.

She was cross and, had a loud scolding voice and a red nose.

She also had a flock of geese, headed by a specially large goose who grew harmful airs. She was a self-assertive, pompous old fowl, she kissed louder than any other goose in the village and Ghita hated her.

But the worst was that no one made such excellent magium, nor in such great quantities, as Baba-Tinca. She cooked it in a huge black pot and you could smell it miles off! Also dear Baba Tinca had been say magium either from Baba Tinca's or from anybody else!

"Exchange, I'm tired of waiting. Can't you get me?
Christmas 1-2-3-0 ?

I want to say, "Hullo, are you alive? Who's there? Is that Myself—five years ago?
And You? Do you remember So-and-so?
Where am I speaking from? 1-2-3-5."
(How can they be so slow?)

"Memory Exchange, I want that number so!
If it's engaged I'll ring up by and by.
Not even answered? Have another try . . . .
I've said it twice: Christmas 1-2-3-0."
"Sorry. There's no reply."

POEMS Old And NEW

THE CHRISTMAS TREE
By Mary E. Wilkins Freeman

My mother was a singing wind I never knew;
My father was a tall and stately pine;
Beside his majesty I slowly grew
Through God's great season's for this fate divine.

I glory in my triumph, which has slain
My life among my comrades of the trees;
I cannot greet with them the spring again,
Tunips nor leaves, the fecund breeze.

Of homeward birds are not for me;
I kept their nests in vain.

The keen ax cut my roots; I fell cold spray
Of glittering snow-wreaths; and my nests were torn
By clinging brambles as I crashed away,
Slain like a king who is by death reborn
To splendor past his reach of earthly day.

They placed me where His little ones could see
They hung my boughs with lamps of lovely fire;
They sang for joy to symbolize proud sire
Who gave them gifts for all the year's desire. . . .
Thrown to the fire! Who cares!
I was the Christmas Tree.

FIVE YEARS AFTER
By Jan Struther in Eve

Christmas again, and rain, and leafless trees;
They did not seem so bare—five years ago.
Give me the telephone. "Exchange—hullo!
I want a trunk call: will you get me, please,
Christmas 1-2-3-0 ?

Friends and dear faces . . . Would I could forget
That there were some more dear—five years ago.
And there were things to-day can never know.

Dry large fine oysters and flatten a slice of thin bacon around each of them with a toothpick. Crisp all around in a hot pan, lay two or three on each slice of toast, pour a little of the pan gravy over them and serve at once. These can be cooked at the table if you use a chafing dish.

JUST IN PASSING

A MERRY CHRISTMAS OR AT LEAST A HAPPY ONE TO ALL MY READERS!

WILL YOU DO IT?

The only way to be happy at Christmas time is to forget self entirely and give. That is not hard for mothers with a family to do. We all want our own to have all we can afford to give them. But do we remember those who perhaps are unfortunate this year. Some families have had illness, some men have not been able to procure steady work. There are women who are struggling along alone trying to bring little families up and some are doing it cheerfully and I take off my hat to these women. All honor to them! It is not charity to give of your Christmas supplies to such. Let the children make a contribution towards this Christmas, basket, and let us each find a family whose hearts we can make lighter next week. Will you do it?

SANTA CLAUS?

I do not believe in this Santa Claus business. That may seem out of rank heresy to some workers, who may gasp in amazement. But years ago I decided against it and when my own youngsters were tiny I told them the story of Christmas—of the little Jesus in the manger. The love in the East, the gifts of the wise men of how we keep His birthday and give gifts to each other. Then I told them of Jolly old Santa Claus coming from the North with his reindeer, of how he comes down the chimney and fills stockings when boys and girls are asleep, etc.

BUT I explained that this part of Christmas was a game, a pretend game, and this was a great secret I was letting them in on! How their eyes shone and they fairly wiggled in their excitement. Well, it is still a game and a very wonderful one, and always will be.

It is a terrible "let down" to an imaginative child when he discovers he has been hoodwinked so long and something he had considered the most wonderful thing in the world. At any rate I do not mean to bestow on Santa Claus is very real in his home yet, though best of all is the tree, with always a Star on top, a wondrous symbol.

CAROLS

I hope none of you missed the delightful carol singing in our schools. A Christmas celebration in England would not be complete with

CANDY RECIPES

TINTERN PLACE FUDGE

3 cups dark brown sugar.
6 tbsps. cocoa.
½ cup sweet milk.
Pinch of salt.

Mix all together and boil without stirring until it forms a soft ball in water. Then remove from fire add a generous lump of butter and 1 tsp. vanilla. Then beat with a wooden spoon until it shows a tendency to thicken. Pour into a mould which has been dipped in cold water, mark in squares before it hardens. This is really delicious. The secret is it must not boil beyond the soft ball stage and the beating makes it of a very fine creamy texture. When done, the top should be very shiny. Be sure and pour into pan before it gets too thick.

HEAVENLY HASH

1st Mixture

3 cups white sugar.
1 cup water.
1 cup corn syrup.

Boil together until it forms a soft ball in cold water.

2nd Mixture

1 cup white sugar.
½ cup water.

Boil this until it forms a soft ball in water. Then beat into the whites of 3 eggs beaten stiff. Now beat all mixtures together until it begins to thicken and just before turning into a buttered dish add 1 lb broken walnut meats and ½ lb maraschino cherries chopped and flavor with vanilla.

French historian, Pierre Imbart de la Tour, is dead at Paris, aged 66.

cut the singing of Christmas carols and I am so glad to see the custom growing in Canada. Prof. Hunt has done wonders with the children and is to be congratulated.

The first of all the carols known to have been written in England, "Lordings listen to our Lay", was discovered on the blank leaf of one of the manuscripts of the British Museum, written in the Anglo-Norman language, and believed to date back to the thirteenth century.

May I suggest that carol singing which Prof. Hunt so successfully inaugurated in our schools this year become an annual event? The following Christmas carol is by Christina Rossetti. Is it not beautiful? Or God, Heaven cannot hold Him Nor earth sustain;
Heaven and earth shall flee, away When He comes to reign:
In the bleak mid-winter A stable-place sufficed
The Lord God Almighty Jesus Christ.

Angels and archangels
May have gathered there,
Cherubim and Seraphim
Thronged the air,
But only his mother
In her maiden bliss,
Worshipped her Beloved With a kiss.

What can I give Him,
Poor as I am?
If I were a shepherd
I would bring a lamb,
If I were a wise man
I would do my part,—
Yet what I can I give Him,
Give my heart.

FOR THE HOUSEKEEPER

December marks the time for eager preparations and holiday activities on the part of every housewife.

There was a time when the Christmas dinner meant a "groaning table" of rich and indigestible food, together with an overtired housekeeper and followed by rebellion of the over-worked digestive system of the entire family. Nowadays housekeepers have more sense and a Christmas dinner can be most attractive and still be presided over by a fresh hostess with no unpleasant nocturnal aftermaths. It must be well-planned, however with due thought to preliminary preparations. The mother wishes to spend the whole of Christmas Day in the kitchen at the dining table." The natives will be ready; the soup may be made, the vegetables prepared and even the salad arranged the day before. In another column I am giving two or three menus as suggestions for both simple and elaborate menus, also for salad menus.

To my mind the most pleasant Christmas suppers are the most informal. When the children have had their bread and milk and been tucked away for the night (yes, thank heaven, there are yet some young ones who sup on bread and milk) a delightful feeling of insitude creeps over one and an ideal ending for the day is to have either a chafing dish supper or a "pass-around" in front of the fire-place. If your means are well-planned and all possible cooking and preparing done before Friday, you will not be too tired to enjoy the day with your family.

Duel war fought in Paris between dramatic critic and son of an actress who was criticized.

Shanghai correspondent of Daily Mail reports anti-Christmas cards are being stirred in China.

Martin Luther's Christmas Song

Away in a manger,
No crib for His bed,
The little Lord Jesus
Laid down His sweet head.
The stars in the sky,
Looking down where He lay,
The little Lord Jesus,
Asleep in the hay.

The cattle are lowing,
The poor baby wakes,
But little Lord Jesus,
No crying He makes.
I love Thee, Lord Jesus,
Look down from the sky,
And stay by my crib,
Watching my lullaby.

FOR TINY TOTS

When Mr. Daylight goes away,
An' I am tucked in bed,
I pull the clothes up tight all round,
Until I cannot hear a sound,
An' then I shut my eyes quite close,
An' wait for things to happen!

Sometimes the goblins come an' tease,
Unless I'm not been good;
For mamma says she always knew—
I wish I knew who tells them so!
I 'spose they listen at the door,
Or peep in through the window.

Sometimes the fairies come fastened,
I like that best of all.
They tell me, oh, such lovely things,
An' shake their pretty glistning wings
An' wave their wands about.
Until my eyes are dazzled!

Then Mr. Daylight comes again,
He comes on tippy-toes,
He doesn't make the leastest noise—
Not like some little girls an' boys.
He kisses me awake, an' then
I jump up out of bed!

THE SIESTA HOUR

The siesta hour in the tropical R ast Indies is sacred. Woe to him who violates it. Everywhere, says Miss Dorothy Dix in "My Trip Around the World," notices are put up on the walls requesting guests not to talk between the hours of two and four, saying that "dogs will not be permitted to bark nor children to cry." How do you suppose they train dogs and children to obey these notices? If you speak above a whisper, a long, sibilant hiss, like a snake's, runs the rounds of the verandas. "Ossa! I heard a baby give one wail, and no more," says Miss Dix. "It was cut short. I wonder if its mother strangled it rather than have it commit the blasphemy of disturbing people who were snoozing off the day's fatigues." The natives tell, with bated b reath, of the horrible fate that befel a real young American, who fool ishly imagined he could violate a holy institution and get away with it. It seems that this bold youth had a typewriter, and he undertook to clack off some letters during the siesta hour. The management sent him a polite message requesting him to desist, and telling him that he was not permitted to make any noise between two and four o'clock. The young American replied that he was sorry, but the mail boat was leaving the next day, and he had important business letters that he must get off. He clacked merrily on. About two clicks more. That was all. The proprietor, accompanied by three or four servants, appeared on the scene, and before he knew what had happened the young American, his typewriter and his baggage, were out in the street together, and the door behind him was locked.

ST. PATS-PIRATES IN OVERTIME TIE

Adams Puts St. Patrick's in Front Early, But McCurry Ties Score in Third

Toronto, Dec. 31.—A large number of local professional hockey fans went to Arena on Saturday night to see St. Patrick's win at the expense of the Pittsburg Pirates while as many more, judging by the cheering, went to see the forum or United States amateur champions defeat the local entry in the National Hockey League, but both factions were disappointed as the game ended in a one-all tie after twenty minutes of overtime play, the first no-decision game of the Calder loop this season. Anyone who says ice is seen on exhibition of the "greatest hockey in the world" was also disappointed but the evening can be classified as of the "tonsorial" variety as what was lacking in real hockey was more than made up in excitement and the winning quality was offset by the added quantity.

There were two big reasons why the Irish did not win, the lack of substitutes and the phenomenal playing of Roy Worters in the Pirates' goal.

PLENTY OF PENALTIES

Altogether there were 18 penalties handed out, seven to the visitors and seven to the Irish, but the Pirates were the only team to profit by them in the goal-scoring way. With Cotburn completing a second period penalty at the start of the third, Dye attempted to rag the puck in a corner near the Irish goal, but was checked by Mills. The rubber bounded into the air and dropped in front of McCurry, who was unchecked in front of Benoit, and he drove home the tying counter. The locals' goal, three minutes after the start of the game, was much prettier. Adams received Conacher of the rubber at centre ice and went in alone. He went around Smith and shot through McCurry's legs, and Worters never had a chance. Both teams had many other chances to score, but were robbed by good goal tending, which at times reached the brilliant stage, and shooting that was just off the line. Both had open nets at their mercy in the overtime, but could not get a line on the target.

The former U.S.A.H.A. champions were watched closely, and the general verdict was that they will do well in the pro ranks.

MAROONS TOO SPEEDY FOR TH EAMERICANS

Combination and Strong Defence Win for Montreal in New York

New York, Dec. 31.—A lightning fast forward line and an airtight defence and an almost impregnable goal-cage was presented by Montreal Maroons to the New York Americans, and 10,000 hockey fans at Madison Square Garden Saturday night, and after sixty minutes of hockey that was far the most part brilliant, but occasionally sluggish, the Amerieans went down to their second home defeat in a week. The score was 3 to 1. A was a vastly improved team that Max ager Gorman sent in against the Maroons, and only the stiffest kind of defence around the Montreal citadel accounted for the seeming 'lopsided' score. "Tex" Richard's boys played with a dash and fire that was not inevidence last Tuesday when they bowed to the Montreal Canadiens, and they showed no signs of weariness from their clash with the Pittsburg Pirates Friday night, nor their hazardous experience of being in a train wre ck on their way back from the "Smoky City." The Maroon hockey machine was working in perfect unison, however, and the bombardment they led on Vernon Forbes in the American goal was impossible to weather.

BOSTON RALLY WAS TOO SOON

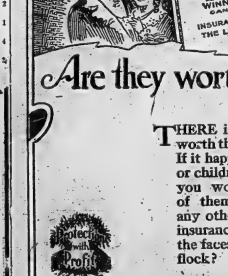

Howie Morenz in Overtime Outplays Four to Score

Montreal, Dec. 31.—Worn out after a heavy week of four big games, Canadiens still had enough fight left to rally and take a 6 to 5 overtime battle from the Boston Bruins on Saturday night. Howie Morenz, flashy Canadien centre, clinched the exciting tussle for his team two minutes and fifty seconds after the extra period started.

Boston had finished with a great rally to force the overtime play, and it looked dangerous for Canadiens in the first two minutes of the extra period play was evenly divided, both goalies having some dangerous shots to handle from Morenz on the one side and Herberts and Cooper on the other.

Then came the break. Mitchell was banished from the Boston defence for tripping, and the Bruins were handicapped. Instead of playing cautiously until the penalized player returned to the ice, Boston kept forcing the pace, "Red" Stuart broke up a Canadian rush and started for the Canadien net. He lost the puck to Morenz.

The Canadien centre had earlier shown the effects of his heavy week's play and was about exhausted. But he was still keen enough to sense an opening offered. No one had fallen back to fill Stuart's place on the defence. Morenz got the puck and rallied his last bit of strength. Down the ice he tore on his final dash, outstripping the fast following Boston wings. It was nothing for him to round the lone Boston defence man, bear right in on top of Dr. Stewart and swiftly drive the puck for the goal which brought victory and ended successfully the Canadiens' heavy program of four games in seven days.

WEST WAKING UP, SAYS DR. TAYLOR

Principal of Queen's Finds Conditions on Prairies Much Improved

SPOKE ON 15 DAYS

University Has About $800,000 Invested in Western Property

Kingston, Dec. 21.—"The west is distinctly waking up and conditions are much better to-day than for some time," said Dr. R. Bruce Taylor, Principal of Queen's University returned from a trip through the Canadian west which lasted for twenty days. During that time Dr. Taylor visited many of the principal western cities and had a most successful journey.

"I went to Winnipeg to deliver an address to the Sentenary on Sir Andrew's Day and from there I went to Edmonton, Calgary, Regina, and Brandon," Dr. Taylor said.

"Everything is hopeful there now and the farmers have experienced one of the best crops they have enjoyed in years. I found that the west was discussing two things in particular. One was the change in the route to Europe made possible by the Panama Canal and the other is the natural apprehension and approval of the wheat pool. Much of the grain from the middlewest is now flowing through Vancouver and this will obviously affect Winnipeg's situation as a railway centre.

"Interest is keenly divided on the question of the wheat pool. It is a significant thing and has created much discussion in the west.

QUEEN'S INVESTMENTS

On his trip through the west Dr. Taylor took occasion to visit many of Queen's investments which are tied up with the west of Canada.

"Queen's has about $800,000 invested in the west and we felt that the only good way to see how they were getting on was to visit them," Dr. Taylor stated.

Continuing Dr. Taylor said: "I met the Alumni at Winnipeg and Mr and Mrs James Richardson gave a reception at the Fort Garry Hotel At Edmonton an Alumni supper was given with 50 present; at Calgary sixty graduates attended, and at Regina a supper was served to 70.

"I addressed the Canadian Club in Regina and the Rotary Club in Winnipeg and also in Edmonton I was also given an opportunity to speak to the students of the University of Alberta."

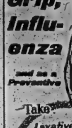

Principal Taylor occupied pulpits both at Winnipeg and Calgary.

On the return trip Dr. Taylor stopped off at Chicago and spoke over the radio at the Sunday Evening Club He also visited Springfield, Ill.—the birthplace of Abraham Lincoln—according to the Midday Luncheon Club there. Dr. Taylor said that Senator Hayes was in the chair and one of the guests was Alice Dunn, of the State Supreme Court, who was greatly interested in Canadian law enforcement and was also interested in as greatly exercised over the conditions in the United State.

The Queen's graduates in the west were of good heart," said the Principal, "and were extremely interested in the Queen's study tours. The loss of Dr. Tory was felt to be a good think for Queen's."

Before returning to Kingston he visited Sudbury, Ont., wher he interviewed several mining interests in connection with the foundation of the Dr. W. G. Miller Memorial Chair in Research Geology. Dr. Taylor delivered addresss fifteen times during the twenty days he was away.

That Happy Pre-Christmas Confusion

THERE is every indication to-day that Christmas is but two days off. Though shops here have been crowded during the past few afternoons, Tuesday's increased crowds showed added enthusiasm, and the fact that it was impossible to eliminate the "eleventh hour shopper". Merchants are prepared to handle crowds however, whether they come now, or during the last few hours which precede the arrival of Santa Claus on Thursday night. Last night, most shops were open, and crowds of shoppers took full advantage of the occasion.

Christmas trees and fowl were the features of the market this morning, and with Front street taverners doing a good business, almost every second person had a trussed turkey by the legs, either homeward bound of completing the shopping tour.

Christmas trees were being hurried home in divers ways. The popular method of moving them to the parlor corner, where they will await the approval of wise Santa Claus, was by automobile. Some were strapped on top, others were stuck on, in the region of the spare tire, and stood out as though they had grown there.

The most encouraging feature of the day however was the fact that the spirit of the past few days had completely dried up over night by the King of Frost, and a thin mantle of fresh, crisp snow had resulted from a leisurely all day fall of snowflakes, whose pretty shapes were not even broken by the slightest breezes. Old Sol gave promise that the abundant day had passed too, for periodically throughout the day he "winked" his approval through the floating clouds.

Every postman went his round loaded like a truck horse but supremely happy.

KEEP SMITH IN UNTIL HE PAYS FINE COURT SET

Nickel Writes Ottawa That Queens Park Wants to See Color of Money

Toronto, Dec. 22.—Until such time as Hon. W. F. Nickle is in receipt of the fine levied by the Courts at the time of his trial and conviction, the Ontario Government will not agree to the parole of Fred Smith, as has been urged by the Hon. W. E. Raney, his former colleague in the Drury Cabinet.

Mr. Nickle will make this quite clear in a letter to the Department of Justice this afternoon in reply to a letter from the Dominion authorities asking for the view of the Ontario Government in connection with Smith's release.

"The feeling of the Ontario Government is that as substantial sums were improperly diverted from the public treasury, the Government believes a sincere effort should be made to reimburse the province before further applications for clemency are entertained," stated Mr. Nickle.

Let Legislature Give Light Order

Belleville's City Council fr 1925 at its final meeting went on record as saying that "lights-on-vehicles" legislation was better left up to the Ontario Legislature. The Council passed a motion the text of which follows:

That the Council of the Corporation of the City of Belleville are desirous of bringing before the attention of the general public that all vehicles using the public highways should have proper lights between dark and daylight and that a law to carry this in effect should be put by the Provincial Legislature and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Premier of Ontario, the Hon. Minister of Highways, also W. H. Ireland, M.P.P., J. F. Hill, M.P.P., and Hon. J. R. Cooke, M.P.P.

STORMS CAUSE GREAT DAMAGE

Wind Blows 100 Mile-an-Hour—Paris Houses Unroofed

Paris, Dec. 22.—Two deaths accompanied by injury and material damage amounting to several millions of francs was the results of a storm of hurricane intensity which swept France last night at the culmination of the worst spell of weather experienced for many years. Storms began with arrival of December and they have been roaring ever since. The center of the night's disturbance was the coast of Normandy where deaths occurred in Paris. The Eiffel tower station at midnight registered a wind westerly wind of nearly 100 miles an hour. The streets this morning were strewn with the wreckage of skies torn from store fronts, chimneys and roofing slates. Near St. Namire, an English steamer broke her hawsers and was driven ashore while reports along the Atlantic seaboard from Barbezieux to Dunkirk tell of heavy damages.

At the trial Mr. Justice Logie refused the application for an injunction restraining the Presbyterians from interfering and the present action is an appeal by the trustees.

He declined to discuss criticisms of him made by C. H. Cahan, Montreal M.P.-elect.

"When the time comes I will have plenty to say on that Hamilton speech," said Mr. Meighen. Mr. Meighen said he had not spoken to any of the Progressive members since the election. He declared the Conservative party was not looking on support from the Progressives and would stick to its principles.

DIVER REPEATS VALIENT EFFORT TO FIND BODIES

Earl McQueen Down After Dark For Over One Hour

TRIED AGAIN TO-DAY

Bodies of Two Boys Still Under Ice With Whereabouts Unknown

The bodies of Bernard Brown and Eugene Kilsworth are in the harbour ice. This tragedy of the small bodies has defied the search of Diver Earl McQueen who is scouring the bottom of the harbor.

Mr. McQueen was wet through twice yesterday while under the water. At three o'clock in the afternoon, he had come up with a leak in the right arm. The necessary adjustments were made, and he at once descended into the water again, only to suffer the same ill fortune.

Inasmuch as each writing necessitated the removal of all diving apparatus, and as well as street clothes for dry paces, there was much delay. It was after dark last night before Mr. McQueen was really equipped to dive for the search. He stayed below for th lonest trip he has made since the tragedy occurred. He was below for over an hour, and an hour. But it was of no avail—nothing was found.

The grit itself is in good condition, despite the fact that it had not been used for six years until offered by the boys in reality. There are no leaks in the fabric, but, at certain joints they fissures have opened, twice. These were easily remedied by application of the bolts and metals which form the connections.

Mr. McQueen entered the water about 11.30 this morning, with the intention of staying "on the job" until the drowned lads were located, or as long as the search could be prosecuted today.

The diver did not remove his apparatus for lunch, but took hot coffee, sandwiches, and hearty drags on his pipe, while his helper remained at he sat on the snow covered bank of the harbour.

There were few spectators this morning as Mr. McQueen entered in over 600 pounds of equipment, lowered himself into the river channel.

With a brisk biting wind driving small particles of fine snow into the determined faces of the small band who labor for the alleviation of the anguish in two homes of Belleville, humorous and curiously seekers were few.

Operations were delayed by several conditions, the most outstanding of which had drifted over the area to be searched. They had to be pried loose with pikes.

A vapor and water-proof lamp was rigged up for Mr. McQueen after yesterday's failure.

This light went out once and was drawn to the shore for repairs. Later the glass globe which surrounds it was smashed and Mr. McQueen had to operate as best he could in semi-darkness, and make use of ice.

A hand fire extinguisher was picked up by this amphibian monster (a diver

"Age of Consent" Raised to 17 Years

London, Dec. 22.—In connection with the law dealing with offences against young girls, a government committee which has been inquiring into the matter recommended that the age of consent should be raised from 16 years to 17 years. This recommendation was carried by the votes of women members of the committee when the matter was under consideration. They expressed a strong inclination to raise age of consent to 18 years but contented themselves for the time being to make it 17 years.

KIWANIS VOTE CASH FOR RINKS

Will Co-operate With Rotarians in Providing Four Enclosures

ALD. GRAHAM IS GUEST

Says Service Clubs Could Do No Finer Service Than This

Good news for "our boys and girls"—they're to have free rinks this winter and plenty of them. There'll be two on each side of the river which will provide ample opportunity for youthful citizens to skate to their hearts' content under conditions and with proper supervision. Such is the result of a resolution passed at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club today when a sum of $300 was voted as the share of the Club towards this undertaking, made possible through the co-operation of both Kiwanis and Rotary, each of which is expending the like sum for the cost of construction and maintenance of four free open air rinks for the children for the coming winter.

For this work a committee was appointed which is to consist of a representative of the city council, one from the parks Board, one from the Board of Education, two members of Rotary and two of Kiwanis. This, with the combined forces of all these bodies behind the movement, it should be made the success that it hopes for, and a real Belleville community spirit be born. Such a spirit would mean a lot to the future of this city.

Mayor-elect R. J. E. Graham was the guest of honor at the Kiwanis Club today and complimented the Club on the resolution passed regarding the rinks for the children. In a brief address he stressed the great importance of healthy recreation and exercise in the upbringing of the children and stated that the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs could, in his opinion do no finer service work than this which they were undertaking.

KILLED IN DETROIT

Detroit, Dec. 22.—An Ottawa girl, Miss Marie Shane, 28 was killed by a motor car in Detroit.

Superstitious? Le Meme Chose

A soldier placed at an angle of 45 degrees against the Hydro building on Victoria Avenue today made an impromptu activity for an hour or two—the days a not unusually busy as a good price to see—that is for any one with a sense of humor.

Shortly after the soldier was set in place two women bundled with Christmas parcels approached the soldier, now properly commonly the soldier. "Behold—he who wears one was struck by, unusually just such an expression as now being driven to the office and have not yet drilled under with fingers crossed to avoid ill-luck.

The procession of tonsil men kept up for over an hour—some crossed themselves by performing they were afraid of the presence being displayed and gave the soldier a wide berth walking on the outside and that I'm superstitious but I'll take no chances" a lady laughed. Presently a professional man lounged up —hesitated—remembered he really had to go across the road—and changed his route—left the building and slipped safe. The bus using the soldier were highly amused at the passengers.

HAS MESSAGE OF OPTIMISM AS HE RETIRES

Mayor Mikel's Speech After Final Council Meeting Of 1925

IDLENESS WORST TAX

Holds With Virgil "Those Can Conquer Who Believe They Can"

"A drop of water taken from Niagara would have no force and would not be missed, but the water of that great river divided into separate drops and scattered would have no force, but combined the co-operative force of those little drops of water lights the homes and turns the wheels of industries of several million people. One citizen of Belleville alone can do little for the City, but if all co-operate with money, some with time, some with earnest thinking, some by helping to drive out the envy, jealousy, petty meanness and narrowness that sometimes creep into a community."

So spoke Mayor Mikel at a banquet last evening at the Queen's Hotel tendered at the invitation of the Mayor, official, newly-elected councillors, and a number of defeated candidates gathered at the invitation of the Mayor.

It was not a formal banquet by any means, and conviviality and good fellowship reigned supreme. Ald. Dexter-Bob Gorman led community singing and "a good time was had by all."

His Worship Mikel on:

"If I be lifted up I will draw all men unto Me," was said by the Saviour of the world. This is also true in human experience. The members of the new Council are our leaders. If we lift them up and help them they can do more for us. This does not mean that we should disregard incompetence or withhold reasonable constructive criticism. Mere fault finding, however, will produce injury rather than good.

When Belleville adopted a cost-of-living, it was provided that those officials who served the city for ten years, three years at least of which were in an elective office, could adopt the City's pension scheme. This was done to encourage service. The motto on the City's coat-of-arms is an utterance of the great Roman orator Cicero "Magnum est vectigal parsimonia" meaning "Economy is a great revenue."

Parliaments and municipal councils do not impose the heaviest taxes upon the people because they want to, and prodigal impose our heaviest taxes, and those each of us can control.

As Canada grows, Belleville must grow, and become one of our great cities. Virgil the Latin poet and philosopher says "Those can conquer who believe they can."

OTHER SPEAKERS

The other speakers were: Mayor-elect Graham, T. J. Reynolds, Chairman Board of Park Commissioners, C. J. Symons, Major R. D. Ponton, Chairman of Board of Health, Ald. Fleet E. Wilmot, Ald. Elect Rus Wetten, Ald. Elect Robert Gorman, and J. O. Herty, Industrial Commissioner.

SIX MISSISSIPPI STATES CONCUR IN CHICAGO STEAL

They Claim Flow of 10,000 Cubic Feet a Second is Needed to Maintain Levels and Assure Year Round Navigation

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 22.—Attorneys-General of six states between here and the mouth of the Mississippi River have agreed to back Illinois in the Lake Michigan diversion suit brought in the United States Supreme Court by Michigan, Wisconsin and other States to prevent any lake water flowing through the drainage canal into the lower navigation channel.

In this action, representatives of Louisiana, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Arkansas, who conferred here yesterday with the Chicago Association of Commerce officials, took the ground that their interests were identical with those of Illinois. It was maintained that a 10,000 cubic foot a second flow is necessary to maintain permanent water levels in the lower Mississippi and assure year round navigation.

LABOR LEAVES BRITISH HOUSE AS A PROTEST

Objection Taken to Procedure in Mosul Debate In Commons

THREAT OF FILIBUSTER

Clydesider Said He Would Speak at Every Chance and Demand Division

London, December 22.—The Laborites left the House of Commons in protest against the Government's procedure in connection with the debate on the Mosul settlement. The Government's policy was later approved "in principle" by 329 to 106.

The Laborites objected to Premier Baldwin's step in asking the House to approve the British delegates' action in accepting the League of Nations' settlement of the Mosul dispute on the eve of parliamentary adjournments for the holidays. This, the Laborites contended, gave them no opportunity to consider whether they should frame an amendment.

Neil MacLean, Glasgow Laborite, threatened a filibuster to prevent debate on the question. He announced that he intended to speak on every bill and every amendment considered before the Mosul debate, and ask a division of each occasion, thus keeping the House listening to him and voting until eleven o'clock tomorrow morning, the time set for prorogation of Parliament.

As about 176 divisions were possible in business, each requiring ten minutes, he could thus prevent the Mosul debate. In cases of wilful obstruction, however, the Speaker of the House is authorized to dispense with the usual allow method of division and ask for standing votes.

In consequence of the Laborite obstruction, Right Hon. Neville Chamberlain proposed a motion having the effect of postponing until tomorrow all business preceding the Premier's motion on Mosul. This was carried, the effect of it being to defer the intended prorogation beyond tomorrow morning.

Upon the Premier ceasing to move his Mosul resolution, the Laborite leaders, John R. Clynes and J. H. Thomas, interposed and urged the Premier to stake the Irak discussion upon a motion for adjournment, which would not involve going into a division.

The Premier expressed regret that he was unable to consent to this procedure, declaring it was essential that the House register its decision on the principle of the agreement before Parliament was prorogued.

TOWNSEND TERM IS CUT ONE YEAR

Court Refuses to Declare Magistrate's Severe Sentence Was Wrong

Toronto, December 22.—Judgment of the First Divisional Court given at Osgoode Hall today reduced from four to three years the sentence imposed upon Frederick Townsend, former Barnardo boy, now 27 years of age, by Magistrate Hird at Oshawa on December 20. Townsend was sentenced to three years for forgery of a cheque for $6.50 and to one year for obtaining goods to the value of $6.39 by false pretences. The majority of the court favored the reduction of sentence as made, while a minority would have been more lenient.

The Magistrate declared that Townsend was a "useless and idle" fellow, and was of the opinion that the term in penitentiary would be for his own benefit as it was an institution which would bring out the good in anyone.

The judgment of the majority of the court concludes:

"We cannot say that the trial court was wrong or that the sentences were not to the true advantage of the prisoner, as well as proper in the public interest, considering the nature of the offences and the person with whom the court had to deal."

WAS "CONSIDERABLY ILL"

Winnipeg Man's Novel Plea Secured His Release

Winnipeg, December 22.—Advancing a dictum attributed to Pythagoras, the Pagan philosopher, and a prominent "west" about 400 B.C., Alex Wycruse was saved from jail and a fine here today on a charge of drunkenness.

Joe admitted he was "considerably ill" but denied being drunk. According to Pythagoras, he maintained a man is not considered drunk till he lies on the floor and stretches out his arms and legs to prevent his going lower.

The judge accepted the plea as a moral one and old enough to form a precedent.

OFFER TURKEYS FROM 45 TO 50C. GEESE AT 25 TO 30

Offerings Were Not Large And Buyers Came Down Late

TREES SOLD OUTSIDE

Eggs Were at 55 to 60 Cents With Butter at 40 Cents

Turkeys, many of them fastidiously trussed with sprigs of holly, commanded a high price at the market this morning, selling as high as fifty cents a pound.

"But I ain't going to ask any such price as that for mine" one woman assured a customer, "You can have the lot at 45 cents" and as her offerings weighed from fourteen to sixteen pounds each the aggregate even at 45 cents would have embarrassed a Penni.

Geese which were the principal feature of the market sold from $1.75 to $2 and at the rate of from twenty-five to thirty cents a pound. Chickens which were in the minority sold briskly at $1.75, ducks at $1 to $1.25. Little else was sold in the inner market.

The outside market resembled a desert with an ossie composed of Christmas trees at various points. These sold at twenty-five cents to seventy-five cents each and sold fairly quickly.

BUTTER AND EGGS

Butter and eggs were very scarce but sold at fairly moderate prices. Eggs brought 55 to 60 cents a dozen and butter 40 cents a pound.

Vegetables were very late in arriving and the supply was comparatively the same as during the past few weeks. Potatoes were practically unobtainable.

HEAD OF SCHOOL SEEKING WAGES

Toronto Principal Brings Case to County Judge Morson

WAS HE EXPELLED?

Claims as Alternative $1,400 for Wrongful Dismissal—A Denial

Toronto, Dec. 21.—J. A. Hill, formerly principal of Palmerston Avenue School, who on September 1 last had the experience of being told by the chairman of the Board of Education that a resolution that he must resign, appeared in Judge Morson's Court seeking $700 which he claimed as arrears of salary due him. The boards order of May 29 called for Mr. Hill's resignation on June 29. The period, however, was cut back when school opened on September 1.

Hill, through his counsel, J. W. Bullen, claimed $350, being instalment due Oct. 5, and $350, being instalment due Nov. 5, or, in the alternative, $1,400 damages, for wrongful dismissal and breach of contract on the part of the Board of Education.

The board, represented by E. P. Brown, K.C., denies any agreement enforceable in law between themselves and Hill and alternatively asserts that, if there was such agreement, then it was subject to the by-laws of the board, which were incorporated in and became part of the agreement, and that Hill's employment under this agreement was duly terminated by proper notice from the board.

The board asserts that Hill's employment with the board on his attaining the age of 65 instantly and without notice, came to an end.

The board, which denies it is indebted in any sum, asserts Hill duly resigned from the board's employment.

The board claims the protection of Section 5 of the Statute of Frauds, Revised Statutes of Ontario 1914.

Hearing adjourned until Tuesday 10 o'clock.

Lloyd George left London for Rome yesterday, declaring he wanted sunshine instead of cloudy weather.

FINES OF $800 TERM IN PRISON CHARGE PERJURY

Magistrate Floyd, Cobourg Gives Judgment Which is Quickly Appealed

ON BAIL OF $2,000

Second Man in Case Admits Evidence Has Not been Correct

Cobourg, Dec. 22.—An aggregate of $800 in fines, the costs of the court, in conditional sentence of three months in jail, and a term of imprisonment of two months without option of a fine were the penalties imposed by Magistrate W. H. Flood in Police Court Friday afternoon upon Duncan Martin, charged under the O.T.A. with having liquor in other than his private residence. An appeal was taken.

Martin was charged by Provincial Constable T. W. Cousens, following an incident near Wicklow when he had a car, in which Martin and W. J. McMullin of Campbellford were riding, struck an auto driven by Victor Buckingham. At the preliminary trial December 18, it was stated by McMullin that he had not been in possession of any liquor and that he had not been in Campbellford on the day of the accident. McMullin also admitted that he had perjured himself in order to keep from his wife and family that he had been driving with two women friends.

John Martin, father of deceased, testified to his son's previous good behaviour and declared that McMullen spent the night of November 19 at his home. McMullen who had denied this statement at the previous hearing, admitted its truth. Several other witnesses were called to bear out testimony that McMullen was not in Port Hope on November 20th, but had been in Campbellford.

PROTESTS DECISION

Mr. Charles Payne, representing Martin, made a strong plea for acquittal. In finding Martin guilty Magistrate Floyd pointed out that he had been previously convicted in Toronto. "On the first offence" said His Worship, "I find you guilty and impose a fine of $100 and costs and in default three months in Cobourg Jail. On the second offence, I find you guilty and impose a fine of $400 and costs, and, in addition, sentence you to two months in jail."

"I want your decision taken down in writing," Mr. Payne called out. "That is absolutely wrong."

"Perhaps Magistrate Floyd has misinterpreted the Act," Crown Attorney Kerr suggested. "Will Your Worship reconsider the decision?"

"No, I won't allow that," Mr. Payne stated emphatically. "The decision has been given and it has been given wrongly. I am entering an appeal right here and now. Will Your Worship come off the bench while I serve you with the papers in the case."

"I will not come off the bench," Magistrate Floyd protested.

"Then I'll serve you where you are," Mr. Payne said heatedly.

The papers were served upon the

OCCUPY DIMINIFE

Tokio, Dec. 22. — Vernacular newspaper dispatches from Mukden unanimously report that forces of General Kuo Sung-Lin, commander of National Peoples' army, have occupied Sinminfe, thirty miles northwest of Mukden, after defeating Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, Dictator of Manchuria.

Magistrate was upon the bench and in the face of the report, Martin was released on bail of $2,000.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

McMullen was then arraigned on a charge of perjury, the specific portions of his evidence alleged to be false being pointed out at "I was in Port Hope on November 20th and never went near Campbellford; I did not stop at Martin's house the previous night; the bag containing the liquor was placed in the car at Grafton and, there were no girls in the car." He was committed for trial.

SLIPPERY HILL BROUGHT THRILL

Motor Car Could Not Stop On Pavement With Train Blocking Way

Trenton, Dec. 22—What might have resulted in a very serious accident occurred at the crossing of the Canadian National Railways across Dundas street here yesterday. A Michigan car being driven east rounded the turn at the top of the hill. The driver seeing the stop sign put up immediately applied the brakes. The pavement was very slippery due to the slush and wet snow on the streets and the car turned completely around, facing east again. Even this did not stop the car and it continued its journey down the hill. Seeing that it would be impossible to stop the car before coming in contact with the freight engine, which was switching at the time, the driver directed the car toward the curb. The car struck the curb sid-the curb and when it came to the tracks he turned it up the tracks. The car then jumped the third rail and he proceeded up the track a short distance with one wheel running on the tire and the other one running on the outside of the track. The car was pulled out and after examining it the driver proceeded on his way.

SALVATION ARMY CORPS HELD CHRISTMAS TREE

Trenton, Dec. 22—Last night in their hall here the Salvation Army held their annual Christmas entertainment. The hall was tastily decorated with red and green streamers of crepe paper and at the right hand side of the hall was a large tree laden with gifts and shining under its load of tinsel and gold. The opening song was given by the Sunday school after which prayer was led by Mrs. E. Spicer.

Mr. Pitman occupied the chair in his very capable manner. A program of songs, recitations, duets, dialogues, drills, and a tableau were very satisfactorily given. Those taking part in the program were Audrey Yarrow, V. Spicer, Lila Spindle, Bert and Walter Downer, Ila Turner, Nora Smith, Mary Sheedy, Eleanor Mombley, Rosie Spicer, E. Smith, Eva McInnes, Gladys Squires.

To the great delight of the kiddies Santa Claus entered about 9.30 and distributed the gifts from the tree.

DIVER REPEATS VALIENT EFFORT TO FIND BODIES

in uniform looks exactly what) who answers to "Victoria Barracks." Mr. Mc-Queens shoved hand paked through a crust of thin ice near the dock, bearing the metal cylinder. Willing hands took it.

Mr. McQueen was still this morning from his herculean labors of Monday. Muscles in his thighs and back were aching, his shoulders were black and blue from the concussion of the weight of shoulder plate, helmet and a 120 pound belt. He went to bed last night at seven o'clock and said he was glad to get there. This matter of "diving" takes a real physique and much endurance. It is a man's game distinctly.

Last night just as Mr. McQueen went down for the last time a huge channel rat came toward him. It was about three feet long, said the diver, it looked at Mr. McQueen through the glass for a moment, but swam away like a flash when a prehensile rubber paw was passed near him.

Mr. McQueen used another suit yesterday after the first one was wet by a slight leak. This morning the original suit was used again.

"Toby", a good-sized, brown, short-haired dog, whose ability is more certain than his ancestry or breed, is inseparable from his master, Mr. McQueen. Such dash was the dirty dresppears under the water, the dog is more than satisfied. With his eyes he follows the bubbles which come to the surface, and which the dripping rubber giant's head crashes through with his feet keeps forming near the dock, the dog is right on the job at the top of the ladder with quivering body.

Mr. Richardson of the Hydro is quick to answer the front plate of the helmet. The first object that gets out into that opening is "Toby's" nose. He greets Mr. McQueen in a manner whose sincerity is genuine, if violent.

Today's work will be "one tide" or, one trip under the water. Tide is the term divers employ to designate each wetting of the suit.

"Let there be harmony in things essential—liberty in things not essential—Charity in all."

LOCARNO

Locarno which is now synonymous with "peace" and "security"—which as Professor Heaton of the faculty of Queen's University told the Rotary Club on Monday was in great danger of becoming an adjective and might yet become a verb—is something really new. It has the open hand-clapping support of all these people who were categorized as "pacifists" in the bellum days and carries the hope of those who fought and survived that it may mean what Sir Austen Chamberlain who had so much to do in setting it carried through says he hopes it means—a surcease from wars and alarums of war.

But Prof. Heaton talked most than merely Locarno and what it may mean. He exposed the fact that there is a considerable body of opinion that is growing distinctly lenient to Germany to the extent at least that that country is now regarded as not the sole cause of the war; that Russia was at least probably equally guilty. Well, if she were she has like Germany had her "pre-war" stains and has been very heavily punished.

Prof. Heaton and speakers like him should be careful that they say nothing that might disturb the faith in the cause for which they risked all of those legions of Allies, among which the British Armies in general and the Canadians in particular took so gallant a role. No good, and a great deal of harm is conceivable if these people, good-intentioned though they may be, make statements bearing on matters of which they only have a second-hand acquaintance and, even unwittingly, say things which reflect on the honor of their own people.

Let Locarno first be proved, before it is swallowed whole. That is all its creators ask of it.

BUY-AT-HOME

Local store managers report that there has been a marked advance in the volume of Christmas business this year, as compared with the turnover a year ago, but mail-order shipments being dumped onto railway station platforms continue to tell a disturbing story of money being taken out of local circulation. Much of this business is lost to merchants simply because housewives are harboring a delusion. At best all that they can save on purchases made from the mail order houses is a few cents. Neutralizing this saving is that fact that every dollar they send out for goods that can be purchased from local merchants is making it that much more difficult for our shopkeepers to keep clerks in employment. There is another angle to the situation that is in need of emphasis. The amount of business that local merchants do with local industries is dependent upon the amount of their turnover. Thus, it naturally follows that if the public could be educated into patronizing local stores they would be creating jobs in our factories for our unemployed. It is a circle, a mutually profitable one, this practice of buying at home. The money we spend isn't really spent at all, but just goes on a little trip around the belt line and eventually comes back home again bringing a couple of companions. But the money, that is tucked in an envelope and dispatched to the out-of-town mail-order houses—that money doesn't come back, because it has been given to understand that it isn't wanted.

FLOW OF CAPITAL

In view of Prof. Heaton's address yesterday on international affairs, a most interesting and instructive article dealing with the "problem of exchange requirements" between the nations appears in the December bulletin of the National City Bank of New York.

Treating of the Dawes plan, it states that payment of reparations by Germany to her European creditors is made really by means of goods or services, and that, so far as the United States is concerned, the payment of war debts is a problem which "is being pushed so far into the future as to be a matter of no present concern." Of all countries, Great Britain is the only one whose borrowings in the United States will not more than cover her payments for a good many years to come. Considering the supplies of capital in the United States and the dearth of money in European countries, "it would be uneconomical and abnormal to have capital flow this way." To send more capital into the United States would, in fact, be like trying to make water flow uphill. There are many ways in which adjustments are being effected. American companies are securing an interest in European enterprises to an increasing extent, and in this way capital is finding its way back to Europe. "It is altogether probable that the aggregate of the foreign investments of the United States never will be less than it is now, by which case, of course, there will be no actual return of the principal." The existing situation clearly demonstrates the fact that the whole world is becoming a common field for enterprise and investment—"with a strong tendency for capital to go where it is most needed." This is "rightly described as a 'borderless' tendency, for, undoubtedly, where capital is most needed industrially is the place where it should be.

From these developments it is seen that the benefits of capital accumulations are never confined strictly to the owners, and the truth applies internationally as well as individually—"the natural diffusion is not limited by national boundaries." "Sic nos non nobis." Nations like individuals, can not hold increasing wealth permanently for themselves alone. As regards the position of the United States, it is said; "Our efforts to collect the government debts, in most instances, will work out that we will lend in the public market what is paid to the treasury, and that the debtor countries will have the use of it as long as it is worth more to them than it is to us. Debtor countries must first be made prosperous before they can pay their debts. In the conditions of society today, capital, like water, eventually will find its own level. Disturbances, gigantic as they may be, are temporary; industry and enterprise restore the balance eventually. In the words of the interesting review by the New York bank:

"The modern world is too intimately related for it to be possible to make a poor country poorer and have its neighbors gain anything thereby, and this, of course, applies to debt-payments as well as reparations. There could be no more effective demonstration of the insensate folly of war, and of all efforts of nations to inflict injuries upon each other, than is afforded by the efforts to collect reparations and debts."

THE ORIENTAL MIND

Tortuous as has been the course of the Turkish government and diplomats in connection with the Kouli boundary dispute, and extremely puzzling to the occidental mind unfamiliar with oriental ways, it is hardly probable that the seasoned diplomats and statesmen of the League of Nations have been greatly surprised at it. Not if they have had personal experience in negotiations with Turkey. In his recently published memoirs, Lord Grey quotes an amusing and pregnant remark made to him by Lord Cromer, who, as British high commissioner in Egypt for many years, had had cause to study oriental psychology and methods. In discussing the probable course to be taken by Abdul Hamid, the Turkish Sultan, on a certain question of importance, Lord Cromer said that in dealing with an oriental and desiring to know what he would do in certain circumstances, one should ask himself three questions—what would the questioner himself do in like circumstances, what would be done by the wisest man he knew, and what did he think the oriental would be likely to do. And having asked these questions, said Lord Cromer, three things could be considered settled, for it could be taken for granted that the oriental would do none of them.

After all, there is perhaps a basis of truth in Kipling's much-derided saying about the impossibility of East and West ever meeting.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?
HIS OBSESSION

Uncle George—And how do you like your employer, Tommy?

Tommy—Oh, he isn't so bad, but he's bigoted.

Uncle George—Bigoted! In what way?

Tommy—He's got an idea that words can only be spelled his way.

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT

P. C. 47—I found the prisoner sitting on a doorstep, yer worship, at half-past three this morning.

Magistrate—Was he alone?

P. C. 47—He was, your worship!

Magistrate—How do you know?

P. C. 47—I was with him, yer worship!

NOT TO BE INTRODUCED

Old Gentleman—So you think my daughter loves you, sir, and you wish to marry her?

Dudeleigh—That's what I called to see you about. Is there any insanity in your family?

Old Gentleman—No sir; and there's not going to be any. Good evening.

HOW TO MAKE SURE

Ethel Cotrox—Oh, Reginald, they say you are a fortuner, and are only marrying me for my wealth. Tell me it is not true.

Lord Dedbroke—Why, my dearest, I would marry you if you were penniless.

Ethel Cotrox—Prove this, my own Reginald, and I shall be absolutely happy.

Lord Dedbroke—Settle the whole of your vast fortune upon me, leave yourself destitute, and I will wed you in the face of the whole world.

A Heart's Triumph

By Effie Adelaide Rowlands.

Some words his uncle had whispered to him and they had passed down the stairs together and given Felix a thrill which was the birth of a determination. "A question of hours only," Doctor Thirwell had said and he had had a kind of affection for Cecil's father, "and he will never regain consciousness. A terrible end to come to any man, more especially to one so totally unprepared for death as that one." The old doctor had sighed deeply. "Thank Heaven," he had then added, "that the future of that child is assured. I witnessed his will only a month or so ago, and he left everything to Cecil unconditionally. Even should there be a dispute or another claim made, she will be a very rich woman."

"A very rich woman!" Felix said the words over to himself softly, as he looked at Cecil.

The girl had sunk herself beside her father's bedside and was watching his face with her hand. There was a dim light falling on the sick man, throwing into relief the outline of the strained, distorted feature, illumining the staring eyes that were even then betting slowly into the glazing stillness of death. The stroke had been pitilessly strong. Had the heart been less vigorous, death would have been instantaneous. As it was, Charles Lacklyne lingered, hovering in that world of shadows that separates the living from the dead.

Felix had withdrawn to a window and had put himself, into a comfortable chair. A lamp was close at hand, but he had turned it down, so that he could watch those two forms, the one so beautiful in its health and youth, the other so terrible in its death-like stillness.

Felix studied the suffering man quite calmly. He was a cynic in his way and the futility of earthly struggles and earthly possessions came home to him always in those silent, somber moments. Life, however, was too strong in his veins to admit of much cynicism; and self being the greatest element in his consciousness, it was the most natural thing in the world that, as he sat there, Felix should drift back into thought of himself and his life.

He had a good deal to occupy himself in this way, and most of it was not agreeable.

"The old man must act to-morrow," he said to himself between his teeth "I shall speak out plainly when we meet. It is too ridiculous that I should have to be worried in this way, when all he has to do is to write me a checkandput an end to the matter."

Now and then he rose and went to the bedside, and each time he had come nearer and nearer for the girl sitting crouched there, so full of pitiful sorrow and of over-whelming helplessness. There was no woman so clever in simulation as Felix Bingham. His very nature was the quintessence of falseness; he could, and did at times, deceive even himself. He was, unlike most really handsome people, inordinately vain, and he was never content till he had won everything for himself. His face failed his rarely. Yet there were times when his charm of manner had done more for him even than his physical beauty. His power with women was something phenomenal. He was ubiquitous in his attentions, and young or old, ugly or pretty, it was apparently the same to Felix. He never lost an opportunity of posing as being chivalrous to all. He made it almost a point to be on terms of friendship with all men. His one method of work was to be true with no one. He had set himself a role to play, and he played it to perfection.

Cecil, sitting there chilled to the heart with suffering, fearful of what her beloved, and seeing her father's face stamped out before her eyes, was in that condition most desirable to Felix and his tactics. Each word he spoke was a thoughtful act—and as the night wore away he insisted on bringing the girl wine, and seeing that her cushions—then down such like things—planted his influence stronger in the girl's heart.

It seemed to her, as the Felix's wonderful eyes, that some angel had been sent to her to help her to meet and bear this heavy sorrow. Instinctively she clung to him. When he bent over her father, it seemed to her as though some of Felix's radiant strength were passing to that tortured, silenced frame; when she saw him moistening the dry and baiting the brow so suddenly and strangely seated, Cecil could have caught his hand and carried it to her lips.

The dawn came slowly and found them watching. Felix had peremptorily drawn Cecil away from the bed and made her sit by the window.

"You want air," he said to her, as he put a cushion under her head and pushed the casement wide open.

Cecil looked up at him, with eyes made more lovely by her suffering.

"Oh, you are good to me," she said brokenly. "Can you not be good to him? Can you not help him?"

"He—looks in such torture. Oh, can you not help him?"

Felix left her and went to the bedside. He stood bending over the prostrate figure a long time, and then he came back to her.

"Your father is no longer in pain," he said, in a strange voice.

ENRIGHT FIGHTS BACK

New York, N. Y., Dec. 22.—Police Commissioner Enright has struck his first blow in answer to charges by Mayor-Elect Walker that the police of the City is "rotten to the core" in anticipation of a change in administration January 1 when Mayor Hylan quits his eight-year regime. More than 200 men were arrested on gambling charges during the week-end raids, but virtually all were freed as soon as they were brought into court, Two democratic clubs in the Bronx were among places raided.

Magistrate Vitale dismissing 48 men, said he saw "no harm in a social card game" and advised police, if they wanted to arrest real gamblers, "to invade Fifth Avenue and the Roaring Forties."

DAUGHTER AMONG INJURED

New Scotland, N.Y., Dec. 22.—Joseph E. Manning, engineer of a West-Shore freight train, found his daughter, Mildred, 13 years old, among the injured after an automobile crashed into the train at the Unionville grade crossing early on Saturday. He and members of the crew extricated the girl from the wrecked car.

LITTLE FOLKS HONOR GUESTS

John Street Church Cradle Roll and Infant Class Banquetted

GIFTS OF GROCERIES

Programme Carried Out In Closing Exercises Of School

'Twas four nights before Christmas and all John Street United Church of Canada, every one was happy because every one was doing something for some one else and so the true Christmas spirit handed down from the Master nine hundred years ago, pervaded the closing exercises of the Sunday School.

THE GUESTS OF HONOR

In the lower assembly hall the ladies of Mr. A. Q. Archibald's Bible Class had prepared a bountiful supper on long tables the centre of each having a lovely Christmas bouquet of poinsettas and holly leaves. Here every member of the Cradle Roll, Yuletide season and everything was wonderfully prepared and daintily served to, the over two hundred guests.

"But the best of honesty are rather short and all being on diet, they did not enjoy the good things on the large centre tables because one and all of them were restricted to bread and milk, with perhaps one sweet—all because the old man of Christmas short, night and the youngest not yet able to toddle without support. They all belonged to John Street Cradle roll or to the infant class and they enjoyed themselves just as much as if they had been able to stay up after seven o'clock.

THE PROGRAMME

After supper all the parents and children were invited to come to the Sunday School room where the programme was to be held. There on a platform which was most artistically decorated with evergreen boughs, holly and everything necessary to a Yuletide celebration, two enormous Christmas trees were lighted up and the boughs were weighed down by the good things on them. So large was the attendance, more and more chairs had to be brought upstairs until finally every available space in the hall was filled. The hall of the evening undoubtedly was Santa Claus (Mr. F. G. Deniker) who filled every little one's heart with happiness on his arrival and presented every one with a bag of Christmas candies. With Mr. J. W. Cook acting as chairman in a most capable manner the programme given was:

Address—Rev. D. C. Ramsay.
Orchestra selection by the Sunday School orchestra.
Welcome song—Harold Bankier.
Infant Class chorus—"Captain Baby Bunting".
Recitation—Margaret Burnham.
Duet—Mary Baider and Harold Bonner.
Duet—Eileen and Billy Robinson.
Chorus—Miss Cooper's Class.
Solo—Maybelle Robinson.
Chorus—Mr. Gordon Gray's Class.
Solo—Susie Deniker.
Dialogue—Miss Reeves's Class.
Selection—Sunday School orchestra.
Solo—Miss Helen Cook.
Dialogue—Mr. Findlay's Class.
Drama—"Good King Wenzles".
Solo—Miss Sylvia Teal.
Play—Miss Sylvia Rose' Class.
Selection—"The Meddlesome Choir".
Chorus—Miss Roger's Class.
Selection—The Orchestra.
Skit—Mr. Armstrong's Class.
Dialogue—Miss H. Hill's Class.
"The Invented Skit" by Mr. N. Merry's and Miss R. Templeton's class.
Address—Mr. Wm McIntosh.
Selection—"The Meddlesome choir".

BEST OF ALL

But best of all was the collection of groceries to pack baskets for families whose address the Spirit of Christmas may have forgotten. Each person attending the entertainment brought with him a package of groceries and laid it on the platform to be packed by the ladies of the church for disposal on Christmas eve. The collection included everything from jelly powder to shredded wheat and was an assurance of happy hearts in many an otherwise dolorous home.

LODGE GIVES REPLY WHEN WORLD MAY END

Not Beginning 200 Million Years Ago and May Never Cease to End

London, Eng., Dec. 22 (Canadian Press Despatch).—Sir Oliver Lodge, the great scientist, drew an awe inspiring reply to the question: Will the world come to an end? asked at the Charing Cross Medical School. It would seem, he said, the universe is vital and going concern must have had a beginning and must have an end. The beginning was the formation of nebulae 200 million years ago. The end would apparently be the disappearance of matter and the existence once more of ether filled with perpetual remnants of radiation travelling out in all directions towards infinity with the speed of light at a date incomparably remote.

But was that the end? asked Sir Oliver. Need there be any end or any beginning? He doubted whether the idea of termination in any form was tenable and advanced the theory of the dcay of the universe, driven to the confines of space by the pressure of light, receiving the waste radiating being received by it and chemical...activity coming into full blast... Thus would begin once more the clash of atoms, the formation of nebulae, the birth of stars and ultimately of planets.

PASS VOTE OF THANKS TO RETIRING MAYOR

Ald. Graham and Robinson Voice Opinion—Council Concurs in Standing Vote.

Previous to the adjournment of the city council last evening Ald. R. J. E. Graham moved, seconded by Ald. A. Robinson that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered to Mayor Mikel for the able and courteous manner he had presided over the council meetings and also for the valuable advice given at all times.

The mover and seconder spoke to the motion and referred to the public spirited services Mayor Mikel had rendered to the city. The motion was carried by a standing vote.

Mayor Mikel in replying expressed his appreciation of the kind remarks of the mover and seconder of the motion. The business transacted before the Council during the year had been expeditiously transacted, and the best of decorum had prevailed. All members had a keen sense of their duties and pursued those duties to the best of their ability.

PROTESTANT PRESIDENT TO TRANSMIT RED HAT

French Chief Smiles When Told He Is Only One to Act For Pope

Paris, Dec. 22.—Bonaventura Cerretti Apostolic Nuncio in France, who was raised to the cardinalate at the consistory in Rome, will continue, contrary to tradition, to be his post here for some time and will not even go to Rome to receive his red hat.

The fact will bring about an unusual situation. The custom of centuries exists that the chief of a state, in the presence of the Diplomatic Corps, shall transmit the Cardinal's red hat to the newly promoted prince of the church in case he does not receive it from the hands of the Pope.

M. Doumergue, President of France, is a Protestant, so that the question was raised whether traditions should not be discarded in the present case. The Pope, however, on being consulted, ruled that M. Doumergue alone could transmit the hat.

The French President also was consulted and naively remarked, with the amiable smile for which he is famous: "Why yes! I am a Protestant, that's true. But I go just as often to mass as I do to church."

BELLEVILLE STORES THE BEST

To the editor of The Intelligencer:
Dear Sir,—

Recently when in Toronto I went into Simpson's and Eaton's large stores to ascertain if they had an article of wearing apparel required by me. Neither had it. On returning home I found it in two stores in Belleville. Citizens of Belleville will find it unnecessary to go elsewhere to shop.

LABOR MAY LEAVE

London, Dec. 22. — John L. Tigues, Laborite, speaking in Consett, stated that he would advise party to leave the house when Government's motion regarding Mosul was reached. This was in protest against the Government's procedure in proposing a motion asking for the approval of its Mosul policy, just as parliament was adjourning for the holidays. The Opposition declared this gave it no chance to consider whether an 'amendment should be proposed.

CHILDREN OF SHELTER GIVEN EATS, PRESENTS BY ST. ANDREW'S C.G.I.T.

Over thirty little ones from the Shelter were guests on Monday evening of the C.G.I.T. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at a tea party and Christmas tree held in the dining room of the Church. The little ones, for whom Christmas means what ever kind friends may make it, were delighted with the good things to eat and still more so when the little presents were handed down to them from the tree and little ones to whom a doll generally means a shop window display or a toy a remote possibility, went home happy.

Rev. R. G. and Mrs. Stewart who attended the little entertainment were very happy to be amongst the tots and enjoyed the games and programme just as much as the children themselves.

CUSTOMS LOSS MILLION YEARLY

Canadian Commercial Body Puts Value of Smuggled Goods at 50 Millions

Toronto, December 21.—The Toronto Star says today:

"A $50,000,000 stream of smuggled merchandise flowing through the lawless channels of Illicit border traffic has been disorganizing Canadian trade and robbing the Dominion of a million dollars in customs revenue every year, according to officials of the Commercial Protective Association, an organization of Canadian business men banded together as a vigilance force to ferret out this subcanadian trade.

"As a result of the association's effort the increased flow of contraband which comes with the Christmas demand for luxury commodities will be checked to some extent at least by the new preventive force of the customs branch established at the instance of the association. The rushing risks of bootleg liquor to the United States has been followed by a flowing tide of smuggled goods. The increase in remunerative risks resulted in an increase in smuggling, as the bootlegging bootlegger has followed the best transportation agencies and brought back a return load or return cargo in the car, truck or boat, which took over the liquor. Silks, jewellery, high grade cigarettes and similar compact commodities of high value are mostly in demand as return cargoes, and the smugglers seem to be able to find the cargoes without much difficulty.

"The result has been an inflow of $50,000,000 worth of untaxed commodities, paying neither duty nor sales tax which are distributed through the trade channels to the detriment of legitimate trade and commerce."

IT ALL DEPENDS

London, Eng., Dec. 22.—(Canadian Press Despatch)—Does the modern woman cry at the theatre? Miss Lyalana Bernhardt, grand daughter of the great Sarah Bernhardt, says the modern woman does not. She recalls that when her grandmother played Marguerite Gauthier it was common to see tears streaming down the face of the audience. Now she says it is rare to see anything of the kind. Philip Ridge way of the Garrick Theatre, London, entirely disagrees. "Cry" he exclaimed, "Why at the Garrick we are thinking of supplying handkerchiefs to the audience."

NEW COMMANDMENT IS VERY GOOD PICTURE

Society Film-Drama the Last Word in Brazenness and Thrills

"The New Commandment" at Griffin's theatre last night, is done in a breezy manner by a young director named Howard Hizgin, who puts pep and speed into sparkling society melodrama. "The New Commandment" is destined to become the talk of the town, an avalanche of cheer for those who heed advice to view this fine photoplay while it is at the Griffin theatre.

You will admire Ben Lyon, in his love scenes with Blanche Sweet he is fascinating. Another chap who deserves all praise is George Cooper, a rare comedian.

"The New Commandment" was adapted by Sada Cowan and Howard Hizgin from Colonel Frederick Palmer's novel "Invisible Wounds." Hizgin has injected new thrills that go for making all round success.

FIFTY BATHING BEAUTIES IN FILM AT THE BELLE

Once More the Handsomest Fifty in The Whole World Were Chosen

The fifty most beautiful bathing girls in Hollywood were selected by the casting director at Paramount's west coast studio, to appear in "The Trouble With Wives," now showing at the Belle Theatre.

The girls were outfitted in all varieties of bathing suits, from the one piece by Travis Banton and Howard Greer, variety to fancy ruffled affairs designed Banton also created the eleven gowns worn by Florence Vidor in this picture, while Greer created the nine costumes worn by Esther Ralston.

The bathing girls represent all varieties of feminine beauty, from statuesque blondes to diminutive brunettes.

"The trouble With Wives" was directed for paramount by Malcolm St. Clair from the original story by Sada Cowan and Howard Hizgin. In addition to Miss Vidor and Miss Ralston the featured players include Tom Moore and Ford Sterling.

ACQUIT F. C. WILLIAMS

Former Ontario Provincial Official's Plea Accepted

Toronto, December 22.—Fred C. Williams, former chief accountant and inspector of prisons and public charities, was acquitted in sessions this afternoon on a charge of theft of $3,000, property of the province of Ontario during the years 1919-1924.

Peter White, K.C., pleaded not guilty, which plea was accepted on behalf of the Crown by E. J. Murphy.

It is understood that the plea of "not guilty" was accepted in view of Williams having given evidence for the Crown in the trial of W. W. Dunlop, and also in view of the fact that he had made restitution.

Contact Heat Puts the Speed into SPEEDIRON

Contact Heat

Radiated Heat

WHEN a boy pokes his finger into a pie hot out of the oven, he is instantly made aware of the meaning of "contact" heat, just as you would be if you put your finger on a hot iron.

When you put your hand near a hot iron you feel "radiated" heat.

When you set a kettle or pan on the Speediron Element in a McClary's Electric Range you get contact heat.

There is no air space to waste or radiate the heat. The heat can't go anywhere but upward into the bottom of your pan or kettle, because the bottom of the Speediron Element is specially and thoroughly insulated, preventing heat from going down and forcing it to go up through the bottom of the cooking utensils.

That flat, even top surface and the insulated bottom of the Speediron Element forcing the heat up, put the speed into Speediron—the speediest protected element ever designed.

It Lifts Out

McClary's New Element, Speediron, is made in three parts held together by one bolt. The whole unit lifts out almost as easily as you lift a stove lid—no screws or bolts or wire connections to unfasten. With the unit out it is a simple matter to unscrew the bolt and lift off the iron protector. The burned out heating coil is then easily and quickly replaced with a new one. Then you drop the unit back into place and the Speediron Element is ready for service again.

No liquids, forks, dirt or anything else can get into the coils of McClary's Speediron Element—the electric range element without an "if."

Come and See It

If you have an Electric Range now you will want to see this new, splendid improvement, because you know all about Electric Range troubles now. If you are going to buy an Electric Range you should see the Speediron Element in McClary's Electric Range—the trouble-proof Element. The new Speediron Elements are now on view at all leading dealers. Come and see it—today.

McClary's new Element—Speediron—was originated, developed and perfected in McClary's Electrical Engineering Department—is patented and registered by McClary's, used exclusively in McClary's Electric Ranges. It is the greatest achievement in Electric Ranges ever brought out and makes McClary's Electric Range the absolute leader of all Electric Ranges.

BUS AND MOTOR CAR MET AT BAD CORNER

There were no injuries in an accident at 1.45 this afternoon when a local bus and a touring car were damaged, each trying to avoid the other at Station street corner, the intersection of the Canniton Road.

The bus was going south on Station, the car was coming from Station street, off the Canniton Road. The Chevrolet turned wide to make a safe swing standing on Station street just south of the intersection. The bus turned into the sidewalk, skidded sideways into a telephone pole, knocking off two mail boxes, turning around so as to face south. The rear of the bus crashed into the car.

NEED SHARP CORKS ON ICY ROADWAYS

It was one of the dramas of a day that was hard on the horses.

Passersby agreed with the medical remonstrations.

Horses should be newly shod to be able properly to keep their feet a day like this.

Westerners Show Mettle in East

For the first time in years a western rugby team has won a championship against an eastern team. The Big Four series championships have been completely rotten year after year, but on Saturday, December 12, the western juniors provided a real challenge to the supremacy of the east.

Playing against the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association rugby squad for the Dominion Junior Rugby Championship, the Prairie Rugby Team of Regina, Saskatchewan, was defeated by a narrow margin of 5 to 4 after holding the lead of 4 to 1 for the first three quarters. In the final quarter the Montreal team sent Ayer into the field as a kicker and he managed to hold his own against husky Erskine, of the Patricias, who was the star player.

The M.A.A.A. managed to crash through the opposing line for a try. The game at the M.A.A.A. grounds proved a fine exhibition of Rugby despite the snow on the ground. The Regina Leader defeated the cup to the Winners. This is to be known in the future as the Regina Leader Trophy and is to be played for annually for the junior championship of Canada. Dick Gibson, of the Leader, who accompanied the team, presented the cup to the M.A.A.A. squad at an informal meeting Saturday evening.

The Regina Patricias travelled to Montreal on the Canadian Pacific flyer the "Imperial" in charge of H. Wright, C.P.R. representative, and expressed their appreciation of the fine accommodation afforded them so that they were able to take part in fit condition. They returned to the west also on the "Imperial".

Here are the Pats, western Rugby rugby champions left to right, front row, Bell, Tweedy, flying wing; Middleton, left half; E. Findlay, middle, substitute; H. Metcalfe, quarter; Al Ritchie, centre; Ayer, outside; Lowrie, substitutes; L. W. Fraser, Toronto; E. Fraser, half; Ne-Busch, snap, 2nd row, left to right, D. Gibson, representing the Regina Leader; E. Elwood, substitute; E. Johnston, right middle; R. Shaw, substitute; G. Erskine, half; B. Johnston, outside wing. Third Row: Hoey, left middle wing; D. Findlay, left engine; Dr. Bentley, right half; J. Cranston, inside wing; W. McNamara, substitute; Lieutenant H. Wright, Canadian Pacific Railway representative in charge of the team.

PRESTON WON FROM NIAGARA

Niagara Falls, Ont., Dec. 22.—Preston Riversides entered the local Senior O.H.A. season by defeating Gene Fraser's senior champions by the score of 6—4. The game was fast and exciting throughout and had the crowd of 4,000 on its toes. The Riversides had an edge on the play throughout, displaying more system in all departments than the Big Four team.

Dad Ashley stood out for the invaders. His rushes were always dangerous, while he was a stonewall on the defence. Arnott and Talbot were also very effective. For the Falls, Fraser, Herrington and Conacre were fast although George Manners, an intermediate recruit dealt a very good showing at left defence.

FIFIELD STILL CHAMP.

Toronto, Dec. 22.— George Fifield made a successful defence of his Canadian welterweight title against Frankie Bull in the main bout of last night's all-Toronto show at the Standard Theatre, which was sponsored by the Shamrock Club, but, Fifield was aided considerably by a couple of low blows and a sturdy butt with his head. By the victory Fifield erased the only prominent blot on his record, an artistic laring by Bull a year ago, and added the undisputed possession of the championship.

JEWISH TEACHING OPPOSED TO FACT

U. S. Rabbi Says Jesus of Nazareth Was a Man —Not a Myth

MUST ACCEPT RECORD

Declares Jews Should Embrace Doctrines of Christianity

New York, Dec. 22.—Standing before a capacity congregation in Carnegie Hall, Sunday, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of the Free Synagogue, declared that contrary to Hebraic teaching, Jesus of Nazareth was not a myth but a man and that the Jews must embrace the teachings of Jesus.

"If Christianity is impractical and unattainable as the Jews say it is, said Dr. Wise, then it is because the Christians have failed to live up to Jesus' teachings. He declared these teachings comprise a code of ethics unparalleled in any writings in history, being the very foundations of morality.

"Jesus was," said Rabbi Wise, "I accept this despite the notion I had been led to believe earlier in my life, a notion that Jesus was myth and never existed. I tell you, and I will repeat these words to every Jew in the world if need be, Jesus was, and we must accept this fact as such."

He went on to say that, like other transcendental figures of time, strange stories have been woven about Jesus. He said these stories have done as much harm as good.

DOCTRINE MUST GO

Rabbi Wise said he could not and would not admit that the teachings of Jesus are alien to those taught him by his own elders. Such a doctrine must go, he said, and the time to throw it overboard is now.

His discussion of "A Jew's view of Jesus" revolved about the new book, "Jesus of Nazareth," written by Dr. Joseph Klausner, of the Hebrew University in Palestine.

He thanked God that such a book could be written, published and read.

"It marks the first chapter in a new literature," he said. "Such a book could never have been written a few years ago. You all know what would have happened to the Jew who would have dared to express his opinions based on facts—of Jesus a score of years ago.

"This book, overlooked by the press and handled wretchedly by reviewers who have missed the point completely, is the greatest book of its kind ever published."

MAKES PLAINT WOMEN IGNORED

Health of Children in the Open Air Often Seriously Handicapped

Ottawa, Dec. 22.—(By Canadian Press)—"The Child in Industry", is the title of a pamphlet issued by the Department of Labor, written by Helen MacGill, M.A., Judge of the Juvenile Court, Vancouver, and member of the B.C. Minimum Wage Board. Some of her conclusions are given herewith. Describing ill effects of some child occupations she says: In fruit packing and canning long hours of sitting, the lifting of the heavy boxes and weights, the lifting and trimming of the heavy beets in the sugar beet fields, hoeing, weeding, long hours in the hot sun with heat back pressure curvature and strain. The Ontario children may weed, hoe, gather fruit and vegetables, work in the house at dishwashing, family washing, cooking, any work in fact unlimited hours. The fresh air of rural life and the nature of the employment apparently is expected to absolve any ill results that might arise from fatigue, heavy strain and long hours. As to educating these children may find in "running brooks" and "sermons in stones" to make up for any other lack on the farm. Admitting that the farmer's lot is often a hard one, why license him to make it hard for children?

She mentions that fact that though Inter-Provincial conferences are held frequently on Unemployment, the number of women members of the Provincial Minimum Wage Board are not called upon to attend. "In other words, the advice and help of the unpaid women members whom provincial governments honor by placing on their Minimum Wage Boards to represent women and children are not sought. If the women who it is resumed, are appointed to these unsalaried positions because of their sympathetic understanding or economic training, who give freely of their time, are not sent to these Conferences we must assume the loss is to the Conference or that the provincial government do not think it worth while to call them. However this may be, only men are summoned."

CHURCH UNION UP TO QUEBEC

Legislature a Year Ago Gave Measure Hoist For 6 Months

WILL PASS IT NOW

Province to Be Warm Topic

Natural Resources of Vast Province to Be Warm Topic

Quebec, Dec. 22.—(By Canadian Press)—Legislation regarding the natural resources of the Province of Quebec will be the outstanding governmental legislature at the third session of the sixteenth legislature of the province which opens on January 7.

It is expected that the government will provide for the creation of forest reserves, and also take further steps to afforestand the forests, including those under licenses to cut. There will be some legislation as to waterpower and possibly as to asbestos, though it is not expected that there will be an embargo on the export of raw asbestos, as has been mentioned from time to time. What the legislature is liable to do however, if in favor coupling which manufacture the raw materials in Canada, and this can readily be done by an adjustment of the tariff, is the enactment of a sliding scale which will allow of rebates of royalties in whole or in part, on such raw matter which is manufactured in the country.

The Church Union bill will come before the Legislature again. Last session the legislature in giving what amounted to a six months hoist to the Union Bill expressed its reluctance to enact a bill should the legislature of Ontario do so. Ontario has done so and the procedure laid down in that Protestant province will be followed here. The anti do not intend to oppose the Union Bill, but will want amendments to provide that they at least retain the Montreal Presbyterian College, and that some provision be made for minorities of asserting Presbyterian churches.

There has been some talk of a general provincial election in the province following upon the conclusion of the next session, but there is lack of authority for such a presumption and the normal belief is that the legislature will have its usual four sessions before the government again appeals to the people.

FIVE VIOLENT DEATHS CHICAGO'S PRE-CHRISTMAS TOLL

WHEAT PRICES SPLURGE AHEAD OVER NINE CENTS

Just Before Christmas when Profit-Taking Is So Appropriate

SOME SLIGHT ACTION

Winnipeg Also Reports Extra Money From This Source

Chicago, Dec. 23.—Jumps in price seldom equalled except in time of war took place in the wheat market today, with a burst of excitement in trading that accompanied the rise in values was the immediate result of a Government crop report indicating that the United States has already cut into the carry-over from last year by about 15,000,000 bushels and that large imports from Canada into this country are in prospect despite the duty of 42 cents a bushel.

On the advance, profit-taking sales became of large proportions and reactions from the top figures wasted but the down turns were as a rule just transient although prices remained about the maximum.

December dropped back temporarily to $1.71. Corn showed independent strength, the government crop report being construed as bullish in regard to corn as well as to wheat. After opening 2 1-4 to 2 1-2 cents higher the corn market receded to a moderate extent. Oats were inclined to be influenced by speculative figure, the market scored some additional gains and then declined a little.

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 23.—Influenced by the bullish report of United States Department of Agriculture, wheat prices today were sharply higher. May delivery was most active and advanced four cents to $1.54¼.

Opening prices wheat, Dec. 2½c higher at 1.46¾; May 2 3-4c to 2 3-4c higher at 1.53 to 1.54; July, 2 1-8c to 2 7-8c higher at 1.31 to 1.32 3-4. Oats Dec. 1c higher at 57 3-4c; May ¾c higher at 59½.

EIGHT ABOVE DURING NIGHT

Sudden Drop in Temperature Had Various Reactions

Last night's sudden drop in temperature when the mercury registered 19 at higher and lower points had little effect for the local plumbers who had foreseen more calls to thaw out frozen up water pipes. Their harvest fell between Christmas and New Year's when the people return from holidays and often find the entire water system frozen solid.

One good turn the sudden frost did was to give the skiers a few extra hours as the good snow was not advised too early by the approach of the milkman that dawn was nigh—the slippery road halted the milk wagons hence till a bit later than usual.

G.W.V.A. Kiddies Had Wonderful Time Gorgeous Supper and Gifts From Santa

Kids—whose natures defy definition and analysis except by wise poets or learned psychologists—were having their night of the nails of the G.W.V.A. It was children's night—distinctly. Grown-ups "fetched an earful" all evening, deferring to the slightest whim of the diminutive people who were their guests.

The idea of the whole evening was that Santa Claus was coming to reward these children for their good behavior during the year. Very gaily-arrayed to receive him.

There were one hundred and fifty children on hand. The first item on the program was a reel which was preceded by a unique grace by Rev. A. L. Geen who, realizing that a solemnly-recited prayer might not impress such small folk, had them sing grace.

This supper was more than food and drink. It was a reversal of the usual order of things. It was night in the year that children could do anything at the table they wanted. This item was very following the initiative of the menu. What child has not dreamed of sitting at a table loaded with all sweet-scented, delicately potatoes, juicy beets, bread and butter or boiled eggs, all of which are eyed somewhat by the adults who seem to lack understanding of childish stomachs? At all events, the first course was sandwiches of all kinds. Then came jelly, with every kind of sweet known to culinary science. There was nothing to avoid—it was all sweet, dreadfully so.

Does this look like Santa who was at G.W.V.A. Memorial Hall?

The main thing was that the children were in Paradise for the time being, but may need easier oil later on.

Mr. A. E. Baldwin was in charge and never rested a minute.

There was a programme after the feed. Miss Lillian Baldwin was at the piano during the evening and accompanied those who required it.

The chairman for the evening was Mr. Chas. Thompson. He first called on Mrs. Chas. Hilton, President of the Ladies Auxiliary for an address to the children.

From then on the numbers were largely the work of the children. Master Sydney Sykes, Rorie Summers, Daisy Knight, Freddy Stone, Jean Knight (age 3), Henry Poynter, Kitty Stone, George Hallwood were the children who entertained the audience.

Others whose were not children (though in one there had to act like a child) who were on the programme were Miss Olive Baldwin, Mr. A. E. Baldwin, Mrs. Dawes, Miss Rockworth and Miss Gill.

Chairman Charles Thompson kept the children in suspense with reports on the location of Santa Claus who kept getting closer as the evening progressed.

Finally Mr A. Knight got his rotund whiskers glued on safely, and Santa Claus arrived at the same time.

From the glittering tree given out gifts to every child in the room. Each present was labeled with the name and age of the recipient.

All in all it was a girls night which meant happiness for one hundred and fifty children. It was a success in the hearts of that organization who gave that happiness—the G.W.V.A.

SHARP CONFLICT OF OPINION SEEN IN SHANGHAI ROW

Official Finding by U. S. Judge Disputed by British and Japs

Peking, China, Dec. 23.—The conclusions of Justice Elias F. Johnson resulting from his inquiry into the shooting affair at Shanghai on May 30 last were made public today by the Dean of the Diplomatic Corps, Justice Johnson member of the Bench of the Philippine Islands, was the presiding officer of the International Commission charged with investigating the disorders in Shanghai when with a strike demonstration and culminated in the killing of a number of Chinese.

He charges foreigners in Shanghai with failure to take into account the principle of "live and independence which they themselves have spread in China and recommends various reforms of Shanghai administration.

British and Japanese members of the Commission submitted reports on other hand, find no laxity in police precautions and consider that no more precautions was available than the one pursued.

RIVIERA EXPECTS GAMBLING BOOM; NEW PLACES OPENED TO MEET NEEDS!

Nice, December 23.—A gambling boom is expected on the Riviera this winter. Casino directors are building this expectation on the low rate of the franc, which they expect to bring many Americans and Englishmen to the south coast, and on returns of the Cannes resorts during the autumn which showed a big increase in baccarat takings. Hopes also are being built on the possibility of legalizing roulette in France, which abolition roulette in French resorts, from which the treasury would take in a heavy rate.

Even if roulette is not permitted this year outside Monte Carlo, the Riviera promoters are busy preparing for every other kind of gambling. Following the construction of one of the finest new gambling place, there are nearing completion at Deauville, which, with Juan les Pins, is a coming in rallet.

CITY OK'S PLAN TO FIND BODIES WILL PAY FOR IT

Mr. Harry Smith To Be Given Six Men to Assist. Him

WORK FOR 4 FAYS

Voluntary Workmen Are Still on Job—Deserve Great Credit

The municipal shoulder of the City of Belleville has been put behind the efforts which are being made to recover the bodies of the two lads who were drowned last Saturday.

Mayor-Elect R. J. E. Graham, Chairman of the Committee of Finance this afternoon authorized Mr. Harry Smith, ice merchant, to hire six men at the expense of the City, for rescue work. The men will be employed at least four days unless, of course, they are rewarded in four clients before then.

Mr. Smith had offered his services and equipment for the carrying out of an idea which he has conceived. He said, however that he would be satisfied to direct the work of voluntary workers, and that he would need a small force employed to put at his disposal. Mr. Smith plans to remove every square yard of ice in Victoria Harbour, and replace the cakes on the shore where they can't float back over working areas.

Work was started late this afternoon, in the meantime, voluntary labor goes on There are a small group of men who have worked silently, for several days almost without interest, encouragement, and in some cases their meals. They have been cutting and chopping small holes in the ice from the island bridge to pointe a hundred yards below Tudale's Dock. Through these holes they have been working with pikes and rakes. Their chances of finding anything make their labor all the more commendable.

TWENTY BOATS LOST; 140 MEN WITH THEM

Four Men Slain One Took Own Life All By Revolvers

Chicago, Ills., Dec. 23.—Four murders and a suicide in a pre-Christmas outburst of sane fresh pistol fights and robberies were under police investigation today. War between liquor factions was held responsible for the deaths of Joseph Brocky, soft drink parlor owner and alleged gunmaster, and Edward Hartmoring, county highway policeman. Their bullet-riddled bodies were found slumped in the rear seat of a sedan abandoned in a south side park.

Two retired policemen, friends for years, quarrelled in the lobby of the Central Trust Co., in the business district. One shot and killed the other, then as his old crony fell, he was stricken with remorse, turned his pistol against his head and killed himself.

Caught in a cross fire between two robbers and the owner of a drug store, Richard E. Lee, a drug clerk working his first day in the store, was shot to death.

All Fussed up No Place to Go

Beauty parlors and barber shops alike have had a big rush during the last few days from Miss (and Mrs.) Belleville wishing to get all fussed up ready for Christmas. Every destination is alright—for the local bobbers have kept right up with New York and London in hair styles. Even the Eddies have been all spruced up and the crowds of men waiting in line in each of the shops are not necessarily waiting for a shave but very possibly for small daughter to have her tresses trimmed, and as it is very near Christmas some time when every cent is good—the little ones set like martyrs during the shearing process.

Eighty-Four Named As C. of C. Directors Ten Finally Chosen

The primary election for directors of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce was the most spirited that has ever taken place since the Chamber was first organized. So keen was the interest in the numbers received nominations this breaking the records heretofore set up in the most election for the City Council when 1,200 votes were cast. The election committee of seven is actively and estimate the results.

The following received the highest number of votes and those names will go on the final ballot were, in alphabetical order:—H. W. Ackeman, 222 Ina St., Fred Deacon, Manufacturer, Chas. T. Dolan, Druggist; R. J. E. Graham, barrister; G. F. Ostrom, produce dealer; R. D. Poulton, barrister; C. M. Reid, merchant; Mackenzie Robertson, Manufacturer; W. C. Swinger, manufacturer; E. W. The Chamber of Commerce election always evokes deep interest among the members. There is little or no rancour or acrimoniousness for the candidates or their friends, each of them seemingly taking a sporting chance without the use of artificial stimulus in the form of alcohol.

In the past Belleville's busiest men of affairs have given freely of their time to assist officially in the promotion of what they regard as work of the foremost importance in the advancement of the city's welfare.

McQUEEN GIVING SERVICES GRATIS EXPLODE RUMOR

Man Who Is Doing His Best To Recover Bodies Makes Reply

ICE COVERS HARBOR

Experienced Fishermen Are Being Sought to Help Drag the River

Mr. Earl McQueen is giving his services "free of charge to the city in behalf of the bereaved parents of the two boys."

This was the language embodied in the direct and flat denial which the diver made to The Intelligencer this morning, in answer to questions about the rumor current in certain circles of the city.

It had been said that Mr. McQueen is making fabulous charges for his work at attempted rescues, and that the families who have been bereaved are having to advance huge sums before Mr. McQueen will go on with the work.

Nothing could do a greater injustice to the man, who has suffered frozen and given freely of his time and energy to his self-imposed work for the past three days.

THE MAYOR'S STATEMENT

Added to the refutation of Mr. McQueen comes a denial from Mayor Elect R. J. E. Graham, who went to stress the fact that Mr. Earl McQueen has done all this work for the city in behalf of the parents, absolutely without thought of remuneration. Mr. McQueen has spurned the very suggestion of recompense for his valiant services. If was he who voluntarily suggested the above, as well.

Mr. Mikel said that he wished publicly to thank Mr. McQueen for the splendid work which he is carrying on against heavy odds of weather and other adverse conditions.

MR. BROWN'S STATEMENT

Mr. Bernard Brown, uncle of one of the boys whose body is still under the ice, said to-day: "This talk of Mr. McQueen asking money is not true. No one has asked my brother for money. I want to publicly thank Mr. Graham, Mr. Campbell, Mr. Richardson and many others who have freely given of their time and energy without thought of any return. It is charity, absolutely."

WORK IN VAIN

"No luck." This is the discouraging answer which came up the lobes of the small hole of men who were worried for footings with the experience nature of the attempted "dragging" for the bodies. Dragged means the bodies of Bernard Brown and Ernest Ellsworth who reached into the waters fortnight ago. The precise area which were open yesterday were covered with ice over two inches thick.

The next move be a matter of conjecture at this time. Mr. McQueen will dive as soon as a hole is made for the purpose over the course. He himself favors the cutting of holes in the ice at frequent intervals.

TALK OF BLASTING

Experienced fishermen will cover every square foot of the bottom of harbour. It could be dragged effectively in two or three days in the opinion of Mr. McQueen.

The alternative advanced by some who are working at the scheme is to blast the ice. This has been opposed by City Engineer Campbell who says that the explosive force of the dynamite is exerted in a downward direction, that when planted under the ice it asserts blows a small hole through the ice and does not break it up in the manner which is necessary.

Suffice to say, everything that can be devised by the ingenuity of the City Council will be called into play to ease the sorrow in the hearts of two of its mothers.

DISARMAMENT INVITATION TO U.S. ACCEPTED

Washington to Participate In Conference at Geneva

OPPONENTS IMPRESSED

Even Some Irreconcilables Are in Favor of Acceptance by Coolidge

Washington, Dec. 22—Informally and orally, but authoritatively, the White House made known today that the intention of the President was to accept the invitation of the League of Nations to the United States to participate in the preliminary meeting at Geneva of the representatives of eighteen governments, called for February 15, 1926, to make preparations for holding an international disarmament conference under the auspices of the League. Decision as to the character of the response to be made to the invitation has not been reached and there are other details to be determined, such as whether it is necessary to request Congress to appropriate funds for the expenses of the American delegation at the preliminary meeting, but all the indications are that a favorable answer will be made to the invitation short ly after the reassembling of Congress, which took a Christmas recess until January 4.

What the Government was trying to do, it was explained at the White House, was to see what method could best be pointed to work out a way to accept the League's invitation that would be of an affirmative and constructive nature.

Toronto, Dec. 23.—The First Division Court has adjourned until January 4th application by H. A. Ward, K.C., and A. B. Cunningham, K.C., on behalf of Frederick Milne, who was convicted at Belleville on a charge of bigamy and sentenced to three years at Kingston. Milne who was first married at Port Hope in 1905, when he was 20 years of age and shortly afterwards moved to Saskatchewan with his wife. A child was born there. He later returned to Ontario, leaving his wife with her parents at Dorden Saskatchewan He had not heard from her for sixteen years when he married Mrs. Bessie Woods, a widow, of Port Hope, as told for the circumstances of his first marriage.

Mr. Justice Hodgins: "There is no doubt of the bigamy."

Mr Ward: "No; but after the lapse of time it was thought he might escape the penalty."

Justice Magee: "He evidently made no enquiry. Could he honestly say he thought she was dead?"

Mr. Ward: "Not that she was dead."

F. P. Brennan, for the Crown, thought the way should not be made too easy for men to desert their wives and children and then be careful not to make enquiries before they remarried.

Chief Justice Mulock: "We must do substantial justice."

AIM TO MERGE 3 DEPARTMENTS

Government is Holding Committee Meeting Daily at Ottawa

PREPARE FOR SESSION

New Immigration Agreement Has Met Some Criticism

Ottawa, December 23.—No meetings of the Cabinet will take place this week. Premier Mackenzie King is resting for a few days, and a number of Cabinet members of the Government have left to spend Christmas at their homes. There will probably be one or two Cabinet meetings next week.

The new immigration agreement has, it is understood, been discussed by one of these sub-committees preparatory to the discussion which will take place on the floor of Parliament. Already this agreement has been subjected to some criticism in the British press. Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior and acting Minister of Immigration, it is intimated, will be prepared with a full explanation of the agreement when the time comes for it. Mr. Stewart was formerly in charge of the Immigration Department, and it has been rumored for some time that it will again be placed under his direction. Other departmental amalgamations suggested are Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment with National Defence, Trade and Commerce with Finance, and the Department of Secretary of State with External Affairs. This would mean a reduction in the number of Cabinet ministers.

TWO RISK LIVES TO SAVE BOY

Frances Viau in Trent River—John Blakely, Dan Nolan to Rescue

Trenton, Dec. 23.—A near fatality cast its shadow on the people of Trenton yesterday when Francis Viau fell in the river and was very nearly drowned. This little boy who is about twelve years of age was walking home with his brother across the ice as it was a short cut for them. About midway across the river Francis fell in. His brother ran to the next street dock to get help. Immediately Mr. John Blakely and Mr. Dan Nolan took planks and went out on the ice as near the hole as they dared and managed to get a plank to the boy who was able to climb out. The water at the point at which the boy fell in is about twenty feet deep. The accident occurred just below the main bridge which crosses over Dundas Street and as it happened at twelve o'clock noon there were a large crowds present almost immediately. The boy arose in the water once and he was ahold of the ice and kicked vigorously with his feet to keep from sinking. He was greatly hampered in this because he had on a heavy overcoat at the time and he also had his bookbag on, as he had just come home from school. Great credit is due to the two men who risked their lives to save the boy and everybody who was talking about it this morning spoke in the very highest terms of commendation.

'SLAIN' BURIED DOG CAME HOME

REFUSED TO DIE

Executioners Appear in Oshawa Court for Cruelty to Animals

Oshawa, Dec. 22.—"Back from the Grave," would be a most appropriate title for a scene enacted a few days ago and which was revealed in police court.

A fine old bull dog developed a vicious attitude during the past few weeks, nearly chewed up a couple of children and attempted to do a similar stunt on two more. For the safety of the public it was duly decided that the bull dog should be executed. All preparations were made and one afternoon a few days ago, a shot rang out and a few seconds later the sound of another shot broke the quietness of the scene, the bull dog went limp, twitched and with a blow over the head from an iron bar in the hands of one of the executioners, the dog lay motionless. A grave was prepared and the dog was laid to rest under six inches of earth, and the executioners went their way trying to forget the deed that they had just been compelled to perform.

This story should end here. In most cases there would be little else to tell, but the most important part is to follow.

The dog passed and the executioners had nearly forgotten their deed and another day was drawing well to an end when there was a little commotion heard outside. The door was opened and in staggered a bedraggled bull dog, the dog of that had been killed two days before returning to forever haunt its executioners? A second look dispelled all thoughts of ghostly spirits—it was the bull dog himself "back from the grave." It staggered in and laid down.

CHRISTMAS

In about 60 hours or so Christmas will be over. In case to-morrow's paper is overlooked in the Christmas Eve rush we'll say it now—Merry Christmas to all good people, with everything the heart may desire. Though that could be overdone and it is quite conceivable if everyone got all they might desire some would later be very wretched. It is a truism that happiness consists not so much in possession as in anticipation. That is worth remembering if only to reconcile us to our deprivations.

What makes the Christmas season so very pleasant for all, and especially for young people is the eager looking forward to what the day will bring forth. We expect presents, for one thing, and it is nice to know that they will surely come and to wonder what they will be. Better than this, we are thinking about what we are going to give to others. We are planning big surprises for those we love. What keen enjoyment we got from thinking up suitable gifts and anticipating the satisfaction with which they will be received! That, indeed, is what is meant by the spirit of Christmas—it is the time of the year, above all others, when we forget ourselves and think about those around us, and by so doing we are made happy. "It is more blessed to give than to receive." That is a Bible text, and it is a sublime statement of an eternal truth. It is hard to define the real meaning of "blessed"—it is something higher than happy; it has to be felt to be understood. There is a blessing about Christmas which is absolutely unique. It comes first, of course, from its sacred associations, and, secondly from the fact that we are giving—pouring out our love with our little presents—and by giving we are receiving in return that which is much more precious than material things, namely, contentment.

When we consider what Christmas means, we see why it is that it brings such delight. The season commemorates the most stupendous fact in the world's history —the manifestation on earth in human form of the divine love. Our Christmas ideas are, therefore, first of love, human and divine. Love is all that is essential to real happiness, and when we give our affections free scope, as we do at this season, we prove the truth of the saying that the greatest of the virtues is love.

If we could only get in the habit of acting right through the year as we do at Christmas time this would be a much happier world and we should all be very much more satisfied with conditions and with ourselves. And why should we not form such a kindly habit, so much to be desired? Let us at least try to-day and to-morrow and days will be blessed. Once again, a merry Christmas and a peasant holiday to all our young readers.

BE CAUTIOUS

Death lurks behind every lighted Christmas tree.

This is the gist of the warning which has been issued by the Canadian Fire Underwriters Association of Toronto. The startling statement is warranted in face of the tragic toll of deaths from fire which invariably follow in the wake of Christmas celebrations. Here are a few precautions which should be followed for the reduction of the risk necessarily entailed when inflammable materials enter into the celebration of Christmas:

1. All fabrics for decration purposes should be immersed in a solution of Commercial Ammonium Phosphate in the proportion of one pound of Phosphate to one gallon of water. If then slightly wrung and dried they will offer considerable resistence to fire until again washed.

2. If this is not practicable, a few simple precautions may reduce the danger to a minimum, and these should be considered essential where large numbers of people and particularly children are to be gathered.

3. See that inflammable material is clear of and not hung over heating and lighting devices, steampipes, stovepipes, electric light bulbs, etc.

4. See that your electrical circuits are properly fused and not overloaded by the addition of temporary lights.

5. Examine your fire extinguishing appliances and see that they are sufficient, in good order and readily accessible.

6. See that all exits are plainly marked and not obstructed.

The final in junction is the most impressive. "Remember", it says, "that nothing can render these displays absolutely safe, and that if accidents are not to mar the festive season, constant vigilance and care must be exercised."

AT YORKTOWN

At the Pan-American Congress in New York a resolution was adopted which proposed the establishment of a "world-forum" at Yorktown, Va., for national and international congresses "as a memorial to the winning of the freedom of the western world."

Yes, we think that Hon. Mr. Robb did well to call Mr. Hudd to task for presuming to speak for Canada at the congress when he said that this country sympathizes with Pan-American ideals and aims and is ready to join the Pan-American organization:

Yorktown is where General Cornwallis hemmed in by the French fleet on the one hand and by the French and American armies on the other, surrendered his little army to General Washington. It is because Yorktown was the scene of the surrender of the British commander in the war o the revolution that it has been chosen as the rediquarters of the Pan-American congress.

Would it not be strange if Canada by her participation in the congress as a member, were to acknowledge that through the Yorktown surrender "the freedom of the western world" was won? Canada did not contribute to this alleged winning of freedom—had no part in it—did not sympathize with it; and yet Canada is quite free and does not admit that her freedom is due to the taking of Yorktown.

This country should not be drawn into Pan-Americanism.

DISCIPLINED

Colonel William Mitchell, the most picturesque and one of the ablest officers of the U.S. military air service, has been convicted by a military court of breach of discipline and suspended without pay for five years.

The offence of Colonel Mitchell consisted in public criticism of the conduct of the air service and of the war department generally. He openly charged the department heads with incompetence and even "criminal neglect". His defenders claim that his criticism and his accusations were justified by facts. Others held that his prosecution is a violation of the right of free speech.

Neither of the grounds of defence is sound. Even if the abuses which Mitchell charged did exist, he was not justified, while remaining in the service, in directing public attention to them. His representations should have been made to his superior officers. If his efforts to improve conditions were of no avail, then, before making public charges, it was his duty to resign his commission. But in the investigation made by the military court it was shown that there was very little ground for Mitchell's charges.

As for the alleged interference with the right of free speech, that complaint is absurd. Even in a civilian free speech has its limitations. The citizen who abuses that right is apt to get into trouble. The right does not give him the privilege of slandering others or of uttering indecencies in public or of inciting others to commit crimes. But in an army officer license of speech, when it takes the form of public criticism of his superior officers is clearly a breach of discipline. It tends to reflect upon the service and to undermine discipline. If it were permitted or condoned, consider the inevitable result. Not only would every subordinate officer be at liberty to denounce in public any of his superiors whom he dislikes, but the men in the ranks would not be denied the same privilege. Under such conditions it would be impossible to maintain discipline and the army would degenerate into a mob or become divided into factions—a force not to be depended upon in an emergency.

A Heart's Triumph

By Effie Adelaide Rowlands.

Cecil's eyes met him with an unspoken question. He bowed his head before he answered her. Then, in a low voice, he gave her the news:

"He is dead!"

She did not cry, she only trembled. Her eyes went out of the window to where the old familiar trees were beginning to show against the clear, cold dawn. Her whole life, since the ship put her vision in this instant, her youth seemed to die, and with it her peace, and her knowledge of happiness.

A wildness of fear fell upon her.

"Oh, father, father!" she cried aloud, and she rose to her feet with her hands pressed to her heart. She looked at Felix with unseeing eyes. "He has left me alone!" she said, with the accents of a terrified child. "I am all alone; I have no one in the world but my father, and he has gone! I—I——"

Felix caught her in his arms as she swayed on her feet.

"No," he said softly, in her ear, as she fell across his shoulder—"no, you are not alone, Cecil. You shall never be alone again. I am here to give you all my life. I am strong. I can protect you, and I love you, Cecil! I love you! Open your eyes and let me read that you hear my words and that you receive them."

Cecil's head moved on his breast; then it was raised, the heavy eyelids uplifted, and the soul of the girl was revealed. The next instant the heavy cloud of unconsciousness had swept over her again, and Felix, laying her back in the chair, went to rouse the house and to tell the inmates that their master was dead.

CHAPTER V.

IN THE SHADOWS

The beautiful September night was followed by a day that was cold, gloomy, and distinctly autumnal—a day cheerless enough under all circumstances, but doubly so now at the White Abbey, when death, sudden and most unlooked for, had visited the old house, and the current of the busy, curious life that had swayed its destinies so long lay stilled, silent, and grim in the last long sleep.

The news of Sir Charles' death fell upon all his servants as a blow. None had loved him, yet all had found him a master worthy to be served, and all felt now that they had lost one who was in a sense a friend to them, for waves had trembled its master. He mourned and he got servants of an unusual order, and he was prepared to pay high wages for such servants. The blank look on the faces of all these men matched the look of the cold, gloomy day.

Paul Darnley, although he was a strong nature, could not resist the chilling influence of his surroundings. He had sent a message to Cecil's room that she was to leave all things in his hands and that he and Doctor Thorold would arrange matters for her as well as was possible.

Felix Bingham had gone back to his uncle's little house early in the morning, but he had told Darnley that he should wish to be summoned to attend at he should return with Doctor Thorold and that he would hold himself in readiness to serve Miss Lacklyne in any way in his power.

"While I suppose I am, in a sense, a stranger, the events of the past night apart from the fact that my uncle was a real friend of Sir Charles', seem to give me the right to feel that I, too, am Miss Lacklyne's friend. Under any circumstances I suppose I had better remain."

"You do not consider there will be any need for an inquiry into the death?" Paul asked hurriedly.

Doctor Bingham shook his head.

"Oh, No. My uncle as well as myself can testify to all the symptoms. The death, though sudden, was not an unusual one. I meant that I had better remain to officiate further for my uncle, should his services be required. I fear it is just possible Miss Lacklyne may be very ill, after all this mental strain."

Darnley nodded.

"It is an awful coil," he said, in a low voice. "I wish I could see a clear outlook. I shall be glad when Sir Charles' old comes. I would prefer to act will him."

"Are you an executor or trustee?" Felix queried; and his eyes narrowed a little as he looked at the honest face of the man beside him.

"Not to my knowledge. In fact, I don't know even if poor Lacklyne has made a will. His affairs were so involved because I fear I am the only person apart from your uncle, to whom the household can turn. Long as I have known them, I have never heard either her or her father speak of kinspeople. The girl seemed quite alone in the world. She is right regard the circumstances of last night as being, since only too familiar."

"Did Sir Charles make any refutation of what this woman said?" Felix asked.

It was highly necessary for him to know exactly everything there was to know. He had taken a great step already. Still there was always time for him to draw back if he found complications arising that would make Cecil's position less assured and less desirable.

"He never uttered a sound. It all happened so suddenly I cannot even now tell you exactly what occurred," Darnley answered. "He had been in the workshop together, where Lacklyn had been explaining all his latest inventions and improvements—for follow! He was a wonderful chap in his way—and we had strolled back to the house, smoking and chatting. He stood at the cab standing at the door rouse Lacklyne's anger. He was quick to fly into a rage over small things, as perhaps you have heard. He imagined it was some one from the town; possibly one of the officers come to hunt him up for some reason or other—they had a trick of doing this—and he entered the house in a fury.

"There were no servants about. The woman had walked in unannounced, and she stood and freed us with a smile on her lips that gave me a sudden cold. The instant Lacklyne saw her he staggered back as if he had received a blow. Instinctively I put my arm before him and dragged him, I scarcely know how, into the dining-room, and put him into a chair. The woman followed us into the room, and seeing that Lacklyne's power of speech had apparently deserted him, I addressed her sharply and asked her business. Her reply was very much to the point. She informed me, in a few curt words, that she had every right to be where she was; that she was Charles Lacklyne's lawful wife, and, therefore, mistress of his house.

"And he said nothing to this?" Felix asked eagerly, as Paul Darnley paused.

"I have told you," Darnley said, half-impatiently, "he never spoke again after the shock he had at seeing her."

Felix's handsome face clouded.

"This looks dreadfully like a confirmation of what she said. It is a hard business for Miss Lacklyne."

His brows met in a frown. Had he been too hasty to act? was the thought that came to his mind, and then he dismissed it. After all, what had he done? Nothing, in one sense, while it might be everything in another. If it were to be proved that this woman could by her claim rob Cecil substantially of her father's fortune—well, matters could be no worse than for him to pass completely out of touch with the girl, thus making it seem that the world he had spoken so deliberately the night before were but the fancied utterance of some dream brought about by the agitated condition of her mind? On the other hand, if Cecil's claim of Lacklyne's wealth was, indeed, what his uncle had declared it to be, those few words would serve as a foundation for future action, and Felix had no half measures in his mind concerning this future.

NATIONAL SPIRIT TOPIC OF APPEAL

Mr. E. W. Beatty Addresses Meeting of Commercial Travellers

VITAL TO PROSPERITY

Problem of Canadian Unity Deserves Serious Attention.

Montreal, Que., Dec. 23.—In addressing the annual dinner that last night marked the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Canadian Commercial Travellers' Association, Mr. E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, made a strong appeal on behalf of the gospel of a national spirit in Canada, and called upon the travelling men present whose duties he said, gave them a singularly favorable opportunity to do so, to make the economic interests and special problems of the East known and appreciated in the West and vice versa, and to assist in bringing about a feeling of sympathetic understanding and good-will that would supplement the barriers of sectional prejudice and make for a strong spirit of national unity.

Mr. Beatty said that he had less hesitation in mentioning some of the associations of the Canadian Pacific with this country because of its history and because of the increasing extent to which it is being owned in this country and also because it represents the spirit behind every Canadian enterprise, viz: The confidence in the future of our country the belief that Canada should support and encourage their undertakings if wisely conceived, honestly financed and efficiently administered.

"The Canadian Pacific," he said, "has always been controlled within the British Empire. It was national in its conception and in its execution, though it has always been permitted to enjoy the blessings of private administration. It was the link which made Confederation possible, and without it or some similar agency Canada would still have remained a series of un-united provinces and could not have reached its present stage of development."

ONLY ON THRESHOLD

The speaker pointed out that the potentialities of Canada had been in many respects remarkable, but that its area was so tremendous and its population so relatively small that Canada could not claim to have done more than make a beginning. Unlike the fairly easy settlement conditions which had existed in the United States when the population moved steadily west from one coast to the other, meeting with the fewest possible obstacles, Canada had from the beginning faced a 4000-mile breach from Sudbury to Fort William and that physical separation provoked in time a separation of mental attitude which had been responsible for considerable of the misunderstandings or lack of appreciation of the respective problems of the two portions of the country.

"The problem of Canadian unity," said Mr. Beatty, "is so vital to our prosperity that it deserves more serious attention than any other and all our other problems are directly or indirectly affected by it.

"The two factors which probably play a more important part than any other in this connection are the press and the commercial travelers. The influence of the first reached many thousands of people and upon the fairness of their attitude and their appreciation of the people and needs of other portions of Canada will depend in a large measure the view formed by their readers. The great masses of Canadians do not understand the problems of other and more remote, parts of their country. The newspapers of the country discuss those problems from either a broad or a narrow standpoint and they discuss the attitude of the people towards those problems either appreciatively or critically, as the case may be. I have a great appreciation for those who fight for a principle but I have a greater regard for the wisdom of those who realize the strength of moderation in controversy and debates. Our Canadian newspapers have a wonderful opportunity to accelerate the realization of the spirit of this confederation by their method of dealing with the problems which have to do with the country's commercial and agricultural prosperity and happiness of its people as part of one's family."

PIRATES OVERPOWERED ANGLO-CHINESE VESSEL

Hong Kong, December 23.—The steamer Tungchow, bound from Shanghai for Tientsin, has been captured by pirates.

The Tungchow had on board several foreign passengers including Mr. McAfee of the American Oriental Bank, Mr. Sharp of the British American Tobacco Company, and H. G. W. Woodhead, editor of the Peking and Tientsin Times.

The Tungchow was taken by the pirates 200 miles south of Weihsiwan and run from there to Miao Tao in South China, a noted pirate resort.

There the pirates took off a quantity of specie and other valuables and permitted the ship to proceed to Hong Kong.

GRAND DUKE IS NOT ILL

Rumor Regarding Former Russian Army Head Denied

Paris, Dec. 23.—Reports that former Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch of Russia was seriously ill at Vienna were denied today by M. Krosovsky, leader of the Czarist movement here. Nicholas is in good health, he stated, and is still residing at his country place near Paris.

William and that physical separation provoked in time a separation of mental attitude which had been responsible for considerable of the misunderstandings or lack of appreciation of the respective problems of the two portions of the country.

"The problem of Canadian unity," said Mr. Beatty, "is so vital to our prosperity that it deserves more serious attention than any other and all our other problems are directly or indirectly affected by it.

"The two factors which probably play a more important part than any other in this connection are the press and the commercial travelers. The influence of the first reached many thousands of people and upon the fairness of their attitude and their appreciation of the people and needs of other portions of Canada will depend in a large measure the view formed by their readers. DISCUSS DEATH OF KITCHENER

W. C. Bridgeman Tells Commons Hampshire Struck German Mine

London, Dec. 23.—The First Lord of the Admiralty, W. C. Bridgeman, in a statement to the House of Commons today, fully denied recent Bolshevist reports that the Admiralty had withheld from the public important documents which would throw a new light upon the sinking of H.M.S. Hampshire and the consequent death of Lord Kitchener.

Mr. Bridgeman said: "The Admiralty have no doubt whatever that H.M.S. Hampshire struck a German mine laid by the U.75, a mine-laying submarine which had been sent out to watch the Cromarty and Pentland Firths in preparation for the German naval sortie which resulted in the battle of Jutland."

Ever since Kitchener's death there have been persistent reports to the subject in the British press. It has been variously reported that the Russians were responsible, that German spies in England knew of the sailing of the Hampshire and notified Berlin, and more recently, that spies had been found aboard the warship before the travel . . .

Regarding the last named report, the First Lord said: "The allegation that spies had on a former occasion been found on the Hampshire are had been shot is ridiculous, wicked fabrication." . . .

He declared the Hampshire had gone down in from twenty-five to forty minutes after striking the mine.

21 STATES INTERESTED

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 22.—Twenty-one states will be represented at the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence tide water congress here January 5 and 6, under the plan proposed the water route would connect middle western states direct with eastern ports through aid of Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River.

Get-Rich-Quick in Big Rush For Key-largo

PIRATE HOARD DUG UP

Ancient Mariner who Found $250,000 Worth Intends To See Life

Key-largo City, Fla., December 28. —Captain Bill Lafton, who dug up a quarter of 4 million dollars worth of pirate treasure on the shore of Angel Fish Creek on Key-largo after a search of twenty-five years, is planning a "grand bust", with his doubloons and pieces of eight. The old captain spent the night in meeting the twenty-five jars of gold, assisted by his three armed cronies, Parson Brown, Matey and Jenkins.

Seated in the kitchen of his strange house, a dwelling put together out of the timbers of ships that have gone down off Key-largo, Captain Bill screwed his weather-beaten phiz into a shrewd grin and outlined his plans for the immediate future:

"The first thing I'm goin' to do," said the ancient mariner, "is buy me a private Pullman car and go to New York. I've been out of the Keys and I've spent twenty-five years diggin' for this money and now that I've found it I ain't goin' to put it in a bank. Before I start gallivantin' I was takin' pineapples to Havana and I've found that I was fair game for spongers off Key-largo. I ain't had much time to look around.

"Now that I got all this gold I'm goin' to spend it just like the pirate who buried it would have spent it if he'd had a chance. I'm goin' to hire me a whole theatre in New York and have all the girls play in it for me. Then I'm goin' to hire me a little hotel in New York and have fifty different people waitin' on me. And I'm goin' to take along one of these hesh jazz bands on my private Pullman and have them play for me wherever I want them to.

"The only thing that I'm worryin' about now is about leaving Key-largo. There is lots more gold buried here and I got two more charts—one I got off an old cap'tain that I paid $50 for more than 30 years ago. I ain't ever been able to look for them other treasures on account of not being able to afford any divers. But I'm goin' to hire me a dozen divers and let them to work right off.

There's a lot of people in Key-largo City I'm goin' to take along to New York with me. I'm makin' up my guest list now. This treasure found ain't nothin' to what I'll find now that I have divers. I'm just goin' to blow it in an' enjoy myself, and when I get tired of New York I'll put my private Pullman on one of the big boats and go to Paris, France.

GIRL SKI JUMPER TO BE AT QUEBEC

Isabel Coursier of Revelstoke, B.C., to Repeat Daring Leaps

Montreal, Que., Dec. 22.—Miss Isabel Coursier, world's champion woman ski jumper, is scheduled to give an exhibition of her skill on the ski jump at the Provincial Winter Sports Club at Quebec on December 30th, weather permitting, according to information reaching the tourist department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, here today. The occasion will be the International Inter-Collegiate ski competition. Miss Coursier, it will be remembered during the Revelstoke, B.C. ski tournament in February, 1922, when she established a record for women by making a standing jump of 91 feet. She is a member of the famous Revelstoke Ski Club which has produced so many celebrated ski jumpers. One of her most sensation acts occurred on the Fourth of July, 1923, in the height of summer when with the late President Harding among the spectators at his official seat, she ascended glacier mantled Mount Rancier, in the state of Washington, and gave an exhibition ski jump. She was awarded a special trophy for this. Her appearance at the Quebec winter sports is another guarantee of the sensational nature of the big winter carnival to be staged this season at the ancient capital.

Y.M.C.A Sports

Extra Swimming Periods for Boys at the "Y" During Holidays

Due to the untiring efforts of caretaker Tyner, and 4 filter plant that is functioning almost 100% the water in the Y Swimming pool was never in better condition than it is at the present time. Clear and sparkling, falls to describe it. Also great attention to the heating of the water, the temperature is kept at the Ontario Government regulation, 72F. Daily the ortho-tolidin test is applied following chlorination and filtration of the complete contents of the pool, some eighteen thousand gallons, thus assuring a swimming pool free from bacteria at all times. This latter test is able to be made due to the co-operation of the Department of Health of Ontario, which supplies the necessary testing equipment.

Because of the peculiar formation of the Bay of Quinte water which has a considerable amount of a vegetable matter, the Scairfe Pressure Filter in use by the Association will not wholly remove this fine sediment which is so much finer than the sand of the filter that it passes through. By use of alum, this fine sediment is precipitated to the bottom of the pool from whence it is removed after settling, by a syphon vacuum cleaner which operates from the ordinary city pressure.

To get the water of the swimming pool in its present crystal, clear state, is a matter of considerable expense but it is thought to be well worth while by the directors on account of the results obtained. Undoubtedly the water in the Y pool is decidedly more inviting to swimmers than the ordinary water as supplied through our taps, would be. But do not take anybody's word for it. Drop in at the Y and inspect it yourself and the probable result will be that you will want to follow up your inspection with a swim.

During the holiday period the pool will be in daily use by the membership to a greater degree than ever. In the mornings at 10.00 a.m. the Peps and Juniors will be given a "Daily Dip". Afternoons and evenings open to the intermediate and senior groups. Thursday as usual, open to the Ladies.

NEW YORK WON IN BRUIN LAIR

Star-Spangled Outfit Were Luckier Than Boston, 3-2

Boston, Dec 23.—The New Americans also beat Boston. It was by the close score of 3-2 and it was nearly done.

Boston threatened first as play opened at a fast pace but Forbes stopped fierce attacks by Stuart, Cooper and Herberts New York, however, was the first to score, with Americans forward line working their short passing game to pass Boston's defence and McKinnon beat Stewart with a pretty shot from close in. The time was 3.17.

The Bruins missed some great chances by failing to have somebody in front of the enemy nets to receive passes. New York outplayed, the locals for their second goal when the period was less than 10 minutes old.

Burch went down the ice with Red Green, fated a pass when a few feet out, and drove the rubber past Stewart. The time was 9.45.

Acrobatic goal tending by Forbes saved New York as the Bruin forwards rushed to seek vengeance.

Boston evened matters in the second period and when the final opened the crowd was howling for them to go in and win the game. Instead they let the other fellows do it. New York scored one counter, enough to allow them to take home the bacon. Mike Rodden refereed.

HOCKEY LEAGUE TO COME LATER

Meeting Last Evening Was Fizzle—Too Busy With Christmas

Though six or seven local industries were represented at a meeting of those interested in a senior City Hockey League, at the Y.M.C.A. Tuesday night, no definite business was done. It was decided to hold another meeting either during Christmas week or early in the New Year.

Probably the fact that everyone including hockey players and fans, are engrossed in Christmas and holiday thoughts was the cause of the small attendance and apparent lack of enthusiasm. At a meeting held in the new year, probably a large turnout would be seen.

In the meantime, the rink management and other business pertinent to the success of a City League will be delved into.

At a meeting held Tuesday noon at the Carthage Machinery Company Ltd., it was decided to organize an industrial hockey team there. From the nine or more employees of this plant, it is believed that the nucleus of a fast Industrial team may be found there.

HERE'S FILM WHERE WOMAN-HATER LOSES

Belle Theatre Book Laugh Picture "I'll Show You the Town"

As a warning to all persons who dwell in flats or apartment houses, "I'll Show You the Town," the Universal Jewel feature comes to the Belle theatre, commencing tomorrow.

Professor Dupree, as played by Reginald Denny, is an avowed hater of women and of the genial life—so called. In his flat, in the heart of a great metropolis, he has locked himself up to re-construct on his dissertation on "Apartment House Life in Ancient Rome."

The book might have been written and published and Professor Dupree might have become a famous author or a political economist or something of the kind—but alas! the sympathetic professor, when he had moved his baggage into his comfy flat had not taken into consideration his neighbors. Most of the laughs in "I'll Show You the Town" are furnished by the extremely funny relationship between Denny and his neighbors, who, with great brutality prevent him from carrying out the completion of his great work.

PARKER'S WHITE DESERT "GREAT OUT-DOOR SCENE"

Avalanche of Snow is "Shot" to Great Danger of Those in Picture

Although it was made under the most perilous conditions, "The White Desert," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production directed by Reginald Barker, which is coming to the Griffin Theatre Thursday, is reported to be the greatest outdoor drama that has ever been screened.

The terrifying beauty of the great stretches of snow land at the top of the California's Divide in Chilcoot, known as the White Desert, has been transferred to the screen in a manner that defies description, according to advance information.

The story was adapted from the popular novel by Courtney Ryley Cooper and is based on the struggles of a railroad company to drill a tunnel through the Rocky Mountains. An avalanche started by the blasting in the tunnel sweeps away the construction camp and the survivors are left without food and in the grip of a blizzard to battle their way to the outer world.

Claire Windsor reaches new heights in this picture, it is said. Pat O'Malley and Robert Fraser are reported to have never given finer screen portrayals than in this gripping production.

SEVENTY MEN ESCAPE THROUGH AIR SHAFT

Fire Had Broken Out in Workings Of Ohio Coal Mine

Wheeling, W. Va., Dec. 23.—Seventy men in Webb mine of the O. M. Frazer Coal Company, two miles from Shadyside, Ohio, escaped through an air shaft when fire broke out in the workings. Nine others believed to be all the workmen remaining in the mine, were reported to have reached the bottom of an air shaft and to be out of immediate danger.

Word of the safety of the seventy men was received here from Lot Jenkins, deputy Ohio state mine inspector, who with a crew of volunteer workers took charge of the rescue work.

Jenkins reported the fire had been confined to one entry.

WHOLE COURSE OF EVOLUTION NOW DEPICTED

New Peabody Museum of Yale First of Kind In U.S.

FROM AMOEBA TO MAN

Chronological Arrangement of Specimens Covers Millions of Years

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 23.—The Peabody Museum of Natural History of Yale University, now housed in a modern new building and arranged after a plan to show the progress of evolution, which has never been worked out before in this country, was opened to-day to a few visitors. The formal dedication and opening will be on December 29th, when scientists from many institutions and organizations will attend.

DEMONSTRATION

The museum is arranged for study and demonstration primarily, and because of this it was possible for Professor Richard Lull, director of the museum, to do what would be difficult in a museum for the general public, and use only such specimens as enabled him to reconstruct the story of evolution from the Amoebe to man. He has discarded whatever did not fit into this general plan, and has written in the cases of the lower rooms a chronological narrative that covers millions of years.

The result is extremely striking, for as the visitor moves from case to case he finds before him at a glance all the distinguishing characteristics of the life of a period made graphic with the aid of charts and labels, and, whiterver possible, a recent descendant of some ancient fossil by means of which development through the ages is forcibly impressed on the mind. It is a museum built around labels and a narrative.

SPECIMENS

Some exhibits show in just a few specimens the vast alterations which have taken place in animals, and occasionally one finds a shell fish which has exhibited so little ambition that it has not progressed at all. Evolution ceased to interest obviously creature about 70,000,000 years ago, for he looks so much like his modern descendant that side by side they can hardly be told apart, and they bear the same name.

The horse crab is one instance of was much more like a bird it still bow inertia can overcome even the law of evolution, for this useless and clumsy looking armored crab with a tail, which one sees so often on the seashore after a storm, has merely grown a little bigger since he left his imprint on a bed of mud millions of years ago. He built his house so well that he never came out of it.

NIGHTMARISH REPTILE

Some of the reptiles became ambitious, however, and in the big hall of the museum is shown what a vast urge to get ahead in the world can do for something that was born a nightmare of a reptile, with a head as long as its body, and a pair of wings which enabled it to fly. And it had teeth. That was the beginning of the bird family, and one of the fossil birds found by Professor Marsh in Kansas was a descendant of this pterodactyl, for although it

QUEEN MOTHER SPENT FORTUNE

Great Pension and Private Estate Is Exhausted

KENNELS TO BE SOLD

Collections of Fine Dogs Likely to be Auctioned by Representatives

London, Dec. 23.—With the court strictly in seclusion mourning for Queen Alexandra, the social season is the quietest ever known at this unusually busy pre-Christmas period. Few functions are being given by the notables who as a rule are devoting themselves exclusively to preparations for Christmas festivities to be confined solely to their families.

King George and Queen Mary are at Sandringham engaged in straightening out the affairs of the Queen Mother who are understood to be somewhat tangled owing to Alexandra's gorgeous and even indiscriminate donations to charities. Royal wills are never published, but it is reliably reported that she left practically nothing for her children and grandchildren despite the fact that she was left well provided for at King Edward's death. In addition she had received since that date from the government an annual allowance of £70,000 ($350,000) as the King's widow.

Queen Alexandra was famous for her benefactions many of which were entirely unexpected. It is an open secret that so many were the demands upon her that she was accustomed to pledge her pension for long periods in advance in order to subscribe to some object or some charity which interested her.

Her residence at Sandringham was only for life and so reverts automatically to King George and straightway he finds himself with quite a problem on his hands. That refers to the future of the very extensive dog kennels on the estate which were the Queen's personal property. She was passionately fond of dogs and gathered or bred a remarkable collection. Inasmuch as no other members of the Royal family even unto the second generation take an equal interest in the animals the only way out seems to be by dispersal sale.

There is no doubt that such an auction will prove a great attraction for dog lovers not only of the Continent, but of the United States as well, which naturally would be reflected in keen bidding. This will be not only because of the sentimental or social advantage of having a specimen from the Royal kennels but because of the advertising value of the same. Furthermore, it is well known to experts that the kennels include some of the most perfect specimens of the canine world and already inquiries have been received from America asking when the auction is to take place.

The buyer is a Toronto man named Walker and the store will be known as "The Walker Store." It will continue, as it has, under the McIntosh regime, to be a high class dry goods store.

A Merry Christmas To All

The Intelligencer to-day presents Christmas Greetings from leaders in the Community. These gentlemen join with this newspaper in wishing all the compliments of the season. It has been a merry and bright pre-Christmas season. If one reads the signs aright it will be a busy and prosperous and therefore relatively Happy New Year. May these aforementioned signs be proper and substantial criteria may it be your Yuletide Season.

From W. E. Tummon, M.P., for South Hastings.

To the people of the Riding of South Hastings.

To every one of you I send best wishes for the Christmas season and the New Year which holds so much in store for South Hastings and the country at large. The destinies of this great nation can be worked out only by happy and contented people. That we may enter the oncoming season with that attitude of mind is my heartiest wish today.

W. E. Tummon.

From Rev. D. C. Ramsay, John Street Church.

It is no accident that Christmas and the New Year come close together and form one happy holiday season. Obviously it occurs so that we may carry over into the new-born year the spirit of Christmas kindliness and good will. It is inevitable that in the course of a year of living, misunderstandings should arise and sometimes lead to strife, and strife to grudges. May all these die in us with the dying year, and may the New Year make more real to us the spirit of Christmas—"Glory to God in the Highest, and earth peace, good-will toward men."

Douglas Ramsay

From Rev. L. S. Wight, B.A.B.D., pastor of Holloway Street Church.

On this gracious and hallowed Christmas Day we gladly accept this opportunity of extending to every one friendly Greetings and hearty Good Wishes. We desire for all a Christmastide of Peace, Plenty and good health, made glad by the gifts of love, friendships and sweet memories. May we all experience the joy and peace of Christmas as we recall the greatness of God's best Gift. (John 3:16).

L. S. Wight.

From the Rev. F. E. Malott, B.A., D.D., Bridge Street Church.

Christmas brings a universal message and yet a message as personal as if it were addressed to each of us by name. "Unto you is born this day a Savior who is Christ the Lord". May this Christmas time be such a time of joy to all the people of Belleville as the Christ in the little town of Bethlehem. May all gloom be banished from our religion and from our lives and may happiness come to us today through giving happiness to others. May Christ be the centre of interest still as He was nineteen centuries ago, for He alone gives brightness and beauty, gladness and glory to the whole circle of life and duty. Let all strife cease and let this Christmas time be as Charles Dickens puts it, a good time, a kind, forgiving, charitable, pleasant time, and may none of the old years animosities be carried out into the new year. My wish for all the people of Belleville is that they may have A Happy Christmas and a bright and joyous New Year.

F. E. Malott.

From Rev. C. R. Marshall, Rector of Emmanuel Reformed Episcopal Church.—"Glory to God in the Highest, and on Earth Peace, Good-will Toward men. Emmanuel Church unites in the season's great chorus of praise to the Giver of all Good, and devoutly wishes every citizen a Happy Christmas and a Prosperous New Year.

George Marshall

From Rev. R. C. Stewart, B.D., of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

To my beloved people, the Presbyterians in Belleville the Beautiful.

I wish you all a very happy Xmas and a New Year of religious peace and goodwill. May no conflict of past days leave a scar upon the human soul to disfigure its beauty or limit its strength, but with chastened minds and impassioned souls, let us reconsecrate our lives, redouble our efforts, and rededicate our services for the work of the Kingdom, for religious liberty and for the great old Church in to which our fathers lived and died, and through whose portals they entered to church triumphant. That she may still go forward, "free as the sun, clear as the moon and terrible as an army with banners."

R. C. Stewart.

TURKEYS DEARER MARKET MEAGRE

As High as 55 Cents a lb Asked—Little Stir Is Seen

About the only part of the Christmas turkey market to-day that could be called that this morning was the last despairing squawk it gave as the axe fell on the head. Although the offerings were few in number the prices asked were very high, turkey having taken a jump from four-five cents to fifty-five cents a pound since Tuesday, but some fine birds weighing as high as nineteen pounds were offered. For wings of the deceased 5 cents was asked.

Geese fell off in price selling at $1.25 to $3, while ducklings were up at $1.60 and 1 picked from this morning one woman asserted, and as her coat looked as though she had slept on a feather bed, no one had any cause to doubt her word.

Chickens which looked like debutante turkeys sold at $1.25 a pair and as low as 75 cents each. Drake brought 30 cents a pair for the whipping variety and 25 for table cream.

Butter sold at 40 cents per pound, level while eggs took a drop (figuratively) to fifty and fifty-five cents a dozen for fresh stocks only.

THE OUTSIDE MARKET

The outside market was small, 1 little better on sale but turnips and apples both bringing 75 cents a bushel. They're the best substitute we have for potatoes pay more" a farmer stated "and they do fine" referring to the former.

Beef brought from 8 to 20 cents a pound according to cut and pork from 18 to 25 cents.

TIPS OF HAIRDRESSER $4,800 IN ONE YEAR

Paris, Dec. 24.—What can a women's hair-dresser in Paris make in tips? Or rather what can he make, as none of the better class receive a fixed wage? L'Opinion says it happens by chance to be in a position to state that at least one worker's hairdressing (and it gives his name "Eugene" and says where he works) receives more than 120,000 francs a year. The remainder, at a low rate of exchange, more than $4,800 a year.

"Eugene" doubtless hopes that the income tax authorities do not read "L'Opinion."

ROBINS WERE HERE, DISAPPEAR IN COLD

Two happy appearing robins were seen in a tree on Charlotte street Monday, but had not been seen today. Monday was dull but milder than "the day before Christmas", with its blanket of Christmas snow and colder weather.

The birds quickly picked up crumbs which were offered, and though cast off the birds aspected to have a broken pinion, they were apparently standing the weather very well.

CONTINUE TOIL IN THE HARBOR

Men Are Clearing Ice Away Block by Block Still Hoping

Mr. Harry Smith and his men constitue their disheartening task of clearing the waters of Victoria Harbor in the grim and determined effort to bring to light the body of Bernard Brown, 9, and Eugene Ellsworth, 10, who last Saturday crashed through the thin edge of ice which bordered the stream behind Tindale's Beat House.

The work of cutting the ice into huge cakes goes on. They are dragged out to the shore so as not to interfere with future operations of rescue. There is little else to do but hope and work in the effort to wrest the two bodies from the icy grip which, in natural course of events, would not disgorge its burden until Spring winds melt the ice.

In the meantime, the sharp contrast between the feeling of joy and good will which pervades Belleville and the Christian world to-day and the devitalizing enervation which reigns in the hearts of two families who were so swiftly and completely bereaved, is a picture which has evoked a spirit of helpless sympathy to fringe the dominating prevalence of holiday contentment.

The unlighted Christmas trees and unboxed presents are conjured up in the minds of those citizens whose preferred aid has been enlisted.

WIFE OF SCOTT FACING THREAT OF DEPORTATION

Spouse of Man Who is Missing Not the One Still in Asylum

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 24.—Deportation to Canada today faced a young woman who yesterday gave her name as Ethel Howard, but who later, under questioning, admitted she was the wife of Robert Scott, upon whose head the police of Cook County, Illinois have placed a price. Scott is wanted in connection with the killing of a clerk in a Chicago holdup a year ago. His brother himself is serving a life sentence in an Illinois Asylum for the insane on the same charge, having escaped hanging after a sensational fight against great odds. Mrs. Robert Scott insists she does not know her husband's whereabouts.

"He left me more than three years ago," she said. With Mrs. Scott when she was arrested on a apartment in Stinson Place, was a man who called himself Jack Davis.

CIVIL POWERS ARE TAKEN TO TASK BY THE VATICAN

Pope Declares Religion Sub ordinated By Governments

ALL REFUSE CHRIST

Festival Will Recall Evils Each Year and Pray For Remedy

Rome, December 24.—Pope Pius XI has published an encyclical, in which he introduces into the liturgy a special Festival of the Redeemer.

The Holy Father reveals that the programme of his pontificate "is the peace of Christ in the kingdom of Christ." His encyclical accepts civics, including the missionary expedition, various canonizations, and the centenary of the council of Nicea, all of which, he declares, have seen a bestowing of the realization of the kingdom.

Therefore he believes it opportune to close Holy Year by establishing a special festival for Christ's events. "Jesus is to be venerated by all Catholics and a remedy hastened to present evils."

The encyclical decries the effects of the present system, by which governments are entrusted to the laity, and in which the Christian religion is placed on the same level as all others and required to submit to the civil powers. The Pontiff expresses the hope that these evils will be remedied by solemnly recalling each year throughout the world the Kingdom of Christ, with the hope of having it recognized by international institutions and laws and not denied as now.

UNIVERSAL FORMULA

His Holiness sets the last Sunday in October for the festivity of the Kingdom of Christ. On that day a world-wide formula will be read in all churches pronouncing "mankind to the heart of Jesus." This year the formula will be read on December 31 on the occasion of the service to be held by the Pope in St. Peter's.

The encyclical emphasizes that the Church, established by Christ as a perfect society claims as its own right, which it cannot renounce, full liberty and independence from the State, and with it, because it is exercising its divine ministry of teaching, ruling and conducting men to eternal happiness, the Church cannot be dependent upon the arbitrary rule of any other power. In conclusion the encyclical says that the duty to acknowledge and obey Christ is incumbent not merely upon private individuals but also upon rulers and judges.

It admonishes these civil authorities that if they do not fulfil this duty they will in due time have to account to God.

HYDRO EMPLOYES HAD JOLLY TIME

Christmas Tree Offered Workers Chance to 'Give' Friends a Present

Hydro Electric Power Department employees had a Christmas tree yesterday afternoon and the tree, laden with tinsel, gifts, and employee's offering to another, held the setting for some real time. The gifts distributed by Santa Claus under Mr. W. E. Barrows—were many and varied most bearing references to some little scene noised by each participant during the passing year such as listed for "he who had suffered from boils". After gifts had been dispensed some exciting games were held—one 15 cent auto against a Packard, a mechanical goose versus a dog.

Eats followed and "a good time was had by all."

The Argyle Co. held a Christmas party the evening previous for the Staff. It was an occasion where good fellowship and the spirit of Christmas prevailed.

FIND AGED MAN TOOK OWN LIFE

Inquest Into Circumstances Surrounding Death of Alex Bales

WAS FOUND VERY ILL

Matron and Fellow-Inmates Gave Aid But He Soon Passed Away

After but a few minutes' deliberation a coroner's jury that investigated the recent death of Alexander Bales, found that he died at the Belleville Home for the Aged between the hours of 5.30 and 5.50 p.m. of December 19th, 1925, and the cause of his death was from a dose of paris green self-administered while in a state of mental derangement, and it further found that no blame could be attached to the institution.

Three of the four witnesses heard at the inquest in police court room Wednesday night told of Bales' depressed condition of mind and of his having told them that his trouble resulted from treatment received by him from his wife and son. He told one witness that they "had robbed him."

MEDICAL TESTIMONY

Dr. A. B. Proctor told of visiting deceased at the Home at 3 p.m. Saturday on a call from the matron. Bales was very feeble for his age and suffering from a complaint. He was depressed and had been childish on former visits to the doctor's office. Later Dr. Proctor was called at 5.30 o'clock the same day, and found the man dead. Dr. Tower was there also in a chamber was a vomit of greenish material like paris green and when he was turned over, a package of paris green was found in his pocket—about ¼ pound or more. His lips were not burned, but parts green would not necessarily burn the lips. He was not well nourished for a man of his age. There was no question in the doctor's mind but deceased died from paris green poisoning.

Dr. J. L. Tower told of attending Bales Saturday last at 5.30 o'clock. He was dead when the doctor arrived. William Diamond, an inmate, was in the room. Coroner Boyce was called, but Dr. Tower believed that paris green caused his death. Dr. Boyce took the poison from the man's pocket. He had been dead a short time. The body was not well nourished, and Bales had been mentally depressed. Witness had examined Bales in the hospital about a year ago and then he spoke of his troubles. He claimed that he had been injustly dealt with by his relatives. He had never threatened to take his life. About three weeks prior to his death, Bales visited Dr. Tower's office. He was "all in" and depressed but did not mention his troubles at that time.

Dr. Proctor recalled, said the result had two or three lumps of dry powder in it. He had probably taken it by mouth.

INMATE'S EVIDENCE

Louis Mooney, cast-iroped lamely at the Home told of knowing Bales intimately for a number of years. Bales had been in the home more than a year, and never was contented. He complained of ill use of his son and wife whom he said had robbed him. He had no cause for complaint of his treatment at the Home. He was hearty and well fed. Witness had heard Bales threaten to take his life over a month ago. He said he was in such pain that he said he would take anything to get rid of himself if he could get the stuff. He complained of pain from influenza which he had contracted in California. "I tried to encourage him to forget such thoughts," said witness. "I'll say, 'You can walk as fast as I can and are doing well.'"

Witness did not know Bales had paris green and did not know where he got it unless he came upon it where someone was painting.

WAS FOUND VERY ILL

Mooney told of trying t get into the bath room at the Home about 6 o'clock that afternoon, but he could not. Bales was inside and had the door locked. Mooney walked into an adjoining bedroom and by raising a window was able to speak to Bales. Bales said he was so weak he could hardly stand up.

"I finally persuaded him to unlock the door," said Mooney. "Then I took him by the arm and assisted him to his room. He threw himself face downwards on a bed so near the edge that one arm hung over the edge and the hand touched the floor. This was between 2 and 3 o'clock and no never moved after that. Next morning witness saw some stuff all over the floor of the bath room.

Later in the afternoon witness, with Mrs. Palmer, went into Bales' room. Mrs. Palmer had a cup of ginger tea for him. They found he was dead.

Mrs. Fenelon Palmer, matron at the Home for more than a year said Bales had been there one year on December 8th. He seemed to be mentally depressed over trouble with his wife and son. He had been to several doctors who seemed to believe there was nothing wrong with him except his mind.

He ate breakfast but had no lunch the day he died. Mr. Mooney told witness of Bales being ill and witness immediately went to his room where he was lying on his face on the bed. She called a doctor. There was at that time no mention of paris green. No paris green was kept about the Home. He did not come out to tea and Mrs. Palmer went in to ask if he wanted a cup of tea.

FOUND HIM DEAD

Mrs. Palmer gave him a cup of ginger tea but he did not take much of it. Asked by her why he did not drink the tea, he said it would only make him sick. He had swallowed but a mouthful or so. This was at 4.30 o'clock when Mrs. Palmer last saw him alive.

Later Mrs. Palmer went into the room to see how he was getting along. She spoke to him but he did not answer. Then she shook him gently. He moved not. "I thought he was asleep," explained the woman. "I shook him more and there was no

ICE, SNOW AND COLD IN BRITAIN

Thousands of City Workers Shiver in Unheated Buses

NORTH IN WHITE ROBE

Drifts Several Feet Deep in Scotland and Wales—Royal Holiday Quiet

London, December 24.—For nearly two months England has been intermittently experiencing weather of the "old-fashioned" variety, as it is called here. That is to say, England has had ice and snow and cold weather of an intensity encountered only about a couple of times in a generation.

The country districts have borne an appearance such as was presented to the present age of the Pickwick papers, when they made their Merry Christmas walk from Muggleton to Dingley Dell. This is all very nice, too, when seen in the chromo-lithography of the "Winter Annual," but not so enjoyable for the thousands and tens of thousands of men and women of the teeming cities, who have to make their way to work in unheated cars and buses, and who live in domestic surroundings which are entirely innocent of central heating.

All the newsreel cameramen in London are working on London, while in Scotland and Wales and Northern England the snow is several feet deep in many places. The sweeter prophets, however, insist that the metropolis may have a return of open weather, even within a few hours.

AT SANDRINGHAM

Owing to the death of Queen Mother Alexandra the Christmas season with the Royal family will be more than usually subdued once The King and Queen, with the Prince of Wales, will spend the season at York House, Sandringham, a practice they have followed for many years. At Sandringham House, itself the early resident now is Queen Alexandra's lady-in-waiting, the Hon Charlotte Knollys, who is 86, and is ill in bed. For at least a year now she will be the only member of the household of the Queen Mother to be near them during the Christmas season.

The court will remain at Sandringham until the end of January.

The King and Queen of Norway and Prince Olaf, as usual at this season of the year, are in residence in their own house on the Sandringham estate. Other members of royalty in the neighborhood are the Duke and Duchess of York, Prince Henry, Prince Arthur of Connaught and Princess Arthur of Connaught.

The Duke of Connaught, as is customary with him, is spending the winter at his villa in the Riviera. Happily he has recovered from the rather serious indisposition which affected him soon after he reached the South of France.

Princess Mary, Viscountess Lascelles and Viscount Lascelles are at Goldsborough Hall, Yorkshire. They will probably motor to Sandringham on Saturday.

TRAINS TO RUN AT PLANE PACE BY NEW METHOD

Roller Bearing Coaches and Concrete Roadbed are Features of Idea

DETAILED BY EXPERT

Pere Marquette Chief Tests Of Plan to Beat Motors and Flying Machines

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 23.—A new age of transportation with crack passenger trains travelling at high speed upon concrete roadbeds, was predicted yesterday by Frank H. Alfred, Detroit, president of the Pere Marquette railway, one of the 43 rail executives from all sections of the country attending meetings of the American Railway Association at the Blackstone hotel here.

Cars of the new trains are to speed on roller bearings. The smooth concrete roadway is to be reinforced with steel ropes. The trains are to run almost as fast as airplanes

NEW TYPE WORKED OUT

Mr. Alfred himself, with the assistance of Chief Chipman, one of his office engineers in Detroit, has worked out the type of roadbed and bearings by which he expects the railroads to remain the standard of long distance passenger transportation, regardless of the progress of aviation, and regardless, the experience of highway traffic, he was equally confident, for he believes the railroads will eventually take over that form of transportation.

"To the airplane theory we say answer is 'safety,'" said the president-elect. "Pere Marquette ...The new roadbed and bearings will give railroad trains speed comparable to that of the planes. And the superior safety of the rails will continue. CAN FURNISH THE SPEED

"If you give the public speed, we can give it to them By the new system, we can carry people as fast as they want to go.

"After all, we will just be doing for the rails what others have done already for the highways. When the good roads movement started, lots of us thought that gravel would be good enough. But the states went further, and made the very safest and fastest roads possible. That is what I believe we will do with the rails."

"TWO-GUN JOHN" IS NEARING FREEDOM

Man Who Was Pioneer of Hold-up Business Seen to Leave Portsmouth

Kingston, Dec. 24.—Twenty years ago George Reel, now chief detective of the Winnipeg force, and another police officer staged a spectacular gun fight with John Lewandoski, picturesquely known as "Two-gun John," a bandit of the old days, and John is now serving the final period of a 10-year term in Portsmouth Penitentiary His crimes Green Hills."

It reported shortly.

"Two-gun John," who was the leader of a gang of safe-blowers, was wanted for a safe blowing at Selkirk, Man. He was located in Winnipeg, but shot his way to freedom, and he and his gang went to Rainy River, where they robbed the bank of Nova Scotia, securing $10,000 in cash. They stayed several robberies in St. Paul and Milwaukee, and Lewandoski was finally captured in St. Louis, after a running gun fight, brought back to Winnipeg and given a ten-year sentence. Later, after he had nearly murdered a guard, he escaped from that body, only to be recaptured and given an additional nine years. Now the prisoner bandit is about to be freed again.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

To the Citizens of Belleville.

The Season of Mirth is here again. As mirth depends not on material conditions but on mental attitude, it is in the power of everyone to be merry. I, therefore, wish the Citizens of Belleville a Merry Christmas.

After nineteen and a quarter centuries, the world has reached Locarno, and the Peace and Good Will preached by the Carpenter of Nazereth seems visible from the heights, which will be a means of general rejoicing.

When the warring factions of the world can meet together as they did at Locarno, it should be easy for our citizens to co-operate to make a "Bigger and Better Belleville".

May the New Year bring happiness and prosperity to you all.

PRESTON BLANKS NIAGARA SENIORS

Preston, Dec. 24.—After over fifty minutes of goalless hockey of the fastest possible brand, the local O.H.A. seniors popped in three goals in less the two minutes and applied the kalsomine to the Niagara Falls Cubs, chasers 3 to 0 in the locals' first home game of the season. A goodly number of fans saw the game.

The first two periods and part of the third were very even, although Preston had opportunities time and again, but failed to score, the work of Brown in goal for the visitors being outstanding. This 19 year old netminder was sent in to guard the twine against the fast-skating and hard shooting Preston sextet in preference to the veteran Mayo. He played a beautiful game but as soon as the first counter was scored he "went up in the air" and its two more in. Despite this, he deserves credit for the way he played. The Falls weakened materially just before the three goals were scored and were unable to follow the speedy pace set by Ashley and company.

WINNERS WELL BALANCED

It was hard to choose any really outstanding players. Ashley, Arnott, Burns, who played in every position stronger than the rest of the locals. Burns, who played a every position on the forward line, had the fans agog with his skating.

TRICK PHOTOS TO FOOL PUBLIC

Movie People Do a Lot of Things Patrons Find Thrilling

WRECKS STUDIO-DONE

Prehistoric Monsters Were Models 18 Inches High—Fights are Faked

Hollywood, Dec. 24.—The movie public has many illusions that are cleverly created by trick photography and the versatility of engineers.

These secrets of the trade conserve millions of dollars annually in the budgets of producers. The dir ector point out however, that they are not evolved to deceive the theatre-goer, nor primarily with the idea of saving money, but often are necessary because it would be impossible to stage the actual scene demanded in the script.

In the photographic tricks, the most indispensable perhaps, is the "glass ceiling" illusion. This is a device of painted glass placed slightly above the camera lens. On the sheet of glass ceilings, stone roofs are painted to correspond with the actual set.

This glass work is necessary because fo the lighting demanded by the camera. The roofs of upper parts of the set are not constructed instead, strong flood lights are placed there.

Wrecks of ocean liners are enacted in a small tank in the studio. Howling gales are provided by mechanical wind machines. The "ocean" is lashed to fury by pad-lles, and the toy liner, perhaps ten inches in length, is tossed like a cork he waves by wires in the hands of studio assistants.

If the story calls for an explosion to sink the boat, a dynamite cap aboard is exploded at the proper time and like miniature craft sinks beneath the waves with exciting realism.

A recent example of minature illusion was enacted in a picture of monstrous prehistoric beasts. On the screen they appeared the weights, and moved with life-like ease. Before the camera they were models eighteen inches high, composed of rubber and papier-mache, their movements manipulated by invisible wires.

When the movie spectator sees actors struggling perilously near the brink of a precipice or on the crevices of a tall building, he may be witnessing a scene "shot" in two different places. The fight may have taken place on the studio floor and the cameraman may later have photographed the precipice or roof corner on the same strip of film.

Fogs are formed in the studio by a huge atomizer which feeds cold vapor on the scene through perforated pipes concealed about the set.

Adept with high explosives, the engineers set a blast to wreck a dam releasing a rush of logs and water to destroy a populated valley. Or they burn an affrcay at the stake with so little harm that she might be the belle of a party the next evening.

One engineer has patented a powder that burns furiously on the furnishings of a luxurious apartment. When the cranking stops, the furniture is found unharmed and is moved to the next "social" set.

Even Hollywood scarcely knows these technical men whose exploits make "the filming of the impossible"

Though many hot springs bubble actively, few are actually at the boiling point; the bubbling is due to the escape of carbon dioxide and other gases.

JOYOUS CHRISTMAS

The family re-union at Christmastide is always an occasion of festive happiness. The folks at home speak with eagerness the arrival of loved ones to complete the happy circle and you to whom are going it make that indispensable visit to your folks, otherwise your absence will mar that beautiful spirit of brightness and joy which fills the old home at Xmas time.

Perhaps too, you will want to surprise your friends with a host of pleasure-giving gifts or you may desire to wire the seasons greetings to more distant friends. Canadian Pacific agents will gladly arrange your reservations, etc., or supply full details regarding train service, while Canadian Pacific Telegraphs and Dominion Express Company will give the very best of service in transmitting your telegrams and expressing your parcels.

T. L. Church, M.P., Moves To Eliminate Income Tax for Canada

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 24.—By Canadian Press.—Resolution to municipalities of their former exclusive rights and prerogatives" by the income tax, is advocated in a motion, which has been placed on the order paper of the House of Commons, by Thomas L. Church, Conservative member for Toronto North-West.

The motion, by Mr Church, is as follows:

"Whereas it was deemed necessary by reason of the great increase of taxation by the Parliament of Canada as a revenue measure, growing out of the war, and temporarily invoked the former exclusive field of the municipalities to collect this form of taxation.

"And whereas such taxation has led to duplication, and there is an urgent demand for reduction of taxation and for a return to the municipalities of their former rights and perogatives to this form of taxation.

"Therefore, Resolved—I will support the Government in any immediate measures it may take to give effect to the principles of this resolution and so reduces taxation."

SEE NO PEACE IN BIBLE LANDS

Christmas Season Finds Disturbances Over Druses

PILGRIMS TO MANGER

Many Find Hospitality in Jerusalem Before Taking Bethlehem Road

Jerusalem, Dec. 24.—Christmas season this year finds the bible lands once more disturbed by fighting and with less of that atmosphere of "peace on earth and goodwill toward men" which is the conventional greeting on this greatest of Christian feast days.

In Jerusalem, which stands on a lofty plateau as if holding itself aloof from the quarreling Mohammedan Druses and Christians in the valleys below, the missionaries and relief organizations, tourists and refugees in the spirit of the season.

ROAD TO BETHLEHEM

Weary pilgrims from far countries are climbing the roads to the city, 2500 feet above the sea level, to rest in hotels, hospices and convents before filing out on the single road to Bethlehem in worship at the marble manger which marks the traditional spot of the birthplace of Christ.

Y.M.C.A. HELPS

This year the Y.M.C.A. is providing for the first time in history a community Christmas tree which is to be for all denominations—Jews, Christians and Mohammedans. The tree will be set up in the field of Boaz, where the shepherds watched their flocks by night, and it will be lighted by electricity and decorated by community trees in Canada.

Thousands of pilgrims and tourists will see the tree as they come over the good roads from Jerusalem on foot and by donkey, horse and automobile. Among those who will watch are 700 children from the Holy Cross and St. James orphanages of the Near East relief. They will be part of a picturesque crowd of priests, Spanish and Italian monks. English tourists and native country people will greet each other with "May your day be happy and blessed."

This procession will start the day before Christmas and pass David's well, and the white-domed burying place known as Rachel's tomb, winding up in the courtyard of the Church of the Nativity.

AT THE GROTTO

All of Christmas eve and Christmas day the people will squeeze through the small doorways of the fortress-like wall of the church and emerge into the nave of the NATIVITY CHURCH, where the Latins or Roman Catholics are conducting their services and clergy and acolytes in glittering vestments are marching around the simple interior.

From a corner of the church a broad will wind its way down the poorly-lighted, slippery stone steps of the grotto where the people will kneel and kiss the brass star on the floor and the manger and pray.

IT'S CHRISTMAS EVE

It's approaching that night before Christmas when all through the house, not a creature was stirring, not even" the well-known and justly celebrated "mouse" of the famous jingle.

City people forget office and—shop and work of all kinds, country folk do the chores early and all enjoy themselves by making others happy. It's the greatest evening of the year when presents are slyly placed under parlor lamps and gentle subterfuge are the rule and NOT the exception.

It's a great time, is Christmas Eve. Humanity does well surely to store up blessings for itself by giving on this blest evening.

HOW CAROLS BEGAN

We see a Georgian night pierce the glow from the doorway of a big genial house; we hear a trampling in the worn-burnished stone and voices in a sturdy harmony.

Although the Christmas carol can look back on nearly two thousand years of history its story in England only seems to open in the days of the Plantagenet kings.

At the British Museum you may see a time-stained parchment on which is written by a monkish hand the first carol of which we have certain knowledge. It was penned in the middle of the thirteenth century and is better fitted for a convivial gathering than for a religious service.

This was the type of many of our earlier known carols—song of gaiety and good cheer such as might form a spirited accompaniment to the steaming wassail bowl and the flames of goodly logs roaring up spacious baronial chimneys. Such was the character of that "sett of carols" which Wynkyn de Worde gave to a jollity-loving world in 1521, from his rude press at the "Sign of the Sun" in Fleet Street.

As we look through these carols of the days of chivalry we see in imagination the yule-log drawn in triumph from its forest home to be greeted at the door of hall or castle by minstrels singing.

Welcome be thou, heavenly king,
Welcome born on this morning,
Welcome for whom we shall sing.

Welcome Yule.

Or in later years to be welcomed by Herrick's more appropriate lines:

Come bring with a noise,
My merry, merry boys,
While the good dame she
Bids ye all be free,
And drink to your heart's desiring.

Such songs would have been little to the taste of the Franciscan Friars, who are said to have originated carols in England about the time of Henry III. made the old ballad melodies to Holy themes—grave and solemn Christmas chants, such as "The Song of Levi":

For we are the true born sons of Levi,
By the bright and the glorious star.

But with the reformation came a shattering of high spirits and a return to the carol of more pious days. No more should the Holy season be profaned by such a Bacchanalian ditty as:

Lordlings, Christmas loves good drinking,
Wines of Coscolgne, France, Anjou,
English ales that clear and thinking,
Prince of liquors old and new.

But Christmas came back to men and the carols were never lost. Today they are known and valued more and more; a treasure house that every poet and musician may enrich, where scholars may search for lost jewels ere that is open to every child who can pipe the imperishable, lovely tune of "The Holly and Ivy". To, such survivors from ancient days composers and poets of more recent years have made many welcome additions Such are "Christmas Awake", written by John Ryron to a Christmas play for his little daughter, and first sung by the doorway of Byron's house, Kersal cell, near Manchester, on Christmas Eve, 1750; and Gounod's "Cradled All Lonely", the air of which is so simple that a baby might sing it; and yet it was presented to a London audience with all the pomp and dignity that great orchestra and choir could give it.

A SONG OF CHRISTMAS

"Noel, Noel, Noel, Noel,
Born is the King of Israel"

You may hear it in England in almost any of the quiet hamlets of Somerset, Devon, Sussex, Kent, or in any northern counties; you may have listened to the haunting sweetness of the same air along the vine-clad lanes of France, or you may have heard it echoing out, on the stillness of a peaceful Canadian winter night in some of the little villages of Ontario, just as Dec. 24. merges at the midnight hour into the greatest birthday of the ages For it is one of the oldest Christmas carols extant, this old "Noeli," and is to be heard sung in most Christian countries in the world.

Recent years have seen the revival of many old customs and practices, and one of the most delightful of these, both in the old land and the new, is the singing of the ancient carols of Christmas.

The origin of both the songs and the word by which they are designated as been lost in the mists of antiquity The word "Carol" was originally a term for a dance, or for songs intermingled with dancing and came afterwards to signify festive songs, particularly such as were sung at Christmas. In England the practice of singing Christmas carols was widely followed as early as the fifteenth century, to which date belong many of the best known carols sung today.

Carolling, that is, the combined exercise of dance and song, found its way from pagan ritual into the Christian Church, and the clergy, however severe they might be in heathen survivals, had to content themselves in this case, as in many others, with limiting the practice.

Numerous carols are extant dating from the fifteenth century which have the characteristic features of folk-song. The famous Cherry Tree Carol, "Joseph Was an Old Man," is based on the old legend which is related in the Coventry mystery plays.

Numerous entries in the household accounts of the Tudor sovereigns show that carol singing was popular throughout the sixteenth century and the literature of which are often included in collections of carols, though which are often included in collections of carols, though they were probably written to be read, rather than sung. Milton, Crashaw, Southwell, Ben Johnson, George Herbert and George Wither all produced Christmas poems, but the richest collection by any one poet is to be found in the poems of Herrick, whose "Come, Bring With a Noise" is a typical carol of the jovial kind, and may well have been written to a dance tune. Among eighteenth century religious carols perhaps the most famous is Charles Wesey's "Hark, How All the Welkin Rings," better known in the variant, "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing." The modern revival of carol singing has produced a quantity of new carols, the best of which are perhaps mostly derived from mediaeval Latin Christmas hymns.

The origin of the word itself is obafcure. It has been suggested by one authority that the word is derived from "chorea" while others ally it with "corolla", a garland, circle or coronet, and the earliest sense of the word apparently bang a "ring", or "circle" or a "ring dance". The well-known Druidical circle at Stonehenge often called the Giant's Dance" was also frequently known as the Carol. The Celtic forms, often cited as giving the origin of the word, are derivatives of the English or French: The cels up in the churches, and Christmas was the centre of a dance, and some of the most famous Latin Christmas hymns were written to dance tunes. Strictly speaking, therefore, the word "carol" should be applied to lyrics written to dance measures, in common acceptation, however, it is applied to the songs written for the Christmas festival.

A Heart's Triumph

By Effie Adelaide Rowlands.

"I suppose the lawyers will all it out," he said, seeing that Darnley made no answer to his last speech.

He pulled his cigar-ette well up round his throat. The morning air was raw and cold. He had refused to be driven to Mimlestoke.

"The walk will do me good," he had told Mr. Darnley.

The two men separated now without further words, and Paul Darnley felt his manner grew a little cold toward this wonderfully handsome nephew of Sebastian Thorall.

"He is a splendid young fellow to look at, and, I suppose, he is all right inhis profession, too, yet there is something about him I don't altogether care about. He is too self-opinionated to please me; but, then, he is young, and has not yet made a reputation for himself, so, perhaps, on the whole, it is scarcely fair to judge him."

There were, indeed, other and far more important matters to occupy Mr. Darnley's thoughts at this juncture. He had been a selfish man, he would have made all haste to get away from the Hall, Abbey and from the difficulties which confronted Cecil Lackhyne. No absolute duty or tie existed to keep him on the spot, but the man's sense of affection and pity for the girl would have overruled all other arguments and urged him to remain, if even self had obtruded itself on his thoughts for a moment.

That Paul Darley set himself and his evidently sinister schemes completely on one side to minister to Cecil at this material moment of her life was the more generous, because he happened only a few weeks previous to this have engaged himself to a girl whom he had loved fondly and devotedly for many years, and who was now looking forward to seeing him on a visit to Scotland. He had, until his mind flying visit to the White Abbey been completely engrossed in the affairs of the great banking firm of Darnley and Co., of which he was a partner, and the earliest sense of the word apparently bang a "ring", or "circle" or a "ring dance". The well-known Druidical circle at Stonehenge often called the Giant's Dance" was also frequently known as the Carol. The Celtic forms, often cited as giving the origin of the word, are derivatives of the English or French: The cels up in the churches, and Christmas was the centre of a dance, and some of the most famous Latin Christmas hymns were written to dance tunes. Strictly speaking, therefore, the word "carol" should be applied to lyrics written to dance measures, in common acceptation, however, it is applied to the songs written for the Christmas festival.

Before, however, seeking an interview with poor Cecil or the strange woman who had thrown such a terrible and tragic a change in life of the White Abbey, Paul had to devote a few thoughts to his own affairs. He had received telegrams to London and to Scotland announcing that he could not leave the White Abbey immediately.

"If we were only married," he said to himself, with a little sigh, "things would be different. Then I could write sweet letters and helpful under all circumstances. Am sure Dora will feel a deep sympathy for Cecil when she also learn about her."

He wrote a long, tender letter, to be posted at the same time his telegrams were sent, and he explained fully in this letter the reasons that would prevent him from traveling to Scotland as early as he had arranged.

"Dora is so kind and understanding, how necessary it is for me to remain here temporarily," he said to himself, here's little doubtfully as he carefully he sealed the envelope.

To most people who had any knowledge of pretty Miss Dora Sedworth's character, this doubt would have been the most natural thing in the world; for she had time people would admit that the Dora's a finances, there were few, very few, who were as blinded as he by the girl's charming manner. She had played with Paul's hears ever since the days when they had been very fond of each other, and now, as a matter of business as he was, or, chiefly speaking, never even imagined that she had ever played with his heart. He had loved Dora for several years as a beautiful but wholly unattainable creature. To others, Dora Sedworth was but now a girl who had flirted away her best chances, and was just a trifle passe. Not so to Paul Darnley, who saw her with eyes that enhanced her beauty, and who could hardly credit his own good fortune, when, having reached a position material and lasting success in his business, he had dared to lay himself and his worldly goods at her feet and had been accepted.

It was well for Darnley's peace of mind that he had hesitated to mention it to "I suppose the lawyers will all it out," he said, seeing that Darnley made no answer to his last speech.

He pulled his cigar-ette well up round his throat. The morning air was raw and cold. He had refused to be driven to Mimlestoke.

"The walk will do me good," he had told Mr. Darnley.

Strictly speaking, therefore, the word "carol" should be applied to lyrics written to dance measures, in common acceptation, however, it is applied to the songs written for the Christmas festival.

And now it certainly was not the moment for absent-minded love.

Before, however, seeking an interview with poor Cecil or the strange woman who had thrown such a terrible and tragic a change in life of the White Abbey, Paul had to devote a few thoughts to his own affairs. He had received telegrams to London and to Scotland announcing that he could not leave the White Abbey immediately.

"If we were only married," he said to himself, with a little sigh, "things would be different. Then I could write sweet letters and helpful under all circumstances. Am sure Dora will feel a deep sympathy for Cecil when she also learn about her."

He wrote a long, tender letter, to be posted at the same time his telegrams were sent, and he explained fully in this letter the reasons that would prevent him from traveling to Scotland as early as he had arranged.

"Dora is so kind and understanding, how necessary it is for me to remain here temporarily," he said to himself, here's little doubtfully as he carefully he sealed the envelope.

To most people who had any knowledge of pretty Miss Dora Sedworth's character, this doubt would have been the most natural thing in the world; for she had time people would admit that the Dora's a finances, there were few, very few, who were as blinded as he by the girl's charming manner. She had played with Paul's hears ever since the days when they had been very fond of each other, and now, as a matter of business as he was, or, chiefly speaking, never even imagined that she had ever played with his heart. He had loved Dora for several years as a beautiful but wholly unattainable creature. To others, Dora Sedworth was but now a girl who had flirted away her best chances, and was just a trifle passe. Not so to Paul Darnley, who saw her with eyes that enhanced her beauty, and who could hardly credit his own good fortune, when, having reached a position material and lasting success in his business, he had dared to lay himself and his worldly goods at her feet and had been accepted.

It was well for Darnley's peace of mind that he had hesitated to mention it her name or their engagement to Sir Charles Lackhyne; for assuredly Cecil's father would not be told more bitter and unpleasant truths to any about the matter. In his cold, rough way, the dead man had had a sincere affection for the whole family of Sedworths were Paul Darnley, and it so happened that numbered prominently among the favorite destinations. Of Dora personally Sir Charles could have known very little, for he would not be told more than suited him in his determination to set her family in their true colors before his influential friend; and Paul Darnley must have suffered deeply in consequence, for he knew well that, though Lackhyne could exaggerate, he greatly based his remarks on a strong foundation of truth.

Fortunately, therefore, for Paul's present happiness, no mention had been made to Sir Charles of so important an event as his approaching marriage, and he was able to indulge in his dreams of a golden future unchecked.

His letter and telegrams sent, Paul turned his entire attention to the affairs within the White Abbey. He found himself besieged by inquiries from the servants and employees. He wisely were stilled in the workshop, and the three workmen were standing disconsolately about.

He had a kind word for everybody, but, of course, he could give them no definite idea of what was going to happen. Life certainly would not be the same again at the White Abbey as it had been. The lawyers had been telegraphed to, and they would, no doubt, arrange Miss Lackhyne with as much speed as possible. Till they came, and the will had been read, there was nothing to be done but to wait. That personal loss should have more sway i nthe minds of all the working people than regret for, of course, natural. Their future, which had seemed secure for years, was now in the most ghastly uncertainty, and full of possible difficulty.

Only one of them seemed to have a thought for the young creature who would suffer most of all by this sudden death.

Michael Everest had ventured more than once into the house, only to have the chance of seeing Nina and learning how it fared with Cecil. Darnley, with his simple words, touched Paul.

"Miss Lackhyne is as well as she can be," he said, "but she is very sad. I have not seen her this morning, but shall do so when Doctor Thorold comes. She has had a great shock, and there is much trouble ahead for her, I fear."

Paul hardly knew why he found himself speaking so frankly to this young man. But, in truth, he was almost instantly struck by ytheuri ous refinement of voice and the charm of Michael Everest's bearing; moreover, he was touched by his sincere solicitude for Cecil.

"If there is anything I can do, I hope you will let me know," he said, quickly. "Cecil has a friend in General Pounceby, and I will cable to him at once. He will come, and he will be most useful. Mr. Darnley and I are almost as if in explanation. "Quite late by I had this accident to my hand, and did not many things for myself."

"She has a sweet nature," Paul answered warmly. His liking for Michael deepened ten more he heard the lover's pleasant voice and looked into the frank and handsome eyes.

"I will tell Miss Lackhyne of your lyrics," Paul said, a she was rewarded by the quick expression of pleasure which came over the young man's face.

It was evident there was something working in Michel's thoughts which he could not put into words, and yet which he kept back.

"You have something more you want to say?" Mr. Darnley asked him kindly.

Michel's color rose again.

"I have been wishing so much that I could be of some use to Miss Cecil," he said. "She would be a comfort, I am sure. She is been used to sickness and trouble. Of course, I may seem very presumptuous of me to suggest this; but"—he colored hotly again—"but I sura re—I think Miss Cecil would like all alone. She seems to have no kith or kin of her own, and my mother could at least take care of her." He looked rather proudly into Paul Darnley's eyes. "You must not judge my mother by my work as Gardener, he said, "she has been a world apart from me. She is Miss Cecil's equal."

"You are yourself," Paul Darnley said heartily. He held out his hand, and Michael put his left one into the grasp. "Nature is always the clearest and most eloquent herald. I am not deceived by your working-clothes, Mr. Everest, and I am happy to have met you."

"Thank you," was all Michael Everest said, but it was sufficient. Each now felt at the moment that the first moon had been struck in a sympathy, a friendship, that would live between them to the end of their lives.

"It is impossible for me to move very much in any direction," Paul went on, after a pause, "but I can write letters, and will have to face much sorrow. Perhaps in a little while I may be possible for you to bring her in contact with your mother. She has need, indeed, of good, kind women's sympathy and help. I have heard, on my part, of her promised wife to be here, but we can do nothing, any of us, immediately. Doctor Thorold, I expect, will set good, prominently for her."

The color that came and went on Michel's face was a study.

"She will be in good hands, then," he said, "for Doctor Thorold is a good man."

Paul assented. He was becoming absorbed again in thought about Cecil, and he did not notice, as he would have done at other moments, that there was a curious expression in Michael's face and voice as he spoke of Doctor Thorold.

The two men were talking together in the big dining-room. Paul had made a pretense of eating some breakfast, and he was now awaiting impatiently for Doctor Thorold's arrive. He felt nervous at the thoughts of facing the strange woman alone.

Michael had said all he had to say, so he turned to go He paused for one instant as he was passing out.

"I should like to attend the funeral, and if there is anything, no matter how small, that I can do, you will let me know?"

"You may rely on me," Paul said. Then his eyes turned toward the ground, and his face cleared as he saw a carriage advancing. "That is Doctor Thorold," he said, with his voice full of relief.

Michael went out through the doorway and stood a little apart, watching the doctor alight from the carriage. There was a sort of difference and tenderness in him as he looked at the worn, beneficent face of the great scientist, but this expression was succeeded as he watched Felix Bingham jump from the brougham, and follow his uncle into the house.

"The son of my mother's enemy should be my enemy, too," he said to himself, half-bitterly. Then, with a sigh and a glance that carried his heart's sweetest thoughts toward the darkened room where Cecil was, Michael turned and went back to the workshop, to collect his belongings and to get ready to leave the White Abbey when its dead master had been laid in the grave.

CHAPTER VI

THE STRANGER'S STORY

Doctor Thorold desired to speak alone with the woman who had so boldly call ed himself Jack Lackhyne, and claimed so roughly the closest and sweetest relation with Cecil.

"If I have need of you,I will ask you to come," he said to Paul.

Felix went for a saunter about the quaint place. He had gone through the form of asking to see Miss Lackhyne, but he did not press this matter He was not confident at first, and he must have things definitely, before deepening his influence in Cecil's life. Convenac-

Charming Picture of English Yuletide Is Given in Pepys' Diary; Here It Is

MOST of our Christian conventions centre round the parish church, we like to believe, the real spirit of the season was most truly observed in the original Christian Festive of Old England that is the famous diary of Samuel Pepys (1632-1703), the original "M.P." of whom may be seen in the Pepys Library at Cambridge.

"It is 1660 Christmas fell on a Tuesday, and the previous Sunday Pepys said: 'I noticed the preparations in church, "where our new, all covered with Rosemary and bales." On the Day itself he attended service in the morning when "Mr. Mills made a very good sermon." Upon his return for dinner which consisted of a sprig shoulder of mutton and a chicken Pepys found his brother Tom there "come to see my wife's new mantle, put on, which he please me very well." After dinner the diarist took his wife to church, "where we had a good sermon of a stranger which met us also!" Or was it the dinner?

Of the Christmas of 1661 we are on safer ground, however, December 25 found Pepys visiting his bookseller, Kirton, in St. Paul's churchyard, no doubt engaged in Christmas shopping. On Boxing Day, we read, "And my wife by coach to Moor fields in white, but it was quite wrong for her, and so we went into an alehouse and a washcoat and bowle (wassail) woman and girl come to us and sung to us."

Christmas bores were evidently in favor in those days, for Pepys tells us that on Christmas Eve, 1662, "Mr. Gauden sent me against Christmas a great chine of beef and three dozen of tongues. I did give five shillings to the man that brought it and half-crowne to the porters." On Christmas morning Pepys was too late for Communion, but had a pleasant walk in Whitehall. After Bishop Morley's sermon at the Chapel Royal, "a good psalm followed with viols." Later Pepys "dined by my wife's bedside with great content, having a mess of brave plum-porridge and a roasted pullet for dinner, and I sent for a mince pie abroad, my wife not being well to make her self ready herself."

The following year Pepys's cousin Edward was buried on December 23 and Mrs. Pepys "spoused Christmas cheerfully by asking her husband what she would do if her spouse were by any accident to die."

A happier time was in store next Christmas. On the Eve Pepys saw a comet in the sky; on Christmas morning he heard a good sermon by an old schoolfellow and notes, "the very great storme of fire women that is in the church." Boxing Day was observed with a family party at Sir W. Batten's and a great feast and good discourse and merry." Later an assembly at Pepys's home is described as "playing handkercher, and blindman's buff. On December 27 Mrs. Pepys's relatives came "to make Christmas pastimes," but the diarist himself went to bed. It was eight o'clock next morning, when his wife retired, "which vexed me a little, but I believed there was no hurt in it at all."

After witnessing a wedding on Christmas Day, 1665, our author jots down: "strange to see what delight we married people have to see these poor fools decoyed into our condition." The rest of the day he seems to have been busy in straightening up his private and naval accounts "which I have to go so long that it were impossible for any soul, but I alone, to understand them." He piously adds "I hope God will never suffer me to come to that disorder again."

Confessing that he lay pretty long in bed on Christmas morning, 1666 Pepys exclaims that his wife had sent up until four in the morning "seeing her maids make mince-pyes." Besides those delicacies Pepys "dined well on some good ribs of beef roasted." There was also plenty of wine of my own and my heart full of true joy." After dinner he proceeded "to begun to teach my wife and Barker my song 'It is decreed.'"

One fine light moonshine, morning in 1667 Pepys went home round the city and stopped and dropped money at five or six places "which I was willinger to do it being Christmas Day." Arriving home he finds Jane and the maid making pyes." After Church the "wife and girl and I alone at dinner, a good Christmas dinner." Mrs. Pepys reads him a spy story and in the evening Mr. Pelling who is very good company recites poetry.

There remains one more Christmas recorded by Pepys. That of 1668 does not appear to have been so jovial as some of the others. The scribe had dinner with his wife "no poor wretch tenes mainfeasted all day until ten at night, alwaies and lacing of a noble petticoat." Her husband perhaps feel-sided that the Union Jack is a party fing and should not be flown over the or the American flag to give women a the right to vote.

Mince Pies Meant To Remind Eater Of Birth of Babe

Speaking of mince pies, how many are there who know what they are supposed to represent? In the time of Queen Elizabeth they were called "minched" pies, and at other times "mained pyes" and "shred" pies, the idea in their making has always been the same, although the shape has altered in recent years. The spices in the pies are supposed to remind the eater of some of the costly spices brought to Bethlehem by the wise men of the East, while the shape was originally that of the "crade" or manger of which the Babe was laid. They evidently tasted just as nice in the old times, as some member of the family had to sit up and guard the pie to prevent it being stolen. Herrick describes the custom:

"Come guard this night the Christmas-pie,
That like Thrift, thrift, thrift,

REGINALD DENNY STARS IN "I'LL SHOW THE TOWN"

"I Reginald Denny isn't such such it isn't his fault. Just how many blasts of soup Denny drank during the filming of his latest release, "I'll Show You the Town," the Universal-Jewel feature now being shown at the Belle Theatre, will probably never be known.

In the production, adapted from Elmer Davis' popular novel of the same name, Denny, who plays the role of an unmanageable college professor, is the unfortunate host at a progressive dinner party at which soup was the only food stuff served.

The unusual situation in "I'll Show You the Town," is brought about in this manner: Denny had engaged himself on a certain evening to eat as the guide and escort to three beautiful women he was going to entertain them together, yet separately; neither of the women to be aware of the others' existence. All of the women wished to dine at the famous "Hanging Gardens Cafe" which allowed Denny in a strange dilemma.

Just how to dine with three different persons separately at the same time, is a cafe matter for anyone. Denny, however, resorted to a simple plan. He had himself paged every five minutes. He went from one woman to another, spending less than four minutes with each, which did not give him time enough to finish his first course—soup. As he left each escort and his unfinished soup, the waiter would take the soup and serve it warm for him. He had a full course dinner of soup and nothing else.

BELGIAN QUEEN MAD HER FORTUNE TOLD

Blois, Holla, Dec. 24. — Queen Elizabeth of Belgium has been told she will never achieve her greatest hopes, whatever they are.

Traveling incognito and accompanied by a lone lady-in-waiting, the queen entered a fortune teller's tent while visiting the old town.

"Madam, you have ban embonded ambitions," the Hindu soothsayer said as she studied the queen's female palm, "but you greatly afraid of occupying a high situation but you must abandon that hope and console yourself, for you will never achieve your wish or see your hopes fortified."

The queen smiled as she replied: "I have a situation that suits me quite well."

MOST BORROWED BABY IN ENGLAND

Son of Princess Mary Is Very Popular With Royal Relatives

Hetrowgate, Dec. 24. — George Henry Hubert, elder son of Princess Mary, who tomorrow gets a dram from his grandma, Queen Mary, has become the most "borrowed" baby in England.

King George and Queen Mary, the grand parents are particularly fond of the boy, and when he isn't vamoosing about Buckingham Palace or Windsor Castle, George is "loaned" by Lord and Lady Harewood, parents of Viscount Lascelles, at Harewood House near here where a playground has been fixed up for his special benefit.

Now and then George Henry goes to Clarence House in London, the residence of the Duke and Duchess of York. Ever so often he is taken to St. James Palace to pay his respect to his uncle, the Prince of Wales, and Prince Henry.

Goldborough Hall, between York and Harrogate, is really the home of George Henry, but he has been so busy making kind visiting tours this fall that his parents have seen but very little of him. Two nurses accompany Master George on his tours in a powerful limousine which the young man, who will be three years old February 7, already claims as his alone.

MAROONS BEST IN OVER-TIME

Pittsburgh at Montreal Are Beaten 1-0 Before 9000 Fans

OTTAWA 4, ST. PATS 2

Small Crowd Out to See Toronto Lot Get Trimmed

Montreal 1—Pittsburg 0.
Ottawa 4—St. Pats 2.

These were the scores this evening in games respectively at Montreal and at Ottawa for the Maroon-Pirate affair 9000 turned out, but at the Capital the crowd was very meagre.

It past the crowd to go to see the Pirates get trimmed for there was over fifty play, the full sixty minutes having achieved no scoring. Both defensive teams were right strong at Montreal.

Both teams presented their regular line-ups, Comelier having reported again to the Pittsburgh team today and taking his regular place on the Pirate defence with Roger Smith.

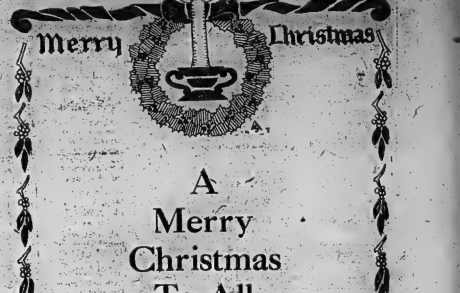

Odie Cleghorn, former Canadien star, who is managing the snappy Pirate team, was warmly received when he skated on the Pirate ice to the preliminary limbering up.

At Ottawa a small crowd was in evidence when St. Pats made their first appearance of the season here. Christmas shopping plus the low standing of the invaders were two reasons for the apparent lack of interest. Charlie Querrie and Ed Powers were in charge of the Saints. Querrie stated that St. Pats were almost sure of a sell-out for their remaining games, so great is the interest in professional hockey here.

"Hap" Day found one of his skates badly nicked, and with the sporting Dye, Clancy, Cotton, Shiner, and one of the attendants take them up town in a taxi to the sports emporium to have them fixed. Day had them back within half an hour.

Both teams used their regulars to-night, Finnegan replacing Hamilton on Ottawa. The latter is out of the hospital, but will not be able to play till Saturday against Canadiens.

Ottawa scored two in the first and one each in other frames. St. Pats lived up in the second and notched two.

A Merry Christmas To All

Our sincere wish is that everyone may have a Very Merry and Happy Christmas.

Perhaps we have more cause for a Joyful Christmas than we have had for the past ten years. We have seen the representatives of the great nations of Europe gathered together at Locarno entering into a compact that reveals the Spirit of Peace and Good Will to each other that makes us all rejoice.

In putting away hate, envy and jealousy they are preparing the way for the coming of "Peace on Earth and Good Will Toward Men."

Our Store will be closed all day Saturday, to enable our employees to have the extra holiday and enjoy a well-merited rest.

THE DOMINION BANK

The Dominion Bank was established 1871 and has been in existence 54 years. It is situated in Toronto and it has about ninety branches throughout Canada and one in England. Although also listed on the Montreal Stock Exchange, most of the trading takes place on the Toronto Exchange, and, for this reason, the prices prevailing in Toronto have been used as the basis for the above quotations, which show the fluctuations of the stock for the past five years. It will be seen that it is now at a higher level than at any time during this period, and in this it is sharing in the general strength recently displayed by bank stocks.

The bank has an authorised capital of $10,000,000 of which $6,000,000 has been issued and paid up. The last issued annual report showed that at December 31, 1924, total assets amounted to over $125,000,000 of which $116,000,000 constituted such items as gold coin, Government notes, obligations of other banks, current and call loans, and demand securities. Current loans also totalled $47,600,000. In addition to the paid-up capital, the report showed a reserve fund of $7,000,000, besides a surplus of $900,000. Deposits exceeded $91,000,000 of which nearly $73,000,000 were savings.

Profits have maintained a fairly even level for many years. While the expansion in 1920 was not as pronounced as in some other businesses, the reaction in subsequent years was also moderate. In 1920 the profits amounted to $1,347,000, while in 1924 they were $1,144,000, a decline of only 3 per cent.—on the basis of capital stock. The average earnings for the past nine years have been fairly consistent at 14½ per cent., as compared with 16¼ per cent. in 1920. Shareholders are now receiving dividends at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum together with a bonus of one per cent. This rate has been maintained since 1920, prior to which the rate was 10 per cent. as far back as 1906, with a bonus of 2 per cent each year in 1918 and 1914.

NOW CHRISTMAS HAS ITS VAMPIRE

Minneapolis Furnishes New Story of Easy Fraud on Thirsty Autoists

Minneapolis, Dec. 24.—While a number of motoring dreams rendered fearfully over spoiled Christmas hauls, search was made for a stunning-looking girl, who proved on the first attempt to find Her victims have dubbed her the "Yuletide vampire."

The experience of one victim was believed to be typical of most when a score of others.

"I was driving downtown from my home when a beautiful looking girl hailed me," he explained. "Would I take her downtown? I certainly would.

"When we neared Hennepin and Franklin avenues she asked me hesitantly if I would stop just a minute when she saw a girl friend in an apartment building. She seemed embarrassed when I asked her why she had to call on her friend.

"The fact of the matter is," she confided with a blush, 'I am going to get a bottle of Christmas wine from her. This friend has some wonderful stuff that she got from Canada, and just think, she is going to let me have it for $5 a bottle.'

"That seemed a very reasonable price for real wine, so I asked her if her friend couldn't spare another bottle for me. She said she'd find out.

"I gave her a $5 and she went tripping into the apartment She didn't trip out again. In fact she didn't show up at all She and my $5 bill just disappeared."

Yule Wedding Much in Vogue

The weeks immediately before Christmas have seen a number of weddings in England, for the Christmas honeymoon has gained in vogue.

One of the most interesting of the pre-Christmas engagements is that of Lady Margaret Scott to Lieutenant-Commander Geoffrey Hawkins naval A.D.C. to the governor-general of South Africa. Lieut.-Commander Hawkins is the eldest son of Captain and Mrs. Montgomery Hawkins of South Walks house, Dorchester.

Lady Margaret Scott is the eldest of the five daughters of the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch. She is thirty-two years of age, is tall, with golden brown hair, fine eyes and a charming complexion.

Viscount Deerhurst's daughter, the Hon. Peggy Coventry, was married on December 11, at St. Margaret's, Westminster, to Mr. Kostas Sanyot Hoare, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hoare, of Chelsworth hall, Suffolk.

Lady Karen Agar, daughter of the Earl of Normanton, was married on December 9. On the same day there was a fashionable wedding at St. Margaret's, Westminster, when Miss Mary Cavendish, daughter of Lord Richard Cavendish, married Lord Balniel, heir of the Earl and Countess of Cranford and Belcarres.

Mistletoe Has Had Magic Power Since The Earliest Time

The ancient Druids went into solemn procession to keep the annual cutting of the mistletoe. It was supposed to keep away witches and the people accordingly paid large sums for a piece of it to hang around the neck as a charm. There is an old-fashioned superstition that to hold a piece of mistletoe in the hand will not only enable one to see ghosts, but will force them to speak. According to tradition the maid not kissed beneath the mistletoe will not another year without a husband. And this same mistletoe is supposed to be available as an excuse for kissing the fair sex only so long as the little white berries last. One berry must be removed for each kiss.

In the olden days, no matter how great enemies men were, if they met under the shadeless they dropped their enmity and greeted each other as friends. Nor would they part from each other again each other until the dawn of the next day. Thus came the custom of carrying home sprigs of mistletoe and hanging it in the doorway, and if an enemy came they could not enter the house beneath the mistletoe without becoming friends. From this came our custom of greeting people with sprays of mistletoe.

KILL THREE MEN AT CLUB DANCE AFTER QUARREL

Strangers and Dancers Quarrel Over Girls in New York

FREE-FOR-ALL FIGHT

Broken Furniture is Strewn Near Dead Bodies

New York, Dec. 26.—Three maidened men were shot and killed early today as a climax of a Christmas dance at the Artists Society Club, South Brooklyn resort. The police believe that the men came at midnight to the Club where dancing was going on. They were accompanied by girls and it is believed that a quarrel arose between the strangers and dancers over the choice of partners. The triple crime was discovered when the policeman on the beat saw the bodies lying in the street and two others in the hall nearby amid broken furniture while half a dozen others were wrecked in a terrific struggle. The hall was deserted.

AT TODAY TORONTO

Toronto, Dec. 26.—That Christmas festivities throughout Ontario were brought to a close last night with householders parting their wassail cups blue and refrances rapidly being engaged as winter advances was indicated by frosted window panes and cooling grosses. Following yesterday's ideal holiday weather which enabled the youth of the province to give much time to skating, snowshoeing and other outdoor sports, it became colder during the night and this morning the first sub zero temperatures for the majority of Ontario points were registered.

Toronto, Dec. 26.—Following the death last night in general hospital of Mrs. Grace Bryant 27 years old, police arrested Mrs. Beatrice E. Bastin, 50, at 9 o'clock this morning and later she appeared in woman's court in charge of murder. Without plea or election she was remanded until Dec. 31. Mrs. Bettis is alleged to have performed an illegal operation upon Mrs. Bryant, upon whose death last night Chief Coroner George Graham ordered post mortem examination. This was concluded at 2 custody an hour later. Mrs. Bryant was said Mrs. Bettis was taken into leaves husband and four year old son.

SALVATIONISTS SPREAD CHEER

Bandsmen Collected $150 in Christmas Tour Of City

Salvation Army band enjoyed one of the most successful Christmas day tours on record, and collected $150. Mr. Bernard Brown was Santa Claus in the tour which started at 8 and concluded at 12 o'clock. Mr. LaPalm's open car truck which was kindly loaned. Starting from Bridge street all streets of the east hill were covered.

Brown is uncle of one of the boys drowned recently in the harbor and one of the objects of this kind and fatherly caper which the bandsmen spread, happy repaid the men.

Many sick children were taken to windows to see the bandsmen and old Santa. Santa visited many of the sick children and shook their hands. On Dundas street, Santa did a dance surrounded by the children of the Shelter who joined in.

A skeptical eight-year-old boy in the hospital was convicted when Santa entered his room, spoke by arrangement with the authorities, who gave him a hearty welcome.

The boy refused to talk, but changed his belief. A sick girl talked to Santa about snot on his red suit from chimney descents and many other interesting features of Christmas. One nurse of small stature was mistaken for a "kiddie" by Mr. Santa much to the amusement of her sister nurses.

Bandmaster Wardle kindly treated the bandsmen to a fine lunch and a kind hospital committee, said Santa Claus, "but the joy which we experienced in creating Christmas cheer even outshone the financial feature of the success."

C. N. R. EARNINGS

HOLIDAY PAIR CRASH BRIDGE FALL 25 FEET

Car is Wrecked on Tracks Below Overhead Bridge

WERE FROM DETROIT

Two Men Escape Serious Injuries and are Treated Here

Bound for their homes in Deseronto from Detroit, two young men fell over the overhead bridge near Smithfield about 2 o'clock Christmas morning, when their car skidded on the snow and ice on the bad turn, crashed through the, strong railing and tumbled 25 or 30 feet to the C.N.R. tracks below.

The car is a complete wreck, but the men, O. Halsold and J. M. Clayton, were not badly injured. The former's leg is cut and face lacerated, the latter sustaining a "crystal ruler" on his face and an injured hand.

Dr. Jack Farley of Trenton attended the injured men who were later taken to the Quinte Hotel here where they rested. They left Belleville today for their homes.

The speed of the car at this extremely dangerous bridge is said to be between 40 and 50 miles per hour. The car skidded when the turn was made and it fell to the bank upright, rolling over and down beside railway tracks.

One C.N.R. engineer was warned to stop there but when his train was stopped, no obstruction was found on the track.

FROZEN NOSES NOT FOR SALE

Market Vendors Suffer at Small Market To-day

Judging by the few shoppers who attended the market this morning every one in Belleville with mighty few exceptions stocked up for the week end when they bought their Christmas turkeys and geese. The others must "do" as well as at 11 o'clock there were but 11 persons with baskets of merchandise.

But one single turkey was on sale late in the morning and only about half a dozen geese which sold at $2.25 and $3.00 each. Ducks sold at $1.25 to $1.50.

EGGS PLENTIFUL

About the only thing there were plenty of were eggs which sold at 60 cents a dozen by the single dozen and 55c by basket lots. "You can have mine for less than that," one huddling figure piped from the inner recesses of a big fur overcoats coat. "I've been up on the way in and I've got to take this to that with." Many other of the vendors came in with different numbers frozen or were compelled to thaw out on the way in.

Butter sold at 40c per pound.

PASSES 86TH BIRTHDAY

Prof. G. D. Fergusson, L.L.D., 123 Bigot street, celebrated his ninety-sixth birthday, having been born on Christmas day, 1830, in Aberdeen, Scotland. He is in possession of all his faculties and can be seen out walking practically every day.

Coming to Canada as a comparatively early age, Prof. Fergusson was the first professor to be appointed to the staff of the Royal Military College in 1875 and is the only surviving member of the staff at that time. He also taught at Queen's University and his career has lived a most remarkable one.

THE WEATHER

Lower Lakes and Georgian Bay—Fresh north and northwest winds, fair and very cold today and Sunday. Temperature much below zero.

Another Christmas Passes

With weather conditions absolutely perfect, Santa Claus must have made an early start from the North Pole because there were mighty few (if any) homes in the city which did not share in Christmas cheer in various degrees. As far as the Churches and Societies could see to it, every family in the city was supplied with a good substantial basket and many of these baskets contained dolls and toys for little ones who might otherwise have been overlooked. Thursday afternoon members of the societies of different churches toiled until a late hour "packing up" for the people in more circumstances, and as reminders to different families just discovered, who must depend upon the Christmas spirit of those more favored by this world's goods, the ladies who assisted were thankful to deposit the last basket in the cars of those who had generously offered to deliver them.

AT THE STATIONS

Every train which steamed in at the two stations was met by a veritable army of relatives and friends and some touching scenes were enacted when members of families, seen in many cases for the first time in years, were welcomed back to the family circle.

Every train which passed through the city was loaded to capacity with pleasure seekers and every shelf in the trains bulged and overflowed with baskets and grips.

THE POSTMEN

Nothing too good can be said for the service the postmen gave. They worked from dawn till a late hour, when having distributed good cheer at every door on their beats, they hurried home to spend a few hours with their own families. The service was more than splendid for, loaded as each postie was with bags of mail, they were around on time, and made no mistakes. How many of them escaped nervous prostration when every other parcel they distributed called "one, two" in palpitating tones, is marvelous, unless they've all become efficient to mamma dolls at home.

MUST BE PROSPEROUS

If the Hydro did not register a red letter day, it was not the fault of householders because few homes, where lights, stoves, fires, were not lighted up from four o'clock when the majority of young Bellevillians commenced to awaken. In one home "pater familias" getting in late, or rather early for it was 2 a.m. met his small daughter completely clad waiting at the head of the stairs to go down "to see what Santa had left"

Only the convincing argument that Santa was on his way and wouldn't leave anything if he saw her, sent the small girl back to bed.

IN THE CHURCHES

Midnight mass was sung at St. Michael's Church where the seating capacity proved insufficient for the immense congregation. The music was surpassingly beautiful. Miss Dorothy Grant was organist and rendered the mass written in honor of St. Philip of Neri magnificently. During the offertory Mr. E. Brown sang "Noel", a trio, Miss Grant, Miss Bawden and Mr. Harold Barrett sang "Tepreze", by Nicholl. Mr. Harold Barrett "O Holy Night", Miss Gladys Greer, Miss Gladys Bryce, Mr. Jack Fahey each sang an Ave Maria, and Mr. Maron Young who played accompaniments on the violin throughout the service. He also played two violin solos.

At St. Thomas Church the celebration of the Eucharist was preceded by carols sung by members of the choir and throughout the communion service, several solos were magnificently rendered. Professor Ernest Whitelley, organist of St. Thomas accompanied the various numbers with striking ability and perfect interpretation. The brilliantly lighted church which was beautifully decorated with evergreens and emblems of the glad Christmas tide, was filled to capacity long before the service commenced.

At John Street United Church Rev. L. S. Wight conducted the Christmas service at 11 o'clock assisted by Rev. A.-S. Kerr of Maple. Mr. D. Nicholson presided at the organ and Miss Valerie Feighnmyer, whose clear rich voice is at all times a delight to listen to, was much enjoyed by the large congregation in the solo " Gesu Bambino."

OVER THE RADIO

Those who were prevented from attending service might have used the radio as a marvellous comfort. Many enjoyed Christmas service in their homes. Midnight mass at St. Patricks' Cathedral came over the air with such absolute clarity every word of the service and solos was easily distinguishable. Masses from Anglican churches in Boston were heard very clearly.

HAD A GOOD TIME

And so every one enjoyed a good time on Friday and while the children are glad the next Christmas is only 364 days off, the parents are thankful that they enjoyed the day to the fullest extent, but it is at least 50 weeks before they will have to worry about getting ready again.

SAM TREVERTON DIES IN CHAIR

Ex-Alderman Passes Suddenly At Home Christmas Afternoon

Many were the expressions of surprise and regret on Christmas night that Sam Treverton had become generally known that Alderman Samuel Henry Treverton, retired contractor, of 19 Bleecker street west, had joined the vast majority. His demise came with startling suddenness on Christmas afternoon from an attack of heart failure. At the time deceased was seated in his chair. He died in a few minutes.

The late Samuel Treverton was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Treverton of England and was born at Cobourg in 1853, being in his 73rd year. In early life he moved into Sidney Township where for many years he was a successful farmer residing in the Quinte Consecession. For two years he was tax collector of the township.

In the year 1912 Mr. Treverton came to Belleville where he has since resided. His popularity in the city was such that for many years he was elected as representative of the City Council and during that period filled important chairmanships of public works, fire and this year was chairman of the market and city property committees. Mr. Treverton was not only conscientious in the discharge of his duties but was ever faithful, and his demise will be revered sincerely by civic officials and city employes.

Deceased was a member of Moira Lodge A.F. and A.M. and a member of Holloway street United church. Two years ago Mrs. Treverton predecessed her husband. Surviving are two sons, Charles B., of this city and William H., Buffalo, N.Y., and one daughter, Mrs. G. W. Clapp, of Cobourg, Ont., and Inspector Thomas C, resides in Thurlow Township.

In the passing of Alderman Treverton the city's citizen has ceased to participate in the city's activities and others must pursue the work which he was accustomed to do in a cheerful and painstaking manner. To those bereft will be extended the heartfelt sympathy of all citizens.

MERCURY DROPS TO 11 BELOW

Experience Coldest Snap and First Zero Weather Of Season

The mercury dropped to 11 below zero this morning, the coldest it has been this winter, but happily old Sol chased the frost sprites back when he arose, and butterflies had returned at 8 o'clock this morning. The weather was a little more moderate on Friday than on the same date last year, Here's the readings:

1925—27		9.

Thursday's temperature was three degrees than the same date last year.

UNITED EUROPE THE OUTGROWTH OF PEACE MOVE

Economic If Not Political Unity Predicted By Leading Statesmen

SOME SKEPTICS HEARD

Common Interests of Countries Stressed in Symposium—First Steps Taken

Geneva, December 26.—Canadian Press.—Extraordinary interest has been created here by the replies which members of the League of Nations have made to a query propounded by a Geneva journalist—"Will there come a United States of Europe?"

Though varying in views concerning the desirability of the political unity of Europe, practically all the councillors questioned were of the opinion that an economic union was inevitable. Many declared that the impulse held lately in Europe that the Locarno security conference meant in European economic federation.

M. Paul-Boncour, of France, answered bluntly:

"Yes," and looked towards the constitution of European union and confederation of the United States of Europe. What was achieved at Locarno and what we are achieving at Geneva, constitutes the first step, towards the goal."

BELGIAN DOUBTFUL

Paul Hymans of Belgium, said he did not believe in the probability of a political entity like the United States of America but thought that the European union would take the form of a series of ententes based on peace and co-operation. This was the creation of an economic understanding through the destruction of the economic barriers dividing the nations of Europe.

"What is coming is a political and economic entente between the countries of Europe, characterized by subservience of their common interests and by solidarity in defense of those interests, saith the former Belgian foreign minister.

ANOTHER SANTA DEAD

Port Huron, Mich., Dec. 26.—Santa Claus is dead. He died in the afternoon at Andahut upon Christmas eve class at Harbor Beach in the Methodist Church, Santa Claus' real name was William Johnston.

They never knew those hundreds of eager children with bright eyes and laughing lips that they were to see sets die before their eyes. They could not behold the smiling faces of the waiting white beard and know that a heart made week by years of labor was undergoing a great strain. And so when Johnston fell dead, they shrieked and cried.

In the crowd were Johnston's wife and three children. His body was taken to an undertaking establishment. The festivities continued.

MAYOR MIKEL EXPRESSES GREETINGS OF THE SEASON

In the Christmas hurry, Mayor Mikel's Christmas Greetings and New Year's well wishings, were not included on the front page of Thursday's issue with others.

Here is the Mayor's wishes—

To the Citizens of Belleville:

The Season of Mirth is here again. As mirth depends not on material conditions but on mental attitude, it is in the power of everyone to be merry. I, therefore, wish the Citizens of Belleville a Merry Christmas.

After nineteen and a quarter centuries, the world has reached Lecarno, and the Peace and Good Will preached by the Carpenter of Nazareth seems visible from the heights, which will be a cause of general rejoicing.

When the warring factions of the world can meet together as they did at Locarno, it should be easy for our citizens to co-operate to make a "Bigger and Better Belleville".

May the New Year bring happiness and prosperity to you all.

W. C. MIKEL,
Mayor.

THEIR FLORIDA HOME IS A TENT

Fifty Families To One Cold Shower Bath Near Miami

CAN'T AFFORD HOUSE

Rent Plot From Owner For Six a Week and Discuss Future.

Miami, Fla., Dec. 26.—"The Tent City," which has sprung up like the proverbial mushroom all over Florida, Land of Promise, calls as does no other thing, "what happens to those who come to Florida."

Here, of these clustered, shiftless little communities, peopled, shiftily shifting to babies to get out of the sopped puddles made in the overnight harvest fall of the skies of romantic adventure that they followed and they invariably finish—

"That I didn't know it would be like this!"

Thebig underlying motive in the Florida boom is crystallized in these tent cities, where a plot of 25 feet by 50 feet may be leased from the Tent City landlord for $6 a week.

And that motive is the great American restlessness set 'em the go." As one real estate man put it:

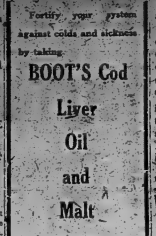

"Folks got tired of the incessant drive for the dollar. The common slap got thedea that life was all a matter of up at 5 o'clock, grabbing a dinner pail, off to the job, home after dark, too tired to play, the children asleep, no chance to do acquainted with his family, no light to dig a garden—

WHY THEY DRIFT

"He grew surly. He noticed that the rich man drove right to play. He heard of his fishing, his swimming his migration, to a winter playground where skies were blue and air was mild—

"He wanted some of it, too. By George, he would have some of it, too!"

And that's the way of the Florida boom, and no one can dispute it!

Mrs. A. E. McCullough once lived in Canton, Ill. Her husband was a carpenter. Life grew dull. Nothing but work and lots of it and little to save.

She talked about it to her tent home in Lemon City, four or five miles out of Miami, while three or four youngsters played in the sawdust puddles.

"It was just like a boil—this Florida business," said Mrs. McCullough, tired of illness. "It's something you just have to get out of your system!

"He had his trade and he had his tool kit and we figured he could make a living anyway, and it would be a change. We'd see something different where we lived. We could bake a different kind of thing that folks don't usually do."

And there you have it—the sort of thing that folks don't usually do.

And one can not help liking this thing behind the Florida boom that is found also in Tent Cities and apartment hotels renting for $500 a month per suite—the American habit of securing all safe and sane precautions.

True one can't "go out loose, really in their Canton, Ill., behind them, they're not so sure!

"It's a shiftless way to live," said Mrs. McCullough, making two of the kids wash together in the basin before the tent door and apologizing. "It's so far to get water for all of them!"

CHILDREN "RUN LOOSE"

And Mrs. McCullough thinks they'll go home pretty soon!

"We thought we could live as good or better down here and still have the fun of the trip," she said. "We does make big money here, but we spend, often a bo'se on even $1.50 an hour!

"Living this way we'll come out ahead. But when we have children you can't sacrifice everything just to come out ahead. You got to teach them some of the liberties of living—it just let them run loose as they do here."

Most of these myriad tent cities are run by women. It's a simple matter to become such a proprietress. Merely a matter of renting the land as for one from town where rents aren't so high, and then to get a license from the health department.

When she landlady begins, she has nothing but bare, treeless land and one bath house each for men and women; perhaps a wash tub centre of the lot.

As the new immigrants come in, they put up their own tent, or some one over high salaries and sure that they will stay, build little wooden shacks.

Perhaps a barber invades the tent city and sets up his paperstuff candy sole before his door. A grocerymen pays for the privilege of building his shack upon the sawdust lot, and so the project grows!

THEYRE "GOING BACK"

Many of the shack-landers leave sooner than they had planned. The landlady rents their shacks for $40 a month.

"Just try to get anything else for that!" one shack-dweller challenged me when I leased at the rental.

Sometimes a big tourist's car rolls into the tent city, paying its $6 a week for parking privileges. And they live in the car!

Tent City living may be cheap.

WHEAT SHIPPED BY CHEAP ROUTE IS POOL REPLY

Tonnage Comes Mostly To United States Ports, Says Manager

EXPORT PRACTICE

"What is Desirable Gives Way to What is Economic"

Winnipeg, Manitoba, Dec. 26—(Canadian Press)—"It has already been stated in the Grain Trade News that the discussion of the shipping of grain from Canadian ports by the ring conducted from the wrong end, as the title reply of D. M. Smith, sales manager for the central selling agency of the wheat pools, to a question as to the attitude of the pools on this question, and the statement of Henry Thornton that the route was entirely at the shipper's discretion.

"Both these statements are true," said Mr. Smith. "The desirability of shipping from Canadian ports is recognize as much or more by the pools than any other shipper, since they handle a bigger volume of trade and can do more perfect to make the route they want. Grain however is always shipped by the cheapest route and what is desirable gives place to what is economic. The shipper can choose his route with this consideration.

USE LINER SPACE

"The reason why the American route is so largely used is not because the overland rates are lower than Canadian but because the tonnage mostly comes to American ports. Practically 50 per cent. of the crop is shipped in liner space, the remainder being tramp space. When the pools make all the use they can of Canadian ports they can only do so when liner space is available, as if tramps can be induced to touch Canadian ports."

St. John is a good winter port; Halifax is a fine port with a dry elevator, which will undoubtedly attract tramp tonnage in time. More than 3,000,000 of this year's wheat crop has gone out through Quebec. On the whole more than 50 per cent. of the pool grain goes by Canadian ports, and still more will do so when there is tonnage to take is out. Liner space is sometimes quite cheap when what is scarce but the tramps are free lances of the sea and are generally chartered right from the wheat don so must be attracted by an economic offer. In a strange port with out cargo they also cut their rates."

Twenty-five dollars a month rent. If you bring your own tent, live in your car, or pit up your own shacks. Groceries cost no more than anywhere.

"But we're going back. We want to live right," said most of the Lemon City tent dwellers.

It means 50 families to one cold shower bath, cars or the wash tubs for 50 families, blazing sun beating down on a sawdust littered piece of earth, sodden with thrown-out wash water, it means $6 a month for each child up school.

It may be a great universal experiment in community living—

"But we're going home!"

LOCOMOTIVE WKS. GETS BIG ORDER

Kingston Industry Receives Quarter Million Dollar Job

Montreal, Dec. 26—Good news for the shareholders of the Canadian Locomotive Company of Kingston is contained in the announcement that has just been made public that the tender for the new tank equipment for the Chute a Caron development of the Aluminum Company of America, at Chute a Caron, Quebec, amounting to over a quarter of a million dollars, has been awarded to the Kingston organization. Coming on on top of the assurance that it will not be long till the Canadian National Railways will be in the market for new engines,—of which the Canadian Locomotive Company should be the most gratifying to the management and the people of Kingston in general.

The Chute a Caron plant is one of the largest industrial developments being made in Canada at the present time. The magnificent supply of water power there has been the deciding factor in the locating there of the Aluminum Company of America's new Canadian plant. The intentions are to make it in time the greatest aluminum manufacturing centre of the entire world.

The construction of the buildings is now well under way and the mechanical equipment is being ordered at various places. The Canadian Locomotive Company contract calls for the manufacture of sheet steel tanks and baskets used in handling the ores in various stages. They are mostly of sheet steel, cast steel and structural steel, and a great many of them, probably amounting to several hundred, will be required, and it's not unlikely that, with the Canadian Locomotive Company extending its sphere of operations, it will be in receipt of other orders.

Canadian roses grown at Brampton, Ontario, add sent to Sir George McLaren Brown, European general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, stationed in London, scored a decided hit with Londoners. Large wreaths gathered to see the Canadian blooms which were on display in the windows of the offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Trafalgar Square.

Christmas holiday passenger traffic to the British Isles was especially heavy this season on Canadian Pacific Railway lines. Over 1,200 passed over these lines in the last two weeks of November, while others arrived later in time to get the S.S. Melita and the S.S. Metagama which sailed from St. John, N.B., on December 10 and 11. Westerners all seem to be in very good financial circumstances owing to the good crops the past season.

SEIZE FURNITURE FOR COBOURG TAXES

Toronto, Dec. 26.—The "extraordinary and immodyl" conduct took place on the premises on which the town of Cobourg had put an employe in connection with the seizure of furniture for non-payment of taxes, and the charge made before Justice Logie when T. F. Hall, K.C., counsel for the owner of the premises, asked for costs in the legal proceedings.

Mrs. Mary Langslow owns a large house in Cobourg. Some time ago the municipal corporation seized the furniture in her house for alleged arrears of taxes amounting to over $700. The furniture remained in the house and a bailiff was placed in charge.

One night, about half-past midnight, and shocking incidents took place. The man in charge allowed in a number of revelers and girls who remained there all night.

The taxes having been paid, the action was dismissed without costs.

A similar action against Della Galvin, proprietress of the Arlington Hotel, was dismissed without costs, the taxes amounting to over $700 having been paid.

THE OLD CONTEMPTIBLES

Winston opened a chapter in the History of Britain's Arms when in 1914 he closed his filing of General French's "Contemptible Little Army." Von Kluck closed the chapter in Berlin after the War.

Of the tale he told in the "Memoirs" of Sir Almeric FitzRoy:

When Colonel Stewart Roddie met von Kluck at Berlin, in the spring of 1921, and held out his hand, von Kluck stepped backwards, and raised his right hand as if in protest. "Excuse me, Colonel Roddie, there is one thing I will to say to you before I take your hand. It is something I have always intended to say to the first British officer I met after the war. In the whole history of the British Army in its opinion, no military feat which that army attempted was equalled that accomplished by the First British Army in the last war."

Of all the men who had a part in the events of 1914, von Kluck should know best.

FAITH WITHOUT WORKS

A young curate rushing for his train was greatly perplexed to see his bishop walking on in front. Knowing he would be delayed if recognized, he tried to hurry past, but all to no purpose.

"There is no need to hurry," said the bishop. "I am quite at this train myself, so we can travel together."

However, they arrived at the station just in time to catch the train.

The bishop, seeing the young man was very annoyed, tried to soothe him, and, pulling out a watch, remarked: "I cannot understand our being late, as I had great faith in my watch."

"Yes, my lord," replied the curate, "but faith alone is not sufficient; you must also have good works."

THE RUBBER "MONOPOLY"

A committee has been appointed by the U.S. congress to investigate "the means and methods and control of production and exportation of crude rubber, and its effects upon the commerce of the United States."

It is remarkable the resolution declares that crude rubber is a "basic necessity in the life of our people," and charges that the product is artificially controlled and the prices dictated by a monopoly.

Most of the crude rubber used in the United States is produced by British companies on plantations in the Straits Settlements, a British colony in the Malay peninsula. It is true that the production of rubber is artificially restricted. The reason is that production had so far exceeded demand that the price fell to 30 cents a pound and less, and the planters were on the verge of bankruptcy. At first the attempt was made to relieve conditions by voluntary agreement among the planters to restrict production. That attempt failed, and so a measure was enforced restricting the exportation of crude rubber to a certain quantity. The result of this arrangement was an increase in the price.

Some of the more far-sighted of the American companies, making large use of rubber foresaw the effects of the restrictive measure, and laid in great stocks of rubber. Others did not take this precaution because they believed that the price would go still lower, and they were caught by their own greed for even better terms than those which they had been enjoying. It is with these that the cry against "British monopoly" has been coming. But the restrictions on exportation were only for a fixed period and that period has almost expired. Early next year 100 per cent. of the product of the rubber plantations will be available by purchasers and the price will no doubt fall.

As a matter of course, the British government is accused of creating the rubber monopoly for purposes of revenue. The truth is that the British government derives no revenue from the rubber industry. The restrictive measure was taken for the benefit of the rubber industry—to prevent its extinction. British consumers of rubber have not enjoyed any privileges in the matter of price; they have had to pay the same market prices for crude rubber that the American consumers have paid.

"NOW IT CAN BE TOLD"

Secrets of the early days of the Great War were made public for the first time when Rt. Hon. Winston Church ill, Chancellor of the Executor, was called as a witness for the Crown in the Bentley "tank case" in London. In his evidence he described various experiments made with the first type of tank, and declared that the Ordnance Department pigeon-holed one scheme as of doubtful utility. He gave an order for 18 caterpillar tanks, and one of these, which Lord Balfour saved from destruction, was the prototype of all the tanks used in the war.

The idea really originated, explained Mr. Churchill, with Colonel Swinton Samson, at Dunkirk, rigged up armored cars with machine guns and inflated mush, low on the German cavalry when they pressed forward to the grim and to combat them, the Germans made trenches across the roads in order to restrict movements.

"That led us," said Mr. Churchill, "to consider methods of crossing these obstacles." In the last week of September, 1916, or the first week in October, he instructed that the cars were to be equipped with ploughs or bridge materials to cross the obstacles. The possibility of rigging armored cars disappeared because roads were blocked everywhere. "It was the obstacle to the use of this armored car force," proceeded Mr. Churchill, "that led a good many people and certainly led me amongst others to consider in what way we could end this deadlock. Admiral Bacon had been ordered by a month or so previously to construct 10 or 20 howitzers of a type of the biggest land ordnance ever projected and these howitzers were to be drawn, according to his plans, by the caterpillar tractors. Admiral Bacon set to work to make this caterpillar tractor. He furnished a design of his own, consisting of a bridge which the machine carried on its back, and which I put down in front of it when it came to a ditch. It walked over, and then pulled it up behind again into position on its back. I ordered 'mile to go forward in the construction of such machines, pending other developments. He did so, and I believe the machine was eventually made."

It was then the Ordnance Department though the difficulties of manufacture too serious and the advantages doubtful. In February, said the Chancellor, he and the Duke of Westminster present, at a dinner at which the Admiralty were represented a number of officers of the armored car force, and they were all thinking hard about these problems.

"One of these officers, Major Hetherington spoke with great force and imagination on the possibilities of creating a very large engine—a land ironclad, which would play a part in land warfare similar to that played with the ideas put ten years before by H. G. Wells, in his article on land ironclads. I therefore convened, on Feb. 20, a meeting in my bedroom at the Admiralty—I was ill at the time—of various persons under my authority who I thought would be able to assist. As a result we formed the Admiralty Land Ships Committee, of which Sir Tennyson D'Eyncourt was the head."

Mr. Churchill went on to say that two machines were suggested—one with great wheels and the other on the caterpillar basis, and on March 20th he gave definite orders on his own responsibility, without consulting any other department of state, to make six machines of the one type and 12 of the other. In the middle of May the Government resigned and he left the Admiralty. Then the question arose as to whether the construction of these machines should be continued or not, and there was a very strong case made by some of the officials that the whole thing should be smashed. Lord Balfour preserved one of the pedrail vehicles and that was the "mother" of the future tank, which had trials at Hatfield and was the originator of those used in the Great War.

TESTIMONY OF A RABBI

Before an immense audience in New York recently Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, one of the leading Jewish scholars and teachers in the United States, testified to the conviction that what he had been taught in his youth concerning Jesus of Nazareth was wrong — that Jesus was not a myth, but an historical personage, and that His teachings "comprise a code of ethics unparalleled in any writing in history, being the very foundations of morality."

That such a person as Jesus of Nazareth never had an historical existence but is a mythical personage, the product of second century legend and fable is a theory which is not embraced by Jews only; it has been held by some skeptical Gentile scholars as well. Nor is the theory universal among Jewish scholars. There have been many eminent rabbis who acknowledged the historical existence of Jesus and have claimed him as one of the greatest prophets of the Hebrew race.

Therefore the admissions of Rabbi Wise are not significant as the revised opinions of a Jewish scholar so much as they are the convictions of a former skeptic. He was one of those who talked confidently of "the Christ myth". He now is constrained to admit that the evidence is against the theory which he was taught in his youth, and that the Jesus of the gospels was a real person who taught and worked and went about doing good as recorded. Of course Dr. Wise does not go so far as to declare his belief in all that is recorded in the New Testament about the wonderful works which Jesus did, in the miracles of His incarnation and resurrection and in His Deity. Doubtless his position is that of most Unitarians with regard to these records and doctrines. But his statement is a rebuke to not a few men still in the Christian ministry whose extreme "modernist" views are not far different from those which Rabbi Wise now repudiates.

A Heart's Triumph

By Estelle Adelaide Rowlands.

Felix felt his heart thrill. It gave him a sense of delight to recall that moment of the early dawn when Cecil Lacklyne had laid his feeble and stricken in his arms and when his eyes met his, he had seen her pure heart from her and made it his own. The girl's beauty had not appealed to Felix yet he felt satisfied with her. A woman with such wealth as this would have full charms in her and the best of intellect creature in existence; and what Cecil was really like, he was conscious that as yet, at least not. He was hyper-picturesque garb that had made the most impression on him. Felix was at last likely to have responded to the exquisite delicacy and the soulful loveliness of Cecil. His taste lay in a strange direction. He liked women of another type, women who matched him self physically and mentally. He had such a woman floating in his mind as he listened to his uncle speaking of Cecil's wealth and, he told himself impatiently that the world was very unevenly divided and that things never went as they should go.

Nevertheless, he was in a state of mingled excitement and satisfaction as he left the house to approach the self-styled Lady Lacklyne, as he walked under the tall, imposing trees of the avenue that led to the hall, he felt already the delight of proprietorship and the power of much money. He determined to remain a few days with his uncle. His practice would not suffer by his absence, and the rest from his nerve-racking conditions would be pleasant. Once let it be rumored abroad that he was about to marry Sir Charles Lacklyne's daughter and heiress, and his life would be in clover. His ready imagination painted out carefully before him a succession of wonderful pictures. No more drudgery, no more struggle—a splendid practice, fine horses; a reputation for lavish hospitality; a sensational tour of the world; a yacht, built to his own fancy—these and other visions of a kindred sort flashed through his brains and intoxicated him. He had no doubt of winning Cecil and in this the man was not very presumptuous or vain. With striking appearance and his fascinating fascination he would have been an easy task for him to win the heart, the faith, the confidence of any girl even one who had wordly experience to warn and guide her. How much more sure, therefore, was his success with a simple, innocent child such as Cecil was!

* * * * * * *

Sir Charles Lacklyne's strange guest made it known through Malpoor, frightened Nina—that she would receive Doctor Thorold.

He found her sitting by an open window. She wore the heavy cloak about her shoulders, and the scarf was twisted round her head. It was evident that she had been sitting in this one position all night.

She turned as Doctor Thorold came in.

"Is they tell me Charles Lacklyne is dead. Is it true?"

The old doctor bent his head for answer and he looked at her curiously, yet with a pity he could not control. The woman's voice had a note of misery in it so great as to be unearned by words. It was harsh, and yet it was hushed, too, as though it had been silent for a long time. Doctor Thorold's eyes pierced through the mask of almost repulsive ugliness and read the history of a beauty which, although of a course nature, had been undoubted.

"Yes, my good man!" the doctor said, in that strange, bitter, husky voice—"one of the worst. Such a, easy death was too good for him!"

Sebastian Thorold drew a deep breath.

"You will allow me to sit down," he said courteously. "I am old, and rheumatic, too, I'm sorry to say."

The woman laughed a hard fierce laugh.

"I've no manners, you see. When I was a child they don't teach one civility. You have come to question me, I suppose." Who are you? Are you a relation?"

Doctor Thorold shook his head. He explained his position.

"I am one of the few friends and perhaps the oldest one, Miss Lacklyne has; and as such I have felt I would receive the sinister myself with her affairs. You have made certain statements—"

"Which I am ready to prove. I am Charles Lacklyne's wife. I married him twenty years ago last May. I have no certificate. I was not likely to come here and claim my rights without bringing my proofs. I am not such a fool as that."

She laughed again and drawing her cloak over her, she unlocked it and took out some papers.

"These will prove all I have said. I am Charles Lacklyne's wife, or widow, now that he is dead, and Cecil Lacklyne is my child."

A silence passed through Sebastian Thorold as he heard these last words. He was sorry for the woman for he could see that a fatal shatter she was, she had been wronged. But, still, it was terrible, to him to associate even the mention of such a woman with the beautiful, pure, child like girl he loved.

The mother of Cecil Lacklyne had always lived in his imagination as some delicate, high-born creature, whose death had devastated the life of Charles Lacklyne and made him the queer, irrational being he was.

"I will answer all your questions," the woman opposite said grimly.

"Why did you not come here before? Why did you come in the way you did last night? These papers have the air of being genuine, but they must be investigated, as you will readily understand. I have been intimate with Sir Charles now for many years," Doctor Thorold added, "and I have never heard him mention his wife."

"I have been dead to the world for many years. When I came upon him last night he thought I was a ghost, for he, too, has believed me dead—and he has wished it, too; on that you may count pretty surely. But I am not dead; I am alive, and I have come, late as it is, to claim my own. Search through his papers. It will be odd if you don't find something that will corroborate my assertion."

"You come now—from where?" Doctor Thorold asked, a little wearily. The conviction was pressing on him that there would be right at the back of these statements.

"I landed from Australia two days ago. My sentence was worked out quickly. I was a good-conduct one. They gave me eighteen years but I have only done fifteen. I am out on ticket of leave now."

She spoke quite callously. No manliness, pride—if it had ever existed—and shame, seemed dead within her.

Sebastian Thorold shaded his face with his hands and sent up a little prayer for Cecil.

"What—what was your crime?" he asked, in a low voice, when he could speak.

"Robbery and murder!" she answered; and there was something in her words, in her type, that made the old man, student of science as he was rather than of human nature, look at her with sudden sympathy.

"Were you guilty?" he asked involuntarily.

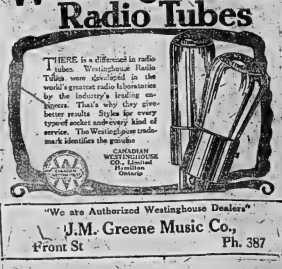

She looked at him in the same hard, grim, repulsive way.

"What a question! Do you suppose they ever punish an innocent creature?"

Her voice was pitiless in its bitterness. Then, suddenly a change swept over her hard, distorted face; real joy it soft, and brushing out of it that defiant, lost look that had so hurt poor Cecil.

"SON OF HIS FATHER" BEST "WESTERN" YET

A story based upon fact and photographed upon the scene of its actual happening with many of the real characters taking part, is Harold Bell Wright's "A Son of His Father," a Victor Fleming Paramount production which will be shown at the Belle on Monday.

In Harold Bell Wright's country near Tucson, Arizona, it is said that several years ago an incident similar to the plot of the story actually took place. From this Mr. Wright obtained the theme for his novel.

To film the story in keeping with its atmosphere, Paramount dispatched an entire company of almost two hundred persons to a location seventy miles from Tucson, Arizona, and a few miles from the Mexican border. Not far from this location the real incident occurred.

The story of "A Son of His Father" is the fascinating one of the changing west and concerns a desperate uphill battle against invading smugglers who attempt to gain possession of a ranch. Many of the actors engaged on the location actually took part in the real smuggler encounter between the ranchmen and smugglers.

Featured players in the production are Harold Lews, Warner Baxter and Raymond Hatton. The story was adapted for the screen by Anthony Coldewey. Walter McGrail heads the supporting cast which includes Charles Stevens, Carl Stockdale, Betty Ingram, James Farley, Valeria Zeminda an dGeorge Kuwa.

There's heart interest and comedy mixed with the thrills in this great "western" of them all—the first Harold Bell Wright story made into a Paramount picture. And it's done in real Paramount style!

THE MIKADO IS COMING SOON

Opera of Undying Fame Had Successful New York Season

It is doubtful if any other opera ever written can lay claim to the unique honor of "The Mikado." Gilbert and Sullivan's gem of gems which will be offered at the Griffin Opera House on Tuesday, Jan. 5th.

No other opera has given the world, genuine pleasure and it delights modern audiences just as much as of old. This was conclusively proved through the recent New York presentation. It was hailed as one of the outstanding hits of the New York season when many of the "hit shows" had to be withdrawn.

The production coming to Belleville is sponsored by Brandon Brothers, who have made an enviable reputation for their operatic productions. On this occasion they have given the famous old gem a most beautiful scenic and costume production and are bringing one of the best singing organizations that has ever been heard on a trans-continental tour.

It takes more than a theatrical spirit to revive the old operas that have been popular for a generation ago. It requires confidence on the part of the producers that the theatre going public of today are becoming more interested in better music and it takes a genuine desire to support some of the "fine" lyrical compositions and productions that are really worthwhile. Works of en during worth like the operettas of Gilbert and Sullivan or "The Bohemian Girl" or the "Chimes of Normandy" when properly produced are of cultural value to any community and it is unfortunate that there are not more revivals like the one that a Brandon Brothers are bringing.

With a stageful of worthwhile scenery and a cast of brilliant singing artists "The Mikado" will be one of the outstanding musical events of the season and prospective patrons are advised to make reservations well in advance.

"WHIT DESERT" PROVES TO BE FINE PICTURE

"The White Desert," which Reginald Barker directed for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, opened at the Griffin Theatre Thursday night; a romance of the snow-bonder barren peaks of the Occidental Divide in Colorado.

Fast moving drama lightened here and there by a true comedy touch makes it the finest of Barker's many pictures of the great outdoors. Beautiful photography, realism, and a smooth story combined with finished acting calls forth the highest praise. Clair Windsor and Pat O'Malley head the cast and their portrayals represent some of the finest screen acting of any current production. Robert Fraser, Frank Currier, and Mathew Betz have some fine moments also. Prints Pitamo and Suits Edwards supply the comedy relief for screen stories of the year.

RAG BAG IN FURNACE IN PITTSBURG CHURCH

Kingston, Dec. 26.On Sunday afternoon, Dec. 13th, another unfortunate incident occurred at St. John's Church, Pittsburg. Some unknown person entered the pipe, placed a bag of rags in the pipes leading from the furnace and as a result, the church building was filled with dense smoke and the young men in charge of the furnace had to leave the building.

It is understood the Unionists have their supply of fuel locked up in the church, while the remaining Presbyterians bring their supply to the church each Sunday.

Soap and Sewing

NEEDLES and thread, thimbles and scissors, all present themselves in this foreground of the complete when sewing is mentioned but soap is never given consideration as part of the sewing equipment. Once you have used soap as an aid to sewing, however, you will never be without a piece in your sewing basket.

To rub over the neatly creased seams in new table linen, soap is invaluable. The needle will slip through so much more readily than before the soap was applied.

A moistened bar of soap rubbed on the surface of a fine material, in which buttonholes or eyelets have to be made, will save fraying at the edge of the cut.

A piece of a bar of soap serves as an admirable needle cushion, preventing rust as well as holding the needles.

A white cake of soap is of course most suitable for general sewing purposes, as it will not discolor the fabrics.

NOTE—Our readers may obtain free, on application, a packet of Unused Uses of Soap, containing the National Housewife's Service, 111 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Forty-Seven Fires in Queen City All Due To Extreme Cold

Toronto, Dec. 28.—Through the presence of mind of Edward Dickson and the quick work of firemen seven persons were saved from a burning house this morning. The fire started in the room of G. F. Pratt on the second floor of the house. Dickson with Pratt, first attempted to extinguish the fire which started from a defective fire place. Pratt was quite seriously burned and Dickson, seeing that he could not get the fire out, started the rescue of other occupants of the house. He went to the assistance of J. Arp, Mrs Oliver Mohler, George Dickson and Baby Jack Dickson, when they were cut off from the lower floor, by the fire eating in the front stairs. In his night attire he lead them down the back stairs and then rushed through the smoke to the third floor where his wife and Mrs. Kohler were. All were cut off by the flames, but Dickson, calling to the woman, walked patiently until firemen erected an aerial to the third story window. Firemen took all to safety. Damage of $1200 was done to the house and contents. From Saturday night until this morning, there were 47 fires in Toronto with an estimated damage of $15,033. Extremely cold weather was the indirect cause of all fires.

Belleville Hit By Cold Snap Was 18 Below Sunday Morning Many Deaths in Northern U.S.A.

Old man Probs got right busy Christmas night and continued to serve up weather until visions of broken thermometers filled Belleville minds with expectancy. He served up the kind of weather that "makes one stay in the house".

The coldest temperature recorded here was early Sunday morning when the authoritative thermometer registered 18 degrees below zero, making the first real cold snap of this winter, and the second spasm of "below zero" weather. The lowest temperature recorded Saturday was 11 degrees below, the highest being 10 degrees below. Sunday the highest was 6 degrees below, the lowest 18 degrees below. The temperatures for Saturday of the same month in 1924 were 25 degrees and 4 degrees above, and for Sunday 1924, were 20 degrees above, as the highest and one degree below zero as the coldest.

STARTS AND STOPS COLD

The year 1925 started off with extremely cold weather and promises to finish the same. In January 1925, there were fifteen days on which the thermometer registered below zero, the coldest day below, and in 1925, 19 degrees below was the coldest. There was no zero weather in January that year. In 1922 eleven degrees below was the coldest.

Crunching snow and completely frosted windows gave fair warning Sunday morning that winter had arrived with vengeance. Milk men had a cold job Sunday morning and in some cases were forced into houses where they were warmed and given warm drinks. Though the weather was severe, many ventured forth to attend devine service, but during the day the streets were pretty well deserted. Business of "keeping the home fires burning" and contenting oneself with a day's quiet reading, seemed to be the day's orders.

MANY COULD ALSO FEEL IT

Just after noon time Sunday, the thermometer started to rise rather steadily and those who study weather conditions knew that the snap was over.

Mr. R. T. Austin, Manager of the Waterworks Department, who is quite a weather student, stated today that the thermometer not started to ascend when it did, Belleville would be "enjoying" a temperature of above 25 degrees below zero this morning. On the other hand however, Old Sol is nothing anew on south side roofs and Monday was voted an ideal winter day.

Thirteen Died of Cold in Chicago

Chicago, Dec. 28—Astronomers, with their eyes on sun spots and other polar phenomena, and weather prophets who recently warned of bitter cold weather, the latter part of December have seen their predictions come true. Cold weather directly or indirectly caused thirteen deaths in Chicago, while the mild, west metropolis saw more than a million dollars worth of property destroyed by fire in two days. Five hundred alarms were answered here. Fatalities included four men found frozen to death in the streets. Three deaths occurred at various points in Ohio and three in Kentucky, with other casualties distributed as follows: New York City, Pennsylvania, New York and Baltimore, 2 each; Philadelphia, Worcester, Mass, Yonkers, N.Y., and Toronto, 1 each.

NO ICE BRIDGE YET

AND MAY NOT BE ANY

Niagara Falls, Dec. 28—While the winter season here is beautiful there is none of an ice bridge. The bridge may be late in forming, and there is a possibility that there will not be any.

Elimination of the cross current in the river near the Upper Arch of the bridge caused by the flow from the Niagara Power Company's old tunnel, which is not in use now, is the reason that the bridge may not form. This current held the ice below the cataracts forming the bridges in former years.

City Council Attends in a Body—Funeral Conducted By Masons

The funeral of the late Alderman Samuel Treverton was held this afternoon from the residence 155 West Moira street to Belleville Cemetery. Interment was made.

City Council members attended the funeral in a body, the deceased having been an Alderman for many years. The funeral was held under Masonic auspices and was attended by scores of his brother Masons, who conducted the solemn funeral service at the grave.

Services were conducted at the home at 2 o'clock by Rev. L. Wight, and the house was crowded by the many friends who congregated to pay their last sad respects.

PUBLIC SCHOOL BOYS SANG FOR ROTARIANS HERE

Eleven Lads Gave Fine Rendering of Carols With Rotary Choir

BOARD IS PRAISED

Prof. Hunt Has Made Great Progress in Training Children

Eleven boys from the four public schools of Belleville today sang Christmas Carols for the Rotary Club and incidentally showed what tremendously fine work the Board of Education through their chief musical instructor Professor W. J. Hunt is doing toward the furtherance of musical education of the younger people in this city. The boys were:

Bobby Taylor, Dudley Gariepy, Raymond Lennox, Clare Carter, Jack Parsons, Carlisle Yates, Bruce Lattimer, Walter Hilton, Joe Robertson, Kenneth Munnings and Arthur Thompson.

With the assistance of the Rotary choir these lads sang with fine effect several Yuletide numbers including The First Nowell, Good King Wenceslas, We Three Kings of Orient Aye, Silent Night, and God Rest You Merry Gentlemen. The Rotary choir sang Rank to Me Only.

In the numbers here and there were solo parts, which were taken by Percy Wood, Donald Gariepy and Bobby Taylor and by Mr. J. A. Thomson. Mr. Hunt played the piano accompaniments.

The boys sang well under Mr. Hunt's direction with a fine volume of tone, true and sustained Mr. Hunt in a short address to the club said he could bring there time that many lads to sing if necessary. He was greatly pleased with the progress the children were making. President Bunny in thanking the boys said their singing was evidence of one very important thing the Board of Education had done during the year.

The club applauded each number vigorously and heard the boys with evident enjoyment.

NINE DAYS' WORK IN THE HARBOUR BRINGS NOTHING

Vain Effort to Recover Bodies of Boys Who Died Under Ice

SUGGESTS A FENCE

Mr. Smith in Charge Would Thus Prevent Them Going Into Bay

"Nothing."

This is the sum total of the labors which have been expended by willing workers who, for the past nine days—since the 19th—have probed the depth of Victoria Harbour in the vain effort to locate the bodies of Bernard Brown, 9 and Eugene Ellsworth, 10, who were swept into the water while playing.

CEASE WORK TUESDAY

The end of the working period for which the City authorized the employment of six men to work under the direction of Mr. Harry Smith, ice merchant, comes at three o'clock to-morrow—Tuesday. The work began at three o'clock Wednesday, the 22nd, was suspended Christmas Day (because of the weather and not the holiday) and Saturday.

Mr. Smith hoped today that an extra half day might be granted tomorrow because he has been working with a reduced staff part of the time. There were only three men at work this morning, but the others were there this afternoon.

ARE IN HARBOR

Mr. Smith said today that he thought that the bodies were in the Harbor yet. This is the result of observations of the number of floating cakes which were thrown into the stream a week ago Sunday. The location of the cakes was determined by fish lines tied to them.

The chance of finding the bodies was estimated as "one in a hundred" by Mr. Smith.

SUGGESTS A FENCE

He said that he could suggest as a last measure that a wire fence be stretched across the bay at the south tip of the Island, just at the surface of the ice. The fence would be placed in a slot which would be cut to receive it. This was suggested in order to prevent the bodies from being swept into the Bay or beyond in the Spring when the ice goes out.

The fence would insure that the bodies would be in the harbor then, if they are now.

In the meantime, time grows short, and the valiant men who have stood the brunt of the latter campaign certainly work ahead in the hopes of consoling partially the parents of the two boys.

Mrs. Brown was interviewed today as to the very ill fram rhiek.

COAL MINERS OFFERED JOBS AT OLD WAGES

Operators, in Advertisement, Ask Eight-Months' Truce

DOOR STILL OPEN

Lewis Will Reply To-morrow—Labor Man Not Enthusiastic

New York, Dec. 28—Anthracite operators offered armistice terms to striking miners, proposing that the latter, until such time as a new agreement has been drafted and signed, go back to work at the wages they received up to August 31, 1925, when the strike order was issued.

Small assurance came from the miners' organization that the terms of the proposal were acceptable, John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, curtly said the miners' reply to the offer will be made on Tuesday, when their spokesmen meet in conference with the operators in New York. Mr. Lewis is now in Springfield, Ill.

From Hazleton, Pa., where Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers, has headquarters, word reaks that union officials are determined the men will not go back to work until a new and satisfactory contract has been negotiated.

The peace proposal was made public through the New York offices of the Anthracite Operators' Conference, 111 Broadway. Newspapers in the anthracite regions will carry advertisements of the offer today, which will urge the miners to "think it over" and "talk it over among yourselves and with your leaders."

Accepted the proposal will itself constitute a new contract, operative under provisions of the old agreement for a period of eight months. In that length of time, apparently, it is hoped the two elements can settle their differences.

A MEETING TO-DAY

New York, Dec. 28.—Representatives of anthracite operators and miners met in separate hotels here to-day to prepare programs for a joint meeting to-morrow when another effort will be made to reach a settlement of the controversy which has stopped most of hard coal since September 1.

TURKEY EXCITED BY MOSUL AWARD

Territorial Loss Insignificant Compared With Loss of Prestige

NEW REVOLT FEARED

Government May be Forced Into War in Order To Avert it

London, Dec. 28.—J. A. Spender, well-known Liberal editor, now in Turkey, finds some cause for alarm in the Turkish attitude toward the award of Mosul to British mandated Irak. He telegraphs to the Westminster Gazette, of which he was formerly editor.

"The situation is really serious, although no decision will be reached pending the arrival of Yewsk Russell Bey (the Turkish Foreign Minister who attended the League of Nations session which made the award) next Tuesday, when the most critical period will begin. A supreme war council takes place today under the presidency of Mustapha Kemal. All army commanders will attend.

"I have had a conversation with a close friend of Kemal and director of the Government organ, also with the territorial loss of the Mosul district is insignificant compared with the loss of prestige in Kemal and his Government, which is still faced with strong opposition in Turkey.

"The Government fears repetition of the revolt in Northern Kurdistan last Spring, reinforced by a claim to Kurdish local autonomy as a result of the League decision. Warlike elements who have been loyal hitherto may now become hostile as a result of this diplomatic defeat.

SUGGEST COMPROMISE

"The Government will save its face if it were able to show some compromise instead of a complete loss of the Turkish case. The Government may be forced into war to regain its prestige and avert a revolution at home.

"There is also danger that the Chauvinist element in the Government may force Kemal to take strong action. The only possible means of averting these dangers is the Government to save its face.

"I am convinced the above represents the real situation. The Russian Turkish treaty signed by Tchitcherin and Tewfik in Paris contains a secret clause guaranteeing Soviet support to Turkey in case of war. Turkish press bitterly attacks the French Government and press for supporting the British position."

DEPOSITS STEADY LOANS ARE LESS

Annual Statement of Royal Bank Issued To-day Shows Progress

Montreal, Dec. 28.—Annual statement of Royal Bank of Canada was made public here today, showing an increase in assets of $285,000,000. The increase of approximately $105,000,000 may be attributed to the purchase of the Union Bank of Canada and the bank of Central and South America, it is stated in the report. Deposits show an increase of $180,000,000 of which $150,000,000 is in Canada. Current loans, however, did not keep pace with the growth in deposits, but there is an increase of $42,000,000 commercial loans in Canada.

Turned to Counterfeiting to Recoup Fortune Says Head Man

Elizabeth, N.J., Dec. 28.—Elizabeth police today were informed that the arrest of seven alleged international counterfeiters in New York and this state as the result of the apprehension here yesterday of Frank Wiezel and others on similar charges. Federal agents said eight arrests and three additional ones which they hoped to make today would dispose of the band of counterfeiters whose operations extend set throughout Canada and the United States. It was said that instead of printing presses, counterfeiters employed photo-engraving process.

New York, Dec. 28.—Arrest of five alleged members of counterfeiting band, whose operations included printing and distribution of fake stock certificates and federal reserve notes, was announced today by United States federal officials. Gang's operations are reported to have extended into Canada and Royal Mounted Police were said to have assisted in the roundup.

Secret service agents of the Treasury Department, who made the arrests, said all five men had confessed. Agents also said that evidence in investigation, showed that counterfeiting operations of the band totalled between $15,000 and $50,000. Of this amount $25,000 in counterfeit bills was distributed in Canada. Prisoners names are given by police as Frank Wiezand, formerly jeweler, who lives in Elizabeth, N.J.; Irving Miller and Norman Dossin of Manhattan, and Abraham Weinstein and Nathan Kraft of Bronx.

Wiezand was quoted by the agents as having said that his jewelry firm, Weigand Jewelry Corporation of Trilgnon, N.J., failed for $150,000 two years ago and that he turned to counterfeiting to recoup his losses. He counterfeiting ranged from $5 to $500 bills. Good notes in denominations ranging from $10 to $100 also were counterfeited.

WESTERN FARMS SEEKING GARNET AS SEED IN 1926

Fame of New Wheat Has Brought Shoal of Requests to Depots

NO FROST IN 6 YEARS

Best Thing So Far Devised For the Western Plains

Calgary, Alta., Dec. 28 (By Canadian Press).—The satisfactory results of tests to which Garnet wheat has been subjected, has aroused keen interest throughout Western Canada. Garnet (Ottawa 652), the latest variety of wheat developed at the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa.

According to reports, Prairie farmers, anxious to try out the new wheat, are flooding the government experimental stations seeking their respective districts with applications for test seed. Although preliminary milling and baking tests have made; more thorough tests will be conducted before the seed is released for general distribution. A limited quantity of seed has been sent to a number of the experimental stations, which however, has failed to meet the demand.

Giving details of the development of Garnet wheat, C.E. DeLong, B.S.A., assistant superintendent of the dominion experimental farm, Lacombe, Alta., states that the new wheat has been grown at the Alberta station since 1919. During that period, he says, it required an average of 113 days to mature, while the average for Marquis wheat was 123 days. In further comparing these two varieties, Marquis gave an average yield of 46 b. to the 6, pounds, an acre, against 44 bushels, 12 pounds an acre for Garnet (Ottawa 652).

Continuing Mr. De Long says:—

"Garnet (Ottawa 652), is somewhat similar to Baby Ottawa 625, in length and strength of straw. Garnet straw also shows a tendency to develop the rubo coloration, distinctive of Ruby. The shape of its head gives the standing room, the appearance of being a very heavy yielder.

"Garnet appears to be about midway between Marquis and Ruby in tendency to shatter if allowed to become too mature before harvesting.

"The experimental station at Lacombe, has never had Garnet (Ottawa 652 subjected to frost during the six years in has been grown. For this reason no definite information is available concerning the frost resistance of this variety as compared with the others."

In the opinion of Mr. De Long Garnet Ottawa has a place in Central Alberta and other districts where Marquis is subject to injury from rust or early frosts Whether advancing the harvest one week in districts where Marquis is not menaced by rust or early frost, would justify growing Garnet in preference to Marquis, has not been demonstrated.

"Those farming in such districts should keep in mind that Marquis is accepted as the standard milling wheat throughout Canada and the United States," Mr. De Long advises. "They should also remember that Garnet is a new variety and has yet to prove its worth under varying conditions to the same extent Marquis has.

"There is little doubt that Garnet Ottawa 652 will replace Ruby Ottawa 623. These two wheats mature in approximately the same time, but Garnet will out yield Ruby by several bushels per acre and does not shatter to the same extent.

HONOR OF ANCESTOR REDEEMED BY HEIRS

$500,000 Lost in Failure in 1879 Paid by Banker's Successors

Springfield, Ill., December 28.—Cheques totalling $800,000, in payment of a "claim on family honor", were mailed last night from Springfield by the heirs of Jacob Bunn, pioneer Illinois banker and merchant.

They go to heirs of the depositors in the J. Bunn Bank, which closed its doors in 1878, and represent the losses and the interest thereon.

Jacob Bunn hoped to pay that loss. The bank which failed for $500,000 had assets on which it was possible to realize only $572,009. When he died, in 1897, he had not been able to pay up.

Two years ago his heirs created as a memorial to their father the fund from which today's payments were made. The intervening time has been spent in locating the heirs of the original depositors and completing the accounts.

The failure of the Bunn Bank was a historical event in Illinois. Jacob Bunn was a partner of Abraham Lincoln. John W. Bunn, his younger brother, had been associated with Lincoln in Springfield politics.

AVERAGES 28 BUSHELS IN 20 YEARS ON FARM

Champion, Alta., Dec. 28. (By Canadian Press).—Western Canada's agricultural history abounds with records of enormous wheat yields per acre, but the district underwent the name of Horace Johnson, an old-timer of the Champion community, for the title of the most consistent producer of good crops.

For more than twenty years Mr. Johnson has farmed in this district and according to figures he has kept, has never raised a yield of about twenty-eight bushels to the acre during the entire period Mr. Johnson has never experienced a crop failure although he has suffered losses similar to other farmers from natural causes.

ITALY IS ANTI-GERMAN

Rome, Dec. 28.—Anti-German sentiments are flaring up in Italy. Denouncing Germany as "our inclinclin" and "our enemy" the Fascist paper Impero has come out with a warning to Italians against trade and other activities of Germany. As immediate occasion of the paper's article is that the German press is perturbed over treatment of Germans in South Tyrol, the district which includes famous Bennar pass through the mountains. The pass is the shortest route between Central Germany and Italy and marks the frontier between Italy and Austria.

VERY CLEVER CHILDREN

Pryelle, Margaret and Mary Fors'er, children of Dr. and Mrs. G. J. Forster, 65 Victoria avenue, were the most favorable looking stars in the Bandolier Concert Party at the Capitol Theatre on Christmas Day and the title folks numbers, Freddie in recitations and Mary and Margaret in songs and dances were most enthusiastically encored by the capacity audiences present. To the delight of the audience who knew the children's talent only by reputation, the performances were a revelation at the gifts possessed by them.

PLAINTIVE CRY IN PACKING CASE STIRS TRUCKER

He Seized Crow Bar to Rescue the "Kid" But Was Persuaded Not To!

Calgary, Alta., Dec. 28. (By Canadian Press)—Hoarse was sounded like a plaintive cry of a child in agony, issuing from a packing case containing dogs consigned to a local merchant, a railway trucker raced to the appliances to open the cases ostensible shouting to fellow employes to come to his assistance.

"Get an axe quick and smash open the case before the kid suffocates," the man appealed. He was about to wield a heavy crowbar when he was halted by a foreman.

"Where is the car checked from?" he better queried.

"It's all the way from Winnipeg—and it we don't hurry the kid'll be soon dead!" the trucker replied, excitedly.

Just then light dawned upon the foreman. He grabbed the iron bar and shoved it to the ground. Plainly disgusted he walked away with the jarring sally—"sure there's a kid in there—he's a regular chip of a dog from the right." It's just a coincidence of Mc-Mc' dolls, I'll lay odd to soup sandwiches you fiend to pay for the load."

The trucker is reported to be nursing a grouch.

PEACE RIVER THRIVES PEOPLE GOING BACK

Those Who Abandoned Farms Two Years Ago Now Seeking a Return

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 28.—(By Canadian Press)—Canadians in the United States who abandoned their Peace River homesteads two years ago, when times were particularly hard, are making constant inquiries concerning conditions for making a return migration there next spring, according to R. N. Moore, assistant divisional commissioner of immigration for the western district, who has just completed an inspection of the Peace River territory.

Peace River farmers who two years ago were leaving in droves, today have between $400 and $500 in the bank, Mr. Munro stated. There was general prosperity and everyone was optimistic about the future and in a good to stay. Anything could be grown in the Peace River soil, Mr. Munro asserted. Improvement of conditions in the district are due to several factors, the chief among which he cited a material reduction in the freight rates. Other factors mentioned were abundant pasture, the plentiful harvest garnered with out mishap, better grain and cattle prices.

The need of the community was for more trackage leading directly out than at present, while settlers in the southern areas were sorely in need of adequate transportation facilities.

It was certain that the generally improved conditions in the Peace River district would lead to a great influx of new as well as former settlers, Mr. Munro stated.

LUMBER-JACK OF DIME THRILLER GIVES PLACE TO MEN WHO STUDY!

Fort William, Ont., Dec. 28.— (By Canadian Press)—Canada's lumberjack, the bearded, hard-drinking, swearing, picturesque figure around whom romance and fiction have ever entwined, is no more. His time is past, never to return, says W. C. Millar, on returning here from a visit through the lumber camps in the district. Mr. Millar is provincial sanitary inspector for Ontario.

Although there are about 8,000 men employed in lumbering operations in Northern Ontario, Mr. Millar declares he found nowhere the lumberjack as pictured in novels. In his long tour of inspection, he found that the camps were filled with ambitious young men, saving money for a college education and hard-working foreigners laying aside a "nest egg". They work three times a day, they shave and bathe regularly. Three time a day they enjoy meals as good as served in many hotels, Mr. Millar said.

Every man has an individual bed. Baths are above-note are provided. Hot and cold water is always on tap. Beans and bacon, the inspector, asserted, had given way to steak and

TO MY SON BERNARD, AGED 9 YEARS

Drowned in Belleville Harbour, Sat. Dec. 19th, 3.30 p.m.

Oh Bernard, Bernard, why did you go
Down on the ice to play?
You knew that your mother had told you
Never to go that way.

But somehow the cold ice attracted,
And down that way you went
Where there was no constant companion
Only on pleasure bent.

You with toy gun and Cowboy with a stick
Together poking ice
Running, chatting, catching each other
That saying it was nice.

Then a crack, and a splash—no sudden
Help your feet gave way
The ice was so thin, just over there
Here, the end of your play.

In a moment or two you lay under
Down in the waters cold
And we cannot tell wherein find you
The secret is not told.

Your mother has sought you sorrowing
Her face with tears are wet
It seems so long since we saw you last
And the days are quiet yet.

Oh Bernard, Bernard when will you come
Back to your home again?
Your mother does so want to kiss you
Just to relieve her pain.

Wainwright Buffalo Happy In New State

Have Become Acclimatized in Far North and Will Not Come South

Edmonton, Alta., Dec. 28 (By Canadian Press).—The herd of Wainwright buffalo transported last summer to the Wood Buffalo Park on the Slave river already are thoroughly acclimatized to their new home, according to reports who have been under the care of the larger wood bison, according to trappers who have come from the park to Fortsmith.

Some of these men saw a herd of about 100 of the plains buffalo, led by Pat Burns, swim the Slave river, quietly along the Slave river, in the Lake Claire district.

It is believed that these animals either swam the Peace river in the summer or fall, or else crossed later over the ice. They were fat and healthy, with a fine winter coat and showing every evidence of being perfectly contented in their new habitat.

It is pointed out that with the smaller animals under the protection of the wood buffalo bulls, there is practically no danger of them wandering far. In the spring the old bulls will lead their new companions north again, to the mud volcanoes and the succulent grasses of Wood Buffalo Park.

A few animals have been seen even farther south than Lake Claire. Two buffalo rangers are watching the herd and will see that the animals head back across the Peace river should they show any inclination to go too far south.

The most annoyed persons in the Slave Lake country at this advent of the buffalo, are the Indians. Following snowshoe trails and other tracks, the animals are reported to have spoiled the traps, uprout them and usually destroy them.

Wall Street Boisterous as Christmas Distribution Made

New York, December 28.—The Christmas celebration on the Stock Exchange and in Wall street generally was the happiest and most boisterous experienced in any year since prior to the war. Never in the history of the financial district have brokerage firms, investment houses and banking institutions experienced such a profitable year as 1925. The profits accruing to these various institutions broke all records as did the volume of business transacted and the bonuses distributed to employees. In all it was estimated that Wall street distributed approximately $50,000,000 to the workers in the form of bonuses while the various corporations distributed an amount estimated at $100,000,000 in extra or increased dividends.

The celebration on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange started during the last hour of trading when brokers began throwing confetti and streamers all about the floor. On the Broad street side of the Exchange the Seventh Regiment band played popular selections during the celebration. Excitement prevailed on the floor of the Exchange and jubilation was expressed in all quarters, the enthusiasm being stimulated by sharp advances in stock prices, many of which moved forward to new high records for the current year. Wild as was the celebration during the last hour of trading it became the more pronounced after the official of the exchange sounded the gong which pronounced the day's business done.

The interior of the Exchange gave one the impression of a raging snow storm as confetti was thrown about. Crowds in the gallery consisted mainly of the wives and friends of the brokers participating in the celebration.

DANCERS COMPETE

A feature of the celebration, just before the close of business, was a Charleston contest between two dancers on the floor of the Exchange. The celebration at first was confined to the pages but before long some of the most staid members of the Exchange were found dancing around with their colleagues and others participating in the celebration as if they were youngsters. The scene according to some of the oldest members, surpassed any other in the history of the Stock Exchange and Wall Street in General.

On Broad street, Wall street's community Christmas celebration which started officially on Wednesday, was continued. This celebration which was arranged for the strict generally, consisted of the playing of seasonable selections on the chimes during the greater part of the afternoon.

More than 1000 poor children were guests in the afternoon on the floor of the Exchange. Each child received a bag full of Christmas presents consisting of toys, candies and fruits. F. H. Whiting acted the part of Santa Claus, and he shook hands with all the children as they passed by the huge Christmas tree on the floor, decorated with numerous colored lights. A jazz band was on hand to render music, while stars of the vaudeville stage entertained.

DIPPING FOR THE TICK

SHEEP NEED PROTECTION FROM THESE ARISTOCRATS PARASITES

How to Use the Dip—A Home-made Dip—Rotary Paradise—Treatment for Hot Fly Larvae—Mineral Mixture.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Before the flock enter winter quarters in the fall they should all receive a thorough dipping. A bright, warm day in October should be chosen and the dipping done in the morning so the wool will have time to dry before night. It is safe to say that fall dipping of the flock should never be neglected. Even in those flocks that are supposed to be clean it will pay. In case any sheep are to be added to the flock they should always be dipped before being taken in with those that are already clean, so says the Department of Animal Husbandry, O. A. C.

The Way to Use the Dip.

There are several different brands of sheep dip on the market, any one of which will give satisfactory results provided directions are carefully followed. The water to be used for dipping should be warmed and the mixture should be kept constantly to prevent the heavier dip settling to the bottom. The sheep should remain in the dip for approximately two minutes to allow the wool and skin to become thoroughly saturated.

Using the flock is a very large one it will not be necessary to build an expensive dipping tank. A large trough or barrel might answer if nothing else is at hand. However, a very satisfactory tank can be built of ordinary tongued and grooved lumber. Approximately 1,000 gallons may be used and have the inside of the tank watertight. Before straw rainwater from eaves properly conducted to the tank will supply the good vat, although possibly rather expensive.

A Home-made Dip.

Kerosene emulsion, a simple remedy easily prepared at home, is effective.

Prepared as follows:

2 pints of Coal Oil
1 pint of milk.

Mix thoroughly in an old dash churn—dilute to use by adding eight gallons of soft water to each gallon of concentrated emulsion. If milk is not available, use hen laundry soap as follows: One half-pound of laundry soap in gallon of hot soft water, then add two gallons Coal Oil (while hot), churn up well and then dilute to use by adding eight gallons of soft water to each gallon of concentrated emulsion.

Dip the sheep after shearing and repeat in five days to get the eggs.

Poultry Parasites.

A long winter generally means a weakened vitality in all animals, and anything that can be done to remove obstacles and help to keep the animals should be done. One of the great obstacles to successful poultry husbandry is the invasion of intestinal parasites. These parasites breed within the bird winter or summer, taking their toll unseen and irrespective of weather conditions. They are worse than potato beetles, which are honest enough to do their mischief in plain view, and work just eight hours a day for six straight weeks in the year. The intestinal parasites infesting poultry have a nasty code of their own—"24 hours per day and 365 days per year, get all you can, way worry about the poultry-keeper's profits." At the O.A.C. the intestinal parasites infesting the poultry flocks were banished for good and forever eighteen months ago. How was it done?

The Method.—A gallon of a mixture of wheat and oats to which is added a small teaspoonful of concentrated lye, is cooked slowly for two hours and allowed to cool. The birds are given their ordinary feed one morning and this cooking compound the next morning, when they are given as much of the lye mixture as they will eat, not more. This is done two or three times during the season at intervals of one month.

The large, round worm infesting poultry may be as short as one inch, and the cæcum worm only three-tenths of an inch, and one of tape worms only one-fifteenth of an inch long. Very easy to overlook.—L. Stevenson, O.A.C., Guelph.

Treatment for Hot Fly Larvae.

Heavy infestations may cause indigestion. Give the horse a chance; help him to be comfortable by removing the too numerous bot fly larvae from his stomach.

Fast the horse twenty-four hours and give three capsules of carbon bisulphide, to be given one at a time, at three hour intervals.

The larvae generally pass from the stomach in June; so into the soil for six weeks and then re-appear to start their devilish work over again.—Dept. of Extension, O.A.C., Guelph.

Mineral Mixture.

The following mineral mixture is used in the swine feeding at the Ontario Agricultural College. In giving good satisfaction:—

Carbonate of Ammonia	1 pound
Ashes	8 pounds
Salt	2 pounds
Slaked Lime	2 quarts
Sulphur	1 pound
Stone Dust	10 pounds

This preparation is kept in a suitable box in each pen where it may be taken by the animal at will.

The Calves.

Keep plenty of pure water before the calves and give bright hay or pasture grass. It is surprising how much water they will drink.

"Let there be harmony in things essential—liberty in things not essential—Charity in all."

HAVE WE A NEW GERMANY ?

With the disposal of the story that the Germans made fertilizer or soap of the dead bodies of soldiers with the conclusion of the Locarno Treaty, and with the admittance of Germany into the brotherhood of nations as represented by the League of Nations, there is a general disposition to be generous towards the Germans as a nation.

The Boston Transcript, however, issues a reminder that the more serious items in the ordinary account of German misdeeds have not yet been disposed of. The "scrap of paper" theory of the value of a solemn treaty is not a myth. The massacres of citizens at many little seaside towns, the unjustifiable punishment for civilian firing upon the invading hordes, are not a myth. The destruction of the Louvain library is not a myth. The execution of Edith Cavell is not a myth. The deliberate and permanent destruction by explosives of the soil of French fields is not a myth. The torpedoing of the Lusitania is not a myth, nor is the medal that was struck in exultation over the killing of non-combatants on the steamship a forgery. Maximilian Harden, a German, knew what he was saying when he wrote at the end of the year 1918:

Fifty-one months of brutal rule in Belgium where administrative unity was broken and raw materials, machinery, goods of every kind, and three millions in cash and banknotes alone were carried away. All law was broken, forced labor imposed, civilians were deported, and all the eleventh hour industries were still destroyed and towns plundered.

The devastation of Northern France and the destruction of cathedrals, monuments, mines, factories and orchards.

All raids against all law and all custom;

The slashing of passenger ships and hospital ships;

Secret agreements with the Irish and the Flemish;

The smuggling of explosives, bacilli and incendiary instruments into neutral countries;

Everywhere bribery, fraud and theft.

The men in power in Germany today, are, of course, very different in character from those who directed the nation prior to and during the war. The present disposition to be generous towards Germany, and to look to her as a partner in the brotherhood which is working for the reconstruction of the world, is symptomatic of the relief and the hopes inspired by the change in the mentality of her rulers. The people of Canada, in common with those of the other aied nations, are hoping for a new and worthier Germany. But Germany has yet to prove her claim to a change of heart, and whatever in that section will not be helped of the men of the present regime begin to apologize for the deeds of the imperialists of 1912—18.

PREVENTING DIPHTHERIA

Attempts to make toxin-antitoxin treatment for diphtheria compulsory among school children have encountered in some quarters the same resistance experienced when vaccination for smallpox was made mandatory for children entering the public schools. Public opposition in both cases was occasioned by fear of fatal results and ignorance of the nature and purpose of the operation.

While objection is made today against vaccination for smallpox it is hardly without exception because of some religious belief. As a whole, the public has a great confidence in diphtheria immunization and physicians predict a time close at hand when opposition to it will have disappeared.

The only argument of any force against immunization is that injections have been fatal in certain cases. Serum inadequately tested has caused some deaths in the United States, but regulations adopted by all biological plants now make the danger of such accidents negligible, if not impossible. Even in its incipiency the immunization process was less perilous than crossing a busy street.

The diphtheria preventive has passed the stage of experiment; it is an assured fact of medicine. By the self-ek test it can be determined whether or not a child is immune from the disease. If it is not, the child can be made immune by injections of toxin-antitoxin, which give lifelong protection.

Many people have developed from natural causes the antitoxin regime for diphtheria, but for those who have not the only way to immunity from the disease is submission to injections of anti-antitoxin.

LET'S GO

The British Industries Fair, omitted this year on account of the Wembley Exposition, is to be resumed this Winter. It will be held in two sections, one in London and the other in Birmingham, from February 15th to 24th. It enables British manufacturers to display their wares and give buyers from all over the world a special opportunity of surveying the market and comparing the product of a large field of industry. There is active co-operation between the British Board of Trade and the British trade commissioners of Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver in the matter of putting the event before the business houses here.

In an illustrated folder just received from the other side is noted the following slogan:

The quality of British goods is the standard by which all other goods are judged.

The British Industries Fair is the annual opportunity of the world's Trade Buyers to inspect the products of the principal manufacturers of the British Empire.

Now even if this is only approximately true, it is at least truer of Great Britain than of any other country. Why those interested must visit the Fair is given in six reasons:

1. All the most enterprising manufacturers exhibit at it.
2. All the keenest buyers attend it each year.
3. It is the World's most important display of Quality Goods.
4. You will save money because British goods can now compete in every market.
5. You will save the time because you can do as much business in an hour as in days at any other time.
6. You will get "service" because British manufacturers are seeking export trade.

IT'S A BRITISH FILM, TOO

There have been "movies" for more than a quarter of a century, but they have been looked at rather askance by the people with brows really high and treated with something of disdain, real or pretended, as providing primitive amusement for the masses, says the New York Times. Possibly the disrespectful name given to them in this country has had something to do with keeping them in low esteem. If we had used the more stately word "drama" and sometimes lengthened it out to "cinematograph" the status of "the pictures" might have been different.

But at last, at least in London, the dames has gained access to the very highest circle. The signing of the Locarno treaties was an event even more solemn than joyful and such a gathering of the leading statesmen from seven nations naturally would have its dignity guarded with care. It seems to have been realized, however, that the scene was one of such importance that it should be made permanently visible to the great part of the world that goes to the movie theatres, and with this in view the camera men were called in. Though they were not allowed to pose the premiers and chancellors or to tell them to look pleasant or stern, they had almost every other privilege and took as many pictures as they pleased.

That the dignity of the scene suffered from this innovation hardly can be denied, but there was a counterbalancing gain, and all of the variously eminent personages evidently were well content to get the sort and amount of immortality that the silver disc can give. They saw the developed film the same evening at a dinner and had no complaints to make about having been put on exhibition for the vulgar.

THE VERY PLACE FOR HIM

A very old, seedy-looking man presented himself at a hospital for dogs and cats and asked permission to be taken in.

The hall-porter glanced at the old-looking gentleman and showing him into a waiting room, said he would make inquiries.

Some moments later a doctor made his way to the waiting room, and the old man repeated his request.

"I am very sorry," said the doctor, "but you can't come in here."

"Yes! I can," protested the old fellow, "I'm an old soldier."

"But, my good man, you can't", was the reply, "this is a veterinary hospital."

"That's right," he answered, seriously, "didn't I tell you I'm a veteran?"

STRIKING AT THE ROOT

It was hard times on old MacTammart, the laird of Thirdsdeby, who was anxious to be out and about his business, and here he was, laid up with a bad attack of gout.

The local doctor came, and of course, began to examine the old man's foot. The old man used bad language and wound up with an angry demand:

"Why don't you strike at the root of the matter and make me better?"

Without a word the doctor picked up his walking-stick and shattered a decanter of port wine, which stood on the table.

With a yelp of wrath and a grunt of pain, MacTammart sprang to his feet.

"Wi't did ye dae that for?" he demanded fiercely.

"Och," replied the doctor, a blunt old chap, "I was just striking at the root."—George B. Cranston in the Cornish Arms Bulletin.

A Heart's Triumph

By Ella Adelaide Rowlands.

"Don't begin raking up the past. You'll get all the account of me—by trial and conviction!" said Win to Melbourne. It was a big case and it was a notoriety for several weeks. They put my picture in the papers. They called me a hard some woman in those days. Ah, ah, it must strike you as funny to hear that now, when you see what I am but it was the truth."

She was swaying to and fro in her chair, her face white to the lips, and tears that seemed like frozen anguish and sorrow stealing down her cheeks. Even the husky horror of her voice was lost at the moment. She was a living, suffering woman, and there was something about her that made Sebastian Thorold to the heart and oppressed him with the sense of a terrible wrong. Then all at once, she stretched out her hands to him—those poor, roughened, distorted hands, and she had a sob in voice.

"Heaven bless you!" she said. "Heaven bless you! You don't know what you have done for me. You are the first creature who has doubted my sin. There will be a reward for you for this, if God is just as I have long taught myself to believe was not the truth."

Sebastian Thorold held her hands in his tenderly, reverently.

"Never doubt divine mercy," he said with solemn emphasis. "It is one who plans—never God!"

She shrank back in her chair and drew her cloak about her.

"Ah, cruelty, cruelty, unutterable cruelty of man!" she said, with a wail. "When with an effort, she recovered herself. "Forgive, here have written the names of those who can testify regarding me. I have been away since I left Melbourne. Some of those who knew me are dead, but these few are living. They will tell you all you want to know."

Doctor Thorold took the papers.

"You will trust those with me?" he said.

She bent her head. Her old look her old manner, had come back to her.

"Yes, I will trust you," she answered.

"Then very soon silent a little while, Doctor Thorold spoke first.

"You will stay, here for a time, then you must have some comforts. Have you had food today? I am sure you have not. I must look to this. Sir Charles' lawyers will be down here in a few days and you will have to go through some weary ing interviews. I will have some food and wine sent to you."

He turned to go, but she called him back.

"Friend, friend, I don't want to rob her—no, not one farthing. I came to punish him, but not her. I have been very, very lonely because never had no complaints to make about having been put on exhibition for the vulgar.

"Don't be afraid of that," he said, "I will not rob her. Now I must go."

"Yes, I will trust you," she answered.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN—FEATURES FOR ALL

LATEST CAMPAIGN WOULD LENGTHEN WOMEN'S SKIRTS

Thirty Years Ago It Was other Way—Appeal To Society Women

New York, Dec. 28.—A campaign has been started by Mrs. John B. Henderson, Washington's "Grand Old Woman" to lengthen women's skirts and to stop the modern "hipper" from smoking cigarettes.

The "Rain Daisies" members of the Rainy Day club, organized thirty years ago to "shorten women's skirts and its president, Mrs. Louise Ralston, doubt that Mrs. Henderson's appeal to club and society women of the world to "war on short skirts and cigarettes, will eliminate those expressions of women's modernism.

"We certainly looked better than we know," Mrs. Ralston said.

"We started the agitation for the short skirt and now they are too short. Our constitution decreed that skirts should be at least six inches above the ground but we never thought to place any limit in the other direction. "Mrs. Henderson's plea is for a skirt to cover the ankles.

Miss Helen Varick Bowell, Member of the Daughters of the American revolution, thinks that the length of a skirt is a matter of taste. "All women do not have pretty legs," she says, "those that have not should wear long skirts. Cigarette smoking must be looked upon in the same manner as the dress question. Too much smoking is bad for women's health."

WOMAN FATALLY HURT THROWN FROM CUTTER

Mrs. Thomas Lingard With Husband Returning to Port Hope Home

Port Hope, Dec. 28.—Driving home to Port Hope from the country where she had spent Christmas Day, Mrs. William Lingard was thrown from the cutter when the horse took fright and bolted. She died that evening in hospital without regaining consciousness. Her skull was fractured.

Mr. and Mrs. Lingard were returning along the Peterboro highway, and had just passed through the detour at the old Canadian Northern overhead bridge when the horse, a very spirited animal, took fright at a passing car and commenced to race wildly down the street. Mr. Lingard made desperate efforts to stop the frightened animal but was unsuccessful.

Fearing that the horse would go over the cliffs at the foot of Hope Street, Mr. Lingard successfully turned the horse at the intersection of Ward and Hope. At King street, the horse turned to the south and galloped at full speed down the steep incline. Near the Cobourg road crossing some part of the cutter broke and the vehicle overturned. Mr. and Mrs. Lingard were thrown to the ground with terrific force.

Mrs. Lingard was rushed to the hospital where her injuries were found to consist of a serious fracture of the skull and various scalp wounds. Mr. Lingard escaped with a fractured collar bone which, however did not necessitate his confinement to the hospital.

Ottawa and Montreal drew further away from the remaining clubs in the National Hockey League by virtue of their wins Saturday night. New York's victory over Pittsburgh brought the other important change in the standing, the Gotham club jumping past Canadiens to take fourth place in the race, their victory over Pittsburgh, a New York being the Americans within three points of the Pirates and third positions. The New York victory would seem to indicate that the team has struck its real gait.

MAROONS ROUGHED IT

At Toronto Montreal defeated St. Patricks by 2 to 0 in a hard fought game here on Saturday night and left no doubt of their superiority.

The Irish, driven desperate by their lowly standing in the National Hockey League gave everything they had but their best was not good enough when facing the Maroons, who showed that they have little to fear from any other team in the league. In fact they are the best aggregation seen here this season.

Coach Eddie Girard has worked wonders with his squad and the Maroons are vastly stronger now than when they lost the opening game at Ottawa by 3 to 2. Nelson Stewart, "Dale" Hiebert and "Hobie" Kitchen, amateur stars last winter, turned in brilliant exhibitions, with Stewart the most effective. The great Montreal centre player went the route except on the occasion that he was penalized and he made the locals look foolish on attack and defence.

The game was the roughest of the local season. It had hardly started before Bert Corbeau opened up a feud with Stewart and there was no mercy shown by either. Finally Corbeau struck the former Cleveland player and the return blow caught Corbeau on the chin and felled him with a resounding thud. Evidently Mr. Stewart knows something about the manly art. Both battlers received five minute penalties and following the episode Stewart made life miserable for the St. Patrick's defence man, checking him to a standstill and stick-handling around him at will. Corbeau, however, never gave up trying and near the end of the game he led some dangerous rushes that might easily have resulted in goals.

There were nineteen penalties, Montreal getting eleven. The balance were as follows:—Montreal:—Hiebert 3; Stewart 2; Kitchen 3; Broadbent; Elmer and McCaffrey, Day, Neville and Corbeau. Jack Adams had a bad night of it. He was chased three times in succession in the second period. Kitchen, Stewart and Hiebert, the amateur recruits, drew slight penalties.

NEW YORK GOING STRONG

At New York in a fast, rough game played at Madison Square Garden, the New York pro hockey team swept the Pittsburgh Pirates to defeat by a score of 3 to 1 before a cheering crowd of 10,000 spectators. It was the New Yorks first victory on its home ice and from the improved work it looks as if the Americans would be up near the top at the end of the National Hockey League season.

The home team exhibited a much better brand of team work than in any previous game. The match was their second victory in three games against the hard-working Pirates.

Most of the time "Shorty" Green and his namesake Red, not to mention Captain Burch, were carrying the puck into the victors' territory.

The second period, in which Pittsburgh tied the score at one-all, was the fastest and also the roughest of the game. At about the middle of the period, Miller, of Pittsburgh, and McKinnon, of New York, had the most serious clash of the evening.

HOCKEY BEGINS TUESDAY NIGHT

Cobourg Will Be Here For Exhibition Game With Belleville

Hockey season opens in Belleville Tuesday night when Cobourg Intermediates will play an exhibition game with local Intermediate O.H.A. six.

The Intermediate O.H.A. season opens January 5 when Belleville plays Trenton at Trenton.

This exhibition game has been arranged to give the locals a chance to show their wares against opposition before the opener. There is nothing like a regular game to whip the boys into shape and line.

To-night, a real "full turnout" practice will be held at the rink, and it is fully expected that the rail birds will be greeted by a good crowd of players.

The initial practice was held between 7 and 8 o'clock Saturday night with "Dan" Whalen, Gil Coyer and several others out. Frank Goyer, Vern Weir and probably Hagerman will be out to-night. Sickness kept Frank and Stan of Saturday night.

Those who were out Saturday had a good workout.

TURKEY IS RESTLESS

London, Dec. 28.—Reports from Turkey state the nation is inflamed by the Mosul award and may declare war.

which was featured by numerous penalties.

Despite it's mild sounding name, Miller, who played guard, slashed McKinnon on the head with his stick, inflicting four stitches on McKinnon and the cut missed part of the ice himself. They both came back to be penalized, so the injuries were not serious.

The redoubtable "Shorty" Green scored the first goal of the game after ten minutes and 23 seconds of the first period. There was no more scoring in this session, but Burch, McKinnon and Cameron, the latter for Pittsburgh, tallied in the fast second period.

There was no scoring in the third session although Pittsburgh tried its best to even up the score. For those statistically inclined the shots on each goal tender were: 15 on Worters and 68 on Forbes by Pittsburgh.

CANADIENS SHUT-OUT

At Montreal smart hockey general ship as opposed to disorganized play by the opposition gave Ottawa a 3 to 0 victory over Canadiens before a packed Arena Saturday night. The win was the fifth shutout scored by the league leaders in their nine games so far this season and, incidentally, was the second 3-0 win the Senators have tallied at Canadiens' expense in their two games this early in the season.

Canadiens were very much in the picture in the first period of the game when they started out with their customary opening rush. Senators, Joliat and Billy Boucher sent throws after throw against the Senators, but the speedsters of the dashing plays could make no headway against the Senators' defensive game. And it was the Clancy-Boucher outer guard which was blocking the rushes so much as the sweeping sticks of Frank Nighbor and Hooley Smith, who smothered rush after rush with their poke and hook checks at mid-ice. This period found the Canadien attack simple to retire. There was little attempt at combination by the local forwards and it was just because of halting the puck-carriers. Canadiens did pass the puck on occasion, but the wings were seldom there and the passes invariably were intercepted.

TWO HELD FOR THEFT IN HALIBURTON COUNTY

Lindsay, Dec. 28.—Two residents of Monmouth Township were arrested by Provincial Officer Storey, on the charge of theft in Haliburton County, and were remanded on Christmas Day for a week.

The Provincial officer had been in the northern county for two or three days this week investigating a robbery at the Hunbey residence in Wilberforce. This residence had been entered by parties unknown, and a large amount of linen, cut glass, crockery, chinaware, etc., to the value of $400.00 stolen.

Provincial Officer Storey had absolute by no clue to work upon in connection with the theft, but accidentally struck up on the movement of one or two men who had left that district. The clue was followed up, with the result that the missing articles were recovered and the men placed under arrest.

RATS FORM PEST IN CANADA WEST

Efforts Will Be Made to Stamp them Out—Some History

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 28, (By Canadian Press).—Manitoba is menaced by a terrible rodent plague and according to reports the fields are so badly infested in certain localities as to cause alarm. While the provincial department of agriculture has information of serious damage by rats and mice to grain in stacks and storage, the situation so far has not reached the stage where removal of the "rat virus" campaign of a few years ago, is regarded as necessary by the authorities. Measures, however, are being taken in affected areas to eradicate the destructive pest.

Manitoba has no native rat, authorities point out, except of course, the musk rat. All the rats in the province have come in during the last twenty years, chiefly from the United States.

According to Prof. V. W Jackson, of the Manitoba Agricultural college a pair of rats, given plenty of room and food, will produce 20,155,292 offspring in three years. One rat will eat two pounds of grain a year and do damage to a great deal more. The cost of upkeep per rat has been estimated at $1.26 in Great Britain $1.20 in Denmark and $1.00 in France. The United States department of Agriculture, according to the Jackson, estimates that there are 350 million rats in that country and that they cost the nation $200,000,000 a year, or about the equivalent of 200,000 farmers are kept busy raising food for rats. Rats have been known to attack live animals and fat pigs have died as a result of having holes eaten in them. The rodents occasionally gnaw the hoofs of horses until they bleed.

Miss Ross and Cole Lead the Rest in the Elimination Series

At the "O" alley on Saturday night the first games in the elimination series were played and in the first game Mrs. Thomas and H. Peate won from Miss Ross and G. Wat kins by 72 pins. In the second game Mrs. Thomas and H. Peate with Miss Whalen and G. Lynch defeated Mrs. Lee and R. Cole by 13 pins. In this the last game rolled was a tie and only 13 pins separated these couples in two games. In the last game Miss Lafferty and B. Adams came from behind to with out by 44 pins from Miss Bland and C. Bryant. In nearly all the games the scores were close and nobody was sure of winning till the last ball was rolled. Tonight the following couples play off in the first round at 7.30 p.m.:—Miss Beare and G. Anderson vs Mrs. Goyer and R. J. Wray; Miss Goyer and M. Hall vs Miss Sayers and J. Yerex. At 8.30 p.m. Miss Rowson and C. Stretton vs Miss Ford and S. Nurse. Mrs. Strachan and C. Cornell vs Miss Mock and J. Alexander. In the three games the following is the standing up till Saturday night: Miss Ross and R. Cole 1409; Miss Ford and C. Cornell 1338; Mrs. Goyer and J. Yerex 1327; Miss Rowson and Alexander 1319; Miss Lafferty and M. Hall 1153; M. Goyer and B. Adams 835; Miss M. Mock and J. Stratton 831. Mrs. Thomas 446; H. Peate 556. Total 1002.

Miss Ross 461; G. Watkins 449. Total 910.

H. Whalen 447; G. Lynch 605. Total 1052.

Mrs. Lee 493; R. Cole 548. Total 1035.

Miss Lafferty 423; B. Adams 518. Total 941.

Miss Bland 393; C. Bryant 504. Total 897.

Except under unusual conditions, an actual plague of rats in Western Canada is considered as impossible, says Prof. Jackson. Deep snow traps the rats and unless he is fortunately situated as to food and drink during the winter months, his numbers are greatly reduced. When food runs short, rats eat their young and often each other.

LEWIS STONE HERE IN NEW FILM DRAMA

Veteran of Stage, Screen and of War in "What Fools Men"

Lewis Stone, seen in the new First National production, "What Fools Men," now showing at the Griffin Theatre, has found his interest divided all his left between the amusement business and military life.

Born in Worcester, Mass., where he had his early schooling, he went to New York to finish his education at Harvard School, graduating just in time to enlist in the Spanish-American war.

But Stone was "sidetracked" from a military career when an actor in a theatrical company producing a play of that name which his uncle managed fell ill. Stone took his place, and thus his career as an actor began—never destined to shed luster both on the stage and the screen.

He spent several seasons with John Blackwood's famous Belasco stock company in Los Angeles, where he was the leading stock favorite for years. When the United States joined with the Allies in the World War, he became infantry instructor at the Plattsburgh, training camp. He is today a major in the reserve corps of the United States army.

MIKADO STILL FINEST COMEDY

While Its Music Has No Rival in Realm of Lighter Sort

For swiftness of action, brilliancy of color, inherent humor derived through striking contrast in situations, keen satire and music that fits the tale, "The Mikado" stands as one of the most brilliant gems in the realm of light opera. As presented by Brandon Brothers' specially selected cast, now on a trans-continental tour and coming to the Griffin Opera House on Tues. Jan. 5.

Every striking characteristic of this Gilbert and Sullivan masterpiece is properly accentuated, by stellar principals and an efficient and well drilled chorus.

The theme of "The Mikado", the pursuit of "Nanki Poo" son of the Emperor of Japan, by "Katisha" a maiden whom locks have been whitened by the flight of years, but who, as she herself says, "has a right elbow worth going miles to see" in so well known that it would seem useless to get out a synopsis of the action. It affords "Nanki Poo" in the guise of a minstrel and "Yum Yum", ward of "Ko Ko", Lord High Executioner, who have never even killed a grasshopper, the severest test of histrionic ability, for in the course of the story he becomes the storm center and the savior to fiercely every intricate and humorous situation, that is developed.

"Katisha", who claims the right to wed "Nanki Poo", "Poo Bah", who holds all the other high positions in the Empire save "The Mikado" himself, play prominent parts but they are subordinate in importance to that of the Lord High Executioner.

In this important role Harlan Erickson has made and maintained a reputation throughout the continent as one of the best "Ko Kos" in America. The entire cast is of the same high standard and the chorus of beautifully trained voices make the production one long to be remembered by music lovers.

FAMOUS "STUNT" MAN UPSET IN THIS PICTURE

During the filming of "Ranch, Bill Wright's "A Son of His Father" on location in southern Arizona, two expert horsemen rode several miles from Tucson on a side motion picture location camp—hoping to double for Warner Baster and Bessie Love in some of the riding scenes for the production.

They arrived at camp while Director Victor Fleming was rehearsing a difficult riding scene with Warner Baxter to vault into a saddle and then, riding at top speed, leap over a canyon fifteen feet wide.

The two men watched the scene rehearsed once and then turned. "I guess they don't need us, Bill," one of them was heard to remark as they started back toward town. "That fellow just did something I wouldn't have done for all the rodeo money in the world."

Raymond Hatton completes the trio of players featured in the principal roles of the production written for the screen by Anthony Coldewey. Other big parts are the cast are Walter McGrail, in a "heavy" role; Charles Stevens, James Farley, Billy Eagan, Carl Stockdale, Valentina Zemina and George Kuwa.

"A Son of His Father," which will be shown at the Belleville Theatre to-day, is the newest and finest novel by one of the most popular western authors of today.

BARRYMORE TO ACT FOR SILVER SCREEN

New York, Dec. 26.—The movie story over Broadway for the presence tory over Broadway for thepresence of John Barrymore this season.

Following the conclusion of his successful appearance in Hamlet in New York and London the noted actor several months ago went to the West coast to make only one photoplay for Warner Brothers. This has been completed but now he is at work on a second, and a third remains to be made.

"Heretofore, I have worked spasmodically in the movies," Barrymore told the producers. "I have always wanted to see what I could do in pictures and now I am going to fulfill this desire by devoting a full season to the work."

The actor was dissatisfied with the first scenario selected for him to make. Apple, he had been placed in the role of a great lover.

"I want to do something different" he protested. "I am tired of this polite and delicate piffling and posturing in the bear, dandy and aristocratic roles. Why can't I jump down a whale?"

The producers caught the hint, and a few weeks later the rights of "Moby Dick," Herman Melville's old story of the American whaling industry, were purchased for him. It was re-named "The Sea-Beast."

A love theme was added and a well-known actress obtained to play opposite Barrymore. All went well until the star saw Dolores Costello daughter of Maurice Costello, veteran movie actor, on the lot.

"She's the girl for the role." Barrymore insisted and as a result the prominent actress was shifted and Dolores sent onward to stardom after only three months experience before the camera.

In mailing the picture Barrymore did not jump down a whale, but in refusing the services of a "double" in dangerous scenes, he once was dragged twenty feet below the sea surface. Another time he fractured three ribs. He later suffered infected rope burns on his arms and legs.

After seeing the first print of the play, he telegraphed the company's New York officer:

"I am crazy about it. It is the only motion picture production I have ever seen that I really liked."

"The Sea Beast," will be released in January. Barrymore now is at work on "Don Juan" in which Mary Astor is the leading woman, and when this is completed he will begin work on Sabatini's "The Tavern Knight."

SIR JOHN WILLISON'S OPTIMISM

The professional pessimist is being shamed from many angles in these days. In a speech delivered in New York by Sir John Willison, president of the Municipal Bankers' Corporation, Toronto, he said, in dealing with "The Rise of Canada":

"One believes that the next quarter-of-a-century will witness the greatest expansion in settlement and production not only in the life of the Dominion but in the history of the Continent. It must be remembered, too, that for the most part the United States has had its financial development through the exploitation of just such resources as Canada possesses in such abundance measure. We have a pulp and paper industry which exports to an

TRAINING IN THRIFT

Penny Bank Offers Useful Education to Children

By J. E. MIDDLETON.

"George Ade, the American humorist, once made some pungent comparisons between the living conditions of this continent and other continents of the world." "The ordinary man we pass on the street," he declared, "is a prince of comfortable living. If he had been born in Africa or Cyprus or Burma or China or Japan of Africa, he would be wearing a loincloth and be mighty thankful that he had advanced from the Age of Stone." About 95 per cent. of the people in the world think they are getting along great when they are not starving to death."

In a land where nearly everyone eats better and most when he feels like it, and where all children go to school, people imagine sometimes that they are hard up. It is a mistaken idea, though food is not always to be had for the asking. It is a mistaken idea because we have a superabundance of money. We are likely to wear out the seat of our pants long before we wear out the seat of our chair. We are likely to have a new car before the old one is worn out. We are likely to have a new radio before the old one is worn out. We are likely to have a new suit before the old one is worn out. We are likely to have a new hat before the old one is worn out. We are likely to have a new pair of shoes before the old ones are worn out. We are likely to have a new dress before the old one is worn out. We are likely to have a new coat before the old one is worn out. We are likely to have a new pair of gloves before the old ones are worn out. We are likely to have a new pair of stockings before the old ones are worn out. We are likely to have a new pair of underwear before the old ones are worn out. We are likely to have a new pair of pajamas before the old ones are worn out. We are likely to have a new pair of slippers before the old ones are worn out. We are likely to have a new pair of rubbers before the old ones are worn out. We are likely to have a new pair of overshoes before the old ones are worn out. We are likely to have a new pair of boots before the old ones are worn out. We are likely to have a new pair of shoes before the old ones are worn out.

Returning to George Ade: "Do your every day life new cause of solicitude existed? Nothing because I've got all the cancelled cheques of last year and figure them over. Not exactly. Why? If you could see the answer, you would. Nothing is covered begins to shrink like the moment the price tag is removed. Every poor man in the world would like to own an orange grove or a yacht. Did you ever see an orange grove or a yacht that wasn't for sale?

"All the experts agree that the only way to teach people to be thrifty is to catch them young. The whole spending of money is learned and most habits are learned in the first ten years of life. More than fifty years ago, in thrifty Prance, the beginning was made in training children in the fundamentals of the handling of money. A school savings bank was established at La Mans. Sixty years ago, similar institutions were set up in Germany and in Belgium, mainly because of the persuasion of Professor Laurent of the University of Ghent. England revamped a similar activity about the same time. By 1892 Prance had made good, notable development, the school savings banks in the world—974,173 children had deposits totaling an aggregate of 12,682,312 francs.

"Occasional experiments were made in the schools of the United States during the last half-century, but not until after the Great War had revealed a need of international extravagance was any measure of success obtained. Recently the American Bankers' Association took up the matter, and the endeavor behind the movement and the good, notable development of

BRITISH SOCIETY SPECULATING ON AN EARLY VISIT

Princess Astrid Neice of King of Sweden, is Pretty and Vivacious

Distant Relative on Mother's Side of Late Queen Alexandra

IN LONDON INCOG

London, Dec. 29.—British Society is again speculating as to whether a possible bride had finally been found for the Prince of Wales. Speculations for how an announcement that Princess Astrid, niece of the King of Sweden, who is immensely popular with King George and Queen Mary, is to be a guests at Buckingham Palace as soon as the period of court mourning for Queen Alexandra ends.

Princess Astrid, who is twenty, is one of the prettiest younger members of European royalty. She has an attractive personality, is a splendid dancer, is fond of country life and sports, and is well versed in domestic science.

She is the daughter of Prince Charles and Princess Ingeborg, being a grand niece on her mother's side of the late Queen Alexandra.

With the announcement of Princess Astrid's impending visit to Buckingham Palace it becomes known today that the Princess and her sister, Princess Martha, were chosen guests of the King and Queen last November, the Prince of Wales and Prince Henry being present. At that time the two Swedish Princesses were travelling incognito and stopped at a London hotel. As their presence there was not official it was not mentioned in the Court Circular.

DECIDE ON SITES FOR TWO RINKS

Two Service Clubs and City Get Together on the Proposition

Committees from the Rotary Club and the Kiwanis Club and representatives from the City met to consider the building of public skating rinks and public hockey rinks, have decided to con struct on rink at the corner of Howard and Holloway Street and another at the corner of Foster Avenue and Queen Street and to arrange for suitable lighting and flooding rooms in these places.

It is intended that at each of the two places there shall be a rink for skating only and another rink adjoining prepared for hockey playing with suitable rushings.

In addition to the construction of the two new rinks the Public Works Department of the City is going to maintain a rink also on the Bridge Street near St. George's Church where there is at present a fairly large sheet of ice being used as a rink each year.

The Rotary and Kiwanis organizations have agreed to pay for the construction and the Public Works Department of the City is going to maintain the rinks. The work on these rinks will be commenced at once.

The work, it is hoped, will be only a forerunner and piece of sufficient merit to warrant a more extensive campaign next year.

The representatives from the Rotary Club were A. P. Sullivan and Harry Hill; from the Kiwanis Club, Rev. L. S. Wight and T. J. Delaney, and from the City, Mayor Ellis, A. E. Graham and City Engineer Chas. D. Campbell.

HOLLOWAY YOUNG FOLKS ENTERTAIN OLD FOLKS

There was a Scripture Lesson and a song service. Hymns which were a favourite of the people of the Home were rendered by the Young People's Society. Mr. Wight gave an address, which was followed by a solo by Miss V. Wrightmyer and a reading by Miss Marjorie Hodkins. Candy and fruit were passed about to the audience during the evening which was closed by a prayer by Mr. Wight and a solo by W. Calbeck.

The proceedings were in charge of Miss M. Hodgins, the Secretary and Miss A. Andrews, the President of the Young People's League.

A BIG BUYING FEDERATION

24 LARGE RETAIL STORES IN ONTARIO UNITE THEIR BUYING POWER. THE RITCHIE CO. LIMITED ARE MEMBERS

In order to buy at closest possible prices and thus still better serve the customers, twenty-four of the big Retail Stores in Ontario have formed what is to be known as "The Federated Distributors Limited". In short the project just means this: that in place of buying as individual stores, these merchants will be combining their buying powers and thus buy in tremendous quantities going direct to the Manufacturers and thus procure merchandise at the very closest possible prices. The buying power of this Federation will be exceedingly strong running into millions of dollars annually, and in consequence the consumers of Ontario will be saved thousands of dollars.

A Central Office where all the buying will meet has been established in Toronto. They also will have an office in New York and one in the Old Country. Arrangements have been made with one of the large buying associations in the United States so that they may purchase to the best advantages in that market anything they want. If they are not able to get the goods at home they will thus be able to import them.

Several large organizations of this kind are functioning with great success in the United States. This is the first one of its kind to be formed in Canada.

OLD KEY PRESENTED

An interesting feature was the presentation to Moira Lodge of the old iron key which unlocked the first Masonic Lodge room in Belleville over a century ago. Wor. Bro. Mikel made the presentation on behalf of Very Wor. Bro. Dulmage and Wor. Bro. Clarke, relating in his speech the history of the old key which has been in the Clark family for three generations and was discovered by Bro. Dulmage. A hint was given that a still more interesting relic of early Masonic history in Belleville will shortly be presented to the Lodge.

The service over and the fourth degree properly attended to, the brethren settled down for an evening of pleasure. It was St. John's night and no one expected to be home early anyway so the hour hand of the clock was crowding two when Auld Lang Syne was sung.

SONGS AND SPEECHES

Perhaps the outstanding speech of a brilliant evening was the effort of Wor. Bro. J. O. Herity in responding to the

Ask 700 People To Ottawa Show As House Opens

Ottawa, Dec. 29.—More than 700 official invitations have been issued for the opening of the 16th Parliament next week. Wives and daughters of the new Members are expected to attend.

The ceremonies on opening day will be marked by absence of his Excellency the Governor-General, who will be represented by His Deputy Governor-General. The speech from the throne will then be read.

WORK IN HARBOR CEASES TONIGHT

No Use in Further Efforts at Present to Find Bodies of Lads

"Finis" was written today over the labors of official Belleville in the search for the bodies of Bernard Brown and Eugene Ellsworth whose disappearance through the ice of the harbor ten days ago stirred the city to sympathetic interest.

The termination of the time allowance which the city placed upon the employment of men to work under the direction of Mr. Harry Smith, whose equipment and experience was offered free to the city ended the campaign today. So far as has been learned, no private parties have been organized for the retrieval of the drowned lads.

It has been given as the official opinion of some City officials that there is no further benefit—economically speaking—that any labor involved—to be derived from further prosecution of the search.

The expiration of the period of employment is therefore not an arbitrary measure in any sense of the word.

That the bodies of the lads will be recovered in all probability, in the Spring, is the only consolation that their distressed parents can extract from the situation.

KIWANIS LISTENS WHILE STORY OF CITY IS UNFOLDED

Mr. Addison Vanderveort, Deputy Registrar Was Guest-Speaker

BELLEVILLE SINCE 1817

Mayor Mikel Suggests Formation of Historical Society Here

With the close of another year, and on the occasion of the last gathering of the members of Kiwanis for 1925, it was most appropriate that the official guest and speaker of the day—Mr. Addison Vanderveort, Deputy Registrar of the County of Hastings—should take the Club members back in spirit to the early days of the county, its settlement and later on the growth of the city on which this city now stands, tracing the gradual city growth from that to the present.

And indeed it would be difficult to find a man in a better position to outline this city's growth, for Mr. Vanderveort, after fifty years' experience as Deputy Registrar of the County and being possessed of extensive historical information, made vivid in the minds of his listeners the struggles of the early settlers in their efforts to build up for we who have come after them, the foundation of this beautiful city. The first settlements in this section of the province, as Mr. Vanderveort informed the Club, were made about the year 1787, that of Sidney and Thurlow really commencing in 1797, with the first registration of land in the year 1800. Mr. Vanderveort went on to say that since the year 1800 the County of Hastings has had a Deputy Registrar, the Registry Office being a public institution, the purpose of which was

TURKS ANXIOUS FOR PEACE IN MOSUL DISPUTE

Want to Find Amicable Way Out of Difficulty

BRITAIN IS CONFIDENT

Willing to Make Small Concessions for Mustapha Kemal to Save His Face

London, Dec. 29.—J. A. Spender's dispatch from Angora to the Westminster Gazette, in spite of its declaration that the situation is "really serious," is regarded here as an indication that the Turkish ministry is anxious to find a way out of its difficulty. It is faced by a militarist group in the Angora Assembly, which meets this week, and would be glad if it could point to some territorial concession on the part of Britain and claim a great diplomatic victory.

So far as Britain is concerned, there is not the slightest objection to Mustapha Kemal saving his face in any way possible, so long as it is not to expensive to Iraq. Britain is quite prepared, as Mr. Baldwin told the Turkish ambassador last week, to enter into negotiations, and the Turks are obliged by their own undertaking at Lausanne to do otherwise negotiations. For, as explained at the Turkish Embassy to-day, the correct interpretation of the clause in the Lausanne treaty dealing with the Mosul boundary was that in the event of disagreement concerning it failed, the League of Nations should consider the problem and and make a recommendation. This would not be binding, as the British Government has claimed—according to the Turkish view—but should be taken as the basis of fresh negotiations between London and Angora for final delimitation of the frontier. Consequently, if the Turks adhere to this explanation, of which some doubt is expressed here by those sceptical as to the benefits of Oriental diplomacy, two of the steps it contemplates already have been taken. The League has given its "recommendation," and Britain has expressed her willingness to negotiate. It only requires that Turkey respond to the British invitation to place the question on the high road to settlement.

The British position in the negotiations is somewhat difficult, because since only has a temporary mandatory for the territory owned by Iraq, but this, according to the British view, can be overcome by the fact Britain is required by the League to negotiate "a new treaty with Iraq. After her admission to the League, Bagdad and lay before King Feisal the amended boundary line, declaring that it is the best we can accomplish in the circumstances. Then, if Iraq and the League approve, the question is settled. That is the basis on which British optimists calculate the whole matter will be concluded after the months of tedious negotiation usual in dealing with Oriental powers. In any case, they discredit altogether stories of Angora having made a secret bargain of far-reaching importance with Moscow.

The Sunday dispatch speaks of secret clauses in the Turco-Soviet treaty, but British observers only smile. They know the Turkish press has been blaring at dark things but they persist in believing the Turco-Soviet treaty is quite an innocuous document.

DESERONTO LOST FINE CITIZEN

Late Joseph Johnston Was Laid to Rest Amid General Sorrowing

When Joseph Johnston of Deseronto was laid to rest Thursday last, one of Deseronto's most prominent merchants had passed from the active life of the community. The funeral was held under Masonic auspices.

It will be remembered that the late Joseph Johnston died in Kingston hospital two days previously after a two week's illness, having been driven to Kingston Monday previous to his death, for an X-ray when his condition was regarded as serious.

The late Joseph Johnston was a member of the firm of Ives and Johnston, general merchants at Deseronto and "Joe" as he was familiarly known, was an interesting man.

A man of splendid physique and jovial spirit, he was well liked and widely known. In his varied career as purser on a boat, merchant, and traveller, he knew every corner of the Province of Ontario in which he was born about 49 years ago. No one had a word to say against him.

About fifteen years ago he was a passenger on the C.P.R. express which crashed through the bridge spanning the Spanish River west of Sudbury, entailing a loss of over forty lives and for which Conductor Reynolds of the Canadian Soo was awarded a medal for bravery. Mr. Johnston was badly injured at the time and there is no doubt that in many these injuries contributed in no small way to his early death.

Following this accident Mr. Johnston opened a business in North Bay, disposing of his store several years and going on the road as a traveller. About four years ago he came to Deseronto, joined partnership with W. B. Ives of Belleville had purchased the Silver Estate store.

He has been a member of the public school board for the past two years and his advice and counsel was always worthy of its man. He was a Liberal in politics and during the recent election was one of the recruiters for Deseronto.

Mr. Johnston leaves a wife, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hiscott and two small children to mourn their lamentable loss.

A sister, Mrs. Anna Forward, Belleville, and a brother, Thomas, in New York City, also survive. Sister and brother attended the funeral.

MINNIE REEVES

BILLIE SMITH SANG

At Bridge Street Church on Sunday evening Miss Billie Smith captivated the hearts of her audience in her magnificently rendered solos. Her clear sweet voice had never been heard to better advantage than in the Christmas music which illustrated the talent and training Miss Smith possesses and has received. Other soloists heard in the service were Miss Marjorie Hutchins, Trenton; Mr. G. S. Stobie, Mr. Jack Deacon and Mr. Fred Sprague all of whom were heard with great interest and satisfaction by the large congregation. Dr. F. E. Malott preached an eloquent and timely sermon.

POLICE COURT HEARS SEQUEL

After Christmas Results Laid Bare Before Magistrate Masson

LAW'S ARM IS LONG

Has Caught Once More a Youth Wanted on Several Charges

Oh! for the life of a mail man, especially during the festive season.

One assistant mail carrier during the Christmas rush today contributed the best and most "sympathable" story ever heard in police court for some time. It would sound wonderful over the radio, where, like other works of art distance lends enchantment. Just the same it was one of the best "short range" contributions to the O.T.A. story book, an enviable one.

At the home of an unknown man on his route, business of distributing Christmas mail halted temporarily, according to the assistant carrier's story. He was given drinks from a bottle of rye whiskey and beer from a jug. The reaction resulted in his arrest Monday on a drunk charge, and the story was unfolded this morning in Magistrate's court.

Chief Kidd's statement cleared the air somewhat when he told of accused having been driving heavily of late, using alcohol and almost anything he could get. Accused admitted he had filled a prescription for alcohol as recently as Sunday and that it might have contributed to his state when arrested. The "Highland hospitality" story was discredited by the court.

"Two and costs of twelve" exclaimed Magistrate Masson and the man began to telephone for "friends with funds".

GIRL IS ARRESTED

An eighteen-year-old Picton girl appeared this morning charged with the worst kind of vagrancy. She pleaded guilty and was remanded to jail until Tuesday next, January 5th, for judgment.

Chief Kidd stated that the girl had been "walking the streets" here for the past two years living off the avails. The slight bobbed hair girl smiled and nodded her acknowledgment.

The statement which she made to me would make your hair stand on end", ensured the chief.

She had also been out in Frankford. She has relatives in Picton and Toronto, but is not apparently anxious to go to them. She was evidently well dressed and absolutely indifferent.

ARM STILL LONG

Many times out of ten it has been pointed out that the law's arm is long—long enough to span Mother Earth sooner or later.

Percy Dellar seems became entangled in the fingers of that hand on the auspicious occasion of Christmas Eve, when alert eyes of P. S. Harman and P. C. Booth saw him in the city. He has been sought since August 24th last when he failed to appear in court to make restitution to a sick ex-soldier from whom he had purchased beads for his girl friend, failing to pay for them. He paid the man some more by on August 24th, but failed to return to the station house on the 28, as per arrangement to pay the balance. He was remanded to jail until Tuesday next for judgment. He is wanted in Brighton for a petty offense.

Nurses' Dance A Jolly Affair

Supt. Miss Tait and Staff Hold Annual Christmas Tree at Hospital

The annual Christmas tree, dinner and dance was held at the General Hospital last night when the staff and pupil nurses and their friends made merry.

Miss Tait, R.R. C., Gen. Supt., and the staff invited a few friends to the dance at seven, the guests including Mr. Robert Tannahill, Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Hospital, the Rev. R. G. Stewart and Mrs. Stewart, Dr. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Tait, of Picton and others.

With the Bon Ton orchestra as music makers dancing started about nine o'clock, a number of younger people coming on to join in the festivities. A very attractive dance programme was carried out. The drawing room of the nurse's residence where the dance was held was made the more interesting from the fact that in the north east corner had been erected and most tastefully decorated, a large Christmas tree containing presents for all the staff and pupil nurses and "surprises" for some of the guests. The presentation by Santa Claus (Dr. James Tower) adding considerably to the gayety of the affair. The genial doctor was made up in conventional red coat and voluminous white, and exceedingly bushy whiskers, and he made a hit with the entire company with impromptu remarks.

Then they repaired dancing until midnight when supper was served. It was a very jolly party.

The facts and figures he gave were not new but he urged that they cannot be too much emphasized if we are to develope a national spirit.

Wor. Bro. Mikel in proposing the toast to the Grand Lodge told something of the trials and difficulties which faced the early Masons in the Bay of Quinte District 125 years ago and urged that all suitable data of those early days be gathered and incorporated in the minutes of Moira Lodge so that they may be preserved for posterity.

Right Wor. Bros. Barlow and Clarke responded for the Grand Lodge, giving splendid talks on the beginnings and growths of Masonry in England and Canada.

The new officers spoke briefly, expressing appreciation for their new honors and promising their best efforts to preserve the best traditions of the lodge. Rt. Wor. Bro. VanHaricourt from Tindale, Sask., responded to the toast, telling how the Saskatchewan lodges were prospering and meeting the problems of a new country.

The Radio Four, heard on a quartet and in solo numbers pleased greatly and only the steadily advancing hands of the clock could still insistent demands for repeated encores Mrs. Morley Dull stepped to the end and received a special vote of thanks for accompanying the soloists.

Deaths and Funerals

EDWARD O'ROURKE

Heart failure proved sudden death today of Mr. Edward O'Rourke, aged 65, a well known citizen of Belleville, where he was born and had resided all his life. He was a member of St. Michael's Church and for many years a member also of the Argyll Lodge Irish Benevolent Band. He was a cabinet maker by trade and was for years with the Tickell Furniture Company. He was a member of the K. of C. The widow, one son, James, of Detroit, and four daughters, Mrs. Tom Barrett, Helena and Kathleen of the city, and Stella, of Detroit, survive. One sister is Miss Mary O'Rourke of this city.

The late Edward O'Rourke was the only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John O'Rourke, and was very well known in musical circles of the life of this city. He was an excellent violin and clarinet player and at one time had an orchestra here. He was a member of the Oddfellows' band also.

Funeral Notice

All members of Knights of Columbus are requested to meet on Thursday morning at 8.15 at 118 Bleecker St., to attend the funeral of their late Brother, Edward O'Rourke. Procession will leave late brother's residence at 8.30 o'clock. Solemn Requiem Mass will be sung at St. Michael's Church at 9 o'clock.

Bro. Geo. Dodsmeder again performed his old time St. Andrew's Ball, coaxing some of the "not-best" singers into betraying their limitations by singing "Little Lisa Jane", but he did get wonderful responses on the chorus.

The names of the toasts are supplied by special request.

Church furnished the supper and waited on table. The results were most charming.

FRENCH FLOODS PROVE MENACING

River Rhone Instead of Receding Started to Rise—Flats Covered

Paris, Dec. 29.—The flood situation due to recent heavy rainfalls and melting snow is getting worse rather than better. The River Rhone which last night apparently was about to recede, suddenly started to rise against early the morning and more rapidly than ever, owing to water coming down from various tributaries.

All the low lying country around Lyon is flooded.

FLOODS IN RUMANIA

Vienna, Austria, Dec. 29.—Hundreds of lives have been lost in floods along the Rumanian frontier, according to dispatches received here from Tesla. Flood waters are declared to be sweeping bodies and debris through the streets of that city. A tragic scene is told of a family of five who took refuge on the roof of their home only to be forced off by fire, which broke out in the upper story. All were drowned.

FARM PROBERS BROADEN OUT

Committee on Agriculture Splits Into Sections For Research

Toronto, Dec. 29.—A special committee of the Ontario legislature studying agricultural conditions in this province and seeking better marketing conditions for farm products, is going outside Ontario to get information and to request the co-operation of other provinces and transportation interests.

Dr. Jamieson, the chairman, accompanied by Messrs Lethbridge, MacHugh and Tyrrwhitt, will leave Toronto for Winnipeg where they will confer with the Minister of Agriculture in Manitoba and other Western Canada representatives about the system of co-operative export marketing.

The Ontario delegation will urge that there be provision for the grading and branding of export agricultural products. Ten days later Messrs Keith Thompson and Dr. Bohnger of the committee will go to Halifax to inspect cattle shipping facilities of the Canadian Steamship Companies.

EGGS PLENTIFUL

One glad tidings of the barn yard brought this morning was that the hens have commenced to speed up production and a number of baskets of eggs "laid since Thursday" were offered on sale at 50c. to 60c. a dozen.

Butter brought 40 cents a pound.

OUT SIDE DESSERTED

The only farm products on the out side market were apples, selling at 70c. to $1.00 a bushel.

HELP THE UNEMPLOYED

To The Editor of The Intelligencer.

The intense cold weather has closed up regular out door work. As a result a considerable number of our citizens are out of employment. Many homes in the city require odd jobs or small concrete odd jobs. By co-operation in this respect a considerable amount of work could be provided. It is sad to look into the faces of fellow citizens who have no work, no money, no food and no fuel. Women and children suffer most. It is quite impossible for the City Council to take care of the whole difficulty. Work is better than charity. Citizens please provide all the work you can and phone into the Employment Bureau, No. 887.

HUMAN NATURE

"Whenever any one propounds some dream of the future," runs an editorial in one of the current American periodicals—"whenever there is a vision of a world where war is unknown and there is neither poverty nor crime, with happy children and clean cities and cheerful workmen the rule instead of the exception, some one is always sure to utter the remark: 'Huh, you can't change human nature.' And the editorial, continuing asks the question: "Isn't it high time that somebody else got up and countered with this question: "Well, if you can't change human nature what earthly hope have we got for the future, then?" To say that human nature is unchangeable is, of course, to speak rubbish. Look around you today and compare the modern brand of human nature with that of ten years ago. Among other things you will see supposedly respectable citizens who would indignantly deny that they were law-breakers arranging with the family bootlegger for another shipment. Has their particular band of human nature undergone a change? No longer do we become excited over murders or hold-ups or divorce scandals in high places, as commonplace now as breakfast, dinner and supper. We did become excited over these things and viewed them with alarm only a few years ago, so it would seem that human nature has undergone a change. If it can change for the worse, it can likewise change for the better. We progressed quite a way from the day when men wore skins, lived in caves and ate their meat raw, but we did not go to the end of the line before we started going back again. To quote again from the editorial do which we have made reference: "It is human nature right now to be empty-headed, vain and foolish; to exalt the trivial and ignore the worth while; to love the sensational and despise the profound, to lie and cheat and grab and now be cowardly and at times cruel. That is why we have crime waves and slums and poverty and despotic governments and million-dollar-a-month prize fighters and movie actresses.

PETER SMITH'S PLIGHT

Securing the release of Peter Smith, former provincial treasurer, from Portsmouth penitentiary, where he has spent but little more than one year of a three-year sentence for conspiring to defraud the government, would be a less difficult task for his influential friends if a little matter of the payment of a fine of $100,000 was not coupled with the prison term. In imposing this fine it was the design of the presiding judge to secure restitution to the government of funds which were lost to it by the unique manipulations of the former treasurer. Hon. W. E. Raney, himself a terror of wrongdoers, who has been most active in attempting to secure a parole for Smith, declares the ex-cabinet minister cannot raise even $25,000 and that the fine of $100,000 virtually means a life-term in prison. Smith is reported to have thrown up the sponge for his release on humanitarian grounds in the one upon which his friends should concentrate. They cannot hope to justify it on any other. Some of his associates who were alleged to have been involved with him in shady bond transactions were more successful in the courts than was Smith. The former treasurer was convicted of having conspired with Andrew Pepall to defraud the government, but Pepall had secured off to California and conspiracy is not an extra dictable offense. He was brought back to answer to a charge of defrauding the government and was acquitted and the government was not permitted, by a technicality of the law, to press the charge upon which it could build its strongest case. That Smith, alone, is being made to suffer is unfortunate, but it cannot be advanced as an argument of his release. The fact remains that the government lost a substantial amount of money as a result of his dishonest manipulations and no attempt at restitution has been made. If Smith cannot pay a fine of $100,000 he can, at least, make a part payment on account. When he expresses a willingness to do that the government doubtless will look more favorably upon the petition of his friends for his release. To date he has not been harshly treated.

GETTING BETTER

News from the Old Country would seem to indicate that this has been a typical merry Christmas, celebrated by the approved style of self-indulgence and thanksgiving. The clouds are undoubtedly lifting from the horizon and the national spirits have responded accordingly. The gloomy commiserators and dire forebodings of the pessimists are stultified by the actual condition of affairs. Industry is reviving, the improvement being noted in national statistics. There are still, of course, a few flies in the ointment, but they are not so numerous or so troublesome. Take the coal industry, for instance, which has been a source of so much anxiety of recent years. The government subsidy, by which the industry is kept running, has already amounted to the large sum of $30,000,000, but it would seem that, costly as the settlement was, it has been worth while. Coal exports are increasingly rapidly. The strike situation in the United States has provided a ready market for British coal, and it is reported that the monthly exports of the fuel to Germany have doubled since the beginning of the year. Cotton industry manufacturers are counting on a big increase in demand after the first of the year and are building up stocks accordingly. Speaking of the iron and steel industry, it is said that business has improved to such an extent that several furnaces which had been idle for many months have now been relighted.

Difficulties are still experienced through the maintenance of a free gold market. It is claimed that the last advance of the Bank of England discount rate to 5 per cent. was not sufficient to check the outward flow of gold, and that the increase in open market rates for money has not served to attract sufficient foreign balances to turn the tide. These problems, however, according to the Wall Street News, are such as England is peculiarly fitted to solve, by virtue of her control of the South African gold output; "there is no doubt," it is added, "that she will take the proper corrective measures at the proper time." The article then proceeds to discuss the question of the dole, which is described as an "offset o the improved industrial outlook" and "a thorn in the flesh." Things have improved to such an extent, however, that even the much-abused dole is becoming less of a problem than it has been. A reduction of from 10 to 15 per cent. is contemplated some time in the spring, which will be the prefuse to further reductions later on. The dole has served a useful purpose, and, rightly understood, is not the unnixed evil it is supposed to be. The News concludes its review of the situation by saying that though the Britishers are not shouting for joy, "they realize better than outsiders that there are many hurdles yet to be taken," they have every reason to feel encouraged. "They feel they have turned the corner, and psychologically that is everything. Eventually the improvement may mean severer competition in world markets," it is admitted, but—"let it come; it may mean more trade for everybody." At any rate, it will not effect the spirit of American good will which extends to England best wishes for a merry Christmas and a more prosperous New Year.

THE NEW LOUVAIN

Boston Post:

Announcement that the $1,000,000 fund to rebuild the library of the historic Louvain university had been completed comes with gratifying quickness after the report of last week that work had been abandoned. It was a moral, if not a legal, obligation upon America, as we noted editorially. The prompt response which provides not only for the new building but for a trust fund of $125,000 for upkeep is doubly cheering because it will finish the new building in time for the dedication exercises in 1927, the 500th anniversary of the university's founding. It is safe to prophesy that more Amer ican gifts to the university will visit the famous Belgian city a year from next summer.

WHEN THE SUN LOAFS

Chicago Journal of Commerce:

If, when and as solar radiation flickers, so to speak, there follows a variation of what we call the weather, according to observations of the Smithsonian Institute, which regards the fluctuations of the sun's rays as having a meaning on the surface of the earth, expressed by the themometer. These fluctuations may be measured and reduced to terms of degrees of heat for several days in advance, and so should become important as a means for more accurate forecasts than substitute holds. We all know that the sun gives off heat rays strike the earth the greater the warmth we get from them. In the winter, when the sun "goes south," and therefore sheds its rays slantingly on the northern hemisphere, we have cold weather. But weather bureau experts do not accept the Smithsonian theory of radiations on the part of our great friend, the sun—so patent a friend that many ancients worshipped it as a god. The bureau, while not exactly denying fluctuations in solar radiation, doubts that they ever vary to the extent of 5 to 10 per cent. and thinks 1 per cent. will cover them, and that their effect on our weather is too small to be measured or predicted. We incline to side with the weather bureau. That prodigious conflagration we call the sun has been going on for unnumbered thousands of years, giving to earth all its life and heat. It has never faltered on the job, and we are for it as faith ful to the trust mankind has reposed in it and shall be as Bayard Taylor puts it in his Bedouin song:

Till the sun grows cold,
And the stars are old,
And the leaves of the judgment book unfold!

A Heart's Triumph

By Ella Adelaide Rowlands.

"Cecil will do nothing that will give one instant of trouble, so she is prepared to share her life and all she has with this woman whom she is now taught to call mother; but since it is the highest, the most eager desire of the mother to remain in a sense where she has been all these years, Cecil will agree to this condition of secrecy for the present if she wishes to do all in her power to give content and comfort to this poor woman."

"They will remain on here together, then?" Paul Darnley asked, half doubtfully. It hurt him, somehow, to have to confess by the vision of Cecil's future alone with this strange woman, who had been so instrumental in bringing disaster to the girl's home; moreover, he had been fostering his own plans of wiping his lover's name clear, but he knew well that Miss Sedworth would be little disposed to include the newcomer in any offer of friendship she might make.

"Do you consider it wise of us to let the girl act independently in this matter?" he asked after some thought.

"Of course I know we have nothing but a moral right to interfere in anything she may do, but still I cannot help feeling deeply troubled over this business. The woman's story may be true, but she undoubtedly has some bitter claim against poor Locklyne I cannot but accept, seeing what terrible consequences followed on their meeting; nevertheless, I have a very great affection for Cecil, and I shrink from the thought of her being left utterly alone, with this woman for her constant companion. Wronged or not wronged, she has become a inmate of a prison for a number of years and her mind, whatever its original structure can be in no desirable condition. Till the will is read and we learn whether Locklyne has appointed a guardian for his child, I must let things take their course," Paul added, "But if I could act as I wish, I would have requested this woman to remain in the house. Cecil is a highly strung, imaginative girl, and she is not fit to make so momentous a decision as this suggested union must signify to her future."

Paul Thorold was unable to deny the good sense and wisdom of what Paul Darnley said, but he had upon him still the impression of that painful interview and some portion of his sympathy and respect had gone out to the alien woman who had met it under circumstances of revenge to the winds at the sound of the word "mother," spoken so tenderly.

He was not a young man like Paul nor was he a wealthy man, so perhaps that was why he was not so shocked at the prospect of a future for Cecil spent with this woman.

"We must wait till the will is read," was his only answer to all Mrs. Darnley had said.

But the reading of the will left things exactly as they were, for there was no mention of any guardian to Cecil Locklyne; nothing, indeed, but the last request that everything the dead man had possessed—land, investments and income—passed wholly to the girl, who was his only child. Taught few had expected anything different when their wills were read and code of people present, cousins and other relatives of the Locklyne family who felt faintly aggrieved that so much wealth should pass unfettered by even some small legacies to one person, and Cecil's good fortune was much extolled.

To Paul Darnley the will was a disappointment only on Cecil's account. He had hoped that Charles Locklyne might have put the girl's future into the hands of some one who could have given her definite and practical protection in her affairs as she was now, Cecil would be, he feared, not over-fortunate indeed for whom first thought would be her money. Although the position would have been heavy with responsibility, Darnley would have unhesitatingly accepted the guardianship of the girl had Sir Charles named him for the post; and, truth to tell, the young man had half-expected this. With sincere regret he relinquished the thought of serving and guarding his friend's daughter.

Cecil had sent him word that she wish ed to see him before he went away and as soon as all the formalities were over and most of the people scattered Paul sought out a servant and sent a message to the girl's room to say he was at her disposal. Cecil's answer was given in person.

She came down the broad stairs for the first time since her father's death.

She was altogether changed. The tall boyish figure was gone forever. In its place Darnley saw a very graceful and beautiful young woman, wearing a long close-fitting black gown, and in keeping with the ease of one who had been always accustomed to such garb. It was not merely in her clothes or manner that Cecil had changed. Paul saw in her first glance at her face that the experiences of the past week had swept the young creature out of the aimless drifting of youth, out of the path of vague dreams and promises, and into the hard and stress of real life. She did not seem to have shed many tears, but there was in her the eyes that told of suffering and trouble too deep for mere weeping.

Paul clasped her hands in silence for a moment, for he felt that he must say something both of his own compassionate and his fear about her future. She looked so strong, so quiet, so self-reliant in her new room somehow.

"You have heard your father's last wishes, I suppose?" he asked her.

She bent her head.

"They are simple enough," was her answer.

They sat down together in the dining-room, which had a cheerless and comfort less air, with the many electrical contrivances which no longer fulfilled their purpose, and an empty grate. Outside the weather had grown more autumnal. It was raining, and the trees were shedding leaves at every gust of wind.

"What are your plans, Cecil?" Darnley asked.

She looked at him with her beautiful, stoney-touched eyes.

"I cannot think. I have any, save to remain here."

"You will make some changes?"

She passed him the memorandum.

"No," she said at last. "I shall have changes in a good many things. I could not endure even the workshop, for instance, even if I wanted to do so; and with the closing of that we must fall back on more primitive economies about the house. I gave orders to my lawyer to have everything paid up in full to my father's work-people I suppose they have gone by now."

Paul shook his head.

"Mixed interests in here, I know. Hilers been or troubled about you, Cecil? I wish"—Darnley said a little hesitating ly—"I wish you would see him before he goes. He seems to me a really nice young fellow, distinctly a gentleman. I am sure he would like to say farewell to you in person."

"I will see him, most certainly," Cecil answered. "I have always liked Mr. Hilyard, from the first day we came here."

Then they talked of many things, but somehow Paul found it impossible to broach the subject that was weighing most on his mind.

It was Cecil herself who introduced it.

"I want to make the house comfortable—more habitable—if I can. You know I dell not love here alone."

LURED GIRLS FOR VICE DENS

Magistrate in Hamilton Sends Man Down For a Year

LETTER TO CHINESE

Police Have Heard of Frequent Cases of Dis- appearances

Hamilton, Dec., 29. — Believed to possess knowledge of the machinery whereby unscrupulous Chinese and white girls are brought together Edward Smith, alias White, 256 Beaton street, Toronto, will serve a sentence of one year meted out to him by Magistrate Jelfs for holding up and assaulting Soong Chang, Main street, east laundryman.

From any centre of any size and from many a small village and country home, provincial police are continually hearing cases of young girls spirited away to the vice dens of decadent Chinese in this country and across the border.

LETTER TO CHINESE

On Smith, when arrested on a charge of assault and robbery, was found a letter in Chinese. When interpreted the read:

"The bearer of this letter has a pretty white girl outside in a car. If you want her tell him. All is fake."

When questioned as to the letter White, a married man, only smiled and refused to discuss it.

TICKET-OF-LEAVE MAN

Smith, a convicted prisoner out on ticket-of-leave, is known to have one if not two accomplices in this brutal holdup, the prisoner steadfastly refused to divulge anything questioning during his companions.

HAD LONG RECORD

The magistrate had before him the prisoner's record. It showed that he was released December 22, 1922, after serving 11 months of a 24 months' sentence imposed for theft the previous January at Caledonia. His record extends back still further. He was first convicted of robbery at Blagbrook and allowed off on suspended sentence.

In 1921 he was convicted in Toronto of house-breaking and again allowed out on suspended sentence.

Holiday Teas

THERE is no time of the year more interesting for an afternoon tea than the holiday season. The decorations appropriate for the season are effective, the guests filled with enthusiasm, and the possibilities for dainty refreshments numerous. Factors which contribute directly to the success of any function.

Do bring out your very nicest cloths and silver, distribute holly and mistletoe liberally over the house, invite all your friends—and don't forget the frankincense.

The universally accepted menu for tea parties—sandwiches, salted nuts, a beverage (either chocolate, tea, or coffee), and then, toward cakes is perhaps after all the most appropriate.

Sandwiches, especially, have a never-failing popularity for this late afternoon lunch. They can be made in so many attractive varieties that they never become monotonous.

A novel filling to replace butter is given below, with several suggestions for new and different sandwiches. And by the way, a sandwich no longer needs a top slice of bread in order to live up to the name. We now have open sandwiches which consist of one slice of bread with a soft spread of some kind and garnishing in the form of a bite of pimento or peppers or nuts to add color and flavor.

The beverages are simple, either chocolate, tea or coffee being suitable.

Tasty Filling

1 Egg Yolk.
½ teaspoon Mustard
½ teaspoon Paprika
1 cup Cream
Few grains Cayenne
½ teaspoon Worchesterhire Sauce
½ teaspoon Salt
1 tablespoonful Lemon Juice
½ tablespoonful Vinegar

Cream Cheese, add egg yolk, work in with seasonings. Worchesterhire sauce and lemon juice whilst being beaten mixed smoothly. Finally add vinegar.

Variations in Sandwiches

Rolled Cheese Sandwiches—Cut thin slices of wholewheat bread. Remove crusts. Spread with Cream Cheese Filling. Place a small sprig of cress on each slice near edge of bread, sprinkle it with salt and roll up tightly. Secure with fancy pin with the other end the end showing. Cover with another clean cloth until time to serve.

Ribbon Sandwiches—Cut thin slices of white and graham bread. Remove crusts. Spread with Tasty Filling. Add to alternate layers, 4 slices deep. Press down closely and slice with a sharp knife into strips about one inch wide.

Open Face Sandwiches—Slice bread, white or brown, cut into round, triangle or oblong shapes. Spread with Tasty Filling. Garnish surface with strips of pimento and chopped sweet green pepper.

A new 80 page cook book will be sent free to readers of this newspaper, upon receipt of a request stating your name, address and the National Household Service, 140 Fifth Ave., New York City.

FOR THE NEW YEAR

If you have any task to do
Let me whisper, friend to you,
Do it.

If you've anything to say,
True and needful, you or nay,
Say it.

If you've anything to love
As a blessing from above,
Love it.

If you've anything to give,
That another's joy may live,
Give it.

If some hollow creed you doubt,
Though the whole world cry out and shout,
Doubt it.

If you know what torch to light,
Gliding others through the night,
Light it.

If you've any debt to pay,
Rest you neither night nor day,
Pay it.

If you've any joy to hold,
Next your heart lest it get cold,
Hold it.

If you've any grief to meet,
At the loving Father's feet,
Meet it.

If you've given light to see
What a child of God should see
See it.

Whether life be bright or drear,
There's a message sweet and clear,
Whispered down to every ear,
Hearit.

THE NEW LEAF

(By Margaret E. Sampter)

Turn the leaf that the New Year brings
To the worn old book of life,
Is turning your back on a tired past
With its fear and distress and strife.

Turning the leaf, you may turn to love,
To brightness and joy and laughter,
But it isn't the turning that counts so much,
As what comes after!

It's writing that counts in the book of life,
It's the message you pen each day—
It's whether the page be rosy hued
Or tinged with a sullen gray.
It's what we may teach as we humbly write,
And what we, please God may learn,
As what comes after—the turn.

A RESOLUTION

To stand by one's friend to the utter most end,
And fight a fair fight with one's foe;
Never to quit and never to twit,
And never to peddle one's woe!
(B. B. Chandler.)

Willow-Craft Dance Enjoyed

Second Annual Affair Saw Kingston Band Provide The Music

The second annual Yuletide dance given by the officers and members of Willow-Craft Club, which was held Monday evening in Moose auditorium, was one of the finest dances of the season, according to popular approval of guests which taxed the capacity of the spacious dance floor.

The place was beautifully decorated for the occasion, streaming ribbons of gold, silver and white and reflecting credit on the members of the committee. Dancing commenced at 8.30 o'clock.

Music for dancing was supplied by Sid Fox and his seven serenaders of Kingston, and it was acclaimed by all as fine as had been heard here this season. The serenaders possessed that happy faculty of introducing newer numbers using as encores outstanding hits of other months. It proved a most enjoyable combination.

Novelty dances throughout the evening, created hilarity. Serpentine, confetti and balloon dance were enjoyed and exquisite lighting effects greatly embellished the natural beauty of the several room valiates.

At midnight, supper was served. During intermission, Miss Ida Follwell entertained with a most interesting dance and Miss Connelly at tickling contributed a solo in excellent voice.

Following were patrons and patronesses:—

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Dolan, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Belair, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Butler, Mrs. and Mrs. W. J. Doyle, Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Forster, Col. G. B. Begy and Mrs. Begy.

CLEVER SNEAK THIEF STEALS FAMILY RADIO

Rental Dodge Used to Get Entry to Apartment Block

Montreal, Dec. 29. — Mounted sneak thieves are showing considerable ingenuity in devising new ways and means of robbing the unwary. An apartment house dweller on Logue Crescent was the victim of a very clever stunt on Thursday night

A well dressed man called at the block with the announced intention of repairing a radio apparatus. The janitress showed him the vacant apartments and he made his choice. He expressed his willingness to sign a lease and in lieu of references, said he would pay his rent three months in advance.

It happened that the janitress was entertaining friends in her own apartment and asked another tenant if he would object to the use of his apartment to sign the lease. He agreed. He had his radio operating at the time but it was not giving him any reception he stated.

After the lease had been signed and a check given for the rent for three months, the stranger commented that the radio was not working right. He said he was a radio expert and would tune it up if the owner desired. He was gone and a half-hour elapsed before he returned. The good reception so he said he had a friend at the foot of the Crescent who was a real expert and if the owner had no objection, he would take the set down to him and have it back in an hour, in first class shape.

The owner was pleased at the offer and carefully wrapped up the set. As the expert at the foot of the street was supposed to have a family, the radio owner kindly included some oranges and apples for the kiddies of the family.

The stranger walked out with the set, And he hasn't been seen or heard from since. The radio owner and the janitress has discovered that the check given her by the prospective tenant isn't worth the paper it was written on.

BIRTH RATE IN 8 PROVINCES DROPS ENGLISH-SPEAKING AREAS DECLINE

Ottawa, December 29.—The birth rate in English-speaking Canada continues to decline. In June last, the most recent month for which the record in the Bureau of Statistics is complete, 11,186 babies were born in eight provinces. Of these 6,332 were males and 6,004 females. No record is available for Quebec.

In June, 1924, 12,344 babies were born in the same area. In June, 1921, the births totalled 13,262. These statistics do not include still births. In June, 1925, there were 427 still births. Of these twelve occurred in cases of twins, where the other infant survived. During the month 152 pairs of twins were born and served and two pairs sets of triplets.

Fewer mothers, however, are dying during child birth. In June, 1925, a maternal mortality in the registration area was 63, which is 5.5 per thousand of living births. In June, 1924, the rate was 6.4.

There was also a decrease in infant mortality. In June, 1925, 841, with 57. This was sixteen. babes under a year old died. This represented 67.8 per thousand living births. In June, 1924, the proportion was 72.1.

In the last four years, the birth rate in Canada (not including Quebec) has dropped from 28.3 per thousand of population to 22.1 per thousand. A return to the Bureau of Statistics, to which vital statistics for Quebec province are not available, shows that the decline in the natural increase of population has been steady since 1921, in favor of the month of June, 1925, can be taken as an indication.

The most recent month for which figures are available.

Statistics, as districts, are available only for cities of 30,000 or over. Of thirteen cities here tabulated, only two had an increase in births, but that was compared with June, 1921. These two were St. John, N.B. and Windsor, Ont., with 30.6 and 30.3 births increase. Toronto a decrease of 190 births in the four-year span. Winnipeg a decrease of 153 and Hamilton one of 41 here. Of the thirteen cities mentioned, Victoria, B.C., had the lowest number of births in June last, with 57. This was sixteen. This birth less even in June, 1921. Toronto was the highest with 940. None of the cities of Quebec are included in the tabulation.

FOX SHOOTERS ROUSE ANGER OF SWELL HUNTERS

Collision Between Aristocratic Club and Armend Workmen

SHATTER TRADITIONS

Unmounted Wheelwrights, Gardeners, Etc., Hunt in Red Coats but with Guns

London, December 29.—England's ingrained enmeshment while boiling with anger today, while all England endowed with a fund of humor is chuckling with delight over the latest fox-hunting battle between members of the fashionable Surrey Union Hunt Club and the Holmwood Hunt, accounts of which are appearing while both parties were chasing a fox across the lovely country of Surrey near London.

But whereas the aristocrats were doing their fox hunting according to traditional methods, mounted on gentlemens steeds and carrying at full speed after the baying hounds, the Holmwood Hunt members were mostly a gathering of chauffeurs, gardeners, wheelwrights, etc., without steeds except "shanks mare," with a pack of hounds, "mongrel dogs" in the aristocrats eyes, in England—with guns for shooting foxes.

Now, shooting a fox is, as everybody knows, the very core of the English fox-hunting aristocracy, a crime ranking with robbing a church or committing arson, while one can easily imagine the feeling of the swell Surrey Union hunters when they met the Holmwood crowd on the hunting-ground common of Surrey. The aristocrats were chasing one fox and the proletarians another! They halted. They glared at each other! Four of the hunters, marching proudly in the van of their comrades, carried ferocious looking "cannon," which only served to kindle the already hot anger of the noble sports men into flame. Dreadful words were exchanged and no, awful deeds occurred. One aristocratic lady rising with the Surrey Union huntsmen called down curses on the head of Holmwood Hunt in the name of the classic fox-hunting tradition of England to turn their guns away from the fox and shoot their foes instead. But they wouldn't. They just continued swearing at the aristocrats.

Finally Holmwood Club adjourned for lunch and the aristocrats rode off grinding curses between their teeth.

Such is the latest story of the great battle came out. It seems the Holmwood Hunt was founded on a grievance. Foxes are so numerous in Surrey that the property of the farmers has been continually disappearing. Therefore, having, according to their customers, failed to obtain compensation from members of the Surrey Union Hunt, the proletarians of the neighborhood organized their own hunt club—consisting of pedestrians armed with guns. Since then they have shot eleven foxes.

Led by Bert Batchelor, a wheelwright and Phil Rossiter, a chauffeur and gardener-both ardent sportsmen of course by the way, to lend zest to the proceedings—the fox shooters were busy scouring Surrey Saturday when they ran against the aristocrats—with a result which would have made Lord Willoughby de Broke, the great fox hunter, weep with rage and chagrin.

Today Batchelor and Rossiter insisted they would continue putting bullets into foxes instead of allowing them to perish by having their Corneis torn by hounds according to the grand old traditions. They declare there is no law that can stop them.

RUTH WORKING TO BECOME FIT

Bambino Out to Make Real Record in 1926 and Keep Salary

WANTS MORE HOMERS

Drops Surplus Weight Under Heavy Training for Next Year

New York, Dec. 29.—More hits, more homers, more happiness and less fat is the 1926 program that Babe Ruth has set out for himself.

The Babe, tiring of putting on weight raising chickens on his new England estate, has abandoned the country, and is getting himself in shape for another baseball campaign in a gymnasium here.

He is doing two hours on the road in the morning and three hours in the afternoon on rowing machines, on the handball court and in the ring.

"I weighed 226 pounds when I left the farm, and I'm down to 216 pounds now," the Babe said. "That still sounds like a lot of weight for a ball-player, but it's getting solid, and I'm a good-sized fellow."

The Babe did not take offense when it was talked that his bosses at the New York office had decided that the aged players and the fat players on the club could not spend two weeks at Hot Springs in the spring with all checks paid.

MONEY MEANS NOTHING

"It isn't the dough," the Babe said, "if I thought that it would do me any good I'd pay my own freight and go down there for some baths and some golf. The trouble is that the fellows who go down there try to do too much in a few days.

"I loafed around all last winter and thought I could take a few hikes and a few baths and get myself in shape. I tried to do too much and broke down, and I know the reason now.

"My legs went bad on me last year, and I knew that I didn't play any real baseball. The fellows told me that the only way I could keep the dogs working was to keep using them, and I've been using them all winter.

"I went up with Eddie Collins and the fellows into the Canadian woods and I had to ride on a truck horse for a couple of days, but after a week or so I was able to eat hike any of the boys in the bunch.

EYE STILL GOOD

"The old eye is still good, and the arm is all right, and I think I can hit a few of them out of the park next season if the old dogs stand up under me, and I'm getting them in shape to stand."

The Babe looks to be in splendid condition, and he certainly is trying. The threat that his bosses were said to have made about his new contract apparently has turned the Babe from a gentleman farmer into a serious laborer.

HOCKEY TONIGHT TO TELL A TALE

Cobourg Int's to Play An Exhibition Against Local Squad

A SMART PRACTISE

Weir and Hagerman Not on Skates But Some Newcomers Were

Cobourg Intermediate O.H.A. hockey squad meet Belleville Intermediate O.H.A. sextette at the Turnbull street rink here to-night at 8.15 o'clock in an exhibition game when will be Belleville certain-rainer.

Fans are reminded that only the east end of the rink is reserved, and the remainder, both up and down stairs is available to fandom for fifty cents and tax per admission.

The third practice of the season was held by Belleville Intermediates at the rink Monday night between 7 and 8 o'clock when sufficient men for a team and substitutes were "on the blades" for the session.

Hutter, "Johnny" Hibbard, "Doc" Whalen, "Gil" Goyer, Frank Goyer, "Toots" Lloyd and Groh were out on the ice for the approval of thirty odd rabid fans who watched them go.

Weir was not out, and Hagerman watched the practice.

The boys tore into it right merrily and a beneficial work out resulted. Though condition was lacking, they gave promise of rounding into a fair fighting machine. Whalen and "Gil" Goyer seemed to be into most every play and have not forgotten their old stride, Groh, who has been in Belleville since August, is brother of Groh who plays on Preston senior team He plays a the line and appears to be a con scientious worker though lacking in condition. He will be used in to-night's game Groh was the only new man out Monday night.

All players will be red in the battle to-night so that they will have the opportunity of showing fans how they can go. They will have an opportunity of getting into the fray before the season's opener on January 8th, when Trenton plays Belleville in Trenton. Fans who take in the game tonight will see them all go against a peppy team, for Cobourg always presents an interesting team, though seldom seen in action in this city.

Manager Gar Arnott of the rink has had several days of ideal ice making weather and should have a sheet of ice which demands sharp skates and assures plenty of speed. In so far as weather conditions permit, there should be nothing last fast hockey dished up. With such keen ice, the going should be strenuous and with lack of condition on both aggregations—as such be the case—there should be plenty of substition. Many opportunities for everyone Hailberds and old time "knights of the shining blade," should get a wonderful eye full at the historic Turnbull street place tonight.

Sport Comment

Art Ross arrived back in Boston after a scouting trip, in which he tried to sign some good amateur players for the Boston Bruins, and told of the big money some of the stars were seeking. None of the players approached had any particular objection, to jumping to the professional ranks, providing the money inducements were good enough.

"I talked to four players," said Ross, "and they wanted from $6,000 to $10,000 apiece to play for Boston. All of them have shown class in the amateur ranks, but their rating of their own worth in the professional world makes it unlikely that we shall sign any of them. The matter is closed and we shall have to scout around in other sections for new material. I would like to get a couple of fast forwards to supplement our present line. I believe that our defense, with Sprague Cleghorn back in the game, will be as good as any one's."

Jack Lawrence, writing an aftermath of the "Tex" Rickard-Mike McTigue fight in the New York Herald-Tribune, touches on the betting angle with the following anecdote:

"In one place where quite a few wagers were laid on Wednesday night all bets were called off when the decision was announced. Those who had bet on McTigue almost unanimously refused to take the money. Most of the bets were small, but one man had won $650 on the decision. When the cash was turned over to him by the stakeholder to return the money to the man from whom it had won. He had seen the fight and said he was convinced that McTigue did not deserve the decision. The man who won the $650 incidentally is a well-known bookmaker."

Boy, oh, boy! try and make the local coterie of sharpshooters believe the yarn! If any such thing actually happened here they'd have to get another one of those heroic dog teams to rush in a fresh supply of smelling salts to revive the skeptics.

"Red" Grange grabbed a few more thousand dollars and some glory yesterday in the first of a series of games he is to play in Florida. If the money continues to come his way he should soon have enough saved to finish his college course.

JONES TO PLAY FLORIDA COURSES

Golf of Champion Plans Big Programme in Cold Months

St. Augustine, Fla., Dec. 29.—Bobby Jones, the world's greatest golfer, will display his wares on the links here this winter. The American amateur champion and former U.S. open title-holder, is in business in Florida and has promised to come to this city for an exhibition or two, and it is expected he will play also in the winter amateur championship to be held here March 23 to 27.

Jones intends to play more golf this winter than ever before, in preparation for his second invasion of England, where he will play on the American team in the Walker cup matches. Bobby has not been on the other side since 1921, when he was a double winner in the International events.

The appearance of Jones here means that St. Augustine will be graced by the presence of America's greatest man and women golfers, as Miss Glenna Collett will be here to defend the Florida East Coast championship, a the tournament scheduled for March 2 to 6.

Miss Collett is also going to England next spring in an effort to win the British title, as well as to defend the French crown she won last summer. The American national champion—she won the honor for the second time at St. Louis last October—is planning an arduous campaign in 1926, and her playing in Florida will serve to put her in good condition for the various title events.

Ash effort is being made to have Jones team up with Watts Gunn, who went to the finals in the amateur with Bobby last summer, for an early season match against two of the best professionals available. Archie Compston, England's foremost professional, has accepted a winter berth at St. Augustine, but his coming is contingent on his ability to bring along a suitable playing partner. If Jones and Gunn find it convenient to "double up" they will be invited to oppose Compston and his partner in a match here.

Jones has established himself as the greatest amateur golfer of all time, his record in the U.S. open tournaments the last four years clinches the claim made for him that he is without an equal. In that stretch Bobby has won the title once, tied for first place once, and finished second twice. In 1922 he finished one stroke back of Gene Sarazen; in 1923 he won the championship after a play-off with Bobby Cruickshank; in 1924 he finished second to Cyril Walker, and last summer he was beaten by Willie Macfarlane only after a record double play-off of 36 holes.

BUD FISHER DENIES HE COURTED GIRL

New York, Dec. 29.—Harry C. (Bud) Fisher, cartoonist, who recently married Countess Aedita de Beaumont of Paris, has characterized as ridiculous the charges of Miss Ada Lucille Shields, who is suing him for $25,000 for breach of promise.

"I hardly know the girl," he said at his Riverside Drive apartment. "Do I look like one who went around proposing marriage promiscuously? I shall deny everything in court."

Miss Shields said she met Fisher at Saratoga where he was racing his thoroughbreds and that he immediately made love to her.

The force of the impact sent Mrs. Herrvey forcibly against the top of the car and she sustained serious injuries. The car was badly damaged.

CANADIAN CADETS WIN FROM RAMSAY'S TEAM

Millbury College Defeats, Princeton After Montreal Varsity Loses

New York, Dec. 29.—Canadian and United States Universities opened a four game international hockey series in Madison Square Garden yesterday afternoon after the "finals" certain had been ring down on a pair of the title, the two countries stood on an even footing. The United States jockeyed into the lead when Boston College took the measure of the University of Montreal sextette by a score of 4 to 2. But in the forenoon of Princeton Tigers met a more vicious hockey foe in Royal Military College, and the Canadians won, 3 to 1. In the afternoon R.M.C. meets Boston, and the final match of the series this evening will see Princeton facing University of Montreal.

The Kingston team had things pretty much their own way. They set up an invincible combination attack.

GAYEST HUMOR RICH MELODIES

Mikado Has Never Been Surpassed in Light Comedy World

There is nothing left unsaid or unwritten about "the Mikado", Gilbert & Sullivan's gem of gems, which is coming to Griffin's Opera House on Tuesday, January 5th, with a brilliant cast of principals and a chorus that is recognized as "the best singing chorus on tour."

The gay humor of W. S. Gilbert's book and lyrics and the haunting melodies of Sir Arthur Sullivan's music, have in the past forty years been the subject of uncountable words of praise. None of the operas of this brilliant team have more merit than "The Mikado" and no matter how often it is done it is unfailing in giving pleasure. Very much like the potato to Pat; it may be good or it may be better, but it is never bad.

Both the music and the story of "The Mikado" are thoroughly familiar. It has been one of the most popular operas ever written. It was first produced in 1885 and has held its popularity through four decades. This being the fortieth anniversary, Baradon Brothers are commemorating the occasion with a trans-continental tour.

Brandon Brothers have given "The Mikado" a very beautiful scenic and costume production and a cast that will be a delight to lovers of music lovers and theatregoers. Every principal in this worthy organization possesses a singing voice of unusual quality and the vocal attainments of the cast do not stop with the principals for the chorus is made up of unusually fine voices. The result cannot fail to be an exceptionally fine musical attraction.

PICTURE AT BELLE DONE IN THE OPEN

No Artificial Trees or Grass in "Son of His Father" Current Film

"Give me the open spaces any day of the year," says Tyrone Fleming, Paramount director whose latest picture, "A Son of His Father", is now running at Belle Theatre. "I like to shoot my pictures away from the artificiality of the studio lights. No matter how full studio facilities have advanced since I entered pictures, they never hold any feeling of realness for me.

"When I see a studio tree, no matter how natural it may look to the spectator, I know there's something missing. I like to feel there's live sap running through its limbs, and when I see the grass I want something it, I know that's impossible.

"There are some directors who think a glass covered studio the only place in which to work. To me, any location is ideal that has the grass for a floor and the sky for a roof.

"In the past I have directed three Zane Grey "Westerns", also "Code of the Sea", "Adventure", "Empty Hands" and "The Devil's Cargo", I don't know which I enjoyed making most, but I do know that "A Son of His Father" is well up and beyond anything I have ever attempted before."

"A Son of His Father" was adapted for the screen by Anthony Coldewey from the "best-seller" novel of the same by Harold Bell Wright.

MANY RABBIS RALLY TO DEFEND DR. WISE

Newark Preacher Points Out Seminaries Accept Christ as Great Teacher

New York, Dec. 29.—Rabbis all over the country are coming to the defence of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise as a result of the criticism he evoked from the Agudath Harabonim after describing Christ as a great moral teacher in a sermon last Sunday morning.

Rabbi Lewis Browne, head of the Free Synagogue in Newark, was the first local Jewish preacher to come out openly for him. He declared that the views expressed by Rabbi Wise on this subject were accepted in all the modern Jewish theological seminaries and that his colleague had been preaching the same belief's ever since he founded the Free synagogue in New York eighteen years ago. A number of rabbis will express their views on the controversy in the course of today's sermons.

"Today the modern Jew is trying to disentangle out of the mass of legend and fable the life of a worthy man and not to make him any longer responsible for crimes committed in his name," said Rabbi Harris. "The 25th of December, occurring just after the winter solstice, was an ancient festival of the heathen. It was Yule before it was Christmas, celebrating the triumph of light after winter's shortest day. Therefore, the birth of Jesus was adjusted to that time.

"Some Jews take advantage of this fact as an excuse for participation in the Christmas celebration. They forget that whatever this day may once have been, it is now the Birthday of the Messiah of the Christian, a sacred day in the ritual of the church. To participate in its celebration because of its associated pleasures is playing with sacred things—a double insult to the faith of the Christian and of the Jew.

"My protest, then, against Jewish observance of Christmas involves no unfriendliness to the Christian—it is simply appropriate in fact and dangerous in outcome. «We Jews have always been ready to let bygones be bygones and we gladly congratulate our Christian friends on their festival," tival."

ADVERTISE IN THE INTELLIGENCER

NEW MIGRATION PROGRAMME TO BE ANNOUNCED

Speech from Throne to Contain Important Statement

MEIGHEN ON JAN. 11

Will Protest Unconstitutional Ground Taken by Mackenzie King

Ottawa, Dec. 29.—With the festive Christmas season over, attention is again directed to the opening of Parliament which will take place on January 7, a week from next Thursday. Parliament will be opened with all the pomp and ceremony of other days, for the rise and fall of governments are not allowed to interfere with the traditional procedure which is a part of the carrying on of His Majesty's government. Arrangements are being completed by the officials of the Senate and by the House of Commons, for the opening of the first session of the fifteenth Parliament of Canada. This session promises not only to be the most interesting but the most momentous for the Liberal and Conservative parties since Confederation. It is understood that the Speech from the Throne is completed and needs but to go to the King's Printer after a few changes have been made to be ready to be delivered by the Governor-General in the Senate. While the session entered are fairly well known due to the fact that it must contain concessions satisfactory to the Progressives to gain their support, in the form of western rur ad credit to the Hudson's Bay Railway co-operative marketing, it is stated here that an important announcement will be made of a new immigration policy, which in future years will be calculated to bring prosperity and thousands of immigrants once again to Canada. It is also stated that as the Minister of Immigration and Colonization, the Hon. George Gordon, was defeated in the last election, the new immigration policy has been produced by the Prime Minister and his two confidential advisers; the Hon. Herbert Marler and the Hon. Vincent Massey. Political observers here, however, who have had experience of the specious promises and the idealistic schemes of the Prime Minister to bring prosperity and immigration to Canada, are inclined to be somewhat skeptical, and will await the announcement with considerable anticipation.

It is believed here that if the Government is sustained on its first vote the Hon. Vincent Massey will be given the portfolio of Minister of Immigration and Colonization and will seek a constituency in Saskatchewan. It is also stated that the Prime Minister is having trouble in securing the opening of Rimouski county for himself, and that the present member, L. P. Goulet, refuses the House, though last session it had to resign. The Prime Minister's majority of one over all parties party managers have been in conference for the past few days with Mr. Goulet and his friends, but their reception it is stated, has been coolness on the weather. If he cannot secure Russell county, he will endeavor to get J. E. Emmerel to resign his seat in Prescott county.

The opening of Parliament will witness a Government asking for a vote of confidence in the House of Commons without a Prime Minister and with eight of h's ministers defeated who went to the country with him. It will witness the following provinces without a minister in the House of Commons: Ontario, Manitoba, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island and there is little likelihood of the Government being able to secure the election of a minister in any of these provinces. There will also be the spectacle of a Government in power, though unseated in the only the second group in their own initiative and under their own auspices. This will call upon the Government to produce a precedent where a seatless Prime Minister has remained in power after his party had been defeated. In Canada hitherto, every defeated Government resigned at once. Mr. Meighen will demand from the Government on behalf of the country why the Prime Minister has held on to office without a seat or any visible prospect of securing one.

Both parties have been delving deeply into the constitutional aspects of the present situation and a keen and strenuous battle will take place on this aspect of the present situation.

On the other hand the Conservative party will face the Government with the largest group and combination in its ranks some of the keenest critics and finest debaters in public life today. Many of them are sent within their group they will present a united front to their political opponents and will maintain unceasing vigilance.

The opening speech for the Conservative party will be made by the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen Monday January 11th, when officially he will present the views of his party which on the conclusion of his speech will be embodied in a motion of want of confidence in the Government. It is understood that Mr. Meighen will devote part of his speech to the unconstitutional ground taken by the Prime Minister for remaining in power after his party had been defeated at the polls. He will challenge the Government for remaining in power after they had gone to the country

Banff Stages Big Winter Classic

A world-championship Dog Derby to the "Top of the World and Back" will be run for the first time in the history of dog-mushing at the Banff Winter Carnival this year, according to plans now being made by the Carnival committee under President Blandish. The course runs from Calgary to the Great Divide and back to Banff will be the longest dog race in the world and will exceed the famous Pan Derby by 23 miles. The Strongheart Trophy and one thousand dollars will go to the winner.

From Calgary, the starting point, the dog teams will travel to a height of 8,000 feet over a distance of 153 miles. This point is the Great Divide, the backbone of the North American continent, which in the Canadian Rockies separates Alberta from British Columbia. The contestants will then return to Banff via Lake Louise, completing the distance of 175 miles. The course lies over the most rugged scenery in America and will be the most variable run ever made by dog and sled.

This world-championship dog derby will be made an annual event in the Banff Winter Carnival from now on. Among the famous mushers who have already signed up for the race are Ivy Mills with his team of Hudson Bay blacks; Harry Knight, the 19-year-old boy who has twice already won the Strongheart Trophy and will have to win it only this year to come into possession of it; Jim Boyce, Fred Pepper, George Child and others of renown.

The end of the race will be celebrated by a big buffalo barbecue at Lake Minnewanka, seven miles from Banff.

A special train will run from Calgary to Banff to allow those who saw the teams start to view the finish.

The Banff Winter Carnival, which has now become one of the big Canadian winter classics, will extend over two weeks this year, from February 2 to the 17th.

Another feature of this year's events will be the skilouping contests over the new, enlarged hill, which will be participated in by Nels Nelson, the Canadian Pacific Railway trailsman who holds the world's championship in both the amateur and professional classes.

To enable the winter visitors to Banff to see something of the scenery, Bill Peyto, famous Rocky Mountain guide, will bring in twenty horses to be used to pull ski-lorers and tobogganers to scenic points in the surrounding mountains.

Other features of the ice carnival will be the ladies' hockey championships and skating contests for all classes; swimming contests in the famous hot sulphur pools; ski and ski-jumping races and the usual dog derby contests by the famous Rocky Mountain guides of West Canada. Dog teams will be used to haul the ski-jorers instead of the familiar Banff summer automobile. These teams will be provided by the Brewster Transport Company. The city of Calgary having this year discontinued their carnival will be on hand to join forces with the Banff classic. It is expected that the coming Banff Carnival will be the biggest in the history of the Rockies.

ARNOTT A STAR IN WINDSOR WIN

Preston Riversides Now on Top of Heap—Goaler is Hurt

Windsor, Ont. Dec. 29.—Preston Riversides, on the top rung, due to Niagara Falls defeating London in the senior O.H.A., successfully carried the going with Windsor Hornets, and, emerged victors by the score of 3-1. Hyam fear ed Windsor would be lost without their star goalie, Paddy Farrell, who suffered an accident in the preliminary practice and was knocked cold, but Vennie, secand string goaltender, replaced him at the start and did a fine, and proved to be a star. His efforts could not thwart Preston's aggressiveness and team-work, however. The final period was scoreless, Windsor shooting mostly to a defensive game, fearing the loss of their regular goal tender, but when the substitute showed he will they opened up but without results on either side.

In the second period Bill Guest, speedy forward for Windsor, sent the puck team out in front by a beautiful stick-handling exhibition. Arnott of Preston evened the count with four minutes to go by pretty combination along with Ashley, who was the outstanding individual on the visiting team.

The third period opened with a rush, as both teams seemed to be determined that the game should be finished in the regulation time. Arnott caught the Windsor team napping, and scored one in on Vennie from a difficult angle, which shot between his legs. Shortly after in a general melee, Guest, one of Windsor's goal Talbott's stick, came in contact with a rebound from the boards, sliding neatly into the net. Although outplayed Preston for the remainder of this period, the Imdians was too great for the goaltending Arnott, Clarke and Ashley starred for the visitors, while Vennie, Guest and Boucher shared honors for Windsor The lineups:—

Referee—Dr. J. W. Lathamair, Toronto.

LONDON BEATEN BY FALLS TEAM

Frasermen Score All Goals In Last Period — Conors Scores Two

Niagara Falls, Ont., Dec. 29.—Gene Fraser's senior O.H.A. champion came out with their true colors here last night, defeating Bill Marsden's London Ravens 3-0 in a Big Six tilt that had all the earmarks of class, speed and evenness. The teams battled in heroic manner for 45 minutes with neither of them getting in the score column. Even after the Falls had notched their three counters in the final period the game did not look to be safely tucked away, so earnestly and determinedly did the Londoners try in the dying stages. The win for the Frasermen was a well-earned one, as the goals scored were the result of brilliant work which brought the marksmen inside the defence on each occasion.

Both teams gave their all at every stage, and the crowd of 4,000 howling fans were more than pleased with the brand of hockey exhibited The champions showed more team play than they had exhibited to date this season. Bobby Connors turned in a great game at centre. He went big about with George Herrington and Spud Ketterborn on the wings, both of whom played stellar hockey throughout. Geno Fraser was the same old effective big train on the defence, while Maasaber, an intermediate recruit, went good beside him. Mayo in goal had no end night this time, the "Wart" being at his best, turning off the "nothing to it" one sin sensation al style.

Bill Starking, Jerry Lowry, "Dutch" Keeling all played great hockey for the Ravens. "Dic Bill" Sanderson was a tower of strength both going and coming. "Shrimp" McPherson was effective when used, displaying better marksmanship than some of his teammates. Ross Somerville was good in spots, but it was very apparent that he was not in the pink of condition. Moore in goal made many clever saves.

AT THE Y.M.C.A. POOL

The Y Swimming pool was the scene of great activity this morning when between thirty and forty boys were present to take part in a special holiday program of races.

Only one race was included in the program for the preps, boys of 10 and 11 years. This a twenty-five yard race, twice the length of the pool was won by George Fisher with George Quirem Lambert a close second.

The junior school program included the following races:

Fifty yard free style, fifty yard back stroke and one hundred yard relay.

The first two mentioned, had to be run in heats with the winners again competing in a final heat. Bilsley and Graham were the winners of their respective heats in the fifty yard free style and the final between these two gave the decision to Bilsley by a goodly margin. The back stroke was a comparatively easy win for R. Chadwick over St. Blakley, the winner of heat No. 2. In the relay race the following were the winners, each swimming twenty-five yards, Messrs. Blakley, Day, Lattimer and Graves.

Four Sabbath Schools Hold "Trees" 2,000 Attend After-Christmas Events Youngsters Take Lead in Programs

When he immortalized "Pitty Pat and Tippy Toe" Eugene Field must have visualized just such scenes as took place in four Sunday Schools in the city for at Christ Church, at Holloway street Church and at Emmanuel Church, Pitty Pats and Tippy Toes aggregating something close onto two thousand assembled for the annual Christmas entertainments which coming after the plum pudding and mince pies were all over and Christmas festivities almost a thing of the past, were all the more enjoyable as the children had had still something to look forward to while finishing off the home festivities which usually terminate Christmas activities. The fourth entertainment was that of the Station Street Citadel Sunday School of the Salvation Army.

CHRIST CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT

Due to the limited space in Christ Church Sunday School room which with the growth of the enrollment of scholars has become inadequate to accomodate the parents too, the rector Rev. C. E. Clarke had arranged to hold the annual entertainment in the City Hall and even this commodious hall proved inadequate. Not only were all the chairs and windows full but two or three hundred persons were compelled to stand throughout the programme and many were unable to gain admittance. Mr. Oswald Scott, superintendent of the Sun day School made a very capable and efficient chairman and kept things moving at a speedy rate during the festivities. The programme was a long one but the big event of the evening was the arrival on the beautifully decorated platform with its Christmas tree and program and red decorations, of Santa Claus who certainly carried a "sack full of candies and toys for every one. He was a real Santa Claus too, and to many of the children present bore a strong resemblance to Serge Herman, but of course nobody ever saw Sergeant Herman with a long white beard and round rosy cheeks. Santa Claus called every one by their name and he did look like him, if he were not the man.

THEFTS OF GROCERIES CHARGED AGAINST PAIR REMANDED FOR WEEK

Harry Delins and Charles Delins, arrested in Campbellford by Campbellford police for the city police department here, were brought to this city Tuesday and arraigned today. They are charged with breaking and entering and stealing.

Both were remanded to the County jail for one week without plea or election by Mr. John Newton and H. F. Ketcheson, Justices of the Peace, who officiated on the bench today in the absence of Magistrate Masson.

The Delines are charged with breaking and entering the store of J. B. Rickett at 4 Ponton street on October 11th 1924, stealing therefrom a quantity of butter, a number of cans, canned goods, a side of bacon, a piece of cheese and some tobacco. In all, goods to the value of $160 were taken.

The arrests resulted from a visit which Chief Kidd and P. C. Booth paid to Campbellford on Monday when they motored there. The outlines were not in town Monday, on their return, however, they were arrested by the Campbellford police.

Other developments may occur within the week in connection with this matter.

Practical Joke Fatal To Victim

Reading, Pa., Dec. 30 — Claude Millard, 18, died here as the result of a practical joke played on him by fellow workmen at the Allentown Portland Cement plant. Some one threw a bucket of gasoline over the scuffling group and Millard, drenched, walked toward a stove.

Vancouver, B.C., Dec. 30.—Dr. D.W. Massey, 61, a dental surgeon, died suddenly yesterday while operating on a patient. He was a former resident of Colborne and Brighton, Ont., and served overseas during the war as a member of the Dental Corps.

Health Board for Year Cuts Expensss $2,136 Less Sickness was Seen

The Board of Health of 1925 saved exactly $2136.52 for the City of Belleville. This is another way of saying that the expenses of the year were lower than those of 1924 by that amount. Last year saw the expenditure of $4520.26, while this year's complaints for health and sanitation was conducted for $2383.52.

The chairman of the retiring Board, Mai. H. D. Ponton said this morning that this result for the very successful year rests partly with a paying Providence—there was less sickness this last year than there was in 1924, also with the Sanitary inspector, Mr. Hope McGinnis, the Medical Officers of Health, and the intelligent co-operation of the citizens of Belleville."

The explanation of the letter was given by saying that citizens were prompt and thorough in cleaning up premises as, and when, recommended by the Board.

Maj. Ponton expressed in behalf of the Board, the greatest appreciation o fhis efforts and results of the chest clinics which were conducted by Dr. A. D. Proctor, as well as the well-baby clinics held by Miss Shore, the V.O.N.

"I hope that the future Board, during the next year, may continue and encourage both of these laudable enterprises," said the Chairman in closing.

HE DID IT

The old newspaper axiom has it that when a dog bites a man it isn't news, but if a man bites a dog, it is. James M. Johnson, of Los Angeles, has finally done it. He dog his bath his hands and Johnson got the animal's throat between his teeth and held on until it died.

ACKERMAN, DOLAN, GRAHAM ROBERSTON AND WORTH LED; C. OF C. DIRECTORS 2 YEARS

The annual election for directors of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce which was concluded yesterday afternoon was perhaps the most spirited that has taken place since the Chamber was first organized The ten citizens who were candidates for the positions were among the most prominent business and professional men in the city. The latter evening was therefore exceedingly keen and although no canvassing was done a very heavy vote was polled.

The final result was extremely close there being a margin of only two or three votes between those who were returned and those who failed to gain a plurality. In this respect the election was also unique.

The election committee which consisted of Messrs. A. G. Davis, managing editor of The Daily Ontario, J. G. Sidley, manager of the Bank of Commerce, and James A. Coleen, local manager of the Bell Telephone Company, had to exercise the utmost care in making the count as the candidates were divided by no narrow a margin.

The new directors of the public spirit of Belleville's foremost citizens and augurs well for the future progress of the city when the men who are most deeply interested in the duties and responsibilities of their calling or business thus express a willingness to give of their time and means to support the organization that represents Belleville's new forward policy.

The five candidates who received a majority of the votes each were, in alphabetical order—

H. W. Ackerman, Chas. T. Dolan, R. J. E. Graham, Mackenzie Roberston, E. W. Worth.

These five are elected for a two-year period. The entire board consists of nine members. The other four directors who were elected a year ago for a biennial term, are, Jamieson Bone, H. F. Ketcheson, O. H. Scott and Chas. E. Hanna.

The inaugural meeting will be held in a manner when the president and other officers will be selected. Mr. O. H. Scott is the retiring president.

Mr. H. W. Ackerman who was yesterday re-elected director of the Chamber of Commerce has the honor of being the only one of the present board who has held that office continuously since the Chamber was first organized, six years ago. He has survived the vicissitudes of four directoral elections and if the vote cast in yesterday's contest is any criterion he is still "going strong". He "retired" from active business eight years ago but not from active citizenship. He attends more meetings of one kind and another than any other man in the City of Belleville. When there is a job too onerous or too difficult for any one else to tackle the parties immediately compromise by returning it over to Harry Ackerman and, before the dust eye are aware of the fact, the thing is done and everybody is happy. He has a tact and diplomatic way of adapting towards the object in view and there is usually a peaceful assurance. Mr. Ackerman makes a most useful director of the Chamber of Commerce.

Chas. A. Dolan is the enlivener of the party. His fetish with genuine wit and humorous eloquence make him the life of any group in which he happens to perambulate. He is making a success of his own business and the other members evidently thought he might make a success in the work of helping to build here a greater Belleville and therefore they elected him a director of the Chamber of Commerce.

Adj. R. J. E. Graham is now for the first time elected a director of the Chamber of Commerce although he moved into the civic arena as alderman ten years ago. He did so well he succeeded fully navigating the troubled waters of municipal politics that he was, a month ago, made the chief magistrate-elect of the City of Belleville, and became the youngest mayor in the history of the city. This later and more important position of director of the Chamber of Commerce came to him without solicitation or conscious effort on his own part and if he cannot find time for both jobs he will probably give up the mayoralty. He is not afraid of work, however, and, as he is both a barrister and a business man, he will bring to all his manifold duties a variety of training, experience and level-headed judgment that we do not always find in one who is still so

Little Weight Put In Attack Upon Baldwin

London, Dec. 30. — It is noteworthy that Liberal news papers refrain from attaching too much weight to statements made in Glasgow by Stanley Baldwin as to London editor that there is a plot among some of the Conservative members of the House of Commons to depose Premier Baldwin from the party leadership, break up the government and split the Conservative party.

The Herald however says that leading Conservatives are not connected with the movement which has originated in an entirely different quarter. The Manchester Guardian Liberal, which conjecturing that there may be fire behind this smoke, hastens to add its own doubt as to whether it is much of a fire.

London, Dec. 30. — Rapid thawing of snow and continued heavy rains are causing serious floods in many parts of Great Britain. Vast tracts of land are submerged. New License Markers Here No Increase in the Prices Colors Changed for 1926

New 1926 license plates have arrived in Belleville. They are for safe-keeping and will be from now on, at the office of the distributor, H. F. Ketcheson, Life Insurance Company, 20 Bridge street east.

"We have telephoned all city garages and many others already" said Mr. H. F. Ketcheson when seen by The Intelligencer this morning.

"There is no increase in prices this year.

"Now markers are attractive—black numbers on a grey, dark-ground." Police station procured their plates early this morning and they were arrayed in position on the police car later in the morning. Many others are purchasing their licenses.

Highway Officer Frink is on duty each day and expects to be on duty until the end of the winter.

This will mark the first winter that a highway officer has been on duty in this district since motor cars first came into existence. It is conjectured that the earlier-than-usual issuance of 1926 license plates, may have resulted from the intention of the department to keep the highways patrolled all winter.

It is a fact that with increased numbers of cars and trucks, and additional stretches of paved highway much more motor traffic during winter months has resulted.

TORY MEET JANUARY 8 TO DECIDE

"Ginger Group" of Progressives Also Talk of Caucus Before House of Commons Meets

Ottawa, Dec. 30.—No definite decision will be arrived at until Conservative members hold their caucus here on Jan. 7 or 8, but it is generally believed in well informed circles that an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne will be moved by Conservatives early in the debate. Present indications point to likelihood of amendment being moved in House by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, the Conservative Leader, following his speech on the debate.

The nature of the probable amendment will of course not be decided upon until the caucus is held. Arrangements are also being made for a contemplated caucus of the members of the "Ginger Group," tentatively scheduled to take place on January 5, two days before parliament assembles.

FALLING STARS LIGHT UP SKIES ONE NEAR CITY

Did you see the meteor yesterday afternoon, shortly after 5 o'clock? One fell at all events, and many citizens crossing the Bay Bridge were startled by it at first and listened later by the trail of fire it left, and the reflection from the earth after it fell.

Miss Reta Stevens of the Income Tax Office was one of those who witnessed the astronomic phenomenon and was able to describe it sympathy. Miss Stevens was standing on Charles Street near Dundas, sometime after 5 o'clock, talking to another young lady, when the falling star, as it appeared to her, attracted her attention.

Miss Stevens said the object was larger than most stars, and that it left a stream of light in its wake as it fell. The light remained in the sky for ten or twelve seconds after the meteor had disappeared. She reported no reflection from the ground, as did others who reported the illumination of the sky of dust. Miss Stevens said that from her position the "star" seemed to fall over Parke's Island.

She also noted that there was another star of about the same size and brilliance near the one which fell. The resemblance of the two suggested the possibility of celestial collision due to a possible mixup in traffic regulations.

Says Cancer Is Hereditary

New Haven, Conn. Dec. 30.—Soils lacks of caution is hereditary, and people born without a strain of the disease are immune, Dr. L. C. Strong of the Bussey Institute of Harvard University, declared here today at the conclusion of symposium on cancer, conducted by the American Society of Zoology. To this announcement, however, Dr. Strong add ed the condition that even where hereditary traces exist, environmental factors would seem to be necessary as irritants in order to make the disease active.

R.C.M.P. AIDED IN COUNTERFEIT GANG ROUND-UP

Five Men Held in New York Said To Have Confessed

LARGE OPERATIONS

$50,000 in Bills Distributed in U.S. and Canada—Certificate Printed

New York, December 30.—Five men, including the alleged manufacturer, wholesaler and distributor, in an international counterfeiting ring, were arraigned before United States Commissioner Cotter this afternoon and were remanded.

Their arrest yesterday morning, after secret service operatives and Royal Canadian Mounted police had located them for months, was followed by the capture of the counterfeiting plant, they morning.

Three cameras, a dozen half-finished counterfeits, thirty-seven sets of photographic plates of various paper mills, and an elaborate colorful apparatus were found in the home of the reputed leader of the gang, Frank Brancato, of 335 Railway avenue, Elizabeth, N.J.

Wirgand was a worker in irrigation, with a 10,000 business until he was forced into bankruptcy a few years ago.

It was in the secret service men say, who did all the actual work of counterfeiting, aided only by his crippled son, Frank, Jr.

The boy—he is nineteen—was left with his mother by the agents who searched the Wirgand home and seized the cameras and reproducing mechanism.

Wirgand is said to have confessed his share in the scheme. Two agents who had followed him for weeks arrested, him as he walked through Centlandt street toward the ferry to New Jersey. They found almost $100 counterfeits in his wallet. The man made no protest.

"I guess the jig's up," he told them.

He started the manufacture of spurious bills in May and has turned out, between $35,000 and $50,000 of them in nine months, he said.

Joseph A. Palma, principal secret service operative, who directed the hunt for the counterfeiters, confirmed this estimate.

"This man was a slow worker," he explained. "He could only make about twenty fake bills a week, he made them so carefully. Some of them, half-finished, were found in his house."

The newly-finished fakes made an excellent appearance and thousands of dollars were exchanged for the bills by workers who are trained to detect such falsifications.

Most of the money was not exported to this hazard, however, but was taken to Canada and traded in there for Canadian currency which was, in turn, exchanged for genuine American notes.

PHONED DEATH KNELL TO HER CRUEL SWEETIE

Sends Man to Suicide's Grave By Her Rejection

Brooklyn, New York, Dec. 30.—The story of how she sounded the death knell of her sweetheart over the telephone was told by Miss Edwyna Austin, 24 years old, for whose love Nathan L. Langworthy, wealthy broker, killed himself with a revolver in a Providence, R.I., hotel.

Under the influence of alcohol and narcotics in Providence, Miss Austin said Langworthy had beaten her and she had hurried home to Brooklyn.

"He killed himself because I would not forgive him on the telephone," sobbed Miss Austin. "I loved him, worshipped him, yet I simply had to murder his death sentence."

The telephone conversation between Providence and Brooklyn, Miss Austin said, was something like this:

"My wife has freed me at last. Cecile back to me, my love, and we'll be married."

"You had your last chance and failed."

"For God's sake come back; if you don't I'll end it all."

"I shall never see you again. I will give you no chances."

"Listen, Little Ed, listen."

Miss Austin said she heard a crash and "I didn't know," she continued, "I did not know that the crash meant that the man I loved so well had accidentally shot what he had so often threatened.

"I loved him when he was Dr. Joseph Hall, acted him when he was drunk and under the influence of narcotics. Oh, how I acted to make a man of him. Time after time I had given him his last chance. We were to be married Christmas provided his wife got her divorce, but when I saw him in Providence he was beastly drunk. He beat me, I still have the black and blue marks. But I have forgotten all the cruelty and only think of the man I loved cold and dead—that I sent him to a suicide's grave.

The dramatic suicide of Langworthy occurred five hours after his wife, Mrs. Gertrude C. Langworthy, was granted a divorce.

She charged her husband with cruelty while under the influence of alcohol and narcotics.

Signals Dance Was Enjoyable

Last night in the East Lecture Room of the Armouries the Sect. No. 3 Coy. Canadian Corps Signals held a very successful dance. About 50 couples were present, and with the good music furnished by Arthur Gross at the piano and Stewart Moore with the violin, enjoyed themselves immensely. About 12 o'clock dainty refreshments were served after which dancing continued until 2. The hall was very nicely decorated with green and orange paper. A huge diamond form was made from the sides of the room and from the corners to this were hung thirteen streamers. The lights were also draped making a very striking scene.

Mr. B. A. Sanford, who has been seriously ill for the past ten days, continued in his bed with pleurisy and inflammation, is now improving.

MAKES FIRST TRIP

Mr. Louis LaRose of Wolfe Island made the first crossing with an ice-boat, to Kingston Monday, landing in Rideau Ice Co.'s harbor. The ice-boat is much like craft, the Fleetwing, at Richardson's Wharf in twenty-five minutes, after a passage in which he had to manoeuvre to avoid the open spots. He reported the ice as fairly well "taken," with the worst of the open spots near the main channel When the landing was made, Mr LaRose was climbing out on the runners to get to the dock, the ice below him commenced to crack, but luckily did not break.

Wolfe Islander made her way across on her regular trip, having not much difficulty in crossing.

OSHAWA FACTORY CHANGES HANDS

Malleable Iron Works There Passes From Cowan Family

Oshawa, Dec. 30.—The Ontario Malleable Iron Co., Ltd., of Oshawa, has been sold to Neff & Siddall and associates of Toronto and New York. "The Malleable" is one of Oshawa's largest industries and was founded in 1873 by the Cowan brothers. The industry has remained in the family until the present time. The Ontario Malleable Co., Ltd., is one of the largest and best equipped malleable foundries in the country. Among its most prominent accounts are General Motors, Ltd., the Massey-Harris Company, Ltd., Canadian Acme Machine Company, Ltd., and others.

Total net assets of the Ontario Malleable Iron Co. are in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. It is understood that the sale was a strictly cash transaction. Mr. Neff and associates recently acquired control of the McKinnon Industries, Ltd., of St. Catharines and Buffalo and also of the J. H. Williams Co., Ltd., of St. Catharines. It is understood that these companies will be operated under one management, F. J. Cowan, president of the Ontario Malleable, said this morning that the deal was completed probably to be operated from St. Catharines. The changes will take effect in the immediate future.

The Oshawa plant is now employing about 550 men running fairly full. The McKinnon Industries, of St. Catharines are large producers of malleable iron castings, heavy machinery and other lines such as rear axles for motor cars. The Will Iron Co. TRENTON TEAM WORKING HARD

Trenton, Dec 30.—Both Junior and Intermediate hockey teams had a good workout last night. The first junior game is in Picton on January 7th and the first Intermediate game is with Belleville here on January 8th.

NEW THEATRE THE "TRENT".

Trenton, Dec. 30.—Trenton's new theatre being built by Mr. J. C. McCarthy will be known as the "Trent". This name was selected from seven of very suitable titles. In all there were about 400 names sent in to Mr. McCarthy from which the name "Trent" and Mr. McCarthy stated this morning that on the night of the opening there would be a draw to see who would get the prize. The entire theatre is on very nearly the same plan as that of the Empress in Belleville. The entrance is on a slight incline and there are ticket wickets on either side. On the left hand side there is a smoking room for the gentlemen. There will be four or five opera chairs in this room so that gentlemen may go in to have a smoke and at the same time be able to see the picture. On the right hand side is a "ley room" where mothers may take their children and similar to the men's room this room will be equipped with opera chairs so that mothers may also enjoy the picture. The new organ is being installed as rapidly as possible. Interior painting is now being carried on. The seats and all other equipment have arrived and there will be no hold up now in the work. The theatre is expected to open about January 25th.

He has been down east, having spent some time at Ottawa, was out in Winnipeg Calgary and through the west to Vancouver. Mr. McLaurin has taken a house at 249 Dundas street and will take up residence there with his family.

To Place Check On Risque Tales Is Fergusonhope

Toronto, Dec. 30.—Fiction of the type generally described as salacious —and which in the case of some "best sellers" has proven itself to be as popular as it is unhealthy—will continue to menace at the coming session of the Ontario Legislature to come under the ban of the Ferguson Government. Legislation to control leading libraries with a view to preventing them from supplying this type of literature was intimated yesterday at the Parliament Buildings by Hon. Mr. Ferguson as one of his projects for the Legislature's sanction.

"There is in circulation," the Premier said in discussing the matter, "a great deal of objectionable literature, largely shown that a large portion of it finds circulation through what are ordinarily known as leading libraries. Vendors not only in the city but in many outlying centres put in a number of books that are used as a leading library.

"The department is considering the passing of legislation that will only permit such libraries to operate under a permit from the Department. This will put them under inspection and have the effect of raising the standard and eliminating the objectionable books."

DEATH OF MR. SAMUEL ANDERSON REMOVES WELL KNOWN PIONEER

One of the oldest descendants of the sturdy United Empire Loyalists in the Quinte district, passed away at an early hour this morning in Belleville General Hospital, when the late Samuel Anderson died after an illness of two weeks duration. Two weeks ago the late Mr. Anderson had the misfortune to fall in the street, when he fractured his hip. Being an aged man, in his eighty-fourth year, the injury caused death.

Born in Prince Edward County, November 9th, 1842, deceased had just recently celebrated his eighty-third birthday and was enjoying a fairly good health until he sustained the injury. He lived most of his life in this district, being a very successful farmer in Prince Edward County until some twelve years ago when he moved to Belleville to take up residence with his only son, Mr. F. S. Anderson, 209 John street.

The late Samuel Anderson, as has been stated, was descendent of the United Empire Loyalists, his ancestors having come to the Quinte district with many other true Britishers some one hundred and forty years ago. They were the pioneers of this district. Deceased has no brothers or sisters alive and is the last to pass away.

Deceased was a member of St. Thomas Anglican Church here, and was a widely known and very active politician during his life. He was a staunch Conservative, and besides representing Prince Edward electors on the council for some years, was also a school trustee for years. The late Samuel Anderson was predeceased by his wife, some twenty years ago.

WHAT ONTARIO LEGISLATIVE IS LIKELY TO DEBATE UPON

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 30 (By Canadian Press).—The Ontario Legislature will meet on February 10th. Whether it will be the last session of the Sixteenth Ontario Legislature, is a matter not yet decided. The Provincial Parliament can constitutionally sit another session, but it has been unusual in Ontario for Parliament to go the full length of their terms. However, there will not likely be any announcement made as to a provincial election until the Federal political situation is clarified. The Ontario Government will not go to the people when a Federal election campaign is in the offing.

The Legislature will meet with seven members short of its 111 membership. Six of the vacancies in the Ontario chamber are by resignation and one, that of London, by death of the member, Sir Adam Beck. Five of the members of the Legislature resigned to run for the House of Commons in the last general election. Two of them, Peter Heenan, Kenora, and Earl Rowe, South Simcoe, were successful and are now members of the House of Commons. Malcolm Lang Cochrane; Geo. Sewell, North Norfolk and D. Carmichael, Centre Grey, were defeated and are not now members of any parliament. The party losses because of these vacant seats are as follows: Conservatives two; Liberal, one; U.F.O. three; Labor, one. The latest vacant seat is East East, from which Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture in the Drury Government, and second in command of the farmer party, since the defeat of that administration, resigned. The leadership of the various groups remain unchanged. At present the Government has not announced the bringing down of any very important or controversial legislation. The matter of revision of the Ontario Temperance Act has been much talked of but Premier Ferguson declines to admit that his government has any such design. There is always the possibility, however, that the question may be thrown into serious discussion in the Legislature by the action of private members or opposition groups.

There may be some changes in provincial taxation but on the whole they cannot be reduced as increased revenue is necessary. Hon. Geo. Henry, Minister of Highways and Public Works, announced recently that there would be no change in the license fee for motor cars nor would there be any decrease in the gasoline tax which has proved a fruitful source of revenue. There might be some change in the beverage tax from which the revenue has been disappointing. The collection of the latter is also costly. However, neither the gasoline tax nor the beverage tax had been in effect a year and it is thought that operation for a full year will be needed to show their effectiveness.

The Government will introduce further legislation regarding the care of feeble minded and mentally defective. The proposal is to work with the municipalities from which real co-operation and assistance is expected. It would also leave opportunity for individual assistance from those interested. The government, it is understood proposes to assist, by subsidy or grant. The encouragement of the home for boys at Bowmanville has prompted the Government to further work along the same lines.

Revision and consolidation of the statutes, especially the municipal and assessments acts will be considered. This is quite necessary as the municipal act has been so amended that the ordinary person finds interpretation in spots. The highway acts are also being considered. As they were they were very confusing and led to differences with counties and small municipalities, because of the varied interpretation possible even by solicitors. It is hoped to make positively definite the duties and responsibilities of every township, county and the province itself regarding the highways. It is perhaps needless to say the government will discourage amendments to the municipal act, many of which are of local significance only and clutter up the main legislation and leave loop-holes for evasion.

Even if the government introduced no further legislation than that mentioned the Legislature would have plenty to do. Year by year the amount of private legislation that Committees are usually behind the House and for some years the members have had their greatest share of work in the committee rooms. The agricultural committee which has been sitting all year with Dr. D. Jamieson, M.L.A. as chairman, will have to make some concrete proposals for assistance to the farming industry. It is quite possible that the securing of better rates for Canadian cattle in Britain will be dealt with although it is more of a Federal matter.

Now that the right of extension of the Temiskaming and Ontario Railway to further the Algoma Central railway into Rouyn, Quebec, has been decided by the courts, it is quite possible that the matter will be brought up in the House. There may also be other branch line extensions of the railway to meet the needs of new mineral fields which are being continuously opened up in Northern Ontario. Hydro matters will also take some time especially the matter of new power to offset the threatened shortage of power. If the session gets going late in January or early in February it should be concluded by Easter.

Mackenzie Robertson, the man who has made Belleville so famous for its "Better Babies" as Milwaukee once was for a more stimulating product, comes back to the directorate after an absence of two years. Mack quit two years and because he held the opinion that good things like directors' chairs ought to be passed along to others and thus give them a more intimate opportunity to learn the trade of civic building. He is generally recognized as one of the ablest of Belleville's business men and there are few more popular.

E. W. Worth, general manager of the American Optical Company of Canada, although a resident of Belleville for a comparatively short period of time, has already made here a host of friends. The establishment and organization of an important industry in a new city and a new country is an extremely difficult and arduous undertaking at best and the difficulty was greatly increased in this instance by the fact that there were no skilled workers in the less-unskilled trade at Belleville. All had to be taught and trained from the very beginning by Mr. Worth and his one expert assistant. A fine success has been achieved and the American Optical Company is already one of Belleville's first industries. Mr. Worth will bring to the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce a valuable contribution of successful experience and cannot fail to be of great practical value to the Chamber and to the city at large.

TOWN CLAIMS RECORD

Digby, N.S., Dec. 30.—Town Clerk Foden, of this place, claims that tax collections here during the past two years constitute a record for all Canada. Last year the town collected 97 per cent. of the taxes due. Yesterday it was announced that 80 per cent. of the taxes for the year 1925 had been paid into the treasury, and it was indicated that the percentage would be slightly increased before January 1, 1926.

PASSPORTS

Of course the passport regulation enforced by the British government is something of a nuisance to Canadians visiting the old land; but it is unreasonable to demand that Canadians be exempt from the regulation demand that the government at Ottawa make an effort to that end.

Passports are required of all persons landing in Britain in order that a check may be kept upon undesirable aliens; many thousands have managed to get into the country since the war. If people from Canada were not to be required to show passports the regulation might as well be abolished altogether, for all that an undesirable alien would have to do to get into Britain would be to come to Canada and take passage here for the old country.

Canadian immigration officials are careful not to permit undesirables or people from Britain to enter Canada. These immigrants who are diseased or are known to have criminal records are ruthlessly rejected. This is done for the good of Canada. The British passport regulation is for the good of Britain. We have no more right to complain against the regulation because it causes inconvenience to some Canadians than Britain has a right to complain against our immigration regulations because they cause inconvenience to some Britons.

EXPERT ADVICE

The Ferguson government has decided to retire Ontario's big debt in forty years according to a plan worked out by finance experts engaged to advise the government. A timely suggestion comes from the Financial Post. Why should not the Dominion government imitate the example of the Ontario government and call upon expert financiers to help solve the financial problem? Has the government at Ottawa? Seven years have passed since the Armistice, and as yet the federal budget does not provide for the country's war obligations.

The Post suggests the names of such men as Sir Joseph Flavelle, Sir Herbert Holt, Thomas Bradshaw, Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor and A. E. Ames, eminent financiers and men of business as competent to offer valuable advice. In war time such men served their country at hard task-work gratuitously and ungrudgingly. Their aid may be as valuable and as much required to solve national peace problems of a financial character as it was to solve the problems of war—for they were called up on it is very probable that they would respond willingly.

Hon. Mr. Robb is not lacking in capacity but it is not to be expected that the finance minister has given nearly as much thought to finance on a large scale or has had nearly so much experience in dealing with financial difficulties as have men such as those mentioned and others like them, for that has been the business of their lives. Mr. Robb would do well to take into consideration the Post's suggestion.

WHAT'S THE USE

Speaking at the Charing Cross Medical School, Sir Oliver Lodge indulged in some rather large speculations about our justly celebrated universe. As a going concern, Sir Oliver said, the material universe must have had a beginning and he affirmed that the beginning was the formation of nebulae some 200,000,000 years ago. As a going concern, the universe must also end, and he thought that the end would come many millions of years hence through the disintegration and disappearance of matter and "the existence once more of ether filled with perpetual radiation traveling out in all directions to wards infinity."

Apparently that would be the end. Not at all, says Sir Oliver. The radiation (a form of force) would once more evolve the stuff of which matter is made, that matter will at first take the form of fiery vapor; this will gradually solidify, and in the process new solar systems with suns and planets will be formed, and a new universe will be started on its career.

Naturally there will exist no record of the universe now existing, unless it were to be in some celestial archives of which at present we know nothing. Otherwise one might want to know of what use would it be to have this universe dissolve into more vibrations and then begin all over the evolution of a new one. Is the Creator practising the art of universe building? Not so. Christmas for Oliver, for this process of the birth and death of universes has been going on from all eternity, and will continue to go on to all eternity. As it never had any beginning, so it will never have any end.

Well, perhaps Sir Oliver knows. Anyhow, it will take an awfully long time to prove that he doesn't.

A VERY LONG WAIT

"Stepping in 1917," remarks the Detroit News, "we had said to Europe, 'Stop, we'll come across—in about sixty-two years.'"

The meaning of this in that it is unreasonable for European nations to make the United States wait for sixty-two years for all the money (with interest) which it lent them for war purposes, whereas they had to wait only thirty-three months for the United States to join them in the war against the common enemy.

It is hardly a fair complaint to make against Uncle Sam's debtors. Uncle Sam himself was in the war only a few months and he spent on his own account many thousands of millions which will take him many decades to pay off. And his European debtors were in the war a much longer time than he was.

But it does not call for a strenuous exercise of the imagination to suppose that the United States had said in 1917, "Sure, we'll come across—in sixty-two years." Very probably that, or its equivalent, is what would have been said if the inconsiderate Imperial German government had only let Uncle Sam be-bad not interfered to an intolerable extent with his war trade by which he was becoming so amazingly rich. For thirty-three months German submarines had been destroying American shipping and killing American citizens and all it had to fear from Washington was a flood of admonitory notes from President Wilson's busy typewriter. Only when Hans ordered American merchant ships off the ocean on pain of being sunk without mercy if the order was disobeyed, did Uncle Sam get mad enough to fight. Up to that time his conduct had been a model of Christian forbearance. He was "too proud to fight... The mothers of his numerous nephews had been raising their voices in a joyful song of thanksgiving that they had not raised their boys to be soldiers. Only when American free trade was threatened with ruin was there a rapid crystallization of the notion that the mission of the great American nation was to make the world safe for democracy.

Yes, but for the depredations of the German U-boats it is not at all improbable that the heartening message from Washington to the European nations would be "Sure we'll come across—in sixty-two years."

Misses E. Mackie, B. O'Carrol and Katie Bowden and Messrs. F. M. Doyle, W. P. Dempsey and H. McGinnis were soloists at Christmas morning mass.

Masters Jas. Elvins and Morley Ash awaited on Mr. Dan Bleecker and sister and presented them, on behalf of their Sunday School class at Bridge Street, with a pair of silver napkin rings.

On a visit in Moncton, N.B., Mr. W. W. Power in conversation with an editor mentioned he came from Belleville. Why, said the editor, I am a product of Belleville Business College myself—the best positions in Moncton are filled by graduates of Ontario Business College. It must be a first-class business college for it is drawing more men from New Brunswick every year.

"Yes and from all parts of the world," added Mr. Power.

At the annual Baptist Church Sunday School entertainment Prof. Riggs was the recipient of a handsome easy chair from the congregation. Prof. Riggs and his sons Leo and Lester and Mr. A. Pearson furnished several selections.

A Heart's Triumph

By Effie Adelaide Rowlands.

Paul just bent his head, and there was silence between them till the girl spoke again.

"I want to atone," she said then, and her voice was neither clear nor steady. "I want to give back in a little degree some portion of what I have had it in my power to give. Perhaps Doctor Thurgood has told you everything I asked him to do so."

He has told me everything—yes," Paul answered; and again there was silence between them.

Cecil lay looking out of the window—out on the desolate, rain-drenched garden, on the tall trees, with their rusty raiment of dying leaves.

"I could not live acted differently. Something in my heart tells me I am doing right, and he—he has been so little—just for recognition and sympathy, and a home to end her days."

"What shall you tell the world?" Darnley asked.

Cecil half-smiled.

"Have I a world to trouble about? For the life I have lived I have no right known by the world. White Abbey has been a house of mystery for years. If you think it will be necessary to take the world into consideration?"

"You cannot live here always, Cecil. Already you have been here too long. With your position, your wealth, you must consider. You would leave the old monotonous life of the White Abbey far behind you. Do not imagine, because you have nothing of the world, that the world will not trouble itself about you. At this moment," Paul Darnley said quietly, "you are one of the people who are standing out prominently before the eyes of a certain section of the world, and you are a very rich woman, Cecil, remember."

She smiled again faintly.

"I have to begin to learn what that signifies, Mr. Darnley."

"It is a lesson you will learn easily, now you are outside these walls."

The girl moved half-impatiently.

"I am content as I am—where I am. If I am rich, as you say, I suppose I shall have to face the obligations of this money in some way even here, but I will tell all these some time."

"And is this to be the end of all your dreams? It is only a short while ago, Cecil, that you were starving to be free, to know the meaning of life as it is to other girls; and now—"

"Now"—she broke in, with a certain passion—"now I know myself to be utterly different from other girls. Now I understand, in a great measure, why I have lived as I have lived; and, knowing what I know, I am content that this should be so. Mr. Darnley, you are more than good," Cecil continued, clasping her voice and giving him a look so tender, pitiful, so trouble so much about me. I shall not forget your kindness believe me."

Their conversation continued for a long time. Darnley learned with satisfaction that the girl was prepared to act considerably on Doctor Thorold's counsel. There was, indeed, no one save himself who knew so much about the Lacklyne household as Sebastian Thorold, and he would be a good friend to Cecil as long as he lived. He approved, too, in a sense, of the determination the woman who claimed to be Charles Lacklyne's widow had come to as regarded her future plans in Cecil's life and home.

She preferred to pass before such of the world who should learn of her presence as a relative of the girls mother. She eschewed even the name of Lacklyne, knowing, instead, that of Rowland which, she said, was one she had a right to use.

Much as Paul Darnley objected to the arrangement by which this woman took a prominent place in the life of the girl he liked so well, he found some satisfaction in feeling Cecil would be spared all the difficulty which would have followed on a declaration of the existence of Lady Lacklyne in one who had been a convict for many years. Had he had the consolation of knowing every thing to the advantage of this new comer, he would have been almost glad that the girl should have found a companion and a protector in one of her own kith and kin; but as things were Paul went away from the White Abbey full of doubt and troubled thought about Cecil Lacklyne. Not even the realization that he was journeying at last to meet the beloved Dora could rouse him from his anxious reflections about the girl he had left behind.

He had parted from him with an regret promise to write frequently.

"And if I have any need of you, be sure I will write to you," the girl replied, as she gave him her trembling farewell.

She stood at the doorway and, with a little pain in the heart, watched the carriage that conveyed him to the station roll out of sight. She felt that in parting from the friend of her father's she had parted with the last link that had tied her to the old life. That life, if it was ended and done, she found herself clinging to that old life, with all its strange ways, as to something that she loved because it was familiar to her. She had been marvellously brave up to now. She had faced the future with a courage of which she was hardly conscious. She had sincerely given her help and sympathy to the woman who had been—so darkly, so mysteriously—into her life. Now, as she saw Paul Darnley vanish out of sight, as she took her second of the changed aspect of her home, and she realized the full meaning of what lay before her, she felt afraid for the first time since she had been left alone; and she shrank, also, for the first time from taking up the task she had imposed on herself.

To be Continued.

Britons Bit Canny in Refusing to Boast of Fact They Are Progressing

HARVEY TALK SCORED

R. R. Appleby of British Empire Chamber of Commerce Makes Reply

New York, Dec. 30.—The dismal picture of Great Britain ten years hence, as seen by Colonel George Harvey and described by him in an article, "The plight of England" in the North American Review, has provoked wrath and amusement among Britons at home and in America.

Making the retort courteous for his fellow-countrymen, Robert R. Appleby, chairman of the executive board of the British Empire Chamber of Commerce, points out that the statistician who compiled the notes from which Colonel Harvey's article was written must have enjoyed on the compilation with the "dixed idea that England's plight was indeed a sorry one."

That Colonel Harvey fails to suggest any notion of the difficulties which beset Great Britain but abandons himself to extending his sympathy and the formation of messages of condolence appeals to Mr. Appleby as a frail note in the discussion. This, and the fact that Colonel Harvey contents himself discussing Britain and not the Empire as a whole nullifies in Mr. Appleby's opinion much of the strength and authenticity of Colonel Harvey's endeavor.

Mr. Appleby titles his retort "Oh Dry Those Tears," and writes:

"No poor old Britain is going to the dogs and is going at fast that the progress made each year can now be calculated and, according to no less an authority than Colonel George Harvey, ex-Ambassador to the Court of St. James unless some thing very radical in the way of aid from outside sources happens very soon, Britain will be bankrupt within 10 years. This, at any rate, is the conclusion which the average reader will draw from perusing the article entitled 'The Flight of England,' appearing in the latest issue of the North American Review.

"Somehow I always associate the word 'plight' with the adjective 'sorry,' and it would appear that the article would have been more descriptively entitled 'The Sorry Flight of England'. Whoever compiled the statistics and data upon which the article is based evidently commenced his investigations with the idea firmly fixed in his mind that England's plight was indeed a sorry one. No solution of the tremendous difficulties and problems which beset England is offered in the article, but sympathy, a tone of sadness and regret epitomizes the spirit in which it is written. I mean no disrespect to Colonel Harvey, who has proved his friendship for England and his fidelity to the Anglo Saxon race on many occasions when, I say, 'To hell with sympathy!'

FIGURES MAY PROVE ANYTHING

"Statistics, it is said, may be used to prove anything and the pessimist in opinions of individuals whose particular line of business or production has been badly hit by competition should not be relied upon as a fair picture of the general conditions and future prospects of the country as a whole."

QUOTES COMMERCE JOURNAL

"I am indebted to a very carefully compiled article written by E. A. Wetson, which appeared in the Journal of Commerce two years ago, for some of the following figures:

"Note, which is an original and valuable item in a great many industries in this country, is exported from British India, and 90 per cent. of the imports into the United States come from that country.

"From England, the British Straits Settlements and Hong Kong, comes 95 per cent. of the pig and block tin which this country imports.

"I hardly dare to mention the word 'rubber,' but it is only fair to point out that 90 per cent of this very important article also comes from British territory.

"Seventy per cent. of the imports of clothing wool is not nearly 50 per cent of the woolen cloth imported comes from British territory, and it is necessary to dwell upon the importance of these importations to the gigantic factories which exist in the United States.

"Britain has often been accused of 'muddling through somehow,' but whether that is true or not, the paper of history are filled with examples of statesmanship of a far seeing quality.

"I cannot help feeling that a very strong reason for the sinking of the head, the sympathy and the general pessimistic feelings which outside most observers in countries outside Britain, is caused in a measure by the peculiar British trait of refusing to admit that they are really doing well. I was told only the other day of one Englishman from South America who arrived in New York and was picked up by a banking friend who he was getting on. In answer to the usual question he replied, 'I am really doing very well, and then recalling himself, he whispered to his friend: 'But for God's sake, don't tell anybody.'

"What Britain needs to day is a great spirit of optimism continued faith on the part of her friends and a fair field and no favor."

Pie Pleases Palate Of Publicity Director

OTTALIE Mathk disproves the theory that the pursuit of a career causes a woman to lose interest in the affairs of the home. To her, the domestic accomplishments usually considered the prerogatives of the perfect house keeper.

One of the busiest women on Broadway, for her work is that of a publicity director and at various times she has directed the publicity of the Capitol and Warner Theatres as well as important films of the best known motion picture organizations, she does not confine her activities to her profession but ponches out in other ways so that she has become one of those rare beings, a versatile woman.

Miss Mark was not born in New England but she has the feeling of a "down Easter" for pie, which she prefers to lot of the native variety and which she often makes herself. One of her favorite pies is Chocolate Meringue and her recipe is the following one:

Filling
2 squares Chocolate
¾ cup Cornstarch
2 cups Milk
3 Egg Yolks
½ cup Sugar
1 teaspoon Vanilla
1 teaspoon Cinco
Crust
1¼ cups Pastry Flour
½ cup Sugar
½ teaspoon Salt
3 Water or Milk

Work Crisco into the flour and salt with the knives or finger tips. Add just enough water to hold the mixture together. Roll out on a floured board. Line a pie tin and bake in a hot oven over 400° until brown.

Melt chocolate in a double boiler. Add sugar, cornstarch, egg yolks, Crisco and milk. Cook until thickened, constantly. Add vanilla. Pour in the baked shell. Cover with meringue and brown in a slow oven 250° for 15 minutes.

Meringue: 3 egg whites beaten until stiff. Add 6 tablespoons sugar.

A new 60 page cook book will be sent free to readers of this newspaper, upon receipt of a two cent stamp to cover postage. Address the National Household Service, 565 Fifth Ave., New York City.

A GOLDEN WEDDING

WARKWORTH, Dec. 30.—Verses written on the occasion of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Baker's golden wedding Mrs. M. E. Palmer, Belleville:

Just fifty years ago today.
You launched your bark for life
Upon the matrimonial sea
As husband and as wife.

Its sunshine and in storm you're sailed
That sea, like sailors true,
With just enough shadows of gray,
To make your sky more blue.

You've shared each other's burdens;
Wise helpmates you have proved
This world's a pleasant place to live
When hearts by love are moved.

If cares youve had they've left no trace,
Nor imprint on your brow;
Do you, "Old Father Time's" most kind
To him we all must bow.

You sympathize with those who mourn
You are staunch friends in need;
In times of sickness ever near,
To help by word or deed.

Love, friendship is a sacred thing,
Not to be bought or sold,
And to possess true friends like you
Is worth far more than gold.

Your cheerful dispositions have Helped lengthen out your days;
May we all take a lesson from
Your bright and happy ways.

Through all these years you've worked for Him
And tried to do the right
In this as in all other things
You've done it with your might.

Your many friends have met today
Their greetings to extend,
And wish you many happy years
May joy your ways attend

The absent ones in far-off lands,
Who are so near and dear
From this eventful day though barred.
In mind and thought are here.

May health and happiness be yours,
And sunshine light your way.
And may it be as bright as on Your "Golden Wedding Day."

PRESENTED TEACHER WITH SHERBET GLASSES

Tweed, Dec. 30.—Following the closing exercises of the Consolidated School there previous to the holidays when the pupils and staff presented Miss Florence Garret with cut glass sherbet glasses and goblets and the following address:

Dear Miss Garrett,—

The teachers and children of Tweed Consolidated School have learned with sincere regret that after Christmas you will no longer be a member of the school staff.

For the past six or seven years as teacher in the Primary Department you have rendered splend'd services and have won the love and respect of all who have been privileged to come in contact with you whether in connection with your teaching or in social activities of the community.

The entire community is suffering loss which cannot soon be made up by the fact that you are going away. You will indeed be missed.

At best, words are but a poor medium with which to express our appreciation of your work and of the splendid qualities that have been displayed in so many ways. We trust that you will accept these goblets as gift of the staff and these sherbet glasses the gift of the Tweed Consolidated school pupils with their sincerest wishes for a useful and happy future.

Signed on behalf of the staff and school.

WOMAN FARMER WON; TELLS ROW

Montreal, Dec. 29.—(By Canadian Press).—Writing of Christmas traffic a local paper said:—Mrs. Mundle with her daughter and her grandson, age 10 months, joined the Christmas excursion train at Moose Jaw. Ten years ago Mrs. Mundle lived in Richbucto, N.B., and doctors told her that her days were numbered. To-day she is a hale and hearty woman who has borne the fatigue of an 1,800-mile railway journey without discomfort. The medicine that worked the wonder was the "Fruit-a-Tives." The Mundles, with their daughter, then a young girl of eleven, bought a 320 acre half section in the Assiniboia district, and in the last ten years have worked it themselves. They made good from the start. Some years were better than others, of course, but this year was the best of any, with a bumper crop of Marquis wheat that ran forty bushels to the acre. They will be taken up by Garnet wheat next or the following year. Meanwhile 40 bushels to the acre on a 320 farm acre farm, works out to around 13,000 bushels, which with wheat at $1.50 a bushel, means good money. BELLEVILLE WINS HOCKEY OPENER DEFEATS COBOURG BY 14-7 SCORE GAME FULL OF SPILLS AND THRILLS

The first hockey game of the season was ushered in last night before a very small crowd. Cobourg had but three intermediates and the rest were juniors but at that the game was close until the final period. The score resembled that of a cricket match or a ladies' softball game but it was the first time Ed Boland has been out this year and Cobourg have been on ice but three times.

The new uniforms of maroon and white have not yet arrived and the local team were arrayed in the sweaters of the C.N.E. Apprentices. The latter ones will be here for sure though for the opening of the league games. Gilly Goyer was going great guns last night getting no less than six goals to his credit. One of the most creditable performances of the evening was turned in by K. Payne, a man of over 40 years. Several times he got through the complete team and had a particular hobby of batting in rebounds. Hibbard certainly needs someone to make him "pass that puck." Several times if he had passed it might have resulted in scores. Daw Whalen is the same old Dave—tricky and fast. The defense work on both teams was rather loose but this will be remedied. Grub is a nice skater and is willing to pass the puck. Mr. Clayton "Bunny" Frechette refereed the game in a very acceptable manner.

The game was clean throughout, four penalties were handed out and those for minor offenses.

The game got under way about 8.25.

FIRST PERIOD

Pay opened fast and both goalies were tested and replied in the affirmative. Gilly Goyer opened the scoring with a fine solo rush and netted the puck behind Wash soon after the period had opened.

Belleville 1, Cobourg 0.

Gilly repeated a minute later but this time three men went down abreast, with Gilly on the scoring end.

Belleville 2, Cobourg 0.

Hunter drew the first penalty for a minor trip. Cobourg livened then and on a pass from Brinning, Bowen scored.

Belleville 2, Cobourg 1.

Payne knotted the score a moment later on a pass from Bowen.

Billeville 2, Cobourg 2.

Gilly Goyer put Belleville in the lead on another solo rush.

Belleville 3, Cooburg 2.

Daw Whalen then broken into the scoop column. He shot and the puck caromed into the net off the goalie's chest.

Belleville 4, Cobourg 2.

Bowen then took the puck from the face off and shot wild but Payne got the rebound from the boards and scored.

Belleville 4, Cobourg 3.

This two Goyers then combined to get No. 5. Gily on the scoring end.

Belleville 5, Cobourg 3.

Payne soon after hit a face off batted in another rebound.

Belleville 6, Cobourg 4.

The last score of the period was made by Gilly Goyer on a pass from Hibbard.

Belleville 8, Cobourg 4.

SECOND PERIOD

The pace set in the first period was beginning to tell and the second period was slowed up a bit. Play had been resumed but a short time when Bowen was accidentally cut over the eye and had to Petre for a few minutes to get patched up. Dog Whalen scored on a rebound from the boards.

Belleville 7, Cobourg 4.

Brinning went through the entire Belleville team and hit the post. Niles drew a penalty for tripping. Gresh then batted in Hibbard's rebound for No. 8.

Belleville 8, Cobourg 4.

Bill Green then increased the lead on a pass from Whalen from which he scored.

Belleville 9, Cobourg 4.

Belleville 9, Cobourg 6.

THIRD PERIOD

Daw Whalen and Gilly Goyer after going through the entire team were foiled at the hands of Murray Wash. Goyer scored a minute later on a pass from Green.

Belleville 10, Cobourg 6.

D. Whalen and Frank Goyer then combined and Daw sank home No. 11.

Belleville 11, Cobourg 6.

At this point of the game St. Denis appeared and showed he can check and is willing to use the puck. Pat Boland made a nice save after Payne had worked his way through the defense. Payne batted in a rebound for Cobourg's last tally.

Belleville 11, Cobourg 7.

Bill Green then drew a penalty for heavy checking. Daw Whalen then showed his old cunning. After shooting and missing he followed in and took he puck around the net and shoved it in past Wash catching him flat-footed.

Belleville 12, Cobourg 7.

Green then scored on a pass from D. Goyer.

Belleville 13, Cobourg 7.

At this stage of the game Green and Bowen had a fistic set-to and Frechette gave them two minutes each to think it over in the penalty box. Hunter ended the scoring on a pass from F. Goyer.

Belleville 14, Cobourg 7.

Belleville were pressing at the ring of the bell.

INDOOR ACTIVITIES AT THE Y

Among the numerous indoor activities that are daily going on at the Y.M.C.A. on Campbell St., the game of Table Tennis is proving one of the most popular. Yesterday afternoon saw the opening of a tournament for the Preparatory students in which the first round games were played.

The draw for opponents resulted as follows: J. Graves vs D. Ridley, M. Blakley vs H. Ridley, F. Russell vs B. Latimer, H. Pointer vs A. Faulkner.

D. Ridley won the first set quite handily, from Graves by the score of 6-0 but in the second he found much stiffer opposition and this set went to 7-5.

M. Blakley was rather outclassed by H. Ridley who took two straight sets 6-3, 6-2.

F. Russell playing against B. Latimer, gave the latter a handicap of fifteen points per game, but this did not appear to hamper him greatly as he won out 6-0, 6-1.

The last couple to play was A. Faulkner and H. Pointer. The final being a Prep, his opponent who is a junior was forced to concede 30 points per game to win. In spite of the heavy scoop Pointer walked through the first set with exceptional ease but in the second he had to lay it all his own way. Tightening up in his play Faulkner managed to turn back his opponent by the score of 6-4. The final and deciding set was quite the best of the afternoon's play. Half way through Faulkner was leading, but by steady consistent playing, Pointer gradually cut down the lead and going out in front won by the score of 6-4.

To-morrow afternoon the second round games will be played, the players being matched as follows:

D. Ridley vs F. Russell, H. Pointer vs H. Ridley, R. Chadwick getting a bye.

Cawnpore, British India, Dec. 30.—Professor Holmes, of the University of Patna(Patna) addressed the Indian National Congress, which is holding its quarterly session here, to-day and his auditors of "American sympathy and support for the movement toward freedom in India."

Curlers Started Season With Games and Banquet Have 50 New Members

Curling, the ancient game which traces its ancestry to the long past days of celebrated Scots when golf was a proverbial, was expounded, demonstrated, exemplified and otherwise played in Belleville last night for the first time this season, at the opening meeting of the Belleville Curling Club at their Club House on George street.

"This is really a get-together meeting," explained Mr. Herb Fish, the President, who hastened to add that the evening was to be made more enjoyable by the usual and much anticipated "bun feed". It might be said in passing that the term "bun feed" is a very modest designation for the banquet which was served.

Despite the plebian name, buns were really not on the menu.

GOOD FELLOWSHIP

Curling and bun feeds were not the only noticeable features of the evening. Good fellowship marked the arrival of each newcomer into the newly appointed and decorated Club Rooms. The gieff hand was much in evidence.

There were about seventy-five present.

Old, new and associate members and prospective curlers composed the attendance. On the four sheets of ice, friendly games were in progress.

Progressive euchre was played, the prizes being donated by the President, Mr. Fish. Scores whose progress was rewarded by the prizes were:

Mr. Harold Barrett, highest score; Mr George Dean, next highest. For the "bookie" prizes Mr. Jack Lill, lowest score; Dr. W. C. Morgan, next to the lowest.

The banquet closed the proceedings of the first and very successful meeting, which, together with consideration with other preparations both of the building and the schedule point to a real year in the local annals of curling.

The annual President and Vice-President game will be played New Years Day, in three series: morning afternoon and night.

The other events of play for the near future include the local bonspiel to be held the second week in January with the C.O.C. Annual bonspiel at Napanee Tuesday and Wednesday, January 13th and 14th. The latter matches will be contested by teams from Cobourg, Brockville, Colbourne, Napanee, Kingston, Picton and Belleville.

Skip Primrey Tallyard for this district will be played in Kingston on or before Tuesday, January 19th. The district Cup will be played for in Belleville on or before Tuesday, January 26th.

It is evident then that the local club will have its collective hands full competing for prizes which will be no widely contested.

50 NEW CURLERS

Evidence of increasing interest in the old game is given in the statement of Mr. Fish that over fifty new curlers have already joined the Club for the coming season. There are men who have never curled before.

That the Club will be able to take care of the new members as well as the entire roster of more than one hundred and twenty-five, is easily seen from the elaborate plans and preparations for the oncoming season.

The Club has spent much money this year on improvements, notably that of removing the partition that formerly divided the floor into halves. The stairs have been moved to the north wall. There is one large Club Room downstairs now, and a large banquet hall upstairs.

A new pipeless furnace has been installed. The entire premises have been repainted and redecorated. New furnishings, including easy chairs and fine tables are plain evidence of the stability of Belleville's Curling Club.

ST. PATS LOSE 3-0 AT BOSTON HOLWAY ABSENT

Boston, Dec. 30.—Boston Bruins did the needful and walloped poor old St. Pats in terrible fashion. They scored three counters and shut out the Toronto crowd. The tallying was done in the first period (1) and the third (2), the second being without result. The Pats came down to Boston with only eight men, Holway not being one of the elect. They found the going rough from start to finish, and were checked to a finish. The Pats are certainly the weak sister of this loop at the moment.

BOSTON COLLEGE UP ON R.M.C. 7-6

New York, December 30.—The hockey squads of Royal Military College and Boston College put on a scoring bee in Madison Square Garden and at the end of an international clash that was replete with thrills, spills and sizzling goalshots, the Boston boys managed to eke out a victory end of a 7 to 6 score. The victory gave the United States the edge in a four-game inter-collegiate series, a feature that began yesterday. The United States' universities have now won two games to Canada's one.

TIRED OF OWNERSHIP HAS LIQUOR DESTROYED

Buffalo, N.Y., Dec. 30.—Ownership of contraband liquor was $75,000 was become such a burden to Solomon Jacobson, theatre owner, that he destroyed the liquor prohibition officials to destroy the stock. Agents found Jacobson's liquor stored on the second floor of a warehouse and on the floor below an illegal bottling the operations on the first floor.

Jacobson told the agents he had owned his liquor since 1919 and knew nothing of plant was in operation.

A FRENCH OPINION

Le Canada, French language morning paper, commenting on last Saturday night's National Hockey League fixture in Montreal between Canadiens and Ottawa, which the latter won, 3 to 0, says in part:

"After a week's rest we were told that Canadiens were prepared to defeat Ottawa, but the calculations were reversed and the Senators took the bacon. Canadiens were not only defeated, but whitewashed.

"Ottawa's combination play beat Canadiens. The Senators scored were the result of superb combination plays. Rheaume, in the local net, never had a chance to stop any of them.

"Near the end of the second period Lou Marsh sustained a painful injury. He attempted to turn and became entangled in his skates. In falling he dislocated his arm. The decision was set by two doctors present at the arena. As Marsh skated off the ice, with his arm hanging limp at his side, a good portion of the crowd booed and jeered. This was entirely unmerited. The decision was called for as his decisions up to that time had been square. We have been always the first to condemn Marsh when he was in the wrong, but on Saturday night he was square. We consider that Marsh was familiar."

Another Thriller Booked for Belle

Featuring a battle between a wild bull and the hero in which the latter overcomes the infuriated animal, Fred Thomson's latest F. B. O. picture is evidently acclaimed as the best and the most unusual he has ever made. It is a unique story with a supernatural element in it and easy to catch with the camera; but, the spirit of unearthly fear which broods over the cattle country because of the superstition that "The Wild Bull's Lair" is haunted, and the silhouette shots of the Wild Bull be lowing his screaming challenge from the desolate height, have the desired effect and give the production a mysterious atmosphere which it would be hard to duplicate. The picture, which is called "The Wild Bull's Lair" is replete with action and distinctive from start to finish. Thomson's great horse, Silver King, plays a prominent part in this breathless drama, and stands materially in the many comedy touches which relieve the intense feats. The cast is excellent and the direction beyond cavil. "The Wild Bull's Lair" will be shown locally for the first time on the screen at the Belle Theatre beginning to-morrow.

Log Rollers Risk Lives For Movies

Riding on a log less than two feet in diameter, down a rapid stream, isn't the easiest thing in the world. Yet the lumberjacks who were drafted into actors' jobs for atmospheric scenes in "The Knockout," which comes to the Griffin Theatre Thursday, declare that they would rather ride a log than cruise in a taxi down Broadway.

They made this assertion while in New York, where they were brought by First National from Canada for the interior of the picture.

One of the most thrilling scenes in the picture is an incident in which a number of lumber-jack workmen ride down a rapid stream to witness a fight between Milton Sills and a six-foot-seven actor any. They had to quickly get genuine thrills into this scene. Director Lambert Hillyer engaged a dozen or more of Canada's best log riders for the action.

'ON WALL STREET'

New York, Dec. 30.—Constructive forces were again at work in today's stock market and general trend moved higher despite continuance of relatively high money rates and liquidation of few pools. So-called "Tax Selling" was apparently limited to few ordinarily inactive issues although this was the last day that stocks could be sold for tax purposes and cleared in ordinary manner.

ANOTHER ONE !

Ottawa, Dec. 30.—In opinion of Rev. Dr. Odgers, Dominion Govern ment astronomer, an unusual phenomenon witnessed in the northern skies last evening by Rev. E. G. May, rector of the Anglican Church at Chelsea, Que., and other residents of that district, may mean that a huge meteorite has dropped to earth somewhere in this district.

H. C. HOCKEN ADDRESSES KINGSTON MASONIC BANQUET

Kingston, Dec. 30.—At a Masonic dinner R. W. Bro. H. C. Hocken, M.P., was the speaker. Giving an address on the theme of the value of fraternal organizations to mankind, Bro. Hocken outlined very fully the charitable work being done by the Masonic Order and he took issue with the statement that fraternal organizations were a hindrance to the work of the Church because they took support which the Church would otherwise get. Mr. Hocken declared that fraternal organizations were a great help to the Church and that much of the work which they were doing could not be done by the Church. In the course of his remarks he made the statement that Masonry was the parent body of all fraternal organizations and that it was from Masonry that they had all started.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Ill. Dec. 30.—Prices here took an early swing downward to-day, influenced by lower cables of foreign markets to respond well to yesterday's sharp advance in Chicago. Reports of favorable harvest weather in Argentina and Australia tended further to weaken values. Chicago opening prices, which ranged from 3c decline to 1c advance were followed by an irregular general setback in which December receded to $1.37 and May to $1.31 1-2.

AT HOLLOWAY STREET

At Holloway Street Church where Santa Claus also paid a visit, the Sunday School rooms were beautifully decorated for the Christmas entertainment and these rooms too were inadequate to hold the large audience. Two Christmas trees effectively decorated with all kinds of Christmas emblems rose from banks of snow and the entire background of the platform was screened in evergreens and in large paper streamers of green and red. In the absence of Mr. Woolley, Rev. L. S. Wight, pastor of the Church acted as chairman and in a brief speech welcomed the large assembly to the annual joyous entertainment which is looked forward to by all from one year to the next. Many a drowsy little one was persuaded to "come home ready on promise "I would all happen again next year." Every little one up to and including the Primary and Junior department was presented with a remembrance from Santa Claus, who by the way seemed to the audience to resemble Will Colclough.

During the entire entertainment the Holloway Street orchestra provided excellent music. Bright carols were sung by the entire school as they were thrown on the screen by John Yerex.

EMMANUEL CHURCH

At Emmanuel church Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus were both on hand and distributed candy and oranges to every pupil of the school from the huge tree which was over laden for the happy occasion. Rev. George Marshall, rector of the church acted as chairman and kept everything more than lively while calling upon the different items from the platform which was most exquisitely decorated suitably to Christmas with fir tree branches, tinsel and crepe paper.

A feature of this entertainment was the presentation to each of the teachers of a pretty gift from the scholars of each class. Mr. Marshall's class presented him with a handsome silk scarf, Mr. Charles Nay for making the presentation on behalf of the class. Another delightful feature was the presentation to Miss Ida Folwell, pianist of the Sunday School, of a basket of flowers. The latter presentation was made by Rev. Mr. Marshall on behalf of the Sunday School.

SALVATION ARMY

Number two Sunday School of the Salvation Army observed Christmas last night at their Station street head quarters for the entertainment of a crowded house which could not hold all who came to see. The chairman of the evening was Mr. T. Adams of Sunday School No. 1.

The programme was in charge of Miss Irene Young and Mr. Roger Parks, both of whom were assisted by Lieut. Eric Edmonton. The role of Kris Kringle was taken by Mr. Blackford Burke, who dazzled the children by getting into the room without the aid of an airplane or reindeer. As soon as he left, crowds of diminutive people searched the immediate neighborhood for other sort of interior, the absence of which was conclusive evidence that Santa was acting in the orthodox and proper style.

Following was the programme:

NEW YORKERS ARE PRIMITIVE

Ford's Fiddler Tells Reporters What He Thinks of Gotham

New York, Dec. 30.—Mell Dunham, the 72-year-old fiddling champion of Norway, Me., got to New York on the Detroiter after having spent nearly a week with Henry Ford. He gave the town a quick once-over and had quite a good deal to say about it, about the jazzy life and how much better they do things in Norway.

"I see you're all pretty primitive hereabouts," said Mell to the reporters who gathered round him at the Grand Central station. "Up in Norway we live the real kind of life. Here you're all cooped up in little rooms and awful primitive, you New Yorkers."

"AIN'T MUCH ON JAZZ"

"Jazz? Me? I guess not. Jazz ain't dancing at all. Anyone can get up and prance around like that It's the old-fashioned dances that are real dancing. They're 'art, they are, and you have to learn 'art—you can't just get up and prance off in 'em."

"Oh I know a good deal about jazz. I see 'em—summer folks up in Norway—dancing this jazz and there ain't much to it."

Some one asked him if he didn't think the jazz dances immoral, or are least immodest.

"Well, I don't know as to that. We don't see much immodesty up in Norway—least ways I don't. But I guess it ain't so terrible that way."

FORD GAVE HIM $3 GOLD PIECE

Mell was asked how much Henry Ford gave him for his playing while he was at the Dearborn Country Club. The old man's eyes smiled even if his lips didn't and he slowly dug out a $3 gold piece from the bottom of one of his pockets. It was the coinage of 1857, and is probably worth very much more than its face value.

"That's what Henry gave me," said Mell. "I think I'm going to give a barn dance here in Madison Square Garden some time before I leave, and maybe I'll get a little more money out of that. I have a farm up in Maine and need money to keep it up. Just now all I've got is the $3."

The old man's smile, however, was a warning not to take him too seriously about all this.

He and his wife Emma who is 67 and has bobbed hair (she bobbed it long before the thing became fashionable so she could go hunting or fishing better) had a drawing room on the Detroiter and that room was probably more than $3. Moreover, he confided to the reporters that he had grown to remember liver and bacon and rolls and coffee for breakfast and that alone would have more than eaten up his $3.

WEARS OUT TWELFTH FIDDLE

"But all I want is to make enough here to buy me a new $38 fiddle," said Mell. "Mine is all worn out and it's the twelfth I've used up. I use 'em up fast, for there ain't no wall flowers when I play."

"JACK MINER" GILEAD.

By Jack Herity,
(of Belleville, Ont.)

He must pack a heap of pleasure
Underneath his shaggy dome;
Now it's getting on to autumn
And his birds are coming home.
It must stir up all his senses
In a kind of inside grin
When he gazes down the Southway and
Sees his squadrons wing'ing in.

Must be like a mighty merchant,
When his ships come one by one,
To the harbor where there's quiet
And retreat from pirate's guns.
Pirates! That's the right name for us,
—Oh, I'm guilty, same as you,
For I've often sent them tumbling
Broken, tattered, from the blue.

I have lain for hours listening
For that throbbing cry,
And to see an old commander
Lead his flock across the sky:
But—well there above the fireplace
You can see my guns today,
And they're mighty ornamental
Since I went down Kingsville way.

Angels used to be right common,
If I believe what I've heard say;
But a scientist will tell you
We don't have such things today.
Still I guess if we could see things
In a sort of spirit light,
We would find Jack Miner's raiment
Is a robe of shining white.

MAY ADVENT OF 1926 BRING HAPPINESS AND PROSPERITY

GREAT LOSS IN ENGLAND FROM GALES

London, Dec. 31.—Great Britain was struck by another westerly gale that night bringing heavy rainstorms which further raised the waters of already swollen rivers. During the height of the storm in London, two men were killed and eight injured when a chimney crashed into a dormitory of a Surgery workshop. More than 100 telegraph and telephone lines are down in the country. There is only one communicating with Dublin and service, to the mainland is seriously disturbed. A mail train crashed into fallen trees at Berwyn, Wales, but escaped with damage to the locomotive.

Roofs of houses in the Reading district were demolished and much material damage was done in Yorkshire villages.

Gets Suspended Sentence Though Guilty of Perjury Court Lenient At New Year

Sentence was suspended upon Clarence Delong for a period of two years by Magistrate Masson in police court this morning. He was found guilty on a charge of perjury and had been awaiting judgment since his trial held nearly two weeks ago.

Delong was fined on an intoxication charge three weeks ago and the statement as to where he procured the liquor was so unsatisfactory that a perjury charge was laid.

As perjury charges are rare in this court, much discussion and thought was given the case.

"It is well known that I am down on perjury," stated Magistrate Masson, "and there is too much of it. Men seem to have the idea that in order to get a case through but need to swear to the worst of lies. He should get about two years in jail for wilful and corrupt perjury"

"I have considered giving him one month in jail," he went on. It was only after much had been said in accused's behalf by defence counsel C. A. Payne, that Magistrate Masson finally agreed to allow him out on suspended sentence. Delong must pay court costs of $25.15 and later support from widows with whom he is said to be friendly.

Admitting that the weight of evidence was against his client, Mr. Payne asked that consideration of his youth, industry and the fact that he had never been in trouble of any kind before, be taken. Accused was 24, worked steadily and as Chief Kidd corroborated, had never been in trouble with the court before.

"This boy has on two occasions, when I asked him, assured me that the story he has sworn to in court on two occasions," severe defence counsel. "I believe his head must have been so befuddled by intoxication that he believes that the story he told is correct."

"But, he stated that he was sober when he first went to the house where the liquor was and the wine which caused intoxication", put in the bench.

He was very drunk when arrested police testified. Mr. Payne suddenly referred to the day being the last of 1925 and drew the comment from the bench that it was probably better that the court appeared today than tomorrow. "Regardless of what view Your Worship may take in the matter", replied counsel, "accused will have plenty of time in which to consider his actions and benefit from his experience".

Crown Attorney Donnan had little to say. "I sometimes feel that I am inclined to be too lenient," he began, "but this case too, I feel that I am inclined toward leniency, yet when I consider the seriousness of the offence, I feel it difficult to recommend suspended sentence". At this season of the year and judging by the appearance of the young man, I would like to recommend suspended sentence but cannot see how I can do it".

Committing perjury was a much more grave offence than taking a drink the court opined.

QUARTER CENTURY ENDING IS GREATEST IN HISTORY IN HUMAN ACHIEVEMENT

Bells the world over, and "tick tocks" which measure the sands of Time, will count out Hoary Old Man 1925 at midnight tonight. For one year he has been buffetted about the resin floured ring and much has happened in that time to gladden his heart as well as dampen his ardor for futurity.

At all events he has done his bit and all the world's billions will not buy another inch of life for him after the whirling hour, when folk the world over will revel and sing Auld Lang Syne, as he scrooges. Immediately his throne will be brightened with a pink-skinned babe, unclothed but rosy; very, very young but smiling. This young person is the young Prince who will reign during 1926.

HISTORY WAS MADE!

Secession of King 1925 and series of Prince Charming 1926, marks completion of the first quarter of the twentieth century—probably the greatest the world has ever seen. In recent years, the recording pen has written heavily in the scroll of history and though many years have been stiffy torn, there have been great attempts toward world peace and harmony.

The tottering Monarch has mourned with millions the passing of the beloved Queen Mother, who, after a long and useful life, faded in her loveliness. He has seen the world accept Europe's Christmas gift of Locarno, and yet he may see in his death dimmed moments, civil chaos and internal turbulation in a few countries. In Canada, kind Providence, combined with eager industry has made possible one of the most fruitful harvests of the world.

THE CYCLE

Leaflike the situation, the Old Old Sovereign has seen the commun ity life with its happiness, trouble, strife, joys, ambitions, accomplishments, reverses and myriad other ingredients of the cocktail of life. He has smiled no doubt on many occasions, and yet, he must have wiped a tear drop too, lest out of sympathy at other times.

OLD WORLD

And now comes the happy holiday spirit with the prevalent and contagious feeling of good will and well wishing. Tonight, the world and his wife will mark the occasion in jubilation of many kinds. It will be for their choice. The world in large and offers many divertisements it will be with the best of intentions however, that the passing of the Old and advent of the New Year will be celebrated. May the cup of happiness be full to overflowing, when the merry bells ring the advent of the New Year, and may the world continue as calm and as weatherwise would indicate the advent to be.

PRINCIPAL McLAURIN TELLS OF TRIP WEST

So much improved in health he feels justified in taking up his duties at the High School next Monday, Mr. P. C. McLaurin, absentee in Toronto yesterday, arrived home at 3 p.m.

Chatting with The Intelligencer today, Mr. McLaurin said that the principal impression he got while on his western tour was the desire to educate. Out West, he said, cope what might, bad times or good, education went on—school houses, churches and made vast strides. "School first" is the watchtire law of the West, most particularly of British Columbia where for one month Mr. McLaurin studied the educational system very closely. There he was in close touch with principals of the Normal School and with the staff of the University of British Columbia.

IN GRATEFUL

Mr. McLaurin particularly stressed his gratitude in the Board of Education for the generous treatment he met with at their hands during his absence.

MINERS AND OWNERS ARE STILL DEADLOCKED

Visions of New Masonic Temple Arise Col. Lazier Addresses Craft at Banquet

Visions of a new Masonic Temple for Belleville were raised before the minds eyes of the hundred or so members and guests of Eureka Lodge A.F. & A.M., who were at the banquet held last night in the local Masonic rooms to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the founding of the lodge. Col. Lazier in reviewing his forty odd years' connection with the craft declared for the need of a new Temple for Belleville.

It was the annual Past Masters night.

Col. Lazier who wears the gold medal, one of three given to Ontario out of the 102,000 Masons, who were Masters of their Lodges half a century ago, was the Master's chair but held while the first degree was exemplified and later in the banquet room made an address. He said he had held office in every one property to which they had moved from another upper room on Front street and at that time they thought they were very comfortable.

The growth of the membership however had made the present accommodation all too limited. It was high time that a new and modern Temple was built. He had been very proud to assist in getting the present quarters and he would be glad to assist in helping on the new ones. He hoped to see a new Temple in Belleville. This announcement was greeted with loud applause.

It is our desire that you all should feel that while relieved from active service you are still considered by us to be an important part of our brotherhood. Your counsel and advice is of value to us still. The record of your splendid efforts in the interest of brotherhood and your love of loss service will in no sure you help us carry on in a way that will be for the betterment of mankind generally and the craft, which, we feel, is second to none in a world where man was born to work.

The below will you please accept this gift as an expression of our high regard for you and the affectionate remembrance in which we hold you.

LARGEST WHALE SWALLOWED MAN LIVED TO TELL IT

Biblical Story Denied as Impossibility Shown

Very Probable

WAS SPERM WHALE

Sir Francis Fox gives Names and Date of the Occurrence

The Biblical story of Jonah in the whale's belly has been a source of controversy, for ages, and the attacks upon it have worried many believers.

The whale according to some authorities, is incapable of swallowing any large object in the first place, and if it did, it would be impossible for life to be sustained within for long. But there are various kinds of whales. The largest of all the sperm whale, has a large gullet. Here is an interesting account of a quite recent "miracle" revealed by Sir Francis Fox, a renowned English engineer, in his book, Sixty-Three Years of Engineering, and it bears out the experiences of Jonah:

"In February, 1891, the whaling ship Star of the East was in the vicinity of the Falkland Islands, and the lookout sighted a large sperm whale three miles away. Two boats were launched and a short time one of the harpoons was enabled to spear the fish. The second boat attacked the whale, but was upset by a lash of its tail and the men thrown into the sea, one man being drowned, and another James Bartley, having disappeared, could not be found. The whale was killed and in a few hours the great body was lying by the ship's side and the crew were busy with axes and spades removing the blubber. They worked all day and part of the night, Next morning they attached some tackle to the stomach, which was hoisted on to the deck. The sailors were started by something in it which gave spasmodic signs of life, and inside was found the missing sailor doubled up and unconscious. He was laid on the deck and treated to a bath of sea water, which soon revived him, but his mind was not clear, and he was placed in the captain's quarters lying lunatic. He was kindly and carefully-treated by the captain and by the officers of the ship, and gradually regained possession of his senses. At the end of the third week he had entirely recovered from the shock and seemed his old self. This is circumstantial enough to satisfy anyone, with names and dates and all details, being reported by a most creditable witness. It is said, furthermore, that the gastric juice of the whale had affected Bartley's skin—his face, neck and hands were bleached to a deal by whiteness, and took on the appearance of parchment."

Describing his experiences during captivity in the stomach of the great fish, the seaman declares: "he would probably have lived inside his house of flesh until he starved," for he did not suffer from lack of air. "He could easily breathe, but the heat was terrible. It was not of a scorching, stifling nature, but seemed to open the pores of the skin and to draw out his vitality."

It is added that whaling captains declare it frequently happens that men are swallowed by whales, but the case of Bartley is the first known in which the victim's life was saved.

EMIGRATION SCHEME MEETS WITH DISFAVOR

Card'nal Mercier Undergoes Operation — Condition Good

London, Dec. 30.—The new arrangement between the Canadian, Australian British Governments to take emigrants from this country to Canada for three pounds was hailed with much jubilation in the English press when it was first announced, but a reaction now seems to be setting in.

"What guarantee if any," asks the Daily News editorially, "can the Canadian Government give that permanent employment will be found by those who may risk everything by having there shores with their wives and their families to take up an entirely new life in a distant land? Canada is surely worth inquiring whether it is good business to encourage the departure in large numbers of the very men who are most urgently needed in our own countryside today."

EINSTEIN THEORY IS GIVEN A BLOW BY U. S. SAVANT

Teachings Incorrect Says Dr. Miller Who Sees Sun Move

120 MILES A SECOND

Detects Motion of Solar System in Ether, He Tells Scientists

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 31.—A blow that may prove fatal to the Einstein theory of relativity was struck by Dr. Dayton C. Miller, of Cleveland, president of the American Physical society read a paper before the convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, detailing an experiment he has been carrying on since Mount Wilson, Cal., for the last six years.

In an exclusive interview, Dr. Miller stated the results which, in the opinion of scientists who closely, knock one of the chief foundations out from under the Einstein theory.

Dr. Miller has been working to detect the motion of the earth and solar system through the ether of space. According to Einstein it was impossible to detect any such motion. The whole theory of relativity rests largely upon this fact.

Dr. Miller said: "I am interested in measuring the motion of the earth and solar system in the ether of space. My work therefore, annuls the second postulate of the Einstein theory."

SPEED OF SOLAR SYSTEM

Not only has Dr. Miller succeeded in detecting the motion, which is known technically as the "ether drift," but in addition he has succeeded in measuring its direction and its size, he says.

Therefore for the first time in the history of the world, it is possible to state how fast our solar system is moving through space and exactly in what direction. Previously, it was only possible to measure speed and direction of our solar system with respect to the universe of stars. Furthermore, since Miller knows the absolute motion of the solar system it will now be possible to calculate shortly the motion of our entire vene in space.

Dr. Miller finds that the speed of our solar system is ten times as great as it previously was thought. The result he finds, is moving through space with a speed of 120 miles a second. Our earth, of course, and all the other planets are carried along at this same speed. Dr. Miller had originally fixed the speed at 65 miles a second, but last-minute calculations led him to increase the figure.

Sheffield, England, Dec. 31.—Decline of dialect speech has been brought about chiefly by women, says Prof. W. E. Haigh, formerly master of English at Hiddersfield Technical School, in addressing the dialect society.

"Adults of all classes said ages, especially girls and women, are more and more dropping dialect and trying to 'talk fine,' he said. "Boys and girls, in spite of being ashamed of dialect using the forceful and expressive if source of rustic speeches of their fathers, should be proud to preserve it as a dual tongue with the standard of English.

Rum Baronet Lost Million And Goes Bust

London, Dec. 31.—Losses incurred by Sir Broderick Hunter, the "rum-running baronet," in his endeavors to get hard liquor into the United States, are estimated by MPs at £1,250,000. This information was imparted by the official received today at a meeting of Sir Broderick's creditors. Since the rum-running harvest has made no offer regarding payment of his liabilities the creditors passed a resolution advocating that he be declared bankrupt, and trustee be appointed for administration of his affairs.

The official receiver also informed the meeting that Sir Broderick estimated his assets at a considerable sum, which, however, consisted of amounts owed him and considered by him not recoverable.

Kingston Team Rolled up 2,675

An evident mis-understanding has arisen in the Central Ontario Bowling League. This league in which Belleville, Kingston and Trenton play off, was supposed to have been won by Belleville, but when they were up in the total number of points in the two schedules which were played, Kingston believed that the winners of first schedule played off with winners of the second, and as they won the first, and Belleville the second, they motored to Trenton on Wednesday night for the championship game. Belleville team was not there, but Kingston players motored to Trenton—neutral alleys—and rolled their game. Now they expect Belleville to try and beat their scores for the championship.

Clayton Stratton of Belleville scored the Kingston scores a Trenton. Here they are:

TEA FOR CHILDREN AND THEIR PARENTS

Pinnacle Street Sunday School of the Salvation Army held a quiet Christmas party at No. 2 Sunday School on Station Street yesterday evening.

Mr. B. W. Brown acted as Santa Claus to the delight of the many children who gathered.

At 5.30 tea was served to the small folk and at 7.30 gifts were handed out by the mythological old gentleman whose ubiquity is prevalent.

Refreshments were furnished by the National Bakery.

HUNGARIAN FLOODS SERIOUS

Vienna, Austria, Dec. 31.—A despatch from Oedenburg, in Burgenland, Western Hungary, says the dam at Kleinrah on the Raab River burst last night, menacing thirty villages. An unconfirmed report states that thirty-three families were drowned when salt mines at Maros-Ujvary were flooded.

FINE RECORD IN 1925.

The attendance at Ontario Business College this year has included sixty-two Belleville students and large numbers from forty-four other cities towns and localities in Ontario. In addition many have been this year at O.B.C. from the following places beyond Ontario; Alberta, Saskatchewan, Quebec, the Maritime Provinces, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the West Indies and British Guiana in South America.

Present indications point to a much larger attendance within the next few months.

The success of former students is a strong factor in bringing others from far and near. They come with positive assurance of receiving at O.B.C. the most thorough and practical kind of business training from a staff of highly qualified instructors, who have devoted years of unstinted effort to this work. The teaching staff is under the direction of Principal I. L. Moore, who is now in his twenty-second year at O.B.C.

Social Items

Mr. F. E. O'Donahue, left this afternoon for Toronto where he will spend the New Year holiday.

MAY HEAR BIG BEN IF YOU "TUNE IN"

Radio fans—turn in on Big Ben, the famous clock at London England, when it strikes twelve o'clock to-night. London's time is five hours and twenty minutes later than Belleville, so that when it is twelve midnight there, it is 6.40 p. m. here.

The loud booming ticks of this deep throated clock will be on the air again this year as they were last New Year's Day. The sound will be relayed by a number of large stations on this side of the water, and if reception is successful, there will be a further attempt to relay a large programme from London during New Years Day. Beginning at 6.40, listen, and turn the dials.

TORONTO'S DISEASES

Toronto, Dec. 31.—Measles and whooping cough were only communicable diseases which showed an increase in 1925 over 1924 in Toronto. Scarlet fever and mumps showed decidedly falling off, the latter from 3,706 cases to 118.

TORONTO REALTY SALES

Toronto, Dec. 31.—Collection of about $110,000 in taxes on turnover in real estate in this city for 1925 showsthat, the total sale value of property changing hands amounted to approximately $56,000,000.

Scottish curlers have been enjoying a National Bonspiel, after 3 years' denial on account of ice of ice. From all parts of Scotland they assembled "aranes," besoms, tam-o-shanters, flasks and all. They forgathered on Stirling Loch, 1,000 of them .On the report of a gun, 1000 besoms were hoisted in to the air simultaneously, and the contest began.

A GUDE NEW YEAR

A Gude New Year to One an' A'
And Mony, May Ye see;
And During A' the Years to come
O Happy May Ye Be.
And May Ye Ne'er Have Cause to Mourn,
To Sigh, or Shed a Tear;
To One and A' Baith Great and Sma'
"A Hearty Gude New Year."

—Old Scots Song.

AND MANY OF THEM

For over 90 years The Intelligencer has had the privilege of wishing its readers a happy New Year. Never during that long time has the wish been more genuinely forwarded than in this year of 1925—Again we say—Happy New Year.

ON LONELY IONA

The lonely islet of Iona where the burial of the Duke of Argyll will take place, in the inner Hebrides group of the Scottish coast, was the centre of Christianity in the sixth century and afterwards for many centuries of holy repute and the favorite burial place for early kings and chieftains. Tradition places there the graves of 48 Scottish kings and two Irish, one French and two Norwegian monarchs. Besides these there are buried there numerous saints of the early church.

The islet belongs to the Argyll family.

BRAINS PLUS ENERGY

The career of Frank A. Munsey—who died in New York last week—illustrates the possibilities that lie before any young man on this continent, and indeed anywhere that free institutions exist. Frank Munsey left an estate estimated at between thirty and forty million dollars, and he began his business career about forty years ago with nothing but his brains and energy. He not only made a great fortune, but he exercised an influence in the United States equalled by few men. As a publisher of magazines and newspapers his success was remarkable. But Frank Munsey was just one of a type found in the United States and in Canada. Hundreds of cases could be cited of men who began with nothing and acquired great wealth in a comparatively brief span of life. Lord Beaverbrook is an example. Born in a Presbyterian manse in a rural district near Toronto, he has become a millionaire publisher in London, England. The influence he wields in British politics is greater than Munsey possessed in America. And he is almost twenty years younger than Mr. Munsey. In Canada we have Sir Herbert Holt (probably the richest man in the Dominion), who came to this country a raw Irish boy. The late Timothy Eaton, another Irish lad, revolutionized the retail trade of Canada, and left an estate that has grown enormously. A long catalogue of business and financial leaders who made their way to the top by sheer ability could be written. They are to be found in all the big centres. All of which goes to prove that the way is open to ambitious youth quite as broadly as ever, if not more so. But the big rewards are not to be gained except by unremitting industry, plus brains. The Communists would keep us all on a level. That would inevitably destroy ambition and stifle initiative. Nothing worse for the masses could be proposed. These men who have created great industries have served the interests of all classes and earned the wealth they gathered. In the process they enriched themselves and provided employment for thousands.

THE LEAGUE MIGHT HELP

Agitated as they are by their grievance over the restriction put upon the exportation of crude rubber from British colonies American publicists learn with mixed feelings that the League of Nations has said some things about restrictions upon the export of raw materials which seem specially designed to give aid and comfort to the great American nation in relation to the grievance which it is nursing. The feelings are mixed because it might appear to be compromising the dignity of the great American nation to accept aid and comfort from a source redesplsed as the League of Nations.

"While conceding the right of a State to dispose freely of its natural resources," says the League "it is not the less questionable that the raw materials produced by one country, being in many cases necessary to the economic life of other states, should not, except in exceptional cases, be the object of restrictions or differential regulations of such a nature as to injure production in such states or to impose upon them systematic inferiority. It is undeniable particularly that the measures taken to meet exceptional situations should be so prolonged or altered as to change their character, and from being acts of precaution or defence to degenerate into measures of economic aggression."

Wouldn't it be great fun if the Washington government were to invoke the assistance of the League of Nations in its efforts to establish a case against British officialdom in connection with this rubber affair?

THE SCEPTERED PALL

New York item:

When Milton wrote, "Sometime let gorgeous Tragedy in sceptered pall come sweeping by," he was thinking of some ancient Greek drama or some (rare) moulding of the "mask." Queen Alexandra's funeral service as reported in yesterday's mod'stage" of a later stage. But the solemn pageantry of Times, surpassed the presentation of the dramatist of Pelop's line or Thebes. It had a wintry setting as was benefitting the burial of this aged Queen Mother, sometime "Rose of the North" whom words borrowed from a tragedy of Thebes have but little need of change to describe: "Fortune loved her and the folk that saw her turned and looked again." The procession passed through the swirling snow that pushed in and laid its pall above the sceptered pall. Nature, "vicar of the Almighty", took precedence of the great prelate of England in the service and did not change its course or temper its wind to the grief-stricken sovereign, or the three tall kings of the North that followed in his train. And when the great doors of the historic abbey were closed after the procession had entered and the candles lifted their yellow flames about the dead and upon the faces of those surviving monarchs, among the few remaining kings of earth, the storm still beat upon the myriad panes as if mourning too, at the passing of this Daughter of the Sea Kings, who, when the royal cortege departed, was left in "ghostly silence" with the memorials of England's great. It was a scene which even the most democratic of theorists will recall with deep sympathy for the "noble King" whose final grief makes him kin to all mankind.

A GENEROUS ACTION

"Young man," he said, as he followed him out on the steps the other evening, "I want to have a talk with you. You have been courting my daughter."

"Yes, sir."

"You think you love her?"

"I know I do."

"And you would fain bear her off to some woodbine cottage?"

"That is what I would fainest, sir."

"Ah—um! What is your salary?"

"Four pounds a week, sir."

"Just so—take her. I was afraid you couldn't support us all on your wages, but it's all right. Hurry up things and get into the family in time to pay next month's rent. You don't know what a relief it will be to us old folks to have someone to support us."

SURELY

Customer—I don't quite know what I want, but it must be something suitable for a Christmas present.

Shopwalker—Well, sir, this store can supply anything from a pin to an aeroplane.

Customer—Ah, of course. Perhaps you could show me something between the two.

ONCE UPON A TIME

Counsel—Now, sir, tell me are you well acquainted with the prisoner?

Witness—I've known him for twenty-years.

"Have you ever known him to be a disturber of the public peace?"

"Well—er—he used to belong to a band."

EXHAUSTING

She—"Good heavens! Don't you get tired of doing nothin'?"

He—"Of course I do, but I am then too tired to do anything else!"

JUST 30 YEARS AGO
(From Intelligencer Files)

30 YEARS AGO

At the municipal nominations held at the city hall today Albert Robinson was nominated for mayor by F. S. Wallbridge. Robert Templeton seconded the motion.

Many prominent Quebec people attended the wedding of Sir Gilbert Parker in New York on Dec. 5, 1895.

The Mail and Empire says: Those Liberal papers who have been trying to make out Sir Mackenzie Bowell does not tie on a rack of roses do not realize he lies on a bed of thistles having rented the Thistles residence in Ottawa during their absence in England.

Mr. Fred Neal was elected president of Oxford Lodge No. 27, S.O.E. last evening.

The advanced stage of winter this year can better be appreciated by a contrast with last year when on Dec. 31 Mr. J. B. Thompson and daughter Mrs. Clive came to the city from their big inland home in a rowboat.

A Heart's Triumph

By Ellis Adelaide Rowlands.

Quite unconsciously, she found herself leaving the house and wandering out, head uncovered, into the cold and rain. She could breathe better out in the fresh air, she pleaded, under the trees she knew so well. She drew her skirt about her, and moved restlessly to the silence and the shadows of the trees. How many, many times had she not paced underneath those same trees, shaken with them her thoughts, her dreams, her imaginations. Now, all chilly and bare and wet as they were, they gave her a touch of comfort. She could shut her eyes and go back to the past if she liked, and in her present desolate, half-frightened mood the past had a sweetness in it that she feared she would never know again.

It was here that Felix Bingham found her. She was standing against a giant, moss-covered trunk, her head leaning against the rough bark, as though it were a pillow. He had been walking up the avenue, when he saw her leave the house and vanish into the woody path of the grounds. He immediately after-ed his course and followed her.

Like Paul Dunlay, he was leaving Manchester and its neighborhood, and he had paid this last visit to the White Abbey as a necessary formality, hoping yet scarcely imagining, that he should have the good fortune to see Cecil.

The news brought by his uncle of the reading of the will, at which Felix had not been present, had sent the heart of the young man up at a bound. He felt released by it from himself away from Manchester. It seemed to him a danger to leave the girl unguarded and unsheltered by himself. But circumstances necessitated his going to London, and he could only console himself by recalling that vigil of misery and sorrow he had shared with Cecil, and the successful way in which his influence had forced it self upon her even in so brief a time.

If he could have followed up that success sharply, he would have been spared much thought and worry, he told himself; but he had, of course, to let things go on in conventional fashion, and so each day had kept him from seeing Cecil was to him a day lost. Judge, then, of the delight that flashed through him as he caught sight of the girl walking on alone into the cold, wet woods. It seemed merely that the would talk with her again, that gave Felix such satisfaction. It was the surety that Cecil's heart would be in a condition ripe for his tender sympathy and comfort—that chance had given him an opening which could not fail to be worked into a triumph for himself.

As Felix drew nearer to that slender, desolate figure standing against the tree, he seemed to walk on air. He seemed already Cecil's conqueror, the possessor of all she possessed!

CHAPTER VIII.

A LASTING FRIEND

Cecil, turned with a great start as she been like a thought and had not heard her name softly called. She had the sound of the advancing footsteps. At the forward upward and easy Felix, a wave of color swept suddenly into her pale cheeks.

Since that night of her father's death she had remembered this young man constantly, yet she had remembered him in a far-off way, as being connected strangely associated with the most important event of her life. Now, as she beheld Felix in all splendor of his handsome youth, and as she heard his voice, she seemed to wake into sudden knowledge of what he was to her. The deep silence of the last hour was filled sudden by. She had a sense of warmth in her heart.

There was a smile on her lips, though they trembled a little as she spoke to him.

"You startled me," she said,

Felix stood before her and looked at her with the deepest concern written on his face.

"Why are you here? You are drenched, and this wind is as cold as ice. I must insist on your going into the house instantly, Miss Lacklyne. I am privileged to command, from my professional standpoint," Felix added, with his charming smile.

He was in rare good humor.

The girl's delicate, sensitive nature was as clear to him to read as a printed book. He had not been a student in a woman's ways all this time not to understand and appreciate the meaning of Cecil's swift flashes of color and her shy, beautiful eyes. Her appearance pleased him altogether.

"I am indebted to all weather," Cecil answered him. "I have been accustomed to be drenched by the rain and to face the sun dry me and my clothes."

"All this sounds very pretty, but it is distinctly wrong, Miss Lacklyne. I beg you to allow me to accompany you to the house."

He held his umbrella well over her brown, curly head. He himself was exposed guarded by his overcoat and stood a pace from Cecil.

"I was coming to see you, but never hoped to find you," he told her. "I wanted to have at least a few words with you before returning to London."

"I am not a difficult person to find," Cecil said quietly. She heard him speak of his departure with a new regret. Something that pained quite as much as it pleased her. She was going, leaving. She obeyed Felix most simply. His care for her, his evident concern, were very sweet. It was the first time her hand had rested in the warmth of a man's strong arm. Felix had drawn her hand within his arm quite naturally. He bowed down to her in his quizzical fashion.

"Are you not? Well, I think there are two sides to that matter, since you are a wood-nymph who flits hither and thither in sun and moon, hail or shine."

"I could not, indeed," Cecil said, with all the confidence of a child.

He pressed her hand close within his arm.

"I understand—I understand," he said softly; "and the air is so invigorating, you must not be rude. I wish I could change places with my uncle; then I could be always near to see that you were well and taking care of yourself."

He was talking only in the ordinary, commonplace way which was customary with him where girls and pretty women were concerned. His professional scoldings were proverbially delightful. His great success lay in his manner. He was considered "such a dear," because he always said something nice, something tender, and because he was so big, and strong, and handsome, as well as being so very clever. There was possibly a dash too much of the conventional flirtation in Felix's manner to please more refined and thoughtful women; but, on the whole, he charmed nearly every one and in the case of such a girl as Cecil Lacklyne, his mock expression of concern, his seemingly earnest regard for her, were altogether sweet and consoling.

"I beg, Felix, I suppose," she answered him, in steadily as she could, "but I have never stopped to think—I have never had need to think. I—I do not know how that it will be different in the future, and yet—"

Felix paused in their walk and looked down on her grave eyes.

"Is it so, then? Does this pall that fell upon me the first instant I met you belong only to me, and not to you too?

She shivered, and Felix drew her closer to him.

"It tortures me to leave you here alone," he said, under his breath, as though the words escaped him—unconsciously. "I have lived a new life, Cecil, since I have known that you are in the world. We are not strangers, yet we cannot even count our friendship by hours. There must be in this some work of fate, some bond of destiny that will link us together, no matter how widely apart our paths in life may be. I feel like a man in a dream. I have laugher so often at that terrible night."

Have you thought of me in these long, dreary days, Cecil, or have I been wholly forgotten?"

She answered him dreamily, her eyes fixed on his. It flashed across him then, as it had flashed at other times, that there was an element of magnetic influence in the power he could wield so easily on certain natures.

"I have thought of you all the time," Cecil said truthfully. "It has been so strange. You have been near, and yet so far. It was as though I has known you years ago, and yet we never met till that terrible night."

Discover Novel Plot In New Belle Picture

"The Wild Bull's Lair," a strange story by Major Beckem who has written so many of the Fred Thomson successes, is proving one of the athletic star's most powerful vehicles at the Belle Theatre where it is now being shown; and certainly it is the most original plot which has been flashed on the screen in a "western" setting within memory. Supported by an excellent cast and mounted on his noted co-star, Silver King, Thomson sweeps through this story of superstition, mystery and the supernatural in whirlwind fashion; find by conquering a full grown bull in a thrilling fight at the close of the picture. Plenty of fine comedy keeps the story from becoming too "heavy" at times, and the direction is superb. Thomson is gaining histrionic ability to such a point that he will soon have to be seriously considered when the "champion actors" are up for ranking, as well as at the head of the list of champion athletes.

Milton Sills Here In "The Knockout"

Milton Sills has always been a favorite with local motion picture goers but in no type of picture is he better enjoyed than in screen plays which give him an opportunity to demonstrate his "he-manism." His work in "The Sea Hawk," "As Man Desires," and in "The Making of O'Mally" have indelibly planted a pleasing memories in the minds of his fans and the success of these pictures proves that he is cast to suit them when appearing in virile, outdoor roles.

He has such a role in his First National's "The Knockout," which opens at yesterday at the Griffis Theatre.

No better role could have been found for the famous portrayer of screen virility than his part in "The Knockout"—that of a "Gentleman Jim" type of prize fighter who goes into the Canadian woods to recuperate from injuries received in the ring and becomes the victim of the intrigue and machinations of a wealthy New Yorker who seeks to ruin the father of the girl with whom he falls in love.

THIS WOMAN SCORCHES SEX IN ORAL SLAM

Wild Women From 16 to 60 Most Dangerous Element

BEHIND ALL CRIMES

Says Idle Rich Are Worst With High Schools Degenerate

New York, Dec. 31.—Wild women, from 16 to 60 constitute the most dangerous element in the crime wave here, according to Mrs. Mary Hamilton, head of New York's police women, who declared that modern criminals are increasingly numerous.

The old-fashioned spanking administered in the home early and often would do more to lessen crime among the rising generation than all the juvenile courts in the land, Mrs. Hamilton said. Crowded public police conveniences, subways, busses and surface cars breed diseases and degeneracy she added.

Mrs. Hamilton, who is heading 32 police women who have come through Broadway and the theatre district for dangerous characters of both sex, reported the results of a survey in and six of her staff have been making of vice conditions. The report showed degeneracy in the background of nearly every velved murder here recently, and assert that somewhere in back of nearly every crime is the figure of a woman or young girl looms.

"The young girl in her greed for jewelry, good clothes and finery, will force a good young man from the right road to the crooked pathway so that the girl's desires may be fulfilled," declared Mrs Hamilton.

"The young girls of to-day have no moral code: they are natural, gay, daring, and in many instances their mothers unintentionally aid them in crime.

"Conditions in the high schools are almost unbelievable, and at the local colleges degeneracy has taken firm root.

"Much of this wickedness is to be found among the idle rich.

"The degenerates of to-day are the murderers of to-morrow.

"The dance hall, pool parlors and petting parties are breeders of both disease and crime."

EVEN IN WINNIPEG!

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 31.—(Canadian Press)—The question of "half dressed girls, wriggling like rattlesnakes," is greatly deplored by Monsignor W. L. Johnston, Duke in a sermon at St. Boniface Cathedral, second modern dancing and its devotees. Asking "Where does society get its permission to sin?" Mgr. Jobinville declared: "Jazz is brutal and the dances that accompany it animal. These dances are leading you to sin.

"If you want to go to hell it's your own business, but first it is my duty to warn you. To you 'young fire cast sports' I will say it is not the dances themselves that are sinful, it is the thoughts they bring with them."

Mission Children All Got Presents From Loaded Tree

An assembly of pupils, teachers and scholars which taxed the capacity of the Dundas Street Mission-comprised the annual Sunday School entertainment held there last evening. Long before the programme opened, scheduled for 8 p.m., bands of excited little ones gathered expectantly about the doors of the Mission and at the hour of opening eagerly took their seats to hear the really interesting programme of recitations songs, choruses and readings. Mr. Charles Clegg, Superintendent of the School was the very capable chairman and knew just how to appeal to the audience in bringing out the best in their several items. Too much cannot be said of the untiring efforts of Mrs. Lucas who trained the children.

Y.M.C.A. NEWS

The snow storm did not interfere with a large group of the Y. boys turning out with Mr. Barlow for their skating party yesterday morning at 9.30. It certainly was very much so if there were going to be some real speed skaters around—for city is a few steps judging from the way the fellows were going around Simcoe's rink. After about two hours' real exercise the boys returned to the Y. and finished off with a good hot shower Bath and a swim, all the boys claiming that they were feeling better than ever.

In the afternoon the boys department was simply crowded, with boys so another round was played in the Tennis Tournament. Floyd Russell and Bert Poinier advanced into the finals by defeating Don and Harry Ridley respectively. Both boys winning out by 6.0, 6.1. The match between Dort and Harry was particularly very interesting as both boys were playing very carefully and every game went to a tie, some of the rallies were so long in fact that the scorer even forgot the score on more than one occasion.

The real interesting moment though was when twenty-two boys were drawing for their opponents for the checker tournament at three o'clock every one was all filled with excitement waiting to see if they would be the some one they could beat or not. How ever when the smoke had cleared away the following had won the right to enter the second round.

H. Ridley got his own back by defeating B. Poinier in two straight games.

A. McCreary won from B. Lattimer

Jack Graves from Bruce Lattimer

D. Ridley from F. Russell

A. Faulkner from D. Carman

J. Darlington from E. Grew

A. Boyd from B. Chadwick.

ADVERTISE IN THE INTELLIGENCER

Canadiens Beat Maroons by 7-4 In Rough Game

Montreal, Dec. 31.—Eleven thousand people saw the Forum Arena and the Canadiens defeat Montreal by 7-4 in the National Hockey League Wednesday night. After all reserved seats had been sold, 1,200 more tickets clamored for standing room accomodation, which has been added recently. It appeared to make a new attendance record for the Forum.

The crowd was attracted in the expectation of seeing the customary feud generally displayed, when the two local teams come together on the ice.

Montreal went into the game under the bench direction of President James E. Strachan, Manager Eddie Gerard was unable to come down from his home in Ottawa, where he is confined with a severe cold and general illhealth.

The game was very rough with a plenty of high sticks being carried and combined threats of slashing.

The game started under a deafening roar from the crowd, with Canadiens getting the first shots on goal. Montreal went into the penalty class when Nelson Russell was benched for saying his stick across Joliat's face. Montreal hung on while handicapped and took a lead at Rheaume, Siebert tieing him with a scoring drive.

Boucher, Couler, Noble, Joliat, Siebert in the first period score.

In the first period which ended 1-1, Joliat landed down and shot, but Benedict just saved. Boucher claimed a goal, and when Umpire Ernie Russell said "nay" he fumed, the Canadiens leading star let him with his stick. Russell first started to defend himself. While the two combine was on Nelson Russell rushed and scored.

Bill Boucher was benched for swinging his stick at Joe was ordered to the Canadian goal again, and was chased.

While Boucher was off, Morenz got through some what first Benedict to even the count at one all.

After the period ended, Goal Umpire Russell reported to President Frank Calder that he had been struck on the face by Boucher, and that, as far as he was concerned, he would not umpire again until Boucher had been suspended. The Forum management took the spectator who struck Russell in charge and stated they would prosecute him to the limit.

Hotter hockey in the second period kept the fans in an uproar. Second period ended 4-3 for Canadiens.

St. Pat's Beaten Even in Gotham

New York, Dec. 31.—St. Patricia of Toronto made their initial appearance here Wednesday night against the Americans in an N.H.L. fixture, before a good crowd and lost 2-1. The local team went into the game forbodes, due to the lowly position of the visitors in the standing. The first period was a scoreless one. Hotwy was cued as sub.

The penalty for an infraction of this clause for a first offence is not less than $10 nor more than $50.

Smith's Falls Coming For Exhibition Game Team Here Looks Good

To-morrow night Smith's Falls' intermediate team, champions of the Ottawa Valley League will make their appearance here in an exhibition game at Arnott's Arena on Dundas street. Hagerman who was on the sick list for the game on Tuesday night is expected to put in his appearance for the game. Also Cleland is hanging over. Vern Weir's head as to whether he will be out this season or not.

Gulp-Gorye opened the season with a fine start. He is a nice skater, fast, tricky and packs a wicked shot. Dave Whalen is still his old tricky self. Catching Walsh fashioned to the game Tuesday night was a perfect piece of work. He followed in after his shots and taking the puck at the left hand side of the net skated behind the net and shoved it in the other side, before Walsh could turn around.

Hibbard who started on the other wing is a nice skater but is inclined to circle too much and will not pass the puck. Hirster while he was on the ice showed his willingness to pass the puck and between these four a very strong forward line should be welded. Gresh and Frank Goyer worked the centre spot on the defense. They work well together and will prove the stumbling block in many a team's chances to score. Pat Boland in goal is still there. Several times after Cobourg had beaten the forward line and got through the defense Pat came out to save and in most instances he did. So Dale was on but a short time but checked well while on and should prove a valuable asset to the team before the season has chalked up its final slaughter. Grch, a new man in the ranks has established his wings and plays a very cool game. He is a nice passer watching his opportunity and taking it when it arrives. Gulp Goyer without a doubt was the speed test man on the ice with the probable exception of Dew Wasless.

The new uniforms should create quite a striking appearance with their colors of maroon and white Let's hope they do as good as the Montreal Maroons or better. The first scheduled game is with Trenton in Trenton on Friday the 9th of January.

Trenton has had a wealth of material out and it is expected that the first game of the season will be one of the best. The other members of the group, Kingston and Brockville claim they have a new store of material in stock besides the old regulars which will mean that this group should be one of the best that has ever been around here. The winners of this group should go far to the finals of Ontario.

The ice is very good now and regular practices are being held every night possible. The crowd which turned out Tuesday night was anything but an encouragement to the management here who have worked hard, to turn out a winning team. With a team such as we have this winter the rink should be packed every game.

WAS ACCOMPANIST FOR FAMOUS SINGERS

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 29.—(By Canadian Press.)—Mrs. H. M. Blight, whose semi-centennial as "town accompanist" was recently celebrated here tells of the following amusing anecdote of early days at the old pavilion in Allan Gardens:

"A charity concert had been arranged at which a long list of local talent was assisting. As we were all donating our services, I suppose the committee thought it would be nice to give us some flowers. For some unknown reason, only one basket of flowers had been sent, and that was presented to the first lady taking part in the programme. Then behind the scenes, with many apologies, it was taken away from her, sent around to the front door, carried down the aisle again and presented to the next lady. This one basket of flowers did the duty for the whole evening. Fortunately the audience knew nothing about it, but there were peals of laughter in the dressing room when the flowers reappeared so often."

Ottawa Blanks Pittsburg 5-0

Pittsburg, Dec. 31.—Ottawa Senators blanked Pittsburg Pirates here Wednesday night in an important game by 5-0 score. This was a set back for Pittsburg who have been going strong.

Ottawa presented a changed line-up. Couch Odie Cleghorn aiming at a shake up in the slump experienced by his team in the last few contests. Spring was started as a regular in his first game of the year, at right defence. Mills was injected in place of McCarty.

Pittsburg adopted an offensive which kept the puck in Ottawa's territory all the time. Nighbor and Dennery flashed loose before and changed the Senators lod, the scoring at the end 1-0. At the end of second it was 2-0.
